

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. You can search through the full text of this book on the web at <http://books.google.com/>

THE Publishers' Weekly
THE AMERICAN BOOK TRADE JOURNAL

With which is incorporated the American Literary Gazette and Publishers' Circular

[ESTABLISHED 1832]

F. LEYPOLDT, EDITOR AND PUBLISHER, 31 AND 32 PARK ROW, NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, July 7, 1883.

WHOLE No. 598.

TO BOOK-SELLERS

We desire to call the attention of the book-trade in the West and South, who would find it more convenient and profitable to obtain their supplies from this point, to the fact that we have established in Cincinnati a Depot for the sale of the publications of Harper & Brothers, of New York.

Their large list of Publications, embracing Miscellaneous School and College Text-Book, we keep in large quantities, enabling us to fill orders promptly, without the delay experienced in ordering from New York, our purpose being to bring the source of supply nearer to Western dealers.

We beg the trade to notice particularly, that we furnish these publications at the same rates as obtained in New York, thus giving to Western buyers the advantage of a saving in freights, and of obtaining goods in less time than from the East.

We shall have on sale, in Cincinnati, simultaneous with their issue in New York, all new publications of the Messrs. Harper, enabling us to supply them at the earliest possible moment.

Soliciting your orders, we are,

Yours, Very respectfully,

H. W. DERBY & CO.,

200 West 4th St., Cincinnati, O.

A New and Attractive Juvenile Book.

THE CRUISE OF THE SNOW BIRD.

A STORY OF ARCTIC ADVENTURE. By GORDON STABLES, M.D., R.N.

With 9 full-page illustrations. 1 vol., 12mo, handsomely bound in extra cloth, $1.50.

"This is a capital story of adventure of the sort that all true boys delight in; of moving accidents by flood and field, of hair-breadth 'scapes;' and perhaps the greatest charm about this story is that it is so true to nature."

"It is well and briskly written, and as the name of the author would lead us to expect, the tone is thoroughly wholesome and manly."—London Academy.

BY ALICE CAREY.

I.

CLOVERNOOK CHILDREN.

1 vol., 12mo, handsomely bound in extra cloth, $1.25.

"These sketches bear the true stamp of genius. No one who has ever read it can forget the beautiful story of 'May Wildermings,' its weird fancy, tenderness and beauty, and its exquisite rural pictures."—JOHN G. WHITTIER.

II.

SNOW-BERRIES.

With illus., 1 vol., 12mo, handsomely bound in ex. cl., $1.25.

"A charming little book of mingled prose and verse. Alice Carey's name is of itself enough to attract all the children. 'Snow-berries' is one of the most fascinating books of its kind."—New York Evening Post.

NEW WORK BY WILLIAM M. TAYLOR, D.D., LL.D.

CONTRARY WINDS, and other Sermons. Crown 8vo volume, extra cloth, $1.75.

From the Preface.—"The favorable reception to the former volume, entitled 'The Limitations of Life, and other Sermons,' has moved me to issue a companion to it in the shape of the present work. The discourses here presented have been chosen because of their bearing on the topics of great present importance, and because of the testimonies to their helpfulness which I have received from many who heard them."

READY AT THE SAME TIME, FOURTH EDITION OF

LIMITATIONS OF LIFE, and other Sermons. By WM. M. TAYLOR, D.D., LL.D. 1 vol., crown 8vo, steel portrait, cloth, $1.75.

TWO NEW VOLUMES OF THE CLERICAL LIBRARY.

OUTLINES OF SERMONS TO CHILDREN. With Numerous Anecdotes. 1 vol., crown 8vo, cloth, $1.50.

PULPIT PRAYERS, by Eminent Preachers. 1 vol., crown 8vo, cloth, $1.50.

By Rev. Prof. A. B. BRUCE, D.D. (Ready October.)

THE PARABOLIC TEACHING OF CHRIST. A Systematic and Critical Study of the Parables of our Lord. 1 vol., 8vo, 527 pages, $2.50.

"A work which will at once take its place as a classic on the Parables of our Saviour. No minister should think of doing without it."—Presbyterian Review.

"A book which all students of theology should welcome. His treatment of his subject is vigorous and original, and though he is evidently well read in the literature which belongs to it, he avoids the capital mistake of overlaying his exegesis with a mass of other men's views."—London Spectator.

Now ready. Third Edition (price reduced) of Asbjørnsen's Fairy Tales.

"THE GRIMM OF NORWAY in the field of folk-lore is Asbjørnsen."—Boston Literary World.

FOLK AND FAIRY TALES.

By P. CHR. ASBJØRNSSEN. Translated by H. L. Braeksted, with an introduction by Edmund Gosse. With 100 illustrations from drawings by the best draughtsmen. Quarto volume, handsomely bound in illuminated covers, $1.50; in extra cloth, full gilt sides, $2.

"So admirably written—so richly illustrated a book for children of all ages we have not for a long time seen."—London Athenaeum.

Ready in October. Second Edition of

A HISTORY OF ART IN ANCIENT EGYPT.

By GEORGES PERROT and CHAS. CHIPPIEZ. Translated and Edited by Walter Armstrong, B.A. With more than 600 illustrations (many full-page and some double-page, colored.) 3 vols., imperial octavo, uniform with Muntz's "Raphael—Life and Works." Handsomely bound in cloth, gilt top, $15.50; half levant morocco, $22.50.

London Saturday Review says: "To say that this magnificent work is the best history of Egyptian Art that we possess is to state one of the least of its titles to the admiration of all lovers of antiquity, Egyptian or other. No previous work can be compared with it for method or completeness. . . . EVERY PAGE IS FULL OF ARTISTIC INTEREST."

NOTES IN SEASON.

HENRY HOLT & Co. have just published Berthold Auerbach's last novel, "Master Bieland and his Workmen." They have under way a new series entitled Stern's Selected German Comedies, giving tables of difficulties (in German), prepared for students. The initial volume will be "Ein Knopf," by Julius von Rosen, and other volumes will be announced in the fall.

LEE & SHEPARD have published a "Hand-book of Universal Phonography; or, Shorthand by the Allen Method," by G. G. Allen, Principal of the Allen Stenographic Inst., Boston. They have in preparation a new novel by the author of "That Husband of Mine," entitled "His Triumphs."

CUPPLES, UPHAM & Co. will publish immediately a memorial of the late Alonzo Prouty, in the shape of a work on "Fish, their Habits, Haunts, and the best methods of taking them" together with descriptions of trips made by Mr. Prouty in the woods of Maine and Nova Scotia. The work is in part written by Mr. Prouty himself, and in part compiled from his journal, by his widow. It will be a capital guide for fishermen, as it gives valuable information about all the details of fishing.

P. BLAKISTON, SON & Co. have just issued a novel and useful "Record for the Sick-Room," in which are spaces for time of observation, state of pulse, temperature, respiration, medicines, nourishment, condition of bowels, application of bath or lotion, temperature of room, general remarks on patient, physicians' directions, memoranda for nurse, etc., also a page of directions for nurses as to administration of remedies, table of poisons and antidotes, instructions in emergencies, and other important matters. The book is so arranged that the whole history of a case in detail may be preserved for future use by either physician or nurse, and the books being uniform, a number of cases could be bound in one volume. They have also just ready a new edition of Proctor's Pharmacy, much enlarged and containing wood and lithographic illustrations.

- Compiled after the model of the famous London and Paris dictionaries, which it excels, however, in that it presents the information in a more entertaining manner. It was the intention of the author, as he states in the preface, "not to prepare a guide-book simply, nor yet a hand-book conveniently arranged, but to furnish as complete and trustworthy information as is possible of all that goes to make the Boston of to-day—a guide-book, hand-book, and condensed history of the city, its noteworthy institutions, its many organizations—charitable, benevolent, literary and social—its religious denominations and churches, and its varied and most interesting features, all in one compact volume."
- Barbour, Oliver Lorenzo. Treatise on the criminal law and criminal courts of the State of New York; and upon the jurisdiction, duty and authority of justices of the peace and other magistrates. 3d ed., rev. and adapted to the codes, with forms. - Buoke, R: Maurice, M.D. Walt Whitman. Phil., D: McKay, 1883. 236 p. por. and il. D. cl., $2.
- The author of this monograph is an intimate friend of the poet. He presents details of Walt Whitman's life, habits, appearance, etc., obtained for the first time from observation at first hand. The book is divided into two parts. The first contains the biographical sketch, fresh extracts from Walt Whitman's conversation, and an appendix, in which will be found the essay called "The good gray poet," written in 1866, by Mr. William D. O'Connor, in vindication of Whitman's poetry, and also an introductory letter, by the same writer, for the present volume. Part 2 contains the history of "Leaves of Grass," its successive editions and publishers, and the numerous quarrels connected with it; analysis of Whitman's poems, and a number of contemporaneous criticisms. There are two very good portraits of the poet—one, a photo-intaglio, drawn by Herbert H. Gilchrist in 1864, and another, from a photograph taken in 1880.
- Clemens, S. L. ["Mark Twain."] Life on the Mississippi. Bost., James R. Osgood & Co., 1883. 624 p. O. cl., sub., $3.50 and $4; leath., $4.25; hf. cf. or hf. mor., $5; full mor., $8.

Princess Amélie: a fragment of autobiography. Bost., Roberts Bros., 1883. 322 p. S. (No name [third] ser.) cl., $1.

A Franco-German historical novel of the end of the last century, written in the first person. The Princess Amélie, who is of French birth and a great heiress, is married when but sixteen to the little German Prince of Schomberg-Kisingen, who is but twelve years old. Both the little bridegroom and the young bride come to the sacrifice reluctantly. After the ceremony they are separated, he being sent away to finish his education, and she virtually imprisoned for six years in an old German castle, while the Duchess-Regent, her mother-in-law, squanders her fortune in cards and upon her gallants. Before the prince is of age (18) when he is to assume the crown and claim his bride, rumors reach his wife of his infatuation with a Russian princess. Though dutifully ready to be reunited to her young husband, the Princess Amélie has given her heart away to one she supposes to be her husband's cousin. The ending is very pretty, the little love episode which brings husband and wife together again being quite idyllic. The spirit of the age is well presented, and the historical background quite accurate.

Proctor, Bernard S. Pharmacy. New ed., rev. and enl., with wood and lithographic il. Phil., P. Blakiston, Son & Co., 1883. O. cl., $4.50.

Proctor, R. A., ed. Nature studies. N. Y., Funk & Wagnalls, [1883]. 252 p. D. (Standard lib., no. 91.) pap., 25 c.

Essays reprinted from Knowledge, a weekly English journal. They are by five great naturalists and scientific scholars—Proctor, E. Clodd, Grant Allen, Andrew Wilson, and T. Foster. While two of them are biographical, "Charles K. Darwin" and "Newton and Darwin," both by R. A. Proctor, the remainder relate to such subjects as "Honey ants," "Dreams," "Sound links," "Hyacinth bulbs," "Intelligence in animals," "Brain troubles," "Thought-reading," etc., written in a simple style, free from unnecessary technicalities, for general readers. The American ed. has been improved by an index.

Record for the sick-room: containing blanks for full record of cases, and details of each hour in connection therewith; also directions for nurses in relation to emergencies, poisons, etc. Phil., P. Blakiston, Son & Co., 1883. 25 c.

Rockwood, Harry. Abner Ferret, the lawyer detective. N. Y., J. S. Ogilvie & Co., 1883. 32 p. Q. (People's lib., no. 348.) pap., 10 c.

Ruskin, J. Modern painters. V. 2: of ideas of beauty and of the imaginative faculty. Rearranged and rev. by the author. N. Y., J. Wiley & Sons, 1883. 12+258 p. D. cl., $1.50 and $2; O. cl., subs., $3.

The text is given, here complete of previous editions of the ad volume of "Modern painters," but profusely annotated, the notes being severe criticisms by Mr. Ruskin himself on his former views. The book is issued uniform with the publishers' "cheap" edition, their "best" edition, and their "subscription" edition.

Smith, Francis S. Life and adventures of Josh Billings; with a characteristic sketch of the humorist; also, one hundred illustrated aphorisms. N. Y., G. W. Carleton & Co., 1883. 92 p. il. S. pap., 25 c.

Thom, W. Taylor. Two Shakespeare examinations: with some remarks on the classroom study of Shakespeare. Bost., Ginn, Heath & Co., 1883. 154 p. S. cl., 56 c.

The two Shakespeare examination papers—questions with answers, printed here, are on Hamlet and Macbeth. The answers are by pupils of Prof. Thom, of Hollins Institute, Va., and are unusually interesting and thorough. The papers were sent to England to the New Shakespeare Society, and gained the society's prize for the encouragement of the study of Shakespeare, accompanied by a very complimentary letter from Mr. F. J. Furnivall. The papers are now published at the request of many desiring to know Prof. Thom's method of teaching.

Thomas, Bertha. George Sand. Bost., Roberts Bros., 1883. 8+278+24 p. S. (Famous women ser.) cl., $1.

Material for a life of George Sand has always been ample. Her correspondence, which was voluminous, and her memoirs of her early life by her own hand, almost covered every particular of her eventful and strangely exceptional life. Still we have never had a complete and detailed biography of her. This sketch offers all that readers could desire seeking a knowledge of her birth, ancestry, education, marriage, separation from her husband, her friendships with famous men, her first flights in literature, and her final acceptance by the literary critics, not only of France, but the whole reading world, as one of the greatest writers of the century. The author has used her material with great discrimination—while no details which are essential to a true knowledge of this great woman are omitted, there is no catering to the lovers of scandals. The estimate of her works is very just and thorough. Many who have condemned George Sand unread, will be astonished to find how generally free her writings are from objectionable views, both of morals and religion, and how exceptionally pure and poetical are the majority of them. The book is completed by the addition of Justin McCarthy's brilliant essay on

"George Sand," reprinted from The Galaxy of May, 1870.

Thompson, Rob. Ellis. Relief of local and state taxation, through distribution of the national surplus. Phil., E. Stern & Co., 1883. 28 p. O. pap., 25 c.

The substance of a series of articles printed in The American by Prof. Thompson, of the University of Penn. Presents a scheme for dividing the surplus revenue among the states. Prof. Thompson is a well-known protectionist.

Towner, Ausburn. Seven days in a Pullman car. N. Y., J. S. Ogilvie & Co., 1883. 5-247 p. D. cl., $1; pap., 50 c.

A party of friends in a Pullman car going out to California, tell each other stories. They are called: Peter Vanderwerker's farm; Kettie Creek's miracle; Stratonice; A life for a love; Ma'm'selle Hanioka; Arsenicum; Born good; In the shadow of a curse; The daughters of Ambustus.

United States. Reports of cases argued and adjudged in the Supreme Court of the United States, February term, 1822, by H: Wheaton. V. 7. 4th ed., ed., with notes and references to later decisions, by F: C: Brightly. N. Y. and Albany, Banks & Bros., 1883. 21+286 p. O. shp., $3.50.

On a thread of a story are gathered some quite bright contrasting sketches of conventional Boston life and the democratic way of living of the people of "the Cape." "Aunt Desire" is a very clever delineation, and she offers any amount of wise and witty remarks and anecdotes in her quaint dialect. Her nephew from the city, sick of the strain of trying to get rich, for a while visits her, and she afterward goes to see the sights of Boston. The sketching in both cases is fresh and entertaining.

The Publishers' Weekly.

JULY 7, 1883.

PUBLISHERS are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, to insure correctness in the final entry.

The trade are invited to send "Communications" to the editor on any topic of interest to the trade, and as to which an interchange of opinion is desirable. Also, matter for "Notes and Queries" gratefully received.

In case of business changes, notification or card should be immediately sent to this office for entry under "Business Notes." New catalogues issued will also be mentioned when forwarded.

"Every man is a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help thereunto."—LORD BACON.

May we so far disturb the minds of the fortunate publishers who are preparing for their summer's rest, as to remind them that at no time of the year is more hard work done at this office than during the heated term. It is not our choice but necessitated by the fact that the material we work up does not reach us until the summer has well set in. Tools must be ready when the rested workers return to handle them; they make no allowance for delay when the rush of business is upon the trade, and the want of worked-up, ready, revised lists, would be not only an inconvenience, but a serious loss of time and business to the bookseller.

And yet, these facts being known, every year, without exception, the whole trade is inconvenienced by a few publishers who, in their eagerness to get away from work and worry, rush off without remembering our requests, and without reflecting that a slight neglect, which seems so trivial at the dead season, may be felt later on in the busy season by themselves as well as others. We therefore beg for prompt action and co-operation for their own sakes, and put in a little plea for mercy for ourselves, not to have our summer work made more irksome than its peculiar character makes unavoidable. First there is the EDUCATIONAL CATALOGUE, which we have faithfully and promptly published since 1870. Every year it has to be made from the beginning, every title compared and the prices checked off, for it seems there are few things more unstable than the prices of school-books. Several publishers have not yet notified us of their decision, though as a rule the educational publishers have responded more promptly and handsomely than for many a past year. Then follows the TRADE LIST ANNUAL, which, since its début in 1873, has grown stronger every year, and which this year promises to exceed all its former issues in its representative value. All the more reason to have it appear in good time. The more interests it represents the more interests it appeals to and the more should these interests be respected by each individual concerned. It is certainly not fair that the majority of the trade and those too who are the most prompt, should suffer from the tardiness and indecision of the few. If it were not that we realize that the absence of certain lists would inconvenience the bookseller more than their delay, we should exclude all lists that would interfere by their lateness with the prompt publication of the ANNUAL. It is necessary, however, to be more prompt in future, for only by such promptness can we be in time also with our Fall and Christmas publications. And we are determined this year to be ahead of any previous season; for it has been fully demonstrated to all concerned, that every day's gain in the issue of our catalogues makes the investment more profitable to the booksellers. Hence publishers, in their own interests, should help us to help them.

Publishers that have not yet given their instructions concerning the supply of their lists for the TRADE LIST ANNUAL, should do so before leaving town. Our circular stating the particulars should be placed into the hands of those who are intrusted with the despatch. A duplicate copy will be sent should our first have been mislaid or not received. All the lists should be delivered by August 1.

The EDUCATIONAL CATALOGUE is so far advanced that any further additions or corrections must be sent at once; also advertisements—and publishers are again respectfully reminded that if the usefulness of the EDUCATIONAL CATALOGUE is recognized by the trade, it should meet with such recognition on their part as alone enables us to continue the publication.

And that the usefulness of the EDUCATIONAL CATALOGUE is recognized is shown by our advance orders, which to-day have reached nearly 20,000 copies—the largest number we have had since the educational publishers have adopted their new methods. This also shows that the live booksellers have rallied and are determined not to be ousted again from turning an honest penny in legitimate business. Booksellers that have not yet sent their orders should make immediate application to secure the benefit of the first edition. The paper on hand for the imprint edition is limited to 25,000 copies. Should the orders continue in the ratio of the early responses, we shall be compelled to order more paper, and we shall be glad to do so; but there will necessarily be some delay in the filling of such orders.

POSTAL MATTERS.

THE NEW MONEY-ORDER SYSTEM.

DR. McDONALD, Superintendent of the Money-Order System of the Post-Office Department, we learn from the Cleveland Herald, has given it out that the law providing for "postal rates" will go into effect on the 3d of September. The reduction in fees to be charged the public for domestic money-orders will go into effect on the 2d of July, and after the same date a single domestic money-order may be issued for any amount from 1 cent to $100, instead of $50, as the limit has been hitherto. For orders not exceeding $10 a fee of 8 cents will be charged. This fee is 2 or 3 cents less than the actual cost to the Government, but it makes up the loss from the increased fees charged for transmitting larger sums of money. As a matter of fact, it costs the government the same to transmit an order for $10 as it does one for $100, the clerical work being the same, but by the larger fee on larger orders the loss on the smaller ones is made up, the fee on an order for $100 being 45 cents. The fees upon international money-orders remain unchanged. The question of increasing the maximum limit of a single international money-order to $100 is to be considered by the post-office officials, though additional legislation on the part of Congress will be necessary to carry out this object. The money-order system is developing rapidly and growing in public esteem, as a safe means for the transmission of money. Last year the average loss was one out of 175,000 orders issued. The loss, however, does not fall upon the public unless the payer or payee is at fault, but is collected by the Government from the official who is to blame, and made good to the loser. The international order system is rapidly extending throughout the civilized world. It now embraces the United States, British North America, Great Britain and Ireland, Germany, Switzerland, Italy, France, Algeria, Jamaica, New South Wales, Victoria, New Zealand, Belgium, Tasmania, British India, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, the Netherlands, and Austria. On and after July 2, Portugal exchanges with the United States, and negotiations are in progress with the governments of the Hawaiian Kingdom and that of the Cape of Good Hope, and it is thought they will come into the circle by the 1st of October, and Japan by the 1st of January next.

BEDFORD THE BINDER.

MR. G. W. SMALLEY, in the Tribune, July 1, pays the following tribute to this famous binder: "Mr. Bedford, the bookbinder, is dead. His name has been known for a generation, and his reputation during a long period stood higher than that of any English rival. "Bound by F. Bedford" was at one time thought to be a guarantee of good workmanship, and, which is not less important, of completeness in the book so stamped. Of late years, Mr. Bedford's standard of excellence fell off. The American collector who cares for good examples of his work will do well to choose bindings executed not less than ten years ago. Ill health had something to do with the inferiority of the more recent work, and other causes which one need not now dwell upon. A man is perhaps entitled to be judged by his best—at any rate not by his worst work, and by the standard of his country. The best things Bedford ever did never approached in merit the half dozen second best French binders, while to Trautz, incomparably the first artist of the century, nobody would dream of comparing Bedford. He himself cheerfully admitted the superiority of the French. I used to go to his place in York Street. He was always ready to discuss bindings, and I have heard him say more than once that all the good he knew he had learned while working with Capé (a Frenchman at one time in repute), while all the bad things he did he had been taught in England. He never pretended to originality. His standard of perfection was a mechanical standard. So far as design was concerned, he was content to copy—to reproduce a pattern in mosaic from a volume that had belonged to Grolier, or to imitate, which he did with exactness, the monotonous iteration of Roger Payne, perhaps the one Englishman who was capable of binding better than he knew."

PUBLISHERS' PROFITS.*

To the Editor of The Nation :

SIR: Your correspondent, Mr. Franklin, in the Nation of May 31, clearly points out the folly of attempting to determine the profits of author and publisher from a comparison of the gross receipts in each case. His statement, however, that "it is quite possible that, from the point of view of theoretical justice, not only five to one, but fifty to one, is an understatement of the difference between profits" in favor of the publisher, merely echoes the popular opinion that authors as a class have a genuine grievance against publishers on the score of an unfair division of the net avails arising from the publication of books. I believe this opinion is erroneous, and therefore does publishers an injustice. No doubt it owes its existence in large measure to the ignorance of those who hold it as to the cost attending the publication of books. Many individual cases of gross injustice upon the part of publisher toward author have occurred, and many others are likely to occur in the future, but with these I am not at present concerned. Are publishers as a class unjust to authors? It is so alleged.

It is clear that the author whose reputation is established can have no ground for complaint, as he holds "the balance of power," and is in a position to dictate fair and honorable terms. Publishing houses are eager for books by the writer, the merit and popularity of whose published works are a sufficient guarantee to insure the success of any new production from his pen. Neither can the author grieve over an unjust division who sells his manuscripts outright for an agreed sum; nor he who chooses to become his own publisher, and thus obtains whatever profit his venture realizes. The grounds for a real grievance can therefore exist, if at all, only with those writers who publish on the royalty plan, agreeing with their publishers to receive as their share of the profits a percentage of the retail price of their books. It is safe to say that the average sale of all books brought before the public on this plan will not exceed five thousand copies for any one publication; or, in other words, of books so published, those whose sale is less than five thousand exceed the number whose sale is greater. Now, any reliable publisher, I think, will verify the statement that unless the sale exceed five thousand copies, the author, nine times in ten, receives a larger profit than his publisher. For example, from a book whose retail price is fixed at $1.50, and which reaches an ultimate sale of five thousand copies, the author, at a royalty of fifteen cents for each copy sold, will invariably derive a profit of $750, while the publisher's profit will oftener be less than more than that sum. Were seventy-five cents, as erroneously stated in the Nation of May 17, his true profit, he would realize a gain of $3750. But before he can ascertain his profit he must subtract from this amount the cost of the electrotype plates, the cost of the manufacture of the five thousand copies, the expense of advertising, shipping, collecting, his losses from bad accounts, the cost of unsold copies and of those given for review, and any other outlay not here specified.

However much "theoretical justice" might be made to yield the author, practical justice cannot well do more for him than publishers as a class are now doing. W. W. WILLIAMS.

CLEVELAND, O., June 4, 1883.

COMMUNICATIONS.

GOVERNMENT CONTRACTS.

Editor Publishers' Weekly:

IN your issue of June 30th, you state that "Wm. A. Davis has been awarded the contract for supplying mucilage and ink to the 1st and 2d class post-offices, War and Treasury Departments of the entire U. S." This statement is wide of the mark and calculated to do other manufacturers a great injustice. The Treasury Department calls for thirteen kinds of ink. W. A. Davis gets the award for 50 gross cones, and J. D. Free gets the award on 20 doz. pints of Mr. Davis's crimson. The balance of the ink is awarded to other parties. So also with mucilage, Mr. Davis gets only a portion.

The War Department calls for thirteen kinds of ink, and Mr. Davis gets none of them, so also in the post-office he gets no ink, and only a part of the mucilage.

I have no desire to detract from the honor accorded Mr. Davis, but it ought not be sought at the expense of truth. The fact is these contracts, are pretty well divided, and no one person controls them very largely. It is reduced to a question of how much you are willing to lose or how small a margin you can get clear with. The government get their supplies at bottom prices, and nobody will ever get rich on the profits.

Yours very truly Wm. BALLANTYNE.

WASHINGTON, D. C. June 30, 1883.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

THE Christian Leader, the organ of the Universalist denomination, has been enlarged from 48 to 56 columns and 2½ inches added to the length of the columns. The Rev. Dr. A. Gunnison will contribute a very interesting series of "Letters on California" to its columns.

THE statement that Mr. George W. Childs, of the Philadelphia Public Ledger, had purchased the Germantown Telegraph from its veteran editor, Major Philip R. Freas, is incorrect. Mr. Henry W. Raymond, for many years connected with the Chicago Tribune as its literary editor, has purchased the Telegraph, and Mr. Childs has guaranteed the sale.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

D. & J. SADLER & CO. have issued a cheap edition of Moore's "Irish Melodies," with a memoir and notes by Mr. John Savage.

W. R. JENKINS will issue immediately "Le Gentilhomme Pauvre," by Dumanoir and Lefarque—being the fourth number of the Théâtre Contemporain.

FUNK & WAGNALLS have in preparation, "Historical and Other Studies," by J. A. Froude; "Artisan Life in the Time of Jesus," by Prof. Franz Delitzsch; and "By-ways of Literature," by Dr. D. H. Wheeler.

THE Old Testament company of revisers have now completed their last revision and are making up the appendix containing the unadjusted differences between the American and English revisers. The revision will be completed probably toward the close of the year, and will be brought out next year by the Oxford and Cambridge Presses.

HARPER & BROS. have in preparation a work on "French and German Socialism in Modern Times," by Richard T. Ely, of Johns Hopkins; and a monograph on "The Greek and Latin Inscriptions on the Obelisk Crab in the Metropolitan Museum," by Professor Augustus C. Merriam of Columbia College. Early in August they will issue George Ticknor Curtis's "Life of James Buchanan."

D. LOTHROP & CO. have in preparation for the holiday trade, a large and handsomely illustrated quarto for the little people, entitled "Delightful Days," which will contain a selection from almost every story writer of America, and over 300 illustrations by prominent artists. They are also getting ready "How the Rain Sprites were Freed," by Davida Coit, with fine colored illustrations; and "Parlor Comedies," by Charles R. Talbot.

PORTER & COATES have in press a new work by Jules Verne, entitled "The Underground City; or, The Child of the Cavern," which is said to contain all of Verne's fascinating characteristics. In addition to the juveniles already announced by us, they have in preparation "Ned in the Block House," which will be the first volume of the Young Pioneer series, by Edward S. Ellis; and a new book for girls by Margaret Vandegrift, author of "Doctor Gilbert's Daughter." The same firm have also in preparation "Thomas's Comprehensive Biographical Dictionary;" and a fine edition of "Smith's Bible Dictionary," revised by F. N. and M. A. Peloubet.

A. C. ARMSTRONG & SON announce for the Fall season a new story of naval adventure by the late Wm. H. G. Kingston, entitled "From Powder-Monkey to Admiral." This will be fully illustrated, and will be published uniform with "Hendricks the Hunter" etc. It will also form one of the five volumes of Kingston's Library of Adventure Afloat and Ashore, which will comprise in addition "Hendricks the Hunter," "Peter Trawl," "James Braithwaite," and "Shore and Ocean," all in new and attractive bindings and in a neat box. Other juveniles are "The Cruise of the Snow-Bird," a story of Arctic adventures, by Dr. Gordon Stables, and new issues of Alice Carey's charming stories "Cloverhock Children," and "Snow Berries." In the field of religious literature they have in press a new volume of sermons by Dr. Wm. M. Taylor, entitled "Contrary Winds and other Sermons." This will form a companion volume to the same author's "Limitations of Life," of which a fourth edition will also be ready. In the Clerical Library they will issue "Outlines of Sermons to Children, with Numerous Anecdotes," and "Pulpit Prayers," by eminent preachers. In October they will issue "The Parabolic Teaching of Christ, a systematic and critical study of the parables of our Lord," by the Rev. Dr. A. B. Bruce. They have also in press new editions of "Folk and Fairy Tales," at a reduced price, and of the important "History of Art in Ancient Egypt," by Perrot and Chizez.

P. BLAKISTON, SON & CO. have in preparation for early publication "The Principles and Practice of Medicine," by C. Hilton Fagge; "A Manual of Physiology for Junior Students," by Gerald F. Yeo; "A Manual of Midwifery," by A. L. Galabin; "Student's Manual of Physics," by Professor Silvanus P. Thompson; "Student's Guide to the Diseases of Children," by J. F. Goodhart; "Syphilis and Pseudo-Syphilis," by Alfred Cooper; the second volume of "Diseases of Throat and Nose," by Morell MacKenzie, embracing diseases of the œsophagus, nasal cavities, and neck; a new edition of Dr. George Wilson's "Hand-Book of Hygiene and Sanitary Science;" and a new edition of Beasley's "Book of Prescriptions," containing 3000 prescriptions collected from the practice of the most eminent physicians and surgeons, English and foreign, with a history of the materia medica, list of doses and an index of diseases and remedies.

A BIBLIOGRAPHY of Swinburne's writings has been made by Mr. Richard Herne Shepherd.

THE translation of the first volume of Schopenhauer's "Welt als Wille und Vorstellung," is now in press, and will appear at the beginning of the autumn in Trübner's Philosophical series. The translators, Mr. R. B. Haldane and Mr. John Kemp, are also well advanced with the second volume.

NEW YORK, July, 1883.

We take pleasure in calling the attention of THE TRADE to our new and complete line of publications for the FALL of 1883, to be ready in ample time for the earliest buyers. We have fully maintained the UNIFORM EXCELLENCE AND HIGH STANDARD which our publications have attained in the past, and in many cases have made a very decided advance, not only in the excellence of the text and beauty of the illustrations, but also in the quality of the printing and bindings.

We will add this season

OVER ONE HUNDRED NEW VOLUMES,

many of which are by AMERICAN as well as FOREIGN AUTHORS. Our new issues cover a wide range in the field of literature, and include the simple Picture-Book for the youngest child, as well as the sumptuous "Edition de Luxe" for the lover of fine illustrated works.

OUR NEW JUVENILE HOLIDAY BOOKS include volumes suited for all ages, and at prices ranging from 25 cents to $3. No book has been selected that does not convey INSTRUCTION as well as ENTERTAINMENT. All are very fully illustrated. Many new styles of bindings, etc., have been introduced this season, making

THE LARGEST, MOST ATTRACTIVE, AND BEST LINE OF JUVENILE AND HOLIDAY BOOKS

EVER PLACED IN THE MARKET.

ALL NEW EDITIONS of older favorites have been enlarged and improved, and are now bound in new styles. A considerable has been made in many of the lines, making them without question the cheapest as well as the best books in the market.

Special Attention is invited to our new and beautiful Chromo-lithograph Covers for Board Juveniles, done in from 9 to 15 colors. All our Board Books have an elegant satin finish (done by patent process), used by us only, and will not sweat, scratch, or adhere to wrappers. They are without exception the handsomest covers ever produced. No expense has been spared to produce elegant and unique designs for cloth bindings in gold and various colored inks.

ALL JOBBERS HAVE A FULL SUPPLY OF OUR GOODS.

Jobbers can now order Travellers' Samples, which will be supplied, as heretofore, without charge, and in such shape as will best suit their convenience.

Our complete Descriptive List of Announcements is now under way, and will be forwarded you at an early date.

See our complete Line before making selections for the Fall.

BACHELOR BLUFF:

HIS OPINIONS, SENTIMENTS, AND DISPUTATIONS.

By OLIVER BELL BUNCE.

"He (the reader) will find himself in company of a very entertaining and profitable conversationalist who thinks for himself, and what is more edifying and delightful than conversation with such a man? . . . He will be enriched with new ideas, some of which are striking, and gratified with pleasing and ennobling sentiments."—The Literary World.

THE JEWS OF BARNOW.

Stories by KARL EMIL FRANZOS. Translated by M. W. MACDOWALL; with a Preface by Barnet Phillips. 16mo, cloth, $1.

"These stories deserve great praise. They are told in a simple, straightforward style, which rises at times, when the situation requires it, to a very high level. . . . The whole book may be strongly recommended to readers who can appreciate a good workman handling a novel subject."—Saturday Review.

VICE VERSA;

Or, A LESSON TO FATHERS.

By F. ANSTAY. 16mo, cloth, $1.

"'Vice Versa' is one of the most diverting books that we have read for many a day. It is equally calculated to amuse the August idler and to keep up the spirits of those who stay in town and work while others are holiday-making. . . . The book is singularly well written, graphic, terse, and full of verve. The school-boy conversations are to the life, and every scene is brisk and well considered."—Pall Mall Gazette.

THE VIRGINIA COMEDIANS;

Or, OLD DAYS IN THE OLD DOMINION.

A Novel. By JOHN ESTEN COOKE. Two vols. in one, 16mo, cloth, $1.25.

"A new edition, in response to frequent applications, of a novel long out of print, and which on its first appearance nearly thirty years ago, made a marked impression.

HEART OF STEEL.

16mo, cloth, $1.25.

"The heroine, gifted, charming, beautiful, yet embittered by a hereditary wrong, is a most powerful and well-wrought creation, and worthy to take her place by Valerie Aylmer."—Boston Courier.

THE AMERICAN EDUCATIONAL CATALOGUE

For 1883 [Fourteenth Year].

COMPILED BY G. D. T. ROUSE.

The Educational Catalogue has been found so valuable to the Trade, not only as a finding list, but for circulation among educational customers, for the purpose of soliciting orders and saving at the same time much troublesome correspondence, that its permanent continuance is recognized as a necessity.

The catalogue this year follows the alphabetical system pronounced by the experience of the trade the most satisfactory for practical use. It includes a price-list arranged alphabetically by author's or editor's name, and a detailed subject-index, referring from each specific subject to authors of books on that subject, so that the advantages of both a finding list for the trade and a class catalogue for the use of schools are combined.

No other list in the market gives this practical combination. And no other catalogue has ever been made approximately so complete as this. Last year's edition contained twice as many books as, or nearly 2500 more books, than either of the other lists that were offered to the trade.

The list has been entirely reset, to include the new books in their proper alphabetical order, and also to embody all the corrections of prices, omissions, or other errors in last year's catalogue.

Publishers' prices are in all cases given—retail, if retail (in first column); "net," if "net" (in second column); where a "mailing" percentage is specified by the publisher, the "mailing price" is given in the retail column marked with an asterisk. A carefully drawn explanation in the heading, to private buyers, adapts the catalogue to the use of the retail trade.

It should be understood that, of the regular retail-price publishers, only the retail price is given, and the net prices only of those publishers who make it a practice to mail net-price lists to schools—in fact, make their net prices their regular school-supply prices. This point is emphasized in order to meet the objections raised to the quotation of net prices.

It should be well considered that any attempt at withholding, from the educational public, what the publisher, through his agents, advertisements, lists, and circulars, takes special pains to make known, must be an unwise policy. It is not objectionable, but quite proper and legitimate, to charge the retail or mailing price for single copies of any book; but the Educational Catalogue is not generally given away to single-book customers. It is intended only for those who purchase for schools in quantities. Now any one putting himself on record by quoting fictitious prices, or prices other than those quoted by the publisher (which prices, it is now understood, are generally still subject to a trade discount), necessarily must drive his school trade into the hands of those who solicit their orders from a catalogue, the prices of which tally with that of the publishers.

The following paragraph from a previous year's Educational Catalogue further elucidates the reasons for our strict adherence to publishers' prices: "Plainly, if it wished to sustain its official character, it was bound to respect the desire of those who have a right to stand by their prices, and who, should their established prices be disregarded, could by their public protest soon discredit the Educational Catalogue as well as those who handled it for circulation. At a time when the public mind, from causes so often discussed and lamented in these columns, is fast losing faith in honest prices, so far as books are concerned, it is of the utmost importance that there be one official list which can be consulted with confidence by the public, as well as by the trade.

In making up special orders for the Educational Catalogue, booksellers should bear in mind that it possesses not only temporary value, but will serve its purpose during the whole year. No imprint edition of less than 100 copies can be supplied. Orders for editions should be sent to us at once.

CASH TERMS.

With sole imprint of ordering firm, and stitched, per 100 copies, $5; per 1000, $40.

There is no extra charge for printing name, business card, etc., on the imprint page; the last page is left blank at the disposal of the dealer, but any copy for that, advertising special lines or general business, will be set up and printed thereon for $5, or $1 if plate is sent.

* * * Copy for imprint and shipping directions should accompany the order.

The regular Educational Number of "THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY" will be supplied at 25 cents per copy, or five for $1, postpaid.

THE

Publishers' Trade-List Annual

For 1883 (Eleventh Year).

Large 8vo, over 2000 pages. (Ready in September.)

The improvements in the Trade-List Annual last year have given such general satisfaction that there will be no change in the forthcoming volume (eleventh year) as to the essential features, which are:

1. The latest Catalogues of American Publishers, contributed by themselves and arranged alphabetically by the names of the publishers.
2. A complete reprint of the "Publishers' Weekly" full title Records of Books published (inclusive of all the descriptive notes) from July 8, 1882, to June 30, 1883. In order to facilitate reference, it will be accompanied by a full index, by which every book on record can be found, whether it is looked for under author, title, or subject.
3. The "Educational Catalogue" for 1883, which is used by the entire trade and educational interests as the most representative reference-list of School-books.

The above Lists, all bound in one volume, present in their combination so convenient and time-saving a working-tool as to make it indispensable to every one who has any interest in the purchase and sale of books.

The price will be One Dollar per copy net, bound in cloth, or can be sent postpaid for One Dollar and a half net, payable in advance. The price of the volume will be raised after day of publication.

Delayed or unpaid subscriptions are not entitled to the subscription price ($1).

Remittances should be made by check, money-order on New York, or registered letter, as we cannot be responsible for any losses. Receipt for remittance will be sent by return mail.

Unless special shipping directions are received, copies ready for delivery will be dispatched by express unpaid.

THE

Publishers' Trade-List Annual

For 1883 (Eleventh Year).

Large 8vo, over 2000 pages. (Ready in September.)

The improvements in the Trade-List Annual last year have given such general satisfaction that there will be no change in the forthcoming volume (eleventh year) as to the essential features, which are:

1. The latest Catalogues of American Publishers, contributed by themselves and arranged alphabetically by the names of the publishers.
2. A complete reprint of the "Publishers' Weekly" full title Records of Books published (inclusive of all the descriptive notes) from July 8, 1862, to June 30, 1883. In order to facilitate reference, it will be accompanied by a full index, by which every book on record can be found, whether it is looked for under author, title, or subject.
3. The "Educational Catalogue" for 1883, which is used by the entire trade and educational interests as the most representative reference-list of School-books.

The above Lists, all bound in one volume, present in their combination so convenient and time-saving a working-tool as to make it indispensable to every one who has any interest in the purchase and sale of books.

The price will be One Dollar per copy net, bound in cloth, or can be sent postpaid for One Dollar and a half net, payable in advance. The price of the volume will be raised after day of publication.

Delayed or unpaid subscriptions are not entitled to the subscription price ($1).

Remittances should be made by check, money-order on New York, or registered letter, as we cannot be responsible for any losses. Receipt for remittance will be sent by return mail.

Unless special shipping directions are received, copies ready for delivery will be dispatched by express unpaid.

NOTES IN SEASON.

DE WOLFE, FISKE & Co., Boston, having purchased the plates of "America Illustrated," have published a new edition, to which they have added a handsome full-page frontispiece and an illustrated title-page.

THOS. Y. CROWELL & Co. have now ready new editions in attractive binding, of Abbott's "American Histories for Youth," in 8 volumes; "The Rollo Books," in 14 volumes; and "The Jonas Books," and the "Lucy Books," in 6 volumes each. These volumes are all fully illustrated. They have also ready a new edition of Dr. D. C. Eddy's well-known "Walter's Tour in the East," in 6 volumes.

D. LOTHROP & Co. will shortly publish "The Bankers of Bedford," a story for the older young people, by John R. Musick; "Silver City," a romance of Central America, by Fred. A. Ober; "All Aboard for the Lakes and Mountains," by Rev. G. A. Rand; and "Self-Giving," a religious story by Wm. F. Bainbridge, well known through his connection with and writings on the Foreign Missions of the world.

JAMES R. OSGOOD & Co. have just ready Mrs. Madeleine Vinton Dahlgren's society novel, "A Washington Winter," handsomely illustrated; a student's edition of "The Lady of the Lake," edited with notes and an introduction, by W. J. Rolfe; and a curious volume entitled "Photo-Micrographs, and How to Make Them," illustrated by forty-seven photographs of microscopic objects, reproduced by the heliotype process, by Dr. George M. Sternberg, of the U. S. Army.

CUPPLES, UPHAM & Co. have just issued "The Story of Ida," by Francesca, with a preface by John Ruskin, at whose request this interesting little sketch was given to the world. They have also published a poem, entitled "Yankee Doodle," by Robert Grant, delivered before the Phi Beta Kappa Society of Harvard, last June. Mr. Grant, who will be remembered as the author of "The Confessions of a Frivolous Girl," is the youngest poet who has yet read before the Harvard Chapter of the Phi Beta Kappa.

HENRY C. LEA'S SON & Co. announce that they have arranged to become the American publishers of the series of fifteen manuals for medical students now preparing in England by well-known teachers or examiners. The following may now be announced: "Elements of Histology," by Dr. E. Klein; "Surgical Pathology," by A. J. Pepper; "Applied Anatomy," by Frederick Treves; "Human Physiology," by Henry Power; and "Pathological Chemistry," by Dr. Charles H. Ralfe. They will be pocket-size octavos, fully illustrated, printed on good paper, bound in limp cloth, and will be issued at a very low price.

BUSINESS NOTES.

ANN ARBOR, MICH.—John Moore has sold his book, stationery, and wall-paper business to Geo. Osius & Co.

BOSTON.—Murphy & McCarthy, publishers, 75 Essex Street, and Providence, R. I., have suspended. According to Bradstreet's they owe $15,030, of which $6540 are bills payable, $7820 accommodation paper, and $670 other debts. The assets aggregate $18,663, consisting of stock, $1920; sheets, $1000; plates and woodcuts, $5000; outstanding leases, $4000; ledger accounts, $220; bills receivable, $323; Hartford office, stock, $1700; outstanding bills, $3000; Providence office, stock, $500; outstanding bills, $1000. The firm consists of Patrick Murphy, who resides at Providence, and Jeremiah McCarthy, of Cambridge.

NEW YORK CITY.—John E. Potter & Co. have opened a branch office at 743 Broadway, in charge of Mr. E. O. Chapman, well known to the trade.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; M: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William. Sizes are designated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); Q. (4to: under 30 cm.); O. (8vo: 25 cm.); D. (16mo: 20 cm.); S. (16mo: 17½ cm.); T. (8mo: 15 cm.); Tt. (32mo: 12½ cm.); Ps. (4mo: 10 cm.). Sq., obl., nar., designate square, oblong, narrow books of these heights. Where figure instead of letter symbols are used, the record is from publisher's designation, and not measurement.

Pindar. The Nemean and Isthmian odes; with notes—explanatory and critical—introductions, and introductory essays, by C. A. M. Fennell. N. Y., Macmillan, 1883. 32+266 p., 1 pl., D. cl., $2.50.

By the author of "Malbrook." Opens in a charity asylum in the West, founded by a lady, an atheist, who made it a condition that no religion should be taught within its walls, all the teaching being purely ethical. Most of the pupils have died or are dying from an epidemic, and the writer pictures some harrowing deathbed scenes of young spirits leaving the world without hope or consolation. She asserts that all these details are facts. One of the survivors of the institution, "Charity," a girl of unusual intelligence and self-reliance, becomes the heroine. She is loved by two brothers, and her story has a very tragical element.

While the book is rich in romantic incidents, it is also given largely to discussions of the existence or non-existence of a God and an immortal life.

Rich, Shebnah. Truro, Cape Cod; or, landmarks and sea-marks. Bost., D. Lothrop & Co., [1883]. 2+580 p. por. and il. O. cl., $3. History of Truro, Cape Cod, from its first settlement. The author, in indicating the scope of his work, says: "I have narrated the customs, habits, traditions, character, personalities and individualities of the people; what they said and what they did; their toil and poverty; their fortunes and misfortunes; their energy, economy and thrift; the lights and shadows of their lives."

Sherwood, Ja. M. The lamb in the midst of the throne; or, the history of the cross. N. Y., Funk & Wagnalls, 1883. 525 p. O. cl., $2.

The author is editor of the Presbyterian Review. The chief subject discussed is "the true idea of the cross, and how to give it saving power in the present age of the world." The book is evangelical in spirit, but there is no formal statement of doctrines. It is meant to be helpful and suggestive to both ministers and students.

Sweet, Alex. E., and Knox, J. Armoy, eds. On a Mexican mustang through Texas from the Gulf to the Rio Grande. Hartford, Ct., S. S. Scranton & Co., 1883. 672 p. il. O. cl., $3.50; $4.

United States. Digest of decisions of the various courts within the United States, by G. F. Williams. New ser. V. 13: Annual digest for 1882. Bost., Little, Brown & Co., 1883. 4+1020 p. O. shp., $6.

Von Bothmer, Countess M. Aut Cæsar aut nihil: a novel. N. Y., Harper, 1883. 93 p. Q. (Harper's Franklin sq. lib., no. 323.) pap., 20 c.

An English novel which includes an account of the nihilist's plots in Russia, which led to the assassination of the late Czar.

The Publishers' Weekly.

JULY 14, 1883.

PUBLISHERS are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, to insure correctness in the final entry.

The trade are invited to send "Communications" to the editor on any topic of interest to the trade, and as to which an interchange of opinion is desirable. Also, matter for "Notes and Queries" gratefully received.

In case of business changes, notification or card should be immediately sent to this office for entry under "Business Notes." New catalogues issued will also be mentioned when forwarded.

"Every man is a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE TRIBUNE vs. APPLETON.

"If a person who prys into the character of others with no design but to discover their faults, and to publish them to the world, deserves the title of a slanderer of reputations of men, why should not a critic, who reads with the same malevolent view, be properly styled the slanderer of the reputations of books?"—FIELDING.

Then what shall a critic be styled, who, with malevolent view, slanders the reputation of books with no other design than to slander the reputation of men? It is with such a critic that we have to deal, and, after previous warnings, our readers will not be surprised to learn that the said critic is in the service of the N. Y. Tribune. Time was when the Tribune was the pride of American journalism: before Horace Greeley aspired to political honors. Time was when the Tribune was "distinguished as a tribunal of letters:" before men of letters were called to mourn the death of George Ripley. We shall draw no general comparisons, but confine ourselves to a distinct case in asserting that George Ripley would have laid down his pen forever, before he would have allowed literary criticism to be dragged down to the level of the Tribune notice of McMaster's "History of the People of the United States." To trace the malevolent intent of the review we must first glance at the attending circumstances.

It is a public secret that the issues of the house of D. Appleton & Co. are not reviewed by the N. Y. Tribune. From this fact it may be concluded either that the Appletons do not send press copies to the Tribune, or that the Tribune makes it a point not to review their books. Suddenly appears an elaborate review of an Appleton book, and the question is naturally asked, Why does the Tribune review this book and not others? Why not others if the publishers send press copies of all, or why just this one if the Tribune itself procured a copy for review? Any journal that has a "literary column," cannot, conscientiously, ignore all the books of a great publishing house. We cannot think the Tribune would be guilty of the folly of asserting that for years the Appletons have published no books worth reviewing, whether good or bad, except McMaster's "History." The spirit of the review inclines us to the idea that the Tribune was quite ready to pay for its copy; of this, however, the form of the review gives no indication, and the general reader gets the impression that the Tribune is criticising a book sent for review. The choice of form is, however, of no consequence, but the choice of matter and its use plainly show that this review was written to compass an end. Let it be understood that the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY does not presume to pose as a critic on literary questions. The Tribune may be right or wrong in its criticism of this book. It has certainly the right to criticise adversely, provided its opinion is honest. But it is not here a question of opinion.

McMASTER'S "History" appeared in March. The chief charges the Tribune makes against the book are: 1. Imitation of Macaulay's style; 2. "Something more than imitation," "actual adaptation," "a crime not easily distinguishable from theft;" 3. "Frequent offences against literary propriety, not to say English grammar." This review appeared in the Tribune of July 1. Those who have watched the expressions of the American press on this important work since last March will draw their own conclusions. The originality of the criticism of the Tribune, particularly of the Macaulay discovery, is placed in its proper light by a passage below, from the Critic of June 30, referring to a controversy that had arisen between some of our leading literary journals.

"Because the Nation failed to see, until some months after its publication, that Mr. John Bach McMaster's 'History of the People of the United States' was written very much in the style of Macaulay's History of England, it would have the world believe that most, if not all of the reviewers, were as slow to make the discovery. On June 21, having just awakened to this similarity, the Nation said:

"It might be supposed that a resemblance so striking would have been generally pointed out at once in every public print. It was not so. The new 'History of the United States' was immediately noticed by all the daily papers and all the weekly and monthly magazines; it was received with a unanimous chorus of praise. The style, in particular, received especial attention; but no one thought of the forgotten writer of forty years ago; all looked at once to an English historian of our own day. Every one said that Mr. McMaster had imitated Mr. Green (though the English history did not appear till the American was half written), and no one perceived that he resembled Macaulay."

"It was the Nation itself that harped upon the resemblance to Green. The Critic of April 21, reviewing McMaster and Doyle in the same article, said :

"The American writer will inevitably bring to mind, even to the most careless reader [I ask the Nation's pardon], the brilliancy, the vivacity, and the manner of the English historian, Macaulay. If one [Doyle], like Hildreth, loves to stir the dust of venerable and musty archives, and verify each historical event by the special contemporary record, the other [McMaster], like Macaulay, has quite as much respect, if not more, for the contemporary newspaper, etc."

To this must be added that, according to a correspondent of the Nation, July 5,

"the Charleston News and Courier of March 20, noticing the first appearance of this book, says that it cannot give a better idea of its scope than by quoting the opening paragraph, which it does in full, and thus comments : 'No reader of this passage will doubt where McMaster has "picked up his style." The influence of Macaulay is manifest enough, and it is only fair to say that the echo is not unsuccessful.'"

WHETHER the Tribune, of July 1, was ignorant of these discoveries ; whether it has any claim to originality ; or whether this review is "more than imitation," we shall not venture to decide. That a work of such importance, which appeared in March and which "was immediately noticed by all the daily papers, and all the weekly and monthly magazines," should be reviewed for the readers of the Tribune as late as July 1, would seem to be, to say the least, poor journalism. It is not only poor journalism ; it is also vicious journalism. There was method in the Tribune's madness [this is "actual adaptation"], for this delay on the part of a newspaper was so extraordinary that it can be explained only by the existence of some design, viz., a lying-in-wait for an opportunity. Every one had spoken ; the first enthusiasm was followed by a dissecting analysis of the most minute shortcomings of the author. The Tribune, then, had its opportunity. And this is the summing up of its verdict—the climax that is placed at the end of its elaborate review, like the tableau at the end of our sensational dramas :

"Had Mr. McMaster carried his ms. to a publishing-house of greater reputation for judgment and scholarship, his imitations and adaptations, whether voluntary or involuntary, would have been detected and his blunders corrected. It is safe to say that no other firm in the country assuming to issue good literature would have shown equal ignorance, at least of a history so famous as Macaulay's. It would be pleasant to stop here, but we must express our surprise and disappointment at the frequent offences against literary propriety, not to say English grammar, into which the author has allowed himself to be betrayed by headlong haste. . . . It is possible that he may share the shame of these slovenly errors in an ambitious history with his publisher, for a printing-house which is illiterate enough to pass such glaring blunders is surely illiterate enough to make them."

This onslaught is so savage, the perversion of literary criticism so vindictive, that our only comment is a reference to our introductory. It cannot even be said, in mitigation, that the Tribune has allowed itself "to be betrayed by headlong haste."

BUT to show still more the "malevolent view" of the Tribune, we quote one of the few concessions that, in the face of public opinion, perhaps, it thought fit to make :

"His method of treatment is different from that of his predecessors. Considering the reorganization as a purely popular achievement, he describes at full length the meetings, discussions, newspaper and pamphlet controversies, propositions both wild and rational, opposition both factious and sincere, which led at last to the convention and its remarkable work. It will probably be thought that he underestimates the influence of individual statesmen in this labor of construction, and that the Constitution of the United States is hardly accounted for by what he tells us of its origin. But however opinions may differ on this point, there can be no question that he has presented an able and instructive sketch of the progress of public opinion and political enlightenment at a most critical epoch in the experiment of popular government."

We shall not discuss the author's right to form his style after any model that suits his subject ; nor his right to use, without quoting, turns of phrase or similes in common use ; nor his right to "adapt" or state facts that require the use of similar language ; but we shall question the new canon of criticism laid down by the Tribune : That the author should take his literary instruction from the publisher ; or that the publisher be responsible for the literary style, the "imitations and adaptations," the peculiarities of language, etc., of an author. In this case it chances to be an author "whose method of treatment is different from that of his predecessors ;" who "has presented an able and instructive sketch of the progress of public opinion and political enlightenment at a most critical epoch in the experiment of popular government." Inasmuch as the Appletons have shown quite as much "judgment and scholarship" in discovering the merits of the work as the Tribune critic has displayed in discovering the demerits, it is not the "reputation" of the publisher that suffers from the comparison. But when, even by the Tribune's own showing, the work possesses so much merit as to have a "claim to our careful study and thanks," why should the publisher, who is censured for all the faults of the author, have no share of the "thanks" ?

As a wholesome antidote to the Tribune of July 1, we give below the impressions of Charles Dudley Warner, a critic who—even the Tribune will admit—has no mean "reputation for judgment and scholarship." It does one good to find a man who takes up the first book of a new author "with no design but to discover"—its virtues; and who, at the risk of having "his blunders corrected," has the courage to voice his enthusiasm in unstinted praise. And we may well forgive the "ignorance" that passed the "blunders," discovered the young and unknown writer, and had sufficient confidence in its "judgment and scholarship" to invest a large sum to enable him to place his volume, "at a bound, among the first histories in our language."

McMASTER'S HISTORY OF THE PEOPLE OF THE UNITED STATES.

Charles Dudley Warner, in the Hartford Courant.

WITHOUT a note of warning or preparation, with no blowing of trumpets, without even a scrap of preface, suddenly appears one of the most important, one of the most necessary, certainly one of the most fascinating and entertaining volumes that the literature of this country is enriched with. This is "A History of the People of the United States, from the Revolution to the Civil War," by John Bach McMaster. The first of the five projected volumes is a royal octavo of 622 pages, with a good index. We have not yet proceeded far enough in it to pronounce upon the author's theory and philosophy, and of course not far enough to risk any judgment upon the work as a whole, but quite far enough to speak positively about the excellence of its method, its opportuneness, and its unfailing charm as a book to read.

The reader will soon perceive that this is Macaulay's method of writing history, that is, the modern method; and that we have here what is most important to be known in the development of a people, namely, the life of the people themselves. The reader will inevitably be reminded of Macaulay's great chapter in which he made a résumé of the condition of England at the period he began his history, but he will make the comparison in a spirit of national pride that a writer has arisen capable of weaving our common life into as brilliant and vivacious a narrative as that which entranced the world when Macaulay took up his pen.

This new narrative judiciously mingles social with the political history. It deals, of course, with wars and conspiracies, with treaties, with Presidents and politicians, with ambitions and the rise of great parties; but the history of the people is the chief theme. "At every stage of the splendid progress which separates the America of Washington and Adams from the America in which we live," says the author, "it shall be my purpose to describe the dress, the occupations, the amusements, the literary canons of the times; to note the changes of manners and morals; to trace the growth of that humane spirit which abolished punishment for debt, which reformed the discipline of prisons and of jails, and which has, in our own time, destroyed slavery and lessened the misery of dumb brutes. Nor shall it be less my aim to recount the manifold improvements which, in a thousand ways, have multiplied the conveniences of life, and ministered to the happiness of our race; to describe the rise and progress of that long series of mechanical inventions and discoveries which is now the admiration of the world, and our just pride and boast; to tell how, under the benign influence of liberty and peace, there sprang up, in the course of a single century, a prosperity unparalleled in the annals of human affairs; how, from a state of great poverty and feebleness, our country grew rapidly to one of opulence and power; how her agriculture and her manufactures flourished together; how, by a wise system of free education and a free press, knowledge was disseminated, and the arts and sciences advanced; how the ingenuity of her people became fruitful of wonders far more astonishing than any of which the alchemists had ever dreamed."

This splendid programme is no empty boast; it is carried out with a verve, in brilliant grouping of details patiently and laboriously gathered, an admirable sense of proportion, a power of generalization and a literary style concise, vigorous, picturesque, and eminently readable, which place this volume, at a bound, among the first histories in our language. We turn page after page in spell-bound attention. We see pass in review the social condition of our past Revolutionary period, and the distracted reviewer, who marks passage after passage, ends in despair of choosing anything, and wants to lay it all before his readers. This may seem extravagant, yet we are willing to rest our opinion on the popular verdict of a book that everybody who reads will soon be perusing. Never before has been made so graphic and interesting a picture of our social life, in all its homely details, a century ago.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

MR. WM. A. HOVEY has severed his connection with the Manufacturers' Gazette. The paper will be continued under the management of Mr. John H. Crandon.

IN October will be published the first number of a German periodical devoted entirely to reviews of Oriental philology. Its probable title will be Literaturblatt für Orientalische Philologie.

The Scholar's Quarterly, The Weekly Lesson-Leaf, and The Question-Leaf, have been sold to Howard Gannett & Co., Boston, who will spare no effort to keep these publications up to the highest standard of excellence.

THE first number of the Medico-Legal Journal, published under the auspices of the Medico-Legal Society of New York, has just been issued. It contains the inaugural address of President Clark Bell, and much other matter of interest, particularly in relation to lunacy and the coroners' system. A steel engraving of the late Dr. Geo. M. Beard serves for a frontispiece. The office of the journal is No. 55 Broadway.

THE August Century will be the "Midsummer Holiday Number." It will open with a paper by Prof. Alfred M. Mayer, of the Stevens Institute, an enthusiastic sportsman, on "Bob White, the Game Bird of America." Prof. Mayer calls him, as the bird calls himself, "Bob White," and as he is known everywhere, although in the North and East he is commonly called quail, and in the South and West, partridge. The illustrations of this paper are said to be remarkable specimens of James C. Beard's skill as a delineator of birds.

The Wheelman Art Supplement is a production in which its editors, authors, draughtsmen, printers, binders, and publishers may well take pride. From the rich, gray, thick paper cover, with the clear, appropriately printed title, through the sixteen pages of thick paper, luxurious margins, delicate drawings, etc., it is all beautiful. The poems are selected from the contributions to the Wheelman during the last six months by Charles Richard Dodge. The illustrations are drawn by Jo. Pennell, F. Childs Hassam, E. H. Garrett, and H. E. Sylvester, who is also the engraver for his brother artists. The publishers and artists are certainly indebted to the perfect presswork of Rockwell & Churchill for making this first appearance of the new enterprise so finished an artistic success.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

EDWARD DOWDEN is preparing a comprehensive study of Goethe.

MATTHEW ARNOLD is expected to arrive in New York in October next.

MAY LAFFAN, the Irish novelist, has been married to a Scotch professor named MacNabb.

DR. PETER BAYNE is engaged upon a Life of Luther, which will be published in two large octavo volumes.

CANON LIDDON has in preparation a Life of the late Dr. Pusey, which will be published by Messrs. Rivington.

THE authorship of "Those Pretty St. George Girls," a novel just published by the Petersons, is credited to Mrs. John Sherwood.

MLLE. DE LA RAME (Ouida), says the London Literary World, "is staying at Florence, afflicted with a grave mental malady, whose treatment requires the strictest seclusion."

PROF. DANIEL SANDERS, the well-known lexicographer and grammarian, has just written a book of interest to specialists, on the structure and arrangement of the sentence in German, entitled "Satzbau und Wortfolge in der deutschen Sprache."

MR. GEORGE BARNETT SMITH, author of a "Life of Gladstone," has prepared a new work, entitled "Half-Hours with Famous Ambassadors," in which he gives interesting accounts of Talleyrand, Metternich, Harley, Lord Malmesbury, and others.

W. G. B. PAGE, sub-librarian of the Hull Subscription Library, is preparing for the press a volume on the "Booksellers' Signs of London," having collected the names of upward of five hundred and thirty different signs, dating from 1527 to 1762—which is the largest collection ever brought together—and is tracing the succession of the booksellers who occupied the various shops, and intends giving short biographical notices of them.

DR. BUSCH is about to publish a new work on Bismarck, under the title of "Our Chancellor." It will be in two volumes, the first of which will comprise the political maxims and principles of Bismarck, his religious views, the Junker legend, diplomatic indiscretions, Bismarck and the press, and Bismarck's Austrian politics; the second volume treats of the second Bismarck and the French, Bismarck and Russia, the Polish question, Bismarck's social politics, his character as an orator and humorist, and his private

OBITUARY.

CHARLES A. BURNHAM.

CHARLES A. BURNHAM, a prominent bookseller and stationer of Norwich, Conn., died suddenly on Wednesday, July 4, of typhoid malaria. Mr. Burnham was born at the Sandwich Islands in 1841, his father having charge of the erection of missionary buildings there. He lived in Tolland, then went into business in Springfield, marrying there the daughter of his employer, Roderic Burt. In 1864 he bought the book-store of L. & E. Edwards, at Norwich. He did a large and successful business, and won for himself the reputation of an energetic, genial, and public-spirited man.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

J. S. OGILVIE & Co. have just ready "The Bad Boy Abroad," by Walter T. Gray.

J. W. WOLCOTT, of the Hotel Vendome, Boston, has just issued a fine street map of Boston.

"CAPE COD FOLKS" has taken a new lease of life in paper covers. Of this new issue, 4000 copies were disposed of immediately.

THOMAS WHITTAKER, N. Y., has in press an appreciative biography by Eva Hope, of the heroine of the Farne Isles, the famous Grace Darling.

LEE & SHEPARD have just issued the concluding volumes—fourteen and fifteen—of the "Complete Works of Charles Sumner." This work is sold only by subscription.

DE WOLFE, FISKE & Co., Boston, have published a new edition of "The Pronouncing American Dictionary," containing a supplement of new words and recent definitions.

E. P. DUTTON & Co. have in preparation a life of Edward Bouverie Pusey, D.D., Regius Professor of Hebrew, and Canon of Christ Church, Oxford, by H. P. Liddon, Canon Residentiary of St. Paul's.

A RETURN game of baseball was played on Saturday, the 7th inst., on the Elysian Fields, Hoboken, between the Funk & Wagnalls and Thomas Nelson's Sons nines, which resulted in the second victory of the former over the latter by a score of 13 to 8.

HOWARD GANNETT & Co., Boston, have just published "That Wonderful Cousin Sarah, and her Receipts," a pleasing collection of stories, by May Kingston, in which are interwoven numerous receipts for making cakes, "Grandma's pep'mints," etc., new ideas in planning and mending, and hints as to other household duties.

DAVID MCKAY has purchased the plates of Wm. H. Brown's capital books, "Heart Throbs of Gifted Authors" and "Witty Sayings by Witty People." These were published several years ago, and have for some time been out of print. They will be ready in the fall. "John's Alive, and Other Stories," by Major Jones, is already in its fourth edition.

E. & J. B. YOUNG & Co. have in preparation a biography of "Sister Louise," of the House of the Holy Comforter, and well known in religious circles in the United States; a little volume entitled "Manna," compiled on her sick-bed by Sister Louise; "Devotions for the Holy Communion," by Rev. E. B. Pusey; a new edition of Rev. J. Fulton's "Index Canonum," with a preface by Dr. Philip Schaff; and "Maxims and Gleanings," from the writings of Rev. John Keble.

JOEL MUNSELL'S SONS, Albany, have in press the "Journal kept in Canada and upon Burgoyne's Campaign in 1776 and 1777, by Lieut. James M. Hadden, Royal Artillery; also, orders kept by him and issued by Sir Guy Carleton, Lieut.-General John Burgoyne, and Major-General William Phillips, in 1776, 1777, and 1778," with an explanatory chapter and notes, by Gen. Horatio Rogers, author of "Private Libraries of Providence." The work, which has been in preparation for a long time, will be published as No. 12 of Munsell's Historical series. The subscription price is $5.

THE American edition of the "Encyclopædia Britannica" will hereafter be published by a stock company, entitled J. M. Stoddart & Co., Limited. $300,000 fresh capital have been put in to push the work to a successful conclusion. The business had increased to such a magnitude that Mr. Stoddart found it impossible to give the requisite attention to the "Encyclopædia," and at the same time give the required care and detail to other important ventures he has on hand. All the other publications, works of art, music, educational works, etc., will remain in the hands of J. M. Stoddart & Co., and added to this they have a great enterprise under way, "The Encyclopædia Americana." In shape and style it will be similar to the "Britannica," but will not repeat, controvert, or duplicate the elaborate and exhaustive articles of its great English counterpart, but as a companion will, together with it, constitute a complete work of general reference. The articles will be written by the best authors in all parts of the world, and will be complete in 4 vols. They have established an agency in London, and the latest advices from there state that the number of subscriptions was much more than had been anticipated.

E. & J. B. YOUNG & Co. have just ready a unique and tasteful oblong 32mo illustrated juvenile, which bears the allegorical title, "From Do-Nothing Hall to Happy-Day House." The colored illustrations by H. J. A. Miles are excellent, and the text is almost better. It relates the story of a little girl who, from pleasing herself only, learned to do her duty and enjoy it, and the personification of qualities, so often forced and tedious in allegories, is kept up here with a spirit and accuracy which is fascinating to well-worn readers and cannot fail to make an impression on the most untrained minds. The subject is treated in the usual religious tone of the publications of this house. They also publish a very handsome book for children of a larger growth, called "Blue and Red; or, The Story of a Discontented Lobster." The verses devoted to this poor malcontent are by Juliana Horatio Ewing, and the illustrations are by R. Andre. It looks like a handsome juvenile at first sight, but the matter and most appropriate setting appeal to the thoroughly educated taste of such as have acquired both a thorough knowledge of human nature and a keen appreciation of the capabilities of the raw and cooked lobster. It is a most successful satire on the discontent of modern society and the immense work undertaken to appear other than we are. The society held up to pleasant, good-humored ridicule is English society, but there are many little hints that will be just as telling on this side of the "lobster-pond."

ROBERTS BROS. make a timely announcement of four illustrated holiday books. They have chosen old favorites for Christmas dressing. We are to have Gray's "Elegy in a Country Churchyard," with thirty designs by Harry Fenn, drawn especially for this edition, many of them being sketches of Stoke Pogis, the scene of the poem. A unique feature is the reprinting of some verses printed in earlier editions and subsequently rejected, one of which furnishes the subject for the frontispiece. This will be known as the Harry Fenn edition, and will be issued in six varieties of binding, from a paper cover to the most sumptuous holiday attire. Jean Ingelow's "High Tide" ("the finest ballad of our time"), the next on the list, has been in preparation for a long time, and will be illustrated from original designs by Church and other artists, engraved by Andrew, and printed by John Wilson & Son. This will be issued in two royal 8vo editions, one bound in cloth, bevelled boards; gilt and gilt edge, the other bound in morocco and calf. John Henry Newman's sweet hymn, "Lead, Kindly Light," illustrated by William St. John Harper and George R. Halm, engraved by Andrew, and printed in brown and black ink on alternate pages, is promised in three styles of binding. Lord Houghton's "Good-Night and Good-Morning," that catching poem beginning, "A fair little girl sat under a tree, sewing as long as her eyes could see," will have etchings and illuminations by Walter Severn, and form a series of six designs in illuminated covers, tied with ribbons and cords, and securely enveloped. These several treasures cannot fail to meet a hearty welcome from our most artistic critics.

THE Académie française has awarded the prix Vitet of 6200 frs. ($1240) to Emile Montégut for his translation of Shakespeare.

MR. P. BARRY, of the London Newspaper Press, is engaged on a new social work, which will appear in London and in New York simultaneously. The title is "The Legalized Frauds on the Struggling Classes," and the line taken is that of the inapplicability of general principles to human circumstances.

PARKER & Co., of Oxford and London, have in the press and will shortly publish "An Examination of the Structural Principles of Mr. Herbert Spencer's Philosophy, Intended as a Proof that Theism is the only Theory of the Universe that can Satisfy Reason," by the Rev. W. D. Ground, author of "Ecce Christianus."

AN edition of Cowper's letters, selected by the Rev. W. Benham for Macmillan & Co.'s Golden Treasury series, is just now going to press. In view of this, Kegan Paul & Co. have courteously decided to withdraw the edition which was being prepared for the Parchment Library by Mr. Austin Dobson.

MACMILLAN & Co. will shortly publish the first three books of an elaborate edition of Herodotus, edited by Prof. Sayce. A large part of the volume will be devoted to critical essays on the early history of Egypt and the East. The remaining books, which treat chiefly of Greek history, have been intrusted to Mr. Reginald Macan, now Lecturer in Greek Literature at Brasenose and University Colleges, Oxford.

"I have brought you only one drawing to-day—it is the last sleep from which she waked on this earth, of a young Florentine girl who had brought heaven down to earth as truly as ever saint of old, while she lived, and of whom even I, who never saw her, cannot believe that she is dead."
 —John Ruskin, in Art of England.

"The following story of a young Florentine girl's too short life is absolutely and simply true;" "it was not written for publication."

"I can show in the same book examples of the purest truth both in history and Picture (Frontispiece)."

"Let it be noted with thankful reverence that this is the story of a Catholic girl, written by a Protestant one, yet the two of them so united in the Truth of the Christian Faith and in the joy of its Love, that they are absolutely unconscious of any difference in the forms or letter of their Religion."

THE AMERICAN EDUCATIONAL CATALOGUE

For 1883 [Fourteenth Year].

COMPILED BY G. D. T. ROUSE.

The Educational Catalogue has been found so valuable to the Trade, not only as a finding list, but for circulation among educational customers, for the purpose of soliciting orders and saving at the same time much troublesome correspondence, that its permanent continuance is recognized as a necessity.

The catalogue this year follows the alphabetical system pronounced by the experience of the trade the most satisfactory for practical use. It includes a price-list arranged alphabetically by author's or editor's name, and a detailed subject-index, referring from each specific subject to authors of books on that subject, so that the advantages of both a finding list for the trade and a class catalogue for the use of schools are combined.

No other list in the market gives this practical combination. And no other catalogue has ever been made approximately so complete as this. Last year's edition contained twice as many books as, or nearly 2500 more books, than either of the other lists that were offered to the trade.

The list has been entirely reset, to include the new books in their proper alphabetical order, and also to embody all the corrections of prices, omissions, or other errors in last year's catalogue.

Publishers' prices are in all cases given—retail, if retail (in first column); "net," if "net" (in second column); where a "mailing" percentage is specified by the publisher, the "mailing price" is given in the retail column marked with an asterisk. A carefully drawn explanation in the heading, to private buyers, adapts the catalogue to the use of the retail trade.

It should be understood that, of the regular retail-price publishers, only the retail price is given, and the net prices only of those publishers who make it a practice to mail net-price lists to schools—in fact, make their net prices their regular school-supply prices. This point is emphasized in order to meet the objections raised to the quotation of net prices.

It should be well considered that any attempt at withholding, from the educational public, what the publisher, through his agents, advertisements, lists, and circulars, takes special pains to make known, must be an unwise policy. It is not objectionable, but quite proper and legitimate, to charge the retail or mailing price for single copies of any book; but the Educational Catalogue is not generally given away to single-book customers. It is intended only for those who purchase for schools in quantities. Now any one putting himself on record by quoting fictitious prices, or prices other than those quoted by the publisher (which prices, it is now understood, are generally still subject to a trade discount), necessarily must drive his school trade into the hands of those who solicit their orders from a catalogue, the prices of which tally with that of the publishers.

The following paragraph from a previous year's Educational Catalogue further elucidates the reasons for our strict adherence to publishers' prices: "Plainly, if it wished to sustain its official character, it was bound to respect the desire of those who have a right to stand by their prices, and who, should their established prices be disregarded, could by their public protest soon discredit the Educational Catalogue as well as those who handled it for circulation. At a time when the public mind, from causes so often discussed and lamented in these columns, is fast losing faith in honest prices, so far as books are concerned, it is of the utmost importance that there be one official list which can be consulted with confidence by the public, as well as by the trade.

In making up special orders for the Educational Catalogue, booksellers should bear in mind that it possesses not only temporary value, but will serve its purpose during the whole year. No imprint edition of less than 100 copies can be supplied. Orders for editions should be sent to us at once.

CASH TERMS.

With sole imprint of ordering firm, and stitched, per 100 copies, $5; per 1000, $40.

There is no extra charge for printing name, business card, etc., on the imprint page; the last page is left blank at the disposal of the dealer, but any copy for that, advertising special lines or general business, will be set up and printed thereon for $5, or $1 if plate is sent.

* * * Copy for imprint and shipping directions should accompany the order.

The regular Educational Number of "THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY" will be supplied at 25 cents per copy, or five for $1, postpaid.

School-Book Department.

We are, without exception, the largest retail dealers in Old School-Books in the United States. We buy large quantities, and our buyers, in order to get the books we want, very often have to take a great many others in the lot that are not salable here. These we will sell at low prices, as they are of no use to us, and, while we do not say we can supply all you want, we think it would pay you to send us a list, and if we have them they will be sold at a Bargain. No stamp is required for an answer. We answer all letters received.

PUBLISHED BY

A. C. ARMSTRONG & SON,

714 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

NOW READY, TENTH EDITION.

ARMSTRONG'S PRIMER OF UNITED STATES HISTORY,

FOR SCHOOL AND FAMILY USE,

With 6 New and Beautifully Colored Double-page Maps, from Original Drawings.
One vol., Square 16mo, cloth. Price, 50 cents.

"A model historical primer, full in its statements, discriminating in its selection of events, clear and direct in its style, and comprehensive in its general outline of American affairs. The value of such a book is apparent at a glance. Of large histories of the United States there is no lack, but of shorter histories there is great need. A work of this character, thoroughly trustworthy in its statements, is of almost equal importance to the young student and to the general reader. It represents an amount of work of which its brief pages give no adequate impression. To condense, and yet to omit nothing essential to the complete statement of events, requires the fullest command of the subject and the most intelligent understanding of the mutual relations of all the facts involved.

☞ Sample copy, with a view to introduction, sent postpaid on receipt of 35 cents.

SUPLEE'S TRENCH ON WORDS.

On the Study of Words. By RICHARD CHENEVIX TRENCH, D.D., Archbishop of Dublin. Arranged for Class-Book, from the latest revised English edition. With an exhaustive Analysis, additional Words for Illustration, and Questions for Examination, by THOMAS D. SUPLEE, Head Master of St. Augustine's College.

"Trench's Study of Words" has long been a well-known and favorite study, though but poorly adapted heretofore for school use. In its new arrangement it must prove more acceptable than ever. 1 vol., 12mo, 400 pages, net price, $1. Also just ready, an entirely new edition (without the Suplee matter) from the last English edition, revised, of TRENCH ON THE STUDY OF WORDS. 1 vol., 12mo, 303 pages, net price, $1.

☞ Copies of either edition, with a view to introduction, sent postpaid on receipt of 75 cents.

WHITE'S STUDENT'S MYTHOLOGY.

A COMPENDIUM OF

Greek, Roman, Egyptian, Assyrian, Persian, Hindoo, Chinese, Tibetan, Scandinavian, Celtic, Aztec, and Peruvian Mythologies, in accordance with standard authorities.

Arranged for the use of Schools and Academies. By C. A. WHITE, author of "White's Classical Literature," etc. A practical work, prepared by an experienced teacher, and designed for pupils who have not yet entered, or who, like the greater number of those attending our female academies, are not likely to enter, upon a regular classical course. 12mo, cloth, $1.25.

☞ Sample copy, with a view to introduction, sent postpaid on receipt of 75 cents.

A NEW AND CHEAPER EDITION OF MAY'S CONSTITUTIONAL HISTORY OF ENGLAND.

Since the Accession of George III., 1760-1860. With a new Supplemental Chapter, 1860-1871. By THOMAS ERSKINE MAY. 2 vols., crown 8vo, cloth. Price reduced to $2.50.

This work is substantially a continuation of Hallam's great work, tracing the progress and development of the British Constitution of more than an entire century. It gives evidence of research and impartiality, and is highly commended by historical critics.

THE UNABRIDGED STUDENT'S HALLAM.

For the use of Colleges and Schools. Furnished at a liberal discount for Text-Books.

1. THE MIDDLE AGES. A View of the State of Europe during the Middle Ages. The revised and corrected edition. 3 vols. in 2. Retail price, $8.50.
2. THE CONSTITUTIONAL HISTORY OF ENGLAND, from the Accession of Henry VIII. to the Death of George II. Including Mr. Hallam's Supplemental Volume of Revision up to 1848. Indispensable to students. Complete in 3 vols. in 2. Retail price, $2.50.
3. INTRODUCTION TO THE LITERATURE OF EUROPE in the 15th, 16th and 17th Centuries. Revised and corrected edition. Complete in 2 vols. Retail price, $2.50.

CONINGTON'S AENEID.

The Aeneid of Virgil. Translation rendered into English Octosyllabic Verse, by the Rev. JOHN CONINGTON, late Professor in the University of Oxford. Crown 8vo, extra cloth. Net price, $1.50.

"This translation of the Aeneid has been universally admitted the most attractive. It has gained preëminence by its novelty, the singular felicity of its diction, its constant animation and great variety united with consummate scholarship in its remarkable fidelity to the nicer shades of meaning in the original."

A NEW AND IMPROVED EDITION (PRICE REDUCED) OF THE

BRYANT AND STRATTON BUSINESS ARITHMETIC.

A new work with Practical Problems and Valuable Tables of Reference, designed for Business Men, Commercial, Agricultural and Scientific Colleges, Normal and High Schools, Academies and Universities. By H. B. BRYANT, President Chicago Business College; G. G. WHITE, M.A., and C. G. STOWELL, M.A. 1 vol., 8vo, cloth, 464 pages. Net price, $1.50.

"In presenting a new edition of this work in the present improved form, it is believed that its real value will become more widely known and appreciated.

"The increasing interest in its peculiar features has led to a most critical revision, and we now make a few emendations that render the entire work more perfect than any former edition."—New Preface.

Cassell's French Dictionary.

FRENCH-ENGLISH AND ENGLISH-FRENCH. Compiled from the best authorities of both languages by Professors DELOLME and WALLACE and HENRY BRIDGEMAN. Revised, corrected, and considerably enlarged from the Seventh and Latest Edition (1877) of the Dictionary of the French Academy, by Professor E. ROUBAUD, B.A. (Paris).

Extra Crown 8vo, 1152 Pages, $1.50.

This new edition of CASSELL'S FRENCH DICTIONARY, the popularity of which has been attested by the sale of upward of 120,000 copies, has undergone a thorough and complete revision. It is corrected according to the Latest Edition of the Dictionary of the French Academy, 1877, and not only contains the 2500 new words introduced into that work, but several hundred in addition, making a total of nearly 3000 new words. Many new features are introduced which are not found in any other existing Dictionary, rendering it the cheapest, yet most complete, extensive, and, so far as modern spelling is concerned, the only thoroughly accurate Dictionary of the French language published in this country.

The Shakespeare Reading-Book.

Being Seventeen of Shakespeare's Plays abridged for the Use of Schools and Public Readings.

By H. COURTHOPE BOWEN, M.A., author of "Studies in English," "Simple English Poems." Crown 8vo, 432 pp., cloth extra, $1.25.

"It is of the highest importance that pupils, while being trained in the art of reading well, should become acquainted with the very best models in both prose and poetry which the language affords—graduated, of course, to suit the age and proficiency of the learner. The plays which the author has embodied in this well-printed and illustrated book are those most likely to interest the young, and which are adapted, by the character of their contents, for their study. The author has marked the words in all doubtful passages which require emphasis, and those syllables which require accent, in order to guide and help the reader."—Journal of Education.

Price for Introduction on application. Copies will be sent by mail, prepaid, on receipt of advertised price.

The Story of English Literature.

By ANNA BUCKLAND. 1 vol., large 12mo, 530 pages, $1.50.

An elegant volume, finely written, suitable alike for the student and the library.

"The knowledge and information is imparted in pleasant, easy style, and the selections are pointed and well made."—New York School Journal.

"To Miss Buckland's credit it must be said she has set a needed example before the makers of these manuals; she has taught them the necessity of doing more than record dates and enumerate titles if they would create any vital interest in the works they treat of."—New York Times.

Physical Science.

A Text-Book of Physical Science. (Intermediate.) By F. H. BOWMAN, D.Sc., F.R.A.S., F.L.S. Illustrated, $1.50.

It embodies the latest scientific researches, and contains an accurate and philosophical account of the present condition of the physical sciences in all branches, enabling its reader to follow the advance continually being made in the application of science to the arts and uses of every-day life.

"A Work of immensen utility, both an Encyclopædia and a Dictionary."

The Encyclopædic Dictionary:

An Entirely New and Exhaustive Work of Reference to all the Words in the English Language, with a Full Account of their Origin, Meaning, Pronunciation, and Use. With numerous illustrations. To be completed in about twelve divisional volumes.

Price, $3 per Volume.

This work will form a complete Dictionary of the English Language, giving the etymology of each word, and its proper pronunciation, its definition, and its various significations. In addition to this, certain subjects will be treated in the exhaustive form more specially characteristic of an Encyclopædia. The present work will contain several hundred words not included in any other English Dictionary, while the definitions given and the examples quoted are the result of original research and independent study.

"As its title shows, it is professedly both an Encyclopædia and a Dictionary; it explains things as well as words, and thus the author has ample scope to produce a work of immensen utility. To judge from the first volume, the 'Encyclopædic Dictionary' promises to take a high place as a reference-book. The author has had the assistance of specialists in the technical part of the work, and the authorities he has obtained to assist him have almost always been the best obtainable. The illustrations are always appropriate and clear."—The London Times.

FOUR VOLUMES ARE NOW READY. SOLD BY SUBSCRIPTION ONLY.

SPECIMEN PAGES of the Encyclopædic Dictionary will be forwarded without charge to any address on application.

THE AMERICAN EDUCATIONAL CATALOGUE FOR 1883.

[PUBLISHERS' PRICES.]

Compiled by G. D. T. ROUSE.

NOTICE.—In this Catalogue only prices made by publishers themselves are given—retail if retail, in first column; "net" (wholesale), if "net," in second column; where a "mailing" percentage is specified by the publisher, the "mailing price" is given in the retail column marked with an asterisk (), in addition to the wholesale price. When price-columns are left blank, the publisher failed, on application, to furnish price. A double asterisk () in price-columns designates books forthcoming. New books, issued since the publication of the Catalogue of 1882, are designated by a single asterisk () before title.

[3] In comparing prices or ordering at retail, private buyers should bear in mind that a percentage must be added to prices quoted at wholesale, to cover freight, handling, delivering, etc. Discounts on quantities to schools vary on different lines, according to the kind of prices adopted by the respective publishers.

For subject classification (and for collective references to classic authors entered here under separate editors), see the second part of the Catalogue, following this main alphabet.

NEW.

NEWCOMB'S MATHEMATICAL COURSE.

From the last Yale College Catalogue, under "Sheffield Scientific School."—"For preparation in Algebra and geometry the recently published text-books of Professor Newcomb on this subject (Henry Holt & Co., New York, 1881) may, without indicating undue preference, be especially recommended. And to the candidate who prepares in other works, they may serve to indicate the extent and kind of attainments expected in the prescribed topics. Candidates who prepare in the geometry of this author may, for the present, omit the short chapters on the Ellipse, Hyperbola, and Parabola; though they will find it advantageous to study them."

The Trigonometry and College Algebra are now in use in this Institution.

From the Cornell University Register for 1882-83, under "Requirements for Examination."—"In Mathematics, Solid Geometry and Conic Sections, as much as is contained in Newcomb's Elements of Geometry; Advanced Algebra, as much as is contained in Olney's University Algebra, or in Newcomb's Algebra."

Appletons' Readers

Were the first school publications that fully recognized the advanced position and new demands of the teacher's profession, and that embodied in a perfected form the

which, in the intellectual activities of the age, were demanding higher and better expressions, in harmony with the prevailing spirit of progress and improvement.

The fact that in all the series of Readers that have been issued since the publication of Appletons'—and they are numerous in consequence—the distinctive features which have made the Appleton series the standard and have been imitated is the strongest evidence of their acknowledged superiority and merit.

APPLETONS' READERS are not machine-made books, but are the carefully shaped results of long and intelligently conducted work in the school-room by the

in the country, from whose convictions and necessities these books were evolved.

Among the distinguishing features which are philosophically developed and effectively applied in APPLETONS' READERS, and which have been enthusiastically approved by every progressive teacher, are the following :

LANGUAGE LESSONS AND LANGUAGE STUDY as the basis of correct mental growth.

WORD AND SENTENCE ANALYSIS, with composition, and study of word-meanings, introducing a variety of script exercises.

WORD AND PHONIC METHOD combined, which has been demonstrated to be the best way of teaching reading and correct enunciation.

LITERARY EXCELLENCE of the reading exercises, and the suggestive notes for a better conception of the author's language, as illustrated in the higher books.

BEAUTY OF ILLUSTRATION, regarded both artistically and educationally, and as an important auxiliary aid to instruction.

APPLETONS' READERS

ARE COMPRISED IN A SERIES OF

FIVE BOOKS, WITH SPELLER COMBINED.

For full particulars of unusual interest, please send for the Illustrated Edition of "Educational Notes," new series, just published, and mailed free to teachers and school-officers.

HOUSEHOLD EDUCATION. By HARRIET MARTINEAU. $1.25.

A book of remarkable wisdom, and full of suggestions of the greatest value concerning the training and education of children.

"It is worth its weight in gold, a thousand times over, to parents and all who have to bring up children."—Philadelphia Press (which expressed this opinion in italics).

WORDS AND THEIR USES, PAST AND PRESENT. A Study of the English Language. By RICHARD GRANT WHITE. 12mo, $2.

This book is devoted to a subject so closely connected with all good scholarship, and is so thoroughly useful in the way of verbal and literary criticism, that no apology is needed for bringing it conspicuously to the attention of teachers. The following table of its principal contents will indicate its scope and suggest its value:

Newspaper English; British English and "American" English; Style; Misused Words; Some Criticisms; Words that are not Words; Grammar, English and Latin; The Grammarless Tongue; Is Being Done; "Jus et Norma Loquendi."

EVERY-DAY ENGLISH. A Sequel to Words and Their Uses. By RICHARD GRANT WHITE. $2.

"Richard Grant White's philological writings are distinguished for critical ability, clearness of statement, and justness of thought, and are worthy of a permanent place in our literature."—Episcopal Register (Philadelphia).

MODERN CLASSICS.

Thirty-two small volumes, containing many of the best Short Stories, Essays, Sketches, and Poems in modern literature, including selections from the most celebrated authors of England and America, and translations of masterpieces by Continental writers.

In several instances the selections from an author are accompanied by a critical or biographical essay from another eminent author, an arrangement which cannot fail to lend greater interest to both portions of the book and add materially to its value for use in schools.

Teachers will readily see the fitness and availability of these books for Supplementary Reading. The list is as follows:

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & COMPANY, BOSTON, MASS.

The American Educational Series.

This well-known and popular series embraces a large number of the most widely approved Text-Books in use in the public and private schools in this country. The list contains many old favorites, books which have stood the test of years, and which still retain a leading place in our schools, while no other series is so full of the freshest products of the best authors of the present day.

It is this quality of progressive conservatism which makes the old and standard American Educational Series ALWAYS FRESH AND NEW.

Among the standard publications of this series we would call attention to

I.

SWINTON'S READERS.

An entirely new series of School Reading-Books, by Prof. WM. SWINTON.

These books are preëminently Language Readers. They present a most complete development of the study of words and sentences as an essential condition of good understanding and correct reading.

The illustrations are by the most eminent American artists: Church, Dielman, Fredericks, Pyle, Harper, White, and others, and were drawn expressly for these books.

I. Swinton's Primer and First Reader.

—In print and script exercises. The script exercises are a specially attractive feature, being white on black, as in blackboard and slate work, the script being the result of careful experiment in securing a practical style of letter for this sort of work. Another noticeable feature of this book is the type, which was made for us, and which is unlike any other font of type heretofore cut, in the matter of size and face. Handsomely illustrated, and bound in cloth. One volume, 120 pages.

II. Swinton's Second Reader.—In print and script exercises. This is also a beautiful book, and commends itself especially for its grading, for the purity and sweetness of its literary form, and for the development of "language work." Illustrated and bound in cloth. 176 pages.

III. Swinton's Third Reader.—Presenting many new and original features. Noticeable for the charming series of original lessons entitled "Home Pets," "Bright Examples," and "About Plants." Illustrated and bound in cloth. 240 pages.

IV. Swinton's Fourth Reader.—A book of choice selections for this important grade, carefully edited and arranged. It contains also many useful and entertaining original lessons, especially on "Useful Knowledge," and "Pictures of American History." Illustrated and bound in cloth. 384 pages.

V. Swinton's Fifth Reader and Speaker. This book contains abundant exercises in language, reading, recitation, and declamation. An instructive and entertaining original feature is the series of lessons under the title of "Glimpses of Science," presented in the highest form of literary art. Illustrated and bound in cloth. 480 pages.

* * Sample pages and full descriptive circulars, by mail, to teachers and elocutionists.

* * A set of the Readers, from the First to the Fifth inclusive, sent to any teacher or educationist on receipt of $1.75.

II.

MANSON'S WRITING SPELLERS

On a new and excellent plan, giving models of correct writing on every page to correct errors and mistakes.

III.

SWINTON'S MODEL BLANKS.

In eight numbers, covering every grade of the school course, from Primary Script Spelling to Latin Etymology.

IV.

WHITE'S INDUSTRIAL DRAWING.

This admirable series of text-books and manuals is now practically complete, and embraces the following:

I. A Primary Course, consisting of a set of Primary Drawing-Cards, Drawing-Books, Dotted Slates, and Exercise-Books, developing the system simply and perfectly.

II. A Grammar and High School Course, consisting of a set of six books in Free-hand Drawing; two Exercise-Books for Practice in Dictation Drawing, etc.; two Books in Geometrical Drawing; two books in Perspective Drawing; two books in Model and Object Drawing; and two in Projections and Designs.

III. An Advance Course, consisting of a complete series of lessons in Ornamental, Landscape, and Instrumental Drawing. In this course are also included two entirely new and original works:

1. The Theory and Art of Model and Object Drawing;

2. The Theory and Art of Designs.

* * Both books are of great interest to teachers and art students, and are appropriately and handsomely illustrated.

IV. Manuals for Teachers, including Dictation Lessons; Teacher's Assistant, Teacher's Guide, Part I. (for Primary Course); and Teacher's Guide, Parts II. and III. (for Grammar and High School Courses).

V.

SWINTON'S GEOGRAPHIES.

"The famous two-book series," consisting of

I. Introductory Geography, in Readings and Recitations, and

II. Grammar-School Geography, Physical, Political, and Commercial.

The Geographies are fresh and progressive in character, and meet with great favor everywhere.

The Grammar-School Geography is published in six different editions, treating the local geography of different sections.

1. New England Edition, containing supplement of thirty-three pages, with special text and maps, for the New England States.

2. Middle States Edition, with special supplement of thirty-one pages, for the Middle States and the District of Columbia.

3. Southern States Edition, with supplement of thirty-seven pages, for the Southern States.

4. East Central States Edition, with supplement of thirty-three pages, for the East Central States.

5. West Central States Edition, with supplement of thirty-eight pages, for the West Central States and the Territory of Dakota.

6. Pacific States Edition. In preparation.

VI.

The Dictionary of Education and Instruction:

A Reference Book and Manual on the Theory and Practice of Teaching, for the use of Parents, Teachers, and Others; based upon the Cyclopædia of Education. By HENRY KIDDLE and A. J. SCHEM. With a Select List of Educational Works, English, French, and German, arranged by Prof. W. H. PAYNE. Third Edition. 332 pp. 12mo. Cloth. $1.50.

This book is intended not only for the teachers of all classes, but also for parents and all others interested in Education; its low price assists in its very extensive circulation. It will ever be a standard book.

The Cyclopædia of Education. Third Edition, Revised to 1883.

Kindergarten Publications, in English and German. — Text-books for the study of German. AHN-HENN. AHN-FISCHER. AHN-ERLSCHLÄGER. AHN-GRAUBERT. SCHLEGEL.

French. AHN-HENN. SCHLEGEL.

Latin. AHN-HENN.

The AHN-HENN German, French, and Latin Methods are fast and deservedly gaining ground everywhere, especially in Public Schools and Academies, because, while being thorough, they are easier than other Methods, and an excellent preparation for the large and scientific grammars used in colleges. Twice as much well-grounded work can be accomplished within a given time by the use of these books as with any others. — Catalogues and Specimen-papers sent free on application.

German Text-books in all Departments.

Calisthenics and Gymnastics. WATSON.

In addition to these publications of their own, E. STEIGER & CO. offer a very large Stock of Imported German Publications in Education, and all other Departments.

Professor E. H. PLUMPTRE'S

The Tragedies of Æschylus.

A new translation, with a Biographical Essay and an Appendix of Rhymed Choruses. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

The Tragedies of Sophocles.

A new translation, with a Biographical Essay and an Appendix of Rhymed Choruses. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

"Dean Plumptre's translations of the few dramas left to us of the great tragic poets of Greece are admirable in every way. They are close to the originals, exact in scholarship, and alive with true poetic genius."—The Guardian, May 27, 1882.

"The distinctive features of Professor Plumptre's versions are fidelity to the sense of the text, etc. . . . An elaborate and sympathetic study of the life and genius of each poet, as shaped by the times in which he lived, is prefixed to his dramas, and numerous foot-notes explain all allusions, so far as needful for an understanding of the text." Literary World, Jan. 14, 1882.

RECENTLY PUBLISHED:

Meservey's Book-keeping. Single Entry, for Grammar Schools.

It is admitted that every person should be able to record properly any common business transaction. To meet the wants of those pupils whose school-days are limited, the simpler forms of book-keeping should be taught in the Grammar School.

In response to the often expressed wish from Teachers of Grammar Schools for the Single-entry part of MESERVEY'S BOOK-KEEPING for use without the expense of the Double-entry part, this book is prepared.

It contains a full treatment of Single-entry. The rules are few and simple, the explanations ample.

Teachers will find no difficulty in explaining, and pupils no trouble in understanding it.

Though recently published, it has been adopted in many important places, for use in the Grammar Schools, as Boston, Lowell, Newton, Somerville, Springfield, etc., and it has become a very successful text-book.

For a more extended treatment of Book-keeping for High Schools and Academies, attention is called to the author's larger work.

Meservey's Book-keeping. Single and Double Entry, for High Schools and Academies, which is very popular, and is used very extensively in the High Schools of the most prominent cities and towns in New England and the West.

Copies mailed for examination on receipt of, for Single and Double Entry, 50 cents; Single Entry, 40 cents. Blanks are published to accompany the books.

Stone's History of England. By

A. P. Stone, Superintendent of Schools, Springfield, Mass. Fully illustrated with maps, etc. Designed as a text-book for those who desire a course of moderate extent.

It gives prominence to features of social life and progress, the condition of the people, etc. It is prepared by the author with great care, and will be found a text-book of great value.

Sent for examination on receipt of 40 cents.

Essentials of Geometry,

BY

ALFRED H. WELSH, A.M.,

Late Professor of Mathematics in Buchtel College, author of "Development of English Literature and Language."

The demonstrations are simple and direct, yet vigorous. Hypothesis, conclusion, and proof are sharply discriminated. The conditions given and the result sought are put before the student in pointed terms, enabling him to see the proposition translated into the language of the figure. The steps of the argument are briefly and perspicuously exhibited in their true sequence. There is constant care to economize mental energy for concentration upon the reasoning. The cuts are large and distinct, the notation brief and uniform, the typography remarkably clear. The expedients, algebraic and typographical, employed to express the terms, relations, and operations of the science, give great condensation as well as perspicuity.

The aim has been to construct a thoroughly intelligible manual, neither too elementary nor too voluminous, that should embody the latest developments of the science and the most approved methods of instruction in this country and in Europe.

The retail price is $1.50.

A specimen copy for examination will be mailed, postpaid, to any teacher on receipt of $1.

THE Literary News.

AN ECLECTIC REVIEW OF CURRENT LITERATURE,

Published monthly, and containing the freshest news concerning books and authors; lists of new publications; reviews and critical comments; characteristic extracts; sketches and anecdotes of authors; courses of reading; bibliographical references; prominent topics of the magazines; prize questions on choice books and other literary subjects, etc., etc.

The Literary News, since its establishment under the name of The Literary Bulletin, in 1868, has passed through many transformations in appearance and method before acquiring the distinctive features which have given it a character of its own, and which have become so familiar to thousands of readers. In substance it has been the same since its inception—"a monthly record of current literature;" but while primarily fulfilling its mission in the interests of the book-trade, it has since the establishment of the Publishers' Weekly, which now so thoroughly covers that ground, aimed more directly to meet the wants of readers and students.

Its plan is to present each month a full survey of current literature, by means of brief reviews and notices, sketches of authors, lists of books of the month, etc. The reviews and book-notices are confined to the best books of the day, and are quoted only from recognized literary journals. Their selection is made with an aim not merely to guide by a praise of books, but to awaken an interest in subject worth studying and authors worth knowing, by giving what throws most light on authors and books in their relation to life and literature. The entertaining elements are chiefly the Prize Questions, of which two or three are given almost every month, and the "Literary Miscellany." Of special interest to the student are the "Cues," which give (1) references to sources of reading on topics of the day; (2) a classification of the magazine contents; (3) references to the latest authority, as soon as recognized, on any subject of general interest; (4) references to bibliographies of subjects of general interest; to approved reading courses, and to anything written in the interest of reading and study.

A complete index, by authors, titles, or subjects, makes the annual volumes accessible for permanent reference.

Terms, $1 per year. Specimen copies sent on application. Address

F. LEYPOLDT, Publisher,

81 & 82 Park Row, New York.

"A neat, conveniently arranged, and cheap miscellany of book-news, which will be found well worth its cost to the bookbuyer, large or small. One of its best features is the giving of helpful extracts, at considerable length, from prominent books, and from the more important reviews of them."—Sunday-School Times.

"It is almost equally impossible for most persons to read all the new books and publications, and the criticisms on them to be found in the best journals and reviews. There is therefore special value in the field occupied by the Literary News, a monthly which selects the most reliable and readable notices of the latest publications, and is consequently a very trustworthy and interesting guide to current literature."—N. Y. Evening Mail.

"Continues to bring us the latest and best criticisms on new books, prominent authors, and leading magazines. In addition to the 'Prize Questions' published in every number (which alone render the periodical a prize in itself), a very valuable feature of late issues has been the two pages devoted to 'Cues to Timely Topics.' In these we have a select grouping, by titles, of magazine articles relating to the various topics of art, education, science, sport, etc., beside other topics of timely interest. Each number contains a rare literary delicacy—a delight to all lovers of books."—Educational Weekly.

Official Organ of the American Library Association.

GENERAL EDITOR: CHARLES A. CUTTER,
Librarian Boston Athenæum.

THE LIBRARY JOURNAL was established in 1876 by the co-operative efforts of the leading librarians on both sides of the Atlantic. Its chief object is to be a practical help to the every-day administration of both large and small libraries, and to effect a saving by enabling library work to be done in the best way, at the lowest cost. The Journal especially meets the needs of the smaller libraries, offering them the costly experience and practical advice of the largest. In refraining from doing imperfectly what is done so well by the several journals specially devoted to antiquarian or purely historical interests, the LIBRARY JOURNAL is enabled to give its chief attention to modern bibliography and current literature, as represented particularly in its departments of "Bibliography" (proper), "Library Economy and History," "Anonyms and Pseudonyms," and the "Library Purchase-List."

Two important new features, that will render the LIBRARY JOURNAL more generally useful, have been introduced during 1883:

1. A monthly index to the current numbers of (fifty-six) leading American and English periodicals, compiled, on the co-operative plan of Poole's "Index," by a number of librarians, and edited by William I. Fletcher, the associate editor of Poole's "Index."

2. A department of "Literature for the Young," consisting of a list of new books suitable for the young, with citations of authorities, and of notes and suggestions, from various sources, on reading and the best use of books. This department is edited by Miss C. M. Hewins, Librarian of the Hartford Library Association, and author of "Books for the Young," well known among librarians as one of the most efficient workers in this special field of literature.

Published monthly. Price of subscription, $4 per annum. Sample copies furnished on application. Address

F. LEYPOLDT, Publisher,
31 and 32 PARK ROW, NEW YORK.

"This excellent journal increases in interest as it proceeds."—Antiquary (London).

"Should take its place upon the desk of every librarian and every collector of books, to whom it will furnish more than one useful help."—Journal des Débats (Paris).

"Would save money and time wherever libraries are begun. The whole science of handling books to the end of their best popular use is expounded in its pages with the knowledge which comes by experience."—Literary World (Boston).

"I consider the Journal one of the most valuable aids to librarians ever undertaken. I do not see how a librarian can venture to undertake his responsibilities without it. Every library, whether public or private, that spends $200 annually on its administration cannot pay out $5 with more advantage to itself than by taking the Journal."—JOHN EATON, Commissioner of Education.]

"The larger libraries, of course, all subscribe for the Library Journal. I cannot see how any small library can do without it. I am receiving a dozen letters a week from small libraries asking me questions which have been answered fully in the Library Journal. My custom is to answer briefly, and refer the inquirers to the Journal, advising them to subscribe for it forthwith."—W. F. POOLE, Chicago Public Library.

"Bookbuyers and students everywhere ought to subscribe to the Journal, if only for the sake of this new feature [the Index to Periodicals]."—Nation.

LIBRARIES AND READERS.

Chapters of suggestion and counsel on the subject of reading, the use of books and of libraries. By WILLIAM E. FOSTER, Librarian of the Providence Public Library, and compiler of the "Monthly Reference Lists." 16mo, cloth, 50 cents.

Contents.—Some Hints on Right Reading; Correction of Aimless Reading; The Specializing of Reading, for General Readers; "Current Literature," and "Standard Literature;" Securing the Interest of a Community; "What may be Done at Home; How to Use a Library; Books, etc., on Reading.

"Full of valuable suggestion and shrewd, wise counsel."—Boston Commonwealth.

"Full of good sense, begotten of zeal and experience. It should be placed in every school library."—Boston Advertiser.

"Should be in the hands of every one who wishes to make reading a means of culture as well as of entertainment. Not a few librarians can find in it suggestions which if followed will greatly inure to the benefit of the public they serve."—Good Literature.

"Mr. Foster's aim is to show how the aimless reader of the ordinary public library, the man or woman who 'wants a book,' but does not know what book, or even what sort of book, may be led to take a lively interest in books and the library. Here Mr. Foster speaks as one having authority, because in doing this very thing he has been most successful. His little book is to be recommended in the highest manner to all who seek to improve the quality of their reading, or who desire to give aid and advice to others."—Critic.

"No one, with limited resources, has done more to turn to account the collection under his charge, or shown greater activity and ingenuity in devising ways and means to stimulate reading, study, and research, and guide them in the proper direction. His chapters are valuable as exhibiting phase after phase of his perception of the conditions under which public libraries are now used, and found to be of service, by widely differing classes of the community. They are all sound, practical, and suggestive, and will benefit parents, their elder children, and the author's fellow-librarians about equally."—Nation.

F. LEYPOLDT, Publisher, New York.

LIBRARIES AND SCHOOLS.

Papers selected by SAMUEL S. GREEN, Librarian of the Free Public Library, Worcester, Mass. 16mo, cloth, 50 cents.

Addresses and papers which have done much to convince teachers that important aid may be had in their work, by making a large use of libraries; and giving accounts of successful experiments made in different places, by librarians and teachers, in bringing about a use of libraries which has proved valuable to schools.

Contents.—The Public Library and the Public Schools, by Charles Francis Adams, Jr.; The Relation of the Public Library to the Schools, by Samuel S. Green; Libraries as Educational Institutions, by Samuel S. Green; The Public Library as an Auxiliary to the Public Schools, by Robert C. Metcalf; The Relation of Libraries to the School System, by William E. Foster; A Plan of Systematic Training in Reading at School, by William E. Foster.

"All of these papers deserve and will no doubt receive thoughtful consideration."—Critic.

"Librarians and teachers everywhere who consult this little volume will close it with a sense of indebtedness."—Nation.

"Abounds in practical suggestions, and every school-teacher ought promptly to make its acquaintance."—Christian Register.

"Nothing could be better than the suggestions which the book contains for facilitating the steps of young scholars to the libraries."—Boston Advertiser.

"The special value of these papers is that they not only show what might be done, but tell what has been done. Teachers who recognize the truth that they owe something to their pupils beyond mere listening to routine recitations, and librarians who have a higher view of their duties than that which regards them as purely clerical, will find practical suggestions and accounts of successful experiments in bringing about the use of the libraries by the schools."—Good Literature.

31 and 33 Park Row, New York.

"The two volumes, 1881-82, of the Providence Library's Monthly Reference Lists . . . are a welcome addition to the endless variety of indexes. They can be used in connection with any good public or private library."—The Nation, January 18, 1883.

"Most thoroughly and carefully selected, embracing a wide range from the best German authorities to the latest articles in current literature."—New England Journal of Education, April 21, 1881.

"Any teacher with advanced pupils, desirous of training students in habits of investigation, could scarcely do better than supply these lists as texts for composition."—Springfield Daily Republican, April 22, 1881.

" . . . The most noticeable and perhaps the most valuable feature of Mr. Foster's reference lists is the topical subdivision of the main subject. For a student or teacher, the 'structural bibliography' is much more valuable and suggestive than a long list of authorities, which, in some cases, would be hardly better than a catalogue."—HERBERT B. ADAMS, Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, in the N. E. Hist. and General Register, Jan., 1883.

BOOKS FOR THE YOUNG.

A Guide for Parents and Children, compiled by C. M. HEWINS, Librarian of Hartford Library Association. Price in paper, 25 cents.

"Meets most admirably the demand for carefully selected lists, and contains valuable and interesting counsel."—W. E. FOSTER.

"Contains an admirable selection of books for children, and by far the best catalogue of books of this kind that has ever appeared."—S. S. GREEN.

"Miss C. M. Hewins, of Hartford, has long been known to all who are interested in making the public library the ally of the public schools, as one of the most successful of modern librarians of the American school. . . . A book which it is difficult to praise too highly."—Critic.

"Deserves more extended praise than we have space for. It will bring joy to the hearts of hundreds of parents, whose confidence in the compiler's judgment will be assured by her prefatory remarks and directions, and her choice extracts from divers authorities on the true aim and criterion of juvenile literature."—Nation.

When Mr. Charles Dudley Warner says that 'the young who read at all read nothing but trash,' he does not exaggerate so very much. For them [the parents], as well as for librarians and teachers, the book will serve an excellent purpose, for it is far the best guide that has been printed, and there is nothing in it that is not of excellent and interesting in quality."—Boston Transcript.

A little manual long needed, and one that will be heartily welcomed by parents who recognize the importance of carefully supervising their children's reading, but are often confused and at a loss on account of the multitude of works for the young now published, of every conceivable degree of merit and demerit. A classified list of good books is given, with indications as to the age and sex to which they are best suited. The list is prefaced by hints as to how children should be taught the right use of books, a note on good reading in English and American history for children, and a 'synposium on children's books, containing interesting extracts from many sources. Miss Hewins has charge of the department 'Literature for the Young' in the Library Journal, is librarian of the Hartford Library, and may safely be accepted as an authority and guide by parents and buyers of children's books."—Good Literature.

R. Worthington's New Juvenile Books.

R. Worthington begs to inform the trade that he has now completed his arrangements for the coming season, and takes pleasure in directing their attention to his large and unrivalled series of Holiday Juvenile Books. The great feature of his books, and the one which has made his juvenile publications so very popular, is that they are prepared with a perfect understanding of American children's wants. They combine entertainment and instruction, the text is written by eminent authors, and the illustrations are selected not only for the richness and variety of the designs, but also for their educational value. All his publications are tastefully bound, and the board books are put up in handsome chromo-lithographic covers that will attract attention and approval.

R. Worthington also begs to say that he has made arrangements with several eminent English houses for the sale of their juvenile publications in this market, and that he can offer them on as liberal terms as his own.

OUR NEW CATALOGUE IS IN THE PRESS AND WILL SOON BE ISSUED.

The great success in the sale of our several series of Christmas books in the past warrants us to solicit early orders to prevent disappointment in delivery.

NOTES IN SEASON.

HENRY A. SUMNER & Co., Chicago, will publish immediately "An Ideal Fanatic," a new novel by Mrs. L. B. Porch.

LEE & SHEPARD have published in pamphlet form "College Fetish," the oration delivered before the Phi Beta Kappa Society by Charles Francis Adams, Jr., which gave rise to considerable discussion in the daily press.

HARPER & BROS. issue this week, in two volumes, G. T. Curtis's "Life of James Buchanan." This work is of special interest from the fact of Mr. Buchanan's relation to the events at the outbreak of the War of the Rebellion.

CUPPLES, UPHAM & Co. have just ready Lorenzo Prouty's work on "Fish—their Habits and Haunts, and the Methods of Catching them," with a chapter on "Fishing as a Recreation." The work will have value and interest for both professional and amateur fishermen.

GINN, HEATH & Co. have just published "Modern Spanish Readings," by Prof. Wm. J. Knapp. The volume comprises besides the text, notes, an etymological vocabulary preceded by an historico-linguistic introduction, a bibliography of early grammars and dictionaries, and a complete philological apparatus. It contains also a translation of a "German Plan on Class Scientific Training."

JOHN ALLYN has just ready "A First Latin Book," by D. Y. Comstock, of Phillip's Academy, Andover. The book is designed to assist in a thorough preparation for the study of Cæsar. A complete Latin-English and English-Latin vocabulary is added containing every word used in the lessons. Two editions are published, one with an appendix containing an outline of all the essential forms of inflection, desired by many instructors, and the other without the appendix.

D. LOTHROP & Co. publish this week a volume—the last—by the late Rev. Dr. J. M. Manning of the "Old South," entitled "Not of Man, but of God." The volume is said to comprise the ripest and best fruitage of the earnest thought of this beloved man of God. They have also just ready "Side by Side," a new story by Pansy which embodies the International Sunday-school lessons for the year; and new editions of "The Old Oaken Bucket," "Ninety and Nine," and "Jesus, Lover of my Soul," which may now be had both in cloth and fringed bindings.

ROBERTS BROS. have just ready the first of a collection of old favorites which they will issue under the general title of The Classic series. The volumes ready are: "Lady of the Lake," "Marmion," and "Lay of the Last Minstrel," the three in one volume; "The Vicar of Wakefield," with illustrations by Mulready; "Robinson Crusoe," with illustrations by Stothard; "Paul and Virginia," illustrated by Lalauze; Southey's "Life of Nelson," illustrated by Birket Foster; Voltaire's "Life of Charles XII.," with maps and portraits; Maria Edgeworth's "Classic Tales," with a biographical sketch by Grace A. Oliver; Macaulay's "Lays of Ancient Rome," with a biographical sketch and illustrations; "Pilgrim's Progress," with all of the original illustrations in facsimile; "Classic Heroic Ballads," edited by the editor of "Quiet Hours," "Classic Tales," by Anna Letitia Barbauld, with a biographical sketch by Grace A. Oliver; and "Classic Tales," by Ann and Jane Taylor, also with a biographical sketch by Grace A. Oliver. Other volumes are in preparation and will be announced later on. Great care has been taken to insure correct text, and no pains have been spared in the printing (which is from new plates,) and binding. The price of each volume has been fixed at $1 retail. They will issue early in August an anonymous novel entitled "A Newport Aquarelle," which will describe life at Newport and give sketches of some of the prominent frequenters of that and other fashionable summer resorts. They will also issue at the same time, in the Famous Women series, "Mary Lamb," by Anne Gilchrist.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

Sizes are designated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); Q. (4to: under 30 cm.); O. (8vo: 25 cm.); D. (same: 20 cm.); S. (16mo: 17½ cm.); T. (same: 15 cm.); Th. (same: 12½ cm.); Ps. (same: 10 cm.). Sq., obl., nar., designate squares, oblong, narrow books of these heights. Where figures instead of letter symbols are used, the record is from publisher's designation, and not measurement.

Adams, C. Francis, jr. A college fetich: address delivered before the Harvard chapter of the fraternity of the Phi Beta Kappa in Sander's Theatre, Cambridge, June 28, 1883. Bost., Lee & Shepard, 1883. 38 p. O. pap., 25 c.

A clear, logical argument in favor of introducing a thorough study of living languages into our colleges, and devoting to them a great part of the time now spent on the classical fetich—Greek and Latin. The author claims that the colleges at present fail properly to fit their graduates for the work they will have to do in the life that awaits them.

American (The) decisions, containing the cases of general value and authority decided in the courts of the several states from the earliest issue of the state reports to 1869; compiled and annotated by A. C. Freeman. V. 45: [1827-1832, and 1846-1847]. San Francisco, A. L. Bancroft & Co., 1883. 4+9-856 p. O. shp., $6.

American homoeopathic pharmacopœia. 2d ed., thoroughly revised and augmented by Jos. T. O'Connor, M.D. N. Y., Phil. and Chic., Boericke & Tafel, 1883. 511 p. O. cl., $3.50; hf. mor., $4.50.

Almost a new work. The chemical articles are re-written, the botanical articles condensed, and the work planned to include all medicinal substances used in homoeopathy, concisely and accurately identified; to furnish reliable working formulas for the preparation of chemicals in accordance with the rules laid down by Hahnemann. Dr. O'Connor was formerly professor of chemistry in the New York Homoeopathic College.

Auerbach, Berthold. Master Bieland and his workmen; tr. by E. Hancock. N. Y., H. Holt & Co., 1883. 2+266 p. S. (Leisure hour ser., no. 153.) cl., $1.—Same (Leisure moment ser., no. 17.) pap., 20 c.

The scene is laid in an old German city, and the time of action embraces the years immediately following the Franco-German war of 1870, when all classes of society were feeling the results of the new shaping of the German Empire. Master Bieland is a shoemaker, and his friends all work at trades, and they discuss and formulate some of those doctrines of strikes, co-operation and rights of workmen, which are the vital questions of our generation. The plot is fresh, the characters life-like. This work was found among Auerbach's posthumous papers.

Devoted to the political and social characteristics, more than to scenery or adventure. The religious and educational condition of the natives and the material resources of India are judged by the author as a statesman, and his relation to the British government gives his opinions the weight of official information. A good index adds to the value of the book.

Bunce, Oliver Bell. Bachelor Bluff: his opinions, sentiments, and disputations. [New cheap ed.] N. Y., Appleton, 1883. 292 p. S. parchment covers, 50 c.
See note, "Weekly Record," P. W., Oct. 8, '81 [508].

Chadwick, Rev. G. A. My emotional life. N. Y., Cassell & Company, 1883. 4+120 p. T. (Heart chords.) cl., 40 c.

Cornil, V. Syphilis; tr. with notes and additions, by J. H. C. Simes, M.D., and J. W. White, M.D. Phil., H: C. Lea's Son & Co., 1882. 461 p. O. cl., $3.75.

Dakota. Laws passed at the 15th session of the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Dakota, held at Yankton, Jan. 9, 1883-March 9, 1883. Yankton, Bowen & Kingsbury, public printers, 1883. 13+411 p. O. shp., $3.25.

Defoe, Daniel. Life and adventures of Robinson Crusoe; ed. for the use of schools by W. H. Lambert. Bost., Ginn, Heath & Co., 1883. 6+257 p. D. (Classics for children.) bds., 30 c.

Intended for a reading-book; somewhat abridged and condensed; also simplified in places and expurgated. Divided into chapters and explanatory notes added. Sketch of Daniel Defoe opens the book.

De Leon, Néstor Ponce. Diccionario tecnológico, Inglés-Español y Español-Inglés, de los términos y frases usados en las ciencias aplicadas, artes industriales, bellas artes, mecánica, maquinaria, minas, metalurgia, agricultura, comercio, navegación, manufacturas, arquitectura, ingeniería civil y militar, marina, arte militar, ferro-carriles, telégrafos, etc. Pts. 1 and 2. N. Y., N. Ponce de Leon, 40 and 42 Broadway, 1883. 48; 49-96 p. Q. pap., ea. 50 c.

"This is a most excellent work under all aspects, including that of execution. Indeed, it will be not only a valuable addition to the reference library of our Spanish-American neighbors, but to all those in this country who take any interest in the technical terms, words, and phrases used by our own people in connection with the applied sciences, industrial arts, etc. As a dictionary of mining terms, it will be found specially useful at this time when so much attention is being given to mining enterprises in Mexico and Central America."—The Mining Record.

Dumanoir et Lafargue. Le gentilhomme pauvre: comédie en deux actes. Nouvelle édition. N. Y., W. R. Jenkins, 1883. 76 p. D. (Théâtre contemporain.) pap., 25 c.

Elliot, George. [Mrs. J. W. Cross.] Janet's repentance. (Scenes from a clerical life.) N. Y., J. S. Ogilvie & Co., [1883]. 2+120 p. S. (The People's lib., new ser., no. 350.) pap., 10 c.

Firth, Abraham, comp. Voices for the speechless: selections for schools and private reading. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1883. 256 p. S. cl., 75 c.

Collection of poems by the best authors, almost all treating of animals and the duty of kindness toward dumb creatures. The compiler is the Secretary of the American Humane Association.

Fletcher, Robert, M.D. Human proportion in art and anthropometry: lecture del. at National Museum, Washington, D. C. Cambridge, Mass., Moses King, 1883. 37 p. il. O. map., 50c.

* In this list, the titles generally are verbatim transcriptions (according to the rule of the American Library Association) from books received. Books not received are indicated by a prefixed asterisk, and this office cannot be held responsible for the correctness of their record. This list will be reprinted, verbatim, with all the notices of the books received, in the TRADE LIST ANNUAL.

Within the limited proportions of a lecture, is given the definition of anthropometry, or the science of man-measurement, and its uses and necessity for purposes of art and anatomy. A bibliography is added.

Francesca, [pseud.] The story of Ida: epitaph on an Etrurian tomb; edited, with preface, by J. Ruskin. N. Y., Wiley, 1883. 7+94 p., 1 il. D. bds., 50 c. and 75 c.; Q. bds., $1.50.

Ida is a simple little Florentine seamstress who falls in love at the age of seventeen with an officer of forty, a lodger in her mother's house. The law of Italy forbids civil marriage to any military man below the rank of colonel, and a religious marriage alone is not legal. The lover's attempts to coax Ida and her family to accede to a religious marriage until he could make preparations to leave the army, occupy the first part of the story. They finally agree, and he fails to appear on the wedding-day. He writes Ida, telling her he has already married and has two children and later on he begs her for money to support these children. She gives him up, and gradually fades away and dies of consumption within a year. The story has a sad and morbid tone, but is exquisitely written.

Garfield, Jas. A. The works of James Abram Garfield; ed. by Burke A. Hinsdale. Bost., James R. Osgood & Co., 1883. 2 v., 809; 824 p. 2 por. O. cl., $6.

Goodwin, J. A. The Puritan conspiracy against the Pilgrim fathers and the Congregational Church, 1624. Bost., Cupples, Upham & Co., 1883. 20 p. O. pap., 15 c.

Gray, Walter T. The bad boy abroad. N. Y., J. S. Gilvrie & Co., [1883]. 139 p. il. S. pap., 25 c.

The "bad boy" takes up his diary to tell his experiences of a European tour undertaken with his father and mother. They travel the well-worn route and see the well-worn sights which he amusingly notes down in the well-known phonetical spelling. Twenty-nine pages are devoted to an advertisement, with opening chapters, of the "Bad boy's diary."

Illinois. All the laws of the State of Illinois passed by the 33d General Assembly, convened Jan. 3d, 1883, adjourned sine die June 18, 1883; with head notes and references to the revised statutes of 1882, by Myra Bradwell. Chic., Legal News Co., 1883. 4+11-152 p. O. shp., net, $2; pap., net, $1.50.

McKean, May F. Marion Elliott; or, gold, frankincense and myrrh. Phil., Am. Baptist Pub. Soc., [1883]. 317 p. S. cl., $1.25.

The sub-title represents the gifts of patience, resignation and endeavor which the heroine is taught she may still offer to Jesus as the wise men did their gifts of old. The mother of Marion Elliott is exceptionally well drawn.

McMinn, Rev. Edwin. Brave hearts win. Phil., Am. Baptist Pub. Soc., [1883]. 256 p. il. S. cl., $1.25.

The scene of this story of the life of a bootblack is laid in Philadelphia. From being fed and clothed by a little girl—to whose home he comes as a beggar—the hero rises through hard work to become the head of a large business house and the husband of "the bootblack's angel." It is a superior Sunday-school story, interesting alike to boys and girls.

Meade, G. Did General Meade desire to retreat at the battle of Gettysburg? Phil., Porter & Coates, 1883. 29 p. O. pap., 15c.

A refutation of the statements made by General Doubleday in his volume on Gettysburg. Gives a clear, concise account of the memorable three days of July, '62, and by letters, telegrams and authenticated facts, explains the impossibility of the preconceived intention to retreat, of which General Meade was accused by General Doubleday.

Moore, C. Leonard. Poems, antique and modern. Phil., J. E. Potter & Co., 1883. 334 p. sq. D. flex. cl.,

Entitled: Herakles; "Don Spirito"; Verona's doves; Message on the bells; Ballad of the white king; Banquet of death; Prometheus; Lyrics. The volume is a very handsome one typographically; broad margins and flexible cover.

Mormon metropolis: illustrated guide to Salt Lake City and its environs. Salt Lake City, Utah, Jos. Hyrum Parry, 1883. 44+adv. p. map. and il. D. pap., 25 c.

Descriptions of principal places of interest to tourists, and interesting information and historical data with regard to Utah and its people.

New Jersey. The act concerning corporations in the State of New Jersey: approved April 7, 1875; with all the amendments to June 1, 1883, together with notes and forms. 3d ed., by W. H. Corbin. Jersey City, F. D. Linn & Co., 1883. 98 p. O. pap., $1.

Nichols, W. Ripley. Water supply, considered mainly from a chemical and sanitary standpoint. N. Y., J. Wiley & Sons, 1883. 6+232 p. O. cl., $2.50.

The substance, somewhat amplified of a course of "Lectures on water supply," delivered by the author before certain classes at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. It is primarily intended as an aid to engineering and other students at this and similar institutions that the book is printed. . . . The aim is not to present a complete treatise on water supply for the civil engineer, nor a treatise on water analysis for the chemist, nor a treatise on mycology for the botanist, but, rather, to occupy a territory which encroaches on the fields of these and other professions, and which belongs exclusively to no one alone—ground, in fact, with which all who are professionally interested in water supply must be more or less familiar.—Preface.

North Carolina. Laws and resolutions of the State of North Carolina, passed by the General Assembly at its session of 1883, begun and held in the city of Raleigh on the 3d of Jan., 1883, to which are prefixed a register of State officers, members of the general assembly, judiciary, a list of commissioners of affidavits, and State constitution. Published by authority. Raleigh, Ashe & Gatling, State printers, 1883. 40+1074 p. O. shp. (distributed by the State).

Pennsylvania State reports. V. 99: containing cases adjudged in the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, reported by Albert A. Outerbridge. V. 3: Cases argued at Oct. and Nov. term, 1881, and Jan. term, 1882. N. Y. and Albany, Banks & Bros., 1883. 14+727 p. O. shp., $3.50.

Politzer, Adam, M.D. Text-book of the diseases of the ear and adjacent organs; edited and tr. from the German by J. A. Patterson Cassells, M.D., Phil., H. C. Lea's Son & Co., 1883. 12+800 p. il. O. cl., $5.50.

Rhone, D. L. Acts of Assembly and forms relating to Orphans' Court practice, and the settlement and distribution of the estates of minors [etc.], in the courts of Common Pleas and Equity. V. 2. Phil., R. Welsh & Co., 1883. 48+17-623 p. O. shp., $6.

Ribot, Th. The diseases of memory; from the French by J. Fitzgerald. N. Y., J. Fitzgerald, [1883]. 48 p. O. (Humboldt lib., no. 46) pap., 15 c.

The pamphlet brings together curious observations and cases hitherto scattered through various works on the subject. Memory is studied entirely from its pathological side, and its normal conditions are only mentioned to make clear the conclusions drawn from the imposing array of statements which the author confidently presents as authenticated facts. It is admirably translated.

Rydberg, Victor. The last Athenian; from the Swedish by W. W. Thomas, Jr. [New issue.] Phil., Peterson, 1883. 13-555 p. D. cl., $1.75.

Seiler, Carl, M.D. Hand-book of the diagnosis and treatment of diseases of the throat, nose, and naso-pharynx. 2d ed., rev. and enl. Phil., H. C. Lea's Son & Co., 1883. 295 p. il. D. cl., $1.75.

Sutherland, J. G. Treatise on the law of damages, embracing an elementary exposition of the law, and also its application to particular subjects of contract and tort. V. 3. Chic., Callaghan & Co., 1883. 59+874 p. O. shp., $6.

Sweetser, M. F. Summer days down East: [collection of descriptions, stories, poetry, and historical and biographical facts about Maine.] Portland, Me., Chisholm Bros., 1883. 166 p. il. sm. Q. cl., $1.50.

Tabox, Elizabeth. The senior songman: a novel. [Anon.] N. Y., Harper, 1883. 65

p. Q. (Harper's Franklin sq. lib., no. 324.) pap., 20 c.

A pathetic, natural, healthy story of the influence—for good or evil—that women exert in a man's life. A cathedral town furnishes the usual charming background to this author's stories, and the heart-histories of its inmates are told in a manner that fascinates. There is a short Italian episode that brings out the national characteristics in a telling manner. The plot is interesting and the story a thoroughly finished production.

Talma, François Jos. On the actor's art; with preface by H. Irving. N. Y., Roorbach & Co., 1883. 20 p. O. pap., 25 c.

Texas. Cases argued and decided in the Supreme Court of Texas, during the latter part of the Austin term, 1882, and the Tyler term, 1882; reported by A. W. Terrell. V. 57: [Texas rep.] Austin, pub. by the State of Texas, 1883. 8+755 p. O. shp., $4.50.

Thompson, Silvanus P. Dynamo-electric machinery: lectures, reprinted from the Journal of the Society of Arts, with an introduction by Frank L. Pope. N. Y., D. Van Nostrand, 1883. 218 p. il. T. (Van Nostrand's Science ser., no. 66.) bds., 50 c.

"Of great value for its masterly power of analysis, as shown in his method of logically grouping the various dynamos in connection with certain typical forms, each possessing characteristic individual elements which are readily comprehended, and when once fixed in the mind, are instantly recognized wherever found."—Introduction.

United States. Bureau of Education. Circulars of information, no. 2, 1883: Co-education of the sexes in the public schools of the United States. Wash., D. C., Government Printing Office, 1883. 30 p. O. pap.

A paper of peculiar interest to the teaching profession and public. A great variety of opinions are given, and much new testimony elicited from persons and places throughout the United States. The compiler in summing up his evidence, leans strongly in favor of co-education.

United States. Reports of cases argued and decided in the Supreme Court of the United States. Complete ed., with notes and references by Stephen K. Williams. Book X: containing Peters, v. 13-16, [Jan. term, 1839-Jan. term, 1842]. Newark, Wayne Co., N. Y., The Lawyers' Co-operative Pub. Co., 1883. 1171 p. O. shp., $4.

United States. Reports of cases argued and adjudged in the Supreme Court of the United States, Feb. term, 1823, by H. Wheaton. V. 8. 4th ed., ed., with notes and references to later decisions, by F. C. Brightly. N. Y. and Albany, Banks & Bros., 1883. 17+332 p. O. shp., $3.50.

Weed, Ella. A foolish virgin: a novel. N. Y., Harper, 1883. 46 p. Q. (Harper's Franklin sq. lib., no. 325.) pap., 20 c.

The foolish virgin is Miss Morgan, a graduate of Vassar College. There are a few bright repartees and one or two well-drawn situations, but the object of burlesquing a Vassar education is too noticeable. The tendency of the story is shown in the hero's remark: "I think the best thing that can happen a bright girl is to go to Vassar; and the next best thing is—to come away." The scene is laid in Cincinnati.

Whitridge, F. W. The four-years' term; or, rotation in office. N. Y., National Civil Service Reform League, 1883. 16 p. D. pap., 3c. States in full the reasons for urging the repeal of the statute of 1820 and other laws restricting term of office to four years.

Williams, C. F. The tariff laws of the United States, with explanatory notes, citations from decisions of the courts and the Treasury Department. Bost., Soule & Bugbee, 1883. 8+193 p. O. cl., $1.50.

Mr. Williams, who prepared this work, was Secretary of the late Tariff Commission. It is practically a commentary on the new tariff act.

IN RE MACMASTER.

REFERRING to our article on "The Tribune vs. Appleton," Good Literature wishes to be remembered as one of the early discoverers of Macaulay in MacMaster. Its review of MacMaster's History appeared March 31st. In order to make good the non-mention, we give below its introductory paragraph as bearing on the question:

"The remarkable success of the late John Richard Green's 'Short History' has led and will lead to some imitations, which might well be spared, of that entertaining book. It has been stated that Mr. MacMaster's work was for the most part in ms. before the appearance of the 'Short History.' Otherwise it might have been thought that Mr. MacMaster was an imitator of Green as well as Macaulay; for though these two historians are often placed together by a superficial classification, it should be remembered that Green was a laborious student and a pupil of Canon Stubbs, the most painstaking of English historians, while Macaulay simply tickles the Philistines by a smattering of general knowledge and an alleged 'brilliant' style. But after all, and in spite of certain dicta of Mr. J. R. Seeley, it is the chief duty of the modern historian to be entertaining, and Mr. MacMaster's long introductory chapter on 'the state of America in 1784' is one of the most entertaining and interesting notices of the men and manners of America a hundred years ago that has been written. We respectfully commend it to the attention of Mr. Henry Adams and Mr. John Fiske, both of whom are, we believe, engaged upon histories of the United States, and from both of whom much will be expected."

We have cause to regret, also, our omission of the date of Mr. Warner's review in the Hartford Courant, reprinted in our issue of July 14th. As this review appeared as early as March 17th, the mention of that date, in its bearings on the Tribune Review of July 1st, is of essential significance.

The Nation, whenever opportunity offers, shows itself so appreciative of the work of this office and gives it such kind and prompt notice that it almost shows ill-grace to call it to account for what may seem a small matter. But finding that the following paragraph is going the rounds we beg leave to take exception to the parenthetical limitation:

"Mr. Thorvald Solberg's admirable catalogue of books and articles relating to literary property, has now overtaken and embraced the Publishers' Weekly, which has naturally given more attention to the subject than any periodical (on this side of the water) that could be named. Its articles are now indexed, volume by volume, as well as alphabetically, and this instalment of Mr. Solberg's work, like those that have preceded, is printed in the Weekly itself (June 16th)."

We shall be glad, however, to learn of any journal on the other side of the water that has given more attention to the subject within the past ten or twelve years.

THE Educational number of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY appeared promptly on date; and any one that can gauge the work on it, must admit that we have made excellent time. The unimprint editions are rapidly printing, and all the advance orders will be shipped by the early part of next week. The Educational Catalogue, this year, has reached a total of 32,500 copies, which almost recalls the "good old times" when booksellers still took a pride in their school-book trade. Booksellers who do not wish to be outdone by their competitors, should secure editions before it is too late.

INTERNATIONAL COPYRIGHT.

AT a meeting of the Committee of the International Literary Association held July 17, over which Blanchard Jerrold presided, the draft of an International Copyright Convention, which is to be presented at the conference to be held in Berne in September next, was read.

Science proposes that the American Association for the Advancement of Science appoint a committee, at its next meeting, to draw up a definite list of such foreign technical journals of mathematics, physics, and the like as do not compete with any enterprise of any publishing firm in the United States, and then urge upon Congress the passage of a special act putting these journals on the free list.

REFERRING to the attempt about to be made to obtain international copyright between this country and Great Britain, the London Athenaeum remarks: "The failure of previous efforts, is largely due to publishers on both sides of the Atlantic taking an active part in a question which is essentially one concerning the author, and to their thinking more of the interests of trade in books than of the encouragement of literary production. We understand that the principal authors in the United States have resolved to act for themselves, independently of publishers, and appeal to Congress and the people to do justice to authors as a body irrespective of nationality. Much time and labor have been expended in maturing the new scheme, of which the programme will soon be made public. An element in favor of its success is that the most influential United States journals irrespective of politics, are prepared to advocate the granting of international copyright in the interests of authors."

THE literary convention between France and Germany which has just been signed, consists of eighteen clauses. The literary extracts inserted in school books and ordinary newspaper articles are not subject to authors' rights, but the novels published in a serial form and scientific articles are not to be reproduced without the special permission of the author or the editor, as the case may be. The two contracting governments undertake to prevent as far as possible the publication and sale of cheap imitations of standard works, and in the event of one of them making in the future a literary convention with a third Government any clauses which it may contain more favorable than those now stipulated shall be applicable to the other. The convention has been signed for a period of six years, with the reserve that either party may give a twelve-month's notice of withdrawal, failing which it will continue in force for another six years. The convention will have a retrospective effect as regards the works published and referred to in its clauses.

By article 10 the authors of the two countries are spared all formalities of registration; the appearance of the writer's name on the title-page is to be considered sufficient proof of his rights unless the contrary is proved. In the case of anonymous or pseudonymous works the publisher will be regarded as the author's representative. The knotty point of the right of translation has been solved by a compromise. The necessity to print a reserve of the right of translation on the book is abolished, so is the registration of translations. The author is to retain his right of translations for ten years instead of the five hitherto allowed. When a work is issued in parts the ten years are to be counted from the issue of the last part. Books and acting plays are put on the same footing; and the treaty will apply to works already published.

THE MUNRO FIRE.

A fire occurred in the Munro Building, in Vandewater St., New York City, on Sunday morning, July 22, resulting in loss of property to the amount of $163,200. The Munro Building, in which George Munro publishes the Fireside Companion and the Seaside Library, is composed of three structures, running through from Vandewater to Rose Street. In Vandewater Street the building is of brick, eight stories in height, and extends from No. 17 to No. 27. An extension connects this building with the large structure in Rose Street, which is nine stories high, runs from No. 43 to No. 51 Rose Street, and is entirely fire-proof, being furnished with iron and brick floors, iron stairways, and iron doors. The Vandewater Street building is fire-proof, with the exception of the floors, which are of wood, and it is provided with iron shutters to the windows.

The Vandewater Street side of the Munro Building is occupied on the eighth floor by the Hub Publishing Company of New York and Mr. Munro's press-room, on the seventh floor by the Fireside Companion and the Seaside Library, on the sixth floor by Lovejoy, Son & Co., electrotypers and stereotypers; on the fifth floor by the Vulcanite Jewelry Company and A. Anderson, printer; on the fourth by John Medole & Son, book and job printers; on the third by E. E. Tomlinson, pamphlet binder; on the second by Henry Dawson, printer, and on the first by the Schuyler Electric Light Company, the offices of the New York Witness, and the offices and factory of the New York Screw-top Works. On the Rose Street side of the building the ninth floor is used by Mr. Munro as a press-room; the eighth floor is occupied by Mr. Munro, Sackett, Wilhelm & Betsig, lithographers, who employ 150 men and run 13 presses. The seventh floor is used as a storage-room by Mr. Munro; the sixth is empty; the fifth is occupied by Lovejoy & Son and the Universal Rubber Company; the fourth by David H. Gildersleeve as a composing-room and bindery; the third by Handy & Walters, printers; the second by Stringam & Gomers, label cutters; and the first by Charles Enu Johnson & Co., and Bingham, Daley & O'Hara, manufacturers of printers' composition rollers.

THE ORANGE JUDD PUBLISHING CO.

THE ORANGE JUDD PUBLISHING CO. wishes it to be understood that Mr. Orange Judd, who makes an assignment, has not, for some time, been connected with the Publishing Company which bears his name, and that his relations to it have been, for years, only nominal. In 1878 the control and management of the Company passed into the hands of his brother and other parties. The Rochester Democrat of July 20th, contains the following: "The failure last week of Orange Judd in no way affects the credit or standing of the American Agriculturist, or of the Company by which that journal is published. David W. Judd, the President of the Company, writes a letter to a friend in this city, from which we make the following extract: 'So far from being affected in the slightest degree by Orange Judd's personal failure, this Company to-day has little or no liabilities beyond current running expenses, has a splendid surplus, has in two years' time bought in and wiped out one fifth of its entire capital stock, and is to-day doing a larger and more prosperous business and is preparing to issue more books than at any time during its long career as a publishing house.'"

Bradstreet's Mercantile Agency, on the 16th inst., sent out the following notice to its patrons. "The failure of Mr. Orange Judd does not, it is said, in any way affect the standing of this Company, as his interest herein has been nominal only, for some time past, and his troubles are reported to be the result of entanglements arising from outside operations. The indebtedness of the Company, it is claimed, is only for running expenses more than fully offset by good receivables, and cash in bank, and it is said they have retired over one hundred thousand dollars of the capital stock. Are still quoted in high credit."

THE PRACTICAL ADVANTAGES OF TRADE JOURNALS.

From the British and Colonial Printer and Stationer.

WHAT commerce does to stimulate the industries of the world, the trade journal does for the trade it represents. It would be difficult to name a trade of any importance which is not represented by its journal. The reason of this is clear enough to those who know how much absorbed good workmen are in their calling, and how anxious they are to know what is going on in their own immediate world—what improvements and developments are taking place; what is new, and what becoming obsolete. As the daily paper presents to the general public reports of notable events in the social, political, and commercial world, so the trade journal culls all facts bearing on the interests it represents, and furnishes them to its readers.

The importance of trade journals is indicated by the fact that they are wholly supported by the trades that each represents, and cannot be said, to any appreciable degree, to be read by the outside public. And this condition of things is quite natural, because every one takes the greatest interest in what most intimately concerns himself, and the journal of greatest value to the tradesman is that which has something instructive and encouraging to say about what he is doing, and about what others in the same trade are doing.

Notwithstanding the cordial support given to trade journalism in this country, it may be said that it is not wholly understood or appreciated by those most interested. Much more could be made of it if its readers were only to consider themselves as contributors and correspondents. There is probably no member of a trade or profession who does not wish to know something or have some doubt removed. There are probably few, whether employers or employed, who have not discovered something in their special calling which, if known, would be of practical value to those of his own trade. Many of the best workmen hesitate to take up the pen to enlighten others, though they are willing to do so, and know that they have ideas which would be helpful to their fellows, simply because they cannot turn out their sentences in a style which they consider proper for a widely-read paper. This is largely due to false modesty, and perhaps through indulging in many a brilliant idea, and often a valuable invention or suggestion of real practical utility, is buried in a man's bosom, and dies with him. It is the idea, and not the language which clothes it, that is important. It is the diamond, with its bright sparkle, and not the setting, however rich, that attracts the eye.

So the tradesman who has developed anything new in thought or in actual experiment, is in duty bound to give currency to it for the benefit of his fellow-workmen, where this can be done without too great pecuniary sacrifice. The gospel parable reproves him most severely who wrapped his talent in a napkin and buried it.

If all artisans and mechanics were to consider their own trade journals as the storehouse for their ideas, and a free exchange for all communications affecting their calling and interest, every journal of this class would grow in importance and general interest. It would be a means of improving their condition, enhancing their skill, stimulating original thought, awakening a more friendly feeling among mechanics, and possibly effecting a better understanding between employers and employed.

OBITUARY.

A. H. HINKLE.

MR. A. H. HINKLE died at Andover, Mass., July 16th. At the time of his death, Mr. Hinkle had just completed a circuit of visits to each member of his family, and was preparing to return to his home at Mt. Auburn, when he was stricken suddenly with an affection of the heart. His remains were brought to his home and buried July 21st. Mr. Hinkle was born at Doyleston, Pa., March 19th, 1815, and was therefore sixty-eight at the time of his death. There are few names better known among publishers than the one which, for several years, has been withdrawn from the firm with which it was identified. For many years Mr. Hinkle was connected with the large house of W. B. Smith & Co., which has changed its style from time to time to Sargent, Wilson & Hinkle, Wilson, Hinkle & Co., and is now Van Antwerp, Bragg & Co., of which Mr. Hinkle's son is a partner. In latter years Mr. Hinkle has devoted himself to the care of his fortune and to the work of managing various benevolent institutions which owed their existence to his generosity. The Lane Seminary and the Old Man's Home were his favorite objects of charity, but he gave time and money liberally to the many objects in which his church was interested. Mr. Hinkle's face showed his warm and social nature, and no man ever left a larger circle of intimate friends. Mr. Hinkle will be missed in his church, in his charities, and in the community where he had made his home. He was warm-hearted and generous in all his dealings, but he was also an energetic, practical business man, and his fellow-citizens testified to their appreciation of his stern integrity and remarkable business capacity by electing him, upon many occasions, to positions of important financial trust.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

EDGAR FAWCETT is contributing to the Sunday Tribune, a society novel entitled "The Ambitious Woman."

STOPFORD BROOKE intends to enlarge his "Primer of English Literature" into a full history of the subject.

LEWIS CARROLL's new book "Rhyme? and Reason?" will be abundantly illustrated by Mr. Henry Holiday and Mr. Arthur B. Frost.

WALTER BESANT has prepared a little volume of "Readings from Rabelais," which will be published soon by Messrs. Blackwood.

W. E. NORRIS, author of "Matrimony," and "No New Thing," is writing a serial for the London Graphic, where four instalments of it have already appeared, with illustrations by Mr. William Small. Its title is "Thirby Hall."

CORRECTION. — Scrantom, Wetmore & Co., Rochester, N. Y., inform us that they have become the publishers of Gilmore's Primary, Intermediate, and Academic Speakers, formerly issued by H. A. Young & Co. We received the information too late to make the correction in the Educational Catalogue, and therefore request our readers to make note of the change. The retail price of the Academic Speaker should be $1.25 retail, instead of 66 cents as given in our Educational Catalogue. The price was inserted in the wholesale column by mistake.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

Electra is the title of a new magazine of belles-lettres for young people published in Louisville, Ky., by Isabella M. Leyburn.

The Christian Union has begun the publication of a series of entertaining historical articles by Mr. George Houghton, author of "St. Olaf's Kirk," under the title of "Papers from Sir Guy's Trunk." These articles give a vivid picture of New York as seen through the eyes of Sir Guy Carleton, the British commander-in-chief during a part of the revolutionary period. They reproduce not only local history but the manners and life of a very stirring age in the national career.

THE August number of The Season, the popular fashion monthly, contains among its many attractions, two large colored plates, two historical or national costume pictures, about 200 illustrations of dress and needlework, 20 full sized fashion patterns, 30 designs of embroidery, and much descriptive text, besides a review of "Novelties" and "New Needlework." The International News Company, New York, are general agents.

The American Stationer of July 19 is a really sumptuous number, and we take pleasure in calling attention to its typographical display and to the variety of its interesting contents. The illustrations are executed with great care and serve to explain some very well-written articles. A special feature of this issue is the printing of a number of advertisements in red and black inks. The enterprise of the publisher certainly deserves the encouragement he receives.

CLARKE BROS., New York City, send us the first number of Dio Lewis's Monthly. The aim of this magazine will be to popularize sanitary science and to give special attention to questions of personal hygiene. Dr. Dio Lewis's views are so well-known that the tone of this publication will be readily understood. A great deal of information on health is inaccessible to the many, and this magazine will make a specialty of condensing such information and publishing it in readable and entertaining shape. As a rule each number will have ninety-six pages. In order to give a better idea of its scope this issue has overrun the limits. The type is large and good and the pages are not divided into columns. The editor has much original matter in the first number, which his followers will read with pleasure and profit.

THE Art Interchange began its eleventh volume with the issue of July 5th, and introduced a change by using the two middle pages for illustrations for decoration, thus publishing more work-designs than heretofore. The patterns to be issued in the supplement sheets are selected from the Royal School of Art Needlework at South Kensington, England. Although growing steadily from a four-page sheet without illustrations to one of sixteen pages, illustrated profusely, and containing an unrivalled "inquiry" department, the management contemplate a still more important step in January, 1884. They will publish each month a study in several colors of flower or figure subjects, the designs to be the work of well-known artists and the art work to be so accurate that they will be valuable to the painter, as well as to embroiderers. No further comment is needed upon the prosperity of the Art Interchange and the unflinching energy of its managers.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. have nearly ready a new edition of "Boston Illustrated," brought down to date and largely rewritten.

MR. HARDY'S novel "But Yet a Woman" has achieved a very remarkable success. Within three months after publication it has reached the tenth thousand, and four editions are now published in London.

"REMINISCENCES of Charlotte Cushman, the Actress and Woman," will shortly be published by the author, Joseph O. Lunt, of Boston. It will contain many incidents in the life of Miss Cushman never before made public.

D. LOTHROP & Co. have arranged with Rev. A. McKenzie, D.D., who is one of the most instructive and entertaining of American preachers, for the publication of a selection of his latest pulpit efforts, under title of "Cambridge Sermons."

ROBERT CLARKE & Co., Cincinnati, have in press a work on "Sorghum; Its Culture and Manufacture Economically Considered, and its Importance as a Source of Sugar, Syrup, and Fodder," by Peter Collier, Ph.D., late chemist of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Chicago, publishes "The Control of Defective Sight on Land and Sea, with Especial Reference to the Subject of Color Blindness." It is a résumé of what has been done in this country and abroad toward arriving at proper legislative action, and is reprinted from the Railway Review.

PORTER & COATES have in preparation for the fall a handsome edition of Mrs. Norton's popular poem, "Bingen on the Rhine," illustrated by twenty-two engravings from original drawings by W. T. Smedley, F. B. Schell, A. Fredericks, Granville Perkins, and E. P. Garrett. It will be printed on the finest plate paper and bound in a variety of handsome styles. The title of Margaret Vandegrift's new story for girls, recently announced will be "The Queen's Bodyguard."

L'ESTAMPE for May announces that the gold medal for the best style of wood-engraving has been awarded by the Paris Salon to Mr. Robert Hoskins, the well-known artist so long connected with the establishment of Messrs. Harper Bros. For twenty years Mr. Hoskins has given his art that careful study which steadily added to the merit of the wood-engraving of Harper's Monthly, and he now retires to his home in Crawford, N. J., where he has fitted up a studio and will in future devote himself entirely to the perfecting of the art of wood-engraving.

R. WORTHINGTON, on another page, calls the attention of the trade to the fact that he has now ready samples of his new series of holiday juvenile books. Mr. Worthington has adhered to the plan of combining entertainment and instruction, which he claims to have helped the success of his former adventures in this field, and he certainly has spared no pains in gathering into his new volumes all that could interest young readers in the way of pictures and readable text. Special attention has also been given to the covers, for which new and bright styles have been adopted.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT & Co. have nearly ready, Rev. F. Sydney Marvin's selection of "Wisdom, Poetry and Pathos," from Ouida's works; "Calumet of the Coteau," a poem, as its title indicates, of the Far West, which will contain in addition, many other poetical legends of the border, also a glossary of Indian names, words, and western provincialisms, together with a guide-book of the Yellowstone Park; "A Memoir of Z. M. Humphrey;" and a work on "Insanity and its Medico-Legal Aspects," by Dr. T. R. Buckham. The fifth edition of Wood's "Therapeutics," announced some time ago, is now ready. They have in press many new works, the more notable of which are, "Dictionary of Miracles," by E. Cobham Brewer, author of the "Readers' Hand-Book;" "A History of the Union League of Philadelphia," giving the origin, growth, and career of this famous institution; "Young Folks' Whys and Wherefores;" "Memoir of S. S. Prentiss," by Hon. Jas. D. Shields; and another new novel by the "Duchess."

ROBERTS BROTHERS have in preparation "A Book of New England Legends and Folk Lore," by Samuel Adams Drake, which will be fully illustrated; an édition de luxe (limited to 250 copies) of La Fontaine's Fables, translated by Robert Thompson, containing portrait and twenty-five original full-page etchings by A. Delierre; "In Nazareth Town: a Christmas Fantasy," and other poems by John W. Chadwick; "A Short History of the City of Philadelphia, from its Foundation to the Present Time," by Susan Coolidge; and new editions of Rev. Wm. Ware's "Aurelian," "Julian," and "Zenobia," and of Paul Konewka's illustrations to Goethe's "Faust." The price of the latter will be reduced to $1.50. They have also in preparation for the fall and holiday trade an interesting list of juveniles among which we may now mention "A Round Dozen," twelve bright stories for girls by Susan Coolidge; and another story for girls by Louise Chandler Moulton entitled "Firelight Stories." Both of these will be fully illustrated. For the boys they will have two great books in "The Boy Knight who Won his Spurs Fighting with King Richard of England," a tale of the crusades, by G. A. Henty (fully illustrated); and "The Life and Adventures of Robinson Crusoe," with a preface by Austin Dobson, and facsimiles of the original frontispiece and title-page of the book as printed by the author in 1719, besides 16 illustrations by Thos. Stothard. Another volume which will be hailed by the children is "Donald and Dorothy," a new story by Mary Mapes Dodge, editor of St. Nicholas. This is the only story Mrs. Dodge has written since the publication of "Hans Brinker," which had an immense sale both in America and England, and has been translated into various languages.

COPYRIGHT NOTICES.

BE IT REMEMBERED, That on the 2d day of July, 1883, Charles Scribner's Sons, of New York, have deposited in the office of the Librarian of Congress titles of a book, the title or description of which is in the following words, to wit: "A Memoir of S. S. Prentiss." Edited by his Brother, vol. 1 and vol. 2. In renewal for 14 years from September 27th, 1883, when the first term of 28 years will have expired.

BE IT KNOWN, That on the 2d day of July, 1883, the copyright of a book entitled "All Aboard; or, Life on the Lake," a sequel to "The Boat Club," was renewed for the further term of 14 years from January 2d, 1884, by the entry of the title thereof in the office of the Librarian of Congress at Washington, D. C., by William T. Adams.

BUSINESS FOR SALE.

A FINE OPENING IN CANADA.—Partnership in one of the leading book and stationery houses in the Dominion. Large reading population and constantly increasing trade. Offers great inducement to an energetic young man to take charge of office or stationery department. Capital required about $10,000. Principals only need address "CANADA," care of John W. Lovell Co., Publishers, New York.

FOR SALE.—The business of the late CHAS. A. BURNHAM, of Norwich, Conn., who died July 4th. This prosperous, first-class book, stationery and paper-hanging store, to a man with a proper knowledge of the business, is an extraordinary good chance. It is well established and thoroughly known in all the adjacent manufacturing villages in the neighborhood, and bears an enviable reputation.

It is now, and has been for years, returning a handsome income. The subscriber wishes to sell it without delay.

In the meantime the stock will be kept complete and every endeavor made to keep it up to the high standard of its former owner. For further particulars address Wm. C. LAMMAN, Administrator, Norwich, Conn.

Jones on Chattel Mortgages.

NEW AND REVISED EDITION.

A Treatise on THE LAW OF MORTGAGES OF PERSONAL PROPERTY. By LEONARD A. JONES, author of works on Mortgages of Real Property and Railroad Securities. In one volume, 8vo, law sheep, $6.50.

This standard work has been revised in the present (second) edition by incorporating into the text and notes the new decisions that have been published since the work was first written, as well as some earlier decisions that had been omitted. The book has thus been enlarged by the addition of some sixty pages of new matter. Most of this has been wrought into the sections as they were originally formed, which retain the same numbers; and only a few wholly new sections have been written for the treatment of new subjects. The number of cases cited has been increased by about 300.

sequence of Mr. C. F. Adams, Jr.'s, late onslaught upon the Greek, a translation of this report is now about ready to be issued by Ginn, Heath & Co., in connection with the inaugural address of Dr. A. W. Hofmann on the cognate theme of a division of the philosophical faculty, delivered in 1880, and likewise noticed by us."

CHARLES SOTHERAN, the well-known author, editor, and bibliographer, is compiling a work of great interest to the Masonic fraternity, entitled the "Lives and Acts of the Most Puissant Sovereign Grand Commanders of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite for the United States of America, from 1807 to 1883." It will make a volume of more than 300 pages, illustrated with portraits of the ten Sovereign Grand Commanders, Joseph Cerneau, John W. Mulligan, Governor De Witt Clinton, the Marquis of Lafayette, Elias Hicks, Henry C. Atwood, Jeremy L. Cross, Edmund B. Hayes, Harry J. Seymour, and Wm. H. Peckham, the present incumbent of the honorable office, and will be sold only by subscription. Mr. Sotheran's talents as editor and compiler, as well as his long connection with Free Masonry, in which he has held the most honorable offices, naturally fit him for the complete mastery of his subject.

CHAS. SCRIBNER'S SONS announce a new and important collection of English poetry, for which Mr. W. J. Linton and Mr. R. H. Stoddard have been gathering material for many years. "The work, which will consist of a series of five volumes, will, it is understood," says the N. Y. Times, "be more comprehensive in its scope and more accurate in its texts than any similar collection hitherto published. Mr. Stoddard writes an introductory essay upon the period of English poetry covered by each of the volumes, and at the end of each volume carefully prepared biographical and bibliographical notes are printed, prepared by both of the editors. The work will be published under the general title, 'English Verse,' and the first volume, which covers the period from Chaucer to Burns, will be issued early in the autumn." Among other new books announced by this firm are: "Our Chancellor," a new life of Bismarck, by Dr. Moritz Busch, the author of "Bismarck in the Franco-German War;" "Historical Hand-Book of Italian Sculpture," by Charles C. Perkins; and "The Recollections of a Naval Officer," by Capt. William H. Parker, who writes from a varied and long experience, having served throughout the operations in the Gulf of Mexico during the Mexican war and in many of the most important engagements in the Civil War.

MACMILLAN & CO. will bring out in this country an English edition of Prof. Hermann Müller's great work on "The Fertilization of Flowers." The translation has been made under the charge of Mr. D'Arcy W. Thompson, who has had the advantage of notes concerning Prof. Müller's important observations made since the publication of the latest German edition, furnished by the author himself, which are now incorporated in the text of the present edition. A short prefatory note is printed at the beginning of the volume, which was prepared by the late Prof. Darwin shortly before his death, and in which he expresses his high appreciation and approval of Prof. Müller's work. The firm also have in press a work by Percy Ross, "A Misguidit Lassie;" Dr. Brooke Foss Westcott's "Commentary on the Epistles of St. John;" and a new edition of Ward's "English Poets" is in preparation, carefully revised throughout and augmented by extracts from three poets who have died since the original issue of the work. Mr. Pater will introduce the selections from Rossetti, Mr. Edmund W. Gosse those from Arthur O'Shaughnessy, and Mr. Philip Bourke Marston those from James Thompson, the little-known author of "The City of Dreadful Night." Messrs. Macmillan, who are Mr. Marion Crawford's English and American publishers, announce that his novel, "Mr. Isaacs," has reached the extraordinary circulation of 18,000 copies, and that of the author's new story, "Dr. Claudius," nearly 15,000 copies have already been sold.

VOL. XXIV., No. 5. NEW YORK, August 4, 1883. WHOLE No. 602.

"THE LARGEST, MOST ATTRACTIVE, AND BEST LINE OF JUVENILE AND HOLIDAY BOOKS
EVER PLACED IN THE MARKET"

IS THE UNANIMOUS DECISION OF ALL WHO HAVE SEEN

Cassell & Company's Line of New Publications,
NOW READY,
FOR THE FALL OF 1883.

We have fully maintained the UNIFORM EXCELLENCE AND HIGH STANDARD which our publications have attained in the past, and in many cases have made a very decided advance, not only in the excellence of the text and beauty of the illustrations, but also in the quality of the printing and bindings. We have added this season nearly One Hundred New Volumes, many of which are by AMERICAN as well as FOREIGN AUTHORS, and include the simple Picture-Book for the youngest child, as well as the sumptuous "Edition de Luxe" for the lover of fine illustrated works.

Special Attention is invited to our new and beautiful Chromo-Lithograph Covers for Board Juveniles, done in from 9 to 15 colors. They are, without exception, the handsomest covers ever produced. No expense has been spared to produce elegant and unique designs for cloth bindings in gold and various colored inks.

A considerable Reduction in Retail Prices has been made in many of the lines, making them, without question, the cheapest as well as the best books in the market.

ALL JOBBERS HAVE A FULL SUPPLY OF OUR GOODS.

OUR COMPLETE DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE WILL BE FORWARDED YOU SHORTLY.

See our Complete Line before making selections for the Fall.

NOTES IN SEASON.

As an apology for the slimness of our columns we quote from the Examiner, Aug. 2, the following remarks, which in a measure apply to our case: "For the first time in several years a number of the Examiner goes forth with no book reviews in its literary columns. This is not because of lack of diligence on the part of any member of the staff, but because the summer season this year is so unprecedently dull."

J. B. LIPPINCOTT & Co. have just issued a new novel by Frank Lee Benedict, entitled

"The Price She Paid," which is pronounced "entertaining, fresh and clever;" and have nearly ready a revised and enlarged edition of "The Book-Lover's Enchiridion."

HENRY HOLT & Co. have just published in the Leisure Hour and Leisure Moment series, Jean Paul Richter's "The Invisible Lodge," one of his earliest romances, and one that helped largely in making his reputation. It is peculiarly interesting as containing a good deal of Richter's own biography. Translated from the German by the late Charles T. Brooks.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. announce that "The Autobiography of Thurlow Weed" will be ready for subscribers this week. It makes a handsome octavo volume of seven hundred pages, with steel portraits. Over one hundred pages are given to a full account of the story of William Morgan's abduction; and a portrait on steel of Morgan, for the first time made public, will appear in the book.

JAMES R. OSGOOD & Co. are to be the American publishers of Mr. Gosse's new volume—"Seventeenth Century Studies"—which has been prepared on the novel plan of selecting a typical figure for each decade. The ten worthies he has chosen to treat are, in chronological order: Lodge, Webster, Rowlands, Randolph, Herrick, Crashaw, Cowley, Mrs. Phillips (the "Matchless Orinda"), Etheredge, and Otway.

DE WOLFE, FISKE & Co., Boston, have ready "The New Excelsior Dictionary of the English Language," a handsome 16mo, containing in addition to nearly 35,000 words and definitions a copious supplement of new words and meanings, and a large number of very valuable tables, lists, etc. They will also issue "Craig's Dictionary," an elegant 12mo volume, containing the same matter with a large number of extra illustrations and printed with red lines.

CUPPLES, UPHAM & Co. announce as almost ready "The Pilgrim Republic," an historical review of the colony of New Plymouth, by Hon. John A. Goodwin, the editor of Vox Populi, Lowell. It is said to be a complete history of the Pilgrims in their English homes and their Dutch stopping-place, and then in the permanent community of New Plymouth. Of this work the Rev. Dr. Dexter says that "it will meet extremely well a popular need." The volume will be printed on heavy tinted paper, in old style type, and will contain upward of 500 pages.

JOHN WILEY & SONS announce for immediate publication "The Steam-Boiler; its Care and Management," by Stephen Roper, in pocket-book form, morocco binding, containing numerous steel-plates; "Electricity and Resistance of the Materials of Engineering," by Burr; the third volume of Klein-Weisbach's "Mechanics," very fully illustrated; "Kinematics, or Practical Mechanics," by MacCord, a treatise on mechanical movements, for the use of draughtsmen, machinists, and students of mechanical engineering; Wood's "Mechanics of Fluids" and "Analytical Mechanics," and Ruskin's "Fors Clavigera," containing "Lost Jewels." They have just issued "The Art of England," by the same author; Richardson's "Physiological Cruelty;" Drinker's "Explosive Compounds and Rock Drills;" and Du Bois' "Strains in Framed Structures."

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A. Augustus; B. Benjamin; C. Charles; D. David; E. Edward; F. Frederick; G. George; H. Henry; I. Isaac; J. John; L. Louis; N. Nicholas; P. Peter; R. Richard; S. Samuel; T. Thomas; W. William.

Sizes are designated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); Q. (4to: under 30 cm.); O. (8vo: 25 cm.); D. (16mo: 20 cm.); S. (16mo: 17½ cm.); T. (24mo: 15 cm.); TL. (32mo: 12½ cm.); Ps. (4mo: 10 cm.). Sq., obl., nar., designate square, oblong, narrow books of these heights. Where figure instead of letter symbols are used, the record is from publisher's designation, and not measurement.

Adams, Robert C. Evolution—a summary of evidence: lecture delivered in Montreal, March, 1883. N. Y., G. P. Putnam's Sons, 1883. 44 p. D. pap., 25 c.

"Much prejudice has been excited against evolution by the use of long words, which, though most serviceable to the learned, are perplexing to the uninitiated." An abstract of many books is here presented in plain language, and for a fuller exposition the reader is referred to Prof. Andrew Wilson's "Chapters on evolution," which has been made the basis in the preparation of this lecture, and is published by the same house.

Alger, Horace, jr. The backwoods boy: or, how a young rail-splitter became President: being the boyhood and manhood of Abraham Lincoln. N. Y., J. R. Anderson & H. S. Allen, 1883. 11. S. (Boyhood and manhood series of illustrious Americans, v. 2.) cl., $1.25.

Aristotle. The politics of Aristotle; tr., with analysis and critical notes, by J. E. C. Well-don. N. Y., Macmillan, 1883. 96+407 p. D. cl., net, $2.50.

Crafts, Rev. W. F. Must the Old Testament go?; or, the relation of the Old Testament to the Christian life of to-day. Bost., Jas. H. Earle, 1883. 119 p. S. cl., 40 c.

Curtis, G. Ticknor. Life of James Buchanan, fifteenth President of the United States. N. Y., Harper, 1883. 2 v., 14+625; 8+707 p. 2 pors. O. cl., $6.

In the summer of 1880 the executors and nearest surviving relatives of Mr. Buchanan placed the whole collection of his private papers in the hands of Mr. Curtis with a view to the preparation of a biographical and historical work concerning his public and private life. Mr. Curtis, who had never had any personal acquaintance with Mr. Buchanan, only accepted this duty with the explicit understanding that he was to treat the subject in an entirely independent and impartial spirit. The result is a work of remarkable fairness, conceived in a cool, judicial spirit, and in a strong measure a defence of Buchanan's administration. Of his course during the months directly pending the rebellion he says: "Nothing more than a proper examination of the facts is now needed to insure for him all the vindication that he could ever have desired." And further: "In regard to this and to every other part of his life, I have found it an interesting task to trace the history of a man whose public and private character was always pure, whose patriotism was coextensive with his whole country, whose aims were high, and who was habitually conscientious in the discharge of every obligation." The material Mr. Curtis had at his command was unusually full. Mr. Buchanan was a great letter-writer, and had an enormous private correspondence. He moreover preserved nearly every letter he received. Although he kept no regular diary, he had a habit of writing down an account of all important transactions and conversations. The letters to his niece, Miss Harriet Lane, which are largely quoted, illustrate one of the most attractive sides of his character.

Garrigues, H. J., M.D. Diagnosis of ovarian cysts by means of the examination of their contents. N. Y., W. Wood & Co., 1883. 112 p. O. cl., $1.25.

Griesinger, W., M.D. Mental pathology and therapeutics; tr. from the German (2d ed.) by C. Lockhart Robertson, M.D., and Ja. Ruth-erford, M.D. N. Y., W. Wood & Co., 1882. 8+375 p. D. (Wood's lib. of standard medical authors.) cl., subs., $1.25.

Hallok, C. The sportsman's gazetteer and general guide: the game animals, birds and fishes of North America; their habits, and various methods of capture; also instructions in shooting, fishing, taxidermy, woodcraft, etc., together with a glossary. Rev., enl., and brought down to date by the author. N. Y., Orange Judd Co., 1883. 705+218 p. 11. and maps, por. D. cl., $3.

This work, which has passed through six editions, is a recognized authority on matters pertaining to field sports. The late revision it has undergone is most important, as the author has greatly extended his knowledge of the subject by three years' travel over new portions of the United States and the Canadas which have not hitherto been brought to the immediate attention of sportsmen. A number of new maps, new illustrations, and a directory of the principal game resorts of the country have been added. Also a bibliography for sportsmen.

Hamilton, Allen McLane, M.D. Types of insanity: illustrated guide in the physical diagnosis of mental disease. N. Y., W. Wood & Co., 1883. 36 p., 10 pl., on India paper, Q., in portfolio, $2.50.

* In this list, the titles generally are verbatim transcriptions (according to the rule of the American Library Association) from books received. Books not received are indicated by a prefixed asterisk, and this office cannot be held responsible for the correctness of their record. This list will be reprinted, verbatim, with all the notices of the books received, in the TRADE LIST ANNUAL.

Hammond, Rev. E. Payson. Gathered lambs. N. Y., Funk & Wagnalls, 1883. 172 p. S. cl., 40 c.; pap. 10 c.

Rockstro, W. S. Life of George Frederick Handel; with introductory notice by G. Grove. N. Y., Macmillan, 1883. 15+452 p. por. D. cl., $2.50.

Sarcey, Francisque. The miseries of Fo Hi, a celestial functionary; from the French by A. R. H. Chic., Jansen, McClurg & Co., 1883. 254 p. S. cl., $1.

The author claims to have found this story in a Chinese manuscript taken in the sacking of an imperial palace. Many of his friends translated it, and the version here given seemed the "most diverting." The hero enters the civil service of China, and the plot is merely a thread on which to string some keen satire about the system of public plunder obtaining in almost all countries. Fo Hi's "miseries" are caused by his inconvenient fixed notions of fidelity and honor in his official position.

Seaside library, nos. 1676 to 1693. N. Y., G. Munro, 1883. ca. Q. pap.

Contents:—No. 1676, The house on the marsh, by F. Warden, 20 c.—1677, The headstrong Turk, by Jules Verne, pt. 1, 10 c.—1683, Yolande, by W. Black, 20 c.—1684, Her sailor love, by Katharine S. Maquoid, 20 c.—1685, Moonshine and Marguerites, by "The Duchess," and Alice Dugdale, by Anthony Trollope, 10 c.—1686, The romantic adventures of a milkmaid, by T. Hardy, 10 c.—1687, Night and morning, by Sir E. Bulwer-Lytton, 20 c.—1693, Pique: a tale of the English aristocracy, 20 c.

Spina, Arnold. History of tuberculosis from the time of Sylvius to the present day, being in part a translation, with notes and additions, from the German of Dr. Arnold Spina; [also] an account of the researches and discoveries of Dr. Robert Koch and other recent investigators, by Eric E. Sattler, M.D. Cin., Rob. Clarke & Co., 1883. 191 p. D. cl., $1.25.

The first five chapters are a free translation, with a few notes and additions, of the first part of the very valuable work of Dr. Arnold Spina, entitled "Studien über Tuberculose," which has just appeared in Germany. Dr. Spina is a most formidable critic and opponent of the theories of Dr. Koch, the discoverer of the Bacillus tuberculosis. The sixth and seventh chapters are new. Spina brought his history down only to the time just preceding Koch's experiments. These two chapters contain an account of the investigations of Koch and of the various subsequent experiments of other investigators, and their attempts to verify or to overthrow his conclusions. They include a full description of the latest experiments of Dr. Spina, in which he claims to have disproved Koch's theories. A sketch of Koch's reply to Spina is given also. These additions bring the history of tuberculosis down to March, 1883.

Taylor, Ja. American political philosophy: an inquiry as to the remedies for social and political evils proposed by Henry George and others. Columbus, O., A. H. Smythe, 1883. 86 p. O. pap., 25 c.

Discusses the questions of land tenure, transportation, elections, education, etc., from an American standpoint.

Topellius, Z. Times of battle and of rest; tr. from the original Swedish. Chic., Jansen, McClurg & Co., 1883. 393 p. S. (The surgeon's stories.) cl., $1.25.

Surgeon Bäck continues his historical stories to the quaint family that gather in his little attic chamber, in the same poetical wording we learned to love in the first "cycle" of "The surgeon's stories." This second "cycle" deals with one of the most important periods in Swedish history, including the conquests of Poland and Denmark and the famous march across the ice under Charles X., and the restoration of peace under Charles XI. The translation is better than that of the "Times of Gustav Adolf," and the stories possess all the merits of that popular work.

The Publishers' Weekly.

AUGUST 4, 1883.

PUBLISHERS are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, to insure correctness in the final entry.

The trade are invited to send "Communications" to the editor on any topic of interest to the trade, and as to which an interchange of opinion is desirable. Also, matter for "Notes and Queries" gratefully received.

In case of business changes, notification or card should be immediately sent to this office for entry under "Business Notes." New catalogues issued will also be mentioned when forwarded.

"Every man is a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help thereunto."—LORD BACON.

BOOKSELLERS' AND STATIONERS' PROVIDENT ASSOCIATION OF THE U. S.

A REGULAR monthly meeting of the Board of Trustees was held on Wednesday, July 25, at 8 P.M., at Cassell & Co.'s, Pres. Dillingham in the chair. It was decided to postpone the election of the Assistant Vice-Presidents for cities outside of New York, and of a Trustee to fill a vacancy, until the next meeting. The Trustees are most anxious to select efficient Assistant Vice-Presidents, men who will show an active interest in the Association by working to increase its membership. A list of such is being made up.

The Secretary read a petition from twenty of the San Francisco trade to become members. Circulars and application blanks were duly forwarded.

On motion, the following twenty-five applicants were elected members:

G. W. Clason.	J. J. Conners.
F. W. Arwia.	G. L. Garriques.
T. H. Topping.	S. E. Shourds.
H. C. Jenkins.	J. W. Mackay.
R. W. Dwyer.	D. McKenna.
Edmond Ketels.	J. L. Meyle.
Lou. M. Gay.	A. H. Clark.
Edward Lovell.	H. Rothenstein.
John W. Lovell.	A. R. Adams.
H. Klingner.	R. J. Allard.
Katie C. Murray.	J. H. Richardson.
M. F. Lyucker.	J. W. Hesse.

Chas. Busick.

This will make the grand total of certificates issued 513, giving the Association a net membership of nearly 500. At the present rate of increase (sixty-five having been enrolled at two meetings), the maximum, 1000, will be reached possibly within a year, after which no more names can be added. The Trustees therefore urge upon the trade outside of New York the claims of the Association and ask for help in the good work. The organization is for the ENTIRE country, and being national in its character, they want the increase to represent other sections than New York, where recruiting is carried on with great efficiency. The Secretary will be glad to supply blanks on application by addressing him in care of Thomas Whittaker, Bible House, New York.

C. T. DILLINGHAM, President.

J. A. HOLDEN, Secretary.

THE Literary World, July 28, has kindly referred to our article on the Tribune's review of McMaster's History, as follows:

"The PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY of July 14 has a very just rebuke of the N. Y. Tribune's gratuitous attempt to write down Mr. McMaster's 'History of the People of the United States,' on the ground of being an imitation of Macaulay."

We cannot quietly accept this undeserved compliment. We took special pains to guard against any such interpretation. The WEEKLY did not pretend to deal with the Tribune's criticism of the author. It meant to deal only with its slander of the publisher; with its dozen lines to which the columns were the introduction; with its personal, not its literary malice.

THE American Bookseller has promptly acted upon our advice and has produced its own American Educational Catalogue. It does not say it follows our advice, nor does it even give the WEEKLY any credit for certain appropriations. Nor is it necessary—its features bear such a family likeness that the relationship to the WEEKLY will be recognized at a glance by any of our readers. But it would seem to us that a concern that can afford, in the service of its own distributing interests, to give away such a list, even without the support of the publishers, might, with that support, well afford to pay for original work instead of borrowing without even saying "by your leave." It is evidently easy and profitable to do business to the air (though we have not yet caught it): "Oh, why should the spirit of mortal be proud?"

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

MRS. HAWEIS is compiling a Chaucer Birthday book. It will be published this autumn.

MR. JOHN RUSSELL YOUNG, American Minister at Peking, is said to be collecting material for a History of China.

MR. HAWEIS is preparing a second volume, under the title of "My Musical Life," similar to "Music and Morals."

GRACE GREENWOOD (Mrs. Lippincott), who is now in London, is engaged on a biography of Queen Victoria for the use of American children.

DR. SAMUEL A. GREEN has nearly ready for publication a work on "Groton and the Indian Wars," which will be of special interest to the student of our early history, as well as those attached to the historic old town.

PROF. PAINTER, of Roanoke College, has published an address on "The Modern Languages versus the Ancient Languages," in which the same opinions are expressed as by Charles Francis Adams, Jr., before the Phi Beta Kappa Society at Harvard.

THE Literary World, July 14, publishes a letter from Miss Marie A. Brown, of Stockholm, expressing her intention of presenting to American readers in authorized translations several Swedish novels, collections of tales, and an illustrated Swedish anthology.

PROF. W. D. WHITNEY, who, as previously stated, has undertaken the chief editorship of the American edition of the "Imperial Dictionary," asks help from all interested in the work. Prof. A. S. Bolles will have the oversight of words in commercial and financial usage. Prof. Whitney desires "students of English, and those familiar with the vocabularies of the different sciences and trades, to send us any special criticism, any rare or new word, or new use of an old word, any peculiar phrase or local idiom, any rare citation or any especially appropriate citation illustrating a familiar word which may have attracted their attention, and which they may be willing to permit the editor of the dictionary to use. We especially request that when practicable the words be accompanied by some quotation and the name and page of the book in which it is found."

MR. W. H. H. MURRAY, once pastor of the Park Street Church, Boston, and famous for his Adirondack adventures and "buck-board wagon" enterprise, is about to bring out the first two of six volumes of Adirondack tales. At the same time he is finishing a book on life in Texas, preparing a course of philosophical lectures for the coming season, and getting ready to begin the practice of law. "These occupations," says the N. Y. Tribune, "would seem to be enough and more than enough to keep any man busy, but he does not hesitate to assume them. He believes that no person ever turned out more matter for publication in fifteen years than he did in Boston. For nine years every line he wrote was printed, and for eight years, in order to work systematically, he regulated his sleep by an alarm watch, and only twice failed to heed its warning."

PROF. A. H. KEANE, Prof. of Hindustani in the University College, London, has prepared an elaborate work, "A Classification of the Races of Mankind," which he proposes to issue as soon as a sufficient number of subscribers have been obtained. In this work he plans a discussion of such broad questions as the evolution of man, the antiquity and specific unity of species, the fundamental human type, their evolution and dispersion, the peopling of the continents, the origin of articulate speech, and the morphological orders and families of speech. There will be an alphabetical index, comprising as far as possible all the known races, tribes, and languages of each main division, to which is to be added full references to authorities, thus forming a complete "Ethnological Gazetteer," valuable, no doubt, to those even who may take less interest in the more speculative subjects treated in the other sections of the book.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

MRS. A. D. T. WHITNEY will begin a new serial story, entitled "Buttered Crusts," in the September number of Wide Awake.

The Athenaeum announces a new daily paper to be published in Paris for Englishmen and Americans, to be called The Paris Dispatch.

THE first number of the Homeopathic Leader is published from No. 36 West Twenty-first St., New York City. It is edited by Walter Yeomans Cowl, M.D., "and associates."

THE Boston Herald has issued a special export edition of itself in the Spanish language for circulation throughout the Spanish-speaking countries of the world among merchants who do or may import American goods.

Mastery, the excellent periodical for boys, which is constantly increasing in popularity, offers prizes for free-hand pen-and-ink illustrations of the International Sunday-school Lessons for the quarter ending September 30. The prizes amount to $150.

PUBLISHERS, printers, and booksellers will find much to interest them in the third volume of the (London) Bibliographer, just completed. Among its contents are the continuation of the series of articles on "London Signs of Booksellers and Printers," some "Old Satires on Booksellers and Printers," and a number of other readable papers on subjects relating to printing, etc.

Science has completed its first volume, and it may be proud of what it has accomplished. Any one that would like to have some idea of its work should send for the issue of July 27, and consult the six months' index, a model compilation, which, with painstaking minuteness, guides to such a wealth of information as must fill the heart of the scientist with joyful expectation.

The Journal of the American Medical Association, which will be published weekly at Chicago, will take the place of the annual volume of transactions of this society. It will be the official organ of the Association and will contain all papers read at its meetings. It will have correspondents in all chief cities both here and abroad, and a summary of the progress of medical and allied sciences will form a feature of each issue.

Geyer's American Merchant is the comprehensive title of a new trade paper to be published monthly by Andrew Geyer, at 60 Duane Street, N. Y. The aim of this publication is to offer all trades information of commercial value; to describe novelties in every line of the "mixed stock" which is now so popular; to enable manufacturers to reach retailers without intermediate jobbers; to give reports of legal decisions affecting trade, and to give illustrations of new goods.

THE frontispiece of the Magazine of American History for August is a fine portrait, never before engraved, of the hero of battle and romance, Col. Alexander Scammell, who fell at the siege of Yorktown in 1781. The leading article, "Clayborne the Rebel," is a remarkably entertaining and informing chapter of authentic history, contributed by the distinguished Virginia writer, John Esten Cooke. Among the shorter articles of this excellent number, that on "An Old School-Book" (Lindley Murray's English Reader), by Joel Benton, is of special interest to the book-trade.

BUSINESS NOTES.

CINCINNATI, O.—Geo. D. Newhall & Co. have been succeeded by the Geo. D. Newhall Company, who, with increased capital, intend to enlarge the music business of the old firm. It has purchased already the whole catalogue of F. W. Helmick. The officers of the Geo. D. Newhall Company are Geo. D. Newhall, President; Lucius H. Biglow, of Biglow & Main, New York, Vice-President; William H. Doane, Treasurer.

DENVER, COL.—Cohn Bros., booksellers and stationers, have sold out to E. N. Jenkins.

EUGENE CITY, OREGON.—R. G. Callison & Co., booksellers and stationers, have sold out to Joel McCormick and George Collier, Jr.

MARION, ALA.—A. B. Goodhue, bookseller and stationer, has sold out to J. L. Wyatt.

NEW YORK AND PITTSBURGH.—Taintor Brothers, Merrill & Co., New York, have purchased the following school-books, previously published by H. I. Gourley, of Pittsburgh, viz.: Osgood's American Series of Readers and Spellers, Osgood's Progressive Series of Readers and Spellers, Modern Series of Readers and Spellers, Goff's Series of Arithmetics, Dean's Series of Arithmetics, Hadley's Language Lessons, Lee and Hadley's Grammar, Burt's Grammars. Mr. Gourley, Pittsburgh, will continue to supply the above books together with their other publications, to the trade of Western Pennsylvania as special agent of the publishers.

PORTLAND, OREGON.—C. Hirstel & Co., booksellers and stationers, have sold out.

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH.—Jos. Hyrum Parry, bookseller and stationer, writes us under date of July 14, "I have just come out of a big fire, but will continue business in a few weeks."

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT & Co. have in press "The Jewel in the Lotus," a novel by Mary Agnes Tincker, author of "Signor Monaldini's Niece," "The Fate of Marcel," a romance by Dr. C. Harlan; and a new novel, translated from the German, by Mrs. A. L. Wistar.

THOMAS WHITTAKER announces "Sermons on Future Punishment," by Randolph H. McKim, D.D.; "Notes on the Late Revision of the New Testament," by Daniel R. Goodwin, D.D.; and "Pauline Charity," by Joseph Cross, D.D., being a series of discourses on St. Paul's definition of charity.

MACMILLAN & Co. will publish in September a volume of "Sermons Preached in English Churches," by the Rev. Phillips Brooks, of Boston. Mr. Brooks, who has been in England this summer, has, says the Athenaeum, made a highly favorable impression as a preacher upon all who have heard him.

D. APPLETON & Co. have in preparation a volume entitled "Don't," the object of which is to present a list of improprieties and mistakes in conduct and speech that should be avoided. As a companion volume to "English as She is Spoke," they will issue "English as She is Wrote," which will contain examples of amusing blunders in composition.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. are preparing an edition of the works of the late William H. Seward, to be completed in five octavo volumes.

The first four volumes will be a reprint from the earlier edition, but the fifth, it is promised, will contain "A Diplomatic History of the War," a work entirely new to most readers. Mr. George E. Baker has edited this new edition for the publishers, who expect to have the work ready in a few months.

CHAS. A. BURKHARDT has sent us another of his pretty and practical devices. This time it is his object to aid the memory in the often neglected matters of "correspondence" and "calls." On the plan of his "Elite Engagement Cards," to which we called attention in the WEEKLY of February 24, he has issued, through Geo. B. Hurd & Co., 79 Beekman St., N. Y., "Elite Correspondence Cards" and "Elite Calling Cards," and promises "Elite Monthly Engagement and Correspondence Cards" and the "Elite Engagement and Correspondence Calendar for 1884." These cards are handsomely printed in red and black on tinted cardboard which slips into a frame of russet, plush, or calf that is made to stand on a drawing-room table to serve as a useful ornament for those carrying on an active correspondence or those engaged in a round of social duties.

R. WORTHINGTON has in preparation "Types of Spanish Story; or, The Manners and Customs of old Castile." This book promises to be one of the handsomest gift-books of the year. It will be illustrated with 36 proof etchings on Japanese paper by R. De Los Rios. Among his other announcements may be mentioned a new edition of Dr. Samuels' "Northern and Eastern Birds, with Descriptions of their Eggs and Nests;" a new edition of Lord Bacon's works, by Basil Montagu, in 3 vols., 8vo; a new edition and cheaper one of Jewitt's "Ceramic Art of Great Britain;" also a new edition of the delightful work of Mr. S. C. Hall's, "A Book of Memories of Great Men and Women of the Age." Mr. Worthington has just issued a new catalogue which presents a striking evidence of his enterprise and activity. One of its most prominent features is its wealth of good juveniles, all calculated, with their abundance of illustrations and low prices, to capture the popular taste.

CHAS. SCRIBNER'S SONS announce for publication in September, "Recollections of a Naval Officer," by Captain William H. Parker, who entered the United States navy as a midshipman in 1841, was made a lieutenant in 1855, and resigned his commission in 1861, when he entered the Confederate service. His recollections describe his cruises in the Mediterranean Sea, the coast of Brazil, the West Indies and the Gulf of Mexico, the coast of Africa, and the Pacific Ocean, and his experiences in the civil war. They also promise a new and uniform edition of the works of Donald Mitchell, of special interest because three of the ten volumes which are to compose the new edition will contain matter hitherto uncollected or wholly new—one of the books will be made up of "miscellanies," now carefully revised by the author; two more will bear the title, "English Lands, Letters, and Kings," and will contain short essays on historical and literary subjects. The publication will be begun early in the fall, when "Reveries of a Bachelor," the author's most popular book, will be issued, printed from new plates.

ESTES & LAURIAT have in preparation "History of Rome and of the Roman People, from its Origin to the Establishment of the Christian Empire," by Victor Duruy, translated by M. M. Ripley and W. J. Clarke, edited by Rev. J. P. Mahaffy; a new copyright library edition, in 10 volumes, of Lingard's "History of England," with 10 portraits etched by B. Damman; "The Natural History of Man," founded upon Hellwald's "Naturgeschichte des Menschen," translated and edited by J. S. Kingsley, assisted by Dr. W. H. Dall, Prof. F. W. Putnam, and Stephen Salisbury, Jr.; a second edition, revised to date, of Dr. Elliott Coues' "Key to North American Birds;" an édition de luxe (in 20 volumes), limited to 350 copies, of Carlyle's works, illustrated by India proof impressions of etchings, steel plates, and photogravures; Fred. A. Ober's "Travels in Mexico and Life Among the Mexicans;" a complete edition of George Eliot's essays, reviews, and poems, now first collected, with introductory chapters by Matthew Browne and Mrs. S. B. Herrick; "Ornithology of the World," by Dr. Elliott Coues; and the "Spanish System," in the Meisterschaft System of Practical Linguistry, by Dr. R. S. Rosenthal. Fuller descriptions of the above will be given in our Fall Announcement number.

LEE & SHEPARD already announce numerous works for the fall and holiday season. They will add to the fringed books of which they were the pioneers in the Golden Floral series: Ray Palmer's "My Faith Looks up to Thee," illustrated by Lisbeth B. Comins; Alfred Domett's Christmas hymn, "It was the Calm and Silent Night," with designs by W. L. Taylor; "The Lord is My Shepherd," the 23d Psalm in song and sonnet, by Prof. W. C. Richards and illustrated by several eminent artists; Tennyson's "Come into the Garden, Maud," with designs by Edmund H. Garrett; and they will give this same pretty dress to their already published "Curfew Must not Ring To-Night," with Rosa Hartwick's illustrations; and E. Hamilton Sears' "That Glorious Song of Old." All of these will be engraved and printed under the supervision of George T. Andrew. They also promise a new edition of the Illustrated Ballad series, which comprises "Ballads of Home;" "Ballads of Bravery;" "Ballads of Beauty;" and "Gems of Genius," all profusely illustrated and gotten up in decidedly novel, rich full-gilt bindings. They will also have ready some works of fiction and several juveniles by favorite authors: viz., "Phil and His Friends," by J. T. Trowbridge; and also his "The Tinkham Brothers' Tide Mill," which has proved so interesting to the readers of St. Nicholas; "Snug Harbor," by Oliver Optic; "Fore and Aft," a story of actual sea life by Dr. Robert B. Dixon; "Our Boys in China," by Harry W. French, which relates the adventures of two young Americans, shipwrecked on the coast of China; and "The Bear-Worshippers of Yezo," by Edmund Greey, author of "Young Americans in Japan." The two latter are to be in boards as well as in cloth bindings. The author of "That Husband of Mine" promises a novel to be called "His Triumph;" Miss A. W. Douglas will have a story entitled "Santa Claus Land;" and in the midst of all this holiday matter, we find the announcement of a "Handbook of the Earth; or, Natural Methods in Geography," by Louisa Parsons Hopkins, an author well fitted for her work.

A HISTORY of Southampton, edited by the Rev. J. Silvester Davies, F.S.A., is to be published in September by Gilbert & Co., of Southampton.

PHILIP SMITH's long-promised "Manual of Ecclesiastical History down to the Reformation" is nearly ready. It fills two volumes, and belongs to Murray's series of Student's Manuals.

MR. WILLIAM ARCHER, the author of several popular books upon English drama and dramatists, has written a "Life of Henry Irving, Actor and Manager: a Critical Study." It will be published by Fields & Tuer.

SAMPSON LOW & Co. will very shortly issue a new edition of Mr. J. E. H. Gordon's "Physical Treatise on Electricity and Magnetism," which has been out of print for some months. It has been considerably enlarged and has been partially rewritten.

MACMILLAN & Co. will publish in the fall a volume on "Egypt and the Egyptian Question," by MacKenzie Wallace. They have also in preparation a translation of Dr. Moritz Busch's forthcoming work on Prince Bismarck in his relations to German politics and political parties, and in private life.

THE late Prof. Palmer's "Concise Dictionary," together with a simplified grammar of the Persian language, English-Persian part, edited, from the manuscript left imperfect at Prof. Palmer's death, by Guy Le Strange, will probably be ready for publication in October. The publishers will be Messrs. Trübner & Co.

W. H. ALLEN & Co., London, have in press a Memoir of Lieut.-Gen. Sir Frederick Roberts, by Mr. Charles Rathbone Low, who recently brought out a new edition of his "Life of Lord Wolseley." Admirers of these two representative officers will then be able to compare their careers, characters, and military methods.

EDWIN ARNOLD has finished another Indian poem, which Messrs. Trübner will probably publish in October. It will contain five idyls from the Sanscrit of the Mahabharata—"Savitri, or Love and Death," "Nala and Damayanti," "The Enchanted Lake," "The Saints' Temptation," and "The Birth of Death."

MR. J. S. HODSON, F.R.L.S., has in press "An Historical and Practical Guide to Art Illustration in Connection with Illustrated Books, Periodicals," etc. The work will be illustrated with specimens of the various methods of mechanical, chemical, and photographic engraving. Mr. Hodson, it may be remembered, delivered a lecture on Pictorial Illustrations to Literature, last January before the Royal Society of Literature, and re-delivered it, upon special request, at the Hall of the Stationers Company in April last.

"It is well known," says the Athenæum, "that Leipzig has been for a long time the centre of the publishing trade in Germany; but Berlin promises to surpass it in this respect. In the year 1881 more books were published in the imperial capital than in Leipzig, the respective numbers being 2464 and 2432. In 1882 Leipzig took the lead again, issuing 2628 volumes against 2245 of Berlin. In the departments of jurisprudence and politics the latter city published many more works. As to the change in orthography, the omission of the letter h when not pronounced, this innovation promises to become universal, however awkward it appears to those who have been accustomed to the old orthography."

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

Science Gossip will hereafter be published by Chatto & Windus.

AN English daily newspaper has appeared in Paris, called the Morning News. It is designed especially for the American colony.

Appleton's Literary Bulletin, in its last two issues, made some good points in discussing the question of "Authors and Publishers."

THE August number of the National Review contains an article on "The Scientific Novel and Gustave Flaubert," by Hugh E. Egerton.

The Journal of the Military Service Institute of the United States, now in its fourth volume, will hereafter be published by G. P. Putnam's Sons. The first issue under the new arrangement will appear early in September.

DR. DEEMS has assumed the editorship of a newly projected monthly, called Christian Thought, the initial number of which has just been published. It is the organ of the American Institute of Christian Philosophy.

A NEW review soon to appear in Paris, is La Revue du Monde Latin. It will have five editions printed, in Italian, French, Spanish, Portuguese, and Rutenic. Its aim is declared to be to prepare for the eventual union of the Latin countries.

United States Stationer, Printer, and Fancy Goods Reporter is the self-explanatory title of a weekly journal, the first issue of which is dated August 2. It is published by W. E. Nickerson, 141 8th Street, New York, and edited by P. Cunnam. Though rather unhandy in size for ready reference (15½x11½ inches) it is handsomely gotten up and promises well. Subscription, $1 per year.

"WILL New York be the Final World Metropolis?" is a question W. C. Conant will ask in the September Century and answer in the affirmative with a curious array of facts and arguments. He predicts that before another century passes New York's population "will surpass that of London, and that it will be the unrivalled centre of finance and commerce, of luxury and fashion, of art and literature—the heart and brain, in a word, of the civilized world." In the same number will appear another of Elbridge Kingsley's engravings, made directly on the wood without previous drawing.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

MR. PAUL D. CARPENTER is writing a biography of his father, the late Senator Matt Carpenter.

MR. EDWARD KING is said to be engaged upon a new story, entitled "Damiano," the scene of which is laid alternately in Europe and in Florida.

MR. DOBSON is engaged in preparing a volume of "Selections from Steele," by the request of the Delegates of the Clarendon Press, besides preparing for the Golden Treasury series a selection from Horace Walpole's letters.

MR. JOHN H. HICKCOX, formerly of Albany, N. Y., but for many years last past residing in Washington, has in preparation a work on "The Authors and Newspapers of Albany" from the introduction of printing to a recent date.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

A. D. F. RANDOLPH & Co. will issue shortly "Among the Mongols on Missions," and "Eastern Women on Missions."

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS will publish this fall "The History of the Discovery of America to the Year 1525," by Arthur James Weise.

THOMAS WHITTAKER has nearly ready an illustrated hand-book entitled "English Cathedrals: Their Architecture, Symbolism and History," compiled by Miss E. W. Boyd, of Albany.

DODD, MEAD & Co. have in preparation "Travels in the Soudan Country," by F. L. James, a narrative of the experiences of three journeys to the Soudan. The volume will contain forty original full-page engravings on wood.

R. WORTHINGTON has on his new catalogue, now ready for the trade, over two hundred new books and new editions. It is Mr. Worthington's ambition to do the largest publishing and importing business this fall that he has ever done.

JOHN ALLYN will publish at once "The Prometheus of Aeschylus," edited by Prof. R. H. Mather, of Amherst College, and Homer's "Iliad," Books 1-6, edited by Robert S. Keep, Ph.D., of Williston Seminary, Easthampton, Mass.

PHILLIPS & HUNT have in press a "Preparatory Latin Course in English," by William C. Wilkinson, the author of a "Preparatory Greek Course in English," also "Stories in English History by the Great Historians," edited by C. E. Bishop.

JOHN R. ANDERSON & H. S. ALLEN have in preparation "The Girlhood and Womanhood of Queen Victoria," by Grace Greenwood. This volume, which is fully illustrated, forms the first of a series to be entitled Girlhood and Womanhood Series of Exemplary Women.

E. P. DUTTON & Co. will publish early in September a new volume of sermons by the Rev. Phillips Brooks, entitled, "Sermons Preached in English Churches." They have also under way "The Life and Achievements of Edward Henry Palmer," by Walter Besant.

HARPER & BROS. have already printed five large illustrated editions of "Yolande" in their Franklin Square Library, besides adding it to their complete library edition of Black's novels. Mrs. Oliphant's long-expected sketch of Sheridan will soon be issued by them in the English Men of Letters Series.

ROBERTS BROTHERS have in preparation for their Handy-Book series a volume entitled "Anti-Tobacco," by Abiel Abbott Livermore. Two lectures, the one by the Rev. R. L. Carpenter, of Bridgeport, England, the other by Dr. G. F. Wither, of the Wisconsin Board of Health, have also been added to the volume.

T. B. PETERSON BROS. announce as in press, "Guy's Marriage; or, The Shadow of a Sin," by Henry Greville; "Mora's Idols," by Miss M. C. Keller, of Louisiana; "The Wife of Monte Cristo," being a continuation of Alexander Dumas' "The Count of Monte Cristo;" "The Son of Monte Cristo," being the sequel to "The Wife of Monte Cristo;" and "The Confessions of an Abbé," by Louis Ulbach. Messrs. Peterson desire us to call the attention of the trade to the fact that they will not contribute to the Trade Sale, but will offer to buyers extra discounts and time on all purchases made now. They will send these special rates on application.

THE AMERICAN CATHOLIC PUBLISHERS' ASSOCIATION, we are sorry to learn, has disbanded. One of its most loyal members writes us, "The Association had done much in one year to elevate and give character to the business of publishing Catholic books, but the bad faith shown by about two members [the old, old story!] so disgusted the others, that they concluded to disband and let the 'Devil take the hindmost.' Consequently we may say that Catholic books have no more a standard of value in the trade, and when a purchaser presents himself, it is not the question, what is your price for this book? but what can you get for it? the result of fictitious 'long' prices on our catalogues."

BOOKS WANTED.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," subscribers are entitled to a free insertion of free lines, exclusive of address, in each issue. Repeated matter, however, must be charged for at the rate of 10 cents per line.

THE MACLISE PORTRAIT GALLERY OF "ILLUSTRIOUS LITERARY CHARACTERS."

With Memoirs, Biographical, Critical, Bibliographical, and Anecdotal, Illustrative of the Literature of the Former Half of the Present Century. By William Bates, B.A. Crown 8vo, with eighty-five portraits, cloth, $3.

"A most entertaining work to all lovers of literature, with reproductions of the entire series of Portraits which have become historical."

THE PARADOX OF ACTING.

Translated, with Annotations, from Diderot's "Paradoxe sur le Comédien." By Walter Herries Pollock. With a Preface by Henry Irving. 12mo, elegantly printed upon Van Gelder hand-made paper, bound in limp parchment, uncut, rough edges, $1.25.

"This very pretty little book has three different and almost independent attractions—leaving its print, paper, and wrapper out of the question—that of Mr. Pollock's excellent translation and annotations, which may be said to belong to the department of scholarship; that of Mr. Irving's preface, the interest of which is chiefly personal; and that of the intrinsic merit of the original 'Paradoxe' as a contribution to French literature and to the aesthetics of the drama."—Saturday Review.

[ESTABLISHED 1835]

F. LEYPOLDT, EDITOR AND PUBLISHER, 31 AND 32 PARK ROW, NEW YORK.

VOL. XXIV., No. 8. NEW YORK, August 25, 1883. WHOLE No. 605.

D. APPLETON & CO.'S RECENT BOOKS.

RETROSPECT OF A LONG LIFE. From 1815 to 1883. By S. C. HALL, F.S.A. With portraits of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Hall. Crown 8vo, 612 pages, cloth, $3.50.

Mr. Hall is well known as the editor, for many years, of the London "Art Journal," as author of "The Stately Homes of England," and numerous books prepared in conjunction with his wife, Mrs. S. C. Hall. Mr. Hall was at one time a parliamentary reporter; he succeeded Campbell as editor of "The New Monthly Magazine," and was editorially associated with other periodicals. During his long connection with letters he met many men of note; in fact he has something to say in this book of almost every person who has occupied public attention during the past sixty years.

THE POETICAL WORKS OF WILLIAM CULLEN BRYANT. Edited by PARKE GODWIN. With copious notes. In two vols., square 8vo, uniform with the "Biography." Cloth, gilt top, $6.

This is a wholly new and exhaustive edition of Bryant's Poetical Works, printed with unusual elegance, containing sixty or more poems never before collected.

HISTORY OF THE PEOPLE OF THE UNITED STATES. FROM THE REVOLUTION TO THE CIVIL WAR. By JOHN BACH MCMMASTER. Volume I., 8vo, cloth, gilt top, $2.50.

McMaster's "History of the People of the United States" has been received with enthusiasm by the press, by scholars, and by the public. Its publication has been recognized as a literary event of no small moment, many admirers of its graphic pages declaring that it is the most noteworthy book published for fifty years.

ANIMAL INTELLIGENCE. By GEORGE J. ROMANES, F.R.S. "International Scientific Series." 12mo, cloth, $1.75.

"I have thought it desirable that there should be something resembling a text-book of the facts of Comparative Psychology, to which men of science, and also metaphysicians, may turn whenever they have occasion to acquaint themselves with the particular level of intelligence to which this or that species of animal attains. Hitherto the endeavor of assigning these levels has been almost exclusively in the hands of popular writers; and as these have, for the most part, merely strung together, with discrimination more or less inadequate, innumerable anecdotes of the display of animal intelligence, their books are valueless as books of reference. . . ." From Preface.

LANDMARKS OF ENGLISH LITERATURE. By HENRY J. NICOLL. 12mo, vellum cloth, $1.75.

"We can warmly recommend this excellent manual."—St. James's Gazette.

THE SCIENCE OF POLITICS. By SHELDON AMOS, M.A., author of "The Science of Law," etc. "International Scientific Series." 12mo, cloth, $1.75.

A TREATISE ON INSANITY, IN ITS MEDICAL RELATIONS. By WILLIAM A. HAMMOND, M.D., author of "A Treatise on the Diseases of the Nervous System," etc. One vol., 8vo, 767 pages, cloth, $5; sheep, $6.

In this work the author has not only considered the subject of Insanity, but has prefixed that division of his work with a general view of the mind and the several categories of mental faculties, and a full account of the various causes that exercise an influence over mental derangement, such as habit, age, sex, hereditary tendency, constitution, temperament, instinct, sleep, dreams, and many other factors. To a great extent the work relates to those species of mental derangement which are not seen within asylum walls, and which, therefore, are of special importance to the non-asylum physician. Moreover, it points out the symptoms of Insanity in its first stages, during which there is most hope of successful medical treatment, and before the idea of an asylum has occurred to the patient's friends.

MAN BEFORE METALS. By N. JOLY, Professor at the Science Faculty of Toulouse. With 148 illustrations. "International Scientific Series." 12mo, cloth, $1.75.

CONTENTS—PART I. THE ANTIQUITY OF THE HUMAN RACE: I. The Prehistoric Ages; II. The Work of Boucher de Perthes; III. The Bone Caves; IV. The Peat Mosses and the Kitchen Middens; V. The Lake Dwellings and the Neolithic; VI. Burial-Places; VII. Prehistoric Man in America; VIII. Man of the Tertiary Epoch; IX. The Great Antiquity of Man. PART II. PRIMITIVE CIVILIZATION: I. Domestic Life; II. Industry; III. Agriculture; IV. Navigation and Commerce; V. The Fine Arts; VI. Language and Writing; VII. Religion; VIII. The Portrait of Quaternary Man.

GLOSSARY OF TERMS AND PHRASES. Edited by the Rev. H. PERCY SMITH, M.A., of Balliol College, Oxford. 8vo, cloth, $3.

The object of the work is to bring together such words, expressions, quotations, etc., English or other, as are among the more uncommon in current literature, and require, not for the scientific, but for the ordinary reader, explanations, for the want of which the meaning of a sentence or a paragraph, even the drift of an argument, is often missed; explanation, moreover, not to be obtained without reference to and perhaps tedious search among a large and varied number of books, many of them not easily accessible.

NOTES IN SEASON.

DE WOLFE, FISKE & Co. will publish early in September W. H. Thomes' new book, "The Belle of Australia."

T. B. PETERSON & BROS. have in press Henry Gréville's latest novel "Guy's Marriage; or, the Shadow of a Sin," translated by Mary Neal Sherwood.

MACMILLAN & Co. call the attention of the trade to the fact that they have reduced the price of W. S. Jevons' "Elementary Lessons in Logic" to forty cents. A new edition is just ready.

CHARLES H. ADAMS, Claremont, N. H., has now ready, "The Poets of New Hampshire," a collection of specimen poems of nearly three hundred poets of the Granite State, with biographical notes, compiled by Bela Chapin.

ULBRICH & KINGSLEY, Buffalo, N. Y., announce that they have made arrangements by which they are prepared to fill all orders for "Webb's Word Method," lately published in Michigan, in connection with the late Martin Taylor's publications now controlled by them.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT & Co. announce that the third volume of Agnew's "Surgery," which brings this great work to a close, will be ready on September 1st. They have nearly ready "How to Write English," a practical treatise on English composition, by A. Arthur Reade, author of "Study and Stimulants;" and announce as in press, "Roller Bandaging," by W. B. Hopkins.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS, have just published "The Great Northwest: a Guide-book and Itinerary," by Henry J. Winser, which has been prepared with exceptional facilities and will no doubt become the standard guide for tourists. The introduction contains a summary account of the building of the Northern Pacific Railroad. The information in the successive chapters on the States, Territories, and places through which the road passes is direct and practical, and made reliable by literary extracts as well as by anecdotes. The volume also contains a number of illustrations from photographs and a railroad map.

GINN, HEATH & Co. have just ready "The Independent Music Reader," by Luther W. Mason, which is designed to furnish supplementary exercises and songs for the upper classes in grammar schools, academies, etc.; also a new revised and greatly improved edition of the "Fourth Music Reader." They have in preparation a series of short manuals covering the main subjects studied in our schools and colleges, which they will issue under the general title of Educational Manuals. The first issues of the series will be those upon arithmetic, algebra, and geometry. They have in press Pres. Seelye's Baccalaureate sermon on "Obedience."

PORTER & COATES have just ready Thomas' "Comprehensive Biographical Dictionary," announced some time ago. It is a handsome 12mo, and retails at $2.50. They have also now ready "Don Gordon's Shooting Box," the first volume of the Rod and Gun series by Harry Castlemon. They have in active preparation, "The Poetry of other Lands," a collection of translations into English verse of the poetry of other languages, ancient and modern, compiled by N. Clemmons Hunt. It will contain translations from the the Greek, Latin, Persian, Turkish, Arabian, Russian, Japanese, Servian, Bohemian, Polish, Swedish, Dutch, German, Italian, French, Spanish, and Portuguese languages.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

BLANCHARD JERROLD is writing a life of Gustave Doré.

"OUIDA" denies that she is in delicate health, and characterizes as absurd the assertion that she is "prejudiced" against America or Americans.

- Gilchrist, Mrs. Anne. Mary Lamb. Bost., Roberts Bros., 1883. 12+336 p. S. (Famous women ser.) cl., $1.
The story of Mary Lamb cannot well be separated from that of her brother Charles. It is from the letters and writings of the latter that Mrs. Gilchrist has obtained her principal details. The devotion and self-sacrifice of this unhappy but gifted couple, with the tragedy of their lives, has often been told. Still it has all the attractions of a new story through Mrs. Gilchrist's sympathetic, tender style. Famous as poor Mary Lamb is for her sad story, Mrs. Gilchrist aims to show she would have been equally famous in literature if her reason and health had been spared. The extracts she gives from her now forgotten stories, and the history of the various editions the "Tales from Shakespeare" have gone through, serve to prove this. The only new material Mrs. Gilchrist has unearthed is a letter or two, and an essay on "Needlework," contributed by Mary Lamb to the British Lady's Magazine.
- Gill, J. Beadnell, M. D. Indigestion, what it is, what it leads to, and a new method of treating it. 3d ed. Phil., P. Blakiston, Son & Co., 1883. S. cl., $1.25.

OUR BOOKS ABROAD.

THE Academy of July 21 opens its review of Miss Woolson's "Anne" as follows: "We venture to say that 'Anne' is one of the most remarkable works of fiction that has appeared for many years. It is remarkable for its own sake—for animation of plot and variety of character; and it is remarkable also as holding a place midway between the old American novel of incident and the modern novel of analysis."

ROBERT BROWN, in the Academy, July 28, closes his genial review of Mark Twain's "Life on the Mississippi" as follows: "The book is indeed the best account of social life on the Mississippi with which we are acquainted. But it possesses an additional merit which possibly the author may disclaim—it embodies a clear and, take it all in all, very accurate account of the physical features of the river, its shiftings and general vagaries. The illustrations are rough, but graphic; and the book is altogether so good that we regret to see that the ardor which is lavished in scarlet and gold is unequal to the production of an index."

A WRITER in a late number of the Saturday Review, in a notice of Mr. Douglas's charming new edition of Frank R. Stockton's "Rudder Grange Stories," bestows upon the author some hearty and enthusiastic praise. He writes appreciatively of the fine and delicate quality of Mr. Stockton's humor, and his manner, he thinks, contrasts favorably with "the 'analysis' business; the beating out of character (and pretty thin character at that, to borrow an American expression) with an affectation of profound knowledge of it all from the inside to the exclusion of free and pleasant observation of incident and character from the outside," and he congratulates Mr. Stockton in that he has had the good taste to steer clear of all "pretence at subtlety."

THE Athenaeum says of Mr. W. J. Linton's "Rare Poems of the Sixteenth and Seventeenth Centuries," reprinted in England by Kegan Paul, Trench & Co., had the selection been made without taste or judgment, the book would still have been of considerable interest, for Mr. Linton's artistic skill has seldom appeared to better advantage than in the exquisite frontispiece to that volume (that is, the "Golden Apples of Hesperus," from which the "Rare Poems" are mostly taken), and the dainty headings and tail-pieces that adorn so many of the pages. But the editor's taste in poetry is as true as his touch in wood-engraving. Five and forty years ago, in the pages of the National, he tried to make Shelley popular and was quick to appreciate the genius of Mr. Tennyson.

MR. ERNEST RADFORD, who contributes to a late number of the London Academy a decidedly eulogistic review of Mr. W. J. Linton's recent book, "The History of American Wood-engraving," takes occasion to deride the so-called "new school" of American engraving. "The Americans," he writes, "till lately had nothing but praise. The Saturday Review was allowed to give to the world a foolish, exaggerated estimate of the work which was forward." After wasting some invective against those who believe in the American engraver's methods, he continues: "It was time that some competent man should come forward to tell us with authority what precisely was new and true in this much-talked-of revival. Certainly no one was better qualified than Mr. Linton," "an opinion in which," says the N. Y. Times, "competent authorities who are familiar with Mr. Linton's narrow and prejudiced manner of criticising the work of his American contemporaries will hardly concur."

LIBRARIANS IN COUNCIL.*

From the New York Evening Post, August 17, 18.

MR. J. L. WHITNEY's paper, "A Modern Proteus," discussed a subject in which the reading public are as much interested as the librarians themselves: the custom, growing in extent, of republishing old books under new titles, with the view of securing a new lease of life and of profit to the publisher. The paper was full of interest and was well received.

A MODERN PROTEUS [CHANGING OF TITLES].

"Proteus, the story goes, could assume many shapes to escape the interviewer. His many sons and daughters, no doubt, inherited his propensities and passed them on to succeeding generations. When members of the family first came to America is not clearly ascertained—perhaps with the great navigator, to whom they may have granted to be now Colombo, and again Colon or Columbus, and to be buried at the same time in two different places, for a perplexity to the archaeologist. However that may be, here they have been found in increasing numbers ever since, assuming forms corporeal and incorporeal, as multifarious and elusive as their great original.

"Those of us who spend our days in the pursuit of pseudonyms come at last to feel that everything is but a shadow—that nothing comes in single shape, and nothing is what it appears upon the surface.

"Of pseudonyms, however, although Proteus may well have been the father of the race, it is not my intention here to speak. If they come as shadows, they may to-day, at least, so depart. Strange to say, the foes which baffle the librarian are often of his own household and among his closest friends, even the books intrusted to his charge. And this is the modern Proteus to whom I invite your attention. Let us all join hands and form a ring and see if he escape us this time.

"I remember reading some time ago in the Evening Post of New York, a letter from Mr. Brentano, the bookseller, in which he complained of the annoyance and loss to which he and others had been subjected, by publishers giving to a book more than one title. I had already detected such cases, and since that time have watched somewhat closely for them. It may be worth the while to give here a few examples that they may serve to put librarians, and especially those forming new libraries, on their guard, and may perhaps induce publishers to give a more careful attention to the subject.

"Although Mr. Brentano calls this practice a 'modern fraud' of the publisher, and others have denounced it equally unsparingly, it is to be borne in mind that these double publications often occur through thoughtlessness rather than from any cunningly devised scheme of wrong. Cases are frequent, indeed, which would seem to all intents and purposes to be fraud, as where a publisher, obtaining the stereotype plates of a book which has had its day, removes the certificate of copyright, and making other changes to conceal the identity, gives it a new title and a new lease of life. Often, however, it would seem to be the result of inadvertence, the publisher, for instance, not realizing that when he gives to a book a title to his mind more agreeable or appropriate than the original one any harm can come of it. With the best of motives, however, he may well consider whether the gain resultant can compensate for the loss and confusion which are likely to arise. If it be added that changes in the titles of books are rarely improvements, the argument is still stronger against them. This title, it may be said, has in many cases been adopted by the author himself, perhaps because it is a key to the character of the book, or may point its moral, or be suggested by some of its incidents. For good and sufficient reasons he has chosen it, and why should it be changed without cause?

"For like reasons, in translations of foreign books, the title should reproduce the original one as closely as possible. This is often not the case, and the title is generally weakened by the change. Apart from the question of truthfulness, what gain, for example, can there be in rendering Victor Hugo's 'L'homme qui rit' as 'By Order of the King'? Or, take the case of Du Boisgobey's 'La Main Coupee,' that is, 'The Severed Hand'—so called from a sensational incident at the opening of the story—why make the title read 'The Lost Casket'? By such changes the reader is often hopelessly confused as to what an author may or may not have written. To connect, for example, some of the American translations of Dumas from their titles, and, for that matter, from anything to be found in the text, with their originals, is a difficult, not to say an impossible, undertaking. Sometimes a change of title seems to be unavoidable. George MacDonald, having given to a book of miscellaneous matter the title 'Orts,' after it had been printed, and too late for a change, was horrified to find in the dictionary that one meaning of the word is 'worthless leavings or refuse.' Here one could hardly blame the American publisher for choosing another title, or even the publisher of Charles Dudley Warner's 'Mummies and Moslems,' the title of which, apparently being found gloomy and forbidding, gave place in a second edition to one less abrupt and startling. The author or the publisher occasionally frankly announces in the preface, as did H. A. Page (Alexander H. Japp, that is) of his 'Vers de Soci  t  ,' that the present issue is a new edition of a book already published under another name, and some reason is given for the change, as in this case, that the new title is 'more distinctive.'

"New titles are often mere rearrangements of old ones, as in J. Drew Gay's 'From Pall Mall to the Punjaub; or, With the Prince in India,' which when reprinted read 'The Prince of Wales in India; or, From Pall Mall to the Punjaub.' Here the identity of the two would at once be detected but for the fact that the first half of a title is all that is usually found in publishers' announcements and in catalogues. When the original title is repeated as a part of the new one (a device, it is said, to protect the copyright), it is often so concealed that its detection is difficult. In John Habberton's 'Just One Day,' which became with a change of publisher, 'Mrs. Mayburn's Twins; with her Trials in the Morning, Afternoon, and Evening of Just One Day,' or in Mrs. Fetherstonhaugh's story, 'Kilcorran,' which is enlarged to 'Lil, Fair, Fair, with Golden Hair; or, Kilcorran'—it is too much to ask of the librarian to know at sight that they are the same. His time is too valuable to be wasted on such small game. Besides he cannot allow himself to look with suspicion upon the title of every new book, or sink the office of librarian in that of a detective. He must take the advertisements of publishers at their face value, and regard them as what they claim to be—the announcements of "new books," and not of mere réchauffés.

"Changes of title are at times so transparent as to deceive no one, as in the case of Dr. Nichols's 'From Whence, What, Where?' which became in a later edition less mysterious as 'Whence, What, Where? A View of the Origin, Nature and Destiny of Man,' and Aldrich's 'Story of a Bad Boy,' which the English publisher's announcement softened by adding 'not a VERY bad boy.'

"In all these cases, innocent or otherwise, with the exception of the last mentioned, and in others which might be added, the publisher and the author are the only ones to reap pecuniary gain. To the reader, the bookseller, and the librarian there is often a loss of money as well as of temper. The reader, as Mr. Brentano says, returns his book as already read under another title to the bookseller, who, conscious that his customer looks upon him as stupid or a cheat, adds it to his stock, already, it may be, superfluous from his double purchase. The library and its patrons are the greatest sufferers, it being impossible to sell a book without loss after it has once been labelled and sent out; so it is necessary to go without some needed book which might otherwise have been purchased. In large public libraries and in circulating libraries, so called, which buy several copies of a new book, the loss is sometimes no slight one.

"I ask your attention while I mention some of the books, for the most part of recent issue, which, although under two or more titles, are believed to be wholly or essentially the same."

(Mr. Whitney here read a selection from some 350 titles of such books.)

These titles, gathered as chance has brought them, might be indefinitely increased. Enough has been given to serve to call attention to a practice which is believed to be disastrous to good morals and to good letters.

In commenting upon this paper, Judge Chamberlain said that authors sometimes found great difficulty in finding appropriate names for their books. In fact, they were not always allowed to name the creation of their heart and mind.

The book was often named by the publisher. Judge Chamberlain mentioned an instance which came under his own personal knowledge. In reading Lowell's "The Cathedral," he could find no appropriate reason for the name. He had written to the author to learn why the name had been chosen. In reply he received a note saying that his original title had been "A Day at Chartres," but his publisher insisted upon the change.

Several plans were suggested to remedy the evil spoken of in Mr. Whitney's paper. It was proposed to draft a resolution of censure directed toward the publishers who were guilty of issuing books under more than one title. It was also thought best to make a black list of those publishers who have heretofore offended in that particular, the list in connection with the resolution to be printed and a copy sent to each of the publishers. It was further suggested that the publishers be requested in giving the title of a translated book to also give the title in the original language. The list of books which have one or more titles will be made as complete as possible and published, additions to be made from time to time.

On motion it was decided to appoint a committee to draft a resolution of censure as above. The President appointed Messrs. Whitney and Soule, of Boston, and Linderfelt, of Milwaukee, as such committee.

INDEX TO LITERATURE.

An informal discussion of suggestions toward the project of a co-operative general index to the standard English literature of criticism, biography, history, and social science, was opened by Mr. Poole, of Chicago. That gentleman made a short address setting forth his views on the subject. There was no book of the kind in the world, he said. The question might be asked, How can one person do the work? One person could not do the work, said Mr. Poole, but he could do his share. The work must be a work of co-operation. He was of opinion that the members of the American Library Association were capable of carrying the work on. They need not go into any expense on the score of publishing. They would want a man at the head, and the speaker saw before him men young enough and able enough to take the work in charge.

The discussion was continued by Mr. J. Edmands, librarian of the Philadelphia Mercantile Library; Mr. M. Chamberlain, librarian of the Boston Public Library; Mr. W. J. Fletcher, of the Watkinson Library of Hartford, and others.

Mr. Edmands finally moved that the preparation of an index to general literature be committed to a special committee, and that they be requested to present during the course of meetings of the association a general plan for doing the work. Upon being put to a vote the resolution was carried unanimously. The President appointed as such committee Mr. Poole, of Chicago; Mr. Edmands, of Philadelphia; Dr. Billings, of Washington; Mr. Fletcher, of Hartford; and Mr. Dewey, of New York.

Mr. Poole also read a paper on "Plans for Supplements to the Index to Periodical Literature," which showed that thirty-five co-operators had undertaken to do the work on a supplement covering the years 1882-3; a book that would not be offered to the trade, but be sold only to subscribers.

The Committee on the Monthly Supplements to Poole's Index made a favorable report advocating the immediate prosecution of the work. The report was adopted and recommitted to the committee, with power to carry out the purpose.

The Poole Index Committee reported resolutions complimentary to the author, which were adopted.

LIBRARIES IN WASHINGTON.

The remarks of Dr. Billings concerning the Government libraries at Washington will interest the general public. As already stated, Mr. Flint, librarian of the Patent Office, was unable to be present or to send a paper on the subject assigned to him.

Dr. Billings said: In Washington the libraries were divided into three classes. First, the Library of Congress, or, more properly, the National Library; second, the departmental libraries, and third, the libraries of the bureaus. The libraries of the departments were in part technical. But the larger portion were of fiction and works of that class, used for circulation among the clerks and their families employed in the departments. The libraries of the bureaus were for the most part of a technical nature.

The library of the Department of State had for the last five years been greatly improved, especially in the direction of international law.

The library of the War Department was a moderately fair collection of works pertaining to military matters.

For the library of the Signal Service, composed mostly of works on meteorology, an index was preparing.

The library of the Geological Survey was increasing rapidly by exchanges and purchases. The collection was very valuable.

The library of the Surgeon-General's office was composed of medical works, and that of the Patent Office of works on physics and chemistry.

A powerful stimulus to the growth of these special libraries was to leave them as they now are. Each should be allowed to develop itself in its own way. To scientific workers in the National Museum it was important that they should have the libraries immediately accessible. Continuing, Doctor Billings said that what he would say was especially applicable to the medical library, as that was the one with which he was most familiar. He thought, however, that his remarks would apply equally well to the other libraries. He compared the medical library belonging to the Government with the medical libraries of France and Great Britain, and concluded that the library of the United States contained more medical literature, covered a wider field, and was more representative than either of the others. Why was it that this library, practically but eighteen years old and which never had enough money in any one year to buy one-third of the medical works printed in that time, was better than the old libraries of England and France, which had been established for three hundred years or more? It was because it had never been merged into the National Library. It had the support of the physicians. It seemed to Doctor Billings that it was better to let these special libraries go on as they were and develop in their own way, without being merged into the National Library, but at the same time they should be considered a part of that library. He did not think that to any extent books were duplicated in the different libraries.

The committee to whom was referred the matter of the National Library at Washington reported in favor of the immediate erection of the library building and a fire-proof building for the library and museum of the Surgeon-General. They also recommended the preparation of a memorial to Congress on the subject. Adopted unanimously.

THE READING OF THE YOUNG.

The paper, by Miss Mary A. Bean, of the Brookline (Mass.) Public Library, was a report on the interesting subject of "The Reading of the Young." It consisted mainly of a compilation from reports from libraries all over the country, concerning their efforts and success in influencing the young in the selection of books to be read by them; it was an admirable résumé of many capital and sensible reflections and suggestions, and these not from the larger libraries, whose reports were presented last year, but from many institutions of less note. The plan adopted by Mr. Poole, of Chicago, will serve to illustrate the work as carried on in one of the leading libraries of the country, and as a guide to those in charge of libraries everywhere, how to secure the co-operation of teachers. An appointment is made with a teacher to bring his class to the library on a Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. A subject for the day is selected, usually one which the class has been studying from text-books. The standard books and illustrated works in the library on that subject are laid out on the table in the Director's room, the teacher supervising the selection and preparing himself to speak upon it, and especially with reference to the books before him, indicating such as are of the best authority, and describing the best method of using them. A preliminary talk is made by the librarian, who welcomes the pupils, explains the purpose for which they were invited, which is that they may become better acquainted with the library, its resources, and the best way of using it. All these facilities of study are theirs, and they are invited to make the freest use of them. Hints and suggestions are given how they can best acquire the habits of investigating subjects for themselves. The subject of the day is taken up and followed out as an illustration of the method by which a subject may be investigated, the purpose being to stimulate the pupils to a scholarly love of books, to know the tools they are to use and how to use them. The teacher then makes his address, after which the pupils remain and examine the books. They are later taken through the library and shown its arrangement, appliances, and catalogues.

"The results are already seen in the many pupils who frequent the reference tables and have applied for cards for drawing books.

"The success which has attended this experiment has been chiefly owing to the zeal and culture which the teachers have thrown into it. Their addresses to the pupils have been models of good taste and felicitous instruction. If repeated to a general audience they would be a healthy substitute for the superficial talk which passes in our day for popular lectures."

In concluding her paper, Miss Bean said: "If I read these returns aright, we are all agreed that children read too much, and that it is largely the fault of their elders. We are agreed that greater care ought to be exercised in the selection and purchase of books for their use, and the utmost pains taken in the guidance of their choice of reading matter. We are agreed that better books are being written for young people, and that our crusade shall be carried on by wisely substituting these for the sensational variety. We are agreed that a happy combination of school and library influence may do much to rectify the baleful tendency of aimless reading by teaching children what and how to read; that children themselves are susceptible to good advice in matters of reading, and may be easily influenced by persons whom they love and respect, be they parents, teachers, or librarians; that parents awaken but slowly to the weight of responsibility which rests with them in this matter, and this missing element of parental influence is the one sad lack of the cause we plead; that teachers, as a rule, have not yet developed the enthusiasm necessary for effectual work with their pupils in this direction, although the exceptional cases above quoted give rare promise of what may be done; that librarians must therefore continue to carry the war into the enemy's camp, and by their very intrepidity enlist parents and teachers to their standard until the day is won."

FICTION IN LIBRARIES.

Mr. Mellen Chamberlain, Librarian of the Boston Public Library, then made a verbal report on fiction in public libraries. He proceeded to discuss the question of fiction in public libraries generally. The deductions made from his experience of the last five years at the Boston Public Library, which he considered a fair sample of other public libraries, were that there was a large falling off in the circulation of what are known as popular works of fiction; that part of this falling off was due to matters of local difficulty, partly to the patronage accorded to cheap works, but chiefly to the fact that there was a decided improvement in the public taste, shown by the growing demand for works of a better character. His opinion was that the public desired to read better books and less in number than formerly.

LIBRARIES AND SCHOOLS.

Mr. S. S. Green, of the Worcester Public Library, read a paper showing the great aid which the library in that city had rendered to pupils in the public schools, by means of books loaned and those consulted in the library building. He showed in a very concise and interesting manner how greatly public scholars can be assisted by and from public libraries.

Mr. W. F. Poole, of the Chicago Public Library, followed on the same subject. His view of the matter was that public schools and public libraries were supported by public taxation for the same purpose—the education of the people—and not for the purpose of enabling them to while away an idle hour.

Mr. W. E. Foster explained what had been done in the co-operative work under discussion at the Providence Public Library, of which he has charge, and set forth some of the difficulties in the way of co-operation between public libraries and public schools, such, for instance, as the small number of books in such libraries as the Providence, which had no room or convenience for the accommodation of students of the schools.

Valuable remarks on the same subject were also made by Mr. C. W. Merrill, of the Cincinnati Public Library, and Mr. K. A. Linderfelt, of the Milwaukee Public Library. Both these gentlemen related some curious experiences, and both agreed that the public libraries were daily becoming most important adjuncts to the educational forces of the country.

AMERICAN CARTOGRAPHY.

The principal portion of the evening session was devoted to the remarks of Mr. Justin Winsor, Librarian of Harvard University and President of the Association, on "The Contribution of American Libraries to the Early Cartographical History of America." The first part of Mr. Winsor's little lecture related some curious facts in regard to the earlier geographical discoveries, particularly those of the time of Columbus and Cabot. He explained the difficulties which the mediæval discoverers experienced, the errors they labored under, and the curious instruments they used for ascertaining the latitude and longitude. He mentioned incidentally that a Cambridge professor had obtained 100 logs of the steamers of different lines crossing the Atlantic, and he had found them to vary in regard to the longitudes taken, some being as much as nineteen miles from the correct reckoning. The Cunard steamers made the most accurate observation, but it was difficult to find exact longitude at sea within two or three miles. He then described a number of curious maps prepared during the sixteenth century, on which were represented what was then known or surmised of the American continent, or, as it was then called, a part of the coast of Asia. He stated that a map supposed to have been drawn by Leonardo da Vinci, now in the Queen's collection at Windsor Castle, England, was the oldest known piece of paper on which the word America is written. The date of this map is 1503. His remarks were very cleverly illustrated on the blackboard. This effort of Mr. Winsor was unquestionably one of the most entertaining and instructive features of the meeting, although not strictly in the line of bibliography.

TRAINING SCHOOL FOR LIBRARIANS.

Mr. Melville Dewey, Secretary of the association and Chief Librarian of Columbia College, read and explained a proposition laid before the trustees of the college to establish a school for educating of young men and women in library economy, and training them for the duties of librarianship. A request for an expression of opinion as to the desirability of such a school provoked an animated discussion, the association being nearly a unit in its opinion in favor of such a school. Owing to the opposition of a small minority, who had not sufficiently considered the matter, a committee, consisting of Messrs. Cutter, Chamberlain, Mann, Carl, and Merrill, was appointed to report. The following resolution was presented and adopted by an emphatic and nearly unanimous vote:

Resolved, That this association desires to express its gratification that the trustees of Columbia College are considering the propriety of giving instruction in library work, and hopes that the experiment may be tried.

From the N. Y. Times, August 18.

A spirited debate occurred on the subject of librarian instruction in colleges. Mr. Cutter, of the special committee, submitted the majority report, in which a resolution was embodied expressing gratification that the trustees of Co-

Columbia College had considered the subject of training librarians, and stating that they sincerely hoped the experiment would be tried. Mr. Chamberlain presented the minority report, in which it was claimed that the subject was too important to be considered hastily. He offered a resolution that the subject be referred to a committee to report more definitely at the next meeting. Mr. Green, Dr. Billings, Mr. Bowker, Mr. Dewey, and other gentlemen took part in the discussion. The majority report was adopted. On motion of Mr. Bowker the president was requested to appoint a committee during the year to consider the subject of educating librarians. Mr. J. N. Larned, of the Nominating Committee, reported in favor of the election of the following officers as a nucleus for the Executive Committee: Justin Winsor, Harvard University; Melville Dewey, Columbia College; James L. Whitney, Boston Public Library; S. S. Green, Worcester Free Library; C. A. Cutter, Boston Athenæum. Guy A. Brown, of Lincoln, Neb., State Librarian, introduced the subject of "State Libraries, their Management and Support." Mr. R. R. Bowker read a paper on the work of the librarian of the nineteenth century, and what the librarian of the twentieth century will have to do, which was warmly applauded. The following resolution was adopted:

"That efficiency in library administration can only be obtained through application of the cardinal principles of an enlightened civil service, exclusive of all political and personal influence, appointment for definitely ascertained fitness, promotion for merit, and retention during good behavior, and that, in the opinion of this association, in large public libraries subordinate employes should be selected by competitive examination, followed by probationary terms."

The United States Congress was requested to pass the following:

"Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives, in Congress assembled, that any State or Territorial library, or any one of the libraries designated by a Senator or Representative according to law to receive sets of public documents, shall, on the payment of $25 to the Public Printer before the beginning of a session of Congress, have sent to it a copy of every document, as soon as it is stitched, that Congress has ordered to be printed during the session."

A SUGGESTIVE EXAMPLE.

From the London Bookseller, Aug. 4.

A COMPLAINT is made of the terms on which Mr. Lewis Carroll insists that his books shall be supplied to the trade. Our correspondents are correct in their statement of the case, that tenpence in the shilling and net copies are the terms offered. We take, however, an entirely opposite view of the matter to that expressed in the letter of "A Firm of London Booksellers," and shall watch the experiment with much interest. A few books which cannot be sold under any circumstance whatever at threepence in the shilling discount, is just what is necessary to check the all-prevailing evil; and whether it is Mr. Carroll or his publishers who have resolved to risk the trial, the effort deserves support instead of condemnation. Booksellers who advertise to take threepence in the shilling off all new books may for the moment find themselves in an awkward position, but we do not believe the public will hesitate to pay full price for a book they require, provided the price is moderate, and there is no possibility of obtaining it for less. For a popular book, such as Mr. Carroll's forthcoming "Rhyme and Reason" is certain to be, to be sold throughout the trade at full price will be a memorable innovation. Most booksellers who take the trouble to think the matter out will see that, in the long run, the influence of such an example will be beneficial, and casting aside the immediate question of loss or gain by the change, will assist vigorously in promoting what may become a new departure in bookselling, smaller nominal and larger real profits. The mass of correspondence which recently appeared in these columns on the subject of underselling all tended to confirm the statement that no bookseller can nowadays get full price for new books. His profit is commonly reduced to the difference between scrip, at which he sells to the public, and sale, the odd book and the usual journey order discount. More than one bookseller recommended the reduction of discounts and the abolition of the odd copy as the most promising remedy. This remedy is now offered, and it remains to be seen whether the retail trade will allow the opportunity to pass.

OBITUARY.

REV. WILLIAM M. BAKER.

REV. WILLIAM M. BAKER, the talented author as well as popular pastor and preacher, died at his residence in South Boston on August 20. Mr. Baker was born at Washington, D. C., where his father, the Rev. Daniel Baker, D.D., was at that time the leading Presbyterian preacher, and also the author of several works on Baptism and some volumes of revival sermons. The son naturally imbibed literary tastes and a bent toward the ministry. He graduated with high honors from Princeton College in 1846, studied theology for one year in the Presbyterian Seminary at Princeton, after which he read with his father for two years. He was next ordained pastor of the Presbyterian church at Galveston, Texas, and for fifteen years remained in that State, changing his parish for one at Austin during that time. His first published work was a biography of his father which appeared in 1858. During the Civil War, by putting forth great power of talent and eloquence, Mr. Baker maintained his relations with the Northern Presbytery unbroken, and did much to check the bitter spirit of his flock. Devotedly attached to his own section of the country, he nevertheless supported the Union throughout the long struggle, and at this period produced his descriptive work of fiction, "Inside: a Chronicle of Secession," which appeared as a serial in Harper's Weekly under the nom de plume of G. F. Harrington. When the war ended his congregation was so scattered that Mr. Baker accepted a call to the Second Presbyterian Church at Zanesville, Ohio, and in 1873 removed to Newburyport, Mass., and finally became pastor of the church in South Boston, from which he resigned on account of failing health about three years ago. During all these years Mr. Baker contributed to the various magazines and religious journals of the country, and also published some very successful stories, which aroused great curiosity about the unknown author. "The Virginians in Texas" appeared serially in Harper's Magazine; "Mose Evans" appeared in the Atlantic. "The New Timothy" was published in 1870, and we all recall the vivid interest with which we read the experiences of the young pastor who was learning to be "all things to all men." "His Majesty Myself" attracted great attention in the No Name series, and showed remarkable originality in its discussions of religious belief; it was followed by his best novel, "Blessed Saint Certainty," and shortly by his last work of fiction, "Colonel Dunwoddie, Millionaire." Mr. Baker suffered for years from a painful disease, and the amount of work he accomplished under these conditions was a marvel to all who had the privilege of knowing him intimately.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

IN The Critic of August 25, Mr. J. H. Morse crosses swords with Charles Francis Adams, Jr., on the vexed question of Greek in American colleges; and the Lounger prints a letter in which Madame Modjeska disclaims any connection with the poem recently published over her name in the Denver Tribune.

THE October number of The Manhattan will contain a poem by John G. Whittier, "A Log of the Steam-yacht Atalanta," illustrated from drawings by Granville Perkins and Alfred Blum: "The Irish Parliamentary Party," with eleven portraits, and "The Second-hand Shops of Paris," by Lucy Hooper.

A PECULIAR paper is published in Paris under the title of L'Autre Monde. It is printed in green type on black paper, and is adorned with numerous emblems of death. Its contents correspond with its exterior. The leading articles, news items, letters from correspondents, and advertisements all refer to the dead.

The Bookkeeper begins its seventh volume with a change of name to The American Counting-Room, and in handsome magazine form gives important news and comments on all things connected with business and counting-room affairs. With this number a well-executed illustration of the new Produce Exchange Building is given as a supplement.

The Commercial Travelers' Magazine is the title of a new publication, of which the first number is that for September. The contributors' list includes the names of Joaquin Miller, Robert J. Burdette, Bret Harte and Charles Follen Adams. The contents present an entertaining variety—stories, sketches, poetry, etc.—and the print and illustrations are of a very good class.

MACMILLAN'S NEW MAGAZINE.—We learn from the London Bookseller that "the first number of The English Illustrated Magazine will be published in October. The price of the magazine will be sixpence, the size is super-royal 8vo. A special paper, similar to the half-sized paper used in the United States, has been made for it, so that it may be worked dry by the printer, and enable him to do the utmost justice to the illustrations, which will be thickly scattered through the pages. Engravings are to be applied to the illustration of every theme wherein the service of art can be fitly employed. Everything is to be new and original, from head and tail-pieces down to ornamental initials. From some specimens we have seen of the illustrations prepared for the first number, the class of wood-engraving is to be much superior to that hitherto employed in English magazines."

BUSINESS NOTES.

ATLANTA, GA.—On the 12th inst., W. B. Burke's second-hand bookstore was completely destroyed in the Kimball House fire. The stock was valued at $14,700, including school books to the value of $4000 just received for the opening of the September term of the schools. On all this property, carefully gotten together for a trade that was on the point of opening, there was an insurance of only $3000. Besides the loss of the property is the loss of a valuable business which Mr. Burke had spent much time and money in establishing. Notwithstanding this calamity, Mr. Burke writes us, "I am ready to pay 100 cents on the dollar, and will open as soon as I can get a suitable store." Mr. Burke asks that all dealers in second-hand books, and publishers, have the kindness to send him their catalogues.

BOSTON, MASS.—We learn that the copartnership hitherto existing under the firm-name of Sullivan Brothers & Libbie has been dissolved. The brothers Sullivan are to continue the real estate and general auction business at No. 9 School Street, while Mr. Libbie has established himself at store No. 1 Hamilton Place, where he will confine his attention to the sale of books, coins, medals, autographs, and other personal property. Mr. Libbie has made quite a reputation as an auctioneer of this peculiar class of goods, and is regarded as an expert in the business.

CAMBRIDGE, MD.—Thos. W. Anderson & Co. have transferred to Charles V. Bingley, a late partner of the firm, their stock of books, stationary, etc. Mr. Bingley will hereafter conduct this department of the business in his new store on Race Street. Catalogues of books, stationary, fancy goods and novelties are solicited.

DELAWARE, O.—S. S. Wells has bought from the assignee the stock of J. H. Clingan and will consolidate his store with it, removing at once to elegant rooms lately occupied by him.

DES MOINES, IOWA.—We regret to learn of the death of Mr. E. L. Carter, the senior member of the Oxford Library (Carter & Berry). The business will be carried on under the same firm-name as heretofore, Mrs. Mary Carter succeeding to her husband's interest in the business. Mr. Silas H. Berry retains the management.

GARDINER, ME.—Palmer & Co., dealers in books, stationery, etc., who failed several weeks since, have compromised with their creditors at about 35 cents on the dollar.

GENEVA, N. Y.—We learn from Bradstreet's that Catherine Fahley (John Fahley, agent), bookseller, etc., has made an assignment.

LINCOLN, NEB.—The firm of Leighton & Brown, booksellers and stationers, has been dissolved. The business will hereafter be carried on under his own name by H. W. Brown, at the old stand.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

M. G. KIMMEL, short-hand reporter and Professor of Phonography and Type-writing in the Northern Ind. Normal School, has just published a volume entitled "Long-hand Short-hand," a new and systematic work on brief long-hand and type-writer execution. The system, it is said, requires but a few days for its thorough mastery. The work contains an appendix showing its application to all kinds of type-writers.

THE Chicago method of establishing relations between the public schools and the public libraries is related in Mr. Poole's eleventh annual report. At his suggestion, a class at a time from the high schools or upper forms of the grammar schools was brought to the Public Library on Saturday forenoon, to be initiated into the mode of research in studying a particular subject. The proper books were laid out in advance, and the teacher delivered a little lecture. The books were then examined, and afterward a glimpse was given of the library's contents and management. The result has been very gratifying.

CHARLES A. BURKHARDT has now ready and issues through Geo. B. Hurd & Co., 79 Beekman Street, N. Y., the "Elite Monthly Engagement, College and Correspondence Cards" and the "Elite Engagement and Corresponding Calendar," which we announced in the WEEKLY of August 4, in which number we also called attention to a former notice upon these pretty, practical social helps which appeared in the WEEKLY of February 24. He has added a tinted canvas frame to the various styles already in use, that cannot fail to please artistic tastes. These cards will prove ornamental as well as useful for a drawing-room table—and should be borne in mind when stocking up for the holidays.

BENZIGER BROTHERS have published "Praxis Synodalis, Manuale Synodi Diocesanae ac provincialis celebrandae," prepared under the immediate supervision of the Archbishop of Petra, for use at the coming Provincial Council; "The Book of the Professed," by the author of "Golden Sands," and cheap editions of The Catholic Family Library, which embraces "The Christian Father," "The Christian Mother," and a revised edition of "A Sure Way to a Happy Marriage." They have also issued in pamphlet form Bishop Gilmour's funeral oration on Archbishop Purcell, and a new edition of Bishop O'Farrell's eloquent pastoral on "Christian Marriage." Messrs. Benziger announce that the sheets of the long-expected "Schoupe's Short Sermons for Low Masses" were destroyed in the Munro fire. If the plates have not shared the same fate the book will be reprinted shortly.

VOLTAIRE'S "Commonplace Book," in which he jotted down notes of his own and any stories or sayings which struck his fancy, has just been published in Paris.

WHITTAKER & Co. will publish, immediately a Reference Classical Hand-book, comprising Plutarch's Lives, a dictionary of mythology, and classical dictionary.

THE personal estate of the late William Chambers, the Edinburgh publisher, was estimated at about £90,000. He left £20,000 for the restoration of St. Giles' Cathedral.

MACMILLAN & Co. will publish in the autumn the second volume of Mr. Donald Macalister's translation of Ziegler's "Text-Book of Pathological Anatomy and Pathogenesis."

LADY EASTLAKE has written a volume entitled "Five Great Painters," in which are given studies of Leonardo da Vinci, Michael Angelo, Titian, Raphael, and Albert Dürer. The Longmans are shortly to publish the book.

"SHAKSPEARE'S 'Hamlet,'" by A. Dehlen, which has just made its appearance at Göttingen (Vandenhoeck & Ruprecht, publishers), is spoken of as one of the most original and characteristic commentaries on the wonderful creations of the great British bard.

MR. EDMUND GOLDSMID, F.R.H.S., of Edinburgh, under the title, "A Bibliothecca Curiosa," announces a capital series of reprints of early and scarce works, including Caxton's "Reynard the Fox," and some books printed by Wynkyn de Worde. They are to be large and small paper copies, and the prices fixed are in each instance very moderate.

POSCHINGER'S book on "Prussia in the German Diet," containing Prince Bismarck's diplomatic correspondence as Prussian minister at Frankfurt, which created so much interest in its German and French editions, will appear shortly in English. The translation is by Mr. John Bashford, Professor of the English Language in the Berlin University, and a prominent English statesman will furnish a preface.

THE Papier Zeitung, of Berlin, states that the establishment of David, the well-known Paris book-binder, supplies at the utmost 1000 book-covers during any one year, the charge for each cover ranging, however, from sixteen shillings to five pounds. A second Paris artist, M. Lortie, lately supplied the bindings for two octavo volumes of La Fontaine's Fables at the price of £400, the order being executed for an American bibliophile.

MARTIN TUPPER TESTIMONIAL.—A movement has been started to promote a testimonial to Mr. Martin Tupper, the author of "Proverbial Philosophy," who is stated to be "in circumstances the reverse of affluent." Subscriptions are invited from America and the colonies, as well as from England. A committee has been formed, with Lord Headley as chairman, and Mr. G. Hawkes, 9 Victoria Chambers, Westminster, as hon. secretary.

ART-BOOKS.—The London Architect says: "Whatever may be the condition of art in this country [England], it is a remarkable fact that every year there are more books and publications relating to art issued in the English language than in any other. Out of the 886 publications and books on art which appeared in Europe during last year, 311 were in English, 269 in German and 237 in French. The remaining 49 publications represent the efforts of the Italians, Swedes, Danes, and Spaniards."

ALPHONSE PICARD, of Paris, has sent us, through J. W. Bouton, a history of the French colonization of Syria, entitled "Les Colonies Franques de Syrie aux XIIème et XIIIème Siècles," by E. Rey, resident member of the Antiquarian Society of France, etc. It gives a vivid picture of the time immediately following the Crusades. The second half of the book is devoted to the geography of Syria, but the author states that it is at best incomplete, as the material in existence thus far is not yet in available condition.

THE first series of the "Sacred Books of the East," published by the Clarendon Press under the editorship of Prof. Max Müller, is now approaching completion. Out of the full total of twenty-four volumes, nineteen have already appeared, though not quite in the order of their numbering. The remaining five volumes, which are in the press, will be parts ii. and iii. of the Upanishads, translated by Prof Max Müller himself; the Laws of Manu, by George Bühler; the Saddharma-pundarika, by H. Kern; and the Akṣarāṅga Sātra, by H. Jacobi.

FIRMIN DIDOT & Co., of Paris, have sent us, through J. W. Bouton, an excellent specimen of their famous "Collection des Auteurs Grecs" (Greek text with Latin translation and annotations, etc.), in "Claudii Ptolemæi Geographia," part first. The typography of this handsome double column octavo is even superior to that of the earlier volumes of the collection. As to the scholarship displayed by the editor, the name of Charles Müller, who now is probably to take the place of the late Dindorf, is as sure a guarantee as is the name of the great publishing firm of France. It should be said here that the death of William Dindorf, chief editor of the "Bibliotheca Græca," will prove a great loss to the student of classical Greek literature.

In connection with the correspondence relative to the system of underselling by drapers, which has been carried on in the columns of the (London) Bookseller, Mr. J. W. Richard Clarke, of Sidney, New South Wales, writes to our contemporary as follows: "Two of our leading drapers, Messrs. Thompson & Giles and Messrs. Farmer & Co., influenced, no doubt, by the example of their English confrères, added a book-seller's and stationer's department to their already large business; but I believe they have given it up, having found, after a brief experience, that they were losers by the transaction. Another firm in an extensive way in the drapery line, Messrs. Hordern & Sons, also dabble in literature; but, I am happy to say, they do not appreciably affect the book trade in Sidney, which is here represented by a most intelligent and highly-respectable class of people, who, I am proud and happy to say, work in amity together. It is very evident that drapers who run large establishments go out of their way to purchase whole lines of books, etc., not so much for the purpose of realizing a profit thereon, but as an inducement to buyers to purchase their own particular line of goods."

BOOKS WANTED.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," subscribers are entitled to a free insertion of five lines, exclusive of address, in each issue. Repeated matter, however, must be charged for at the rate of 10 cents per line.

Copy for this Department must reach us Thursday Morning to be in time for insertion in same week's issue.

PRAYER AND PRAISE.

EDITED BY

Rev. ATTICUS G. HAYGOOD, D.D., and R. M. McINTOSH.

We confidently believe this to be the most powerful combination of Gospel Songs for PRAYER-MEETINGS, PRAISE-MEETINGS, CAMP-MEETINGS, EXPERIENCE-MEETINGS, MISSIONARY MEETINGS, REVIVALS, and RELIGIOUS FESTIVALS, ever published in this or any other country.

As the editors have spared no pains in bringing together and systematizing all the best material anywhere to be found, so we, the publishers, have spared no means in order to place the book at the very head of the list of such publications in mechanical execution and finish. It is a model of music typography and book-binding.

PRAYER AND PRAISE is carefully classified as to subjects and occasions, and not a mere bundle or mass of things thrown together in a promiscuous manner, as has been the rule heretofore in publications of popular song.

PRAYER AND PRAISE contains 320 pages, bound in the best style of the art, with a beautifully illustrated outside title, neatly printed from new type, in three editions, as follows: Round Notes; Character, or Seven-shaped Notes; and Words without Notes.

PRAYER AND PRAISE is certainly without a rival in all that constitutes a first-class hymn and tune book, and if you are in need of such a book, order a copy for examination before you supply the demand with any other.

PRICES:

Music Editions—75 cts. per copy; $8.00 per doz.; $60.00 per hundred.

Word Edition—25 “ “ 2.50 “ 15.00 “

Specimen copy of Music Edition for examination, mailed, postpaid, 60 cents, and Word Edition, 20 cents. Special prices to the trade.

THE

AMERICAN EDUCATIONAL CATALOGUE

For 1883 [Fourteenth Year].

COMPILED BY G. D. T. ROUSE.

The Educational Catalogue has been found so valuable to the Trade, not only as a finding list, but for circulation among educational customers, for the purpose of soliciting orders and saving at the same time much troublesome correspondence, that its permanent continuance is recognized as a necessity.

The catalogue this year follows the alphabetical system pronounced by the experience of the trade the most satisfactory for practical use. It includes a price-list arranged alphabetically by author's or editor's name, and a detailed subject-index, referring from each specific subject to authors of books on that subject, so that the advantages of both a finding list for the trade and a class catalogue for the use of schools are combined.

No other list in the market gives this practical combination. And no other catalogue has ever been made approximately so complete as this. Last year's edition contained twice as many books as, or nearly 2500 more books, than either of the other lists that were offered to the trade.

The list has been entirely reset, to include the new books in their proper alphabetical order, and also to embody all the corrections of prices, omissions, or other errors in last year's catalogue.

Publishers' prices are in all cases given—retail, if retail (in first column); "net," if "net" (in second column); where a "mailing" percentage is specified by the publisher, the "mailing price" is given in the retail column marked with an asterisk. A carefully drawn explanation in the heading, to private buyers, adapts the catalogue to the use of the retail trade.

It should be understood that, of the regular retail-price publishers, only the retail price is given, and the net prices only of those publishers who make it a practice to mail net-price lists to schools—in fact, make their net prices their regular school-supply prices. This point is emphasized in order to meet the objections raised to the quotation of net prices.

It should be well considered that any attempt at withholding, from the educational public, what the publisher, through his agents, advertisements, lists, and circulars, takes special pains to make known, must be an unwise policy. It is not objectionable, but quite proper and legitimate, to charge the retail or mailing price for single copies of any book; but the Educational Catalogue is not generally given away to single-book customers. It is intended only for those who purchase for schools in quantities. Now any one putting himself on record by quoting fictitious prices, or prices other than those quoted by the publisher (which prices, it is now understood, are generally still subject to a trade discount), necessarily must drive his school trade into the hands of those who solicit their orders from a catalogue, the prices of which tally with that of the publishers.

The following paragraph from a previous year's Educational Catalogue further elucidates the reasons for our strict adherence to publishers' prices: "Plainly, if it wished to sustain its official character, it was bound to respect the desire of those who have a right to stand by their prices, and who, should their established prices be disregarded, could by their public protest soon discredit the Educational Catalogue as well as those who handled it for circulation. At a time when the public mind, from causes so often discussed and lamented in these columns, is fast losing faith in honest prices, so far as books are concerned, it is of the utmost importance that there be one official list which can be consulted with confidence by the public, as well as by the trade.

In making up special orders for the Educational Catalogue, booksellers should bear in mind that it possesses not only temporary value, but will serve its purpose during the whole year. No imprint edition of less than 100 copies can be supplied. Orders for editions should be sent to us at once.

CASH TERMS.

With sole imprint of ordering firm, and stitched, per 100 copies, $5; per 1000, $40.

There is no extra charge for printing name, business card, etc., on the imprint page; the last page is left blank at the disposal of the dealer, but any copy for that, advertising special lines of general business, will be set up and printed thereon for $5, or $1 if plate is sent.

* * Copy for imprint and shipping directions should accompany the order.

The regular Educational Number of "THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY" will be supplied at 25 cents per copy, or five for $1, postpaid.

WE are now preparing the material for the Fall Announcement Number of the WEEKLY, and would therefore respectfully remind the publishers who have not yet done so to send the titles of their forthcoming books, data for descriptive notes, and their advertising favors at the earliest possible moment.

SUBSCRIBERS to the "Trade List Annual," for 1883, can have their volumes supplied with the Silvera Duplex Index, at the slight extra charge of 50 cents per copy, by notifying us at once. The Silvera Index is somewhat on the plan of Dennison's, with the practical improvement, however, of having the alphabet printed on the concave surface (instead of on the margin of the page), which enables instantaneous reference, whether the book is open or shut.

NOTES IN SEASON.

JAMES R. OSGOOD & Co. have just ready two new and tasteful editions of Owen Meredith's ever popular "Lucile;" one, to be known as the Tremont edition, is in 16mo size, printed with red line border and artistically illustrated; the other, the Pocket edition, is in the shape of the Little Classic series, contains thirty illustrations and is elegantly bound. Both editions are from new electrotpe plates and are printed in the best style. At the same time Messrs. Osgood will issue Mr. James' favorite comedy, "Daisy Miller," in convenient library style; also "A Bird's-Eye View of the Civil War," based on the best authorities of the North, South, and Europe, and written in a fascinating manner by Colonel T. A. Dodge, U. S. A., whose former work on "The Campaign of Chancellorsville" is a guarantee of excellence and accuracy.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS will publish on the 9th inst., Dr. Gerhard Uihorn's work entitled "Christian Charity in the Ancient Church." In this work the author shows that modern charity is the creation of Christianity, by drawing out in detail the difference between the ancient and the modern world. On the same day they will issue "The Philosophical Basis of Theism," by Prof. S. Harris, of the Yale Theological School, which the author was induced to make public in order to satisfy the wish that the theologians would give to the world a more definite statement of the principles on which they consider that the defence of theology and Christianity properly rests as against current agnostic and materialistic arguments. President Hopkins' volume, "Scriptural Idea of Man," and a new edition of "Best Thoughts of Plato," may also be looked for at the same time. The latter volume will be neatly gotten up at a very much reduced price.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS will publish at once a timely and important volume in "A History of the Northern Pacific Railroad, from the Inception of the Enterprise in 1834, to the Opening of the Line from Lake Superior and the Mississippi Valley to Puget Sound, on the Pacific Coast, in 1883," by Eugene V. Smalley. The volume will have maps, and forty-eight full-page engravings from original sketches. Other books of interest to be expected this month are a New Centennial edition of Irving's "Life of Washington" (omitting the documentary material), printed from new plates in a handsome quarto, with illustrations, bound in paper and in cloth; "Prose Masterpieces from Modern Essayists," comprising single specimen essays from Irving, Leigh Hunt, Lamb, De Quincy, Landor, Thackeray, Emerson, Ruskin, Carlyle, Lowell, and other masters, prepared with reference to presenting as well specimens of the method of thought and the literary style of their several writers, as also for the purpose of putting into convenient shape for direct comparison, the treatment given by such writers to similar subjects; "The American Girl's Home-book of Work and Play," by Helen Campbell, a volume giving suggestions and instructions for in-door and out-door amusements, and for occupations for play or for profit; and "Work for Women," a volume of hints to aid women in the selection of a vocation in life, and describing the several occupations adapted to the capabilities of women.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

Stems are designated as follows: F. (fetus: over 30 centimeters high); Q. (size: under 30 cm.); O. (bone: 25 cm.); D. (same: no cm.); S. (bone: 17½ cm.); T. (same: 25 cm.); Y. (same: 12½ cm.); F. (bone: 20 cm.). Sq., obl., nar., designate square, oblong, narrow books of these heights. Where figure instead of letter symbols are used, the record is from publisher's designation, and not measurement.

* In this list, the titles generally are verbatim transcriptions (according to the rule of the American Library Association) from books received. Books not received are indicated by a prefixed asterisk, and this office cannot be held responsible for the correctness of their record. This list will be reprinted, verbatim, with all the notices of the books received, in the TRADE LIST ANNUAL.

W: M. Scott. Albany, W. C. Little & Co., 1883. 2 v. in 1. 714+698 p. O. shp., $4.

New York. Reports of cases argued and determined in the Supreme Court of Judicature and in the court for the correction of errors of the State of New York, by J. L. Wendell. V. 23-24 [Jan.-Dec., 1840]. 2d ed., with notes and references by W: M. Scott. Albany, W. C. Little & Co., 1883. 2 v. in 1. 711+707 p. O. shp., $4.

O'Brine, D: The practical laboratory guide in chemistry. Columbus, O., A. H. Smythe, 1883. 10+183 p. O. cl. $1.50.

Intended for the use of students who possess some knowledge of chemistry. The object is to present a practical guide in chemistry adapted to the wants of the college or the medical laboratory. Special attention is called to the following subjects: Separation of bases and tests; Comparison of phosphorus, arsenic and antimony; The organic acids; Classification of the alkaloids; The ptomaines and stoichiometry.

Oliphant, Laurence. Altiora Peto: a novel. N. Y., Harper, 1883. 58 p. Q. (Harper's Franklin sq. lib., no. 330.) pap., 20 c. Same, Duodecimo ed., 3-242 p. pap., 20 c.

A society novel, by the author of "The tender recollections of Irene Macgillicuddy." Written in the same brilliant, satirical style which rendered that book so famous. The scene is laid in Paris and London, and two American girls, one a great California heiress, take a prominent part in the story. The English critics generally accept it as one of the most noticeable novels of the day in point of style, plot, and humor.

Perrin, Marshall Livingston. Drill-book in algebra: exercises for class-drill and review, arranged according to subjects. Phil., J. B. Lippincott & Co., [1883]. 188 p. S. flex. cl., Teacher's ed., with answers, 75 c.

Too simple examples as well as instructions have not been given, since the intention is to supplement the text-book in use. The exercises do not extend beyond elementary algebra, but quite cover the ground required for admission to colleges and scientific schools in general.

Power, Rev. P. B. My soul. N. Y., Cassell & Co., 1883. 8+120 p. T. (Heart chords.) cl., 40 c.

Devotional readings. See note under Cotterill, "Weekly Record," P. W., May 26, '83 [598].

Prayer (A) and promise for days of holy communion. N. Y., A. D. F. Randolph & Co., [1883]. 3-66 p. sq. Fe. bds., 35 c.

Bible texts arranged as a prayer, and its answer, for each Sunday in the year; miniature book, prettily printed with red-line border.

Reade, A. Arthur. How to write English: a practical treatise on English composition. 3d ed. Phil., J. B. Lippincott & Co., [1883]. 3-106 p. D. cl., 60 c.

By the editor of "Study and stimulants." Treats of the art of writing, the writer's vocabulary, the formation of style, the study of models, simplicity, brevity, purity and energy in style, parts of speech, punctuation, etc. Presented in a guise that makes it very attractive to the young. "My aim throughout has been," the author says, "to steer a middle course between the dry and uninviting grammar on the one hand, and the more bulky exhaustive treatise on the other."

Rosa, Percy. A misguidit lassie. N. Y., Macmillan, 1883. 4+220 p. D. cl., $1.

The "misguidit lassie" is a wild hoyden, who comes to Scotland with her father for the shooting season. Her practical jokes upon her lovers, one of whom is a quiet, cautious Scotchman, and the other an energetic German, occupy the greater part of the book. The author's style is bright and lively, and the book quite amusing reading.

Rushin, J: Fors Clavigera: letters to the workmen and laborers of Great Britain. New ser.: Lost jewels. N. Y., J. Wiley & Sons, 1883. 2+20 p. D. pap., 10 c.

This new series of the "Fors Clavigera" will be issued in monthly parts, each with a special name indicative of its subject. "Lost Jewels," with some advice to parents and children about mutual confidence, tells the stories of several little heroic figures of literature, and some touching episodes in the author's own experience.

Sumner, W: Graham. What social classes owe to each other. N. Y., Harper, 1883. 3-169 p. S. cl., 60 c.

"These articles treat various aspects of questions of political economy, which are full of interest and importance. With the fine touch of a scientific expert the author lays bare the weakness and shallowness of much that is urged in the name of philanthropy and humanity and reform, and asserts, upon American and rational principles, the right of the rich to be rich, or, in other words, the right of every man to reap all the legitimate and honorable rewards of his abilities and opportunities."

True, J: Preston. Their club and ours. Bost., D. Lothrop & Co., [1883]. 212 p. il. D. cl., $1.25.

The doings of a school-boys' club and a school-girls' club in a New England town are here recorded. These doings include all kinds of fun and pleasure, the giving of "May-baskets," boating and swimming matches, mock battles and so on.

Uncle George [pseud.] Talk of Uncle George to his nephew about draw poker: containing valuable suggestions in connection with this great American game; also instruction and directions to clubs and social card parties, whose members play only for recreation and pastime; with timely warning to young players. N. Y., Dick & Fitzgerald, 1883. 3-50 p. il. sq. D. pap., 25 c.

In which Uncle George relates to his nephew the experience he has gathered in the course of his travels West and East; showing him, in a chatty and familiar style, the devices, tricks, appliances, and advantages by which gentlemanly gamblers fleece the unsophisticated and unwary in the popular game of "draw poker," and offering him plain and fatherly advice as to the best means of frustrating their efforts and avoiding their traps.

Wilkinson, W: C. Preparatory Latin course in English. N. Y., Phillips & Hunt, 1883. 331 p. D. (After-school ser.) cl., $1.25.

Wise, Rev. I: M. Judaism and Christianity; their agreements and disagreements: series of Friday evening lectures delivered at the Plum St. Temple, Cin. Cin., O., Bloch & Co., 1883. 124 p. S. cl., $1.

Worman, Jos. H., and Rougemont, B. A. De. Grammaire Française pratique a l'usage des Américains (The essentials of French grammar for English-speaking students). N. Y., A. S. Barnes & Co., 1883. D. cl., $1.

Wythe, Rev. J. H., M.D. Easy lessons in vegetable biology; or, outlines of plant-life. N. Y., Phillips & Hunt, 1883. 94 p. S. cl., 40 c.; pap., 25 c.

MR. MCMASTER AND HIS CRITICS.

From The Dial, August.

WHEN Mr. W. F. Poole, in The Dial for April last, pointed out the striking similarity in the styles of Mr. John Bach McMaster and Macaulay, it did not seem to be a very wonderful discovery, for the quotations given made the resemblance so obvious that the wonder would be that any reader could fail to notice it. But several journals, and among them the Nation and Critic, have recently filed distinct claims to priority in the discovery. [See P. W., July 14.]

According to the Critic, "it was the Nation itself that harped upon the resemblance to Green;" and the former journal quotes from its issue of April 21: [See P. W., July 14.]

Fortunately, the almanac is an excellent arbiter in such matters. Mr. Poole's article appeared April 1, and is more definite than either of the others on the point referred to:—

"It is evident that Mr. McMaster, in his literary training, has modelled his style on that of Macaulay. His introduction, perhaps unconsciously, follows the method of Macaulay's introduction. 'I purpose,' says Macaulay, in his opening sentence, 'to write the history of England from the accession of King James the Second down to the time which is within the memory of men still living.' 'The subject of my narrative,' says Mr. McMaster, 'is the history of the people of the United States of America from the close of the war for independence down to the opening of the war between the States.' 'I shall do this,' 'I shall do that,' says each of them. Then the form changes: 'Nor will it be less my duty,' says Macaulay; 'Nor shall it be less my aim,' says Mr. McMaster. The subject of the chapter on 'The State of America in 1784' was doubtless suggested—and is none the worse for that—by Macaulay's chapter on 'The State of England in 1685.'"

We do not regard the dispute, in which The Dial has taken no part, as an important one, but since it has become extended we have taken the trouble to give the chronological record, which ought to be conclusive as to the original discovery of our latter-day Macaulay.

From a Letter to the Nation.

That McMaster has, in the opening of his first volume, and in the arrangement of parts of it, followed Macaulay's style, and occasionally, consciously or unconsciously, followed some of his methods of securing the reader's attention, is evident. It is doubtful whether any competent critic or reader failed to notice it, or to ascribe it to its true reason, the desire of a new writer to publish as plainly as possible, without direct statement, his intention to follow Macaulay's method. If McMaster had ever written a book before; if he had got his sea-legs on, so to speak, he would have known that he was abundantly able to rely absolutely on himself. His work, a wonderful success for a first book, must nevertheless show something of the hesitancy with which a new writer tries his wings; and we can only be thankful that the hesitancy in this case took so grateful a form. At any rate, no reader can complain that his publishing of his adherence to Macaulay's method is obscure. I do not think, from his first volume, that McMaster was fool enough to suppose that his imitation of Macaulay's opening was likely to escape notice. I give it rather the obvious interpretation above stated.

It has seemed to me all along that the contest as to the Macaulay-McMaster style was unworthy. So far from the similarity being unnoticed, it was noticed from the beginning. The first three readers whom I met spoke of it; almost every review in the critical journals referred to it. Some, as your own, contented themselves with drawing a parallel between Macaulay and McMaster; others, as Mr. C. B. Warner, made the comparison "in a spirit of national pride that a writer has arisen capable of weaving our common life into as brilliant and vivacious a narrative as that which entranced the world when Macaulay took up his pen." Others, as Mr. W. F. Poole, directed special attention to the exact verbal similarities. But all the critics seem to have felt that, since there must be some fault in a first book, it was matter for thankfulness that the point of criticism was so minute.

Then the matter passed out of the hands of the critics into the hands of those who took a more strictly business view of it. Many of them were equally delighted and surprised at the discovery that there was an historian named Macaulay, and that McMaster had imitated his methods and, to some extent, his style; and each hastened to put in his journal's caveat for so remarkable an instance of acumen. For a time the contest raged with all the characteristic sound and fury of the proverbial tempest in a teapot. There were claims and counter-claims, and each "pointed with pride" to his own journal's record, and expected a large increase of subscriptions thereby. Before the battle died away, an attack upon the book appeared in the New York Tribune.

I do not propose to refute that attack in particulars. Its tone and temper are enough, to the literary men among its readers, to stamp it as a worthless criticism, and there is already a feeling of keen regret among the readers of the newspaper that it ever was inserted. I desire only to call attention to the fact that the temper by McMaster of two sentences in Macaulay and one extract from Rives is the only basis of the attack; and that the alleged offences against English grammar, so far as they are not the slips of the printer, exist only in the reviewer's imagination.

So far as the three "appropriations" are concerned, any one familiar with the common difficulties of authorship will dismiss them as petty and vexatious specifications. In so vast a body of notes as is needed for a work of this extent, it is a sheer impossibility to guard against an occasional mistake of an extract for one's own note. Twenty instances would be evidence of an author's dishonesty; three are only evidence of a reviewer's malice.

I write to you mainly for the purpose of endeavoring to recall criticism to its proper field. It seems to me that McMaster's first volume is, for the period that it covers, by long odds the best history in existence; that it transfers the reader directly into the scenes which it is describing, and gives him as good an idea of them as he could have obtained by living among them; and that it is, in the best sense of the phrase, a complete success. If this is correct—and I have seen no evidence whatever arrayed to dispute it—I for one would not choose for myself the ungracious task of searching with eagerness for microscopic defects, or the petty triumph of showing that the statue is a line too long here or a thought too broad there. If any man would choose such a field of exertion, let him at least confine himself to it. Let him not assume his researches as a standpoint from which to pronounce upon the general merits of the work: ne sutor ultra crepidam.

NORWALK, CONN., August 13, 1883.

THE FALL TRADE SALE.

THE annual autumn trade sale of books, stereotype plates and stationery, takes place, as usual, at Clinton Hall, on the 18th inst. The catalogue, which is now ready, does not remind us at all of the plethoric volumes of the trade sales gone by, and the representation of leading publishers is, to say the least, weak.

On the first day R. Worthington takes the lead with a fair list, including an offer of 1000 volumes of Tennyson in different editions, and several lines of foreign publications; J. B. Lipincott & Co. will conclude the first day.

On the second day Cassino & Co., Lee & Shepard (with quite a large list), Soule & Bugbee, Thompson, Brown & Co., Crawford & Co., H. A. Sumner & Co., and Wm. T. Amies will take the stand.

The third day will be taken up by the invoices of Fairbanks, Palmer & Co., S. S. Peloubet & Co., Pollard & Moss, E. B. Treat, Hurst & Co., Gay Bros. & Co., Andrew F. Graves, R. C. Russell, Funk & Wagnalls, and John E. Potter & Co.

On the fourth day E. Claxton & Co., J. Fagan & Son, National Publishing Co., Schaefer & Koradi, Peter G. Thomson, J. M. Stoddard & Co., Scribner & Welford, Cameron & Ferguson, of Glasgow, Vizetelly & Co., Henry Sotheman & Co., and L. Reeve & Co., of London, John Grant, of Edinburgh, D. & J. Sadlier & Co., and John B. Piet & Co. will offer their invoices.

The fifth and last day will be taken up in the sale of the lots offered by the Arundel Bookstore, Phillips & Sons, Wm. H. Young, R. Bartley, of London, T. Belknap, and R. W. Bliss & Co., of Hartford, Thorndike Nourse, and a number of smaller invoices.

On Friday, the 21st, will be sold the plates and copyrights of a number of works offered by A. F. Graves, agent, J. S. Ogilvie & Co., H. A. Sumner & Co., Charles C. Shelley, Cameron & Ferguson, of Glasgow, and by the assignee of Moss & Co.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

MR. HAWEIS, author of "Music and Morals," has just completed a new work, which he entitles "My Musical Life," and which readers of his former book will look forward to with much interest. Mr. Haweis, we understand, is at present compiling a Chaucer birthday-book for children.

MR. EDMUND GOSSE, in his volume entitled "Seventeenth Century Studies," an American edition of which will be published by James R. Osgood & Co., discusses ten worthies, each selected as a typical figure of his decade. The subjects of the essays are in chronological order, as follows: Lodge, Webster, Rowlands, Randolph, Herrick, Crashaw, Cowley, Mrs. Philipps, Etheridge, and Otway.

MR. GEORGE W. EDELMAN, author of the "Bullion Dealer's Guide," has published a useful compilation in the form of a large card, containing the "Facts about Silver in a Nut-shell." It gives the gold value of silver in ounces, 9-10 fine, pure, in subsidiary coins, and in standard and trade dollars, at London prices, from 46d. up to 63 1-16d., together with a number of facts and dates which it is very convenient to have in such a form.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

MR. JOSEPH KNIGHT, editor of The Gentleman's Magazine, and dramatic critic of The Athenaeum and several London dailies, has been made the editor of Notes and Queries, the former editor, Mr. Turle, having recently died.

LONGMAN'S MAGAZINE for September (received through the International News Co.) contains a very interesting article by Prof. R. D. Proctor on "Poker Principle and Chance Laws;" and an amusing article by Andrew Lang, entitled "A Bookman's Purgatory," describing the trials of a book-hunter experienced during a dream.

WOOD'S Medical Record accomplished the unique feat in scientific journalism of presenting to its readers on August 4 a full cable report of the 51st annual meeting of the British Medical Association, held at Liverpool August 1 to 3. Besides the report it printed also in full an address on surgery delivered by Dr. Reginald Harrison.

HEREAFTER The Critic will be published weekly from the middle of September to the middle of June, and fortnightly from the middle of June to the middle of September. The publishers announce that as the new arrangement reduces the number of copies to be published during the year from fifty-two to forty-five, a corresponding reduction will be made in the subscription price, which will be $3 per annum, instead of $3.50 as heretofore.

THE scene of Mr. George W. Cable's new novel, "Dr. Sevier," is laid in New Orleans, the time being the eve of the late Civil War, a glimpse of the beginning of which is said to be given in the closing chapters. Besides the creole types, of which Mr. Cable is known as the originator in fiction, this story is said to present a variety of characters of different nationality, drawn with Mr. Cable's well-known insight and sense of humor. The novel will be an important feature of the new volume of The Century, the first chapters appearing in the November number.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

A LIFE of Marie-Antoinette, by Sarah Tytler, will shortly be published in the New Plutarch series.

GINN, HEATH & Co. entitle their forthcoming series of short manuals, announced in our last issue, Examination Manuals, not "Educational Manuals," as we had it.

MACMILLAN & Co. will publish in England a new novel which has just been completed by Miss Julia C. Fletcher, the author of "Kismet" and "Mirage." Messrs. Roberts Brothers are Miss Fletcher's American publishers.

WHITE, STOKES & ALLEN will publish at once W. O. Stoddard's new novel of American life, entitled "Wrecked?" They have in preparation for the holiday season a novelty in "fringed" books, to which we shall refer in a later issue.

THE UNIVERSALIST PUBLISHING HOUSE reprints, in a neat pamphlet, an article on "Episcopacy," contributed by the Rev. Dr. I. M. Atwood to the Universalist Quarterly, in which he examines and severely condemns the Episcopal form of church government, as both modern and a wide departure from apostolic forms.

HARPER & BROTHERS have begun the publication of a duodecimo edition of their Franklin Square Library. The volume is handy in shape, bound in a distinctive blue paper cover, and will no doubt become very popular. The first volume of the new series is George Eliot's well-known story, "Silas Marner, the Weaver of Raveloe."

"FOR some time," says the N. Y. Times, "Miss Louisa M. Alcott has been at work upon a new story for boys and girls. It is a sequel to 'Little Men,' and is to be called 'Joe's Boys, and How They Turned Out.' Miss Alcott hoped to have the book finished for the fall, but owing to the illness of her father, she has been obliged to put off its completion indefinitely."

ROBERTS BROTHERS have just received from Edwin Arnold the original manuscript of his new "Indian Idyls," with the request that the book should be promptly put in type and the proof sent to him for revision previous to his visit to the East. The volume will be about the same size as "The Light of Asia," and is to be published simultaneously in England and in America.

CUPPLES, UPHAM & Co. will publish on the opening day of the forthcoming Institute Fair at Boston, a superb catalogue of the fine arts department. Its general excellence and the illustrations, mostly etchings, which it contains, make it in every sense a unique and most worthy publication, a credit to all concerned in its composition.

WHITE, STOKES & ALLEN, in calling attention to their removal from the cosy book-corner at 1152 Broadway to the large and capacious store at 182 Fifth Avenue—Putnam's old stand—desire to state that in addition to their stock of fine books and stationery, they will hereafter carry a full line of fancy goods. Mr. Frank Chaffee, late of G. W. Carleton & Co., has taken charge of their retail stationery department.

WE learn from the Critic that "Mr. J. P. Phayre, long and pleasantly known by all who have had any dealings with the book-publishing department of Harper & Bros., will, after this week, represent that house in London. Mr. S. Low, now in his eighty-second year, will still continue his connection with Messrs. Harper's interests. Mr. W. McK. Laffan, who has represented the Messrs. Harper in London for some months past, will return shortly to his desk in the Franklin Square establishment."

"THOSE PRETTY ST. GEORGE GIRLS," the new society novel, published by T. B. Peterson & Brothers, has already passed into the fifth edition. The authorship of this novel has been variously attributed to Mrs. Sherwood, Mrs. Lucy Hooper, Mrs. Burnett, and Frank Lee Benedict, but, we understand, the critics have not yet guessed aright. The publishers inform us that their new cheap edition of the Waverley novels—in which they have already issued "Ivanhoe" and "The Bride of Lammermoor"—has started off surprisingly well. This edition will be completed in 26 weekly volumes at $3 for the complete set.

R. WORTHINGTON will publish on the 5th inst., "Our Northern and Eastern Birds," containing descriptions of the birds of the Northern and Eastern States and British Provinces, together with a history of their habits, times of arrival and departure, their distribution, food, song, time of breeding, and descriptions of their nests and eggs, by Edward A. Samuels. The volume is handsomely illustrated with wood-cuts and colored plates, and contains also a supplement from Holder's "American Fauna." At the same time Mr. Worthington will publish "A Table-book of Art," by P. T. Sandhurst, handsomely illustrated with steel and wood-engravings; also a new edition of "Cottage, Farm, and Villa Architecture and Furniture," by the late J. C. Loudon, edited by his wife.

D. APPLETON & Co. will publish immediately, in addition to the volumes already announced, an anonymous work entitled the "Conflict in Nature and Life," a study of antagonism in the constitution of things, aiming to elucidate the problem of good and evil and to reconcile optimism and pessimism, written from a philosophical and ethical standpoint; "Mediæval Civilization," the new volume in the History Primers, written by Prof. George Barton Adams, of Drury College, Mo.; the third volume of Christian Literature Primers, in which the Rev. Geo. A. Jackson treats of the "Post-Nicene Greek Fathers, A.D. 325-750;" "Foundations of Natural Belief," in which the methods of natural theology are vindicated against modern objections by the Rev. W. D. Wilson, of Cornell University; "Normal Music Course" (First Reader), a series of exercises defining and illustrating the art of sight-reading, by John W. Tufts and H. E. Holt; "Cumulative Method for Learning German," by Adolphe Dreyspring, adapted to school or home instruction; and the 8th and 9th volumes of the Parchment Shakespeare, which will be complete in twelve volumes.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. announce for this week, but may not publish until next week, Bret Harte's new story, "In the Carquinez Woods," a story of early California life, and therefore in the domain which is peculiarly Mr. Harte's own. The book will be a Little Classic volume. For the 8th they announce the initial volume of the new series of American Commonwealths, which will be edited by Horace E. Scudder, and will describe in a popular but accurate style the history of the various States of the Union which have had the most noteworthy and permanent political influence either in shaping the national government, or any distinctive political history of their own. This first volume is devoted to Virginia, and is written by John Esten Cooke, who is one of the best known of Southern writers now living. As he is a Virginian, and strongly attached to his native State, we are justified in expecting a work of great interest and value from his pen. The volumes of this series will be published in the same general style as the American Men of Letters and American Statesmen, but in cloth of different color. At the same time will appear the first two volumes of the new edition of Emerson's works from entirely new plates. The first of these is the book which has been hitherto known as "Miscellanies," but now is to be entitled "Nature, Addresses and Lectures," and will have a portrait of Emerson etched by Schoff. The second volume includes the "First Series of Emerson's Essays." The page of these volumes is so attractive, and the works of Emerson are so generally recognized as belonging to the foremost literature of all time, that this edition will undoubtedly have a very wide circulation.

MACMILLAN & Co. have in preparation a new edition of Mr. T. H. Ward's "English Poets," revised throughout and augmented with extracts from the three poets recently dead. Rossetti will be treated by Mr. Pater, O'Shaughnessy by Mr. Gosse, and James Thompson (author of "The City of Dreadful Night") by Mr. Philip Bourke Marston.

THE sixth annual meeting of the Library Association of the United Kingdom will be held this year at Liverpool on Tuesday, September 11, and the three following days. It is proposed to pay special attention to the subject of classification. Papers are promised on several questions relating to library administration and bibliography; and reports will be presented on cataloguing and on size notation. The local committee propose to hold an exhibition of objects and appliances illustrating the working arrangements, etc., of libraries in all departments.

"THE LIBRARY HAND-BOOK," we learn from the London Academy, "is the title of a work upon which Messrs. H. R. Tedder and C. E. Thomas have been for a long time occupied, and which they hope shortly to publish. It will contain an account of all the libraries of Great Britain and Ireland of any importance, as well as the chief of those of other countries, with an introduction devoted to library management, including directions for arranging and cataloguing books, library-buildings and appliances, binding, etc. The price will be moderate, as it is intended to make the 'Library Hand-Book' of use to all persons who either own books or frequent libraries."

SEPTEMBER 1:

IN THE CARQUINEZ WOODS.

By BRET HARTE, author of "The Luck of Roaring Camp," "Tales of the Argonauts," etc. 1 vol., 18mo, Little Classic style, $1.

Mr. Harte is probably the most popular of living story-tellers. He has never lost the cunning which made his California tales the wonder and delight of all readers. "In the Carquinez Woods" is a story of early Californian life, and therefore appeals with peculiar force to those who appreciate the character and direction of Mr. Harte's genius.

SEPTEMBER 8:

WORKS OF RALPH WALDO EMERSON.

A New and Complete Edition of the Works of RALPH WALDO EMERSON. Riverside Edition. In eleven volumes, 12mo, printed from new electrotypes plates, and tastefully bound. Price, $1.75 a volume.

This edition will include the prose and poetical writings of Mr. Emerson hitherto published in book-form, and, in addition, two new volumes of essays, lectures, and speeches, prepared for publication, in accordance with the terms of Mr. Emerson's will, by his literary executor, Mr. J. Elliot Cabot.

Two new portraits of Mr. Emerson will appear in this edition, one of them an etching by Schoff, from an early portrait taken in England, which will form the frontispiece to "Nature;" and the other a steel engraving by Wilcox, from a late photograph, which will go in the volume of "Poems."

Vol. I. NATURE, ADDRESSES, AND LECTURES.

[This book has heretofore borne the name "Miscellanies."]

Vol. II. ESSAYS. FIRST SERIES.

AMERICAN COMMONWEALTHS.

A series of volumes describing in a popular style, but with great care for historical accuracy, the careers of such States of the Union as have exerted a positive influence in the shaping of the national government, or have illustrated in a noteworthy degree any peculiar political principles. Edited by HORACE E. SCUDDER.

The volumes of this series will be uniform in size and general style with the series of American Statesmen and American Men of Letters.

Vol. I. VIRGINIA. A HISTORY OF THE PEOPLE.

By JOHN ESTEN COOKE, author of "The Virginia Comedians," "Life of Stonewall Jackson," etc. 1 vol., 16mo, with a Map of Colonial Virginia. Gilt top, $1.25.

Mr. Cooke brings to this work a familiar and intimate acquaintance with the literature of his subject, a hearty attachment to the soil of his native State, and an admirable gift of narration. It is proper that the series should be introduced by a narrative of this commonwealth, and readers of American history will find the story of Virginia told now for the first time in fitting Cumulative Method for Learning German.

ADAPTED TO SCHOOLS OR HOME INSTRUCTION. By ADOLPHE DREYSPRING. 8vo, cloth, $1.50.

The "Cumulative Method" is based upon the theory that in the acquisition of a foreign language every available faculty should be brought into active service. Thus the author makes the ear a useful auxiliary in distinguishing and determining the verbal modifications which the gender of German has hitherto made so tedious and difficult, by availing itself of certain vocal cues to which the subject noun in each case furnishes the key-note. These constantly reappear in new relations and combinations, until the word with all its variations and idiomatic uses has become thoroughly familiar to the learner.

PRICES TO BE DOUBLED ON YOUNG'S ANALYTICAL CONCORDANCE

After October 15th.

NOTICE TO THE TRADE.

The only edition of Young's Analytical Concordance hereafter to be printed in America will be the authorized edition, printed from the original latest revised plates. These have been sent us by Dr. Young from Edinburgh. The reprint plates, which did Dr. Young, as an author, so great injustice, are now in Dr. Young's possession. The price was reduced to $2.50, cloth, for the sole purpose of driving out of the American market these imperfect plates. This object having been accomplished, the price will be advanced so as to allow the author a reasonable profit. These advance prices are about one half the prices at which the work is sold in England.

Take pleasure in announcing that E. P. Roe's New Novel, is completed, and that the first edition of 25,000 copies will be ready about September 15.

His Sombre Rivals

FROM THE PREFACE.

The following story has been taking form in my mind for several years, and at last I have been able to write it out. With a regret akin to sadness, I take my leave, this August day, of people who have become very real to me, whose joys and sorrows I have made my own. Although a Northern man, I think my Southern readers will feel that I have sought to do justice to their motives. At this distance from the late Civil War, it is time that passion and prejudice sank below the horizon, and among the surviving soldiers who were arrayed against each other I think they have practically disappeared. Stern and prolonged conflict taught mutual respect.

I have endeavored to portray the battle of Bull Run as it could appear to a civilian spectator: to give a suggestive picture and not a general description. The following scenes are imaginary, and colored by personal reminiscence. I was in the service nearly four years, two of which were spent with the cavalry.

The title of the story will naturally lead the reader to expect that deep shadows rest upon many of its pages. I know it is scarcely the fashion of the present time to portray men and women who feel very deeply about anything, but there certainly was such a feeling at the time of which I write, as, in truth, there is to-day. The heart of humanity is like the ocean. There are depths to be stirred when the causes are adequate.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SO

WILL PUBLISH ON SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 8th:

The Philosophic Basis of Theism.

An Examination of the Personality of Man to Ascertain his Capacity to Know and See the Validity of the Principle Underlying the Defence of Theism. By SAMUEL D.D., LL.D., Professor in the Theological Department of Yale College. 1 vol., 8vo.

It is the object of this book to give clear and adequate expression to the arguments for Theism and Christianity in the light of the thinking of the present day. The author treats, with a fullness and scope never before attempted, great questions which lie at the basis of all reasonable belief in the existence of God and the truth of Christianity incidentally in the reality and trustworthiness of knowledge in general. The subject is one of those that the world is chiefly occupied with, and Professor Harris' contribution to its solution is among the most satisfactory that has been offered.

Although the argument is extended and highly philosophical, it is by no means beyond the reach of all who enjoy close reasoning and the discussion of themes of high import. Indeed, the work is expressly intended for such.

The Scriptural Idea of Man.

By MARK HOPKINS, D.D., LL.D. 1 vol., 12mo. $1.

In these lectures, which may be considered a system of psychology drawn from the Bible, Dr. Hopkins shows how man has been created in the image of God, in knowledge, feeling, freedom, and causative power; as endowed with dominion over the family, and in his present state. In its main lines the book follows the system of the author's Outline Study of Man, though the subject is treated from the religious instead of the purely philosophical point of view. The writings of the greatest thinkers of the present day are constantly cited, and the entire discussion is with reference to the prevailing modes of thought and feeling.

Christian Charity in the Ancient Church.

By Dr. GERHARD UHLHORN, author of "The Conflict of Christianity with Heathenism." 1 vol., crown 8vo. $2.50.

Dr. Uhlhorn is favorably known on this side of the Atlantic by his able and fascinating treatment of one of the most important chapters in history, The Conflict of Christianity with Heathenism.

In this kindred work he shows that modern charity is the creation of Christianity, by drawing out in detail the difference between the ancient and the modern world.

The forms which liberality took in the ancient world, such as the extravagant distributions and special duties of the Roman Empire, are compared with the contributions of the early Christians for the support of the poor and the care of the Church for the orphan and widow, the action of Christianity on slavery, the new scope and meaning given to hospitality, and the concern manifested for the lot of prisoners and captives. In this review of the earlier history of charity a picture of the Church is drawn which one would not find elsewhere without searching through many languages.

Plato's Best Thoughts.

As compiled from Professor Jowett's translation of the Dialogues of Plato. By Rev. BULKLEY. 1 vol., crown 8vo. New edition. Price reduced to $1.50.

"Prof. Bulkley's volume presents, in the most accessible form, the wide range of subjects treated by Plato exhibits him in all his varied aspects of philosopher, moralist, socialist, logician, scientist, and critic. It is in some of the best scholars in the country. The arrangement by topics alphabetically is very convenient, and the additions to the original add much to the value of the work."

 Testament and the English Version," ut of Dr. Schaff's studies in con-the Revision Committee, and is onderful thesaurus of information on every subject relating to the history and the critical study of the New Testament Scriptures.

DODD, MEAD & Co. announce that E. P.
 Roe's new novel, "His Sombre Rivals," is completed, and that the first edition of 25,000 copies will be ready about September 15. The story deals with our Civil War, and has therefore more than ordinary interest for a very large class of readers. The author, who was in active service during the war, has endeavored to be impartial throughout the whole narrative. In referring to his sentiments in the matter, in his preface, he says: "Although a Northern man, I think my Southern readers will feel that I have sought to do justice to their motives."

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. will publish on the 15th the first of their holiday books for this season, "Twenty Poems from Longfellow," with about 50 illustrations and a portrait, all by the poet's son, Ernest Longfellow. The book will be in the usual form of holiday volumes, octavo, very handsomely printed and bound;
 and the conjunction of the father and son in such a volume will lend to it a peculiar interest. At the same time will appear the Bodley book for 1883, entitled "The English Bodley Family," describing interesting and picturesque scenes and incidents in English history in the attractive style of which Mr. Scudder is master, and illustrated with numerous pictures; a dramatization of Longfellow's "Courtship of Miles Standish" for the use of schools and for private theatricals;
 a new edition of Richardson's "Primer of American Literature," with portraits of twelve distinguished American authors; and a little book by Mrs. James T. Fields, entitled "How to Help the Poor," containing practical suggestions of great value, the results of her observation and experience during many years of philanthropic work. On the 22d they will publish the long-announced Riverside edition of Shakespeare, which Richard Grant White has edited in 3 crown octavo volumes, the first containing the Comedies, the second the Tragedies and Poems, and the third the Historical Plays.
 A short introduction is given to each play, and explanatory foot-notes, brief and concise, are placed at the bottom of the pages. The type is large, and the edition can hardly fail to be the most popular, as it certainly is nearly if not quite the best popular edition of Shakespeare ever published. With this will be published the second series of "Essays" and "Representative Men," forming the third and fourth volumes of the new Riverside edition of Emerson's complete works. "The Voyage of the Jeannette," which gives an account of that ill-fated expedition in which so much heroism and endurance were displayed, probably one of the most interesting books of exploration ever written; a book on "Pledges," by Leonard A. Jones, author of several works on mortgages, railroad securities, and related subjects; and a "Diplomatic History of the War for the Union," forming the fifth volume of the works of William H. Seward, and comprising, in addition to a Memoir by the editor, George E. Baker, the Journal which Mr. Seward kept, when Secretary of State, of the progress, and incidents of the Civil War, several important diplomatic papers, a number of speeches made before his retirement from office, and some after that period, the whole completing one of the most important series of political works ever produced in America.

In referring to his sentiments in the matter, in his preface, he says: "Although a Northern man, I think my Southern readers will feel that I have sought to do justice to their motives."

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. will publish on the 15th the first of their holiday books for this season, "Twenty Poems from Longfellow," with about 50 illustrations and a portrait, all by the poet's son, Ernest Longfellow. The book will be in the usual form of holiday volumes, octavo, very handsomely printed and bound; and the conjunction of the father and son in such a volume will lend to it a peculiar interest. At the same time will appear the Bodley book for 1883, entitled "The English Bodley Family," describing interesting and picturesque scenes and incidents in English history in the attractive style of which Mr. Scudder is master, and illustrated with numerous pictures; a dramatization of Longfellow's "Courtship of Miles Standish" for the use of schools and for private theatricals; a new edition of Richardson's "Primer of American Literature," with portraits of twelve distinguished American authors; and a little book by Mrs. James T. Fields, entitled "How to Help the Poor," containing practical suggestions of great value, the results of her observation and experience during many years of philanthropic work. On the 22d they will publish the long-announced Riverside edition of Shakespeare, which Richard Grant White has edited in 3 crown octavo volumes, the first containing the Comedies, the second the Tragedies and Poems, and the third the Historical Plays. A short introduction is given to each play, and explanatory foot-notes, brief and concise, are placed at the bottom of the pages. The type is large, and the edition can hardly fail to be the most popular, as it certainly is nearly if not quite the best popular edition of Shakespeare ever published. With this will be published the second series of "Essays" and "Representative Men," forming the third and fourth volumes of the new Riverside edition of Emerson's complete works. "The Voyage of the Jeannette," which gives an account of that ill-fated expedition in which so much heroism and endurance were displayed, probably one of the most interesting books of exploration ever written; a book on "Pledges," by Leonard A. Jones, author of several works on mortgages, railroad securities, and related subjects; and a "Diplomatic History of the War for the Union," forming the fifth volume of the works of William H. Seward, and comprising, in addition to a Memoir by the editor, George E. Baker, the Journal which Mr. Seward kept, when Secretary of State, of the progress, and incidents of the Civil War, several important diplomatic papers, a number of speeches made before his retirement from office, and some after that period, the whole completing one of the most important series of political works ever produced in America.

Connecticut. Special acts and resolutions passed by the General Assembly of the State of Connecticut at the January session, 1883; published by authority. Hartford, Wiley, Waterman & Eaton, 1883. 2-699-894 p. O. pap., $1.25.

Delitzsch, Franz, D.D. Jewish artisan life in the time of Jesus, according to the oldest sources; tr. from the 3d rev. ed. by Rev. Bernhard Pick. N. Y., Funk & Wagnalls, [1883]. 91 p. S. (Standard lib., no. 96.) pap., 15 c.

In this treatise, Prof. Delitzsch, who has a world-wide reputation as one of the ablest scholars in Biblical science, sketches the public business and the private home life of the Jews in the time of Christ.

Denison, Mrs. Mary A. His triumph. Bost., Lee & Shepard, 1883. 4+248 p. S. cl., $1.

A novel, by the author of "That husband of mine." Turns upon the point of a wife giving up a certainty of fame upon the stage to gratify her husband. Written in a bright, animated way.

Dixon, Rob. B. Fore and aft: a story of actual sea life. Bost., Lee & Shepard, 1883. 255 p. D. cl., $1.25.

Account of a fourteen months' cruise from New York to Vera Cruz, from Vera Cruz to Havre, and thence to Boston. The author shipped at eighteen as a sailor, and was promoted to first mate; he relates his actual experience with all its hardships and perils and its few pleasures as a warning to boys going to sea; for, with the exception of Dixon's "Two years before the mast," he believes there is scarcely a book that gives a correct picture of a sailor's life.

Donovan, J. W. Trial practice and trial lawyers: treatise on trials of fact before juries, including sketches of advocates, turning points, incidents, rules, tact and art in winning cases, condensed speeches, a brief summary of the law of actions, evidence, contracts, crimes, torts, wills, etc. St. Louis, W. The Publishers' Weekly.

SEPTEMBER 8, 1883.

PUBLISHERS are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, to insure correctness in the final entry.

The trade are invited to send "Communications" to the editor on any topic of interest to the trade, and as to which an interchange of opinion is desirable. Also, matter for "Notes and Queries" gratefully received.

In case of business changes, notification or card should be immediately sent to this office for entry under "Business Notes." New catalogues issued will also be mentioned when forwarded.

THE BOOKSELLERS' AND STATIONERS' PROVIDENT ASSOCIATION.

A REGULAR monthly meeting of the Board of Trustees was held on Wednesday evening, Aug. 29, 1883, at Cassell & Co.'s office, Mr. C. T. Dillingham in the chair. Twenty-six new members were elected as follows:

W. H. Frey, Cleveland, O.	William Storm, New York.
W. R. Austin, "	R. W. Smith, "
William Schmidt, New York.	W. Stanley Camp, "
F. Wittmann, "	Edward Lange, "
James Sadlier, "	Jno. Werner, "
J. W. Marshall, "	Charles M. Green, "
W. F. Pollard, "	Thos. Guille, "
W. H. Dean, "	Thos. Kelly, "
B. F. O'Neill, "	W. O. Terry, "
S. F. Walker, "	B. T. Searing, "
A. A. Frazier, "	Elihu H. Ropes, "
F. H. Dunkinson, "	F. S. Warren, "
John H. Cook, "	William T. Brown, "

The list of twenty names from San Francisco trade was not received in time for action at this meeting. The following Assistant Vice-Presidents were elected:

Walter R. Austin, for Cleveland, Ohio.
R. K. Smith, for Chicago, Ill.
Edward Meeks, for Philadelphia, Pa.

The Association is in excellent condition, no death having occurred in nearly sixteen months, while its membership is being rapidly increased. Ninety-one new names were added during the summer months.

The next issue of the WEEKLY will be the regular Fall Announcement Number. We trust that, in view of the increased labor involved in getting up this special number, our readers will bear with us in the event of any delay in the date of issue.

A SYNOPSIS OF COPYRIGHT DECISIONS.*

BY WILLIAM L. GRISWOLD,

Clerk in the Copyright Office.

THE Librarian of Congress frequently has occasion to send to inquirers the circular printed below. The Librarian is not authorized to give other advice than to resort to the courts in conformity with the provisions of the law. The "law," however, is not always understood, even by those who habitually do business under it. The text, indeed, is easily accessible; but it has been said of him who is acquainted with the text only of laws that "il sait tout, mais il ne le sait qu'à moitié."

I have endeavored to bring together a synopsis of the leading decisions, not in the form of a treatise on copyright in general (which has been ably done in Drone's extensive work), but in such a shape as to be of most practical value. The circular referred to is as follows:

"In reply to your communication of — I have to advise you that no question concerning the validity of a copyright can be determined under our laws by any other authority than a United States court. This Office has no discretion or authority to refuse any application for a copyright coming within the provisions of the law, and all questions as to priority or infringement are purely judicial questions, with which the undersigned has nothing to do. A certificate of copyright is prima facie evidence of an exclusive title, and is highly valuable as the foundation of a legal claim to the property involved in the publication. As no claim to exclusive property in the contents of a printed book or other article can be enforced under the common law, Congress has very properly provided the guarantees of such property which are embodied in the 'Act to revise, consolidate, and amend the statutes relating to patents and copyrights,' approved July 8, 1870. If you obtain a copyright under the provisions of this act, you can claim damages from any person infringing your rights by printing or selling the same article; but upon all questions as to what constitutes an infringement, or what measure of damages may be recovered, all parties are left to their proper remedy in the courts of the United States."

COPYRIGHT DECISIONS.

ABRIDGMENTS. "Courts have sometimes supposed that the same rule of decision should be applied to a copyright as to a patent for a machine, and consequently that an abridgment of an original work, made and condensed by another person without the consent of the author of the original work, ought to be regarded as an infringement; but the language of the respective acts of Congress making provision for the protection of such rights is different; and the opposite doctrine has been too long established to be considered open to controversy." (Clifford, j., circuit, May, 1869, —4 Clifford, 73; —Lawrence v. Dana.)

ADVERTISEMENTS [see Methods of advertising. Charts], in general, not lawful subject. (Circuit, July, 1880; Benedict, j., 18 Blatchford, 304.) Cuts illustrating, not lawful subject. Defendants copied drawings in plaintiff's catalog of furniture. British case [Cobbett v. Woodard] cited 101 U. S. 106; same overruled, Grace v. Newman, 19 Lag Rep., Eq., 623; —U. S. case, [Collender v. Griffith] billiard-tables, 11 Blatchford, 212. See PRINTS.

But if the object is not an illustration of articles for sale, but a "work of the imagination, and has obvious artistic qualities," it is "a subject of copyright, without regard to the use which the plaintiff has made or may intend to make."

it." (Yuengling v. Schile, circuit, April, 1882. Brown, d. j., 12 Fed. Rep., 100).

ANNOUNCEMENT OF copyright. Copyright invalid if "claim" of different date from that of entry. "The failure to publish the notice demanded by the Act, in the manner directed, creates a fatal defect in the plaintiff's title. Even tho the failure to publish the statutory notice arose from mistake, this Court would have no power to accept the intention of the party, in place of a performance, any more in respect to the insertion of that notice on the proper page, than in respect to the deposit of the title or of the book." Injunction denied. (Betts, j., Mar. 1848, circuit, "Baker & Scribner v. J. S. Taylor,"—2 Blatchford, 84.) See NOTICE.

Date omitted. "Upon the trial of the issue in this case, it appearing from the face of the map . . . that the plaintiff, as author and proprietor of the said map, had not caused to be impressed upon the face thereof the words denoting the date of the entry according to the Act of Congress . . . the Court thereupon decided and so instructed the jury, that by reason of the said omission, the plaintiff was not entitled to claim the copyright." (Circuit, June, 1820, "King v. Force," 2 Cranch, 209.)

ARRANGEMENTS OF musical compositions not per se subject of copyright. "The question is whether the adaptation of the music in the 'Roschen Polka,' already composed and in public use, to the 'Serious Family Polka,' is or is not a musical composition within the meaning of the statute. It is not claimed that Loder is the author of the melody or air; but simply that by skill & labor he has adapted it to a new use, or to a new instrument. . . . The musical composition contemplated by the statute must, doubtless, be substantially a new & original work; and not a copy of a piece already produced, with additions & variations, which a writer of music with experience & skill might readily make". (Nelson, j., "Jollie v. Jaques", circuit, Oct. 1850,—1 Blatch, 626.)

ART, WORK OF, see Print.

ASSIGNMENTS, see Contracts.

BLANK [account] BOOKS are not the subject of copyright." (Supreme Court by Bradley, j.) "Baker v. Seldin," Oct. 1879—101 U. S., 98.—"Had he used the words of description instead of diagrams (which merely stand in the place of words) there could not be the slightest doubt that others, applying the art to practical use, might lawfully draw the lines and diagrams which were in the author's mind." . . . "Whether the art might or might not have been patented, is a question which is not before us." . . . "The latter can only be secured, if it can be secured at all, by letters patent." British ruling, cited 101 U. S., 106, "to say that a particular mode of ruling a book constituted an object for a copyright is absurd." See, also, DRESS PATTERNS.

CHART defined. "It is not possible to hold such an article [advertising card] to be a chart, within the meaning of the act. The word 'chart,' used in that statute refers to a form of map." (Circuit, July, 1880, Benedict, j.,—18 Blatchford, 303) see DRESS PATTERNS.

CHROMOS, see Advertisements.

COMPILATIONS. "There is a class of works, such as catalogs, which are mere compilations in the simplest form, and can hardly have any standing under copyright laws, which are intended to favor science and learning, and not mere industry. 2 Paine, 390. Some works, such as modern dictionaries, are mainly mere compilations, yet require learning and intellectual labor."

4 Clifford, 32. "The author of such a book has as much right in his plan, arrangement, and combination of the materials collected and presented, as he has in his thoughts, sentiments, reflections and opinions." (Clifford, j., May, 1869, 4 Clifford, 75.) "The decision in Kelly v. Morris, (L. R. 1 Eq., 697,) is that in the case of a map, guide book or directory, or the like, where there are certain common objects of information, which must, if described correctly, be described in the same words, a subsequent compiler is bound to do for himself that which was done by the first compiler; . . . and that the only use he can make of a previous publication of that kind is to verify his own calculations and results when obtained."—Idem, 82. . . . "If the parts of the works cannot be separated, so that the injunction prevents also the publication of his own literary production, so mixed with that of another, he has only himself to blame." Idem, 85. "The rule appears now to be settled that the compiler of a work in which absolute originality is of necessity excluded, is entitled, without exposing himself to a charge of piracy, to make use of preceding works upon the subject, where he bestows such mental labor upon what he has taken, and subjects it to such revision and correction as to produce an original result; provided that he does not deny the use made of such preceding works, and the alterations are not merely colorable. (Coppinger, 91; cited, 1 Flippin, 239. April, 1872).

COMPILEX. "A compiler is an author, within the meaning of the Constitution and the copyright laws." (Benedict, j., Feb. 1879, 15 Blatch, 555).

CONTRACTS. "It was settled in England that to constitute a person a 'proprietor,' either by a transfer of the copyright or of the inchoate rights thereto, the transfer must be in writing. The same rule seems to have been adopted here in the only case in which the question has arisen. (Nelson, j., in 8 Wend, 562.) No distinction has been or can be made between assignments before and after copyright. (10 How., 477."—4 Clifford 19 (1869).

DATE OF ENTRY, see Announcement, Publication.

DEPOSIT OF copies. Undersigned memorandum of receipt not evidence. "The memorandum under the certificate has no validity as evidence. It might have been put there by any person. It would be unsafe to hold that a memorandum under a certificate, or endorsed upon it, is part of the certificate. . . . Such extraneous matter may be added by other persons, or may be erased or altered, without involving the offence of forgery." (Supreme, Oct., 1881, opinion of justice Bradley. 104 U. S. 561.)

Dramatic compositions, also, to be protected by copyright, must be deposited. "An author must put his claim into the form of a well defined specification, work, or composition, and so place it upon record that he cannot alter it to suit circumstances, and so that other authors and inventors may know precisely what it is he has written or invented. . . . To secure the copyright of a book or a dramatic composition, the work must be published within a reasonable time after the filing of the title page. (. . . The expression 'before publication' is based upon the idea that a printing or publishing will soon occur. . .) and two copies be delivered to the librarian." (Hunt, j., "Boucicault v. Hart," circuit, June, 1875, 13 Blatchford, 55.)

DEVICE, method, or invention, in connection with copyright matter not lawful subject. "The maps were marked with arbitrary coloring and signs, explained by a reference or key. . . . The complainants have no more an exclusive right to use the form of the characters which they employed to express their ideas than they have to use the form of type they select to print the key." ("Perris v. Hexamer," Waite, chief justice, Oct., 1878, 99 U. S., 675.)

DRAMATIC COMPOSITIONS, see Deposit of copies, Immoral productions, Spectacular plays, Stage, Titles.

DRESS PATTERNS are books, within the meaning of the law, (1 Bond, 548, "Drury v. Ewing."); lawful subject: "It is obvious that such designs [for cutting dresses, etc.] could only be published for information, and not [like account books] for use in themselves." 101 U. S., 107.

FANCY ARTICLES, see Prints.

ENTRY, see Publication.

FRAUDS. "An author . . . may restrain another from the publication of literary matter purporting to have been written by him, but which, in fact, was never so written. . . . The same rule would apply in favor of a person known to the public under a nom de plume." (Clemens v. Belford, circuit, Jan., 1883, Blodgett, d. j.—14 Fed. Rep., 729.)

IDEAS, see Device.

IMMORAL productions, not subject of copyright. "An injunction should not be allowed in this case . . . on the ground that it is not within the scope of the power of Congress to encourage the production of such exhibitions, [as 'Black Crook'] as they neither promote the progress of science nor of the useful arts." (Deady, d. j., Feb. 1867, Maguire v. Martinetti, 1 Abbott, 364.) Injunction denied.

INFRINGEMENT [see Compilations], Injunctions. Infringer cannot be compelled to surrender unsold copies or plates. (Chapman v. Ferry, circuit, July, 1882, Deady, d. j.—12 Fed. Rep., 695. "Damages not to be got through equity.")

INJUNCTIONS. "No injunction has ever been granted in copyright cases, except upon the ground of protecting a pecuniary and existing interest in an existing book. There must be 'damnum' as well as 'injuria,' and one of the strongest grounds for issuing the writ is to prevent damages from competition. . . . It is not enough that a book is in preparation; it must be actually on sale."—(4 Clifford, 31.)

KEYS, see Device.

METHOD of advertising [e. g., imitation of colors of paints] not lawful subject. (Circuit, July, 1880: Benedict, j.—18 Blatchford, 304.)

MUSICAL COMPOSITIONS, see Arrangement, Orchestration.

NAME OF AUTHOR, see Frauds.

NAMES, see Titles.

NEW EDITIONS [see Notice of Copyright]. "Copyrights of the editions of a work, other than the original edition, are granted for additions to, emendations of, or improvements in the work. . . . Subsequent editions without alterations or additions should have the same entry, because they find their only protection in the original copyright." (Clifford, May, 1869.—4 Clifford, 61-2.)

NOTICE of Copyright [see Penalty]. Original notice need not be repeated in successive editions. "Publishers may be in the habit of inserting more than one notice in new editions, but there is no act of Congress prescribing any such condition." ("Lawrence vs. Dana," circuit, May, 1869, Clifford, j., 4 Clifford, 61, 63.) See ANNOUNCEMENT.

NOT LAWFUL SUBJECT, see Print.

ORCHESTRATION from piano score violation of common-law right of composer. "Such a work is a single creation, of which the orchestration is an essential part; every reproduction of it from something else is necessarily an imperfect imitation, which, nevertheless, occupies the same field, and may ruin the original. In this respect an opera is more like a patented invention than like a common book." ("Thomas v. Lennon," circuit, Jan. 1883, Lowell, c. j.—14 Fed. Rep. 853.)

PENALTY prescribed for printing copyright notice without entry not collectable if object on which it is printed is not lawful subject of copyright. ("Rosenbach v. Dreyfuss," district, April, 1880, Choate, d. j.—2 Fed. Rep. 217.)

PRINT defined. "It means, apparently, a picture, something complete in itself, similar in kind to an engraving, cut or photograph. It clearly does not mean something printed on paper, that is not intended for use as a picture, but is itself to be cut up and embroidered, and thus made into an entirely different article, as a balloon or a hanging basket." ("Rosenbach v. Dreyfuss," district, Apr., 1880, Choate, d. j.—2 Fed. Rep. 221.)

PROPRIETOR [see Contracts] defined to mean "the representative of an artist or author who might himself obtain a copyright." This in spite of different wording of act of 1870. (Circuit, 1882, 12 Fed. Rep., 105.)

PSEUDONYM [see Fraud] not a trade-mark. Clemens v. Belford, 14 Fed. Rep., 729.

PUBLICATION. "It is argued for the plaintiffs, that these alleged sales were only consignments of the work in advance of the publication, and that publication, by putting the books in circulation, was not made until after the date of the deposit of the title. . . . A sale naturally imports publication. The purchaser having the right to know the contents of the book, and make them known to others, no presumption can be raised that this right was not exercised, or that an actual publication did not follow the sale. On the contrary, the presumption is the other way. The 4th section of the act . . . denies all benefits to a person unless he shall, before the publication, deposit the title page, etc." Injunction denied. (Betts, j., "Baker & Scribner v. J. S. Taylor," 2 Blatchford, 55.) See STAGE.

PUBLIC RECORDS. "It is contended that boundaries of townships are not a legitimate subject of copyright—that they are fixed and defined by statute law, and that the marking of them down upon paper is but a transcription in another form of the legal enactment. What is claimed in this regard is true in regard to all original materials from which maps are made and that is that none of them are subject to copyright—they are open to all. But no one has the right to avail himself of the enterprise, labor and expens of another in the ascertaining of those materials, and the combining and arrangement of them, and the representing them on paper." ("Farmer v. Calvert," 1 Flippin, 239 circuit, Apr. 1872, Longear, c. j.)

RENEWAL. Right to renew belongs exclusively to author or to widow and children. (See :

Woodbury and Minot, 42. Circuit court, 1846, opinion of L. Woodbury, associate justice :) "So the extension allowed under act of 1831 [repeated in subsequent acts] of a copyright taken out under that act, looks entirely to the author and his family, and not to assignees."—But the author may bar, for a consideration, his statutory right to a renewal, and the publisher thus acquire protection against the author for claim of royalty. See 7 Blatchford, 152. (Circuit court, 1870.) But this protection against possible claim of author, involves no protection against the public.

The analogy of patents is cited in renewal cases, and especially the following argument: "No matter how much any one assignee, or all the assignees, may desire the extension of a patent—no matter tho the whole of the original franchise may have been assigned to one person, and he may desire an extension—no matter tho assignee of a part, or even of the whole, make application in writing, and set forth the grounds thereof—no matter what grounds they set forth—no matter tho among such grounds, they sho that they have furnished all the capital which has been used in perfecting the discovery and bringing it into use—no matter tho they prove, by indisputable evidence, that they have been not merely just, but even generous to the inventor, and liberal to the public, and have been impoverished by their generosity, while the inventor has become opulent, and the country has grown in wealth and prosperity by the expenditure of their capital in bringing the invention into use—no matter tho they sho all this, and sho besides, that the patentee, altho indemnified by them, refuses to apply on their behalf and to set forth his accounts on oath, yet the assignees must be dismissed without a hearing. It thus appears, that not only is the patentee a necessary agent in obtaining the extension, but that the policy of the law is to encourage genius by furnishing additional stimulants to inventors, not to assignees, or even patrons of inventors, and the law can hav effect only at the solicitation of the inventor, in consideration of his exclusive merits and for his benefit and his benefit alone."

Why this careful consideration of the inventor? And why this studied neglect of the assignee? Simply because the constitution disclaims all care of assignees, while it positively enjoins the protection of inventors." (Wilson v. Rousseau, 1 Blatchford, 25.)

SPECTACULAR plays not subject of copyright. "All the witnesses agree that the play has no originality, and that it consists almost wholly of mere scenic effects taken from well known dramas and operas. . . . The dialog is very scant, and appears in the light of a new accessory.—a piece of word machinery tacked on the ballet and tableaux. . . . To call such a spectacle a 'dramatic composition' is an abuse of language." (Deady, d. j., Feb. 1867, "Maguire v. Martinetti," 1 Abbott, 364.) Injunction denied.

STAGE. A performance on the stage is not such a publication as wil destroy the exclusiv common-law right of the author and his assigns to a dramatical or lyrical composition, tho the composer is an alien. ("Thomas v. Lincoln," circuit, Jan., 1883, Lowell, c. j.—14 Fed. Rep. 851.)

TITLE, [see Trade-Mark] aside from contents, not subject of copyright. "The right secured by the act, however, is the property in the literary composition,—the product of the mind and genius of the author, and not in the name or title given to it. The title does not necessarily involve any literary composition; it may not be, and certainly the statute does not require that it should be, the product of the author's mind.

It is a mere appendage, which only identifies, and frequently does not in any way describe, the literary composition itself. . . . If there were no piracy of the copyrighted book, there could be no remedy . . . for the use of a title which could not be copyrighted independently of the book." (Shepley, c. j., "Osgood v. Allen," Nov., 1872, 1 Holmes, 192.—compare, Nelson, j., "Jollie v. Jaques," 1 Blatchford, 627.)

But title of a dramatic composition can be protected at common law.—Defendant pleads that tho title was the same, his play is another play from that owned by plaintiffs.—"The name of the 'The Two Orphans' as characterizing a particular dramatic representation, has great value to plaintiffs. It is the name by which their play is known to the general public, and when defendant announced the performance of 'Les Deux Orphelines,' or 'The Two Orphans,' under both the French and English titles, if it was not his intention to produce that play, the effect of it was to mislead the public, and thereby injure the plaintiffs in their future business. . . . From such a use of this name the court is of the opinion that the defendant should be restrained." (Philadelphia common-pleas, July, 1875, Pratt, j., "Shook v. Wood," 10 Phila., 374.) Injunction ordered.

TRADE-MARKS. Title in name of a periodical as a trade mark may exist, but "there is no such thing as property in a trade-mark as an abstract name. It is the right which a person has to use a certain name for articles which he has manufactured, so he may prevent another person from using it, because the mark or name denotes that articles so marked were manufactured by a certain person, and no one else can hav the right to put the same name upon the his goods, and then represent them to hav been manufactured by the person whose mark it is." (Langdale, cited by Shepley, j., Nov., 1872, 1 Holmes, 195.)

THE SPANISH LITERARY ARTISTIC EXHIBITION.

THIS Exposition will open at Madrid, December 15, 1883, and will include autographs, pamphlets, newspapers, books, musical compositions, architectural plans, drawings, paintings, engravings, works of sculpture, and other analogous productions. It will also give room to the necessary implements for such work, such as ink, pens, stationery, printers' and binders' tools, musical instruments, pencils, brushes, colors, palettes, drawing-maps, and all objects required in the execution and furtherance of art and literature. All objects exhibited will be for sale. The prizes offered will be in money, gold, silver, and bronze medals, diplomas, etc. It is not necessary to dwell upon the importance of such an exhibition for introducing foreign productions into the Spanish kingdom. Any information required by those desiring to exhibit, can be had by addressing the Agencia Internacional, para Comisiones Literarias, Madrid.

OBITUARY.

MAX GRIEBEL.

His many friends in the trade will no doubt feel as much shocked as we were to learn of the sudden death of Max Griebel, the manager of the New York branch of L. Prang & Co. Mr. Griebel was known to be suffering from a chronic disease of the stomach, but this was not considered of an alarming character. A few weeks ago, by advice of his physician, he went to the White Mountains, and the mountain air seemed to greatly benefit him, but two weeks ago his condition made it necessary for him to return to his home in Brooklyn. From that time up to his death he was confined to his bed. On Saturday morning (September 1) he expressed a hope of getting round again, but in the afternoon he suddenly grew worse and expired.

Mr. Griebel was born December 12, 1841, at Berlin, Germany. After receiving an excellent college education, he was apprenticed in the large linen house of Goschenhofer & Roesicke, for four years. After serving his time he entered the celebrated house of Hermann Gerson, the A. T. Stewart of Berlin, where he filled a very important position. In October, 1864, he had to give up his position to serve one year in the Prussian army. In consequence of the humiliating treatment there received, he resolved to leave the country and emigrate to America. He landed in New York in February, 1866, and about three years later joined Mr. E. Stone in the manufacture of ladies' linen and lace collars and hand-knit worsted goods, but did not find the business profitable. In 1874 he formed the acquaintance of Mr. Louis Prang, of Boston, who was then looking for an agent for the introduction of his illuminated advertising cards, which he was about to publish. Mr. Griebel accepted the agency, which, however, was not for Mr. Prang's full line of publications, but only for the new advertising cards, for which a field was to be opened. We all know how hard Mr. Griebel worked from the time he first opened the little room at 29 Broadway, where he did all the work without any help, until the success of the enterprise under his direction enabled him to establish the commodious quarters at 38 Bond St., and sustain twelve assistants.

The deceased was a man of fine and commanding personal appearance, and of a genial, liberal nature. His loss will be felt quite as much in social and artistic circles as in the trade.

Owing to the illness of Mrs. Griebel, the funeral services were of a strictly private character. Notwithstanding this there were many in attendance in addition to the immediate relatives of the deceased, chiefly neighbors and intimate friends. There were also a few present prominently connected with the trade, among whom was L. Prang, who attended, together with a number of employés of the New York house and of the Palmer Art Company, of which Mr. Griebel was treasurer. The services, on Monday last, were very brief, and at their close the remains of the deceased were taken to Greenwood Cemetery and interred in the family plot.

IVAN TURGENIEFF.

IVAN SERGEVITCH TURGENIEFF, the great Russian novelist, died at Bougival, France, on the 3d of September, after a long and painful illness. Turgenieff was born on the 9th of November, 1818, in the little province of Orel, in the interior of Russia. His parents were of the wealthy nobility, but he very early in life began to display the leaning toward radicalism and liberalism that inspired him in his great mission, and made him indirectly one of the causes of the abolition of serfdom in the Russian Empire. He studied at the University of Moscow, where his opinions upon liberty and his great admiration for the United States caused him to be called the American. Upon leaving Moscow he studied German literature and the philosophy of Hegel at Berlin for three years, thoroughly mastering the German language. French he spoke perfectly, as is customary among educated Russians, and he also acquired great facility in speaking English. He returned to Russia in 1841 and began his life's work as a literary man. He published various sketches and contributions to periodicals, went abroad to Germany, France, and Italy from 1846 to 1850, and while travelling during these years wrote the work that brought him fame and determined his special field of literature. The "Journal of a Sportsman" made Turgenieff the hero of the day and alarmed the Russian Government, and the Emperor Nicholas banished him for five years for having dared to criticise the government. He was released immediately before the death of Nicholas, and the Czar Alexander is said to have admitted that Turgenieff's writings hastened the great work of emancipation in Russia. Even this liberal man thought the revolutionary influence of the young writer dangerous, and banished him upon three occasions. Turgenieff finally made Paris his home, and there the last years of his life were spent in unremitting activity, strengthened and gladdened by the gratitude and sympathy he has always received from the race he was instrumental in freeing and raising from bondage. His remarkable books are all in the form of fiction, sad in their tone and stamped with the unmistakable impress of truth and purpose. Several of them were brought out in this country between 1867 and 1874 by Henry Holt & Co. in excellent translations, and made a great sensation. The most notable are "Fathers and Sons," "Smoke," "Liza," "On the Eve," "Dimitri Roudini," "Spring Floods," and "Virgin Soil." Turgenieff's influence on the literature of the day will be more justly appreciated by a later and less partisan generation. He has demonstrated that the novel in gifted hands can be made an important factor in rousing enthusiasm, spreading truth, righting wrongs, and influencing the history of civilization.

BUSINESS NOTES.

BETHLEHEM, PA.—Henry T. Clauder having resigned the appointment which he held from the authorities of the Moravian Church, in its Book-Store and Publication Concern, the business which has hitherto been conducted at No. 146 South Main Street, Bethlehem, and at No. 10 Third Street, South Bethlehem, under the firm-name of Henry T. Clauder, will in future be managed by Edwin G. Klosé under the firm-name of Edwin G. Klosé, Manager. For the present, we understand, Mr. Clauder will remain with the new firm, attending to current business in book-store and printing-office.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

THERE is no lull in the demand for Hardy's "But Yet a Woman;" the fifteenth thousand has just come off the press.

HOWARD GANNETT, Boston, has just published a collection of bright and easy exercises for young Sunday-school scholars' entertainments, entitled "The Old Year and the New."

JOHN E. POTTER & Co. have just published "2000 a Year on Fruits and Flowers," the story of a widow who from a position of actual want succeeded in building up a profitable business in her flower-garden.

E. & F. N. SPON have just ready "Philipp Reis: Inventor of the Telephone," a biographical sketch, with documentary testimony, translation of the original papers of the inventor, and contemporary publications, by Silvanus P. Thompson, B. A.; "Workshop Receipts" (second series), for the use of manufacturers, mechanics, and scientific amateurs, mainly devoted to subjects connected with chemistry, by Robert Haldane; this new volume is uniform in size, shape, and type with the original "Workshop Receipts;" a book by James Swinburne, entitled "Practical Electrical Units Popularly Explained," which has numerous illustrations and diagrams; "A Glossary of Terms Used in Coal-Mining," by William Stukely Gresley, illustrated with many woodcuts; the fifth edition of Spon's "Tables and Memoranda for Engineers;" "Pneumatic Drainage," a description of the Berlin system, by Adolphe Smith; and "The Resistance and the Proportions of Screw Propellers," by William Bury, the well-known consulting marine engineer.

HENRY C. LEA'S SON & Co. have just issued a new edition of Gray's "Anatomy." The more elaborate work on the same subject by Dr. Harrison Allen is now approaching completion; the fifth fasciculus will be issued in a little over a month, and the sixth and last before the year closes. Klein's "Elements of Histology" is the first of a Student's Manual series to be published by the same firm. These little works are issued in pocket-size 12mos of from 300 to 500 pages, bound in red cloth, limp, with red edges, and are profusely illustrated. The succeeding volume will be Pepper's "Surgical Pathology," to be followed by Powers' "Human Physiology," Treves' "Applied Anatomy," and Ralfe's "Pathological Chemistry." As a succinct condensation of the various branches of which they treat, they promise to be invaluable to students during the collegiate course, while they will serve no less as handy remembrancers to the busy practitioner, regarding subjects very readily forgotten. Among the forthcoming volumes announced as being nearly ready are Coats' "Treatise on Pathology;" a new edition of Bumstead and Taylor on "Venereal Diseases;" while the "Treatise on Midwifery," by Dr. Theophilus Parvin, the newly-elected Professor of Obstetrics at Jefferson Medical College, is announced as in press.

THE FAMILY FLIGHT.

By Rev. E. E. HALE, and Miss SUSAN HALE

Quarto, cloth, illustrated, price $2.50.

A Family Flight Through Spain.

This handsome volume, together with the two previous Family Flight, certainly differs from other works of its class, by not having been written in the library at home, its matter skillfully drawn from various books of travel, but being an actual record of actual travel, the authors having visited Spain last year. The style of the narrative is highly picturesque, with rapid movement and "interesting situations."

ALL ABOARD FOR THE LAKES AND MOUNTAINS.

By Edward A. Rand. Boards $1.75; extra cloth, bevelled and gilt, $2.25.

Mr. Rand writes of famous lakes and mountains in the most entertaining and instructive manner. The two boys, Ralph and Rick, are important personages in the present story, and their journey is made all the more realistic by the nearly two hundred pictures which illustrate the book.

DECORATIVE PLACES.

Designs by G. F. Barnes, verses by Mary E. Wilkins. Cloth cover, $1.75. Unique binding, $1.50.

Beautiful and picturesque design, each set to a harmony of words; a real novelty in book-making appealing alike to lovers of illustrated poems, and to amateur and professional decorators.

WHAT THE SEVEN DID.

By Margaret Sidney. Cover designed by "Champ," $1.75; extra cloth $2.25.

The book is full of life. All the actors, from the mature young man of three to the stately Miss Wigthorpe of Wigthorpe Place becomes our friends, and we too live in Fairburn. The Wordsworth Club led by President Cosy moves charmingly through the story, bringing old and young to their entertainments by their piquancy and the enjoyment of generous doings by their loving deeds.

NEW BOOKS.

A History of the American People. By ARTHUR GILMAN, M.A. Crown 8vo, cloth, illustrated, gilt top, $2.50; 12mo, $1.50.

The tone of the book is impartial, and the author, who has not been identified with political movements, has treated the subject from the strictly historical point of view. The addition of a series of documents illustrating the constitutional history of America will be a boon to students. The illustrations number 175; many of them are of the highest style of the engraver's art.

Young Folks' History of the Netherlands. 12mo, cloth, illustrated, $1.50.

Cambridge Sermons. Pulpit utterances in the Shepard Memorial Church, Cambridge. By ALEXANDER MCKENZIE, D.D. 12mo, extra cloth, $1.50.

Twenty-six Hours a Day. By MARY BLAKE. 12mo, extra cloth, $1.25.

Some of the chapters of this volume attracted much attention in Scribner's Magazine. At the request of Heads of Households and those interested in home matters, they are now first published in book-form, with new matter.

Hill Best. By SUSAN M. MOULTON. 12mo, $1.25.

One of the sweetest pictures of home life. The story is fresh and entertaining, and carries its lesson admirably.

Bound in covers of bright, attractive colors, from original designs.

Ted, Goldlocks and Others. Poems by CLARA DOTY BATES. Picture by Lizzie Lawson.

Mrs. Bates, well known as the compiler and versifier of "Child-Lore," seems to be the standard poet of childhood, and some of her most delicious rhymes and conceits are to be found in this handsome volume.

Forty Little Rhymes of Forty Good Times. Forty chronicles in merry verse of as many plays and pranks wherein participate dogs, lambs, birds, kittens, fairies, and children. The best play-room book of the year. Very fully illustrated.

Little Folks' Bible Pictures and Stories. By LAURIE LORING. With 52 illustrations of interesting events in Bible History. Oblong 4to.

Goody Two Shoes and other Nursery Ballads. By Mrs. CLARA DOTY BATES. Numerous original illustrations.

These old-world nursery tales have taken a new lease of life; and as moulded by Mrs. Bates' artistic hand, and illustrated by modern fancy, they are likely to remain a standard collection.

Houghton, Mifflin & Company

WILL PUBLISH SEPTEMBER 15th:

Twenty Poems from Henry Wadsworth Longfellow.

Illustrated from Paintings by his son, ERNEST W. LONGFELLOW. 1 vol., 8vo, cloth, tastefully stamped, full gilt, $4; morocco or tree calf, $9.

The poems chosen for illustration are: It is not Always May, Daybreak, The Village Blacksmith, The Day is Done, Seaweed, The Evening Star, Cadenabbia, Amalfi, Snowflakes, Songo River, Chrysaor, Moonlight, The Lighthouse, The Bells of Lynn, Three Friends of Mine, The Tides, Elegiac, The Tide Rises—the Tide Falls, Mad River in the White Mountains, Becalmed.

These poems are illustrated with fifty designs, in which Mr. Ernest Longfellow interprets their spirit with rare grace and beauty. A fine portrait of Mr. Longfellow is prefixed to the volume, and peculiar interest attaches to the book from the fact that the portrait and all the illustrations are from the hand of the poet's son. It is in all respects a very tasteful gift-book.

The Bodley Family in England.

By HORACE E. SCUDDER. Fully illustrated. With an ornamental cover, $1.50.

In this book the Bodleys, who had been travelling in Holland, go to England, and are so fortunate as to find other Bodleys, distant cousins, who receive them very heartily. With them they visit many noteworthy and interesting places, and talk of many persons and incidents famous in English history, all of which are by Mr. Scudder's skill made peculiarly fresh and attractive. The book is fully illustrated, bound in an ornamental cover, and will renew and extend the satisfaction with which hundreds of thousands have read the previous Bodley books.

By MRS. JAMES T. FIELDS. 1 vol., 16mo.

A small book, embodying the result of many years' experience and observation in charitable work. It is not a sketch of theoretical philanthropy, but many examples are cited to illustrate the practical views which it is hoped this book may render more effective.

Longfellow's Courtship of Miles Standish.

Dramatized for private theatricals in schools and families. Riverside Literary Series. Paper, 15 cents.

In this dramatization Mr. Longfellow's work is unchanged, but some parts are omitted and other parts are included in parentheses to make perfectly clear the portions retained in the play. Full directions are given concerning scenery and costumes.

A Primer of American Literature.

By CHARLES F. RICHARDSON, Professor of Literature in Dartmouth College. New and Revised Edition, with twelve Portraits of American authors. Twenty-first thousand. 18mo, red edges, 30 cents.

4 PARK STREET, BOSTON, MASS.

11 EAST 17th STREET, NEW YORK.

Publish this Day:

TWO NEW AND CHOICE ILLUSTRATED EDITIONS OF LUCILE.

TREMONT EDITION. One volume, 16mo, beautifully illustrated. With red lines, bevelled boards, and gilt edges, $2.50.

POCKET EDITION. One volume—Little-Classic size—with thirty illustrations. Elegantly bound, $1.

These new and beautiful editions of this perennially popular poem are made from entirely new electrotype plates, in large and easily legible type, with more than fifty exquisite illustrations.

As these are the newest, handsomest, and cheapest, they cannot fail to become the best-selling editions in the market.

No other poem has a better and steadier sale than this epic of love and suffering; and the attractive and serviceable make-up of these new editions, and their wealth of beautiful illustrations, insure for them a high degree of success.

DAISY MILLER:
A COMEDY IN THREE ACTS.

By HENRY JAMES, author of the "Siege of London," etc. 1 vol., 12mo, $1.50.

Mr. James' most famous sketch has been carefully adapted and remodelled as a play, and gains popularity in its new form. It is the masterpiece of the great student of cosmopolitan life, and has awakened deep interest and ardent controversy. It is now first published in convenient library form, and will find a large constituency of buyers.

A BIRD'S-EYE VIEW OF OUR CIVIL WAR.

By Col. THEODORE AYRAULT DODGE, U. S. A. One volume, octavo, with maps and illustrations, $3.

The author of "The Campaign of Chancellorsville," confessedly one of the best military books ever written, has here prepared a most valuable and entertaining account of the late war, of indisputable accuracy from the military standpoint, and yet so clear and lucid as to be easily comprehended by the non-military reader. It is an invaluable epitome of the battles, sieges, and strategic movements of 1861-65, based on the best authorities, Northern, Southern, and foreign.

Hughes' New Wall Maps.

Prepared expressly for School Use under the personal Supervision of WILLIAM HUGHES, F.R.G.S. (late Professor of Geography in King's College, London). The NAMES are introduced with great judgment, and free from the common fault of overcrowding. The physical features are boldly and distinctly delineated, and the political boundaries are carefully colored. They are adapted to any series of Geographies, no keys being required.

Mounted on Strong Cloth, with Rollers, Colored and Varnished. Size, uniformly 54x68 inches.

THOMAS' COMPREHENSIVE BIOGRAPHICAL DICTIONARY

12mo, cloth extra, $2.50; sheep, marbled edges, $3; half morocco, gilt top, $3.50; half gilt top, $4.50.

The aim of the publishers in issuing this work is to present in convenient size and at moderate price a complete dictionary of biography, embracing accounts of the most eminent personages in all ages, countries, and professions.

During the last quarter of a century so many important events have been enacted, such as the Civil War in America and the Franco-Prussian War of 1870, and such great advances have been made in the line of invention and investigation, that within that period many persons have risen by superior merit to conspicuous positions; a plan of this work embraces accounts of the living as well as of the dead, many names are included that are not found in other dictionaries of biography.

The Concordance War Ended

PRICES TO BE DOUBLED ON YOUNG'S ANALYTICAL CONCORDANCE

After October 15th.

NOTICE TO THE TRADE.

The only edition of Young's Analytical Concordance hereafter to be printed in America will be the authorized edition, printed from the original latest plates. These have been sent us by Dr. Young from Edinburgh. The plates, which did Dr. Young, as an author, so great injustice, are now in Young's possession. The price was reduced to $2.50, cloth, for the sole purpose of driving out of the American market these imperfect plates. This object having been accomplished, the price will be advanced so as to allow the author a reasonable price. These advance prices are about one half the prices at which the work is sold in England.

The Publishers' Weekly.

SEPTEMBER 22, 1883.

PUBLISHERS are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, to insure correctness in the final entry.

The trade are invited to send "Communications" to the editor on any topic of interest to the trade, and as to which an interchange of opinion is desirable. Also, matter for "Notes and Queries" gratefully received.

In case of business changes, notification or card should be immediately sent to this office for entry under "Business Notes." New catalogues issued will also be mentioned when forwarded.

"Every man is a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE Fall Announcement number, which already last year exceeded in bulk all its predecessors, has reached such proportions this year that, for the first time, even the sine quâ non of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY—its "Weekly Record" and "Order List"—had to stand off to give precedence to the leading feature of this issue—the List of Announcements. As almost every book, due in the Weekly Record, is mentioned in the digests of the announcements, booksellers will scarcely be inconvenienced by the omission, while for the chief end to which this number is given up they cannot be served more effectually. Nothing is in the way to divert their attention from this purpose, and in no issue of the WEEKLY, with the exception of the Educational and Christmas numbers, is a clear field, and a distinct division of Lists, Summaries, and Advertisements, of more practical importance than in the Fall Announcement number, where, without such system, the massiveness of the material would become unwieldy. This system is so simple—merely an orderly arrangement—that its application may be recognized at a glance. But as each section serves a distinct purpose, it is not out of place to repeat our usual explanations, particularly in relation to the advertisements:

"These advertisements represent, with one or two exceptions, every publisher that has anything worth announcing to the trade; and thus the bookseller has, in handy compactness, his full Order List for the season. As the vast material can admit of but the briefest summing up in the editorial columns, and only simple title-entries in the classified list of announcements, it is the advertising pages which be carefully studied for their fuller details before making up one's order. The advertisements, so eminently representative in themselves, offer the additional advantage that the sellers dealing with publishers direct can prepare their orders seriatim. In order to form an approximate idea of the total, which is taken into account in shaping the proportions of the fall orders, it is necessary, however, first, the announcements as classified in lines of books; secondly, the announcements summed up, under the names of the publishers arranged in alphabetical order. There is, exception, all the obtainable information found that, independent of advertising pages, is always conscientiously given by the WEEKLY, and, with particular care, in its representative numbers."

To this let us add, also as usual, our thanks to the publishers for their handsome recognition of the WEEKLY, and our sincere thanks in behalf of the whole trade for a realization of that prosperous season which is predicted for the wealth of this number.

THE final answer to this question has been served for this number, and among the most promising announcements perhaps that from the office, concerning the "Supplement to the American Catalogue," may not be the least to come. The trade will no doubt learn with interest a few of the particulars that have decided this decision.

The letter from which an extract is given below was received early this year. The letter to which it refers, and which, under the title "Shall the American Catalogue be continued?" was addressed "To American Booksellers," is given herewith:

"The American Catalogue was undertaken by Mr. Leypoldt with the expectation of serving the book trade, and in return of being paid for his service. Now, while both editor and publisher are willing to waive any pay for their labors, it cannot be expected that the work will be continued—burdened with a loss. The unsold to-day 95 copies of the two volumes is necessary that not only all these copies be sold, but that the last fifty copies be sold, bringing each $40 to pay cost of actual outlay. As long as these sales are not within likely reach, it is out of the question to consider the continuation of the work. A supplement brought down to date is already a serious want, and its issue would immediately enhance the value of the whole work. Now that the foundation is laid, this supplement could be produced at a comparatively reasonable cost. Shall the work be stopped for lack of sales in England, France, Germany, and even in the smaller countries of Europe, having no national bibliographies. Shall it be the American booksellers are behind their European brethren in the recognition of the graphical work? It is true that the large booksellers in the countries named makes lighter on the individual; but on the end, whenever it has been the question of an enterprise the individual in this has shown more public spirit in practice. Should booksellers be the excep-earnest appeal is made to every bookseller is able to appreciate the value of the mental trade tool. If he already has a cannot afford to take another, let him effort to persuade a friend or book-librarian to get one. The work should be in every book-store and library. It would in-ry some to donate a copy to their local with the proviso that it be made accessible to the public for easy reference. It would be an advertisement for years to come. Sure-ly a library that has the first two volumes should secure the supplement.

At the least that each bookseller might do in doing the undertaking would be to as-which libraries and large bookbuyers in their circle do not possess the work, and us their address, so that their orders might be solicited from this office, with descriptions, etc.

booksellers kindly respond?

"A. C. ARMSTRONG & SON,
"714 Broadway, New York."

Though the responses have been meagre in- have little lessened our burden, it was such arguments as are advanced in the d below, and as have since been brought upon us from other sides—strengthened undeniable fact that a Supplement to the Catalogue, to-day, is perhaps the most trade want—that we have reconsidered and means how to meet it. It is a t and rather encouraging incident that and most urgent pleading on behalf of taking has come from the progressive is from Kansas City that the follow- addressed to us:

A recent circular addressed to American s by Messrs. A. C. Armstrong & Son, roadway, New York, appealing to the assistance in distributing the remain-ies of the Leypoldt-Jones Catalogue, is g to all owners of the work. It is safe to believe that any bookseller en- the traffic of books printed in the language sustains an actual monetary t consulting its pages; that it properly utably belongs to the 'Bibliography'-class libraries, public and private, is wn. Every person familiar with the f the case appreciates and heartily e editors and publishers for the sac-erperienced in the undertaking, and will at is in his power to lessen the finan- This much for matters as they now ut when it is stated that unless a cer-er of sales are made, at a certain price, of the question to consider the con- of the work,' the matter is well o a fair criticism on the part of sub-nd friends. Is it absolutely certain ntinuation of the work necessarily in- nancial loss, upon the ground that r undertaking has so far proved a failure in this respect? The case is hardly a parallel one. The publication of the first vol-ume was a leap into the dark; the period of time they were expected to cover made it im-possible to estimate the quantity of subject matter, and this is the basis of actual cost, clerical and mechanical; the number of probable purchasers (notwithstanding the subscription-list) could not be estimated; in a general way the entire scheme was a venture. With the data now at hand a continuation of the work can be carried out on a plan that is sure to prove successful. The number of titles to be recorded can in a very close degree be approximated, and the number of purchasers would in the main be a majority of the persons possessing the present volumes. With these facts before a publisher, it is difficult to see any obstacles in the way toward fixing a price that will insure against loss. It is true that plan would probably make the edition "limited," indeed, and add something to the cost of each particular volume, yet we fail to catch the exact propriety of depriving several hundred booksellers in this country, who are willing to pay whatever may be the cost, of what to them is an indispensable tool."

It is a good plea that leaves us no escape and makes us manfully accept our obligation. It is based on experience and on the knowledge that there are hundreds of his brethren who share his sentiments. In response to this spirit we make the following announcement to the trade:

It is with a view to securing a new and in-creased value to the "American Catalogue," and also with the hope that by meeting an im-mediate want an opportunity may be given the publisher to retrieve his losses, that it has been decided to proceed at once to the preparation of a supplement bringing the work down to 1883. It is intended to prepare the work on the plan that has been found the most practical for ready reference: viz., giving the bibliographical data, as customary, under the author, and the refer-ences from the title and subject, but whether in one or two alphabets, all in one volume. No efforts will be spared to have the work ready in the spring of 1884. All those interested in this foundation of our national bibliography are earnestly requested to give us their support, both by helping to place the remainder of the stock and by subscribing to the forthcoming vol-ume. The price will probably be $10; but may possibly be more or less, as it must be based on the number of the advance subscriptions.

AFTER October 1, the price of the "American Catalogue" will be raised to $40; or before that date, should the remainder of stock be reduced to 50 copies. There are on hand to-day only 78 complete sets. This decision must be final, as even at the raised price the disposal of the re-mainder will scarcely return the actual cost. The price, high as it seems, is relatively lower than that of the "English Catalogue," or of similar bibliographies; but the "American Cata-logue" will command even a higher price when out of print.

DESCRIPTIVE SUMMARY OF THE FALL ANNOUNCEMENTS.

THE descriptive summary which here follows presents as usual, in its alphabetical arrangement by publishers, a survey of the entire field, so far as the necessary information is. Other books, not yet fully determined upon, will find mention in subsequent issues. announcement lists proper, the books will be found arranged by classes, while the following pages will afford further detailed information as to prices, sizes, styles, etc.

WILLIAM L. ALLISON, New York City, will shortly publish the third edition of "Allison's Webster's Counting-House Dictionary and Dictionary of Electricity," comprising the newest revision of Noah Webster's "Counting-House Dictionary," and a full dictionary of electricity, electric motors, dynamos, etc.; also a new illustrated edition of "Little Pet Books," in three volumes, under the general title Pet Chatterbox. He is also preparing an illustrated edition of Macaulay's England, including the life and letters, by G. O. Trevelyan, in three volumes at $3.75, and in five volumes at $1 each, to match his three-volume edition of Macaulay's "Essays and Poems"; also another edition of "World Heroes," comprising the lives of twelve noted men by Carlyle, Lamartine, Macaulay and others.

THE AMERICAN SUNDAY-SCHOOL UNION, Philadelphia, will publish "How to Do It," and "How Not to Do It," the concluding volumes in Mrs. A. K. Denning's What to Do series; "St. Ulrich, or Resting on the King's Word," by E. A. W., a touching, pleasing narrative of the sorrows and trials of an humble Swiss family; and "Will and Will Not, and Dr. Martindale's Ward," which they expect to be one of the most popular of the season.

THE AMERICAN TRACT SOCIETY contemplate adding a goodly number of kindred works to their already very extensive list. As usual, these books are well selected and appeal to a variety of tastes. "Among the Moguls" is an account of home-life, manners and customs, religious beliefs and practices of this strange people, written by the Rev. James Gilmour; "Daisy Snowflake's Secret" is a story by a popular English authoress showing what girls may do to advance the cause of temperance; "Central Africa, Japan, and Fiji," by the Rev. E. A. Pitman, describes the work accomplished in the mission-fields of these countries; "Our Brothers and Sons" teaches young men some useful lessons in Mrs. G. S. Reamey's interesting manner; and she also has a word for girls in "Our Daughters," "Morning Thoughts for our Daughters," and "Little Glory's Mission Found at Last." The society will also issue a series of books at popular prices neatly bound in boards with fancy sides to be known as the Popular series, for which thus far they announce "Pilgrim's Progress," "Annals of the Poor," "Mirage of Life," "Little Meg's Children," "Alone in London," "Jessica's First Prayer," "Grandfather's Birthday," and "Aunt Rose." To their ever popular and ever prettier Sunday-school cards they have added nine new sets, from Nos. 45 to 53, of various shapes and sizes, and mostly illustrated with floral designs.

THE AMERICAN UNITARIAN ASSOCIATION announce for immediate publication the "Works of the Rev. Orville Dewey, D.D.," uniform with the 12mo edition of "Channing's Works," and promise later in the season "Ten Lectures on Orthodoxy and Heresy in the Christian Church," by Rev. Edward H. Hall, of Cambridge, Mass.

JOHN R. ANDERSON & H. S. ALLEN Grace Greenwood's volume on "Quintessence of England—Her Girlhood and Womanhood." This is to form the first volume of a new series to be entitled, The American and Womanhood Series of Exemplary Characters, designed especially for girls and young women. The series is intended to comprise the lives of those who have distinguished themselves by their different walks of life, and those who may be held up as models for the young. The volumes will be neatly gotten up and fully illustrated. They also promise several new volumes in their Boyhood and Manhood Series of Exemplary Characters, of which the initial volume is George's "The Backwoods Boy," that depicts the life of Abraham Lincoln. It is the aim of the publishers to have this series contain the lives of all our notable self-made men, and their histories written by authors whose names are a guarantee for accurateness and worth.

D. APPLETON & Co. have just ready their "Home Library," forming the eleventh volume of the Appletons' Home-Books, by Arthur Pennington, of "The Rhymester." A brief summary of the contents of this interesting and useful series will give an approximate idea of its scope and value. There is a plea for the best books for the buying and owning of books; on reading, on the library and its furniture; on book-keeping, on the making of scrap-books; on diaries, on family records; on the lending and making of books; hints here and there; and an appendix containing a list of authors whose works may be found in every library. The new volume of the History Primers is entitled "Medieval Civilization," and is by George Barton Adams, professor of History in Drury College, Mo. The third volume in the Christian Literature Series treats of the "Post-Nicene Greek Fathers, 325-750," in the forcible style of the Rev. George A. Jackson, who gives a graphic picture of that troubled era in the life of the world. An anonymous work, entitled "Conflict in Life and Love," deals with the problem of good and evil and the reconciliation of optimistic and pessimistic views, and is a study of the antagonism of the constitution of things; "The Foundation of Religious Belief" vindicates the metaphysical natural theology against modern objections, by the Rev. W. D. Wilson, D.D., professor in Cornell University, showing his side of a vexed question in an able and scholarly manner; and "The Love Poems of Louis de Val," edited with introduction by Charles Kay, are beautiful gems, beautifully bound, a manual of improprieties and mistakes in conduct and speech is number two of the Paper Parchment series, and is appropriately christened "Don't." John W. Tufts and Holt have ready the first reader in "The Normal Music Course," containing exercises, and songs for sight-reading, progressively arranged from the production of first tones to most advanced choral practice; and A.

g has a "Cumulative Method for German," adapted to schools or home, a method which the author says has most successful in practical teaching. rs. Appleton make no announcement beyond the third volume of History of the United States, "thoroughly by the author, which may be expected

They also an- revised edition of "The Bryant and Business Arithmetic," described as a k, with practical problems and valuable reference, designed for business men, ial, agricultural, and scientific colleges, H. B. Bryant, of the Chicago Business E. E. White, and C. G. Stowell. In the juvenile literature they announce: "The the Snow-Bird," a story of Arctic ad- y Dr. Gordon Stables, R.N., which the Academy says "is well and briskly " "From Powder-Monkey to Ad- a story of naval adventure, by the late Kingston, which will be incorpo- rated with the Kingston Library of Adventure Afloat and Ashore, and form the fifth volume in the series that already includes "Afloat and Ashore;" "Hendricks, the Hunter;" "Shore and Ocean;" "Peter Trawl," and "James Braithwaite." P. Chr. Asbjørnsen's "Folk and Fairy Tales," which the London Athenæum pronounces "admirably written and richly illustrated," will appear in a new edition at reduced price, and a large holiday sale is expected of this book; and the people of the last generation will be glad to learn that Alice Carey's charming stories, which have been out of print for nearly twenty years, are to be brought out in handsomely bound volumes to delight the children of our day, who will no doubt enjoy with as much relish as we did "Clovernook Children," said by John G. Whittier to "bear the stamp of true genius;" and "Snow Berries," of which William Cullen Bryant said that it was "one of the most fascinating books of its kind."

H. C. BAIRD & Co.'s list of forthcoming books comprises, "Modern American Locomotive Engines," their design, construction, and manage- ment, a practical work for practical men, by Emory Edwards, illustrated by 78 engravings; "Miscellaneous Papers on Economic Ques- tions," by Henry Carey Baird; "The Techno- Chemical Receipt-Book," containing several thousand receipts, comprising the latest and most useful discoveries in chemical technology and industry, edited from the German of Drs. E. Winck- ler, Heintze, and Mierzinski, with additions by W. T. Brannt; "A Practical Treatise on the Fabrication of Glue, Gelatine, Cements, Pastes, Mucilages," by F. Dawidowsky; Erni's "Min- eralogy Simplified," giving easy methods of determining and classifying minerals, including ores, etc.; a very important work by Heinzer- ling on the "Elements of the Fabrication of Leather," with special regard to the latest im- provements in this branch of industry, translated from the German by Wm. T. Brannt, with many additions by an American editor, also an entirely new edition of "Galvanoplastic Manip- ulations," based on the French of Alfred Roseleur, and which will contain much new and original American matter, bringing it up to the best practice.

C. W. BARDEEN, Syracuse, N. Y., has just fin- ished the Dime Series of Question-Books, in- cluding twenty separate volumes in paper on subjects such as Physics, Literature, History, Astronomy, Mythology, etc., and will now issue them in two large volumes in cloth, one contain- ing the entire Elementary series, and the other the Advanced series. The early numbers are al- ready in their third to tenth editions. A rather remarkable new book, nearly ready, is entitled "Practical Work in the School-Room, by Three New York Teachers." This is nothing more nor less than an exact transcript of the work done in the Primary Department of Grammar School No. 49, in this city, which has long been famous for its object-teaching. The "Three New York Teach- ers" are Miss Sarah F. Buckalew, the principal, Miss Margaret W. Lewis, the teacher of object- lessons, and a former teacher in the same school, now deceased. The introduction is written by E. V. De Graff, the institute conductor, and the book can hardly fail to make a strong impression. Another book in a somewhat new field is "Recreations in Ancient Fields," by Rev. E. C. Lawrence, formerly Professor of History in Union College. This is a chatty, readable, and yet very careful résumé of ancient history. Prof. Lawrence is conservative in his views, but he draws upon the latest writers for illustration. Perhaps the most general interest will be felt in a book compiled by Mr. Bardeen himself, entitled "Verbal Pitfalls: A Manual of 1500 Words Commonly Misused," including all those the use of which in any sense has been questioned by Dean Alford, G. W. Moon, Fitzedward Hall, Archbishop Trench, Wm. C. Hodgson, W. L. Blackley, G. F. Graham, Richard Grant White, M. Schele de Vere, Wm. Mathews, "Alfred Ayres," and many others, arranged alphabetically, with 3000 references and quotations, and the ruling of the dictionaries. This volume is now ready for the trade.

N. J. BARTLETT & Co., 28 Cornhill, Boston, will publish at once an American edition of "The Gospel According to St. Matthew," by Prof. James Morison, D.D., of Glasgow University.

BELFORD, CLARKE & Co. have just ready another volume by Geo. W. Peck, author of "Peck's Bad Boy," entitled "The Grocery Man and Peck's Bad Boy." Those who have read of the experiences of the "Bad Boy" and his afflicted "Pa" will remember the "Grocery Man," the confidant of the "Bad Boy's" sorrows and the victim of his pranks. In the present volume the career of the boy and the long-suffering of the wretched "Grocery Man" are still further described, and the volume is guaranteed to do all manner of good things for the afflicted. The volume contains fifteen full-page illustrations by Louis F. Braunhold.

BENZIGER BROTHERS will publish this fall "Schouppé's Short Sermons for Low Masses;" "The Book of the Professed" and "Spiritual Direction," both by the author of "Golden Sands;" a volume of "Short Stories on Christian Doctrine;" "An Appeal and a Defiance," by Cardinal Deschamps; "The Life and Works of Don Bosco;" and "The Catholic Home Almanac."

P. BLAKISTON, SON & Co.'s announcements for this fall will be found in full under the heading of Medical Science in our classified list preceding this department.

THE BOSTON SCHOOL SUPPLY Co., so ably managed by John A. Boyle, have just brought out another of the excellent maps drawn by Prof. William Hughes, F.R.G.S., of King's College, London, published in uniform size and style with his former valuable works. This "Map of the United States" is 54x68 inches, drawn from the latest government surveys, and is so complete in its excellence, variety, correctness, and beauty of workmanship that it may well take its place with the maps of "Europe," "Asia," and "South Africa," so highly appreciated by the School Committee of Boston that they have issued an order authorizing the Hughes' Series of Maps for use in the grammar schools of Boston.

IRA BRADLEY & Co., Boston, have in preparation a sequel to "Opposite the Jail," by Mary A. Dennison, published last year; "Ingleside," a story by Madeline Leslie; "Across the Water," by Mrs. Payne; and the "Worcester Jug, or John Griffin's Little Maid," by Eglanton Thorne. They also announce Dr. J. H. Vincent's "Commentary on the International Lessons as well as the same author's series of "Lesson-Books," graded as Senior, Intermediate, and For Beginners.

ROBERT CARTER & BROTHERS will, on October 1st, Miss Warner's new story "Phen," M.D.; also "A Bag of Stories," Miss Anna B. Warner (Miss Warner's "Miss Prudence," by Mrs. Jennie Water Conklin; two Scotch stories, "A Scotch border story," by Annie S. which Hon. W. E. Gladstone says, is to the author, "I think it beautiful a work of art—Miss Nesbitt and Marget will long hold their places among the true sketches of Scottish character;" and "Halliday," a story of Edinburgh, by Hardy. They will also issue shortly lectures by Prof. George S. Morris on "Aph and Christianity," and a little personal religion, entitled "How Shall God?" by Horatius Bonar, D.D. They have also issued a new and very beautiful of those children's classics, the A. L. O. E., compacted into 50 volumes, very neatly bound in crimson cloth, and in a wooden case.

CASSELL & Co. announce several new in the line of fine art and illustrations which are to be issued in rapid succession, will, of course, be quite up to the high of workmanship of the publications of house. "European Butterflies," by Kirby, assistant in the Zoölogical Department of the British Museum, and secretary of the Entomological Society of London, will be in a large quarto volume, with sixty-one plates, with full gilt binding. It will be an index of the genera and species, and to English names of specimens. The first of "Familiar Wild Birds," by W. S. will have forty lithographic plates, in the best manner, with ornamental head pieces in the text. The second series of "Flower Painting" will have F. E. text and twenty lithographic plates. Ferguson's "Forging the Anchor" will have many beautiful original illustrations, prepared for this edition. Quite an original will be a book of advice and appropriate for newly married people, which the William Landels has compiled, and will be issued under the title of "The Ring." It is to be delicately and bound in four styles, in white leather, morocco, full calf, and tree calf. The division of the "Holy Land," embracing Dan and Bethlehem, will be published with Division I. (Jerusalem and Galilee) forty-two full-page illustrations, after lith by Louis Haghe, from original drawings by David Roberts, and will contain valuable descriptions by the Rev. Dr. Croly. Volume 6 in the Magazine of a popular monthly publication, in which in all branches are fully represented pencil, steel-etching, etc., will be issued in elegant bindings to meet all the tastes of its patrons. "Some Moderns and Their Work" will be beautifully given in large quarto with portraits, and will be some of the most popular work of L. Gilbert, Boughton, Cole, Boehm, M. Paton, Marks, Mrs. Butler, Alma T.

S. E. CASSINO & Co. have in preparation Bryant's "Fringed Gentian," which they intend to publish as a holiday souvenir and are getting up in most exquisite style, with colored illustrations by L. Hollis, printed on fine paper, with a fringed binding. They made a great success of Longfellow's "Flower de Luce" last season and intend to have the present souvenir even more elaborate. They will also publish "The Coming of the Birds," by Elaine Goodale, illustrated by A. Pope, Jr., in the same dainty fringe-bordered cover, and these three gems will certainly become very charming Christmas gifts. Among the novelties of the season will be a book of pictures and song, called "Flowers of the Sea," which will contain illustrations of the many varieties of sea-plants and sea-weeds found along our American coast, each printed in its own natural colors and accompanied with an appropriate verse from favorite authors. There has been a demand for a good edition of the works of Schiller and Goethe, which this house has decided to meet by issuing the works of both authors in neat and handsome style, printed from new type and in the best available translations, illustrated with numerous excellent engravings. "The Manners and Customs of the Ancient Egyptians" will be issued in an exact reproduction of the high-priced English edition, and the moderate price they will put upon this standard work of Sir J. Gardner Wilkinson will enable all interested in the subject to obtain this valuable contribution of one of the greatest authorities on Egyptology. "The History of Architecture in all Countries from the Earliest Times to the Present Day," by James Ferguson, Fellow of the Royal Institute of British Architects, will be issued in two volumes with more than a thousand woodcuts; and the "Standard

"History of the World," edited by Dr. Elliot Coues and J. S. Kingsley, which is now being brought out in parts, will, upon its completion, be bound up in six volumes and furnish one of the most reliable works of historical reference, as its contributors are among the foremost of the American scientists.

THE CENTURY COMPANY have in preparation a handsome volume edited by Alfred M. Mayer, on "Sport with Gun and Rod in American Woods and Waters." The nucleus of the book is the striking and popular series of sporting papers by experts which has been running for the past few years in Scribner's Monthly and the Century Magazine. The series has been very largely supplemented by additional matter, both in text and illustrations, of the same high class and authoritative nature, and no game of any importance in America is left undescribed. The ground covered extends from the Gulf of Mexico to the Arctic Circle, and from the Atlantic coast to the mountains of the Sierra Nevada. The series of remarkable papers entitled "The Christian League of Connecticut," by Rev. D. Washington Gladden, which attracted so much attention when published in the Century during the winter of 1882-'83, has been collected into book-form and may be had in cloth and paper bindings as well as in a cheaper edition printed from the magazine plates.

JOHN CHURCH & Co. have in preparation "Jephthah and his Daughter," a dramatic cantata, by P. G. Hull; Bellah's "Excelsior Organ Instructor;" "The Glee Singer," a collection of male quartets; and the "International Glee-Book," a collection of glees and choruses.

E. CLAXTON & Co.'s fall announcements comprise the Newstead edition of Byron, being the complete dramatic and poetical works. It will contain many valuable features that cannot be found in any other edition. The text will be taken from the latest and most approved English editions and will be printed from entirely new electrotype plates and from type cast for this work. The illustrations will be an interesting feature of the volume. It will appear in various styles of bindings, and will be a companion volume to the Avon edition of Shakespeare. They will have ready early in October the second edition of Cooper's work on "Belting," and the eighth and revised edition of Trautwine's "New Method of Calculating the Cubic Contents of Excavations and Embankments," with ten steel plates.

WILLIAM T. COMSTOCK, N. Y., will issue before the end of this month "Monckton's Practical Geometry," being a series of lessons beginning with the simplest problems, and in the course embracing all the geometry likely to be required for the use of every class of mechanics, or that is needed for instruction in mechanical schools, by James H. Monckton, instructor for many years in "The Mechanics' and Traders' Free Drawing School," of N. Y. City.

THE CONGREGATIONAL PUBLICATION SOCIETY will issue "How to Build a Church," by the Rev. C. L. Goodell, which will prove serviceable to all interested in that momentous question. "The Autobiography of the Rev. Enoch Pond, D.D.," will be eagerly welcomed by his hosts of friends; also the thoroughly exhaustive and reliable "Monday Club Sermons" on "The International Lessons for 1884," and the Rev. R. Meredith's "Notes on the Lessons."

They will continue to publish all the helps for teachers of Sunday-school. International Lessons — "The Lesson-Book for Primary and Intermediate Grades," by Mrs. W. F. Crafts, to whom all owe a debt for her advice about making the simplest lesson interesting; "The Primary-Book for Youngest Scholars," "Pilgrim Quarterly for Younger Grades," both by Mrs. William Barrows, and "The Pilgrim Question-Book" and "Pilgrim Reader" for older scholars, by the Rev. R. F. Barrows, among the best guides in the market for popular lessons. They also announce "The Sunday-School Library," by the Rev. J. H. Vincent, Superintendent of Sunday-schools, a very interesting list of juveniles, with a plan of instruction with amusement according to the plan of the publications of this house. The first will be "The Boy Lollards," by Frederick A. Reed, a capital boy's story, of the welcome accorded to the "Tory" published some time back; "The Boys in Camp," by Mrs. S. F. Spalding; "Harold's Delight, or the Homes of the Past," by Mrs. Susan G. Knight; and "The Letter," by Sarah P. Brigham. William D. Love has a new volume of this house which he entitles "The Prison," said to be a work of great CRAWFORD & Co., Philadelphia, in October three books on poultry — "Poultry-Keeping," "The New Book of Poultry," and "Poultry: Their Management and Remedies."

T. Y. CROWELL & Co. have just published a reliable and valuable work of reference, the "Dictionary of Quotations from the Bible," based upon Bohn's edition, with numerous additions from American authors, corrected and revised, with index of subjects, chronological data, and a concordance of every passage in the volume, with a full and complete preface by R. H. Stoddard. E. C. has been taken to insure accuracy of copy having been compared with a number of the best before putting in type, and again comparing the proof-sheets with the original text, so that each quotation has been not only by the compiler, but also by a number of others employed for this purpose. They also publish a new edition of Rev. John Brown's "The Bible in its own words," since the Old and New Testament editions of Anna Shipton's Library in 1874, and the Farmer-Boy's Library in 1875, put up in new and attractive bindings, with handsome side stamps in black and gold. The same may be said of Abbott's "Anecdotes for Youth," the "Jonas Series," the "Rollo Books," Eddy's "Walter's Tours in the East," and these have been printed on good paper, and have been put in bindings with side stamps and designs. In addition to these they have a list of other juveniles suitable for Sunday-school libraries. To their list of Red Line books they have added "Lady of the Lake," "Robert Browning," "Aurora Leigh," "George Eliot," all of which are handsomely illustrated and gotten up in the same style which has made the other volumes of this series so popular. In conclusion, it is out of place to mention the admirable series of sea-poems, entitled "Surf and by Anna L. Ward, which has not been long a time as not to be considered publications for this season.

J. UPHAM & Co. announce a new author of "From Madge to Marbe" called "The Love of a Lifetime;" "Pain," an exquisitely illustrated volume. H. Downes, a well-known Boston "A Memoir of Charles Lowe," with from his diary and letters, by Martha ve; "Stray Chords," a volume of Julia Anaquas, daughter of Julia Ward Patrice, Her Love and Labor," a four parts, by Edward F. Hayward, the writer of "Ecce Spiritus;" and a new edition of Owen Innsly's delightful volume of "Poems and Sonnets," which it is said is very pretty one. They will also have popular editions of J. R. Butt's "Man's Assistant," and of Dr. J. R. Whence, What, and Where?"

S & BAILEY, Baltimore, have just published on "Ground Rents in Maryland," introduction concerning the tenure of the Proprietary, by Lewis Mayer, of the bar, with an article on manors in by John Johnson, Jr., and the recent Court-Baron and Court-Leet of St. Manor.

HEAD & Co. have a list of announce- appeals to almost every literary taste. just ready the long expected novel Roe, "Sombre Rivals," which deals vil War, and is said to be quite up to orts of this popular writer. The de- this book has been so great that its as postponed until an edition of es could be put on the market, and from all indications it will be a rarely successfu undertaking. Very shortly will be published "A Score of Etchings," a collection of twenty specimens by the most eminent English etchers, including such names as Seymour Haden, Herkomer, Hamerton, Colin Hunter, Walner, David Law, Brunet-Debaines, etc., etc., similar in style and finish to the volume of "Etchings" published last year, which met with so great a success that it retailed at a premium before the close of the season; an entirely new edition from perfectly new plates of Bryan's valuable "Dictionary of Painters, Engravers, and Sculptors," thoroughly revised and brought down to date; "A History of Sculpture," an important work, by Lucy M. Mitchell, which will be published in sumptuous style, with upward of two hundred and fifty illustrations, for which alone between five and six thousand dollars have been expended. Kegan Paul & Co., of London, will co-operate in defraying expenses, and will publish an English edition of the book simultaneously with its appearance here, which, however, will not alter the fact that the work is purely an American publication. There will be two new volumes by Prof. Alfred J. Church, "Stories from Herodotus" and "Stories from Livy," each with many illustrations in color from ancient sculptures and frescoes, uniform with his previous volumes of "Homer," "Virgil," and "Greek Tragedians;" two new volumes in the Minor Wars of the United States, "King Philip's War," by Richard Markham, and the "War with Mexico," by Horatio O. Ladd; "The Chronicle of the Cid," edited with introduction and appendix by Richard Markham, and illustrated with upward of fifty designs by H. W. McVickar and Alfred Brennan, drawn especially for this book; "Stone Sculptures of Cöpan and Quirigua," with historical and descriptive text by Julius Schmidt, translated by A. D. Savage, formerly of the N.Y. Metropolitan Museum of Art, a book of great value as a scientific work and also as a work of art, it being illustrated with twenty plates of perfect accuracy, and handsomely bound in morocco with cloth sides; and "The North-west Coast of America," a work containing the results of recent ethnological researches from the collection of the Royal Museums at Berlin, also translated from the German and furnished with thirteen plates, five of them in colors, a standard work that will increase in importance as more study is given to the section of country it treats of. They have in active preparation "The Basé Country," an account, by Frank James, of travels in Soudan, with upward of thirty excellent illustrations from photographs taken on the spot, and containing some most interesting hunting experiences, which will be brought out as a sumptuous holiday-book with all perfection of detail in type, paper, printing, and binding. There will be also a new edition of Curzon's "Monasteries of the Levant" and of Tennyson's "Lady of Shalott" with the Howard Pyle illustrations. The "Dramatic Works" of Richard B. Sheridan, of which a new edition, limited to 350 copies, was published in July, printed from type on Japanese and Holland-made paper, has been exhausted, with the exception of a few copies. This house, as usual, has a long array of Sunday-school books in sets containing from four and five to eight, ten, and twelve volumes, and ranging in price from fifteen cents to $1.50 per volume; among them the "Boy Blue Series," "Uncle Jack's Series," "Pictures Everywhere," "Little People," "Chestnut," "Hazel," "Maple," "Marigold," "Hollyhock," "Skylark," "Land and Sea Library," "Warrington," "Stretton Library," "Gypsy," "Finley Library," "Daisy Library," "Half Hours," Mildred series, and the ever-popular "Elsie Books." A number of new juveniles will be added to this extensive list, some of them by our leading writers. Oliver Wendell Holmes' ballad of "Grandmother's Story of Bunker Hill" will be brought out, illustrated in color by H. W. McVickar; Chas. Nordhoff's "Man-of-War Life" is to have a new preface written by the author for a new edition from new plates; there will be a new edition of Abbott's "American Pioneers and Patriots" in twelve volumes with highly ornamental bindings; Martha Finley will have a new volume in the Elsie series, and there will be a new one also in the Mildred series; and the many "quartos" have been enriched with an entirely new series called "Childhood Days," to be printed with gorgeous illuminated covers that every child will want.

DOYLE & WHITTLE, Boston, Mass., will publish by subscription, in October, an American edition of "Newfoundland : Its History, Present Condition, and Future Prospects," by Joseph Hatton and Rev. M. Harvey. The volume will be fully and handsomely illustrated.

WARREN F. DRAPER has in press and will issue early in the season an "Elementary Grammar and Reading-Book" for the use of Hebrew students, which is believed to be briefer and more simple than anything of the kind previously published. The aim of the book is to lead the students, with the least possible memorizing, to the independent use of the Bible and lexicon. Prof. E. C. Mitchell, the competent author of this grammar, has also just revised and edited the new edition of "Gesenius' Hebrew Grammar," which the foregoing manual is designed to accompany.

E. P. DUTTON & Co. have just ready "The Life and Achievements of Edward Henry Palmer," late Lord Almoner's Professor of Arabic in the University of Cambridge and Fellow of St. John's College, written in the very best style of the inexhaustible Walter Besant, who has here found a most congenial subject for his ready, graphic pen. They announce a new volume of great interest to Bible students in "Some of the Chief Facts in the Life of Our Lord," by Henry Wace, a strong plea for the authority of the Evangelical narratives; also "Sermons Preached in English Churches," by Rev. Phillips Brooks, containing his most important sermons delivered during the year spent in England. As usual, this house has ready a large line of juveniles for the Christmas holidays, among them an endless variety of "New Board Juveniles," ranging from 25 cents to $1.75 per volume; The Boys' and Girls' Own Favorite series, a new line of 12mos of forty-eight volumes, equally divided among the boys and girls, of which only three volumes are issued in any other series, containing from five to seven hundred pages of reading matter each, handsomely bound, and each put up in neat wrapper; twelve new 12mo volumes divided into two libraries called respectively Laddies' Library and Girls' Gem Library with covers stamped in flowers, gold and colors; and "Sunday for 1883." A very handsome volume, pronounced the color-book of the coming season, and entitled in the Twilight, "is a book of poems Weatherby, with designs by M. E. Ed. J. C. Staples, manufactured in Germany. Messrs. Hildesheimer & Faulkner, and the exquisite style of the Christmas celebrated house. Examining the work of art one is forcibly struck with advance that has been made in children picture-books since their introduction a dozen years ago, both as regards displayed in their composition and the execution of their manufacture. Especially trained tastes than those for above feast is prepared will be satisfied the fringed books for the coming sales, of which this busy house already teen upon its list. These volumes are shape, with illustrations by prominent and are bound in chromo covers with artistic designs, each book fringed and The new ones for the season are Ed. Poe's "Raven," illustrated under the direction of George T. Andrew, with lithographs of figures and flowers, printed in evel silk fringe and tassels, in a box; or black and gold, with original silver Uniform with the "Raven" are Fabrigrams of the Night," Keble's "Evening and Havergal's "Bells Across the Snow."

JAMES H. EARLE, Boston, has in preparation for Working Boys," by J. M. McCa a helpful volume for boys, charming and brimful of points, helps, and instructions. Prof. A. Martling's "Complete Poetical Memorial of Prof. Elihu Root," of most promising teachers in science, by Prof. H. H. Neil; and a biography of brothers, Melville B. and Gersham F. Mrs. Carlos Ramon, which will be issued the title of "Two Itinerants."

GEORGE H. ELLIS announces two interesting books, appealing to almost diametrically opposite tastes. The first, to appeal to the sober, will be "Darwinism in Morals, Essays," by Frances Power Cobbe, which quiet English would make almost as attractive; and the other, which is not until later in the season, will be a voluminous analytical essays on "Beethoven's Nymphs," by George Grove, the well-known authority on musical matters. This work accurate and technical enough to be of value to the musician, and at the same time and sufficiently popular, so that all lovers of wonderful symphonies will appreciate it. The work will be published with illustrations from the score, but the text will be published separately, in a cheaper and neat pamphlet form.

ESTES & LAURIAT have almost ready for trade several beautifully illustrated gifts, of which the most important will be the new of Gray's "Elegy in a Country Churchyard" with original designs by Birket Foster, Shepard, W. L. Taylor, and Francis "The Rime of the Ancient Mariner," by Gustav Doré, W. L. Taylor, and several artists; and "Songs and Scenes from the Bayard Taylor translation, with illustrations by A. Liezen, Mayer, and A. Lalauze. All are all exquisitely gotten up in small form with illuminated bindings and covers. "The Heart of Europe from nube" is a work of great interest, a series of the most remarkable views and historic buildings scattered so largely through this garden of Europe. by Leo de Colange, D.D., interspersed with quotations from English and American authors.

It will be issued as a sumptuous large quarto size, handsomely bound, with a companion volume to be called "Lakes, and River," a series of 25 engravings from designs by W. H. and others, with descriptive text by N. and others, and narrative poems on lakes and rivers by American and English authors. Among the important historical notices announced for early publication are Guy's "History of Rome and of the People" (to be issued as a subscription or seven imperial octavo volumes), translated by M. M. Ripley and W. W. edited by the Rev. J. P. Mahaffy, of Ancient History in Trinity College, and will contain about 3000 engravings, and plans by Keith, Johnston, Erhart, and many chromo-lithographs, Paris specially for this edition. It is at both for classic scholars and the order this will take rank among the able works on Rome. Lingard's "History of England" will be brought out in a new Library edition in 10 volumes, containing the latest notes and emendations of the author in a memoir and ten portraits newly engraved by B. Dammon, of Paris; it will be printed on fine laid paper from new type and will be strictly limited to 1050 copies. Only three hundred are for the American market, and an edition of one hundred copies, with paper titles, will be reserved for subscribers only. To their Library edition of History they will add "The History of the American People," by Arthur Gilchrist, also promise an interesting work by B. Muzzey, entitled "Reminiscences of the Trials of Men of the Revolution and the Revolutionaries," and a new edition in three volumes of Hazlitt's "Life of Napoleon," containing a number of fine woodcuts and steel engravings that do not appear in any other edition of this popular work. They also announce several new volumes in their Young People's series, of which there are nearly ready for publication "History of the Netherlands," "History of Holland and Belgium from the earliest times to the present day," by Alexander; the "History of Edinburgh," by John; the "History of the Reformation in the same author; "History of London," with well-told stories of its historic landmarks; W. H. Rideing; "History of the Norman Conquest of England, dating from the Norman Conquest by Rosalie Kaufman; and a "History of the Civil War," compiled from the best authorities, by Mrs. C. and they announce, for future publication, this useful series, histories of "Ireland," by H. B. Carpenter; "New York," by J. Lamb; and "Constantinople," by J. Lamb; works on the American, French, and English Revolutions, on the "Reformation," on the "Crusades," of which the not yet announced, are also under consideration, enterprising house also promises a series of travel, of which a very important one, "Travels in Mexico," by Fred A.

Ober, who has travelled from Yucatan to the Rio Grande, making careful studies of the people, their habits, customs, laws, of the resources of the country, and its beautiful and historic places. To insure accuracy in his statistical work Mr. Ober is now in Mexico, studying the new system of railways and gathering material for an appendix which will form a complete directory of states, towns, cities, exports, imports, trade and tariff laws, etc., thus making it the most valuable work on Mexico for the student, business man, or tourist. We shall also have an entertaining work, entitled "The Land of the Incas and the City of the Sun," which will give an account of Francisco Pizarro and the conquest of Peru, written by Mr. W. H. Davenport Adams, who gives us accurate descriptions of the country of which he treats. A second edition of Dr. Elliot Coues' "Key to North American Birds" is in preparation, and will be very handsomely brought out, with nearly 500 illustrations, representing living and fossil specimens of all North American birds known to this time. The work has been largely rewritten, and is now published in one volume octavo, and includes the author's "Field Ornithology," making it a most valuable manual and text-book. Dr. Coues' more popular work on the "Ornithology of the World," a treatise on the birds of all countries, with the results of recent research and discovery, descriptions of bird-life and illustrative anecdotes, will be published in an imperial octavo volume, with 700 finely drawn illustrations. They have under way a translation of Hellwald's world renowned work upon the "History of Man," a treatise on the different varieties of the human species, embracing the results of recent investigation, the translation and editing of which have been in the hands of J. S. Kingsley, who has been ably assisted in his colossal task by Dr. W. H. Dall, of the Smithsonian Institute, Prof. F. W. Putnam, Director of the Peabody Museum, and Stephen Salisbury, Jr., of the American Antiquarian Society. The work will contain all the original illustrations, augmented by a great many new ones, especially in designs relating to American Indians, as this part of the subject has been added to the book and treated very fully by American specialists. The "Spanish System" will be added immediately to the Meisterschaft System of Practical Linguistry, in which Dr. Richard S. Rosenthal has proved that it is an easy and practical thing to learn to speak quickly and fluently any foreign language. These different systems are published in pamphlet form, and are only sold in sets. Acceptable gift-books will be found in H. Butterworth's selection of "Poems for Christmas, Easter, and New Year," profusely illustrated by superior cuts and devices; and in the "Encyclopædia of Anecdotes of Literature and Fine Arts," containing over seven hundred pages of text, interspersed with several hundred woodcuts, etc., and made available for ready quotation and reference by an excellent index. The publishers will have quite a bewildering array of new editions of standard authors. We shall have an édition de luxe, limited to 350 copies, of "Carlyle's Works," the first complete uniform edition printed in America, from new type, at the University Press, Cambridge, on fine linen drawing-paper, uniform with the édition de luxe of "Emerson," recently issued, and illustrated with India proof impressions of etchings and steel engravings; an édition de luxe of "Thackeray's Complete Works," to be printed from new type at the University Press, and limited to 250 sets of twenty volumes each, numbered and registered; and the handy large-type edition of "Charles Dickens' Complete Works," printed from long primer leaded type, in fifteen volumes. Hazlitt's "Miscellaneous Works," which were formerly published in six volumes, are now brought out in three volumes in compact style, but can still be obtained in three volumes in various library styles. The Cambridge edition of George Eliot's "Miscellaneous Works," nearly ready, will include all the essays, reviews, and poems now collected for the first time, and ably edited, with introductory chapters, by Matthew Browne and Mrs. S. B. Herrick. New editions also of Goethe's "Faust," "Poems and Ballads," and "Wilhelm Meister," are now ready. Teachers and students will be glad to learn of a critical "Life of Geo. Francis Bacon," adapted for colleges and schools, containing many selections from his writings. In the department of juvenile literature the publishers have a new volume in the famous Zigzag series (of which they announce 100,000 copies have already been sold), which promises to be as popular as its predecessors. It is entitled "Zigzag Journeys in Northern Lands," and describes the travels of the Club from the Rhine to the Arctic Circle, passing through Holland, Belgium, Denmark, Norway, and Sweden, in the animated style of Hezekiah Swadlow. Mr. C. A. Stephens has prepared another volume of Knockabout Club Stories, which tells of the "Knockabout Club in the Tropics," and gives an account of travels through the land of the Aztecs and of the ruins of Central America, that has been descriptively illustrated with original designs, and in point of text and outside finish makes a very lively book. The new juvenile, "Boys of the Sierras," gives an exciting story of the adventures of two young gold-hunters, and accurately describes the scenery and social and political life of California in 1849. The ever-popular "Chatterbox" is out for 1883, containing over two hundred illustrations, with appropriate text, forming one of the cheapest journals in the market. Besides these they have "The Rose and the Ring, or, The History of Prince Giglio and Prince Bulho," the pretty story by Thackeray; "My First Book," with easy reading and pretty pictures for the youngest children; "The Prize for 1883," a companion to "Chatterbox," with colored illustrations and new editions of all the popular juveniles of the firm. Novelties in gift-books are "The Leap Year Calendar," by Kate Sanborn, author of "Purple and Gold," containing appropriate quotations for every day of 1884, which will be published as a heart-shaped souvenir; and "The Garden of the Heart," a collection of religious poetry, which will be in uniform shape and style with the above.

FORDS, HOWARD & HULBERT will bring out, in October, Marion Harland's "Judith: A Chronicle of Old Virginia"—a veracious but romantic story of the plantation times that have passed away forever. It will be prettily illustrated and appear as No. 6 of Our Continent Library, the series of popular republications from the columns of Judge Tourgee's weekly magazine, The Continent. No. 5 of that series is "A Sylvan City" (which will be ready immediately), an illustrated book devoted to picturesque corners of Philadelphia and old. Mrs. Helen Campbell's "Helen's Year-Book for 1883" took so well that an edition of it for 1884 is preparing, and ready in October. This is one of Mrs. Campbell's happiest hits; and she seems indeed her attempts to make the science of book-tracting attractive and easily practised. They have the new volume of "Beecher's Sermons," "Plymouth Pulpit," their weekly edition, 1882-3; and a new and popular edition of Beecher's "Life Thoughts"—a favorite book among Beecherites. They are about issuing a new edition of Procter's "Concise History of the American Republic," brought down to 1883, a work which has the highest place among short histories of the United States, being complete in two volumes yet filling all the requirements of a really accurate history. For the "fall campaign" politics and subsequent political events have ready a cheap edition (paper) of "Cleverdale Mystery; or, The Machine of Wheels," the selling qualities of which, as a "man's book," have pushed the publisher to several large printings during the year, which ought to have another run in the fall. Judge Tourgee's "Hot Plow" is already nearly "out of its teens" in circulation, and is steadily growing in demand. He naturally keeps his other books in publication. His "Fool's Errand" is still the best of all his works. After the present edition is exhausted it will no longer be attainable in the present ($1) form, but will always be available with Part II., "The Invisible Empire," giving the documents and facts which form a basis for the famous novel. It will be put at $1.50. This house have in hand many new books for their subscription trade, and will be announced later.

FOWLER & WELLS continue the line of publications that come in their specialty, with some of miscellaneous character. They announce for early publication a new book called "Health in the Household," by Mrs. Dr. Susanna W. Dodds, a most interesting and comprehensive work on the subject of healthful preparation of food; a new and enlarged edition of "The Movement of the Human Body," embracing the history and philosophy of the human body, of medical treatment, including Massage, by W. Taylor, M.D., a work which has been long time been out of print; "A Complete Treatise of Massage," giving its principles and for its applications in all forms of diseases, also by Dr. Taylor; "A Talk About Married Life and Things," by Rev. William Aikman, D.D., a plain and chatty volume in which the author narrates observations from a bachelor's standpoint; "Horses, their Feed and their Feet," of Horse Hygiene," which is something in this direction. A new and enlarged edition of "Indications of Character," by H. S. Fowler, editor of the Phrenological Journal, and a pamphlet publications are also announced.

THE FREE RELIGIOUS ASSOCIATION have moved from Tremont Place to 107 North Street, and the Index, the organ of the society, has also had its office moved to the above address. They announce a new great value in Felix L. Oswald's "Sech treats of the Christian religion and ance of its rise and decline from the

of all the publications of this society, really contains much valuable and in-matter, testifying to the sincere wish of to be fair as well as "free."

in 1880, and it will be issued as an independent work and will not form part of Knapp's "Modern Spanish Readings," as was erroneously stated in the WEEKLY for July 28.

W. S. GOTTSBERGER has just ready a short account of the public life of Henry Irving, with four illustrations.

S. C. GRIGGS & Co. have nearly ready several new books that are quite up to the high standard of interest and excellence of all their publications. The first in order of popularity will undoubtedly be a new volume of poetry by Benj.
F. Taylor, author of the "Songs of Yesterday," entitled "Dulce Domum," which will contain many beautiful poems never before collected in book-form. The publishers have spared no pains to make this book rank with the leading holiday publications of the year in point of excellence of paper, clearness of type, and beauty of binding, and the author has become so endeared to all lovers of home poetry that there can be no doubt of a great demand for his latest songs. In heavier reading we are promised a new volume in the Philosophical series, so ably edited by Prof. Geo. S. Morris, Ph.D.,
"World-Life, or Comparative Geology," a new illustrated volume by Prof. Alex. Winchell, LL.D., the distinguished author of "Preadamites;" another work by the author of "Isms, Old and New," the Rev. Geo. C. Lorimer, D.D., the eloquent preacher of Immanuel Baptist Church, Chicago, who has called his book "Jesus, the World's Saviour: Who He is, Why He Came,
and What He Did;" and a new edition of Prof.
Welsh's "Development of English Literature and Language," in one volume, on thinner paper, without abridgment, for the use of schools. This publication is undertaken at the urgent request of many teachers, who are unanimous in their praise of this remarkable book that has run through two editions in twelve months, and gives promise of still greater success. All admirers of Scandinavia, its people and literature, will be glad to learn of the approaching publication of Frederick Winkle Horn's "History of the Literature of the Scandinavian North," which has been translated by Prof. Anderson, and is rendered still more valuable by a bibliography of important English works relating to the Scandinavian countries, prepared with the skill, patience, and knowledge of the subject possessed by the tireless compiler, Thorvald Solberg; and the same readers will also eagerly await the new revised edition of Auber Forest-ier's translation of Kristofer Janson's "Spell-Bound Fiddler," dealing with the life of Ole Bull, and showing by history and anecdote how richly the peasants of Norway are gifted with the taste and genius for music. This firm have just issued Alfred H. Welsh's "Essentials of Geometry," which the most competent critics have honored with "unqualified commendation."

HARPER & BROS. have nearly ready Poe's
"The Raven," illustrated by Gustave Doré, with a comment by Edmund Clarence Stedman.
The illustrations in this superb volume—which will be issued in folio, uniform with Doré's
"Ancient Mariner"—are twenty-six in number, and are said to rank among the "most original and imaginative fruits of the great artist's genius." They also announce as nearly ready "Bonnybel Vane, embracing the History of Henry St. John, Gentleman," a story of the social life of Virginia in the time of Governor Dunmore, by John Esten Cooke; "Mosaics of Grecian History," the historical narrative, with numerous illustrative poetic and prose selections, forming a popular course of reading in Grecian history and literature, by Marcus Willson and Robert Pierpont Willson; "French and German Socialism in Modern Times," by Richard T. Ely, of Johns Hopkins University, who has devoted special attention to the study and exposition of economic and social subjects, and who has constructed a very readable sketch of the various socialist systems, their objects, methods, principles, and history; and the volume of Harper's Young People, for 1883. They have in press a new book by Mr. Charles Nordhoff, entitled "God and the Future Life: The Reasonableness of Christianity, Natural Theology for Youth," which is addressed to young people and seeks to meet the forces of doubt and unbelief encountered in their every-day life, and to give firm ground to, and reason for, an earnest faith in Christianity; "Old Mexico and Her Lost Provinces: A Journey in Mexico, Southern California, and Arizona, by Way of Cuba," by William Henry Bishop, who furnishes a most interesting and instructive description of Mexico, and the great provinces over which that country at one time held sway; and a most charming volume of fairy lore for children, entitled "The Ball of the Vegetables," and other stories in prose and verse, by Margaret Eyttinge.

H. L. HASTINGS announces the continuation of the Anti-Infidel Library, to which the yearly subscription is $1 for one book a month. This library already contains many excellent works, among which may be mentioned some treatises by Mr. Hastings himself on "The Inspiration of the Bible;" "Infidel Testimony Concerning the Truth of the Bible;" "Corruptions of the New Testament," and "Friendly Hints to Candid Inquirers." There are also two good pamphlets by Robert Patterson, entitled, "Egypt in History and Prophecy; or, Pharaoh Proclaiming God," and "Testimony of Christ to the Truth of the New Testament."

M. L. HOLBROOK will publish in October "A Physician's Sermon to Young Men," by Dr. W. Pratt, who is said to "handle a delicate subject wisely, judiciously, and religiously, as well as very plainly." Mr. Holbrook will also issue this fall a new edition of his work on "Parturition without Pain—a Code of Directions for avoiding most of the Pains and Dangers of Childbearing."

HENRY HOLT & Co. have in preparation a goodly number of miscellaneous and educational works, quite up to their usual high standard of literary and practical excellence. In September they will add to their Leisure Hour and Leisure Moment series a new novel, entitled "The Executor," from the untiring pen of Mrs. Alexander, whose "Wooing O't" first brought into notice the handy, pretty, and now so successful Leisure Hour series; also "A Latter Day Saint," an American novel, based on the story of the conversion of Ethel Jones to the Mormon religion, purporting to be written by herself—a book the publishers have at last selected the mass of mss. furnished them, and we assure us is a good novel. While we these promised dainties we shall have wandering through "Italian By-Ways" the leadership of John Addington, author of "Renaissance in Italy," whose edge of that country in its physical and social aspects, is conceded by all to be exhaustive. Schools and colleges ready for their wants Corneille's forming volume six in the Students' Classics French Plays, second series, Prof. E. S. Joynes, which they can also bound together with Racine's "Esther," Molière's "L'Avare;" also Huss' "Oral Instruction in German;" and "The Human Body," "Newcombe's Astronomy," and "Packard's," which are all new works in a new American Science series, intended for use in schools, academies, and college classes; there is not time enough for the study of standard works of the series. These known as the Briefer Course series. This month this house will get out a new edition of Lossing's "Life and Times of Phillips," which has been out of print for some time, and also a new and revised edition of Miller's valuable cook-book, "In the Kitchen." For October there will be ready, Houghton's "George Washington," the new volume of the Series of American Worthies; Rousseau's "Drummer-Boy," a story of the time of the Revolution, translated by W. S. Gordon; Thomas' "Captain Phil," the story of his experiences in the western army during the Civil War, both of which will be good books; the second volume of Fyffe's "History of Modern Europe;" Heine's "Harzreise nach dem Buch Le Grand," with notes by James A. Harrison, suitable for German students and for a school text-book as well; Newcomb's "College Algebra" in a revised edition with appendix of miscellaneous exercises; and "School Algebra;" Aubert's "French Drill," the initial volume of the Series of Language Text-Books; "Selected German Comedies," prepared for students with tables of difficulties (in German) and one or two fresh additions, now including plays, all fully elucidated according to the "natural method," which has been so successful in this popular teacher's hands; and "Der Schlüssel zum Leitfaden," a German grammar that will be issued in November. Johnston's "School History of the United States" is in active preparation, and the publishers consider themselves fortunate to have obtained this new work of the talents of "American Politics."

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co.'s announcements include some important new works in the departments of biography, history, fiction, travel, some attractive new editions of classic works, and some notable books for the coming season. In the department of biography, "Life of Albert Gallatin," by John A. M. Evans, recently editor of the Magazine of American History, will be added to the Series of American Statesmen, and "Life of James Madison," by Sidney Gay. "The Memoir of Thurlow Weed Barnes," his grandson, Thurlow Weed Barnes, will appear late in the season, supplementing which has recently been published, completing the "Life of Thurlow Weed," by its familiar knowledge of public character and events of more or less importance in the history of the country for the last century, is a work of remarkable value and interest. Dr. Holmes is engaged upon a "Life of Waldo Emerson," for the series of Men of Letters; T. W. Higginson is writing the "Life of Margaret Fuller"; Mr. J. R. Seward, of the New York Tribune, upon "John Taylor"; Prof. McMaster, author of the "History of the People of the United States," upon "Franklin"; and George L. Taylor, upon "Poe," for this series, but it is not certain how many of these will be published during the coming autumn. The department of history is promised a volume by Herbert Tuttle, professor in Cornell University, on the "History of Prussia to the death of Frederic the Great," for which Tuttle has made exhaustive studies during several years in Berlin; the "Diplomatic History of the War for the Union," by William H. Seward, containing the journals of the war which Mr. Seward kept for the use of ministers abroad, with selections of his diplomatic correspondence, several papers, and some important speeches included in the four volumes of Seward's heretofore published. A memoir of Mr. Sewall, supplementing the memoir which was given in a later volume of his works, is prefixed to which will also be issued along with a new edition of the four other volumes in uniform with the complete works of Mr. Seward, brought out under the editorial care of C. C. Baker. An important historical series, entitled American Commonwealths, to be published under the editorship of Horace E. Seward, will include histories of such of the States of the Union as have contributed an important influence in the shaping of the government of the nation, or have any distinctive political, or economical history. So far as published, the series will include "Virginia," by Estlin Cooke; "Oregon," by Rev. J. W. Barrows; "South Carolina," by Hon. J. T. Trescott; "Maryland," by Wm. Hand Browne; "Kentucky," by Prof. N. S. Shaler; "Pennsylvania," by Hon. J. C. McVeagh. The volumes will be of the same size and general exterior characteristics as those of American Statesmen and Men of Letters, and will be furnished with maps and illustrations. Another important historical work is the "History of Ancient, Mediæval, and Modern Europe," by Carl Ploetz, which condenses the compass of a single crown octavo volume into the salient facts in the world's history, and is known, with remarkable clearness and interest. It is translated from the German by H. Tillinghast, of Harvard University, and contains several maps. In the department of fiction, the most notable book will be by Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, "Beyond the Gates of Death," a story which will gratify those who have been ever since the "Gates Ajar" was published, that Miss Phelps had carried still further her story of the experiences and possibilities of the future life. This book was not published to Miss Phelps by the appearance of the elephant's wonderful sketch of "The Grim," but the thousands of readers of which cannot fail to read with similar interest this story by Miss Phelps. Edgar Fawcett's story, "An Ambitious Woman," deals with New York City, and depicts the ambitions and discontents with which American women are said to be peculiarly affected, and also suggests higher types of ambition and aim, by following which these discontents and low ambitions may be effectually and happily extirpated. The story is appearing in the Sunday edition of the N. Y. Tribune, and has attracted special interest in its circle of readers. The latest of Bret Harte's stories, "In the Carquinez Woods," a story of early California life, and said to be written in his earliest and best manner, will be published soon in Little Classic style. The most important work of travel on Houghton, Mifflin & Co.'s list is the "Voyage of the Jeannette," in two octavo volumes, which will contain the ship and ice journals of Commander De Long, a biographical sketch of De Long, and narratives of those who survived the ill-fated voyage, a report of the search party and the return of the survivors to America. The volumes will contain a fine steel portrait of Commander De Long, a colored frontispiece picture of the tomb on the Lena Delta, and ten full-page pictures by Mr. Burns, a marine artist who accompanied an Arctic expedition, and is therefore able to make the illustrations truthful as well as effective, with additional half-page cuts and tail-pieces, and six large maps which will show every important detail of the routes traversed. Charles Dudley Warner will gather into a volume entitled "A Roundabout Journey" the impressions and observations of a recent tour in Southern Spain, France, Sicily and Northern Africa. Those who have read his "Winter on the Nile" and "In the Levant," will understand what a treat is before them. The holiday volumes of this firm include "Michael Angelo," the dramatic poem by Mr. Longfellow which was published after his death, and which is one of the noblest poems he ever wrote. It will be produced in sumptuous typography in a quarto volume, illustrated with various portraits of Michael Angelo, Vittoria Colonna, and other characters of the poem, also with various pictures of Florence, Rome, and Venice, and others of a purely ornamental character, the whole forming a gift-book of very remarkable attractiveness, differing in mechanical execution from any gift-book that has ever been brought out in this country. Another very desirable gift-book will contain "Twenty Poems," by Longfellow, illustrated from paintings by his son, Ernest W. Longfellow, who has made designs of many of the places and scenes which suggested the poems. The volume will also contain an engraved portrait, also by Mr. Ernest Longfellow. The union of Mr. Longfellow's poems with his son's illustrations will lend a peculiar interest to this book. An important and curiously interesting gift-book will be the New Testament, with engravings from designs by Fra Angelico, Perugino, Francesco Francia, Lorenzo di Credi, Fra Bartolommeo, Titian, Raphael, and others, every page being embellished with ornamental borders and vignettes, some of them copies from illuminated manuscripts in the British Museum. The book will be a royal quarto, richly gilt. A new volume by Mr. Whittier, entitled "The Bay of Seven Islands, and Other Poems," will include the poetry written by him within the last two years, since the appearance of "The King's Missive," and his thousands of admiring readers will greet it with a cordial welcome. John Augustine Wiltstach, a lawyer of Indiana, has made a translation of the complete works of Virgil into English verse, which will appear in two crown octavo volumes, containing, in addition to the translation, much illustrative matter, including various readings both in Latin and English, and explanatory notes. A book of charming "Poems for Children," by Celia Thaxter, will be illustrated for holiday use; "He and She, a Poet's Portfolio," by William W. Story, contains numerous lyrical poems strung together on a brilliant conversation between a lady and a gentleman; "Characteristics," by A. P. Russell, author of "Library Notes," is a book of essays embodying the rich fruits of Mr. Russell's reading in various departments of literature, and making extracts from others whom one is always glad to meet; "The Bodley Family in England," the second volume of the new Bodley series, relates the doings of the younger generation of Bodleys in England, where they find Bodley cousins, who make the visit interesting to them by visiting with them places memorable in English history, and scenes which the literature of England has commemorated. Mr. Scudder's interesting narrative, with the pictures which the book contains, will make this one of the most valuable and desirable of the many Bodley books. Mrs. James T. Fields, who has been engaged for many years in philanthropic labors, has from her experiences and observation prepared a little book, entitled "How to Help the Poor," which cannot fail to be of great practical value. Oscar Fay Adams has prepared a "Hand-Book of English Authors," which gives in very brief space the facts in regard to the lives and works of all English authors of note. This information is arranged in alphabetical order, and is very convenient for reference. Mr. Aldrich will have a new book entitled "Mercedes, and Later Lyrics," Mercedes being a drama based upon a notable incident of the Spanish campaign of the Emperor Napoleon, and the later lyrics include the poems he has written within the last few years, which it would be difficult to match with an equal number of lyrics as spirited and graceful. Rowland G. Hazard will publish in a small volume two papers entitled "Man a Creative First Cause," which were read before the Concord School of Philosophy in the summer of 1882. Of new editions, the most notable is the new Riverside edition of Emerson's works in eleven volumes, which will be printed from entirely new plates with a beautiful page, and which will comprise all that Mr. Emerson has heretofore published in book-form, and in addition, two volumes of essays, lectures, and speeches that have never been published. The first volume to appear is entitled "Nature, Addresses and Lectures," containing the same matter as the book which has heretofore been known as "Miscellanies;" the title "Miscellanies" will be reserved for one of the new volumes to appear later. The first volume will contain an admirable portrait etched by Schoff, and a later volume will include a fine steel portrait. The édition de luxe of five hundred copies, printed from the same plates with the Riverside edition, has already been subscribed for in full. Other new editions include a Little Classic volume of sketches and tales by Hawthorne, containing his "Life of Franklin Pierce," "Alice Doane's Appeal," a paper

"Chiefly About War Letters," and "The Celestial Footstep." This will make the Classic Hawthorne complete, and the announcement is made that on the publication volume, the price of this edition of Hawthorne's works will be $1 a volume instead of $1.50 heretofore. Another important edition of Riverside Shakespeare, in three crown octavo volumes, edited by Richard Grant White, with a glossarial, historical, and explanatory apparatus. These notes, which are very brief and clear, are placed at the foot of the pages for convenient reference. The type of the volume is beautiful, and the edition is intended to be the best and most desirable cheap edition of Shakespeare ever published. From the same plates will be issued an edition in six volumes octavo, which will be very handsome library volumes. "Works of Jonathan Swift," reprinted from the edition edited by Sir Walter Scott, with a life of the author, by Scott, will be issued in nineteen volumes, which book-fanciers as well as lovers of Swift's writings will desire to procure. A new edition of Mr. Darley's compositions in outline from Hawthorne's "Scarlet Letter" is in preparation, somewhat in size from the old form, but preserving Mr. Darley's remarkable design, with perfect fidelity and great beauty. This is probably one of the most notable works ever produced by Mr. Darley, and the revival of it in all that Hawthorne wrote will lend to the book a special value the coming holiday season. A new edition of Benjamin's "Treatise on the Law of Sale of Personal Property," edited by Judge Bennett, will shortly be issued, also new editions of the Longfellow and Emerson Calendars, which proved so popular last year; the designs will remain unchanged, but the selections for each day of the year have been rearranged, and many new selections substituted. A new Emerson Calendar, similar in general character to the Longfellow, though somewhat different in form, will be published, the design being of a kind to attract the admirers of some characteristic Emersonian poems which have most commended themselves to the lovers of humanity, and the selections will be made with the same care and skill as those of the Longfellow and Emerson Calendars. The completion of Longfellow's Works in the Riverside edition is promised by the addition of a third volume, containing all his prose works and the poems not published when the two previous volumes were issued, viz., "In the Harbor," "Michael Angelo," illustrated in the same sumptuous style with the volumes before. A "Hawthorne Portfolio" is in preparation, limited to 125 copies, and containing some of the etchings made in the édition de luxe of Hawthorne's Works, and printed on Japanese paper. A new duodecimo edition of Hawthorne's juvenile books, "The Wonder Book," "Tanglewood Tales," and "True Stories," History and Biography," will be brought out in an attractive style of binding. A life-size portrait of Hawthorne, of the same character as the Atlantic portraits of Longfellow, Emerson, Lowell, Holmes, and Whitman, will be published in October. The second volume of Prof. Child's edition of the "English and Scotch Popular Ballads," in a sumptuous form, is announced as in preparation, and a promise is given to bring out a new edition of Dr. William Rimmer's famous work on "Anatomy," in case a sufficient number shall be secured at $12 a copy. Leones, who is well known by his treatises on Engages, Railroad Securities, and Chattel Mortgages," has prepared a treatise on the Pledges and Collateral Securities," appear at an early day.

Lee & Co., N. Y., announce new editions of "The Poems of Victor Hugo, Le Dernier Jour d'un Condamné," Edwin Arnold's Poems, comprising The Light of Asia," "Indian Song of the 'Pearls of Faith,' and other poems," "The Poems and Ballads of Heinrich Heine," translated by Emma Lazarus, with a geographical sketch; the poems of the English Kings, including his "Androchus," "The Saint's Tragedy," songs, ballads, the Poems of Robert Greene, Christophe Colomb, and Ben Jonson," in one volume, with critical and historical notes and memoirs of the three writers, by J. H. Wiffen; a translation of Virgil's Aeneid, Annals, Triumphs, and other Poems of Virgil," with a life of the poet; "Virgil's Georgics," translated by Dryden; and "Miss Pepper's," McClurg & Co., Chicago, have in new book by Miss Kirkland, the author of Little Cooks," etc., which, as indicated by the title, "Speech and Manners," is intended to attract the attention of young people to the importance of a correct use of their mother-tongue, and to furnish some hints in regard to the most proper and polite violations of good breeding; a "Life of Dr. Louis Nohl," translated by J. T. Upton, and illustrated with a fine portrait, making the fourth volume of their Biographies of Musicians; also, a selection of "Sermons," by Prof. David Watson, issued at the request of many friends of the distinguished scholar and preacher. They also announce a brilliant book of Brazilian history by Mr. Frank D. Y. Carpenter, a graduate of Cornell University in 1873, and who held for many years the position of geographer of the Geological Survey of Brazil, and under these favorable conditions acquired the mastery of the language, returning to America, he has made of his book. The author's studies of the life and manners, and his method of presenting them, are unique, and his book occupies quite its own among works of

Dr. R. Jenkins has made arrangements for publication in this country of several important veterinary works, the first of which, Prof. W. M. Smith's work on "Equine Medicine," will appear by the beginning of October; it will be followed by Prof. Fleming's long-promised work on "Operative Veterinary Surgery," illustrated with over 300 woodcuts, one of the most valuable books on veterinary subjects. These will also bring out a series of pamphlets on special veterinary subjects at low prices, and has besides become agent in America for the Veterinary Journal, for which he will receive subscriptions at the London price. He also announces a reduction in the price of the veterinary medicine-books by Professor W. M. Smith from $10 to $7.50, thus bringing them within the reach of all interested veterinarians. Mr. Jenkins' energies, however, are not confined to this field, and he promises us a series of new novels, adapted for school-reading, of which Henry Gréville's "Doria" will be the first; and also will continue to bring out a new number of the "Théâtre Contemporain" for each succeeding month.

HENRY C. LEA'S SON & CO. have in press a large number of professional works, a full list of which will be found in our classified list preceding this department under the heading of Medical Science.

LEE & SHEPARD announce numerous valuable works for the fall and holiday season. They will add to the fringed books of which they were the pioneers in the Golden Floral series: Ray Palmer's "My Faith Looks up to Thee," illustrated by Lisbeth B. Comins; Alfred Domett's Christmas hymn, "It was the Calm and Silent Night," with designs by W. L. Taylor; "The Lord is My Shepherd," the 23d Psalm in song and sonnet, by Prof. W. C. Richards, illustrated by several eminent artists; Tennyson's "Come into the Garden, Maud," with designs by Edmund H. Garrett; and they will give this same pretty dress to their already published "Curfew Must not Ring To-Night," with Rosa Hartwick's illustrations; and E. Hamilton Sears' "That Glorious Song of Old." All of these will be engraved and printed under the supervision of George T. Andrew. They also promise a new edition of the Illustrated Ballad series, which comprises "Ballads of Home," "Ballads of Bravery," "Ballads of Beauty," and "Gems of Genius," all profusely illustrated and gotten up in decidedly novel, rich full-gilt bindings. They will also have ready some works of fiction and several juveniles by favorite authors: viz., "Phil and His Friends," by J. T. Trowbridge; his "The Tinkham Brothers' Tide Mill," by the same author which has proved so interesting to the readers of St. Nicholas; "Snug Harbor," by Oliver Optic; "Fore and Aft," a story of actual sea life, by Dr. Robert B. Dixon; "Our Boys in China," by Harry W. French, which relates the adventures of two young Americans, shipwrecked on the coast of China; and "The Bear Worshippers of Yezo," by Edmund Greey, author of "Young Americans in Japan." The two latter are to be in boards as well as in cloth binding. Sophie May's new volume in the Flaxie Frisale series will be called "Flaxie's Kittyteen;" M. L. Moreland will have a peculiarly interesting story, entitled "Which: Right or Wrong?" and we shall have a new edition of the "Age of Chivalry and Romance of England," in which the well-known work of Thos. Bulfinch will be supplemented by the careful editing of the indefatigable Rev. E. E. Hale. Miss A. M. Douglas will have a story entitled "Santa Claus Land;" and a novel named "Floyd Grandon's Honor," and in the midst of all this holiday matter, we find the announcement of a "Hand-book of the Earth; or, Natural Methods in Geography," by Louisa Parsons Hopkins, an author well fitted for her work. The experiences of Mrs. S. B. Fletcher, the spiritualist medium, will be published under the name of "Twelve Months in an English Prison," and a large sale of this exciting history is confidently looked for.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT & Co. will issue early this fall a new novel by E. Werner, entitled "Banned and Blessed," which will be translated by Mrs. A. L. Wister, whose previous works are so well known to the trade. At an early date, too, they will issue Sharpless and Phillips' "Natural Philosophy," "Insanity in its Medico-Legal Aspects," by Dr. T. R. Buckham; "Wisdom, Poetry, and Pathos," selected from "Ouida's" works by Rev. F. Sydney Morris; "Calumet of the Coteau" and other poetical legends of the border, by P. W. Morris; a "History of the Union League of Philadelphia," from its origin and foundation to the year 1882, by George Parsons Lathrop, which has been prepared by an experienced writer, thoroughly familiar with the ground covered, and who reviews succinctly, but with essential completeness, the origin, growth, and career of this famous institution; "Mémorial of S. S. Prentiss," by Hon. Jos. D. Shields, also a very important work; the first and second series of "The Handy Book of Object-Lessons from a Teacher's Note-Book," by J. Walker; "Wit and Wisdom of Proverbial Philosophy," by Marshall Brown, author of "Wit and Humor," "Young Folks' Whys and Wherefores," a story in which a vast amount of information is conveyed in a very attractive and instructing manner, and made more so by the addition of many illustrations; and "Two Years at Hillsboro," a novel, by Julia Nelson. Later in the fall they will have a new novel by the ever-popular "Duchess," whose previous works have met with such success. A new novel, entitled "June," by Mr. Forrester; "The Jewel in the Lotos," a novel, by Mary Agnes Tincker, author of "Signor Monaldini's Niece," which has been running through Lippincott's Magazine for some time past; and "Laura, an American Girl," a novel, by Mrs. Elizabeth E. Evans, complete the list of fiction so far ready for announcement. Their works of a more solid character will comprise a new book by Dr. E. Cobham Brewer, entitled "Dictionary of Miracles," "The Mystery of Creation," by Dr. L. C. Baker; "Odes of Horace," translated by Henry Hubbard Pierce, U. S. A.; and "Palgrave's Golden Treasury" of the best songs and lyrical poems in the English language, with a continuation, embracing selections from the works of recent and living English poets, edited by John Foster Kirk. This latter volume will be beautifully illustrated, and will be the principal Christmas book this house will produce. In connection with Smith, Elder & Co., of London, they have in preparation a new edition of Thackeray's works in 26 octavo volumes, to be called the Standard edition, and which is to include a number of miscellaneous sketches and essays never before collected. The work will be issued in monthly volumes, beginning early in October with the first part of "Vanity Fair," illustrated with 22 steel plates and 84 woodcuts. In addition to these they call attention to an Artists' edition of Gray's Elegy, with 22 fine illustrations by Gibson, Richards, Hovenden, Frost, and others, handsomely printed and bound in a variety of elegant styles; and an édition de luxe, limited to 500 copies, which will have the illustrations printed on India paper, handsomely mounted, and the book bound in cloth and morocco; also to "The Book Lover's Enchiridion: Thoughts on the Solace and Companionship of Books," reprinted from the English, with revisions and additions by an American editor; and a limited edition of Uzzanne's "The Fan," and "The Sunshade, Muff and Glove," with English text.

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. have nearly ready volume 107 of the "United States Supreme Court Reports" (Otto, vol. 17); Mason's "Massachusetts Practice," "Cicero De Officiis," translated by Dr. A. P. Peabody; "Address in Orations," by Alexander H. Bullock, Governor of Massachusetts; Mervin on the Entailability of Inventions; and a new edition (14th) of Greenleaf's "Evidence," greatly enlarged and published in three volumes. They have in press a book which will be of interest to lawyers and literary readers. Heard's "Shakespeare as a Lawyer," that has been much discussed and long awaited. They have also in press "Granting Jurisdiction in Equity to the Court of Massachusetts," with citations and decisions of the Supreme Court, etc.; and "Precedents in Equity Pleading," Heard.

D. LOTHROP & Co. have as usual a long list of books of all kinds for the holiday trade. Their standard and new works will be enriched with many some important publications, among which notice George Macdonald's novel "Grant," pronounced by those who have seen in manuscript to be one of genuine merit. "A History of the American People," by Arthur Gilman, thoroughly impartial and rendered valuable to students by the inclusion of a series of documents illustrating constitutional history of America; a new edition of Brown's "Life of Oliver Wendell," sanctioned by Dr. Holmes, and containing authentic data never given heretofore. "Life of Edward Norris Kirk, D.D.," by Rev. Dr. David O. Mears, is published in a limited edition on large paper, with engravings and wood-cuts of Mt. Vernon and the Chapel at Paris; "Not of Man, But of God," is a volume of sermons by the Rev. J. Manning; "Self-Giving" is a story of Missions, by the Rev. W. F. Baile; "Right to the Point" is a selection of Storrs Haynes, from the writings of Dr. Cuyler; "Twenty-Six Hours a Day" contains some chapters on household management that attracted attention in Scribner's Magazine. A complete description of Mexico is given in Hamilton's "Mexican Hand-Book;" "The Musician" has a good novel entitled "The Book of Bedford;" Kennedy's "Life of Whittier" gives a faithful record of the poet; "William the Silent" is a biography of the labors of this great statesman, very ably written by Mary Barrett; "The Baptism of the Lord's Day Rescued" is by Alexander and is an earnest plea for the religious observance of Sunday. The publishers promise a number of Illustrated Gleanings gotten up with great taste. Prominent among these are Paul Hamilton Haynes's "Poems," to be sold by subscription only, will have a steel portrait and numerous engravings; not less handsome will be "Ideal Poems," containing a doctored poems, illustrated with full-page engravings by a dozen celebrated artists and gotten up with a lavish display of engraving, printing and coloring; early American voyages made in the northwest passage will be chronicled in "American Exploration in the Ice," which is compiled by Prof. J. E. Newell, from official and other sources, and published in a handsome illustrated volume; "Thru on a Donkey-back," contains one hundred drawings of Spanish life as it is to-day.

and exquisitely printed in black on a tint background, thus gaining the rich effect of proof impressions on Japan paper; and "Out of Darkness" will be a book with elegant floral cover containing original poems by Mary A. Lathbury, which furnishes the very successful illustrations. There is a large assortment of new reading people, all of which is admirably and excellently printed and tastefully bound in a volume of which is suitable for home and day-school libraries. We shall have a new volume in the "Family Flights," in which E. E. Hale and Miss Susan Hale will be through Spain; there will be several quartos, "All Aboard for the Lakes and Islands," by Edward Rand; "Pansy's Home Book," "Delightful Days," containing of almost every first-class American writer; "The Silver City," a romance of Central America, by Fred. A. Ober, with a hundred illustrations by Bodfish; "Wide-Awake Pleasure Book;" "Who is to Me?" "My Curiosity Shop;" "The Rain Sprites were Faced;" "A Little of Her Moods;" "Parlor Comedies;" "Thoughts;" "Rob's Tramp;" "John at the Water-Color Exhibition," by Hamney, illustrated with reproductions of pictures; "Decorative Plaques," designs by G. F. TOWNSEND McCOUN, Chicago, has in preparation a new edition of "How to Understand Music," and "Dictionary of Music and Musicians," both by W. S. B. Mathews.

DAVID McKAY, Philadelphia, announces "Bible Heroes: Stories of the Old Testament Heroes for Young Folks," being a series of entertaining narratives written for the young. The style in which it is written is entirely new, and will undoubtedly meet with general approval.

MACMILLAN & Co. announce in the line of historical and descriptive works, "Egypt and the Egyptian Question," by D. Mackenzie Wallace, a reliable authority on this subject; "Notes on the Caucasus," by "Wanderer;" "Travels in New Zealand," by Rev. W. S. Green; "Samoa a Hundred Years Ago and Long Before," together with notes on the cults and customs of twenty-three other islands in the Pacific, by Dr. George Turner; and "Camping among the Cannibals," by Alfred H. Johnston. In the department of literature they will have Charles Lamb's "Plays, Poems, Essays, etc.," edited by Alfred Ainger; a collected edition of the "Poems of Sir Francis Hastings Doyle;" a new edition of "Lyrical Recreations," by Samuel Ward; and in the Golden Treasury series there will be "Selections from Cowper's Poems," by Mrs. Oliphant, and a "Selection from Cowper's Letters," by Rev. W. Benham. In addition to these they announce a volume of "Physiological Discovery," by Dr. John Gray McKendrick; "Electricity and Magnetism," a popular treatise by Amédée Guillemin, translated and edited with additions and notes by Prof. Silvanus P. Thompson; "The Chemistry of the Sun," by J. Norman Lockyer; "The State and the Land," a new volume in the English Citizen series, by Frederick Pollock; "Investigations in Currency and Finance," by the late W. Stanley Jevons; and "Isaiah of Jerusalem," a new volume by Matthew Arnold. For the younger readers they announce a new book by the charming writer for children, Mrs. Molesworth, entitled "Two Little Waifs," with illustrations by Walter Crane; "Hannah Tarne," a story for children, with illustrations by W. J. Hennessy; and "True Tales for my Grandsons," by Sir Samuel W. Baker. They have also on their list a new novel by J. H. Shorthouse, entitled "The Little Schoolmaster Mark."

THE NATIONAL PUBLISHING CO., 728 Cherry Street, Philadelphia, have just issued their fall catalogue of family and pulpit Bibles. It is handsomely illustrated, and contains a great variety, both in prices and styles, of their attractive and salable line of quarto Bibles. This house has been long and favorably known in the subscription business, but have only this year begun the manufacture of family Bibles for the trade. Their quarto Bibles contain the contrasted Testaments, in which the King James and the revised versions are placed in parallel columns on the same page. No pains have been spared in the way of good paper, fine printing, and illustrations and illuminations to make these volumes attractive. Notwithstanding the superior bindings and other many handsome features, the publishers claim that their prices are as low as any of the old-style lines. The trade may obtain their catalogues on application.

THE NATIONAL SCHOOL OF ELOCUTION AND ORATORY, Phila., have just ready "The Elocutionist's Annual, No. 11," containing the best readings from the current literature of the day. This issue is bound in a handsome and appropriate new cover.

THE NATIONAL TEMPERANCE SOCIETY AND PUBLICATION HOUSE will issue this fall a new book by that excellent writer, Annette L. Noble, entitled "How Billy Went up in the World;" "Hannah: One of the Strong Women," by J. McNain Wright; and "Save the Boys," by M. E. Winslow.

THOMAS NELSON & SONS announce in the lines of religious literature, "The Bible—Its Revelation, Inspiration, and Evidences," by Dr. John Robson; "The City of God," a series of discussions in religion by A. M. Fairbairn; "Lectures on the Ephesians," by R. W. Dale; and "The Laws and Polity of the Jews," by E. W. Edersheim. In the department of juvenile literature they offer as usual a very full list of marked excellence and interest. Among the new ones we notice a beautifully colored book entitled "At the Mother's Knee," written and illustrated by M. J. Tilsley, already familiar for work in this direction; "Birthday Flowers—their Language and Legends," by W. J. Gordon, a quarto illustrated in colors by Viola Broughton; "The World by the Fireside, or, Pictures and Scenes from Far-Off Lands," by Mary and Elizabeth Kirby; "Dottie's Pets," a volume of colored pictures with verses for children, by E. O. A. and M. A. C.; "Dusty Diamonds, Cut and Polished," a tale of the Cornish mines; and a "Natural History Series," a pretty set of six volumes illustrating domestic and wild animals and birds. They have this year a very full line of new bindings in their various editions of Bibles, Testaments, and Prayers and Hymnals. Among these especial attention is called to their fine quarto family Bibles, which, bound in fine Persian and Turkey morocco and levant, make a most acceptable gift to the heads of families or to Sunday-school teachers and pastors. In prayers and hymnals their line of 48mo minion books has been put in seal grain antique, black German calf, and genuine alligator bindings, which makes them attractive and unique presents for lady church-goers. They have also added new and fashionable bindings to the rest of their lines, which are familiar enough and need recommendation here.

THORNDIKE NOURSE, Detroit, has in his Advance Educational series, "Book-Keeping," a text-book for scholastic students, by Smith R. Wooley, accountant; also "Elementary Algebra," by Prof. C. F. R. Bellows, forming a series of the author's mathematical course. Mr. Nourse is in preparation, for the same series, "Elementary Arithmetic," "A Practical Arithmetic," "An Elementary Geometry," all to be published by Bellows' mathematical course; "Number One" of The New English Reader; an "Introduction to the Art of Rhetoric," by Joseph Estabrook, Principal of Northwood, Olivet College, Mich., and "Payne, of Univ. of Mich." The volume is illustrated by Miss Isabella Stewart.

J. S. OGILVIE & Co. have just issued an able account of the "Life of Helena," by J. T. Altemus. They have in the volume "Choice Recitations," by M. Foster, and another volume of "Ninety-nine Choice Recitations and also a cloth edition of "Wife in N. A.," a story of Bertha M. Clay; and a "Hilarious Facts from Texas Stories," by Sweet and Knox.

volume of travel will be John L. Stoddard's "Red-Letter Days Abroad," bound in a large octavo volume, with one hundred beautiful illustrations in two styles; one in cloth, full-gilt edges and bevelled boards, the other in tree calf or antique morocco. This popular lecturer, who has delighted so many thousands with his graphic descriptions from the platform, may feel very confident that the announcement of this book of travelling adventures will rouse a spirit of impatient demand in his faithful admirers. Lucius L. Hubbard, the compiler of "Hubbard's Guide to Moosehead Lake and Northern Maine," will have ready a book called "Woods and Lakes of Maine," which describes a trip from Moosehead Lake to New Brunswick in a birch-bark canoe, in a picturesque and popular manner, but the author has so thoroughly studied that section of country and the history of the Indian place-names that his work becomes one of standard value. Ellen Russell Emerson has a book on American Indians, which will be published under the name of "Myths of the Indians," in which the legends, traditions, and symbols of the American aborigines are compared with those of Hindostan, Egypt, Persia, and China, illustrated by pictures from the "Hindu Pantheon," and from drawings of John White, who was sent to America by Queen Elizabeth to obtain pictures of the Indians as they were in 1585 to 1588. "English Rambles, and other Fugitive Pieces in Prose and Verse," will be from the pen of William Winter; "Abelard and Heloise" will be a mediæval romance in Little Classic size, by the talented Abby Sage Richardson; "Raphael's Madonnas and Holy Families" will be a new volume in the favorite Heliotype Galleries, with valuable text by Mrs. Julia A. Shedd, illustrated with twenty full-page heliotypes of Raphael's most famous paintings; "The Ideas of the Apostle Paul" will be the subject of the new book by the always interesting Rev. James Freeman Clarke; Mr. Howells will furnish a comment and introduction to a curious series of fifty sketches to be published under the title of "Pictures and Fancies of a Little Girl;" and Joel Chandler Harris will make "Brer Rabbit" the hero of new adventures and describe "Nights with Uncle Remus," in which will be told the myths and legends of the Old Plantation. Messrs. Osgood will also publish, during November, Schopenhauer's "The World as Will and Idea," translated by R. B. Haldane and John Kemp in a most masterly manner. Sixty years have passed since this great work caused a revolution in the philosophical speculation of this century, and it is still holding its prominent place, and has reached many editions in its native land. Later in the season this house will publish "Life of Nathaniel Hawthorne," by his son, Julian Hawthorne, whose genius as a writer, guided by his intimate knowledge of circumstances, must give us an exceedingly interesting biographical work; "Vagabondia," a novel, by Mrs. Burnett; and a very peculiar book by the late Henry James, under the name of "Spiritual Creation, and the Necessary Implication of Nature in it," an essay "toward ascertaining the rôle of evil in divine housekeeping. Editions de luxe in limited editions have been made of "Dr. Grimshawe's Secret," "The Correspondence of Thomas Carlyle and Ralph Waldo Emerson," and the "Works of James A. Garfield." These will be sold only by subscription.

T. B. PETERSON & BROS. will have ready early this fall "The Fair Enchantress, or, How She Won Men's Hearts," by Miss M. C. Keller, a novel of great power and interest, being compactly written, and having a capitally framed plot. Later on they will have ready "The Wife of Monte Cristo;" "The Son of Monte Cristo," being a sequel to "The Wife of Monte Cristo;" "The Confessions of an Abbé," by Louis Ulbach, said to be "in conception the boldest, in plot the most stirring, and in execution the most delicate, as the plague-spots of society are exposed so as to cause neither disgust nor scandal;" "The Joy of Life," by Emile Zola; "Manon Lescant," by the Abbé Prevost, an intense love story; "A Young Girl's Romance," a captivating love story, by Ernest Daudet; "Genevieve's Victory," by Henry Gréville; "The Woman of Silver," by Hector Malot; and "The Lawrence Reciter," by Philip Lawrence.

PHILLIPS & HUNT have in active preparation "Biblical Hermeneutics: A Treatise on the Interpretation of the Old and New Testaments," by Milton S. Terry, which will form the second volume in the Biblical and Theological Library, issued under the editorship of Dr. Geo. R. Crooks and Bishop John F. Hurst. This Library promises to be a most important addition to religious literature, and while the theology of the volumes will be in harmony with the doctrinal standards of the Methodist Episcopal Church, the aim will be to make the entire series acceptable to all evangelical Christians. They have also in press the seventh volume—on "Isaiah, Jeremiah, and Lamentations," by Drs. Henry Bannister and F. D. Hemenway—in the Commentary on the Old Testament, edited by Dr. D. D. Whedon; "The Soul-Winner," a sketch of facts and incidents in the life and labors of Edmund J. Yard, for sixty years a class-leader and hospital visitor in Philadelphia, by his sister Mrs. Mary D. James, with an introduction by Dr. D. P. Kidder; and three juveniles—"His Keeper," by Miss M. E. Winslow; "The Story of Young Margaret," by Sena Gilbert Fellows; and "Small Things," by Reese Rockwell. They will publish shortly "Preparatory Latin Course in English," by William Cleaver Wilkinson, author of the excellent Greek course published last year, and "Stories in English History," comprising selections from the great English histories, forming a tolerably consecutive history of England, compiled by C. E. Bishop. They are also about to publish a volume, to consist of fifty or more able contributions on the questions relating to popular education, which were read before the great "Christian Educational Council," held at Ocean Grove, New Jersey, August 9-12, 1883. The work is being carefully compiled and edited by the Rev. J. C. Hartzell, D.D., one of the corresponding secretaries of the Southern Educational Work of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

JOHN B. PIET & CO., Baltimore, have just ready a practical work on "Elementary Agriculture," by Allen Bowie Davis. It is intended that the book should form "an agreeable companion for girls and boys at school, and for both young and old in the long nights of winter in the country."

JAMES POTT has just ready a work by Henry Drummond, entitled "The Natural Law in the Spiritual World," described by the Literary Churchman as being "one of the most interesting books in the relations which exist between natural science and spiritual life." It appeared; "also a new and revised edition of 'The Teacher's Manual on the Prayer Book,' edited by J. P. Norris. Mr. Pott has also a volume by the Bishop of Illinois, on "Catholic Dogma the Antidote of Heresy," designed to strengthen wavering Catholics, and lead to a strong belief in the Catholic Church; a volume of "Sermonets," comprising discourses for Sundays of the Christian year, by W. J. Wilmot Buxton; and a cheap and popular edition of "Papal Claims," with an introduction by the Bishop of Springfield.

JOHN E. POTTER & CO. announce the publication of "The Life of the Rev. John Wesley, with some Account of his Ancestors and Relatives," by the Life of the Rev. Chas. Wesley, M.A., and John Whitehead, M.D., a reprint of the London edition by Dr. Whitehead, one of the executors of John Wesley's will, and the original author of Wesley that can rightly claim the credit of impartiality; "History of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the United States," embracing a sketch of the rise of Methodism in England, of its origin and progress in Canada, by Douglass Garrie; "The Lives of Eminent Methodist Ministers," containing biographical sketches, anecdotes, records of travel, reflections, by Rev. P. Douglass Garrie; "The History of Palestine from the Patriarchal Age to the Present Time," with introductory chapters on geography and natural history of the country, on the customs and institutions of the people, by John Kitto, D.D.; "Lorenzo Dow, his Travels, Labors, and Writings, including Singular and Erratic Wanderings in Europe and America," by Peggy Dow; "$5000 a Year from a Farm, and How I Made it, Starting with $100," by Edward Mitchell; "$2000 a Year from Fruits and Flowers, or, My Ten-Rod Farm, and How I Became a Florist," by Charles Mitchell; "Comfort for Small Incomes, or, How I Made My House," by Mrs. Warren; and "The Life of John Crusoe," correctly reprinted from the original edition, with an introduction giving the history of De Foe's masterpiece, with illustrations by Ernest Griset. This volume will be printed on excellent paper, in a clear and beautiful type, with many full-page illustrations, and will be bound in an attractive, artistic, and durable binding.

PORTER & COATES have a list of publications which they hope to have ready in the early part of the fall. Thomas' "Comprehensive Biographical Dictionary" will be ready, their most important works, their aim in publishing the book to present, in compact form, and at a moderate price, a comprehensive dictionary of biography, embracing accounts of the most eminent personages in all ages and professions. Other works of importance are "The Dictionary of the Bible," and adapted to the present use of Sunday-school teachers and Bible students, by Revs. L. M. A. Peloubet, authors of "Select Lessons for the International Lessons," with eight maps and over 350 engravings on wood; "Porter & Coates' Interest Tables," containing accurate calculations of interest at various rates per cent, also some very valuable tables of mortality, compiled by John E. Coffin. They announce also a new and attractive line of the poets in 8vo, in binding, including Tennyson, Pope, and Samuel Coleridge; also N. Clement's new work, "The Poetry of Words," being a collection of translations in English verse of the poetry of other languages, ancient and modern, which complete the series of poetical works thus far. Their books will be "Bingen on the Rhine," by E. Norton, elegantly illustrated with twenty-two engravings, from original designs by many eminent artists, the complete volume to which will be "The Night of Christmas," by Clement C. Moore. Moore has this popular poem, a favorite of the old and the young, been presented in beautiful dress. It is elegantly illustrated with twenty-two engravings by eminent artists. Their juveniles comprise a new one by Jules Verne, "The Undercity, or, The Child of the Cavern," translated from the French by W. H. Kingston; "The Black-House, or, Life on the Street," by Edward S. Ellis; "The Young Hero, or, The Mystery of Robert Rudd," by J. O. Alger, Jr.; and "The Queen's Ward," by Margaret Vandegrift, a charming story for girls, by the author of "Dr. Gilchrist."

THE PRESBYTERIAN BOARD OF PUBLICATION has already early in the fall a line of excellent books, some of which will be superior for cheapness as well as for their neatness. They will be finely illustrated. The series will be entitled as follows: "The Greys," by J. O. Alger, Jr.; "Conrad the House Wolf," by J. O. Alger, Jr.; "Michael Ellis' Texts," by J. O. Alger, Jr.; "The Little Boy on the Border," and "The Little Boy on the Border," by J. O. Alger, Jr. Later in the season they will have a series by the popular author, Julia McNair, entitled "Among the Alaskans." The series will be full of interesting descriptions of Alaska and its people, their customs, habits, etc., with numberless facts about the country, which will give to the volume a great interest. They have well under way the "Master Question-Book for 1884," "Half the Lessons for 1884," and the "Master Sabbath-School Hymnal."

PUTNAM'S SONS will publish this month a new book, "The Dictionary," a practical and useful dictionary of the English, French, and German languages, in parallel columns, by J. O. Alger, Jr.; a thoroughly practical work, entitled "Work for Women," by George J. O. Alger, Jr., containing hints to aid women in the choice of a vocation in life, and describing the various vocations of short-hand writing, inscribing, nursing, telegraphing, etc.; a revised edition of P. A. Chadbourne's work on the "Instinct in Animals," a new volume in the popular series of "The Time," entitled "Questions of the Time," containing essays by Vernon Lee, J. O. Alger, Jr., Leslie Stephen, and two novels, the one entitled "A Apostle," by the Marchioness Clara, and the other "Mr. Perkins' Daughter," by J. O. Alger, Jr. The New York Times thought a "book for reading;" the other "The Diothas, or, Look Ahead," from the pen of a woman, whose name is not announced. In the season are promised their most important work. First among them is a "Prose Masterpieces from Modern Essayists," comprising single specimen essays from Irving, Leigh Hunt, Lamb, De Quincey, Landor, Thackeray, Emerson, Lowell, Kingsley, Carlyle, Macaulay, Froude, Ruskin, and from other masters of this style, prepared with reference to presenting as well specimens of the method of thought and the literary style of their several writers, as also for the purpose of putting into convenient shape for direct comparison the treatment given by such writers to similar subjects. This work will be published in three volumes, in three styles of binding, as well as in a large-paper edition with numerous portraits. Next follow a beautiful new edition of the "Essays of Elia," printed on laid paper from new type, with etchings by Smillie, Church, Gifford, and Platt; and an illustrated edition of the charming volume of "Pen-Pictures of Modern Authors," with portraits on wood and steel of Carlyle, Tennyson, Bryant, and others represented in this volume; "Pen Pictures of Earlier Victorian Authors," edited by William Shephard, a companion volume to the foregoing; a popular edition of Van Laun's "History of French Literature," in one volume, at about $3; a volume on "Art and Literature," in the Topics of the Time; the important compendium on "The Woman Question in Europe," a series of essays by representative European women on the status and progress of woman's work in connection with the suffrage, education, medicine, and industrial pursuits, edited by Theodore Stanton; "Politics," an introduction to the study of comparative constitutional law, by William W. Crane and Bernard Moses; a new edition, revised and greatly enlarged, of Charles F. Thwing's interesting and authoritative volume on "American Colleges;" and a series of "Lectures on Painting," delivered to the students of the (London) Royal Academy, by Edwin Armitage. In fiction they will have "Hand and Ring," by Anna K. Green, author of "The Leavenworth Case," etc. For the younger readers they promise "The Calendar of American History for 1884," containing in a condensed form a large amount of information upon the history of the United States, mounted upon a card, beautifully decorated, and with a very full index; a charming little volume for naturalists, entitled "The Wonders of Plant-Life," by Mrs. S. B. Herrick, which will be liberally illustrated; "The American Girl's Home-Book of Work and Play," by Helen Campbell; and the "Plutarch for Boys and Girls," selected and edited by Prof. John S. White. For November the Messrs. Putnam underscore two important historical works, the one being "A History of the Thirty Years' War," by Prof. Anton Gindely, of Prague, translated by Prof. Andrew Ten Brook; and the other "The History of the Discovery of America to the year 1525," by Arthur James Weise, a work which will present veritable information of what was known by the ancients respecting the western hemisphere, together with that found in the sagas of Iceland and Greenland in relation to the discoveries of the Northmen, with a large amount of other interesting information collected by the author during the last eight years. Both of these works will be issued in octavo, the former in two volumes, with maps and illustrations. Other publications promised for this season are "The Secret Service of the Confederate States in Europe, or, How the Confederate Cruisers were Equipped," by James D. Bullock, late naval representative in Europe of the Confederate States; "The Words of Christ, as Principals of Personal and Social Growth," by John Bascomb, of the University of Wisconsin; "Health Notes for Students," by B. G. Wilder; the tenth volume in the New Plutarch series, on "Frederick the Great," by Col. C. B. Brackenbury; and "Alice through the Looking-Glass," an authorized dramatized version, and other fairy plays for children, by K. F. Krockner.

A. D. F. RANDOLPH & CO. have in preparation a volume of "Sunday Evenings with My Children," by Rev. Benjamin Waugh, containing a hymn, sermon, and prayer for every Sunday of the year, kept within the comprehension of children and inculcating in an interesting way the chief rules of conduct and the great necessity of each child helping its parents in their efforts to instruct him. Two dainty little volumes of morning and evening readings for the month, by Mrs. Alex. Russell Simpson, the morning texts under the title, "Steps through the Streams," and the evening collection called "Beautiful on the Mountains;" also a book of texts for all time under the refreshing title of "Wells of Water," by the same author. Several more of these attractive volumes for daily readings and special occasions will be brought out in all styles of binding under different appropriate titles, the most important of which will be "A Guide, a Comforter," being passages from the Bible, with a brief prayer for every day in the year, arranged by M. A. Wilson; "The Christian Year Birthday-Book," "The Birthday Motto Book," "The Illuminated Scripture Text-Book," "Daily Bread," "Bible Gems," and the "Shakespeare Birthday-Book," all bound in covers with floral designs and all sure to become acceptable gift-books. There are also in preparation for early issue "A Handy Book of Old and Familiar Hymns," compiled by the editor of "The Changed Cross," whose taste we know is almost faultless; "René of France," by the author of "Sister and Saint," and "Life Echoes," by the late Francis Ridley Havergal, a companion volume to "Life Mosaics." Mrs. Prentiss' delightful story, "The Flower of the Family," will be issued in an entirely new edition, well justified by its continued sale. Rev. Ernest Boys has ready for the press "A Sure Foundation;" the Rev. James Gilmour, of the London Mission at Peking, has written "Among the Mongols," aiming to interest Western readers in the home-life, manners and customs, superstitions and religious beliefs and practices of the Mongol tribes, who inhabit that vast section of country between Siberia and China, and rendered intensely interesting by the eloquence of the writer and the illustrations and engravings by a Chinese artist of that region; and Mrs. Harriet Warner Ellis, author of "Denmark and Her Missions," has written a book called "Our Eastern Sisters and Their Missionary Helpers," her object being to trace the beginning of women's work as missionaries, to describe their fitness for the work and the strong prejudice which rendered their duties so hard at first, and to recount the lives and deaths of some of these unknown and devoted heroines. All of the foregoing may be looked for during the coming season. A very timely publication, and one which cannot fail to be eagerly sought for by the many readers of all the late Rev. Wm. M. Baker's works, will be brought out immediately under the title, "The Ten Theophanies, or, The Manifestations of Christ before His Birth to them." The manuscript for this work was in the hands of the printers before the gift of the author's death. It is not a theological treatise, but a practical religious work, purporting to be the record of Mr. Baker's mental struggles, experiences, and showing a profound knowledge of the human heart and mind. The brilliancy of the author's popular style of fiction and will be of great interest to his readers. It has not as yet been seen in his writing, but devotion that made him so beloved, and a faithful preacher.

J. W. RANDOLPH & ENGLISH, Richmond, Va., have just ready volume 76 of the Cases Decided in the Supreme Court of Virginia, by George W. Hausbrink, covering the period from December 1, 1882, to January 1, 1883.

J. A. & R. A. REID, Providence, R. I., are in preparation "Picturesque Washington," and-pencil sketches of its scenery, history, public and social life, and gratifying of Congress and the government," by Joseph West Moore. This work is to be sold by subscription, to obtain artistic views of Mt. Vernon, and the city of Washington.

F. H. REVELL, Chicago, has just issued volume of "Current Discussions in Theology," by Professors Boardman, Curtis, and Scribner, and the Scriptures," by A. Saphir. It is a Birthday Memorial Text-Book. In the next issue will publish a volume on "Children's Hymns, How to Conduct Them, Who Should Sing Them, and Helps to Conduct Them," by J. A. Rider and Ellen M. Carmen; and a book on "The Wise Woman as Builder."

ROBERTS BROS. have a long list of new books for the fall and holiday season, and conform to their well-known standard of excellence as regards selection and artistic execution. The illustrated works this year include "The Favorites which cannot complain of the publisher's attire. We are to have Gray's "The Country Churchyard," with thirty illustrations by Harry Fenn, drawn especially for the occasion, many of them being sketches of the scene of the poem. A unique feature of the book is the reprinting of some verses printed in the original editions and subsequently rejected, on which the publisher furnishes the subject for the frontispiece. The book will be known as the Harry Fenn edition. It will be issued in four varieties of binding: a paper cover to the most sumptuous, a cloth cover, and two copies printed on a hand-press at the University of Cambridge. Jean Ingelow's "High Tide" ("the first of our time"), the next on the list, has been in preparation for a long time, and will be issued from original designs by Chas. Harper, J. Appleton Brown, and others. The book is engraved by Andrew, and printed by Roberts & Son. This will be issued in 8vo editions, one bound in cloth, bevelled edges, and gilt edge, the other bound in cloth and calf; and also a new edition of the "Songs of Seven," with thirty-five illustrations, bound in illuminated covers with gold borders. John Henry Newman's "Lead, Kindly Light," illustrated by St. John Harper and George R. Halm, and engraved by Andrew, and printed in brown and gold on alternate pages, is promised in the Lord Houghton's "Good-Night and morn'g," that catching poem beginning, "A little girl sat under a tree, sewing as her eyes could see," will have etchings and illustrations by Walter Severn, forming a series of designs in illuminated covers, tied with ribbon and cord, and securely enveloped. Several treasures cannot fail to meet a welcome from our most artistic critics. "Faust," illustrated in silhouette by J. E. B. Newkirk, will be brought out in a new reduced price. We shall also have de luxe of La Fontaine's "Fables," 250 copies, illustrated with twenty-five etchings by A. Delierre, and containing a portrait of the great poet. The translation by Robert Thompson and well done. "The River Stories," by the much-revered Howard Bonner, will be reissued with a new set of beautiful illustrations by Frank R. Newkirk. New volumes in the Classic series issued as often as practicable, and will be world-renowned works of all nations. The first volume contains the "Lady of the Farmion," and "Lay of the Last Minstrel," "The Vicar of Wakefield," with illustrations already, will follow, and then in due season "Robinson Crusoe," with illustrations by "Paul and Virginia," illustrated by Southey's "Life of Nelson," illustrated by Foster; Voltaire's "Life of Charles XII," with maps and portraits; Maria Edgeworth's "Classic Tales," with a biographical sketch by Grace A. Oliver; Macaulay's "Lays of Rome," with a biographical sketch and illustrations; "Pilgrim's Progress," with all of the illustrations in fac-simile; "Classic Tales," edited by the editor of "Quiet Classic Tales," by Anna Letitia Barbauld, with a biographical sketch by Grace A. Oliver; "Classic Tales," by Ann and Jane Keble, with a biographical sketch by Grace A. Oliver. Other volumes are in preparation and will be announced later on. Great care has been taken to insure correct text, and no pains have been spared in the printing (which is in plates) and binding, and they are to be sold at the low price of $1 a volume retail. Chadwick's "In Nazareth Town and its Environs," will be eagerly looked for by the lovers of this author's genius; the fifth edition of M. R. Alger's "Poetry of the Orient," will be enlarged to the extent of twenty new volumes, also welcome; and all who read that work, "The Light of Asia," are waiting to get possession of Edwin Arnold's "Indian Idyls," from the Sanskrit of Kalidasa. A very important historical work, "The Expansion of England," by J. R. Seeley's "Expansion of England," in the well-known fascinating style of the "Ecce Homo"; "Samuel Adams Drake's England Legends and Folk-Lore" is a volume of the times he treats so entertainingly together for the first time all legends in prose and verse current in England of the past. Frank Merrill's one volume of character illustrations add greatly to the value of this remarkable book. The autobiography of Orville Dewey, D.D., edited by his daughter, is in press, and also the fifth volume of the most deservedly successful Famous Lives, which is devoted to "Margaret Fuller," in the bright style of Julia Ward. The next announcements in the series are "The Edgeworths," by Miss Zimmern,

"Sarah and A. gelina Grimke," by Mrs. C. H. Birney, and "Ann Bradstreet," by Helen Campbell. In descriptive works we are promised "A Short History of the City of Philadelphia, from its Foundation to the Present Time," by Susan Coolidge, and Rev. E. E. Hale's "Seven Spanish Cities and the Way to Them." This firm is also preparing, for the young folks, "Donald and Dorothy," by Mary Mapes Dodge; "A Round Dozen of Stories," by Susan A. Coolidge; "Fire-light Stories," by Louise Chandler Moulton; "Treasure Island," a book to delight the boys, by Robert Louis Stephenson, whose "Inland Voyage" gave promise of great things to follow; "The Boy Knight," a tale of the Crusades, by G. A. Henty, and a new edition of Defoe's "Robinson Crusoe," illustrated by Thomas Stothard and containing a fac-simile of the frontispiece and title-page of this marvellous book as first printed in 1719.

ROORBACH & Co. have just published "Burdett's New Comic Recitations and Humorous Readings," and announce for the fall another of these popular issues under the name of "Burdett's New Irish Dialect Recitations and Readings." They will also have four new plays, entitled "Sixes and Sevens," "Change Partners," "Marion Fay," and the "Shakespeare Water-Cure;" and a book for amateurs and professionals, on "The Art of Stage Make-Up."

GEORGE ROUTLEDGE & SONS announce for the fall season a large number of new books and new editions. Foremost on the list is a new issue of the Handy-volume edition of Shakespeare (formerly published by Corgwell & Co.) complete in 13 volumes, with a glossary. This edition is printed on a fine grade of paper, made expressly for the purpose, and is put up in a variety of bindings and boxes, making it a unique and certainly a most acceptable present for any book-lover. Next in importance is a new edition of Jane Austen's novels, in five volumes, printed from new plates and with new illustrations; a new edition of "The Spectator," in three volumes, also printed from new type, with introduction, notes, and index by Henry Morley; a fine edition in thirty volumes of Dickens' works; a new large-type edition in three volumes of Knight's Shakespeare, with Gilbert's illustrations; and new octavo editions, in uniform bindings, of Scott's "Poetical and Dramatic Works," and the poetical works of Tennyson, Burns, Shakespeare, Moore, and Byron. In Morley's Universal Library they have now ready "Sheridan's Plays," "Plays from Molière," Goethe's "Faust," and "Chronicles of the Cid," and announce for the next three months "Selections from Rabelais," "The Prince," by Machiavelli, and "Bacon's Essays." The new volumes in the Globe Library are Sheridan Knowles' "Dramatic Works," in one volume; "Life of Lorenzo de Medici," by W. Roscoe; "The Life and Pontificate of Leo X.," by W. Roscoe, in two volumes; "Literary History of the Middle Ages," by Rev. Jos. Berington; and P. L. Simmonds' "Commercial Dictionary of Trade Products." In addition to these they have a number of interesting works of a general character, for a list of which we must refer to their advertisement on another page. In colored books for the older folks they have this year a "Sketch-Book," by Randolph Caldecott, comprising 48 pages of original illustrations, reproduced in most artistic style by the famous color-printer, Edmund Evans; also the volume by Kate Greenaway which was promised last year — "Little Ann," and other poems, by Jane and Ann Taylor, the old-fashioned air of which is admirably suited to this author's unique old-style drawings. The "Henry Irving Birthday-Book," will have a charm of its own in view of this celebrated actor's visit to this country. It is composed of quotations from some of the characters which Mr. Irving has acted, compiled by Viola Stirling, with six full-page portraits of Mr. Irving in different characters. "A Shakespeare Birthday-Book," by W. Davenport Adams, and an "Illustrated Shakespeare Birthday-Book," with 72 illustrations by Sir John Gilbert, are offered in the same line. For the children they have, as usual, a multitude of choice books, which it would be impossible to enumerate in the short space allotted us here. We will therefore allude to only a few of the more prominent. First of all they have a "History of the United States, in Words of One Syllable," by Mrs. Helen W. Pierson, which gives the salient points in the history of our country, illustrated with 47 illustrations. The book is bound in attractively colored boards, and forms the first of a series which will include histories of France, Germany, England, and other countries. The Routledge's Annuals for Boys and Girls this year are as full of good pictures and stories as usual, while the "Wide Awake," for 1885, is even brighter than in former years. "The Grimm and Andersen Library," comprising six volumes by each of these popular writers, with its neat illustrations and bright covers, will be a welcome present to any child. For the little ones they have three jolly books in "Pantomime," "The Minstrels," and in a volume including the two above-mentioned ones. In the "Pantomime" we have represented, in finely colored illustrations, all the tricks and pranks of clown and pantaloons, while in the "Minstrels" the "end" men and "middle" man and all the other "corked" men hold "high jinks," in bright colors and in tints. Of "Little Prattlers," "Little Birdie's," and "Little People's" books, in general, there is no end. Caldecott's new toy-books for this year will be "The Fox Jumped Over the Parson's Gate," and the "Frog Who Would a Wooping Go." Kate Greenaway's "Almanack" for 1884, and her pretty "Calendars" for this year should not be overlooked.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS announce as their holiday book a unique volume, and one which promises to be most successful, in "The Merry Adventures of Robin Hood." The work has been written, illustrated, and designed throughout, even as to the minutest details, by that genial artist, Howard Pyle, and may therefore be appropriately called "his book." The author has treated the subject as exhaustively as it was possible, retaining quite successfully the archaic style of the early English story-tellers, and has thrown his whole soul into the full-page illustrations and decorative head and tail-pieces, which in themselves would make the story clear to any one at all familiar with the adventures of Robin Hood and his merry followers. The publishers, of course, have liberally aided the author in getting up the volume, and the result is a handsome work of art, in small quarto shape (10x7½ inches), printed on fine paper, in the best style of the Riverside Press, and bound in full leather with an æsthetic decorative side-stamp designed by Pyle. Next in importance to this is the collection of English poetry, the general title of "English Verse," for Messrs. W. J. Linton and R. H. Stoddard have been gathering the material for some time, which will be issued under their joint name. It is proposed by the publishers to make this collection more comprehensive in scope and more accurate in its text than similar work hitherto put forth. It consists of a series of five volumes, arranged as follows: 1, "Chaucer to Burns;" 2, "Lyric Poetry of the Fifteenth and Sixteenth Centuries;" 3, "Ballads and Songs;" 4, "Dramatic Selections;" 5, "The Moderns." Mr. R. H. Stoddard will write an introductory essay upon the period of English poetry covered by each division of the collection. At the end of each volume brief biographical and critical notes are printed, and in such authorities as Mr. Linton and Mr. Stoddard these notes will doubtless be of exceptional value and interest. The readers who have enjoyed "The Merry Adventures of Robin Hood" will no doubt be pleased to find that the forthcoming new and uniform edition of that delightful author's complete works, "The Reveries of a Bachelor" and "The Life of a Bachelor," which will probably become the standard of that delightful author's complete works, "The Reveries of a Bachelor" and "The Life of a Bachelor," are among the most delightful of American classics; few books have been so long out of sale or received so generous a reception, and the same charm which attracted the readers of "The Reveries" is felt for all the author's works. The announcement is particularly interesting in that we are promised several new volumes consisting of papers hitherto unpublished, and studies in English literature and history. The volumes will be 12mos in size and bound in buckram. Two other works under way are: "The Middle Ages," by Dr. S. Wells Williams, which has long occupied the position of a classic. It is the fullest and most authoritative account of Chinese and their country, but also readable and entertaining. This is practically a new book, the text of the original having been largely rewritten, and expanded so as to take in the most recent information respecting all the departments of the Empire. A feature of the book is a complete map accompanying it. The work is "The Life of Luther," by Dr. Köstlin, recently published in Leipzig, and fully eulogized by Froude in his recent work, "Luther in the Fortnightly." This work is, without doubt, the best, as it is the latest life of Luther, and contains much entirely new matter, and is accurate and sufficiently comprehensive. The English edition will be preserved and cuts taken from rare and curious portraits of the great reformer, his friends, and fac-similes of important documents. Besides these, they have a volume of the line of general literature, "The Life of Goethe," by Prof. John Stuart Blackie, which is, as a sort of introductory essay, a most valuable estimate of the Character of Goethe, and contains a full list of the references to the works of Goethe, which each passage quoted is taken from, and added to this American edition; "The Life of a Naval Officer, 1841-65," by C. H. Parker, a volume full of the happy and humorous anecdotes, told by one of the most interesting experiences; "The Hand-Book of Italian Sculpture," iples," by A. A. Crosier;" and "Outlines of the New Testament," by R. Heber Holbrook.

SOULE & BUGBEE have just ready the seventh edition of Wharton's "Law-Lexicon," forming an epitome of the law of England, and containing full explanations of the technical terms and phrases, both ancient and modern, including the various legal terms used in commercial business, together with a translation of Latin law maxims, by J. M. Lily; "Law of Domestic Relations," by Irving Browne; "Restraints on Alienation," by Prof. John C. Gray, of Harvard University; and the first volume of the fourth edition of Chitty's "Index to all the Reported Cases Decided in the Several Courts of Equity in England, the Privy Council and the House of Lords," which has been wholly revised and brought down to date, and will be published in six volumes. They announce for early issue
"Mr. Bumpkin's Lawsuit, or, How to Win Your Opponent's Case," by Richard Harris, and state that they have imported editions for America, with all rights reserved, of "Browne & Stewart's Trials for Murder by Poisoning," and of Conynghame on the "Law of Electric Lighting," to which latter is added a copiously illustrated description of the apparatus used in the work of illumination by electricity.

N. TIBBALS & SONS, New York, announce for the fall "Grace Winslow, or Gold and Dross," an illustrated story for girls, by John W. Spear; "Alletta, or the Power of Prayer," by Nanny Jones; C. Robinson's "Dictionary of the Bible," edited and enlarged by Edward
G. Robinson; a new edition of S. T. Coleridge's "Aids to Reflection," with the author's last corrections, and edited by Henry Nelson Coleridge; and "Alice Norwood, or the Winter of the Heart," by Mrs. R. S. Williams.

TUTTLE & CO., Rutland, Vt., will issue for the holiday season a new edition, silk-tied and elegantly silk-covered with tassels, of Mrs. Julia C.
R. Dorr's popular novelty, "Santa Claus Souvenir." The plain edition, which was so well received last year, will be issued this year at a reduced price.

J. H. VAIL & CO. have in preparation the "Pharmacopœia Germanica," translated from the new German edition by C. L. Lochman; a new edition of "A Practical Introduction to Medical Electricity, with a Compendium of Electrical treatment," translated from the French o-

Dr. Onimus, by A. De Watteville; and the third revised edition of Nelson's "Druggist's Pocket Prince Book," rewritten, condensed and improved Benj. Lillard.

D. VAN NOSTRAND announces several new works of applied science, which he promises to bring out early in the season, viz.: "The Machinist's and Steam Engineer's Practical Calculator," a most practical and useful manual, by D. B. Dixon; "Chemical Problems, with Brief Statements of the Principles Involved," "Steam-Heating: an Exposition of the American Practice of Warming Buildings by Steam," by Robert Briggs; "Electricity in Theory and Practice," by Lieut. B. A. Fiske; and "Electricity, Magnetism, and Electro-Telegraphy," a practical guide for students, operators, and inspectors, by Thomas D. Lockwood, containing one hundred and fifty-eight well-executed illustrations.

MARCUS WARD & CO. have this year a bright colored book for children in their "London Town," the text of which, by Felix Leigh, has been illustrated by Walter Crane and Ellen Houghton. The volume is somewhat similar in character to their previous charming books, "At Home" and "Abroad," and is bound uniform with them.

WARD & DRUMMOND, New York, will issue, October 1, "Gleams from Paul's Prison," by Wayland Hoyt, D.D.; "The Story of a Story," by Margaret Lee; a "Memoir of Rev. A. D. Gillette, D.D.," "Rosa Von Tannenberg," translated by Lucie Agnes Archer; "Her Benny," "Ivy," "His Father," and "Sea Waif," by Silas K. Hocking. They have also in preparation "Hubbel's New and Improved Sunday-School Secretary's Record," and "Superintendent's Vest Pocket Record," also "Golden Texts and Bible Gems for 1884," with new matter added and a new cover.

REES WELSH & CO., Philadelphia, have in preparation Johnson "On Mechanics' Liens in Pennsylvania," volume 2 of Pennypacker's "Supreme Court Reports of Pennsylvania," Shields "On Criminal Law of Pennsylvania," and volume 1 of Wright's "Index to the Supreme Court Reports," greatly enlarged and revised.

JOEL WHITE, Montgomery, Ala., has just ready the sixty-eighth volume of "Alabama Reports." The next volume (vol. 70) will be ready about November 15th, and volume 71 shortly after.

WHITE, STOKES & ALLEN, N. Y., will undoubtedly hold their own with their senior colleagues in the elegant finish of their Christmas and holiday publications. They have ready three exquisite fringed books, edited and designed by Susie B. Skelding, forming a Flower Song series, of which the delicacy and loveliness can only be appreciated by those who see them as well as read them. The first in the series is "Songs of Flowers," containing poems by standard writers upon pansies, wood-fringe, columbine, daisies, and ferns, accompanied by perfectly executed colored plates of each flower described in the verse; the second is "Maple Leaves and Golden-Rod," containing poems about maple leaves, golden-rod, horebells, and sweet-pease—the verses of T. B. Aldrich and J. G. Whittier being in fac-simile; the third, "A Handful of Blossoms," has poems of violets, white clover, apple-blossoms, morning-glories, and poppies, by celebrated authors. One by Mary Mapes Dodge in fac-simile plates in all of these books represent the way they illustrate their natural colors, and are some of the prettiest pieces of flower-illustration it has been our good fortune to see. Those not satisfied with one or the other of these artistic little gems, the publishers have put out a volume, called "Flowers from the Olden Dale," a quarto, printed on fine paper, with a highly ornate cover, in cloth, stamped in gold, and color, containing all the poems preceding three volumes, with fac-simile plates of all the colored flower-plates as well, for a superb and inexpensive Christmas gift. This enterprising young firm makes a careful selection of juveniles calculated to afford pleasure to every age and size. Babies will be delighted with "The Alphabet Children," a large square book about the size of a well-fed two-year old, so nicely gotten up in boards, containing original verses and illustrations for every letter of the alphabet, by C. H. and W. G. The text of a little maturer age will be satisfied with "The Golden Fairy series," by Miss Helen Wright, a set of new and entertaining fairy tales, each in a separate volume, with colored illustrations, and with separate brightly illuminated, containing "Pleasant Twin Brother," "How Greta Went to the Party," "The Old-Fashioned Doll," "The Story of Fairy Bell," and "The Golden Land;" and the brighter little ones will be delighted with the new edition of "Sunshine," a most entertaining story by J. Lamb, the talented editor of the Ma American History, who here tells the history of "a family of live and lovable and by no means perfect children." "Mother Goose's Christmas" will brighten up many a Christmas with its pretty chimney-shaped covers, designed by Walter Satterlee, tied with blue ribbon, binding together poems for old and young, selected by "Kriss Kringle;" and "The Christmas Wreath" will be of the same kind, differing in shape and covers, one of which represents the face of the Christ-Child, and the other the jovial countenance of Santa Claus. The text of this is by Mrs. Ellen E. Dickerson, with designs by Walter Satterlee and Miss Skelding, the artist of the Wayside series. For young people and students, there is also an "Outline History of Painting," by Clara Erskine Clement, which gives a general view of the great painters and their works, and is handsomely illustrated with numerous page illustrations and cuts set in the margins, contains valuable complete indexes, and is bound in half calf. It is tastefully bound, with a design stamped in gold on cloth cover, and is in half calf in new colors. There is also a new novel by Wm. O. Stoddard, "Wrecked." They have added a dainty series of vellum poets Charlotte Bronte, George Eliot, Thomas Gray, Frederick Douglass, and Thackeray. These are all printed on laid paper, with wide margins, and are available in vellum and cloth bindings. They have put some of them in an antique Japanese binding, forming a hideous, but we have no doubt very fashionable and therefore "taking" set. They have also imported sheets of "Half Hours with the Best Authors," by Sir Walter Scott, Knight's and Mrs. Valentine's "Half Hours with the English History," which they have ings and cases, making acceptable gift it is interesting to state here that some this house published a Painting-Book, Flora Wheeler, with drawings of flowers and white outline, and offered prizes to under sixteen who should return the carefully colored copies. Miss Emmet, Wend, and Miss Wheeler have just the prizes, amounting to $150, to three or sixteen, and mention as worthy of at the competitors were almost all girls. ed books that took the prizes will be on at Kurtz's Gallery on 23d St., N. Y., ber 10.

AM WOOD & Co. announce a very imwork on "Malaria and Malarial Disby Major Geo. M. Sternberg, M.D., in which this competent physician will give the results of the extensive investigations he was enabled to make under orders from the United States Government, while he was stationed at New Orleans. They also promise a new edition of Dr. Roosa's work on "Diseases of the Ear," for which many new illustrations from photographs and original drawings have been specially engraved; and they intend marking the completion of Ziemssen's "Encyclopædia of the Practice of Medicine" by the publication of this author's "Hand-book of Skin Diseases," which they purpose to give as a souvenir to every subscriber of the Encyclopædia, and which they consequently will print and bind in very tasteful and elegant style. Considering the large number of subscribers to this valuable Encyclopædia, this attention on the part of the publishers is both enterprising and generous. Hoping to add to the usefulness of "Wood's Household Practice of Medicine," they intend making it more of a hand-book, and will therefore condense and publish it in one volume, with new colored lithographs and a number of popular, practical prescriptions. For the extensive list of future publications of this house we are obliged to refer to our classified list of forthcoming publications at the beginning of this issue.

R. WORTHINGTON has nearly ready and in preparation the following important works: "History of Rome," by Wilhelm Ihne, which is intended to give the history of Rome in the light of present historical science, and addresses itself not so much, or not exclusively, to scholars who are themselves engaged in the same field, as to cultivated readers who take an interest in the ever-young and fresh history of Rome; "Types of Spanish Story, or the Manners and Customs of Old Castile," illustrated with 36 proof etchings on Japanese paper, by R. De Los Rios, which promises to be one of the handsomest gift books of the year; a new edition of Lord Bacon's works in three octavo volumes with a life of the author, by Basil Montague; a new edition, and a cheaper one, of "Ceramic Art of Great Britain from Pre-historic Times down to the Present," by Llewellyn Jewitt, with nearly 2000 engravings; a new and revised edition of the "History of the World: a General History of all Nations in all Times," by Dr. Charles von Rottek; a beautiful edition, in six volumes, put up in a neat box, of Felicia Hemans's works, which forms a choice gift for the admirers of this graceful and tender poet; a new and illustrated edition of McCalman's excellent concise "History of England," which is now for the first time given to the trade; new and popular editions of Dr. I. I. Hays's "Open Polar Sea;" of Loudon's "Cottage, Farm, and Villa Architecture;" and of Mr. S. C. Hall's delightful work, "A Book of Memories of Great Men and Women of the Age;" also a new edition reproduced from the latest English issue of Roget's "Thesaurus." Two very pretty gift books are "Walk into My Parlor; a Gift of Love to Baby Life," with text by Mrs. S. Nall, and exquisite illustrations by J. Brown, and Henry W. Longfellow's "There was a Little Girl who had a Little Curl, etc." very cleverly illustrated with silhouettes. Both of these books are bound in pretty covers with silk fringes, the latter having as a vignette Longfellow sitting at a fireside, telling the story to a little girl standing before him. In the line of books for the young, Mr. Worthington offers this season an unusually large and attractive list. At the head stands "Worthington's Annual" which certainly may rank as one of the best books of this kind ever made, being replete with interesting and instructive reading illustrated with upward of 300 well printed engravings, and a number of colored plates; "Chatterbox Junior," is fully up to the issues of former years; the doings of "The Wonderful Kittens," is a beautiful quarto illustrated with a large number of wood-cuts, and some full-page colored plates; "A Week Spent in a Glass Pond by the Great Water Beetle," to which Juliana Horatio Ewing contributes the text in her happiest vein, and R. André furnishes capital illustrations, makes a finely-printed color book; and "Grimm's Fairy Tales," illustrated by Walter Crane and E. H. Wehnert, to which is added "Grimm's Goblins," with colored pictures by George Cruikshank, a quarto printed in large type with colored board covers makes a capital present for any child. Besides these there are the usual new issues of "Peep Show," "Babyland," and the various other chatterboxes. For older children he has a valuable gift in the "Famous Library of Biography," in twelve volumes, comprising biographies of the foremost men in science, art, literature, travel, invention, etc. Mr. Worthington makes the important announcement that he has purchased from Jas. R. Osgood & Co. the entire remainder of their fine art-book, "A Dream of Fair Women," and from Houghton, Mifflin & Co. the entire remainder of the édition de luxe of their Longfellow Portfolio, and that he will supply the trade. Mr. Worthington also announces that he has made arrangements for the American market of the Japanese edition of the poets, comprising Shakespeare, Tennyson, Byron, Scott, Burns, Moore, Milton, Wordsworth, Shelley, Pope, Hemans and "Gems of Late Poetry," bound in unique Japanese fashion with colored edges of a peculiar shade, and a portrait and monogram in permanent photography, of each poet, on the cover.

E. & J. B. YOUNG & Co. announce in theological and miscellaneous literature, "The One Mediator," comprising eight volumes on the mediatorial character of Christ, of God, by Rev. Peter Goldsmith Medley; "William Rollinson Whittingham, Bishop of Maryland," by the Rev. J. B. Brand; "Thoughts upon the Liturgical Books," with an introduction by the Rev. J. G. Goulburn; a second series of the Rev. J. Gould's "Village Preaching for a Week," "Manna: Night and Morning," selected and arranged by "Lulu;" "The Laws of Moses," containing the Hebrew and Roman law of the New Testament, and the Canon of the Universal Church concerning the sacraments of marriage and the dissolution of the marriage bond, digested and arranged in notes and scholia, by Dr. John Fulton; a new edition, revised and enlarged, of "The Text, an English Translation and a Digest of the Entire Code of Canon Law of the Undivided Primitive Church, with a Dissertation on the Seventh Canon of the Council of Chalcedon and a Decree of Liberty," by Dr. John Fulton, with a notice by Dr. Philip Schaff; and a new edition of Richard A. Proctor's "Stars in our Skies," with twelve large maps showing the appearance of the heavens at any time all the year around. In the S. P. C. K. series, the volumes on "Ireland" and "Norwich" in the Diocesan Series, "Slavonic" and "Anglo-Saxon" in the Early European Literature; "St. Poitiers" in the Fathers for English Series; and, as usual, a large number of excellent juveniles. In the line of colored books they have a number of very pretty and cheap books—cheap, however, not in price. Prominent among these are the "Queen," by Hans Christian Andersen, translated by T. Pym; and "From Dr. Hall to Happy-Day House," illustrated by A. Miles; "Picture-Books of Animals," by Rev. C. A. Johns; and a series of six volumes by Juliana Horatio Ewing, illustrated in color by R. André, complete the list.

NEW ILLUSTRATED JUVENILE BOOK I. THE CRUISE OF THE SNOW-BIRD.

A STORY OF ARCTIC ADVENTURE. By GORDON STABLES, M.D., R.N.
With 9 full-page illustrations. 1 vol., 12mo, handsomely bound in extra cloth, full gilt side, $1.50.
"This is a capital story of adventure of the sort that all true boys delight in; of 'moving accidents in field, of hair-breadth 'scapes'; and perhaps the greatest charm about this story is that it is so true to nature."
"It is well and briskly written, and as the name of the author would lead us to expect, the tone is thorough and manly."—London Academy.

II. Wm. H. G. Kingston's New Book, FROM POWDER-MONKEY TO ADMIRAL.

A STORY OF NAVAL ADVENTURE. With 8 full-page illustrations. 12mo, 416 pages. Uniform with "HENDRICKS THE HUNTER," "PETER TRAWL," "SHOOTING OCEAN," "JAMES BRAITHWAITE." Handsomely bound in extra cloth, bright color side and back, $1.50.

III. (Now ready.) Kingston's Library of ADVENTURES AFLOAT AND ASHORE.

(Including the new volume) in 5 volumes, WITH NEW BINDINGS, in a neat box.
"Mr. Kingston's stories abound in stirring incidents. Old and young, boys and girls, find much to both amuse and interest them."

IV. (Now ready.) By ALICE CAREY. I. CLOVERNOOK CHILDREN.

1 vol., 12mo, handsomely bound in extra cloth, $1.25.
"These sketches bear the true stamp of genius. No one who has ever read it can forget the beautiful story of 'May Wildermings,' its weird fancy, tenderness and beauty, and its exquisite rural pictures."—JOHN G. WHITTIER.

(Now Ready.)

II. SNOW-BERRIES.

With illus., 1 vol., 12mo, handsomely bound in extra cloth, $1.25.
"A charming little book of mingled prose and poetry. Alice Carey's name is of itself enough to attract children. 'Snow-berries' is one of the most beautiful books of its kind."—New York Evening Post.

V. A New Edition.

"The Grimm of Norway in the field of Folk-lore is Asbjørnsen."—BOSTON LITERARY GAZETTE. FOLK AND FAIRY TALES.

ILLUSTRATIONS, REPRODUCED FROM DRAWINGS by the best draughtsmen. Quarto volume, bound in illuminated covers, $1.50; cloth, gilt side, $2; cloth, full gilt sides and edges, $2.50.
"SO ADMIRABLY WRITTEN—SO RICHLY ILLUSTRATED, A BOOK FOR CHILDREN OF ALL AGES—WE HAVE NOT FOR A LONG TIME SEEN. It will make one of the best of the season, on account of its literary, as well as its artistic merits. The stories are described by Mr. Gosse as 'gardens of the imagination, wild plots full of strange Alpine blossoms, and perfumed with the wind from the peaks of the mountains.'"
—London Athenaeum.

(In October.)

"What a blazing comet is among ordinary stars, this superb volume is among common books. . . . grand in its proportions and value."—Chicago Journal.

MILTON'S PARADISE LOST.

With fifty full-page woodcuts, from the original designs by GUSTAVE DORÉ. In one large, elegant folio volume, bound in extra cloth, full gilt, bevelled, with elaborate side and back dies in gold and ink, $6; full morocco, gilt and stamped, $10.

"The most splendid book of the season."—Illustrated London News.

"Doré's power of depicting space and multitude has never been equalled, and that is a sublime power. But we are trying to describe what is indescribable."—Pall Mall Gazette.

THE BIBLE GALLERY.

Containing a selection of one hundred of the finest drawings of GUSTAVE DORÉ, with descriptive letter-press by T. R. Chambers, D.D. In one large folio volume, extra cloth, bound in extra cloth, full gilt, gold and ink dies, $6; full morocco, gilt, $10.

"This superb work, elegantly bound, gilt, and beautifully gotten up as to paper and type, is a feast to the eye. The weird, wonderful genius of Doré never appeared to better advantage than in these Scripture themes. The large full-page pictures has a page opposite describing and explaining the scene represented. They are not only eminently evangelical, but so rich in truth, and give such bright side-lights thrown upon the scene, really a valuable though short commentary. One greatly rejoices that the powerful pictures of Doré are accompanied by so wise, faithful, earnest and learned an interpreter."—Christian Secretary.

New Books and New Editions

To be Published during the Autumn of 1883.

Arranged Alphabetically by Names of Authors and Titles of Series.

Mr Fay Adams.

HAND-BOOK OF ENGLISH AUTHORS. By OSCAR FAY ADAMS.
1 vol. 16mo.

This little volume has been prepared to meet the frequent demand for a convenient reference book which should answer the questions that naturally arise in regard to an author, — When was he born? Where and how long did he live? What did he write? It is not a book of criticism, but of information; and gives in a compact form and in alphabetical order just the kind of information which is desired and gratefully appreciated by every one who looks at all. For households and schools it will be found so useful as to be practically indispensable. (October.)

A similar "Hand-Book of American Authors" by Mr. Adams is in preparation.

Thomas Bailey Aldrich.

PRELUDES AND LATER LYRICS. By THOMAS BAILEY ALDRICH, Author of "Marjorie Daw," "Flower and Thorn," etc. 1 vol. 16mo.

"Preludes" is a historical drama of admirable spirit and grace, based on a very striking incident of a Spanish campaign while Philip II. was Emperor. The remaining contents of the volume consist of many of the lyrics written by Mr. Aldrich during the last few years. Readers of modern poetry do not need to be told that these seven years have produced very few lyrics worthy to be compared with those which are embraced in this book. (October.)

American Commonwealths.

Edited by HORACE E. SCUDDER. A series of volumes narrating the history of such States of the Union as have exerted a formative influence in the shaping of the national government, or have illustrated in a noteworthy degree any doctrinal political principles, or have a striking political, social or economical history.

The commonwealth has always been a positive force in American history, and it is believed that no better time could be found for a statement of the life inherent in the States than when the nation has been assured; it is hoped by this means to throw new light upon the development of the country and to give a new point of view for the study of American history. In the case of the older commonwealths, which owe their origin to European colonization in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, an attempt will be made to trace institutions, laws, and personal influences, to characterize the people who worked out the problems of society, and to follow the development of state life, both in the colonial and the federal periods.

The migration from the Atlantic to the Pacific will be studied in the records of the several commonwealths which have received that migration and added their characteristics to the nation. The romance of their early history, the adventure and fortitude of their founders, the application of principles of government illustrated in the older communities, the contributions made by the European colonists of the nineteenth century, and the material conditions of growth will receive close attention.

This series will be brought out under the editorial care of Horace E. Scudder, who is well known as a student of American history, and as a writer. It will be his aim to secure true and graphic narratives, which shall have substantial value as critical monographs, and at the same time do full justice to the picturesque elements of the subjects.

The volumes will be uniform in size and general style. The series of American Statesmen and American Men of Letters will be furnished with maps, indexes, and such brief critical remarks as may in any case add to the thoroughness of the work.

The series, so far as arranged, will comprise the following subjects:—

VIRGINIA: A History of the People. By JOHN ESTEN, author of "The Virginia Comedians," "Life of General," etc. (September.)

OREGON. By REV. WILLIAM BARROWS, D. D. (October.)

SOUTH CAROLINA. By Hon. WILLIAM H. TRESKOT, ex-Secretary of State; author of "The Diplomacy of the American Revolution."

LAND. By WILLIAM HAND BROWNE, Associate of Johns Hopkins University.

- DANIEL WEBSTER. By HENRY CABOT LODGE, author of "Life of Alexander Hamilton," "The English Colonies in America," etc.

Each volume is 16mo, bound in cloth, gilt top. Price, $1.00.

The series of monographs on American Statesmen, now in progress of publication, is an undertaking that is likely to have no slight effect upon the popular comprehension of the inheritance and duties of the American citizen. The educational influence of such books is, in fact, not to be easily overestimated. Nothing can be truer than the maxim that the genesis and development of a nation are best studied in the lives of its great men, and in the compact and readable volumes Mr. Morse has edited, the history of epochs is skillfully condensed. To young men, especially, they will form a political library of the utmost value. The reader who takes up serialim cannot fail to find his ideas ened, his patriotism deepened, his conception of our national destiny made more definite and complete. — Boston Traveller.

J. P. Benjamin, Q. C.

TREATISE ON THE LAW OF SALE OF PERSONAL PROPERTY; with references to the American decisions, and to the French Code of Civil Law. By J. P. BENJAMIN, Esq., Q. C., of Lincoln's Barrister-at-Law. New Edition. From the Third English edition, carefully revised and edited by Hon. EDMUND H. BENNETT, Esq., Dean of the Law School, Boston University. 1. 8vo.

Benjamin's work has for years been recognized as the standard authority on the Law of Sale of Personal Property, but the new edition is naturally adapted especially to English practice, and this edition will represent the American law and usage with clearness and precision. Judge Bennett, the American editor, is well known as one of the most judicious and learned of American scholars. Whatever topic he treats is discussed with perspicacity and simplicity; and his style is marked by unusual clarity, so that his work has a peculiar value from its thoroughness and clearness.

Efforts will be spared to make this edition complete in all respects. (September.)

F. O. C. Darley.

COMPOSITIONS IN OUTLINE FROM HAWTHORNE'S "SCARLET LEAF."

By F. O. C. DARLEY. New Edition. Folio, bound in the same style as Darley's "Evangeline," published last year.

$10.00.

This sumptuous volume contains twelve cartoons representing the most dramatic and picturesque scenes in Hawthorne's masterpiece.

The subjects of Mr. Darley's illustrations are as follows: Market-Place, The Interview, Pearl, The Elf-Child and the Minister, The Leech and his Patient, Hester and the Physician, Hester and Pearl, The Pastor and his Parishioner, The Child at the Window, The Procession, The Revelation of the Scarlet Letter (see pictures).

These designs are in Mr. Darley's best style, and illustrate with wonderful force and insight the most striking incidents and characters of this romance, which is one of the few masterpieces of American literature.

Will readily commend itself to all cultivated persons who are looking for a really choice holiday gift. — Boston correspondence, York Tribune.

Mrs. Emma De Long.

THE VOYAGE OF THE JEANNETTE. The Ship and Ice of Lieutenant-Commander George W. De Long, U. S. Navy, as related by his wife, EMMA DE LONG. In two octavo volumes. With numerous full-page and text illustrations, including a steel portrait of Lieutenant-Commander De Long; a frontispiece picture of the tomb on the Lena Delta; a sketch made on the spot by an English artist; ten full-page illustrations by Mr. M. J. Burns, a marine artist, who, by his observations during an Arctic expedition, is able to depict with peculiar force and fidelity the scenes and experiences described. Numerous half-page cuts and tail-pieces made from sketches by R. L. Newcomb, the naturalist of the party; six large illustrations which show every important detail of the routes traversed; fac-simile reproductions of the last two pages of Captain De Long's journal. Every illustration is entirely new and pecially for this work. Price per set, bound in cloth, $7.50; deep, $10.00; half morocco, $12.00; full morocco, $16.00.

"The Voyage of the Jeannette" is a complete narrative of the Expedition of 1879-81, undertaken by the United States Government at the instance of Mr. James Gordon Bennett, proprietor of the "New York Herald," and commanded by Lieutenant-Commander George W. De Long, of the United States Navy. The work is taken from authoritative and original sources by Mrs. De Long. It contains a Biographical Sketch of Captain De Long, a full account of the preparations for the expedition, the Ship Journal, the Land Journal, and the record kept by Captain De Long until he died. It is supplemented by the narratives of the other officers, a report of the search parties and of the return of the survivors to America. The whole book is profoundly interesting.

This work is sold by subscription, but all booksellers are desired to order for it. (September.)

Ralph Waldo Emerson.

New and Complete Edition of the Works of Ralph Waldo Emerson. Riverside Edition. In eleven volumes, 12mo, printed from new electrotypes plates, and tastefully bound. Price, $1.75 per volume.

This edition will include the prose and poetical writings of Mr. Emerson, hitherto published in book form, and, in addition, two new series of essays, lectures, and speeches, prepared for publication, in accordance with the terms of Mr. Emerson's will, by his literary executor, Mr. J. Elliot Cabot.

The order of the volumes will be as follows:—

MR. EMERSON'S WORKS. Edition de Luxe.

This edition will be printed on paper of the best quality, volumes as perfect in workmanship and as attractive to the eye as the best skill of the Riverside Press can produce. It will be in every important respects equal to the large paper edition of Hawthorne's Works recently published, which has won the hearty praise and approbation of connoisseurs in the art of book-making.

The edition will be, as far as care and skill can make it, a new presentation of writings which have exerted so potent an influence on the literature of the age and which seem secure of the immortality with which the literature is endowed.

It will contain two new portraits of Mr. Emerson, — one a painting by Schoff, and the other an engraving by Wilcox.

N. B. This edition is limited to Five Hundred Copies, all of which have been subscribed for, chiefly by the trade.

EMERSON CALENDAR. A New Edition, for 1884, of this popular calendar, which has given so great satisfaction. The design will not be changed, but the selections from Mr. Emerson's writings for each day of the year will be varied and rearranged. Price 25c.

Edgar Fawcett.

AN AMBITIOUS WOMAN. A Novel. By EDGAR FAWCETT, author of "A Hopeless Case," "A Gentleman of Leisure," etc. 12mo.

The scene of this novel, as of Mr. Fawcett's previous story, is New York city. It is a story of current life, dealing with a striking social fact of the tendency among American women to be discontented with their surroundings, and depicting their efforts to achieve higher positions. It contrasts, not didactically but realistically, a merely selfish ambition and the success it frequently attains with the possibilities open to a wider and worthier aim. The story has many fresh types of character, and, with Mr. Fawcett's familiar knowledge of New York society and his well-known literary skill, it cannot fail to be one of the most notable novels of the year. (November.)

Mrs. James T. Fields.

HOW TO HELP THE POOR. By MRS. JAMES T. FIELDS. 16mo.

A small book, embodying the results of many years' experience and observation in charitable work. It is not a sketch of theoretical philanthropy, but many examples are cited to illustrate practical views which it is hoped this book may render more effective. (September.) t Harte.

THE CARQUINEZ WOODS. By BRET HARTE, author of "The Luck of Roaring Camp," "Tales of the Argonauts," etc. 1 vol. 18mo. Little Classic style. $1.00.

Bret Harte is probably the most popular of living story-tellers. He has never lost the cunning which made his California tales the joy and delight of all readers. "In the Carquinez Woods" is a story of early California life, and therefore appeals with especial force to those who appreciate the peculiar character and quality of Harte's genius. (September.)

Nathaniel Hawthorne.

ETCHES AND STUDIES. By NATHANIEL HAWTHORNE. Containing the "Life of Franklin Pierce," "Alice Doane's Appeal," "Chiefly about War Matters," "The Ancestral Footstep," and an appendix, comprising a list of Hawthorne's writings and an index, forming a supplementary volume to the Little Classic edition of Hawthorne's works. $1.00. (October.)

B. On and after the publication of this volume the price of the Little Classic edition of Hawthorne's works will be $1.00 a volume.

HAWTHORNE PORTRAIT. A Life-Size Portrait of Nathaniel Hawthorne, of the same character as the Atlantic Portraits of Longfellow, Bryant, Whittier, Lowell, Holmes, and Emerson, previously published. Price, $1.00.

This portrait has been reproduced from a photograph selected as particularly satisfactory by Mrs. Rose Hawthorne Lathrop, and will appeal to a host of readers who have long desired a life-size and life-true portrait of an author whom they so greatly admire. (October.)

HAWTHORNE PORTFOLIO. Containing copies of the Etchings made for the Edition de Luxe of Hawthorne's Works, including the fine Portrait. These are printed with the utmost care on Japanese paper, and form a very desirable collection both for their excellence as works of art and for their association with the works of Hawthorne. The edition is limited to 125 copies. Price $15.00.

THE WONDER-BOOK.

INGLEWOOD TALES.

STORIES FROM HISTORY AND BIOGRAPHY.

A new duodecimo edition of these charming juvenile books, bound in a very attractive style. $1.50 each.

Rowland G. Hazard.

MAN A CREATIVE FIRST CAUSE. By ROWLAND G. HAZARD, of "Freedom of Mind in Willing," "Two Letters on tion, to John Stuart Mill," etc., etc. 1 vol. crown 8vo.

The two papers which form this small volume were read at the Concord School of Philosophy in the summer of 1882. The subject is to set forth in a striking manner the originating, controlling, and determining power of the human mind. The arguments by which this is maintained and the facts by which it is illustrated give the book a positive interest for thoughtful readers. (September.)

Leonard A. Jones.

A TREATISE ON THE LAW OF PLEDGES AND COLLATERAL SECURITIES. By LEONARD A. JONES, Esq. In one volume, 8vo.

Mr. Jones is widely known by his treatises on Mortgages, Road Securities, and Chattel Mortgages, which are accepted authorities on these subjects by the Bench and the Bar. In his on Pledges and Collateral Securities he cites the laws relating to these topics in the several States of the Union, and the numerous Cases and Decisions in which the Courts have passed upon every possible question that can arise in connection with these subjects. His thorough research and clear, accurate statements give special value to the work. (September.)

CHATTEL MORTGAGES. New Edition. 1 vol. 8vo, $6.50.

Mr. Jones has just revised very carefully his treatise on "Chattel Mortgages," and added to it about sixty pages of new matter. (Published.)

Henry Wadsworth Longfellow.

TWENTY POEMS FROM HENRY WADSWORTH LONGFELLOW. Illustrated from Paintings by his Son, ERNEST W. LONGFELLOW. 1 vol. 8vo, cloth, tastefully stamped, full gilt, $4.00; morocco or tree calf, $9.00.

The poems chosen for illustration are: It is not Always Daybreak, The Village Blacksmith, The Day is Done, Sea Drift, The Evening Star, Cadenabbia, Amalfi, Snowflakes, Songo, Chrysaor, Moonlight, The Lighthouse, The Bells of Lynn, Friends of Mine, The Tides, Elegiac, The Tide Rises—the Falls, Mad River in the White Mountains, Becalmed.

These poems are illustrated with fifty designs, in which Mr. Ernest Longfellow interprets their spirit with rare grace and beauty. The new portrait of Mr. Longfellow will be prefixed to the volume.

peculiar interest attaches to the book from the fact that the portrait and all the illustrations are from the hand of the poet's son. It will be in all respects a very tasteful gift-book. (September.)

MICHAEL ANGELO: A Dramatic Poem. Superbly illustrated with designs by Walter Shirlaw, T. De Thulstrup, L. Ritter, T. Wendell, Ross Turner, F. D. Millet, S. L. Smith, T. Hovenden; and engraved by G. Kruell, W. B. Closson, T. Johnson, Frank French, George T. Andrew, H. F. Krause, H. E. Sylvester, and Victor Bernstrom. Quarto, printed in the most careful manner on paper of the best quality, and bound in cloth, beveled edges, full gilt, in an entirely new and unique style.

This will be one of the most noteworthy Holiday volumes ever published in this country. The poem, which did not appear until

Mr. Longfellow's death, contains many passages as vigorous and beautiful as any he ever wrote, and as a whole is remarkable for its portrayal of Michael Angelo, Vittoria Colonna, and their characters, and for the thoughtful and pathetic charm which pervades it. The illustrations are not mere embellishments of the text, but depict very effectively the scenes and incidents of the story; reproduce various admirable portraits of Michael Angelo and Vittoria Colonna; and interpret with unusual felicity the poet's thoughts and fancies. The mechanical execution of the book, the typography, and the binding will all be of the best, the whole forming a noble work of art. (November.)

LONGFELLOW CALENDAR. A new Edition, for 1884, of this Calendar, which has been so widely popular. The design will remain unchanged, but the selections from Longfellow's writings for each day of the year will be revised and rearranged. Price, $1.00.

LONGFELLOW'S WORKS. Subscription Edition. Vol. III. Including his Complete Prose Writings and Latest Poems. Large quarto. Superbly illustrated. To be published in Fifteen Parts. Price 50 cents each.

This volume will complete the magnificent Subscription Edition of Longfellow's Works, in the sumptuous style in which the two previous volumes were issued. It will comprise all his prose writings—"Hyperion," "Outre-Mer," "Kavanagh," and "Drift-Wood;" and all the poems of Mr. Longfellow published since his death, including "In the Harbor" and "Michael Angelo." These will be illustrated in the same general style as the preceding volumes, which are among the noblest and most artistic books ever published.

The New Testament.

THE NEW TESTAMENT OF OUR LORD AND SAVIOUR JESUS CHRIST. With engravings on wood from designs of Fra Angelico, Pietro Perugino, Francesco Francia, Lorenzo di Credi, Bartolommeo, Titian, Raphael, Gaudenzio Ferrari, Dan. Volterra, and others. In one volume, royal quarto, cloth. 540 pages. Price, $10.00.

This elegant and sumptuous edition of the New Testament is embellished on every page with ornamental borders and vignettes exquisitely drawn and engraved, some of them being copied from valuable illuminated manuscripts in the British Museum, and the full-page illustrations are copies of the works of the world-famous masters named above. It represents the labors of many years by the best English designers, engravers, and printers. The result is one that will be treasured in many families, and is admirably suited for a gift to a pastor or friend. The King James version of the text is the one used. (November.)

Elizabeth Stuart Phelps.

BEYOND THE GATES. By ELIZABETH STUART PHELPS, author of "The Gates Ajar," "Friends: a Duet," etc. 1 vol. 16mo.

Ever since "The Gates Ajar" caused such a kind and deep popular interest as has hardly been caused by any American novel except "Uncle Tom's Cabin," many of the readers of that remarkable book have hoped Miss Phelps would give them a fuller view of the future life, of which in "The Gates Ajar" she gave only a glimpse. This hope is now to be gratified. The subject of "Beyond the Gates" is sufficiently indicated by its title. It is a picture of the unseen world, of its possible activities, illumination, and experiences, as a reverent imagination foresees them. Though different from "A Little Pilgrim," and not suggested by that wonderful sketch, like that it appeals to the hopes and longings of those who have lost dear friends and who seek to realize the life to which they have entered. (October.)

Carl Ploetz.

AN EPITOME OF ANCIENT, MEDIÆVAL, AND MODERN HISTORY. Translated from the German by WILLIAM H. TILLINGHAM, Assistant in Harvard University Library. With 1 map. Crown 8vo.

An admirably concise and accurate general history, embracing the salient features in the record of all nations and peoples of whom any account has come down to us. The great facts in his her of outward deeds or of shaping ideas, are here stated in sequence, so that the reader of the book may gain a clear and adequate comprehension of the order and development and significance of the world's political, social, and moral history. It is excellently adapted for use in colleges and seminaries, as well as individual reading. It is used in Harvard University. (October.)

Charles F. Richardson.

PRIMER OF AMERICAN LITERATURE. By CHARLES F. RICHARDSON, Professor of Literature in Dartmouth College. New and Revised Edition, with twelve Portraits of American authors. Twenty-first thousand. 18mo, red edges, 30 cents.

In response to an increasing demand, this popular work on American Literature is reissued in a cheap but attractive form. It has been revised and brought down to date, and is rendered more effective by the addition of portraits of twelve representative American writers. The book is intended not only for the library, but also for schools, in many of which it has been successfully used.

William Rimmer.

ART ANATOMY. By DR. WILLIAM RIMMER. 1 vol. folio, fifty plates.

The fame of Dr. Rimmer rests securely on his extraordinary knowledge of anatomy, and his power of expression through it, both human and lower animal forms. This volume is the fullest and most comprehensive record of Dr. Rimmer's genius, and is of permanent value to all students of art. The original plates were destroyed in the Boston fire, after fifty copies had been printed. The last copy of that edition was sold recently for fifty dollars. It is now proposed to issue a fac-simile reproduction, upon the same scale as the original, if a sufficient number of subscriptions shall be secured. The price will be $12.00.

This book is quite similar in general character to Mr. Russell's previous volume, "Library Notes." It embodies, in essays grouped under various titles, the rich and diversified harvest gathered from many fields of literature. The original portion of the book shows a large and sympathetic appreciation of what is best in letters. The illustrative extracts are well chosen from authors to whom the world is always glad to listen. (October.)

Horace E. Scudder.

THE BODLEY FAMILY IN ENGLAND. Fully illustrated. With ornamental cover, $1.50.

In this book the Bodleys, who had been traveling in Holland and to England, and are so fortunate as to find other Bodleys, distant cousins, who receive them very heartily. With them they visit many noteworthy and interesting places, and talk of many persons and incidents famous in English history, all of which are by Scudder's skill made peculiarly fresh and attractive. The book will be fully illustrated, bound in an ornamental cover, and will reach and extend the satisfaction with which hundreds of thousands have read the previous Bodley Books. (September.)

William H. Seward.

THE DIPLOMATIC HISTORY OF THE WAR FOR THE UNION. By WILLIAM H. SEWARD. Edited by GEORGE E. BAKER. 1 vol. 2vo, $3.00. (September.)

This volume includes the journal or diary of the War for the Union, from 1861 to 1865, which Mr. Seward, who was then Secretary of State, furnished to the United States Ministers abroad for information concerning the incidents and progress of the conflict.

It contains also selections from Mr. Seward's Diplomatic Correspondence, embracing those remarkable dispatches which attracted the most attention at home and abroad; several cabinet papers, before published; and some important speeches by Mr. Seward. Attached to the volume is a memoir, reciting the great political events which occurred in the United States from 1861 to 1869, in which Mr. Seward bore a conspicuous part, with accounts of his travels round the globe, and of the occasional speeches which he delivered after his retirement from office in 1869 to his death in 1872.

COMPLETE WORKS OF WILLIAM H. SEWARD. Edited by GEORGE E. BAKER. With Portraits and Memoir. In five volumes, 2vo, cloth, $15.00; half calf, $30.00.

In the roll of American statesmen few names are worthy to stand so high as that of William H. Seward. His public life covered more than forty years, in which many questions of the highest importance challenged consideration. Among these questions were: our Education in all its phases; Internal Improvements, embracing the entire history of the origin, completion, and proposed extension of the Erie Canal, and of the New York and Erie and other railroads; Slavery, its rights and prerogatives, the duties and obligations of the free States in regard to it; the Public Land Question with a history and discussion of the Anti-Rent troubles in New York; Crime and its Penalties; Political Economy, in its adaptation to the national condition; the Fugitive Slave Law; the Annexation of Texas; the Maintenance of the National Honor; the Protection of American Rights; Treaty for the Suppression of the Slave Trade; Treaty for the Acquisition of Alaska; Treaty with China; Treaty for an Interoceanic Canal at Darien; Treaties affecting Commercialization; the Trent Affair; the Emancipation Proclamation; the Thirteenth and Fourteenth Amendments to the Constitution, and these questions were discussed by Mr. Seward with a freedom, vigor, and clearness seldom, if ever, equaled.

His Addresses, Messages, Speeches, and Diplomatic Correspondence form an important contribution to the literature of American statesmanship, and cannot fail of a hearty welcome from those who duly appreciate the value of these papers and the influence they have exerted on public opinion.

Four volumes were published during Mr. Seward's lifetime. The fifth, including principally his Diplomatic Correspondence and Diary of the War, will appear shortly before the issue of this complete edition of his works, and will be sold separately, as announced. (October.)

The Riverside Shakespeare.

THE COMPLETE WORKS OF WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE. Riverside Edition. Edited by RICHARD GRANT WHITE. With Critical, Historical, and Explanatory Notes. In three volumes. I. Comedies; II. Histories and Poems; III. Tragedies. 8vo, gilt top, $2.50 a volume; the set, in cloth, $7.50; half-bound, $15.00.

This is an entirely new edition of Shakespeare's Complete Works, printed from new electrotype plates, and combining the most authentic and carefully corrected text with foot-notes explaining in compact form the results of thorough study of the Elizabethan period and its drama. Mr. White's great reputation as a critic and as a student of the English language and its literature guarantees the excellence of the work, and the Riverside Press has endeavored to make this the handsomest and most desirable publication of Shakespeare ever published. (September.)

THE SAME. In six volumes, octavo. Printed from the same plates as the three-volume edition, but on larger and heavier paper, and tastefully bound, forming a very desirable Library of Shakespeare. Price, cloth, $15.00 a set, in box; half-bound, $30.00. (November.)

William W. Story.

HE AND SHE: A Poet's Portfolio. By WILLIAM W. STORY, author of "Roba Di Roma," etc. 1 vol. 16mo.

Mr. Story's great fame as an artist has caused his genius as a poet to be too much overlooked. In this volume he has collected many of his lyrical poems, and strung them on the silver thread of an entertaining dialogue or conversation between a gentleman and a lady, — the book taking its name from these two persons. The variety of theme and the grace of treatment render the volume unusually attractive, while the conversation abounds in brilliant and suggestive passages which add to the value and charm of the Jonathan Swift.

THE WORKS OF JONATHAN SWIFT. With Notes and a Life of the Author, by SIR WALTER SCOTT. In nineteen volumes, 8vo. Price $4.00 per volume.

This is a careful reprint, without change, of the standard edition of Swift, which for many years has been very scarce and expensive. The edition is limited, the type being distributed after the printing of each sheet. It is printed from a new font of type, on paper of the finest quality. Six volumes are now ready, and the remaining volumes will appear at the rate of two volumes a month, as fast as possible. Subscriptions will be received through booksellers or direct by the publishers. Each copy will be numbered, and sent to subscribers in the order in which their subscriptions are received.

Celia Thaxter.

POEMS FOR CHILDREN. By CELIA THAXTER, author of "Among the Isles of Shoals," "Driftweed," etc. With illustrations by Miss A. G. PLIMPTON. Small quarto.

Celia Thaxter, who is widely known as a delightful writer, has gathered from the two volumes of poems which she has published, from periodicals to which she has contributed, a volume of poems relating to childhood. These poems are charming in their simplicity and appreciation of the thoughts and feelings and interests of children, which is an indispensable element of success. Whether written either for or about them. Simply as a book of poems for children, this is one of the most attractive which has been published for years, and it will be rendered additionally attractive by the beautiful designs from the skillful pencil of Miss Plimpton, well known as the author of sketches for children. The book will be elegantly bound and bound in the most careful manner, and will be one of the most wholesome and interesting of the children's books of the year. (October.)

Herbert Tuttle.

THE HISTORY OF PRUSSIA TO THE ACCESSION OF FREDERIC THE GREAT. By HERBERT TUTTLE, A. M., Professor of History in Cornell University, author of "German Political Leaders," etc. 1 vol. crown 8vo.

Herbert Tuttle spent several years in Berlin, studying with the utmost care the Germany of the past and of the present. He will bring to the public the benefit of his researches into the earlier history of Germany, in this volume limiting himself to the Prussian nation, and tracing its career from the remotest records until Frederick the Great ascended the throne. It is in itself a very interesting work, and is still more interesting from the fact that it is the history of the early years of the leading state of the present German Empire. It is not merely a history of the sovereigns and of the military operations in which Prussia was engaged, but of the people, of the development of its political, social, and religious institutions, and in its design and in its execution it will take rank with the most important of modern historical works. Charles Dudley Warner.

A ROUNDABOUT JOURNEY. By CHARLES DUDLEY WARNER, of "My Winter on the Nile," "In the Levant," etc. 16mo.

Mr. Warner has a genius for traveling. By some mysterious power he always happens to see the most interesting objects, the most important persons, and the most significant events of the time and country in which he travels. Fortunately for us he has also a peculiar felicity and humor in recording what he sees, so that his volumes of travel are at once among the most informing and the most charming books of modern literature. During the past year Mr. Warner spent many months in Europe, principally in the countries bordering on the Mediterranean, and made an excursion into Asia. The experiences and observations of these months he will describe in a volume with the title given above, and those who have read his previous volumes of travel need no assurance that this book will be altogether delightful. Thurlow Weed.

THE LIFE OF THURLOW WEED, including his Autobiography, edited by his daughter, HARRIET A. WEED, and a Memoir of his grandson, THURLOW WEED BARNES. In two octavo volumes, with Steel-Plate Portraits and other illustrations. per set, bound in cloth, $7.50; sheep, $10.00; half morocco, $12.00; full morocco, $16.00.

The remarkable career of Mr. Weed, which for half a century has brought him into intimate and influential relations with the political leaders of the United States, — Presidents, Cabinet Officers, Senators, Representatives, Governors, Legislators, — and also into relations more or less intimate with leading members of the various professions, is described in the Autobiography by the skilful hand of Mr. Weed, and is completed in the Memoir by his grandson, who was perfectly acquainted with the various incidents and relations of his distinguished ancestor's career.

v American citizens during the last half century have wielded at and immediate an influence as Mr. Weed, and the story of e will be to a considerable extent the inside history of the y for nearly two generations.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS' ANNOUNCEMENT

The Sheriff of Nottingham plotting against Robin sends a messenger to Lincoln

THE Merry Adventures of Robin Hood
OF GREAT RENOWN IN NOTTINGHAMSHIRE.

WRITTEN AND ILLUSTRATED BY HOWARD PYLE.

One volume, 4to, full embossed leather, antique, from the author's designs, $4.50.

IN THIS book, perhaps the most original and elaborate ever produced by an American artist, Mr. Pyle has told with pencil and pen the complete story of Robin Hood and his merry men in their haunts in Nottinghamshire. These delightful illustrations have made the bold ranger the ideal of the outlaw class at a time when the class included not only fugitives from justice but also refugees from poverty and misrule, have furnished for many generations a source of entertainment to old and young.

There is something thoroughly English and home-bred in the life of the bold outlaw. His sunny, open-air nature, his love of archery, his generous disposition, his love of fair play, and his ever-present courtesy to women are characteristics that have no counterpart in the folk-lore of any other people. The simple ballad English has been so fully preserved in Mr. Pyle's easy prose, and, as regards the text, this edition is in all respects the best that has ever been issued. But it has other claims to notice. The illustrations which Mr. Pyle has strewn profusely throughout his book. These pictures set forth every eventful scene in the narrative, and they are in perfect keeping with the story, even in the minutest detail; as specimens of figure-drawing they form the most admirable and artistic series that an American artist has created for many years. In them the persons of Robin Hood, Little John, Will Stutely, the Sheriff of Nottingham, Allan-a-Dale, Queen Eleanor, Friar Tuck, and all the rest become as familiar as the characters of the story.

The binding and general make-up of the book deserve more than a passing mention. Every detail has been carefully wrought out by the author, and the exterior of the volume is in perfect keeping with its interior. The elaborate chapter-headings and tail-pieces are especially noteworthy specimens of this form of decoration.

WILL PUBLISH DURING THE FALL

AND UNIFORM EDITION OF THE

WRITINGS OF

G. Mitchell (Ik Marvel),

INCLUDING

Volumes, containing New and Unpublished. In 12mo. volumes in original bindings. Price, per vol. $1.25.

Years which have passed since the appearance of a Bachelor have seen the standard of judgment changed, and the small circle of reputations among American men of letters altered. But in the passage of this literary career, Mr. Mitchell's place in that circle has come to be unquestioned, but exceptional, and of great importance.

On the literary grounds, therefore, on which it is so important to establish a standard and uniform edition of Mr. Mitchell's works, with that final revision which he always desires to give to the permanent writings, there were strong practical reasons for wearing out of plates, the need of a new edition conforming to present conditions, etc., etc., and the publishers to ask of him the cooperation which a re-issue of the volumes.

A new edition will be made additionally important in view of its new volumes—consisting in part of his hitherto uncollected, and in part of a new edition embodying results of studies in English literature, and observations of travel.

The new edition will be, it is believed, as attractive and convenient as could have been devised. The new edition will be printed from new plates, in small size, and bound in a cloth especially prepared for the purpose, and before used in America. The publication is expected in September with the issue of

ENGLISH VERSE.

EDITED BY W. J. LINTON AND R. H. STODDARD.

A series of five small volumes (12mo, about 350 pp. each, price, one dollar) will be published between September 1 and December 1, in the following order:

- I. Chaucer to Burns.
- II. Lyrics of the Nineteenth Century.
- III. Ballads and Romances.
- IV. Dramatic Selections.
- V. Translations.

The publishers have undertaken the issue of this work, in spite of the numerous volumes of selections now existing, because of their belief that in completeness, in literary as well as popular value, and in certain excellences of plan, it distinctly surpasses any attempt yet made in the same direction.

The collection is the largest yet undertaken, and covers more fully than any other the whole field of English poetical literature. At the same time its form is the most convenient possible, the five volumes of handy size greatly surpassing in this respect a single heavy book.

Its division and arrangement are simple and excellent, making use of no arbitrary classification under fanciful subject-headings, but merely separating the clearly distinct classes indicated by the titles of the several volumes, and under these giving the poets in chronological order. Each volume is supplied with careful indexes of authors, poems, and first lines.

It has especially sought to repair the defects of existing anthologies in two respects,—Comprehensiveness and Absolute Accuracy of Text. Upon the latter point special stress is laid; it being the aim of the editors to produce a cyclopædia of English verse the text of which shall be an authority. Besides the fact that the work is the result of many years' general collection, comparison, and criticism, Mr. Linton has devoted the last year entirely to minute study and verification in the British Museum.

Each volume will contain, as an introduction, an essay by Mr. Stoddard on the period or class of English Poetry which it covers, and at the end of each volume will be very brief biographical and bibliographical notes by the editors upon the poets represented in it. Brief glossarial and explanatory notes will also be appended, with others noticing current differences of texts, etc.

NEW JUVENILE BOOKS.

THE STORY OF ROLAND. By JAMES BALDWIN. With a series of illustrations by R. B. Birch. 1 vol., square 12mo, $2.

This volume is intended as a companion to The Story of Siegfried. As Siegfried is an adaptation of Northern myths and romances to the wants and the understanding of young people, so is this story a similar adaptation of the middle-age romances relating to Charlemagne and his paladins. While The Story of Siegfried exemplifies the sublime old-world spirit of the nature myths, its counterpart, The Story of Roland, is less remote, and the incidents are equally wonderful, are of a more human character, and appeal with greater force to our imaginations. In Mr. Baldwin's hands the different legends of Roland and his companions are fused into a straightforward story; and the history, the manners and customs of the time, as well as all that pertains to the institution of chivalry, have been faithfully and judiciously represented.

The Hoosier School-boy depicts some of the characteristics of boy life, years ago, and some characteristics, however, that were not peculiar to that section only. The story presents an interesting picture of the difficulties which in those days beset the path of youth for an education. These obstacles, which the hero of the story succeeds, by his genuine nature and force of character, in surmounting, are just such as a majority of the most distinguished Americans in all walks of life, including Lincoln and Garfield, have had to contend with, which they have made the stepping-stone to their future greatness. Mr. Brush's strong, like illustrations add much to the attractiveness of the book.

AMONG THE LAKES. By WILLIAM O. STODDARD. 1 volume, 12mo, $1.

Mr. Stoddard's bright, sympathetic story, Among the Lakes, is a fitting companion to his other books. It has the same flavor of happy, boyish country life, brimful of humor and adventure, with incident and the various adventures of healthy, well-conditioned boys turned loose in the country, with all the resources of woods and water and their own unspoiled nature. The story teaches a boy how to spend his time so as to leave pleasant and enduring recollections to sweeten a lifetime with the thoughts of a happy, chivalrous, well-spent youth.

. This book, together with Mr. Stoddard's former stories, DAB KINZIE'S QUARTET, and SALTILLO BOYS, are furnished in sets, in uniform binding, Price, $4. They are especially recommended for Sunday-school libraries.

A New Story by Jules Verne.

GODFREY MORGAN. A California Mystery. By JULES VERNE. With numerous illustrations. 1 vol., 12mo, $2.

Jules Verne's cyclopedic fancy this time finds scope for its vagaries in the California Eldorado, among the millionaires of absolutely limitless resources, who, the French would have us believe, form a large class of the population around the Golden Gate. Nevertheless, the story is of the Crusoe order, and is concerned with the adventures of the rest of the Californian, Godfrey Morgan, and his companion, the dancing-master, Tartlet, upon an island where they have been wrecked. The story is one of the most amazing efforts of genius, and certainly lacks neither interest nor amusement. The illustrations are very good and equal the text in force and character.

The Grounds of Theistic and Christian Belief.

BY GEORGE P. FISHER, D.D., LL.D., PROFESSOR OF ECCLESIASTICAL HISTORY IN YALE COLLEGE. 1 vol., crown 8vo. $2.50.

This volume embraces a discussion of the evidences of both natural and revealed religion, and prominence is given to topics having special interest at present from their connection with modern theories and difficulties. Among these topics are the argument of design and the theory of evolution; the reality of knowledge; the miraculous in the Gospels; the truthfulness of the apostolic witnesses; and a variety of subjects touching the Scriptures and the canon.

Professor Fisher's learning, skill in argument, and power of language have given this volume the position of one of the foremost defenders of the faith, now living, and this volume will be useful to many in clearing up perplexities and throwing new light upon the nature of Christian faith and its relation to modern thought.

These dialogues have been brought together in order that the reader may gain not only an adequate conception of Plato's philosophy, but a picture of the age in which he lived and taught. Such is the inimitable art displayed in them that we find ourselves untransported to the scenes of Athenian daily life, the street, the market-place, the dwellings of the citizens, and seem to breathe the very air, to penetrate into the very heart of the old.

There is the impression of absolute fidelity to truth in the Socrates of these dialogues, the questions old and yet ever new which engross the mind and heart of Socrates and are those which can never cease to engross the earnest-minded in every age.

Just we have a life of Luther which deserves the name. . . . The Herr Köstlin, in a well-composed volume, has produced a picture which leaves little to be desired. A man who has read these six hundred pages attentively will have no questions left to ask. He has heard Luther speak in his own racy provincial German. He will have seen him in the King's Courts and Imperial Diets. He will have seen him at his table, or working in his garden, or by his children's bedside. He will have seen, and it is a further merit of this most excellent book—a series of carefully engraved copies of the best pictures of Luther himself, of his wife and family, and of all the most interesting men with whom his work forced him into friendship or collision. A more fitting souvenir of the approaching celebration of the four hundredth anniversary of Luther's birth could be imagined than this collection of the hymns which the great reformer wrote in the very heat and stress of the conflict. They are of all his writings the most closely associated with his name and memory, and they have become the common heritage of Christendom. The history of church music, of musical societies, of the progress of the progress of every department of musical growth in this country is given. The book fills a want in the literature of the subject which music students have long seen supplied.

MISCELLANEOUS AND STANDARD WORKS

A most reliable and valuable work of reference.

A Dictionary of Quotations from the Poets; based upon Bohn's edition, with numerous additions from American authors. Carefully revised and corrected, with index of authors and chronological data, and a concordance index to every passage in the volume. Introductory preface by R. H. STODDARD. Crown 8vo, 750 pp., $2.50. Interleaved edition, $3.50.

Especial care has been taken to insure accuracy of text, the copy having been compared with the author's text before putting in type, and again verified by comparing the proof-sheets with the original text, so that each quotation has been verified, not only by the compiler, but also by an expert employed for this purpose.

Brown's Concordance to the Old and New Testaments. By Rev. JOHN BROWN. 264 pp., 32mo, 50 cts.

"The sea as sung by the poets."

Surf and Wave. A collection of poems of the sea. Compiled by W. D. WARD. Fully illustrated, with 100 cuts, and numerous vignettes and original drawings. 625 pp., 12mo, $1.25. Miss Ward has been engaged for several years in collecting these poems from various sources. Many have been written expressly for this volume by authors, and the collection will prove an attraction for summer travellers and dwellers by the sea.

"Just the volume for the summer sea-shore, within sound of the surf and within sight of"—Boston Globe.

"In this volume we have a rich collection of poems in the English language."—Boston Pilot.

Book of Private Devotion. A series of prayers and meditations, with an introductory essay on prayer. By HANNAH M. WARD. 252 pp., 32mo, 50 cts.

professedly written for older people has exercised such a fascination over the minds of successive generat boys and girls as Plutarch's "Lives." The fascination, however, lies rather in the incidents themselves ethod of narration. The simplest of the extant translations contain numerous words and phrases that are a ck to even the brightest boys and girls, many passages are objectionable on the score of delicacy, and the e narrative is frequently impeded by irrelevant matter that possesses no interest for youth. The aim of the present book has been to retell Plutarch's stories in a plain and simple manner, and to omit all the features l which are in any way out of keeping with a juvenile book.

The World as Will and Idea. By Arthur Schopenhauer. Translated from the German by R. B. Haldane, M.A., and John Keble, M.A. In three volumes, 8vo.

It is now sixty years since Schopenhauer's Opus Magnum—destined to revolutionize the philosophical speculation of the century—made its first appearance. Still, such was the indifference exhibited toward this work by the author's contemporaries occupying the chairs of philosophy at the different German universities that a few years after its appearance the greater part of the edition found its way to the paper-maker's tub. It was only toward the close of the first half of the present century that a reaction set in, and that the work, hitherto unaccountably neglected, commenced to assert its claims to the attention of the public. Since then each new edition has followed in rapid succession.

THE FAMILY FLIGHT

By Rev. E. E. HALE, and Miss SUSAN

Quarto, cloth, illustrated, price $2.50

A Family Flight Through

This handsome volume, together with the two previous A certainly differs from other works of its class, by not having in the library at home, its matter skillfully drawn from various books of travel, but being an actual record of actual travel, the authors having visited Spain last year. The style of the narrative is highly picturesque, with rapid movement and "interesting situations."

A History of the American People. By ARTHUR GILMAN, M.A. Crown 8vo, cloth, illustrated, gilt top, $2.50; 12mo, $1.50.

The tone of the book is impartial, and the author, who has not been identified with political movements, has treated the subject from the strictly historical point of view. The addition of a series of documents illustrating the constitutional history of America will be a boon to students. The illustrations number 175; many of them are of the highest style of the engraver's art.

Young Folks' History of the Netherlands. 12mo, cloth, illustrated, $1.50.

Cambridge Sermons. Pulpit utterances in the Shepard Memorial Church, Cambridge. By ALEXANDER MCKENZIE, D.D. 12mo, extra cloth, $1.50.

Twenty-six Hours a Day. By MARY BLAKE. 12mo, extra cloth, $1.25.

Some of the chapters of this volume attracted much attention in Scribner's Magazine. At the request of Heads of Households and those interested in home matters, they are now first published in book-form, with new matter.

Hill Rest. By SUSAN M. MOULTON. 12mo, $1.25.

One of the sweetest pictures of home life. The story is fresh and entertaining, and carries its lesson admirably.

DELIGHTFUL NEW BOOKS FOR THE LITTLE FOLKS.

QUARTOS AT 50 CENTS EACH.

Bound in covers of bright, attractive colors, from original designs.

Ted, Goldlocks and Others. Poems by CLARA DOTY BATES. Picture by Lizzie Lawson.

Mrs. Bates, well known as the compiler and versifier of "Child-Lore," seems to be the standard poet of childhood, and some of her most delicious rhymes and conceits are to be found in this handsome volume.

Forty Little Rhymes of Forty Good Times. Forty chronicles in merry verse of as many plays and pranks wherein participate dogs, lambs, birds, kittens, fairies, and children. The best play-room book of the year. Very fully illustrated.

Little Folks' Bible Pictures and Stories. By LAURIE LORING. With 52 illustrations of interesting events in Bible History. Oblong 4to.

Goody Two Shoes and other Nursery Ballads. By MRS. CLARA DOTY BATES. Numerous original illustrations.

These old-world nursery tales have taken a new lease of life; and as moulded by Mrs. Bates' artistic hand, and illustrated by modern fancy, they are likely to remain a standard collection.

R. WORTHINGTON

770 Broadway, New York.

WORTHINGTON'S ANNUAL.

A Series of interesting Stories, Papers on Natural History, Biographical Sketches, and other instructive and amusing reading for the Young. Contributed by the most known American and Foreign authors. Illustrated with upward of 400 beautiful engravings, designed by eminent artists, and colored plates. Bound in a rich chromo cover of original design, and printed in colors. 4to, $1.50; cloth extra, gilt in new design, $2.00.

This new candidate for public favor enters on its career full of hope, and we believe, been supplied with everything that can insure success. The text has been contributed by several eminent American and Foreign authors, who had in view the combination of instruction and amusement; in consequence they have happily succeeded. The numerous engravings have been selected with great care, and were drawn by the most prominent artists of the day.

Special care has been given to the printing and paper, and the rich cover has been furnished with, we think, help to make this book the success it has labored to make it.

The publisher, who has been foremost, for the last twenty years, in selecting together the finest books for the library from all parts of the world, made it a special study, for the last five or six years, in improving and raising the standard of juvenile books in this country, and believes he has to some extent succeeded. The acceptance or rejection of this effort will decide its future continuance.

original French, it being the first of a series of carefully selected French novels, suitable for school purposes as well as popular reading. The series will be published under the name of "Romans Choisis," and at a uniform price of 60 cents.

SIX NUMBERS OF THE ALREADY POPULAR

"THÉÂTRE CONTEMPORAIN"

published, and this instructive series of French comedies will be continued monthly by Eugène Scribe's "Le Verre d'Eau," and "Bertrand et Raton," Octave Feuillet's "La Vieillesse," Jules Sandeau's "Le Gendre de M. Poirier," A. Theuriot's "La Vieille Maison," "Les Bourgeois," Dumas' "Deux Femmes de St. Cyr," and others, each at 25 cents.

IN PRESS :

A beautiful romance of "L'Abbé Constantin." The second number of "Romans Choisis" will be ready in October.

VETERINARY WORKS.

THE PRACTICE OF EQUINE MEDICINE.

Robertson, principal of the Royal Veterinary College, London. This important work of the foremost of English Veterinarians will be ready in September, and judging from its reception abroad, will prove an exceedingly valuable treatise for the profession. It contains an octavo of over 600 pages, and will be issued at the same price as in London, viz., $6.

OPERATIVE SURGERY.

Fleming, F.R.C.V.S. This work, so often promised and so eagerly looked for by the veterinary profession, will surely be published during the autumn. The greatest care has been lavished upon it by the distinguished author, who has taken several years in its preparation, and no expense has been spared in its publication, upward of 300 woodcuts illustrating the text. The price is not yet fixed, but will probably be about $6.

"ACTINOMYKOSIS."

Fleming, M.R.C.V.S. A treatise on a new infectious disease of men and animals. It is a pamphlet of over 50 pages, and will be the first of a series to be published on veterinary topics, at the uniform price of 25 cents.

THE VETERINARY JOURNAL, and edited by George Fleming in London, may hereafter be obtained at the same price in this country, arrangements having been made by Mr. Jenkins, while in London this year, with the English publishers for that purpose. Subscriptions, per annum, including postage, $5; single numbers, 50 cents.

IMPORTANT REDUCTION OF PRICE.

It is with pleasure that we announce that the price of Prof. Williams' well-known works on "Veterinary Medicine" and "Veterinary Surgery," will, by special arrangement with the distinguished author, be reduced from $10 to $7.50, and new editions will be ready about the first of the year.

For information and catalogues will be furnished on application.

QUEEN VICTORIA:

HER GIRLHOOD AND WOMANHOOD. By GRACE GREENWOOD. One volume, 852 pages. Illustrated, printed, and bound in the most attractive manner. extra, highly decorated, $1.50; gilt edge, $2.

This volume forms the first in our new series for girls and young ladies, entitled "THE GIRLHOOD OF EXEMPLARY WOMEN," by our most popular authors. It is unnecessary to say that Grace Greenwood is one of the most graceful and charming of writers, and in preparing this she resided in London, where she had every facility for obtaining the necessary material for it. The delightful and instructive biography of a woman known throughout the world as a most exemplary and Queen.

It is believed that a large sale awaits this unique book, and the trade will do well to place their orders early.

Monthly Reference Lists

A GUIDE FOR THE READER AND STUDENT TO TRUSTWORTHY SOURCES OF INFOR-MATION ON CURRENT TOPICS.

PREPARED BY WILLIAM E. FOSTER,

Librarian Providence Public Library.

Terms, $1 per year, 10 cents per number.

Sample copies furnished on application.

Address F. LEYPOLDT, Publisher,

31 and 33 Park Row, New York.

"The two volumes, 1881-82, of the Providence Library's Monthly Reference Lists . . . are a welcome addition to the endless variety of indexes. They can be used in connection with any good public or private library."—The Nation, January 18, 1883.

"Most thoroughly and carefully selected, embracing a wide range from the best German authorities to the latest articles in current literature."—New England Journal of Education, April 25, 1881.

"Any teacher with advanced pupils, desirous of training students in habits of investigation, could scarcely do better than supply these lists as texts for composition."—Springfield Daily Republican, April 22, 1881.

" . . . The most noticeable and perhaps the most valuable feature of Mr. Foster's reference lists is the topical subdivision of the main subject. For a student or teacher, the 'structural bibliography' is much more valuable and suggestive than a long list of authorities, which, in some cases, would be hardly better than a catalogue."—HERBERT B. ADAMS, Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, in the N. E. Hist. and Gen. Register, Jan., 1883.

BOOKS FOR THE YOUNG.

A Guide for Parents and Children, compiled by C. M. HEWINS, Librarian of Hartford Library Association. Price in paper, 25 cents.

"Meets most admirably the demand for carefully selected lists, and contains valuable and interesting counsel."—W. E. FOSTER.

"Contains an admirable selection of books for children, and by far the best catalogue of books of this kind that has ever appeared."—S. S. GREEN.

"Miss C. M. Hewins, of Hartford, has long been known to all who are interested in making the public library the ally of the public schools, as one of the most successful of modern librarians of the American school. . . . A book which it is difficult to praise too highly."—Critic.

"Deserves more extended praise than we have space for. It will bring joy to the hearts of hundreds of parents, whose confidence in the compiler's judgment will be assured by her prefatory remarks and directions, and her choice extracts from divers authorities on the true aim and criterion of juvenile literature."—Nation.

"When Mr. Charles Dudley Warner says that 'the young who read at all read nothing but trash,' he does not exaggerate so very much. For them [the parents], as well as for librarians and teachers, the book will serve an excellent purpose, for it is far the best guide that has been printed, and there is nothing in it that is not of excellent and interesting in quality."—Boston Transcript.

"A little manual long needed, and one that will be heartily welcomed by parents who recognize the importance of carefully supervising their children's reading, but are often confused and at a loss on account of the multitude of works for the young now published, of every conceivable degree of merit and demerit. A classified list of good books is given, with indications as to the age and sex to which they are best suited. The list is prefaced by hints as to how children should be taught the right use of books, a note on good reading in English and American history for children, and a 'symposium' on children's books, containing interesting extracts from many sources. Miss Hewins has charge of the department 'Literature for the Young' in the Library Journal, is librarian of the Hartford Library, and may safely be accepted as an authority and guide by parents and buyers of children's books."—Good Literature, edited by ty-two page Monthly Journal, with the Bookseller's own firm-name prominently printed on the front page.]

literary paper is one of the features of the day, and while directly benefiting the cause of literature, as directly benefits the book trade by creating a demand for the books it Every bookseller should, through such mediums, endeavor to keep his customers thor-osted on the literature of the day. But without taking into account the time and labor ex-and the painstaking discrimination necessary for the compilation of a reliable literary the cost entailed by such a publication necessarily deters booksellers from, themselves, and issuing such a medium.

LITERARY NEWS, however, based on an experience of over thirteen years' continuous issue, acknowledged authority on current books and reading, and the plan upon which it is issued, booksellers to circulate it among their customers under their own imprint, virtually the recognized organ of each bookseller distributing it, and turns a direct trade in books own hands.

etter time than the present can be found for the adoption of the LITERARY NEWS by live ers as a personal medium. Especial attention is therefore invited to it, in the hope that ers who are not now using it will test its efficiency by ordering an imprint edition for and winter months.

book-notices of the LITERARY NEWS are always selected from leading papers, and are have weight with readers, while the other features of the paper make it a welcome visitor in every home, and establish pleasant and direct relations between booksellers buyers.

The Publishers' Weekly

THE AMERICAN BOOK-TRADE JOURNAL

F. LEYPOLDT, Editor.

The PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, established in 1872, with which was incorporated the Literary Gazette and Publishers' Circular (established in 1852), by purchase from Childs, is recognized as the independent representative of the publishing and book trade in the United States.

The central feature of the paper, that makes it an indispensable aid to the trade and to literary people, is its Bibliographical Department. Every possible facility is afforded by a combination of methods which records the books, by the week, by season, and the year, under the author, the publisher, the title, the subject, and the acknowledged that no other journal, at home or abroad, supplies as practical a record of the publications of its country.

The bibliographical department includes :

1. A "Weekly Record" of all new American publications and reprints, giving their full titles (according to the American Library Association), with place and date of publication, publisher's name, size, number of pages, and also descriptive notes of books received. This first and practically the official record is arranged alphabetically by authors or titles, and for ready reference is placed in the same accessible position in each number.
2. A weekly "Order List," being brief-title entries, with prices, of the "Weekly Record," arranged by the publishers. The object of this list is to present at a glance the simultaneous issues of certain books, save time in the making up of orders.
3. A monthly "Index to the Weekly Record," being short-title entries, with the publisher's name, price, arranged alphabetically by the authors, with references from the titles or catchwords, and arranged by the publishers. With each entry is given also the number of the "Weekly Record" containing the full-title entry and the price.
4. A monthly "Class Synopsis," grouping the works of the month under such heads as Biography, Education, Fiction, Fine Arts, History, Law, Literature, Medical Science, Physical and Mathematical Science, and the Drama, Political and Social Science, Theology and Religion, etc.
5. A semi-annual classified list of Forthcoming Publications, given in the Spring and Fall Announcements, in which also the announced books are more fully described under the name of the publishers, arranged by the publishers.
6. An annual Index to the books of the year, advertised by the more prominent publishers in the Summary Number, which generally is published in the last week of January. In this number is also a summary of the more prominent publications of the year.
7. Regular Lists of the Season, published as follows: A complete priced catalogue of Educational Books, a priced list of the Holiday Books and prominent Juvenile Books of the year, in November; a supplementary list of Educational Books, in February; a list of Guide and Summer Books, in May.
8. Quarterly lists of the Publications of the U. S. Government.
9. Semi-monthly lists of the more prominent New English Books.
10. Special Bibliographies. The timely bibliography, now in course of publication, is "Literary Property," a catalogue of books and authors relating to literary property (copyright, international copyright, and literary theft). Thorvald Solberg.

The Literary Department includes comprehensive intelligence as to books and publishing movements, at home and abroad, gathered with the aid of representatives in all literary cities; editorial discussions on book and trade subjects, as copyright, postal questions, production and manufacture, etc.; original contributions and representative editorial topics; topical "cues" or references to bibliographical sources or courses of reading; journalistic notes; business notes; literary and trade notes, etc.

The Advertising Department is by no means a subordinate feature in a journal devoted to books. In the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, indeed, it is so representative of the publishing industry that it becomes an essential supplement to the other departments.

A minor but practical and convenient feature is the "Books Wanted" column, which affords subscribers the privilege of a free insertion of five lines in each issue.

Terms, $3.20 per year, 10 cents per number. Sample copies furnished on application.

GOLDEN FLORAL, FRINGED, first applied by us to book manufacture, and which we claim as our trade-mark and patent.

ALFRED TENNYSON'S

COME INTO THE GARDEN, MAUD.

With Chaste and Appropriate Designs, by Edward H. Garrett.

Golden Floral, Flexible, Fringed, Gilt Edges, $1.75; Cloth, Full Gilt, $1.50.

"Come into the garden, Maud,
For the black bat, night, has flown;
Come into the garden, Maud,
I am here at the gate alone."

RAY PALMER'S

Faith Looks up to Thee.

Appropriate Illustrations Designed by Lisbeth B. Comins.

Cloth, Full Gilt, $1.50; Golden Floral, Flexible, Gilt Edges, $1.75.

"My faith looks up to Thee,
Thou Lamb of Calvary,
Saviour divine!
Now hear me while I pray,
Take all my guilt away;
Oh, let me from this day
Be wholly Thine."

ALFRED DOMETT'S CHRISTMAS HYMN.

IT WAS THE CALM AND SILENT NIGHT.

With Designs by W. L. TAYLOR.

Cloth, Full Gilt, $1.50. Golden Floral, Flexible, $1.75.

"It was the calm and silent night;
Seven hundred years and fifty-three
Had Rome been growing up to might,
And now was queen of land and sea."

LEE AND SHEPARD, Publishers, Boston.

ILLUSTRATED HYMNS, SONGS AND BALLADS

With illustrations by F. T. Merrill and E. H. Garrett. Cloth, Full Gilt, $1.50. Golden Floral, Flexible, $1.75.

"England's sun was slowly setting o'er the hills so far away,
 Filling all the land with beauty at the close of one long day,
 And its last rays kissed the forehead of a man and maiden fair:
 He with step so slow and weary; she with sunny-flowing hair;
 He with bowed head, sad and thoughtful; she with lips so cold and white, Struggling to keep back the murmur, 'Curfew must not ring to-night.'"

 In Golden Floral for the first time.

"THAT GLORIOUS SONG OF OLD"

By EDMUND HAMILTON SEARS.

With full-page illustrations by Alfred Fredericks. 4to. Cloth, $1.50. Golden Floral, Flexible, Gilt Edges, $1.75.

"It came upon the midnight clear,
 That glorious song of old,
 From angels bending near the earth
 To touch their harps of gold."

 In Golden Floral for the first time.

Illustrated Hymns, Songs, and Ballads

Oh, why should the Spirit of Mortal be Proud?

By WILLIAM KNOX.

Illustrated by MISS L. B. HUMPHREY. Elegantly

Golden Floral, Flexible, Fringed, Gilt Edges, $1.75; Cloth, Full Gilt, $1.50.

"Oh, why should the spirit of mortal be proud?
Like a swift-fleeting meteor, a fast-flying cloud,
A flash of the lightning, a break of the wave,
Man passes from life to his rest in the grave."

He Giveth His Beloved Sleep.

By ELIZABETH BARRETT BROWNING.

Illustrated by MISS L. B. HUMPHREY.

Golden Floral, Flexible, Fringed, Gilt Edges, $1.75; Cloth, Full Gilt, $1.50.

"Of all the thoughts of God that are Born inward unto souls afar
Along the Psalmist's music deep,
Now tell me if there any is,
For gift of grace surpassing this:
'He Giveth His Beloved Sleep.'"

ABIDE WITH ME

By HENRY FRANCIS LYTE.

Illustrated by MISS L. B. HUMPHREY.

Golden Floral, Flexible, Fringed, Gilt Edges, $1.75; Cloth, Full Gilt, $1.50.

"Abide with me; fast falls the eventide;
The darkness deepens; Lord, with me abide
When other helpers fail and comforts flee, Help of the helpless, oh, abide with me."

Uniform with the Above. Published in the Cloth, Full Gilt Edition.

HANNAH JANE.

By DAVID ROSS LOCKE (NASBY).

4to. Cloth. $1.50.

"The whole book is delightfully in keeping with the glad, unselfish Christmas-tide, softens the hard, unthinking heart, and making the forgetful considerate, and the careless careful in the midst of precious flowers which, once faded, will never resume their beauty."—Literary World.

THE VAGABONDS

By J. T. TROWBRIDGE. 4to. Cloth. $1.50.

J. T. TROWBRIDGE, known to all readers of the magazines, possesses quick, keen, decided poetic knack. His little volume, "The Vagabonds," illustrated by Darley, is a fine piece of character-sketching.

LEE AND SHEPARD, Publishers, Boston.

ILLUSTRATED BALLAD SERIES.

BALLADS OF HOME.

Edited by GEORGE M. BAKER.

Forty full-page illustrations. Bound in rich gold and colors in novel and elegant style. In neat box, $2.00.

Household poetry is always acceptable, and Mr. Baker has gathered into one of the most attractive gift books of the season some of the choicest poems adapted for the fireside. The paper upon which the volume is printed is fine, the press-work clear, and the forty full-page illustrations that embellish it are beautifully executed. The binding is elegant, and the publishers may well find that the issuing of the book is creditable to their enterprise and should be found as profitable as it deserves. — New York Sunday Times.

BALLADS OF BRAVERY.

Edited by GEORGE M. BAKER.

Containing a fine selection of heroic verse, with full-page illustrations. An elegant book, filled with valuable contents, among which are "Curst not ring to-night," "The Glove and the Lions," "The Beggar," "Herve Riel," "Othello's Story," "Marmion and Douglass," "Mahad," "Excelsior," "John Maynard," etc. The large square choice type and paper and binding, and the elegant illustrations make it a fitting vehicle for the grand sentiments of the poems the book contains. One every way more desirable in literary and mechanical make than it would be difficult to find. Lee and Shepard have spared no pains in making it one of the best books of the year. — New Covenant. Bound in rich gold and colors, with chaste and beautiful designs, $2.00.

BALLADS OF BEAUTY.

Edited by GEORGE M. BAKER.

The volume contains forty full-page illustrations, nearly all of which are surpassingly charming. The poems have been selected chiefly with reference to their grace and beauty, and are as finished a collection as one seldom meets with. Tennyson, Byron, Tom Moore, Browning, Bryant, and Aldrich are among the poets from whose writings the pieces have been garnered, and the book is a fragrant and beautiful tribute to youth and love. — Hartford Post.

Bound in rich gold and colors, gilt edges. Price, $2.00, in neat box.

Young Folks' Robinson Crusoe

Edited by OLIVER OPTIC.

Illustrated - - - - Price, 50 Cents.

... It occurred to the writer of the following the fascination of Defoe's hero might be enlisted on the side of industry, perseverance, resignation to God, and numerous other good qualities of which he was supposed to be an example. With this view Young Folks' Robinson Crusoe is here represented as a well-educated youth, trained to habits of observation, reflection, and capable of pure and exalted feeling, — a hero, in short, whom children may safely admire, yet not faultless, or they could not sympathize with him. — Preface.

FORE AND AFT.

A Personal Narrative of Sea Experiences, by ROBERT B. DIXON

16mo. Cloth. 320 Pages. Price, $1.25.

This is a book which, like the famous "Two Years Before the Mast," interests young and old and is decidedly pleasant reading to a sea-lover. It has the air of vraisemblance, and holds one's attention by the fascination of real struggles with storms and fire and mutiny, and all the perils and marvels of the changing sea. The style is bluff and simple, and although not specially designed for young people, the book will find a place in every boy's heart.

Will Publish October 4th:

The Middle Kingdom.

A Survey of the Geography, Government, Literature, Social Life, Arts and History of the Chinese Empire and its Inhabitants. With Illustrations and a new Map of the Empire. By S. WELLS WILLIAMS, LL.D. 2 vols., 8vo, $9.

Dr. S. Wells Williams' "Middle Kingdom" has long occupied the position of a standard work on the subject, and is not only the fullest and most authoritative account of the Chinese and their country, but it is also the most readable and entertaining. This new issue is practically a new work. The text of the old edition has been largely rewritten, and the work has been expanded to include a large amount of new material collected by Dr. Williams during his long residence in China, as well as the most recent information respecting all the departments of the Chinese Empire. Many new illustrations have been added, and the best of the old engravings have been retained. An important feature of the edition is a large map of the Chinese Empire, compiled from the best modern authorities, more complete and accurate than any map of the country ever published.

The wonderful advance in the arts of civilization and intellectual development in China during the thirty-five years since this book was first written, and especially the changes in its foreign relations have been established, and the events that are even now occurring in this connection, render the publication of this revised edition unusually important.

The Doctrine of Sacred Scriptures.

A Critical, Historical, and Dogmatic Inquiry into the Origin and Nature of the Old and New Testaments. By Professor GEORGE T. LADD, D.D. 2 vols., 8vo, $7.

Ever since it was known that Professor Ladd was engaged upon this work, the public interest has been frequent and unmistakable. Apart from the fact that there is no book in the English language that treats in a thorough and satisfactory manner the subject of the doctrine of sacred scriptures, in two volumes, and none in existence that approaches them in magnitude and scope, the fact that at the present day in all that relates to the origin and nature of the Sacred Scriptures, renders the publication of this work—which discusses the whole question in all its bearings with reference to the latest and most dominant modes of thought—especially inopportune.

The Rise of the Huguenots in France.

By Prof. HENRY M. BAIRD. Two vols., 8vo, cloth, with Maps. A new edition. Price $3.50.

There is no need to speak of the scholarship of the work. Its narrative is based on a study, not only of the great array of original histories and memoirs which have long been in their way into print, but of which many are rare or little known; but also of the voluminous material, in the form of diplomatic and private correspondence, journals, etc., which recently become accessible to the historical student. It is as exhaustive as it is able, and its opinion will welcome it as an addition to the worthiest rank of American historical literature.

NOTES IN SEASON.

HEATH, & Co. have just published Merchant of Venice," in their Reading for Schools; "Surveying and Naviga-G. A. Wentworth; also an edition of with the author's "Plane and Spherionometry," bound together in one vol-

R. OSGOOD & Co. have just ready "A Reason," by W. D. Howells, which is uniform with his former works; "The and Politics, or, The Construction of and the Significance and Relation of Forms," by Dr. G. W. Hosmer, a most and interesting contribution to the of history and government; also a new of "Dr. Grimshawe's Secret," with a by Nathaniel Hawthorne, and a frontispiece and vignette, bound uniform with the new library edition of Hawthorne's works just published.

CUPPLES, UPHAM & Co. have just ready a new novel entitled "The Love of a Lifetime," by Carroll Winchester, author of "From Madge to Margaret." They have also ready an edition bound in white vellum cloth of the sumptuous "Catalogue of the Art Department of the New England Exposition." This catalogue has been prepared at a large outlay, and forms a very creditable addition to the art-literature of this country. The publishers are preparing an édition de luxe of this work, which will be limited to 50 copies. The illustrations will be printed on the finest Japanese paper.

D. LOTHROP & Co. have now ready their new annual "Our Little Men and Women," the first bound volume of the magazine complete for 1883, and which contains 74 full-page illustrations, and numerous bright and attractive stories for the youngest readers. They have also just ready the bound volume of "Pansy" for 1883;
 "Self-Giving," by Rev. W. F. Bambridge, an interesting story of Christian missions in different parts of the world; and "Donal Grant," George MacDonald's latest novel and a work of genuine power that holds the attention of the reader from beginning to end.

PETER PAUL & BRO., Buffalo, will publish November 10, "Poems and Translations from the Swedish," by Frederick Peterson, M.D.
 Part of these poems have been read to H. W.
 Longfellow, Prof. Anderson and, others, and pronounced to be some of the most clever things in verse-making and translation. The Messrs.
 Paul & Bro. also announce that they are now supplying, by arrangement with the Catholic Publication Company of Buffalo, Father Lambert's "Notes on Ingersoll," of which 25,000 copies have already been sold; also Bishop S.
 V. Ryan's work on "Apostolic Succession."

WM. WOOD & Co. have recently published a new volume in their Library of Standard Medical Authors on "The Treatment of Wounds: Its Principles and Practice, General and Special," by Dr. Lewis S. Pilcher; "A Text-book on Physics," a short and complete course based upon the larger work of Ganot, for the use of academies, high schools, etc., by Henry Kiddle, late Superintendent of Schools, N. Y. City; and a new revised and enlarged edition of an "Elementary Treatise on Physics—Experimental and Applied," for the use of colleges and schools, translated and edited from Ganot's
 "Éléments de Physique," by E. Atkinson.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. will publish next week "The Voyage of the Jeannette," which is one of the most thrilling stories of Arctic adventure ever related; "Albert Gallatin," the ninth volume in the American Statesmen series, by John Austin Stevens, of New York, lately editor of the Magazine of American History; a small book on a large subject, "Man a Creative First Cause," being two lectures delivered by Rowland G. Hazard at the Concord School of Philosophy in 1882; "English Traits" and
 "The Conduct of Life," forming the fifth and sixth volumes of the new Riverside edition of Emerson's Works; and a volume of "Sketches and Studies," by Hawthorne, comprising various pieces not included in the Little Classic edition of Hawthorne. This edition will now be retailed at $1 a volume instead of $1.25 as heretofore.

lation of the problem of good and evil, and reconciliation of optimism and pessimism. Y., Appleton, 1883. 20+488 p. D. cl., $2. This work is divided into six parts. The first part: "The problem in history and literature," has chapters on ancient notions of antagonism and of the evils of life, modern notions of physical and moral discord, pessimism, optimism the problem stated. Part 2. "Considerations from science," discusses existence, the unit of physical existence, primary forces, chemistry and physics, conflict in the physical forces, antagonism in the sphere of mind, conflict in the moral forces, antagonism in the sphere of mind, conflict in the moral forces. Part 3. "Historical brevities illustrating conflict," has chapters on general history, Grecian, Roman, and early English history, the feudal system, the Papal system under contact with other systems, Papal supremacy, etc. Part 4 is devoted to a consideration of antagonism as a factor of evolution. Part 5. "Evil in relation to the necessary conditions of life" is considered under the following headings: Paradoxes of feeling antagonism to function, man's environment, the future of the physical environment, origin and conflict of natural laws. "The outlook—social and moral" discusses antagonisms, conditions, prospects of the common working people, the force of the relative prolificacy of classes of society, the force of the relation, the religious consolations, pleasure and pain, etc.

Connecticut reports: being reports of cases used and determined in the Supreme Court of Errors of the State of Connecticut. V. 49. N. term, 1881—Jan. term, 1882, by J. Hooker. N. Y., published for the State of Connecticut, by Banks & Bros., 1883. 638 p. O. cl., $5.

John Esten. Virginia: a history of the people. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1883. 23+523 p. maps, S. (American Commonwealths, ed. by Horace E. Scudder.) cl., $5.

This work, by the well-known author of the "Life of General Jackson" and "Henry St. John, Gentleman," is introduced to the reading public, which will be in a popular style, but with historical accuracy, the work of such states as have exerted any marked influence in the shaping of the national government, or have illustrated a noteworthy degree any peculiar political principle in size and general style with "American Union" and "American men of letters." Of this work the Atlantic Monthly writes: "It is easy to see that he has written out of a love as well as a knowledge of his subject. Everywhere there are touches impossible to not native to the soil. . . . The vitality, however, of the work, lies in the application of imagination to historical events."

Er, Theodore L., D.D. Wayside springs the fountain of life. N. Y., American Book Soc., [1883]. 160 p. T. cl., 50 c.; same, paper, 75 c. Additional readings.

Er, Adolphe. Cumulative method for teaching German, adapted to schools or home instruction. N. Y., Appleton, 1883. 253 p. O. cl., $1.50.

Er's method is based upon the fact that the fairly educated use on an average not more than a hundred words in their ordinary conversations. Carefully selected 700 words with the necessary adjectives and particles, which enter the common affairs of every-day life, and has woven them into a series of lessons, in such a way as to hold the interest in the steady advancement of the pupil. These lessons are repeated from 12 to 30 times, first in sentences, then in paragraphs, and finally in letters, stories, etc. He has his system economy of time and application, and one must concede in carefully examining it.

Er, M. Betham. Pearla; or, the world's island: a novel. N. Y., Harper, 1883. 45 p. Q. (Harper's Franklin sq. lib., 4.) pap., 20 c.

Er, French and German socialism in recent times. N. Y., Harper, 1883. 8+274 p. cl., 75 c.

Er's partial and popular presentation of modern communism and socialism in Germany and France. Discusses the nature of the various socialist systems and leaders—their methods, and history. The chapter headings quote afford an idea of the scope of the little work: French revolution and the laboring classes; Babeuf; Saint-Simon; Fourier; Louis Blanc;

Proudhon; Socialism in France since Proudhon; Rodbertus; Karl Marx; The International Workingmen's Association; Ferdinand Lasalle; The ideal of social democracy; Social democracy since the death of Lasalle; Socialism of the chair; Christian socialism.

Emerson, Ralph Waldo. Nature, addresses and lectures. New rev. ed. [Riverside ed.] Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1883. 1+372 p. por. D. cl., $1.75.

The first volume of a new edition (11 v.), printed from new electrotype plates, of Emerson's complete works, to be known as the Riverside ed. Will contain, in addition to the prose and poetical writings hitherto published in book-form, two new volumes of essays, lectures, and speeches, prepared for publication by Mr. Emerson's literary executor, Mr. J. Eliot Cabot. Two new portraits of Emerson will embellish the volumes, one an etching by Schoff from an early portrait taken in England, and a steel engraving by Wilcox. This volume contains Schoff's portrait, and was heretofore known under the title of "Miscellanies."

Emerson, Ralph Waldo. Essays: first series. New rev. ed. [Riverside ed.] Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1883. 343 p. D. cl., $1.75. See note under preceding title.

Etter, Rev. J. W. The preacher and his sermon: a treatise on homiletics. Dayton, O., United Brethren Pub. House, 1883. 2+581 p. O. cl., $2.25.

In this volume on homiletics, the author has given special attention to recent demands of the pulpit, such as preaching to children, revival sermons, out-door sermons, funeral sermons, illustrated sermons, lay preaching and Bible-readings, some of which subjects have heretofore received only a passing notice, while others have been entirely forgotten by homiletical writers. New methods of preaching will also be found suggested. Designed chiefly for a text-book in the class-room, for junior preachers and active pastors. Sunday-school superintendents, teachers and class-readers, may obtain information and suggestions from it. Full index.

Gréville, Henry [pseud. for Mme. Alice Durand]. Guy's marriage; or, the shadow of a sin; tr. by Mary Neal Sherwood. Phil., T. B. Peterson & Bros., [1883]. 17-258 p. sq. S. cl., $1; pap., 75 c.

The subject of this novel is the duty of a wife to a neglectful and recreant husband. The scene and characters are from French fashionable life. The wife has not been long married before she discovers her husband's intellectual and moral inferiority to herself; she hides the first from the world most successfully by becoming the writer of his speeches, letters, etc., and the second she bears heroically though assailed by many temptations.

*Haldane, Rob. Workshop receipts for the use of manufacturers, mechanics, and scientific amateurs. 2d ser., devoted mainly to subjects connected with chemistry. N. Y., E. & F. N. Spon, 1883. 450 p. cr. 8°. cl., $2.

Harlan, Caleb, M.D. The fate of Marcel. Phil., J. B. Lippincott & Co., 1883. 262 p. D. cl., $1.25.

A romantic story of the old-fashioned type, by the author of "Elfiara of the Susquehanna."

Harte, Bret. In the Carquinez woods. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1884 [1883]. 241 p. T. cl., $1.

One of the giant primeval forests of California is the scene of this sketch. Bret Harte works out in it again a favorite line of thought—that the noblest qualities are not incompatible with the commission of great crimes and a rigid regard for the conventionalities often covers a depraved heart. The characters are a half-breed, who lives in the hollow of one of the great trees, a Spanish woman, who has stabbed her lover, a minister and his daughter (both sham), the sheriff of the county, and the agent of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express. Some fine word-painting of the forest's various aspects, and a vivid description of the woods on fire and the final tragedy, will delight the many admirers of this gifted author.

Hoppin, Ja. M. Homiletics. [New issue]. N. Y., Funk & Wagnalls, [1883]. 38+809 p. O. cl., $1.50.

A reissue of the enlarged and revised edition of 1887, then published by Dodd, Mead & Co. See note in P. W., "Weekly Record," Jan. 28, '88. [524] Howells, W. D. A woman's reason: a novel. Bost., James R. Osgood & Co., 1883. 4+466 p. D. cl., $1.50.

The problem of how a woman reduced from wealth to poverty shall earn a living for herself is the leading motive of this novel, which has been exciting much attention lately in its course through the Century Magazine. The heroine is a Boston girl of to-day, the daughter of a merchant who dies insolvent. She has a lover in the navy, whose ship is supposed to be lost, and who is the hero of a vividly described shipwreck, and who lives for a time on a desolate island in the Pacific Ocean. The young girl, forced to face the world, enters into the contest full of hope and courage, relying upon her many accomplishments to get her through. In a series of chapters that are full of valuable lessons to the superficial woman who would compete with trained labor, Mr. Howells paints his heroine's discomfitures. She paints vases and plaques, writes reviews and opens a millinery establishment, failing at each in succession in a hopeless way. She at length succeeds in earning a bare living by making bonnets for servant girls; but even this source of revenue is about failing her, when Mr. Howells brings her long-lost lover on the scene again. Written in the author's best manner, and combining both his romantic and realistic style of word painting.

Irving. Henry Irving: a short account of his public life. N. Y., W. S. Gottsberger, 1883. 8+212 p. por. S. pap., 50 c.

Irving's coming visit to our country invests this little volume with a special interest. It does not claim to give any new facts of the great English actor, being simply a clever compilation from English newspapers and criticisms culled from the writings of the most famous dramatic critics. Still such as it is it supplies a want in a very satisfactory manner, and cannot fail to interest all who look forward to seeing Irving, and who desire to be posted about the facts of his life, the strong points of his favorite characters, the peculiarities of his style of acting, and the personal of his company.

Brief biographical account of the post-nicene Greek fathers from Eusebius to John of Damascus, with descriptions of their principal writings and extracts from, and lists of their important works now extant. Opens with a chronological table, and chapters on the Alexandrian and the Antiochian schools, and symbols of the first four councils.

James, H. Daisy Miller: a comedy in three acts. Bost., James R. Osgood & Co., 1883. 189 p. D. cl., $1.50.

Mr. James's famous study of the American girl is here remodelled into a play; several new characters are introduced and the ending is changed, "Daisy" being married to Winterbourne in place of dying with the Roman fever, as in the book.

Keese, W. L. John Keese, wit and littérateur: a biographical memoir. N. Y., Appleton, 1883. 96 p. por. O. cl., $1.50.

The subject of this memoir, a native of N. Y. City, was born 1805, and died 1856. He was well known as bookseller, auctioneer and editor, as a writer of sketches, and as a man of brilliant wit and many social qualities. This sketch written by his son is interesting on account of the many amusing which Mr. Keese is the subject, but for the glances of the literary figures of a past generation, and recences of the early days of the book trade and Oliphant, Mrs. M. O. W. [Richard Brinsley Butler] Sheridan. N. Y., Harper, 1883. 8+199 p. D. (English men of letters.) cl., 75 c.

The author of "The school for scandal" and "The rivals," two comedies which still hold their own among the most brilliant efforts in the English language, finds in Mrs. Oliphant a conscientious and careful biographer. The critics have accused her, and perhaps not unjustly, of a lack of sympathy with this versatile genius, and of an unnecessary harshness toward his faults. Still she has given an unprejudiced, if not a partial account of the facts of his life and his great successes as a dramatist, orator and statesman. Her book cannot help being most interesting reading, if only on account of its subject—one of the wittiest and most reckless men of his day (b. in Dublin 1751, d. 1816.)

Parker, Jos., D.D. The inner life of Christ as revealed in the gospel of Matthew. V. 2: Servant of all. N. Y., Funk & Wagnalls, 1883. 8-3+376 p. O. cl., $1.50.

Consists of 38 chapters, each opening with a prayer and having following a section of the gospel of Matthew and an earnest exposition of the text. These sermons offer to both laymen and ministers new suggestions and light upon Christ's inner life, being full of practical truths, expressed in an original manner, and illustrated with many facts, fancies and incidents. The author is a celebrated London preacher, and the writer of two famous popular theological works, "Ecce Deus" and "The Paraclete."

Parker, W. Harwar. Recollections of a naval officer, 1841-1865. N.Y., C. Scribner's Sons, 1883. 16+372 p. D. cl., $1.50.

Captain Parker entered the United States Navy in 1841. He resigned his commission at the outbreak of the war (1861), and served until its close in the Confederate Navy. His recollections embrace the naval operations of the Mexican war, various cruises in the Mediterranean, off the coast of Brazil, on the African coast, etc., with some of the most prominent events of the civil war, such as the battle of Elizabeth City and of Hampton Roads, the fight of the Merrimac and the Monitor, and the attack by Dupont on Fort Sumter. His style is very graphic and amusing, his narrative embellished with many funny stories and queer experiences. His contribution to the history of the late war is full of value and free from all bitterness of feeling. Author of "Elements of seamanship," "Naval tactics," and other works of a similar character.

Penn, Arthur (pseud.) for J. Brander Matthews.) The home library. N.Y., Appleton, 1883. 154 p. D. (Appleton's Home books, no. 11.) il. cl., 60 c.

Wilson, W. D., D.D. The foundations of religious belief: the methods of natural theology vindicated against modern objections. N. Y., Appleton, 1883. 12+366 p. D. (The Bishop Paddock lectures, 1883.) cl., $1.50.

A series of seven lectures, being the first of the Bishop Paddock lectures on a foundation established by George A. Jarvis, of Brooklyn. After alluding to the discoveries of modern science in undermining old arguments, he indicates the scope of his work in the following passage: "It is therefore my purpose in these lectures rather to show that whatever may have been taken, by the advance in modern science, from the foundation of those old arguments was but hay and stubble and sand that has been replaced by something that is more substantial and enduring—as enduring as eternal truth itself, and that whatever new facts have been discovered in the physical sciences, and whatever new truths may have been reached in metaphysics, only tend to make the argument stronger, and to give to the conclusion more of point and precision as well as greater certainty."

The Publishers' Weekly.

SEPTEMBER 29, 1883.

PUBLISHERS are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of book published should be forwarded, to insure correctness in the final entry.

Our trade are invited to send "Communications" to the editor on any topic of interest to the trade, and as to which interchange of opinion is desirable. Also, matter for "Notes and Queries" gratefully received.

THE TOOLS OF THE SEASON.

THE TRADE LIST ANNUAL and the Fall Announcement number of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY have made their appearance almost simultaneously and in good season. With these tools at hand, every bookseller can prepare for the term with system and dispatch. The Annual represents the publishing enterprise of the past and the present; the Fall Announcement number that of the immediate future, which in the book trade means the season. While the Annual is for general business, and is used all the year round, the Fall Announcement number is the tool of the harvest which he must wield with the hand who wants to "make hay while the sun shines." The wide-awake bookseller will scan the pencil in hand, from beginning to end, and for the first chances by early orders. A question here may be worth a practical test. Customers, when calling, may be shown their alphabetical lines in the well-arranged class lists, and they will be notified by letter of the announcements of new books as are likely to interest them. By giving attention many advance orders may be secured with little trouble. Salesmen who take a hint in their sales should act upon this hint without waiting for instructions.

THE TRADE LIST ANNUAL, with a steady gain every year, is now reaching proportions that will make it necessary to devise new plans for its new get-up, either by breaking it into two volumes, or at least by giving it a more substantial binding. Several improvements have been introduced this year, and for next year even more important ones are under consideration. Only a few publishers of importance are missing this year, and some of these had promised their lists, but failed to supply them in time. They will have cause to regret it, even more than those booksellers who may suffer from the inconvenience. For the chief sufferer, the publisher whose list is absent, the bookseller may show other lists or recommend other books in place of the missing. The latter may lose some individual sales, but the publisher will lose in the aggregate.

INTERNATIONAL COPYRIGHT.

From the London Publishers' Circular.

AN American, writing to the Times from Florence, makes yet another contribution to the wearisome literature of the international copyright question; and, in order that his own standpoint may be made perfectly clear, proclaims himself as an ultra freetrader, having no personal sympathy with the protection of the book business, and no personal interests in the question; but as detesting with all his heart the only form of theft that the laws of the United States do not punish—that of literary property. There are, he holds, but two solutions of the problem possible—the conclusion of a publishers' treaty, permitting the copyrighting of books printed in England, and that of an authors' treaty, putting the English author on precisely the same footing as the American. The first he claims the honor of having exposed in the Times over ten years ago as impracticable; so utterly hopeless that it is sheer waste of time to negotiate in reference to it; and the United States has, he thinks, unfortunately for the country, decided long ago on the protectionist system, and under this system, among other things, a great production of books has arisen, which, as matters now stand, has an immense industrial importance. If a copyright in the interest of publishers were created, not only would, first, the American publication of English books be prevented, which it may be the interest of the English author to require, but, secondly, it would enable American authors to go abroad to have their books printed wherever they could get the work done cheapest, and so destroy entirely the home production of that class of works which offers the greatest chance of profit, and ruin the American publishers. Either of these difficulties must be met by imposing high import duties on books, because the vested interest in book production would for many years control legislation. The second, a purely authorial copyright, would be, he thinks, not obnoxious to any class of Americans, as is indicated by their policy in regard to patent rights. This would be attained by simply abolishing the requisite of nationality in obtaining a copyright, giving the English author every right possessed by the American. The writer does not believe that there are five known authors in America who would not hail such a treaty and modification of the law. Any insistence on coupling publishers' acquired rights with the authors' original ones will, he believes, certainly fail, so long as the United States is a protectionist country; but he feels certain that American authors generally would gladly unite with their English confrères to bring about enactments to abolish all distinctions between the native and the foreign authors. This is the essential, and all that can be hoped for now.

"QUIDA" has evidently no intention of allowing Mr. Romer to "have the last word" over the copyright question, and in another letter to the Times, she replies to his statement that the danger of the admittance of American reprints of English novels into the English market has never been mooted in connection with the copyright question, by offering authority for her remarks. The reference given is to a copy of a letter from Mr. Herbert Spencer, published in the Blue-book of April 5, 1881. From the opinions expressed by Mr. Spencer, she says it will be seen that she had ample grounds for the fear which she expressed of any possible treaty which should enable the American publisher to sell his editions of English novels in Europe. "Ouida" then proceeds to attack her bête-noire, the English adapter of novels for use on the stage: "Nor can I admit that I made any exaggerated claim for English authors when I said that they should accept nothing less than the right to select their publishers in each country; indeed, nothing less would constitute international copyright law at all. I do not ask, as some do, for the exclusive right to send the English edition into America; I do not even believe that this would be desirable, and it would certainly never be conceded by America; but I do ask for the right to sell my writings to an American publisher, with power to punish all such as shall issue unauthorized editions of them. But as I said previously, I never expect to see thus much granted; and it is true that America may retort with correctness that so long as England admits in her own law such shameless theft as that committed by stage adaptations of novels it is somewhat incongruous to call on another country to rectify an analogous but less offensive wrong. The American pirates, at their worst, do me less injury than the English stage-stealers; the former do, at the least, reproduce my text un mutilated and unadded to; the latter take my name and the names of my characters and of my works to carry off their own paltry mediocrity and vulgar caricature. That England denies stage right to novelists is a more gross injustice than even the refusal of America to concede some form of international literary law."*

SPECIFICATIONS FOR BINDING.

From the Library Journal.

AFTER considerable experimenting the following specifications have been found to answer the purpose best.

Binding done in accordance with them is, I think, more durable than any other kind now used, and has moreover the advantages of opening very freely and of costing no more than the ordinary library binding now generally used.

PEORIA, ILL.

F. J. SOLDAN.

SPECIFICATIONS FOR BINDING BOOKS FOR PEORIA PUBLIC LIBRARY.

1. In pulling books apart care should be taken not to injure the backs.

2. Each book must be carefully collated, all single leaves and pictures securely pasted in, and all torn pages should be thoroughly repaired with onion paper.

3. Books from which either title-page, leaves, or pictures are missing must not be bound, except by special instructions.

4. In pasting in leaves or pictures the paste should not be tipped on with the finger, but with the brush on the pasting board, and with a piece of waste paper over the leaf or picture the required distance from the edge to be pasted, so that the paste is deposited evenly in a straight line.

5. After the leaves and pictures have been pasted in, the books should be placed in the press for one night.

* See also PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, Aug. 11, p. 165, and Aug. 18, p. 184.

Sewing.

6. The books are to be sewed on linen tapes of an inch wide, and there should be used for two volumes at least 2 tapes, and if they are thicker than $\frac{1}{2}$ inch 3 tapes; for 8vo and larger volumes 4 or more tapes.

7. In cutting apart there should be left at least $2\frac{1}{2}$ inches of tape on each side of the book. The first and last sections and the waste papers should be overcast with muslin, and each section be sewed "all along" with the best Marshall thread. The beginning of the thread must be carefully secured, and as each thread is terminated it must be securely and neatly joined to another and the ends cut off.

8. The back of the book must not be cut off for whip-stitching, except when the book is worn too much to be sewed in the regular way, and in such case the consent of the librarian must be obtained.

9. Each section should be opened up to the back in order that all leaves be caught in sewing.

10. Each volume should be provided with two waste papers.

Trimming.

11. Not more of the margin of the book should be trimmed off than the rough dirty edge, leaving the book as large as possible. Books with narrow margins should be trimmed on top only, and if the top margin is too narrow it should not be trimmed at all.

12. In glueing, the glue should not be too thick, but very hot, and must be well rubbed in between the sections.

13. The back should be rounded when the glue is cool, but before it is hard.

14. The boards are to be Davey's tar boards, and for 12mo or 8vo volumes which are thinner than 1 inch No 25 should be used; for thicker or larger volumes No. 20 or heavier.

15. The tapes must be passed through slits in the boards, cut the size of the tape from the inside to the outside, and securely glued down on both sides and well hammered.

16. The book should then be pressed with nbs between boards and book.

17. The backs of books should then be washed with thin paste and allowed to stand for a few minutes to permit the glue to soften, then rubbed off carefully and allowed to dry.

18. All books to have loose spring backs.

19. The lining should then be put on the back of books one on and two off, or on larger volumes two on and two off.

Morocco Binding.

20. Books to have from 4 to 5 raised bands according to size.

21. Use for backs and corners genuine morocco of the color ordered; thin skins to be used for small work to avoid clumsiness, and heavier skins for large books. The leather must be carefully pared round the edges so as to leave no raised joints when pasted down.

22. The sides must be covered with the best "Gustav" marble paper, which must be glued to the boards.

23. All books bound in this style to have six headbands, comb marble waste papers, and sprinkled edges. The backs to be finished with extra deep gold, with lines on top and on each side of every band, small ornaments in each band and lettering according to instruction.

24. In gilding, the leather is to be moistened with vinegar, then pencilled with glaire, and when dry rubbed off with a piece of oiled cotton-wool.

Cloth Bindings.

25. The whole book to be covered with silk stained diagonal English cloth fastened with glue. Plain waste papers, calico headbands, open spring back, without raised bands, gilding or lettering.

26. When thoroughly dry, books must be pressed again.

Half Roan Bindings.

27. On work and trimmings same as cloth work, except that the back and corners are not to be covered with cloth, but with straight-grained roan, carefully pared down on the edges and the sides with marble paper. There is to be no gilding on the back except author, title, and class-number.

OBITUARY.

JOHN PAYNE COLLIER, the aged philologist, bibliographer, and commentator on Shakespeare, died in London September 18. His "History of Dramatic Poetry" was published in 1831. The Duke of Devonshire (to whom Mr. Collier became librarian) and others opened their valuable libraries to his researches, and enabled him to compile his "Bibliographical and Critical Catalogue." His last published work was a "Bibliographical Account of Rare Books," in 1865.

MRS. JULIA P. SMITH, the authoress, during an early morning drive near her summer residence at Hartford, Conn., on the 7th inst., was thrown from her carriage and sustained injuries that proved fatal. Mrs. Smith was about 50 years old, and was a remarkably intelligent woman, with an intense love for literature. Among the most popular of her works are: "Widow Goldsmith's Daughter," "Chris and Otho," "The Widower," "The Married Belle," and "Courting and Farming." At the time "The Widow Goldsmith's Daughter" was published it was very popular, and was in great demand. The characters in this work were generally Hartford people.

WILLIAM J. TENNEY, critic for Appletons' publishing house, died in Newark, N. J., Thursday, September 20. He was born at Newport, R. I., and was graduated at Yale College in 1830. He was instructor on a ship in the navy for some years, and afterward he lived at Elizabeth, N. J. He studied law and medicine. Removing to Brooklyn, he became judge of one of the courts. About 30 years ago he became connected with the Appletons. He was an editor of their Cyclopædia, when it was started over 20 years ago, and he continued on it until he was incapacitated for active labor. He was an author of a history of the rebellion, and assisted Jefferson Davis in the preparation of his work, the "Rise and Fall of the Confederacy." He leaves two daughters and three sons.

DUTTON COOK, one of the best known of the English dramatic critics, died in London September 12th, aged 51 years. Mr. Cook did not confine his work to writing about the theatres. He wrote upon the fine arts for various reviews, and is the author of a book called "Art in England." He wrote also several novels, among them "A Prodigal Son," "Paul Foster's Daughter," "The Trials of the Tredgolds," "Sir Felix Foy, Bart.," and "The Banns of Marriage." His books of criticism and theatrical record are: "A Book of the Play; Studies and Illustrations of Histrionic Story, Life, and Character," "Nights at the Play," and "Hours with the Players." His "Nights at the Play" covers the period between 1867 and 1881.

HENRI CONSCIENCE, the most popular Belgian writer, died in Paris, September 9th, aged 71 years. Henri Conscience has produced a variety of interesting sketches, illustrative of Flemish manners, such as "Evening Hours," "The Executioner's Child," "The New Niobe," "The Conscript," "The Poor Gentleman," "Quintin Metzys," "Pages from the Book of Nature," "Jacob Van Artevelde," "Blind Rosa," and several other works, which have been translated into English, German, Danish, and Italian. In 1870 he once more gained the prize of literature given every fifth year, by his romance "Bavo en Lieveken," which may be classed among his best works. One of his latest works is "De Kerels van Vladeren," an historical romance, 1871. The following tales by M. Conscience have been published in English: "The Progress of a Painter," "The Good Mother," "The Lion of Flanders; or, the Battle of the Golden Spurs," "The Curse of the Village," "The Happiness of being Rich," "The Miser," "Tales of Old Flanders," "Count Hugo of Craenhove," "Wooden Clara," "Veva; or, the War of the Peasants," "The Conscript," "The Demon of Gold," "The Poor Gentleman," "Ricketicketack," "Blind Rosa," and "The Village Innkeeper."

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

Latine, the Latin journal edited by Prof. Shumway, of the Normal School, Potsdam, N. Y., will hereafter be published by D. Appleton & Co.

Zeitschrift für Keilschriftforschung, a monthly journal whose province will be the investigation of the cuneiform writings, will shortly be started by Otto Schulze in Leipzig. This same firm also publishes the Literatur-Blatt für Orientalische Philologie.

MR. WILLIAM BLACK's forthcoming novel, which is to be published serially in Harper's Magazine, will be entitled "Judith Shakspeare: Her Love Affairs and Other Adventures." Mr. E. A. Abbey will illustrate the story, the scene of which is laid at Stratford-upon-Avon. The first instalment will be published in February.

MISS AMELIA B. EDWARDS, the novelist, is preparing a series of papers on the life and art of Gustave Doré. They will be published in the Art Journal, illustrated by a number of reproductions from hitherto unpublished drawings which for some time have been in Miss Edwards' possession.

The Atlantic Monthly for October, November, and December will be rendered specially noteworthy by articles from Emerson's unpublished manuscripts. The first of these is entitled "Historic Notes of Life and Letters in Massachusetts," and is marked by the most charming qualities of Mr. Emerson's genius. The November article will be upon Dr. Ezra Ripley, and that of the December number on Mary Moody Emerson.

The Century expects to print, during the next year, at least three stories of varying length by Henry James. The first one, "Impressions of a Cousin," is entirely American in subject, the scene being laid in New York or the country near it. The second is longer, and will be called "Lady Barberina." Mr. Robert Grant's new story, "An Average Man," which is to begin in an early number of The Century, is said to present in a fresh and typical way some of the most characteristic phases of New York "society."

American Journalist, edited by R. P. Yorkston, is a monthly to be published regularly after September 15, by the American Journalist Publishing and Printing Co., of St. Louis, Mo. As stated in its prospectus "the task of the Journalist will be to aid the unknown, unseen stars of the press, who scintillate through the editorial and miscellaneous pages of the great newspapers, and whose sparklings give greater luminosity to the central light that controls the editorial pages. They will find in it information concerning the work and whereabouts of each other, and will at all times be welcome to the use of its advertising columns when seeking for a change of location or advance in position."

WILLIAM SWINTON, well known as the war correspondent of the New York Times, and more recently as a writer of school text-books, is about to begin the publication of a weekly, to be called Swinton's Story-Teller, and consisting exclusively of choicest complete tales—from four to six in each issue. He has already enlisted the pens of many of the star story-writers of the United States and England. We think Mr. Swinton right in believing that there is a keenly and widely-felt appetite for first-class short stories, and, if he works up to his ideal, he should achieve a flattering success. A paragraph is going the rounds of the press, in which Rev. Edward Everett Hale, who, it is understood, is to contribute to the first number of the Story-Teller a most amusing and delightful tale, called "Cromwell's Statue," says: "I am glad you are going to make such a weekly. I have been for a long time advising and prophesying the formation of a magazine for stories only." So, also, "Mark Twain" is out in this characteristic utterance: "I am sure the Story-Teller is based upon a sound idea, for the reason that I (who am a prolific source of sound ideas) have wondered, a many a time, why somebody didn't start just that kind of a periodical, and so achieve swift and certain prosperity."

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

PROFESSOR HUXLEY is writing a monograph on Berkeley in the English Men of Letters series.

MR. SWINBURNE'S present work is an essay upon the last portion of "La Légende des Siècles."

MR. ASHMEAD BARTLETT is said to be writing a political fairy tale, which he will call "Malice in Blunderland."

A COMPREHENSIVE biography of Turgeneff, from the pen of a clever German, Herr Zabel, will be published during the holidays.

MR. STOFFORD BROOKE, it is announced, will enlarge his excellent "Primer of English Literature" into a more elaborate history of the subject.

COL. CHARLES C. JONES, of Atlanta, has written a "History of Georgia, from its Settlement to the End of the Revolution," which Houghton, Mifflin & Co. will publish in two volumes.

MR. W. CLARK RUSSELL has ready a new story, which he calls "Little Loo." Mr. Russell's other new story, "Jack's Courtship," will be published serially in Longman's Magazine.

ROBERT DWYER JOYCE, author of the famous poem, "Deirdré," published in the No. 1 series, and "Blair," published a few years since, sailed from Boston, Sept. 1, for home, being a native of Dublin, Ireland.

MR. JOHN S. CLARKE is said to be preparing for publication a little volume descriptive of his sixteen years' experience on the London stage. The book will make mention of many distinguished authors, actors, critics, and artists.

MR. LEWIS MORRIS, author of "Epic of Hades," etc., has written a new volume of poems, entitled "Day and Night," which will soon be published by Kegan Paul, Trench & Co., London.

PROF. A. H. SAYCE has prepared an interesting little book on the striking confirmations of the Bible shown by recent discoveries in Egypt and Babylonia. It will be published in the Ex Paths of Bible Knowledge Library, issued by the Religious Tract Society, London.

P. C. MOZOOMDAR, of Simla, author of "The Faith and Progress of the Brahma Somaj," published last year in Calcutta, is visiting in Boston, the guest of Rev. A. P. Putnam. He has in hand a new work, to be entitled "The Oriental Christ. Of pure Indian blood, he writes and speaks English fluently.

MISS BRADDON has just completed a new novel to be entitled "Phantom Fortune." The London Academy mentions as a note of interest that, of the author's "The Golden Call," though the book trade has been greatly depressed, 30,000 copies were sold during the first week of issue.

MR. AUSTIN DOBSON will publish this fall under the title of "Old World Idylls, and Other Selected Verses," a selection from his "Vignettes in Rhyme" (1873) and "Proverbs in Porcelain" (1877). Within a year Mr. Dobson will also issue a new volume of verse, containing the poems written since 1880. Mr. Dobson is also engaged on a volume of "Selections from Steele," by the request of the Delegates of the Clarendon Press, and, for the Golden Treasury series, a selection from Horace Walpole's letters.

PERSONAL NOTES.

MR. L. N. FOWLER, one of the founders of the well-known publishing firm of Fowler & Wells, has just returned from Europe, where he has been travelling and lecturing for nearly twenty-five years.

CAPT. J. PARKER MARTIN, for many years at the head of the sales department of W. W. Harding, and at one time member of the firm of A. J. Holman & Co., is now engaged with Henry Altemus, Philadelphia, in manufacturing Bibles and photographic albums.

F. KLEMM, who has been for a number of years the business manager of L. Prang & Co. Boston, has been appointed manager of the New York agency of the firm to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Max Griebel. Mr.

Klemm's long experience and natural fitness for the position make him a worthy successor of Mr. Griebel.

MR. G. MERCER ADAM, the well-known Toronto publisher, and favorably known as essayist editor and literary worker, has come to New York and formed a business connection with the John W. Lovell Publishing Co. Before leaving Canada a number of his friends tendered Mr. Adam a complimentary dinner, at which he delivered an address in which he dwelt on the subject of copyright. We hope to make an extract from the address in some future issue.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

THE CONGREGATIONAL PUB. SOCIETY has just published "The Boy Lollards," by Rev. Frederick A. Reed.

ROBERT CARTER & BROS. announce a new volume of sermons by C. H. Spurgeon, entitled "The Present Truth."

MR. MUNGER'S "Freedom of Faith" is meeting with a welcome rarely given to religious books, being already in the sixth edition.

DR. CHAS. H. S. DAVIS has published, through E. Steiger & Co., "A Manual for the Training and Education of the Feeble-Minded, Imbecile, and Idiotic."

T. R. MARVIN & SON, Boston, have just published, in pamphlet form, a "Memorial of the Late Otis Norcross," by Rev. Dr. Cyrus A. Bartol.

R. WORTHINGTON announces that the price of Watts' "Dictionary of Chemistry" has been reduced to the even sum of $100 for the nine volumes.

A NEW edition of Wallace Bruce's illustrated poem "The Hudson," is in press. Mr. Bruce is to deliver a poem at the Newburgh Centennial.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. have in press "The Mate of the Daylight," a book of delightful short stories, by Miss Sarah Orne Jewett, author of "Deephaven," etc.

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. have just ready the first ten volumes of the subscription edition of the Massachusetts Reports; also the eighth edition of Story's "Conflict of Laws."

HARPER & BROS. have in press "Anthony Trollope's Autobiography;" the "Life of Bulwer Lytton," by his son; and "Folk-Lore of Shakespeare," by Rev. T. F. Thistleton Dyer.

THE AMERICAN UNITARIAN ASSOCIATION has just published "Orthodoxy and Heresy in the Christian Church," a series of ten lectures, by the Rev. Dr. E. H. Hall, of Cambridge, Mass.

A BRANCH of the Mercantile Library was opened last week at No. 431 Fifth Avenue. It will be open from 8 A.M. to 10 P.M. There will be two deliveries daily of books from the main office.

ROBERTS BROTHERS have in preparation "Jo's Boys and How they Turned Out," the long-looked-for sequel to "Little Men." It will be issued this year, but may be looked for early in 1884.

E. & F. N. SPON desire our readers to note that the price of the "Municipal and Sanitary Engineers' Hand-books," in their advertisement in the last issue of the WEEKLY, was given erroneously as $3. It should read $5.

AIKIN, LAMBERT & Co., with characteristic enterprise, come to the front with a line of new goods suitable for the fall and holiday trade. Their assortment of pencil-goods in solid gold, silver, etc., is unusually attractive.

FIVE editions of Mr. Bosworth Smith's "Life of Lord Lawrence," published early this year by Charles Scribner's Sons, have already appeared, and a sixth—a popular edition in one volume—is on the way to publication.

THE great event of the German literary year will be the beginning of the issue of the complete works of Luther by the government. The first volume will appear shortly. It will be completed in ten or twelve years, at the rate of three volumes a year.

CASELL & Co. have in preparation in their subscription department a new novel entitled "America Shamed by an American," which it is alleged will do as much toward the extinction of Mormonism as "Uncle Tom's Cabin" did toward the extinction of slavery.

TAINTOR BROTHERS, MERRILL & Co. will issue shortly "Mexico and the Mexicans," by Mr. Howard Conkling, a grandson of Alfred Conkling, one of our ministers to Mexico. It is a record of travel in Mexico during the winter and spring of 1883. The work will be handsomely illustrated.

J. W. BURKE & Co., Macon, Ga., inform us that owing to an error in their copy the price per hundred of the word edition of Haygood and McIntosh's "Prayer and Praise" (as advertised in the PUBLISHER'S WEEKLY, August 25), was given incorrectly as $15. It should read $20 per hundred.

THE NEW YORK NEWS Co. are agents for a practical contrivance for carrying a lead-pencil or stylographic pen. It is called the "Webster Patent Pencil-Holder," and may be fastened to any pocket or article of clothing in a second and as quickly detached. It is just the thing for a salesman. Retail price 10 cents.

LEE & SHEPARD will soon issue the long-promised book by Mrs. Mary A. Livermore, entitled "What Shall We Do with Our Daughters?—Superfluous Women, and Other Lectures." Dealing as it does with several of the vexed problems of to-day and all of them of the utmost importance, the work cannot fail to attract the widest attention.

J. S. VIRTUE & Co., London, have in preparation a "Life of the Queen," by Sarah Tytler, edited by Lord Ronald Gower; also an illustrated volume on "Social Life in Egypt," by Mr. Stanley Lane-Poole, which will describe the present condition of Egypt with the full knowledge of one intimately acquainted with all the pressing social questions of Egyptian life.

S. ZICKEL has published a neat impression, in tint, of the national monument recently unveiled in the Niederwald, Germany, to celebrate the deeds of the German armies in 1871, and the re-establishment of the German Empire. The plate has been engraved from a design of the model of Prof. J. Schilling, of Dresden. It is 15 x 20 inches, and retails for 20 cents.

F. W. CHRISTERN announces that he has made arrangements with the authors to have the agency for the sale of "La Parole Française," by L. Sauveur and A. N. Van Daell, and "Das Deutsche Buch der Sauveur Schule," by Prof.

A. N. Van Daell. The former work gives particular attention to pronunciation, and aims also to familiarize pupils with French conjugation. It is followed by 22 pages of exercises, which can be used also with the "Petites Causeries."

S. E. CASSINO & Co. have in preparation a work on "Sea-Sickness," by W. H. Hudson, who describes its cause, nature, and prevention. It is said to be a scientific and practical solution of this problem—in fact, altogether a new revelation from one who speaks with authority and leaves no mystery unexplained concerning seasickness and its proper control, by which prevention is secured without the aid of medicines or change of diet. The style is conversational and unique, combining the pleasing features of a story with abundant and stubborn facts.

SWINTON, BARNES & SWINTON, the new firm noticed elsewhere, announce as their first venture a series of books, to be issued under the general title of Swinton's Boys' and Girls' Library, which will comprise cheap and neat editions of all the great juvenile classics. They have in preparation a work entitled, "Swinton's Information for the People," which will emulate the famous series of the Chambers Brothers, in giving reading on science and history and cognate subjects, in a form sure to reach the multitude of American readers.

THE MESSRS. RIVINGTONS, of London, are to publish what promises to be an interesting and valuable series of books under the general title, "Highways of History." Mrs. Louise Creighton, whose various essays on English historical subjects are well known, is to edit the volumes which are to be prepared by various writers. Monographs on "The Government of England," "The Connection between England and Scotland," "The English in Ireland," "The Social History of England," and "The Growth of the Colonies in Great Britain," are among those already arranged for publication.

BAKER, VOORHIS & Co. have nearly ready "The Law of the Federal Judiciary," a treatise on the provisions of the Constitution, the laws of Congress, and the decisions of the United States courts relating to the jurisdiction of and practice and pleading in Federal courts, by Samuel T. Spear, author of the "Law of Extradition," the "Constitutionality of the Legal Tender Acts," etc. The publishers believe that "no other work on the subject so fully and satisfactorily covers every part of the broad field of Federal jurisprudence. The subject of 'Removal of Causes' alone covers 150 pages, and is by far the most extensive and exhaustive presentation of this important branch of Federal law and practice." The work will be in one large octavo volume of over 900 pages, and will be sold at $6.50, net.

JANSEN, MCCLURG & Co., Chicago, have in press a volume by the Hon. George W. Julian, entitled "Political Recollections, 1840 to 1872." The author is widely known throughout this country, he having been during most of this period named a conspicuous figure in American politics. One of the earliest and most uncompromising of the anti-slavery leaders, the candidate for Vice-President upon the Free-Soil ticket in 1852, one of the founders of the Republican party in 1856, and afterward one of its most prominent and trusted leaders, a Member of Congress during the exciting period preceding and including the war, and during that great struggle one of President Lincoln's intimate advisers and a member of the Famous Congressional Committee on the Conduct of the War—he is well able, from such a career, to make of his recollections a most interesting and thrilling narrative.

MACMILLAN & Co. will commemorate Matthew Arnold's approaching visit to this country in a very pleasing manner, viz., by a new and uniform edition of his prose writings in seven volumes. These will embrace "Essays in Criticism," "Study of Celtic Literature, on Translating Homer," "Culture and Anarchy, Friendship's Garland," "Mixed Essays, Irish Essays," "Literature and Dogma," "God and the Bible," "St. Paul and Protestantism, Last Essays." The style will be elegant and companionable with the Everley edition of Kingsley. It should be added that this edition is manufactured expressly for the American market, and is the first and only uniform edition. We hope that the success of it will warrant its completion with a volume (or volumes) of Mr. Arnold's poems, which have a steady appreciation in this country. The same publishers have in preparation a new edition of Mr. Henry James's "French Poets and Novelists," which has been for some time out of print.

D. APPLETON & Co. will issue shortly an edition of "Cobbett's English Grammar," edited by Alfred Ayres, author of "The Verbalist." Cobbett's Grammar is known to be the one book on English grammar that is amusing and readable, while at the same time it is remarkable for the clearness with which it discusses the questions that perplex all students of English composition. They have also in preparation the "Sonnets of John Milton," edited by Mark Pattison, which will be added to the Penguin Library; and an American edition of Mr. William Archer's little book, "Henry Irving, Actor and Manager." "Mr. Archer," says the N. Y. Times, "gives us a critical study of Mr. Irving as an actor and an interesting account of his career as a manager. The first chapters of his book are devoted to a dissertation upon modern dramatic criticism and the difficulties that beset the critic of acting, expressing the views with which, from Mr. Archer's other books, we are already familiar. This he follows by an interesting chapter on Mr. Irving's Lyceum Theatre 'as an element in the social life of London.'"

BUSINESS NOTES.

BOSTON, MASS.—John L. Hammett has failed. His liabilities are reported by Bradstreet to be about $31,625, of which $7950 is secured by mortgage on real estate. The unencumbered assets consist of: Stock in the store, $1200; accounts due, $360; note against W. T. Wylie, of New York, $2000; claim against A. J. Warren $3658; cash, $83.

DES MOINES, IOWA.—The copartnership existing heretofore between F. M. Mills and L. B. Abdill, under the firm-name of Mills & Abdill, has been dissolved by mutual consent. L. B. Abdill, having purchased the entire interest of F. M. Mills, will continue the business, collecting all accounts, and paying all debts of the firm.

NEW YORK CITY.—Albert Burraton, of 22 Sixth Ave., will open about October 1 a branch store at 645 Sixth Ave.

NEW YORK CITY.—Howard Challen, of Philadelphia, has resumed the publishing business at 744 Broadway, New York.

NEW YORK CITY.—Townsend MacCoun, of Chicago, has removed to 744 Broadway, cor. Astor Place, where he will continue the publication of standard and popular books.

NEW YORK CITY.—T. V. Kraft, who had charge of the order department of the late Willy Wallach for four years, and G. Hussenetter, who assisted him in that department, have entered into the jobbing and manufacturing stationery business at 140 Chambers Street, under the firm-name of T. V. Kraft & Co. Both of these gentlemen were in the employ of the late Willy Wallach for twelve years and have been until recently connected with the old house.

NEW YORK CITY.—Swinton, Barnes & Swinton is the style of a new firm which has recently joined the ranks of the book trade. It consists of Mr. Wm. Swinton, the well-known journalist and author, Mr. Gaybert Barnes, favorably known through his connection with Harper & Bros., and Mr. Wm. Swinton, Jr., for many years with Ivison, Blakeman, Taylor & Co. The firm, which establishes itself at 20 Lafayette Place, will devote itself to the general publishing business and will no doubt receive from the brethren in the trade the right hand of fellowship as cordially as it is welcomed by us.

PAOLA, KAN.—J. E. Wallace, bookseller and stationer, has admitted George Hall into partnership. The new firm will do business under the style of Wallace & Hall.

PHILADELPHIA, PA.—The partnership between Henkels & Tripple has been dissolved, Robert A. Tripple retiring. The business will be continued under the firm-name of Stan. V. Henkels & Co., at 1117 Chestnut Street.

Published September 28th:

THE GREAT HOLIDAY BOOK OF 1883:

AN ENTIRELY NEW EDITION OF ALFRED TENNYSON'S

THE PRINCESS.

With 120 new and beautiful illustrations on wood. An elegant octavo volume of nearly 230 pages, beautifully bound, with full gilt edges, in box. In cloth, $6; in tree calf or antique morocco, $10; in calf or morocco, inlaid mosaic patterns, $12.50. A few copies in crushed levant, with silk linings, $25.

"The Princess" is probably the most famous of the longer works of the poet-laureate of England, and abounds in the most picturesque and attractive scenes and subjects for illustration. The best American artists have drawn these illustrations, con amore, producing a great number of choice examples of the high perfection which wood-engraving has reached in the New World. The general supervision of the work has devolved upon Mr. A. V. S. Anthony, who held the same relation to the recent magnificent editions of "Lucile" and "The Lady of the Lake;" thus insuring for these illustrations the utmost accuracy in study, taste, and composition, and elegance in finish.

An eminent poet and critic, Richard H. Stoddard, in reference to this edition, speaks of "The Princess" as "That sweetest and purest of all modern epics, Tennyson's 'Princess.' It is the truest and noblest poem of which womanhood is the theme in any language." The publishers believe that in this form, and with this elegance of finish, the work will be widely welcomed on its merits as a fine-art edition, and become

The Leading Holiday Gift-Book of the Year.

A WOMAN OF HONOR.

by H. C. BUNNER. 1 volume, 16mo, $1 25

A very piquant novel of American society, full of new and interesting situations, and bearing evidence of a close study of life in New York. Mr. Bunner's long connection with Puck and the Century Magazine have made him well known, and the New York Mail and Express, Boston Globe, Springfield Republican, and other papers have lately printed pleasant anticipatory notices about the new novel.

The Grocery Man and Peck's Bad Boy.

By GEO. W. PECK,

Editor of "Peck's Sun," Author of "Fun," "Sunshine," "Peck's Bad Boy and His Pa," etc., etc.

Illustrated with Fifteen Full-Page Humorous Illustrations,

By LOUIS F. BRAUNHOLD.

Being the Second Series of "PECK'S BAD BOY AND HIS PA."

Price in Cloth, $1; in Paper, 50 cents.

Everybody has read the story of "Peck's Bad Boy," and his much-persecuted "Pa," and everybody remembers the Grocery Man, the confidant of the Bad Boy's sorrows, and the victim of the Bad Boy's pranks.

In THE GROCERY MAN AND PECK'S BAD BOY the career of the youthful imp of mischief is still further related, his various exploits are described, and the long suffering of the wretched Grocery Man is depicted in a manner to excite the sympathy and compassion of the civilized world.

IF you want to SMILE—

WILL PUBLISH NEXT WEEK:

THE VOYAGE OF THE JEANNETTE.

The Ship and Ice Journals of Lieutenant-Commander George W. De Long, U.S.N. Edited by his wife, EMMA DE LONG. In two octavo volumes. With numerous full-page and text illustrations, including a steel portrait of Lieutenant-Commander De Long; a colored frontispiece picture of the tomb on the Lena Delta, from a sketch made on the spot by an English artist; ten full-page illustrations by Mr. M. J. Burns, a marine artist, who by his observations during an Arctic expedition, is able to depict with peculiar force and fidelity the scenes and experiences described; numerous half-page cuts and tail-pieces made from sketches by R. L. Newcomb, the naturalist of the party; six large maps, which show every important detail of the routes traversed; and fac-simile reproductions of the last two pages of Captain De Long's journal. Every illustration is entirely new and made specially for this work. Price, per set, bound in cloth, $7.50; sheep, $10; half morocco, $12; full morocco, $16.

This important work contains a Biographical Sketch of Captain De Long, an account of the preparations for the expedition, the Ship Journal and Ice Journal, and the record kept by Captain De Long until he could write no more. This is supplemented by the narratives of survivors, a report of the search parties and of the return of the survivors to America. The whole book is profoundly interesting.

This work is sold by subscription, but all booksellers are desired to act as agents for it. The terms and discount will be stated on application.

AMERICAN STATESMEN.

Edited by JOHN T. MORSE, Jr.

Vol. IX. ALBERT GALLATIN.

By JOHN AUSTIN STEVENS, recently Editor of the "Magazine of American History." 1 vol., 16mo, gilt top, $1.25.

Albert Gallatin was so conspicuous in the discussion of leading political questions in the early years of this century, ranking with Hamilton as a master of financial and economical subjects, that he rightfully belongs in the series of American statesmen. The story of his life and of his great public services, told by Mr. Stevens, will attract fresh attention to an admirable public man and to the history of the country during his time.

MAN A CREATIVE FIRST CAUSE.

By ROWLAND G. HAZARD, author of "Freedom of Mind in Willing," "Two Letters on Causation, to John Stuart Mill," etc., etc. 1 vol., crown 8vo, 75 cents.

The two papers which form this small volume were read at the Concord School of Philosophy in the summer of 1882. Their object is to set forth in a striking manner the originating, controlling, determining power of the human mind. The arguments by which this is maintained and the facts by which it is illustrated give the book a positive interest for thoughtful readers.

SKETCHES AND STUDIES.

By NATHANIEL HAWTHORNE. Containing the "Life of Franklin Pierce," "Alice Doane's Appeal," "Chiefly about War Matters," "The Ancestral Footstep," and an appendix, comprising a list of Hawthorne's writings and an Index, forming a supplementary volume to the Little Classic edition of Hawthorne's works. 18mo, $1.

N.B. On or after the publication of this volume the price of the Little Classic edition of Hawthorne's works will be a volume.

EMERSON'S WORKS.

Revised Edition. In eleven volumes, 12mo, printed from new electrotypes plates, and tastefully bound. $1.75 a volume.

Vol. V. ENGLISH TRAITS.

VI. THE CONDUCT OF LIFE.

The simplicity and beauty of this edition, as well as the sterling and delightful character of the literature it contains, commend it to peculiar favor.

BOOKS FOR THE YOUNG.

A Guide for Parents and Children, compiled by C. M. HEWINS, Librarian of Hartford Library Association. Price in paper, 25 cents.

"Meets most admirably the demand for carefully selected lists, and contains valuable and interesting counsel."—W. E. FOSTER.

"Contains an admirable selection of books for children, and by far the best catalogue of books of this kind that has ever appeared."—S. S. GREEN.

"Miss C. M. Hewins, of Hartford, has long been known to all who are interested in making the public library the ally of the public schools, as one of the most successful of modern librarians of the American school. . . . A book which it is difficult to praise too highly."—Critic.

"Deserves more extended praise than we have space for. It will bring joy to the hearts of hundreds of parents, whose confidence in the compiler's judgment will be assured by her prefatory remarks and directions, and her choice extracts from divers authorities on the true aim and criterion of juvenile literature."—Nation.

"When Mr. Charles Dudley Warner says that 'the young who read at all read nothing but trash,' he does not exaggerate so very much. For them [the parents], as well as for librarians and teachers, the book will serve an excellent purpose, for it is far the best guide that has been printed, and there is nothing in it that is not of excellent and interesting in quality."—Boston Transcript.

"A little manual long needed, and one that will be heartily welcomed by parents who recognize the importance of carefully supervising their children's reading, but are often confused and at a loss on account of the multitude of works for the young now published, of every conceivable degree of merit and demerit. A classified list of good books is given, with indications as to the age and sex to which they are best suited. The list is prefaced by hints as to how children should be taught the right use of books, a note on good reading in English and American history for children, and a 'symposium' on children's books, containing interesting extracts from many sources. Miss Hewins has charge of the department 'Literature for the Young' in the Library Journal, is librarian of the Hartford Library, and may safely be accepted as an authority and guide by parents and buyers of children's books."—Good Literature.

TO TRUSTWORTHY SOURCES OF INFORMATION ON CURRENT TOPICS.

PREPARED BY WILLIAM E. FOSTER.

Librarian Providence Public Library.

Terms, $1 per year, 10 cents per number.

Sample copies furnished on application.

Address F. LEYPOLDT, Publisher,
31 and 33 Park Row, New York

"The two volumes, 1881-82, of the Providence Library's Monthly Reference Lists . . . are a welcome addition to the endless variety of indexes. They can be used in connection with any good public or private library."—The Nation, January 18, 1883.

"Most thoroughly and carefully selected, embracing a wide range from the best German authorities to the latest articles in current literature."—New England Journal of Education, April 21, 1881.

"Any teacher with advanced pupils, desirous of training students in habits of investigation, could scarcely do better than supply these lists as texts for composition."—Sprague's Daily Republican, April 22, 1881.

" . . . The most noticeable and perhaps the most valuable feature of Mr. Foster's reference lists is the topical subdivision of the main subject. For a student or teacher, the 'structural bibliography' is much more valuable and suggestive than a long list of authorities, which, in some cases, would be hardly better than a catalogue."—HARBERT F. ADAMS, Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, in the N. Y. Hft. and Genl. Register, Jan., 1882.

RECENTLY ISSUED.

HONOR BRIGHT. By Mrs. SUE CHESNUTWOOD PERKINS.
1 vol., 12mo, $1.50. One of the most fascinating books of the season.

The Cleveland Leader says: "'Honor Bright' is well written and contains many passages of sterling power. The influence of the romance for good will be greater from the fact that it holds the attention of the reader with iron chains to the close."

NEW ANNOUNCEMENT.

To be Published November 10th:

THE POEMS AND TRANSLATIONS FROM THE SWEDISH. By FREDERIC PETERSON, M.D., of the Faculty of the Buffalo Medical University. Price, $1.50.

Part of these poems have been read by Henry W. Longfellow, Prof. Anderson, of the Wisconsin State University, and others, and pronounced to be some of the most clever things in verse-making and translation.

We have also made arrangements with the Catholic Publication Company, of Buffalo, to supply their recent publications at the same rates as sold by them to the trade.

FATHER LAMBERT'S NOTES ON INGERSOLL.
Price, cloth, 50 cents; paper, 25 cents.

The New York Sun says: "Father Lambert's 'Notes on Ingersoll' is a vigorous and learned work."
The New York Commercial Advertiser says: "Father Lambert is a hard hitter. He takes up the controversy in The North American Review where Black and Ingersoll left it, discusses the Ingersollian doctrines one by one, and proceeds to demolish them seriatim with a force and incisiveness which commands admiration."
The New York Herald says: "Father Lambert is an earnest and keen reasoner, and his book should have many readers."

The Rochester Union says: "Father Lambert's book is as acceptable to any good Methodist or Baptist as it is to any good Catholic. Its logic is cold and incisive. Successful beyond any of the efforts in that direction heretofore made."

APOSTOLIC SUCCESSION. By Rt. Rev. S. V. RYAN, Bishop of the Diocese of Buffalo. 1 vol., 12mo, cloth, $1.25.

Notice of Removal

TOWNSEND MacCOUN,

OF CHICAGO,

HAS REMOVED TO

744 BROADWAY,

Cor. Astor Place, NEW YORK,

Where he will continue the publication of Standard and Popular Books.

This removal adds largely to my facilities in manufacturing, and will be more convenient for the prompt distribution of my books. I thank the Western Trade for their past patronage, and hope for a continuation of their orders either direct, or through the Western jobbing houses. Some Eastern booksellers know the standard character and ready sale of my books, but I trust, now I am in their midst, to receive orders from many who have not heretofore kept a full line in stock.

THE

Publishers' Trade-List Annual

For 1883 (Eleventh Year),

A Large 8vo, of over 2500 pages, is now ready.

The improvements in the Trade-List Annual last year have given such general satisfaction that there has been no change in the present issue (eleventh year) as to the essential features, which are:

1. The latest Catalogues of American Publishers, contributed by themselves and arranged alphabetically by the names of the publishers.
2. A complete reprint of the "Publishers' Weekly" full title Records of Books published (inclusive of all the descriptive notes) from July 8, 1882, to June 30, 1883. In order to facilitate reference, it will be accompanied by a full index, by which every book on record can be found, whether it is looked for under author, title, or subject.
3. The "Educational Catalogue" for 1883, which is used by the entire trade and educational interests as the most representative reference-list of School-books.

The above Lists, all bound in one volume, present in their combination so convenient and time-saving a working-tool as to make it indispensable to every one who has any interest in the purchase and sale of books.

The price is One Dollar and a half per copy net, bound in cloth, or can be sent post-paid for Two Dollars net, payable in advance.

Remittances should be made by check, money-order on New York, or registered letter, as we cannot be responsible for any losses. Receipt for remittance will be sent by return mail.

Unless special shipping directions are received, copies ready for delivery will be dispatched by express unpaid.

Parties so desiring can have their volumes supplied with the "SILVERA DULLEX INDEX," at the slight extra charge of 50 cents per copy. The Silvera Index is somewhat on the plan of Denison's, with the practical improvement, however, of having the alphabet printed on the concave surface (instead of on the margin of the page), which enables instantaneous reference, whether the book is open or shut.

NOTICE TO THE TRADE. The only edition of Young's Analytical Concordance hereafter to be printed in America will be the authorized edition, printed from the original latest revised plates. These have been sent us by Dr. Young from Edinburgh. The reprint plates, which did Dr. Young, as an author, so great injustice, are now in Dr. Young's possession. The price was reduced to $2.50, cloth, for the sole purpose of driving out of the American market these imperfect plates. This object having been accomplished, the price will be advanced so as to allow the author a reasonable profit. IN CHRISTMAS IN A PALACE. By EDWARD EVERETT HALE. This is a new Christmas Story. A party who become snowbound in the Rocky Mountains spend their Christmas in a palace car. We bespeak for the readers of this book a most enjoyable feast. 12mo, about 300 pages, cloth, $1. Ready November 1.

POPULAR LIFE OF MARTIN LUTHER. Based upon Köstlin's Life of Luther, as prepared by Prof. Rein, of Eisenach. Translated and edited by G. F. BEHRINGER. The 400th anniversary of Luther's birth is exciting a world-wide interest. As a historical character alone his life is worthy of study. This volume retains all that is valuable and interesting in Köstlin's extensive work, omitting abstruse and technical points. The interest in this book never flags. 12mo, about 288 pages, cloth, $1. CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS

TWO VOLUMES OF

A New Collection of English Poetry.

ENGLISH VERSE.

EDITED BY W. J. LINTON AND R. H. STODDARD. A series of five small volumes, 12mo, about 350 pp. each. Price, One Dollar.

- I. CHAUCER TO BURNS. Now Ready.
- II. LYRICS OF THE NINETEENTH CENTURY. Now Ready.
- III. BALLADS AND ROMANCES.
- IV. DRAMATIC SCENES AND CHARACTERS. } In November.
- V. TRANSLATIONS.

The volumes will be sold separately or in sets.

This Collection is the largest yet undertaken, and covers more fully than any other the whole of English poetical literature. At the same time its form is the most convenient possible, the first volumes of handy size greatly surpassing in this respect a single heavy book.

As the work was directly suggested by the defects of the existing anthologies, it has especially sought to repair these in two respects :

COMPREHENSIVENESS.—Notable omissions of the present collections have been supplied, and no portion of the field of English Poetry has been neglected, while at the same time all the unquestioned and familiar masterpieces common to the older collections are retained.

ABSOLUTE ACCURACY OF TEXT.—No poem has been admitted without the most careful search through the various editions of the author, and the most thorough comparison of critical comments. Upon this point special stress is laid ; it being the aim of the editors to produce a quædam pædia of English verse the text of which shall be an authority. Besides the fact that the work is the result of many years' general collection, comparison, and criticism, Mr. Linton has devoted the last year entirely to minute study and verification in the British Museum.

Each volume will contain, as an introduction, an essay by Mr. Stoddard on the period and class of English Poetry which it covers. The introduction to the first volume also treats of English Poetry before Chaucer.

The poems of each author are grouped under his name, and at the end of each volume are very brief biographical and bibliographical notes by the editors upon the poets represented in it. Brief glossarial and explanatory notes are also appended, with others noticing current differences of texts, etc.

NOTES IN SEASON.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT & Co. have just ready "Banned and Blessed," by E. Werner, translated by Mrs. A. L. Wister. This is considered by one of the author's best works and will undoubtedly meet with great success.

BANGS & Co. announce that the Fall Parcel sale of English and American books, stationery, will take place on November 12 at their rooms, 739 and 741 Broadway. Invoices must reach the auctioneers by the 22d inst, at which time the catalogue will go to press.

F. BLAKISTON, SON & CO., Philadelphia, have republished a "Text-Book of Organic Chemistry" by Victor von Richter, of the University of Göttingen, translated from the fourth German edition by authority, and to be issued in uniform style with the "Text-Book of Inorganic Chemistry," just published.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS publish this week the first two volumes of "English Verse," edited by W. J. Linton and R. H. Stoddard, fully described in our Fall Announcement number; "The Doctrine of Sacred Scripture," a critical, historical, and dogmatic inquiry into the origin and nature of the Old and New Testaments, by Prof. George T. Ladd; Dr. S. Wells Williams' great work on "The Middle Kingdom," and the new edition of Prof. H. M. Baird's "Rise of the Huguenots of France."

D. APPLETON & Co. have just ready the third volume of the new revised edition of Bancroft's "History of the United States;" "A New Natural History Reader, for School and Home," compiled and arranged by James Johnnot; and a new, revised, and enlarged edition of Dr. R. Bartholow's "Treatise on Materia Medica and Therapeutics," adapted to the new Pharmacopœia. They will publish next week "Belinda," a new novel by Rhoda Broughton, which has been running serially in The Continent.

ROBERTS BROS. have published in their Famous Women series "Margaret Fuller," by Julia Ward Howe. Mrs. Howe is said to have made a very readable volume and to have displayed commendable discrimination in giving to the public this valuable and candid estimate of one of the foremost writers of the past. They have also just ready the volume entitled "Anti-Tobacco," by A. A. Livermore and others, an energetic crusade against the use of tobacco in all forms. In the new Classic series they will issue at once Southey's "Life of Nelson," with illustrations by Birket Foster, and Maria Edgeworth's renowned "Classic Tales," which will include a biographical sketch by Grace A. Oliver.

JAMES R. OSGOOD & Co. have just ready their new and handsomely illustrated holiday book, "The Princess," by Alfred Tennyson. The volume contains one hundred and twenty new and beautiful woodcuts by some of the best American artists, engraved under the general supervision of A. V. S. Anthony, of Boston. The poem abounds in the most picturesque and attractive subjects for illustration, and the general excellence and skill evinced by the artists and engravers in its production places it among the finest gift-books of the year. They have also just published "A Woman of Honor," a piquant novel of American society, full of new and interesting situations, and a close study of life in the metropolis, by H. C. Bunner, well known through his connection with Puck and The Century. "Fortune's Fool," a novel by Julian Hawthorne, which is described as "a work of great power, destined to be ranked as a classic;" "The Recollections of a Drummer-Boy," by Rev. Harry M. Keifer, late of the 150th Penn. Vols., a vivid and impressive picture of scenes and adventures during the late rebellion told as only an eye-witness could tell them; and "A Year of Sunshine," by Kate Sanborn, a volume of choice and cheering selections for every day of the year, destined to bring "sunshine" wherever it appears, and to drive away the "blues" and all gloomy forebodings. This latter work was formerly published as a Calendar. It is now put into book-form, with spacious margins for amateur decorations and memoranda.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Lewis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William. States are designated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); Q. (4to: under 30 cm.); O. (8vo: 18 cm.); D. (16mo: 20 cm.); S. (16mo: 17½ cm.); T. (9mo: 15 cm.); TL. (32mo: 10½ cm.); F. (48mo: 10 cm.). Square, narrow, designate square, oblong, narrow books of these heights. Where figure instead of letter symbols are used, the record is from publisher's designation, and not measurement.

Alabama. Reports of cases argued and determined in the Supreme Court of Alabama, during the Dec. terms, 1880-1, by J. W. Shepherd and J. P. Tillman. V. 68 [Ala. rep.] Montgomery, Joel White, 1883. 7+714 p. O. shp., $6.50.

Alexander, Mrs. [pseud. for Mrs. A. F. Hector]. The executor: a novel. N. Y., H. Holt & Co., 1883. 2+533 p. S. (Leisure hour ser., no. 155.) cl., $1.—Same (Leisure moment ser., no. 22.) pap., 35 c.

One of Mrs. Alexander's charming stories of English middle class life; told with ample details and with the aid of much bright conversation. A new character in fiction is introduced in the person of the executor, Hormuz Kharapet, a Christianized Syrian, with a handsome person and fascinating manners. He desires to marry his ward, whose heir he is, and to whom he bears the relation of a step-uncle, for her fortune, and on her refusal of his hand, attempts to poison her in first-class Oriental style. His plans are frustrated by a young English doctor who suspects his game and runs away with the heroine. The character sketching is excellent throughout.

American (The) reports, containing all decisions of general interest decided in the courts of last resort of the several states; with notes and references by Irving Browne. V. 43 [1881-1883]. Albany, J. D. Parsons, Jr., 1883. 38+850 p. O. shp., $6.

American (The) decisions, containing the cases of general value and authority decided in the courts of the several states from the earliest issue of the state reports to 1869; compiled and annotated by A. C. Freeman. V. 46 [1845-'48]. San Francisco, A. L. Bancroft & Co., 1883. 415-808 p. O. shp., $6.

Arizona. Laws of the Territory of Arizona, 12th legislative assembly; also, memorials and resolutions [1883]. Prescott, Arizona Miner Office, 1883. 9+311 p. O. hf. shp., $3.25.

Aunt Rose and her nieces. N. Y., American Tract Soc., [1883]. 32 p. il. T. (Popular series.) bds., 15 c.

Baldwin, J. The story of Roland. N. Y., C. Scribner's Sons, 1883. 16+415 p. il. D. cl., $2.

The imaginary nephew of Charlemagne has always been one of the most interesting characters in the romances of the middle ages. Mr. Baldwin has compiled the incidents of his tale from the poets of five centuries, sometimes almost quoting his authorities, sometimes giving full play to his modern imagination. The result is a fascinating story of heroic deeds, that will find hearty favor among adventure-loving boys. The book is quite free from every objectionable feature.

Bardeen, C. W. Verbal pitfalls: a manual of 1500 words commonly misused; with 3000 references and quotations and the ruling of the dictionaries. Syracuse, N. Y., C. W. Bardeen, 1883. 223 p. S. (School Bulletin publications.) cl., 75 c.

Arranged alphabetically; includes all words, the use of which, in any sense, has been questioned by Dean Alford, G. W. Moon, Fitz-Edward Hall, Trench, W. C. Hodgson, W. L. Blackley, G. F. Graham, Richard Grant White, M. Seche de Vere, William Matthews, Alfred Ayres, and others.

Berthelot, M. P. E. Explosive materials: a series of lectures delivered before the Comite de France, Paris; to which is added a short historical sketch of gunpowder, tr. from the German of Karl Braun, by J. P. Wisser, and a bibliography of works on explosives. N. Y., D. Van Nostrand, 1883. T. (Van Nostrand's sci. ser., no. 70.) bds., 50 c.

Bible. International revision commentary on the New Testament, based upon the revision of 1881 by English and American scholars and members of the revision committee, ed. by Philip Schaff, D.D. V. 4. The Gospel according to John, explained by W. Milligan, D.D. and W. F. Moulton, D.D. N. Y., C. Scribner's Sons, 1883. 43+448 p. S. cl., $1.25.

This commentary on the gospel of John is the long-continued, careful, independent, and reverent work of members of the New Testament revision committee, who helped to make the authoritative changes of reading in the Jerusalem chamber, which are here explained and vindicated.

Biddle, C. Autobiography of Charles Biddle, Vice-President of the Supreme Executive Council of Penn., 1745-1821. (Printed.) Phila., E. Claxton & Co., 1883. 12+423 p. O. cl., net, $3.

The Biddle family is an old Phila. family that has been in the annals of Pennsylvania for many generations, and has been especially distinguished for its services in the Revolution. The manuscript from which this work was printed is in the hands of Judge Craig Biddle, and has been a source of pleasure to the immediate descendants of the writer. The public generally will also find it of special interest, as a valuable contribution to the American literature of the revolutionary period. Mr. Biddle entered the navy at an early age, and not only witnessed the revolution but took part in it likewise. Out of the many amusing and interesting incidents, of both a personal and historical nature, relating to Aaron Burr and his duel with Alexander Hamilton are the most important, as Mr. Biddle remained loyal to Burr to the very end. Letters from Burr, which are appended, have never before been printed. The work appears just as it was written, without attempt at embellishment. Its style is natural, simple, and easy.

Bishop, W. H. Old Mexico and her provinces: a journey in Mexico, Sonora, California, and Arizona by way of the Pacific. N. Y., Harper, 1883. 10+509 p. il. D. cl., $3.

The talented author of "The house of a prince" has produced an unique volume of travel which seems to have escaped his acute observation. He describes the people, the country, its scenery, customs, its many picturesque and beautiful buildings, its present condition politically, in a most fascinating and interesting manner. The book is the result of a recent journey by Mr. Bishop through Mexico and her ancient provinces, during which he made the many beautiful sketches which the volume is illustrated. In view of the interest awakened for Mexico, this book ought to meet hearty welcome. The papers of which it is made up (the il.) were first published in Harper's Magazine.

Box, T. Practical treatise on the strength of materials, including their elasticity and resistance to impact. N. Y., E. & F. N. Spon., 1883. 525 p., 27 pl., O. cl., $7.25.

Boyd, E. W., comp. English cathedral architecture, symbolism, and history.

* In this list, the titles generally are verbatim transcriptions (according to the rule of the Library Association) from books received. Books not received are indicated by a prefix. This office cannot be held responsible for the correctness of their record. This list will be continued, with all the notices of the books received, in the TRADE LIST ANNUAL.

T. Whittaker, 1884, [1883]. 63 p. il. sq. T. bds., 60 c.

A short account of the history, styles, and traditions of the English cathedrals; preceded by a glossary of terms which affords definitions and explanations of the symbolism of the various parts.

Braddon, Miss M. E. [now Mrs. J. Maxwell]. Phantom fortune: a novel. N. Y., Harper, 1883. 96 p. Q. (Harper's Franklin sq. lib., no. 336.) pap., 20 c.

A powerfully written society novel of the present day. The characters are well drawn and well used in working out a plot of much intricacy, dealing with a well-kept family secret.

*Briggs, H. Steam-heating: an exposition of the American practice of warming buildings by steam. N. Y., D. Van Nostrand, 1883. T. (Van Nostrand's sci. ser., no. 68.) bds., 50 c.

Bunner, H. C. A woman of honor. Bost., James R. Osgood & Co., 1883. 4+336 p. S. cl., $1.25.

A somewhat dramatic story of domestic infelicities: scene laid in New York City. The hero is an artist, and there is some good talk introduced about art. The opening scene is a good description of one of the reception-days of the 10th Street studios. Mr. Bunner is connected with Puck and the Century Magazine.

Trace the history of Sweden from the treaty of Calmar 1380, by which Denmark, Sweden, and Norway were united under Queen Margaret, down through the reign of Charles IX., 1611. The Congregationalist says: "Our aptest friends will hardly assent to what he [the author] says of the hindrance to the reformation by Anabaptist extravagances. On the whole, the work is fair, discriminating and readable."

Cicero, Marcus Tullius. De officiis; tr. with an introduction and notes, by Andrew P. Peabody. Bost., Little, Brown & Co., 1883. 24+254 p. D. cl., $1.25.

"This treatise," Mr. Peabody says, in his introduction, may be regarded as an exposition of the ethical system the stories of Cicero's time, yet with a special limitation, ipse, and adaptation." He has not attempted to give word-for-word version of the Latin text, but a literal transcript in English of what he supposes that Cicero said to write in his own tongue.

Dictionary of quotations from English and American poets, based upon Bohn's edition, rev., corr. and enl.; twelve hundred quotations added from American authors. N. Y., T. Y. Crowell & Co., [1883]. 8+761 p. O. cl., $2.50.

In a brief introductory Mr. R. M. Stoddard says this dictionary "ought to be the best that has yet been compiled, partly because it is the latest, and partly because it covers more ground and embraces more poets than any other." It is based upon the latest edition of Bohn's "Dictionary of poetical quotations," and is grouped under subjects. Many improvements have been made in arrangement, such as adding cross-references, numbering quotations, etc. The quotations have all been verified, and the work completed by a concordance index and an index of authors, giving place of birth, and dates of birth and death.

Dodge, Theodore Ayrault. A bird's-eye view of our Civil War. Bost., James R. Osgood & Co., 1883. 10+346 p., maps and charts, O. cl., $3.

Eggleston, E. The Hoosier schoolboy. N. Y., C. Scribner's Sons, 1883. 2+181 p. il. D. cl., $1.

Schoolboy-life in the early pioneer days of Ohio is the subject of this interesting boys' book. Mr. Eggleston has already made us familiar with the locality of his story—the Western reserve—in his "Hoosier schoolmaster" and "Roxy." His hero is a manly little fellow, who overcomes the many obstacles teachers and playfellows place in his way in his efforts to gain an education. The boys will find the story both instructive and amusing. The full-page illustrations by Mr. Bush are life-like and characteristic.

Fields, Mrs. Jas. T. How to help the poor. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1883. 2+125 p. S. bds., 60 c.

An introductory note states that this little manual does not propose to deal with public questions. It only aims to give a few suggestions to visitors among the poor, and to lead all such visitors to attend the conferences which now are held weekly in almost every district of our large cities. Mrs. Fields speaks as one in authority, having been for years an earnest worker in Boston in the system of organized charities. The book is sent out in dainty style, with broad margins and a very pretty board cover.

- Gosse, M. Louis. Eugène Fromentin, painter and writer; tr. by Mary Caroline Robbins. Bost., James R. Osgood & Co., 1883. 11+280 p. il. sq. O. cl., $3.
- Fromentin (b. La Rochelle, France, 1820, d. 1876), belongs to the group of painters which includes Delacroix, Corot, Rousseau, Millet and Daubigny. He was chiefly distinguished as a painter of Algerine and Arabian scenes, notable for their picturesqueness and brilliancy of coloring. He was also an art critic of remarkable powers as illustrated in "The old masters of Belgium and Holland," and writer of several books of travel and a romance, "Dominique." This is a sympathetic biography of the great artist, and an exposition of his methods, theories, and practice. Students and art amateurs will delight in this volume with its wealth of illustrations, mostly fac-similes, of Fromentin's celebrated works. His correspondence is largely quoted from, and some unpublished fragments of his writings are added. The work, taken altogether, is one of the most valuable art-works of the season, and is notably handsome in engraving and paper.

- Dr. Harris is Professor of Systematic Theology in the theological department of Yale College. He says in his introductory chapter: "This work is not designed to present in detail the evidence of the existence of God; it is designed to examine the constitution of man as a personal being in order to ascertain his capacity to know and serve God, to answer the philosophical questions involved in the controversy with scepticism, agnosticism, and materialism, and to set forth, clear from misapprehension, and vindicate the principles on which the defence of theism must rest. It is not intended to be a treatise on psychology, ethics, or metaphysics."

- Does not assume to be a formal history, nor even to relate more than a modicum of the innumerable incidents of personal adventure and examples of bravery exhibited on both sides during the civil war. The narratives, which embrace "exploits of scouts and spies, imprisonment, and hairbreadth escapes, humorous and tragic events, etc.," are believed to be true, and are related with as great impartiality as possible.
- Lanza, Marchioness Clara. A righteous apostate. N. Y., G. P. Putnam's Sons, 1883. 6+423 p. D. cl., $1.25.
- The description of the righteous apostate, a Catholic priest who renounces his vows from love of a young girl, will recall the figure of the celebrated Father Lysion. The story involves a lawsuit for a large sum of money, which is claimed by two parties, and which is awarded to the false claimant. A successful deception is carried out through a remarkable and very improbable likeness, which the writer represents as existing between two youthful cousins and two elderly cousins. The story opens in Santa Fé, and with a most revolting crime committed by a young girl.

- Malcolm, Robert Falconer, Thomas Wingfold, and Winfred Cumberland transposed into a new key. Donal Grant is tutor in the family of the opium-eating Earl of Moray. All the members of the family and all their dependants, in the highly wrought life of "inner-consciousness" that Macdonald makes so real. There is much mystery and action than in most of his weird and emotional stories. The action is laid in Scotland, and the descriptions of scenes under different conditions of weather, are very beautiful. Macdonald's favorite religious speculations are made retelling in the simple language put into the mouth of Donal Grant.

Through mesmeric influence the mind of the narrator of this original story is thrown forward into the 20th century. The result is a detailed description of the probable condition of New York City in that coming time, with a little love story illustrating the advanced and purified state of domestic life. The writer finds N. Y. City a vast warehouse, space being too valuable to be occupied any longer by dwelling-houses. People find it no inconvenience, however, to be 50 miles from their places of business, on account of the great facilities of transportation with their electric motor. Science has developed many other new inventions, such as malleable glass and a new kind of steel which looks like silver, and so on, while all the elevators are run by an ingenious application of force derived from the rise and fall of the tide. Brooklyn is a university city filled with students, both sexes being educated together. Housekeeping is reduced to a minimum by a new system of co-operation, dress is simplified so that the female mind may occupy itself with the art and science, thieves are unknown, and lawless among the traditions of the past.

Thompson, Maurice. Songs of fair weather. Bost., James R. Osgood & Co., 1883. 4+100 p. D. vellum, $1.50.

The Boston Globe says these poems "have a fresh and pleasing out-door fragrance, and show a keen delight in the author for the simpler aspects of nature. They sing of the woods, the field, the quiet haunts of fish, and of other things generally in a graceful, quiet, and delicate manner. Printed on imported, hand-made paper, with initial letters and cunning little tail-pieces, and bound in white velvet. It is now acknowledged that Mr. Thompson is the author of two of the most interesting of the Round-robin novels, "A Tallahassee girl" and "His second campaign."

Verne, Jules. Godfrey Morgan: a California mystery; tr. by W. J. Gordon. N. Y., Scribner's Sons, [1883]. 8+272 p. il. D. cl., $2.

The very highest pitch of nonsense and extravagance is reached by Verne in this story. A California millionaire has a nephew who has a fever for travel and adventure. To cure him, the uncle buys an island in the Pacific for four millions of dollars, sends his nephew out on an imaginary cruise on one of his own merchant vessels, gets up a sham shipwreck which lands the hero, Godfrey Morgan, and his companion, "Tartlet," a dancing-master, on Spencer Island, the hero's possession. They lead a Crusoe-like existence here a long time, all the auxiliaries in the way of the man Friday, the savages, wild beasts, etc., being supplied by the merciful uncle, who lands a gang of his own servants on the island dressed up as wild men, and also a lot of stuffed animals, etc. The hero and his friend are represented as being deceived by all these transparent frauds, and to their welcome the rescuing vessel, in which they gladly return to San Francisco, quite satisfied with civilization once more.

Whitehead, Jessup. The professional cook's own receipt-book; the "Oven and range" and American pastry-cook; book of fine pastries, ices, creams, and dessert dishes in general; book of salads and cold dishes; book of breads and cakes; book of puddings, soufflés, and meringues. Republished from the Chicago National Hotel Reporter, rev. and corr. Chic., Jessup Whitehead, National Hotel Reporter, 1882. 209 p. il. Q. (Oven and range cook-books, no. 1.) cl., $2.

Specialized adapted for use in hotels, boarding-houses, confectionery cafés, restaurants, and eating-houses generally. Puff-paste, pies, cakes, cold meat dishes, and salads are exceptionally well represented. The author gives a system of measurement by which every recipe may be made available for private family use. The book has an excellent feature in having all its recipes graded in regard to cost, and the practical recipes are interspersed with many useful hints cut from leading papers.

Whitehead, Jessup. The hotel fish and oyster cook, showing all the best methods of cooking oysters and fish, for restaurant and hotel service, together with the appropriate sauces and vegetables; [also] How to cut meats and roast, boil, and broil, including short orders and omelets; [also] Cook's scrap-book. Chic., Jessup Whitehead, National Hotel Reporter, 1882. 108 p. Q. (Oven and range cook-books, no. 2.) cl., $1.50.

For the first time instructions for cutting meat as practised by hotel cooks are put in print, and the demand for such a book must be a very large one, when the accuracy of its statements and the simplicity of its method becomes sufficiently known. Fish and oysters are treated in every known and many original styles; the directions are clear and concise, and can be used in large restaurants and small families with unflinching success. An interesting part of the book is the "Cook's scrap-book," consisting of clippings on subjects interesting to cooks and diners, taken from periodicals and papers at home and abroad. A similar "scrap-book" is also added to the "Herald cooking school" noticed below.

Whitehead, Jessup. The Chicago Herald cooking school: a professional cook's book for household use, consisting of a series of menus for every-day meals and for private entertainments, with minute instructions for making every article named; [also] The hotel book of breads and cakes; [also] Cook's scrap-book. Chic., Jessup Whitehead, National Hotel Reporter, 1883. 192 p. Q. (Oven and range cook-books, no. 3.) cl., $1.50.

The "Oven and range cook-books" take their name from the copyrighted column of the Chicago Daily National Hotel Reporter, in which all of their recipes appeared in weekly instalments. This method of publishing made it necessary for the author to test and prove every statement before submitting it to such connoisseurs as the professional readers of a prominent hotel paper. It having been proved that the "Oven and range" recipes are thoroughly satisfactory, they have been reduced in quantity and made suitable for family use. Having met with much favor, they are now collected in book-form and brought within the means of every one. They possess the great merit of being absolutely definite on every point and full of instruction in the most minute particulars. The menus are very well selected and afford great variety.

BOSTON AS A PUBLISHING CENTRE. STATISTICS OF THE FALL ANNOUNCEMENTS

From the Boston Advertiser, Sept. 29.

MR. LEYPOLDT, whose Publishers' Weekly is a weekly monument to his bibliographic zeal and industry, has just issued his fall announcement number, in which he gathers and classifies the titles of the books which the publishers throughout the country announce for publication the present season. In the United States, more even than in England, the tendency is to concentrate the issue of books about two seasons, Christmas and Easter, and the preparation for Christmas, which is the most prolific season, begins with the revival of trade in September and October. A survey, therefore, of the book market at this time gives one a tolerably fair opportunity for gauging the literary industry of the country.

Throwing out the English houses which have branches in this country, the announcements, little and great, of American publishing houses, fall short of a thousand titles. Nine hundred and sixty-six books, as we count, are promised for publication. Of these the juvenile class, has as usual, the largest number, 200; religion and philosophy come next, with 120. Books relating to art, including illustrated gift-books, follow with ninety-three, and medical science eighty-four; fiction has seventy-four; education and works on language have sixty-seven; poetry and the drama, sixty; literary history and collected works, fifty-one, and biography has fifty. After these larger lists come, in a declining grade, history, descriptive travel and adventure, arts and sciences, politics, sociology and economics, domestic and rural economy, law and government, birthday books and souvenirs, works relating to music, wit and humor, and sports—history having thirty six, and sports five. The department of fiction would be much larger, and probably outrank all others, if the publisher's of the chief libraries were in the habit of making announcements, which they are not, and the list, therefore, is made up chiefly of standard fiction and new American novels.

One thing is likely to catch the reader's eye, and that is the importance of the class under the head of art. The number of holiday books is not so considerable as of books either relating directly to the history of art, or by their illustrations really representing art. The number of books relating to music is small—ten only—and yet music divides with art the enthusiasm of young people; but music is not allied to literature as art is. The class of books of travel is also meagre, much more meagre than an English list would show. The English have an avidity for this literature, which is in part explained by the large family and commercial interests which the little island has with remote parts of the globe.

In the distribution of these books among publishing houses, New York, Boston and Philadelphia are the great centres. Chicago has two or three enterprising houses, and Cincinnati, Baltimore and one or two other points are represented. The list of books announced by New York publishers is 473; by Boston publishers, 338, and by Philadelphia publishers 121. Thirty-four books are announced by the publishers of all other cities. New York naturally leads, and there also are established the representatives of English houses; as a commercial centre it attracts to itself the largest share of the book business. Yet it may be doubted whether an analysis of the new American books to be issued this fall would give the precedence to New York. In point of numbers, Boston leads in art, descriptive travel and adventure, history, biography, juvenile books, law and government, literary history and collected works, and the new poetry comes almost wholly from Boston houses, though there is precious little of it. Chicago publishes nearly all the books about music, and it is in the issue of works allied with affairs, together with books which belong to what may be called regular stock that New York takes the lead. The only exceptions are fiction and religion and philosophy. The concentration there of the benevolent publication societies accounts for the religious class, and fiction comes nearer to regular stock than to original ventures. On the whole, a careful reading of Mr. Leyboldt's Weekly leaves on one the impression that in publishing enterprises which indicate forethought and taste Boston takes the lead, while it still continues to be the place to which the higher literature gravitates.

OBITUARY.

LOUIS BRÉTON.

LOUIS BRÉTON, senior partner in the house of Messrs. Hachette & Co., of Paris, died August 19, after a short illness. In 1839 M. Bréton entered the house founded by the late M. Louis Hachette, in 1841 he became a partner, and in 1844 he married the stepdaughter of M. Hachette. M. Bréton devoted himself specially to the educational department of the house, and it is chiefly to the intelligence and indefatigable energy which he displayed that the extraordinary success of the educational works published by Messrs. Hachette & Co. is to be attributed. His department of the business will, we understand, be continued under the superintendence of his son, M. Guillaume Bréton, who has recently distinguished himself in obtaining the diploma of Docteur-ès-lettres in the Ecole Normale Supérieure. M. Bréton was President of the Cercle de la Librairie in 1865-1867, and under his presidency its functions were greatly extended, and it was owing greatly to his perseverance, that funds were subscribed for the erection of the very handsome building belonging to the Cercle, which is distinguishable for its classic beauty of its architecture even in the midst of the splendid mansions with which it is surrounded in the Boulevard St. Germain—and the first stone of which was laid by his brother-in-law, M. Georges Hachette, in 1878. In 1866 Bréton was created a Knight of the Legion Honor. In 1871, he was elected a municipal councillor for the Quartier de la Monnaie. M. Bréton will long be remembered by those who had the pleasure of his acquaintance, for his genial kindness and courtesy; he was beloved by his confrères and his employés, and highly respected by all. He was in his 66th year.—London Publishers' Circular.

DANIEL SMITH.

DANIEL SMITH of Newburg, N. Y., died September 26, aged 73 years. Mr. Smith was born in Vernon, Tolland County, Connecticut, September, 1810, and received at that place a common school education. In 1838 he came to Newburg and became a teacher in the High School. In the year 1841 he went into the boot and shoe business with Mr. Victor M. Watkins as partner, remaining in that business two years. In 1843 he bought the book and stationery business of Joseph Lomas, and until July, 1882, was continuously in that trade. At that time he sold out to one of his sons, Nathan S. Smith, who now carries on the business. Mr. Smith leaves three children, two sons and a daughter, all of whom are married. Speaking of his business life in Newburg, the Newburg Daily Journal says: "It is stated that he was one of the pioneer merchants on Water Street, and when he retired over a year ago he left no one on the street who was in business there when he began. When Mr. Smith first opened his doors for trade, Newburg was then but a small village. There were few merchants on Water Street. He continued on in a steady, quiet way, growing with the growth of the place, until he found himself, in the evening of life, less disposed to the active pursuits than he once was, and left to enjoy his leisure which his attention to business brought him the means to take. Mr. Smith's store has for years been a great resort for people of a horticultural turn, and he himself had much taste for pursuits of that nature. He also has been for about 25 years the Depository of the Newburg Bible Society."

CHARLES MEGARGE.

CHARLES MEGARGE, the well-known paper manufacturer and founder and head of the firm of Charles Megarge & Co., Philadelphia, died October 2, 1883, at his residence in Germantown. He was born in Philadelphia, September 30, 1804, and early in life entered the paper business in the store of Samuel Ekstein. In 1834 he and his brother began business for themselves as C. & W. H. Megarge. He was a director and from 1848 to 1866 was president of the Germantown Bank. Mr. Megarge left active business life several years ago, at the time of the failure of his firm.

CORRECTION OF EDUCATIONAL CATALOGUE.

MESSRS. HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. wish us to say that it was their intention to give only the retail prices of their educational publications in the Educational Catalogue for 1883, just as these were given in the Catalogue for 1882. By a misunderstanding their introductory prices were inserted as net wholesale rates. This correction is made for the information of those dealers who handle school-books, and who find a discrepancy between the net wholesale rates quoted in the Educational Catalogue and the prices at which goods are sold to them by Houghton, Mifflin & Co.

PERSONAL NOTES.

MR. C. E. SWAYNE, of the publishing-house of Messrs. E. P. Dutton, of New York, and his partner, Mr. Charles A. Clapp, an old Bostonian, entertained, we learn from the Boston Globe, Mr. Robert Farran, of London, at Taft's on Sunday last. Mr. Farran is a member of the famous St. Paul Churchyard publishing-house of Griffith & Farran and direct descendants of Newbury & Harris, the first publishers in the world to issue juvenile books. Mr. J. G. Cupples was the only Boston representative of the guild to be found who could, with a clear conscience, accept the invitation to join the party. Bachelorhood is not without its alleviations.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

M. E. DE PRESSENSÉ is preparing a new edition of his "Vie de Jésus."

VICTOR HUGO has written, under the title of "L'Archipel de la Manche," a description of the life and manners of the inhabitants of the Channel Islands. It will be brought out serially in a periodical.

PROF. JAMES BALDWIN, of Huntington, Ind., who has written "The Story of Roland" for Charles Scribner's Sons, is the author of the admirable work on "English Literature," published by John E. Potter & Co., of Philadelphia.

MRS. J. R. GREEN, the widow of the historian, has herself been completely revising her husband's "Conquest of England," according to his last instructions. The book carries on the story of England up to the period of the Norman Conquest.

MADAME "HENRI GRÉVILLE," the well-known author of "Dosia," "Sonia," "Un Violon Russe," and so many other charming novels describing Russian and Norman life, is about to publish a work entitled "Économie Domestique." It will be written, says the London Athenæum, "in accordance with the programme issued by the authorities who direct the 'enseignement secondaire des jeunes filles' in France. But Madame Gréville will not confine herself to the material objects to which the programme calls special attention. She will combine with her practical advice to the future housewife much of that moral teaching which renders so valuable to young French girls—and, indeed, to all girls, whatever may be their nationality—her excellent little work entitled 'Instruction Morale et Civique des Jeunes Filles,' a work so truly and nobly moral and civic that it has been, as is well known, honored by the interdict of the Roman Index."

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

S. Zickel's Deutsch-Amerikanische Familienblätter, began its 12th volume with the September issue.

MACMILLAN'S English Illustrated Magazine, so long announced and looked for, is now ready to take its place among the American monthlies. The first number resembles them all in point of shape and illustrations, and comes nearest to the Century in external appearance. The contents are miscellaneous, including "Shy," an engraving from a picture in possession of a New York gentleman; "From the Old Courts to the New," by F. W. Maitland; Swinburne's verses, entitled "Les Casquettes"; "The Dormouse at Home"; Rossetti's Influence on Art," treated by J. Comyns Carr; a new short story of William Black's; a chapter by T. H. Huxley about "Oysters and the Oyster Question," and two chapters of a new story by Charlotte M. Yonge. It numbers sixty-four pages, retailed for sixpence in London and fifteen cents in New York. Special machines have been erected for the printing of this magazine and the facilities afforded by experience and wealth have been taken advantage of in their construction. We understand the advance demand for this new aspirant for favor has been so great that the publication had to be delayed until an edition of 150,000 copies was ready for distribution.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

HENRY HOLT & Co. publish this week, in the Leisure Moment series, Turgenieff's novel, "Fathers and Sons."

FORDS, HOWARD & HULBERT have published this week in The Continent Library "A Syrian City," an illustrated book devoted to quaint picturesque corners of Philadelphia—new and old.

JOHN MURPHY & Co., Baltimore, have just ready "The Law of Heredity, a study of the cause of variation, and the origin of living organisms," by W. K. Brooks, associate in Biology of Johns Hopkins University.

C. W. BARDEEN, of Syracuse, wishes us to announce that the recent fire (September 25), damaged only his printing-office, and that he has a sufficient stock of all publications on hand to fill orders until the presses run again.

S. E. CASSINO has now ready W. H. Haddon's work on "Sea-Sickness," described in our last issue; also an invaluable work for botanists, students entitled "Botanical Micro-Chemistry," an introduction to the study of vegetable histology, by V. A. Bouslen, translated by Prof. Wm. Trelease.

CARLTON MCCARTHY & Co., Richmond, Va., will publish on the 15th inst., a volume of "Contributions to the History of the Richmond Howitzer Battalion, No. 1," by Henry Hudson W. Gordon McCabe, and E. C. Gordon, edited by Carlton McCarthy. The work will make an octavo of about 75 pages, and will retail at $1.

ROBERTS BROS. have in press two new volumes of poetry, one by Lewis Morris, author of "Epic of Hades," etc., entitled "Day and Night," and the other by Philip Bourke Marston, the blind English poet; also a new work by Richard Jefferies, author of "The Gamekeeper at Home," entitled "The Story of my Heart."

MRS. LIZZIE E. COTTON, West Gorham, Me., has published an interesting work on "A New System of Bee Management," written by herself. It is spoken of as a thoroughly practical treatise, having been the outcome of the author's own experience in bee management. It points out clearly and carefully everything that is needed to a full knowledge of the subject, and is of especial value to beginners in bee culture.

W. B. CLARKE & CARRUTH, Boston, have just published "Marplot Cupid," a bright and entertaining story of New England country life, by a lady well known in Boston society who conceals her identity under the pseudonym of "Van Saxon." This firm announces that they have sold 4000 copies of "Mr. Jacob's" which (we believe it is now an open secret) was written by Mr. Arlo Bates, of the Boston Centinel.

A. D. F. RANDOLPH & Co., have in preparation a unique volume, entitled "God's Thoughts: A Pansy Text-book for the Month," being a volume of Bible texts and poetical quotations illustrated with pansies beautifully printed in color. Another gem for the holidays will be "The World's Christmas Hymns," a selection of Christmas hymns and verses, arranged by William H. and Susan H. Ward, illustrated by twelve classic pictures reproduced by the artotype process.

J. W. BOUTON has been fortunate enough to secure the 25 copies to be offered for sale America of L. M. Solon's work on "The Art of the Old English Potter," forming an account of the progress of the craft in England from the earliest period to the middle of the eighteenth century. The work will be handsomely printed in imperial quarto on Dutch hand-made paper, with 50 plates etched by the author. The number of copies is limited to 250, and immediately after publication the plates will be destroyed.

T. B. PETERSON & BROTHERS will shortly publish "Two Kisses," a bright and snappy love story, by Hawley Smart; "Erring, yet Noble," by Isaac G. Reed, Jr.; a new edition of "Hans Breitmann's Ballads," a new edition in paper covers of "Peterson's Coin-Book," a manual of the coins of the world; and "Nadia's Vow," a Russian love romance, translated from the French of Henri Gréville. They have just issued a new edition of Francatelli's "Modern Cook-Book," revised from the 26th London edition.

THE NATIONAL PUBLISHING CO., Philadelphia, have just issued a new and beautiful line of photograph albums, bound in plush and leather, in which they have a large and attractive assortment of designs. They claim to have made a specialty of using only the best materials and of producing a durably bound and elegantly finished album. The cards are of a heavy white paper, with a neat gold border and are free from wrinkling or "cockling." They use an extra quality of plush with a long silky nap which gives the albums a rich appearance.

FUNK & WAGNALLS desire the trade to note that after October 15 the price of Young's concordance will be doubled. They announce a new Christmas story by Edward Everett Hale, entitled "Our Christmas in a Palace," which is described how a snow-bound party at the Rocky Mountains spent their Christmas in a palace car. The book may be looked for in November 1. About the same time they expect to publish "A Popular Life of Martin Luther," based upon Köstlin's work as prepared by Prof. Rein, translated and edited by G. F. Schringer.

HENRY CAREY BAIRD & Co. have just published new editions of the following important works by Emory Edwards, the well-known mechanical engineer: "Modern American Marine Engines, Boilers, and Screw Propellers, their Design and Construction," "The Practical Steam-Engineer's Guide in the Design and Construction of American Stationary Engines, etc.," "A Catechism of the Marine Steam Engine," and "Modern American Locomotive Engines." They have also just issued the eighth edition, revised and enlarged, of Joshua Rose's "Complete Practical Machinist," and his work on "Mechanical Drawing Self-taught."

J. P. PUTNAM'S SONS announce a new book by Thomas Bassnett, entitled "The True Theory of the Sun," showing the relation between the sunspots and corona and atmospheric storms and comets, with the necessary formulæ and tables for computing the maximum and minimum effects of stellar activity, and the passage in time and place of the chief disturbers of the ether from the equator to the poles in both hemispheres. They have also under way "A History of the History of Democracy," by Jonathan Norcross, of Atlanta, Ga., and a clever little of New England life, by Grace D. Field, entitled "Only an Incident."

JOHN WILEY & SONS have now ready the first instalment of the second edition of what was formerly known as Vol. III. of "Weisbach's Mechanics of Engineering." In the hands of the editor, Prof. G. Hermann, the material of the first edition has been so thoroughly reclassified and revised, the methods of discussion so much improved and so much material added, as to practically constitute this second edition a new work, of three volumes, each as large as the original Vol. III. As revised by Prof. Hermann (and translated by Prof. J. F. Klein), the work divides itself into three parts, as follows: (1) The mechanics of machinery of transmission; (2) Mechanics of machinery for lifting and transporting solid and fluid materials; (3) Mechanics of machinery for changing the form and size of material.

ELLIOT STOCK, London, has in preparation a comprehensive critical "History of Philosophy," by Dr. Asa Mahan, in two volumes.

THE third volume of the "History of Civilization in Scotland," by Mr. John Mackintosh, of Aberdeen, recording the chief events in the country's history from 1603 to 1746, will be issued in October.

LONGMAN & Co. have in press a work by Mr. C. S. Devas, entitled "The Groundwork of Economics." Mr. Devas follows the historical method of the German economists, but takes Christian ethics for a foundation.

HAMILTON, ADAMS & Co., London, will publish at once a volume entitled "Curious Epitaphs," collected from the graveyards of Great Britain and Ireland, with biographical, genealogical, and historical notes, by Mr. William Andrews, of Hull. An important feature of the book will be "A Biography of Epitaphs" extending over 20 pages.

MR. REDWAY, we learn from the London Academy, will issue very shortly a verbatim reprint of the article on George Cruikshank written by Thackeray in 1840, and first published in the Westminster Review. There will be added a new portrait of Cruikshank etched by Mr. Pailthorpe, and a prefatory note by the editor, Mr. W. E. Church, on Thackeray as an artist and art critic.

EMILE DE LAVELEYRE'S recent work on the "Elements of Political Economy" is being translated, says the Athenaeum belge, into the following eight languages: English, German, Russian, Spanish, Polish, Servian, Bulgarian, and Greek. His short sketch of the life of Garfield, originally written for Swiss schools, has already been translated into Dutch, Swedish, and Portuguese.

It is proposed that the Paris Société Historique et Cercle Saint-Simon shall publish from time to time inedited documents of French history in a uniform manner. Each issue will constitute a feuillet mobile [loose sheet] capable of being inserted in its proper place in any historical series, or given to the printer without inconvenience. Thus, the sheet will be about 10x6, sized to allow of writing upon it, printed only on one side, and in two columns, with the necessary information as to the origin of the document. Each feuillet will fetch two centimes, and each volume (of 250) five francs—a calculated profit for the society of two francs.

THE Publishers' Trade-List Annual

For 1883 (Eleventh Year),

A Large 8vo, of over 2500 pages, is now ready.

The improvements in the Trade-List Annual last year have given such general satisfaction that there has been no change in the present issue (eleventh year) as to the essential features, which are:

1. The latest Catalogues of American Publishers, contributed by themselves and arranged alphabetically by the names of the publishers.
2. A complete reprint of the "Publishers' Weekly" full title Records of Books published (inclusive of all the descriptive notes) from July 8, 1882, to June 30, 1883. In order to facilitate reference, it will be accompanied by a full index, by which every book on record can be found, whether it is looked for under author, title, or subject.
3. The "Educational Catalogue" for 1883, which is used by the entire trade and educational interests as the most representative reference-list of School-books.

The above Lists, all bound in one volume, present in their combination so convenient and time-saving a working-tool as to make it indispensable to every one who has any interest in the purchase and sale of books.

The price is One Dollar and a half per copy net, bound in cloth, or can be sent post-paid for Two Dollars net, payable in advance.

Remittances should be made by check, money-order on New York, or registered letter, as we cannot be responsible for any losses. Receipt for remittance will be sent by return mail.

Unless special shipping directions are received, copies ready for delivery will be dispatched by express unpaid.

Parties so desiring can have their volumes supplied with the "SILVERA DU- PLEX INDEX," at the slight extra charge of 50 cents per copy. The Silvera Index is somewhat on the plan of Denison's, with the practical improvement, however, of having the alphabet printed on the concave surface (instead of on the margin of the page), which enables instantaneous reference, whether the book is open or shut.

F. LEYPOLDT, Publisher,

PUBLISHED OCTOBER 5.

FORTUNE'S FOOL.

A Novel. By JULIAN HAWTHORNE. One volume, 12mo, $1.50.

The latest story from the pen of one of the foremost American novelists, distinguished for fine perception, delicate analysis, and masterly combination. A powerful novel, destined to be ranked as a classic.

THE RECOLLECTIONS OF A DRUMMER-BOY.

By Rev. HARRY M. KIEFFER, late of the 150th Regiment Penn. Volunteers.
Illustrated. 1 volume, 16mo, $1.25.

This work brings most vividly and picturesquely before the younger generation the scenes and adventures of the Rebellion, told as only an eye-witness could tell them. It is a thrilling story of a soldier's life, from enlistment to muster-out, with all the stirring changes of camp and field, and the exciting incidents of campaigning on the "sacred soil."

A YEAR OF SUNSHINE.

By KATE SANBORN. Comprising choice and cheering selections for every day in the year. 1 vol., 16mo, beautifully bound, $1.

Five hundred selections on making the best of things. With margins for amateur decoration, and spaces beneath for memoranda, birthdays, etc., and poems for special days at the close. The pages are red-lined.

FOR SALE IN CHICAGO BY JANSSEN, McCLURG & CO.

A Most Reliable and Valuable Work of Reference

A DICTIONARY OF QUOTATIONS FROM THE POETS.

Based upon Bohn's edition, with numerous additions from American authors. Carefully revised and corrected, with index of authors and chronological data, and a concordance index to every passage in the volume. Introductory preface by R. H. STODDARD. Crown 8vo, 768 pages, $2.50; Interleaved Edition, $3.50.

Special care has been taken to insure accuracy of text, the copy having been compared with author's text before being put in type, and again verified by comparing the proof-sheets with the original text, so that each quotation has been verified not only by the compiler, but also by an expert employed for this purpose.

"The system of indexing by numbering the passages, and referring to them by numbers in the Index of Authors and General Index is a very thorough piece of work."—Good Literature.

"The highest ambition of the compiler in this kind of work should be accuracy, good judgment in the selection of quotations, and their arrangement. On all these points the compilation stands strong, and cannot fail to prove highly useful."—Independent.

"Not only a very comprehensive, but is also admirably indexed and arranged."—Christian Union.

"Those who have need of poetical quotations will find nothing more completely adapted to their desires than this book. We know of none as good—Bohn's edition has no index."—Christian Intelligence.

"The more competent the critic who examines it the heartier will be his favorable verdict."—Congregationalist.

"The commendation of R. H. Stoddard, which is embodied as a preface, is a sufficient testimonial to its merits."—Boston Pilot.

"For variety, fulness of illustration of each topic, scope, and value of the quotations, the work is superior to any other with which I am acquainted. It should find a place in every library."—Cyrus Northrop, Professor of Rhetoric and English Literature in Yale College.

"It has been compiled with excellent judgment and evidently with great care, and is printed and indexed in a way to satisfy the most exacting. It is a useful and attractive book."—Prof. EDWARD H. GRIFFIN, Williams College, Mass.

"It seems to be unusually full and accurate. I tested it on various critical passages and found it always correct."—Prof. WM. HAND BROWNE, Johns Hopkins University.

"A work which will add materially to our stock of useful works of reference."—WM. E. FOSTER, Librarian of Prov. Public Library.

"A vast improvement upon Bohn's original compendium."—E. C. STEDMAN.

"Highly creditable to the compiler's taste, industry, and accuracy."—JOHN G. WHITTIER.

"Contains a vast amount of quotable verse, and appears to be faithfully indexed."—OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES.

"An exceptionally thorough and conscientious work, showing a catholicity of taste that adds greatly to its value. A careful search through the most familiar passages has revealed no errors, a fact that is extremely creditable."—THOS. S. COLLIER.

Sparkling New Books for Young People.

THE BEAR-WORSHIPPERS

OF YEZO AND THE ISLAND OF KARAFUTO; OR, THE ADVENTURES OF THE JEWETT FAMILY AND THEIR FRIEND OTO NAMBO. By EDWARD GREY. With 180 illustrations by Rinzo and by Ichiske Hamada, and cover designed and drawn by the author. Bound in boards, illuminated in gold and colors, $1.75; cloth, black and gold, $2.50.

* * * The present volume, the last of the series, is devoted to the manners and customs of the bear-worshippers of Yezo, which was formerly a portion of the Empire of Japan, but now belongs to the Russian Empire. Mr. Grey spent nearly a year in cruising in the northern waters, and became well acquainted with the people of Karafuto and Yezo. The information which he gives in this book of the quaint people is almost unknown to Americans. The illustrations of the volume are, with few exceptions, by Japanese artists, and are exceedingly graphic and correct.

UNIFORM IN STYLE AND PRICE WITH

YOUNG AMERICANS IN JAPAN;

OR, THE ADVENTURES OF THE JEWETT FAMILY AND THEIR FRIEND OTO NAMBO. By EDWARD GREY. With 170 full-page and letterpress illustrations. AND WITH

THE WONDERFUL CITY OF TOKIO;

OR, THE FURTHER ADVENTURES OF THE JEWETT FAMILY AND THEIR FRIEND OTO NAMBO. By EDWARD GREY. With 169 illustrations.

* * * The above three volumes constitute the most accurate and complete narrative of scenes, incidents, manners, customs—in fact, of the daily life—of the people in the "Land of the Rising Sun" ever offered for the instruction and amusement of young readers.

OUR BOYS IN CHINA:

The thrilling story of two young Americans, Scott and Paul Clayton, who were wrecked on the Chinese Sea on their return from India with their strange adventures in China. By HARRY W. FRENCH. With 150 illustrations. Bound in emblematical covers of Chinese design, $1.75; cloth, black and gold, $2.50.

* * * Those of our young readers who, last year, followed the strange adventures of the Claytons in their wanderings through the great Indian Empire, will be delighted with the present volume, which abounds in information relative to the people of China, their peculiar customs and habits, games and sports, ways of doing business, temples, etc. The illustrations are "taking," as well as appropos to the narrative.

UNIFORM IN STYLE AND PRICE WITH

OUR BOYS IN INDIA:

The wanderings of two young Americans in Hindostan, with their exciting adventures on the sacred rivers and wild mountains. By HARRY W. FRENCH. With 145 illustrations.

* * * One of the most intensely interesting and instructive volumes published last year.

UNIFORM WITH THE ABOVE.

DRIFTING ROUND THE WORLD;

A BOY'S ADVENTURES BY SEA AND LAND. By Capt. CHARLES W. HALL, author of "Accidents in the Ice-Fields," etc. Numerous full-page and letterpress illustrations. Handsome board covers, $1.75; cloth, gilt, $2.50.

By OLIVER OPTIC. Illustrated, $1.25.

BEING THE SECOND VOLUME OF

THE BOATBUILDERS' SERIES,

AND UNIFORM WITH

ALL ADRIFT; OR, THE GOLD WING CLUB.

By OLIVER OPTIC. Illustrated, $1.25.

* * * In this new series of fascinating books the "most popular writer for young folks in the world" aims to present not only a series of lively stories, but to make them of practical value by the introduction of workshop mechanics, so that his readers will be taught how to build a boat, a boat-house, to rig and sail a boat, etc. The first volume of the series has found great favor among young folks, and, as the new volume is fully as breezy, it will certainly be in wide demand.

By MISS A. M. DOUGLAS.

SANTA CLAUS LAND.

By AMANDA M. DOUGLAS, author of "Kathie Stories." Illustrated, $1.

* * * A beautiful story, that will amply satisfy the children's cry for Christmas reading.

J. T. TROWBRIDGE'S NEW BOOKS.

PHIL AND HIS FRIENDS.

By J. T. TROWBRIDGE. Illustrated, $1.25.

THE TINKHAM BROTHERS' TIDE-MILL.

By J. T. TROWBRIDGE. Illustrated, $1.25.

* * * As a story-teller, Mr. Trowbridge ranks among the foremost American writers for the young. The readers of St. Nicholas know how easy it is for him to please, charming are his heroes and heroines, and how "taking" are his incidents; and parents are aware how strong is his conviction that a story is wholesome only when it is one of morality. There is not a dull page in the volume announced; but no sentiments are expressed that would tend to purify youth.

SOPHIE MAY'S NEW BOOK,

FLAXIE'S KITTYLEEN.

By SOPHIE MAY. Illustrated, 75 cents.

* * * "Kittyleen" is the latest volume in the famous "Flaxie" series. She was a snip of a girl, three years old, whose long name was Katherine Garland. She who is now about her is Sophie May, who is never so happy as when she sits down to write a story for little girls.

THE DIPLOMATIC HISTORY OF THE WAR FOR THE UNION.

By WILLIAM H. SEWARD. Edited by George E. Baker. 8vo. $3.

This volume includes the diary of the War for the Union, from 1861 to 1865, which Mr. Seward, then Secretary of State, furnished to the United States Ministers abroad for their information concerning the contest.

It contains also selections from Mr. Seward's Diplomatic Correspondence, embracing these remarkable dispatches which attracted so earnest attention at home and abroad; several cabinet papers, never before published, and important speeches.

Prefixed to the volume is a memoir, reciting the great political movements which occurred in the United States from 1861 to 1869, in which Mr. Seward bore a conspicuous part, with accounts of his travels round the globe, and of the occasional speeches which he made after his retirement from office in 1869 to his death in 1872.

IN PRESS:

A New Christmas Story by Edward Everett Hale. OUR CHRISTMAS IN A PALACE.

READY NOV. 10th:

In this Mr. Hale tells us of a party of passengers travelling in the far West. While en route they become snow-bound in the Rocky Mountains and have to spend their Christmas in a Palace Car. Making the best of their situation, each contributes to the enjoyment of the occasion, bringing from his trunk such entertainment as he has, while the strangeness of the situation and the hilarity of the party dispel every thought of loneliness. 12mo, about 300 pages, cloth, $1.

A POPULAR LIFE OF MARTIN LUTHER.

READY NOV. 2d:

Based upon Köstlin's Life of Luther, as prepared by Prof. W. Rein, Seminary Director at Eisenach, in Germany. Translated and edited by the Rev. G. F. Behringer. The celebration of the four hundredth anniversary of Luther's birth is exciting a world-wide interest. The great Reformer occupies a conspicuous place in history, and as a historical character alone his life is worthy of study. To present an attractive and popular record of the man, which shall at the same time be scholarly and reliable, is the aim of this volume. It retains all that is valuable and interesting in the two volumes (not the condensed work issued in one volume in Germany and announced for publication in this country) of Köstlin's extensive work. It omits abstruse and technical points, yet presents the salient features of its subject in so attractive a manner that the interest never flags. It will prove THE BEST POPULAR LIFE OF THE GREAT REFORMER ever printed in the English language. 12mo, about 288 pages, cloth, $1.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS

PUBLISH THIS DAY:

Biblical Study.

ITS PRINCIPLES, METHODS, AND HISTORY. Together with a Catalogue of Books of Reference. By CHARLES AUGUSTUS BRIGGS, D.D., Professor of Hebrew and the Cognate Languages in Union Theological Seminary, New York City. 1 vol., 12mo, $2.50.

This work is the product of the author's experience as a student of the Bible and a teacher of theological students in Biblical Study. From time to time he has been called upon to give special attention to particular themes. The ground of Biblical Study has thus been well covered. Prof. Briggs has aimed to present a guide to Biblical Study for the intelligent layman as well as the theological student and minister of the Gospel, believing that a scientific study of the Word of God should be combined with a devout use of it. It is all-important that the revival of Biblical Study, which is now in progress in America, should be guided in the right direction. True progress in theology is to be found in the working out of the principles of the Reformation and of Puritanism, in carrying them on to higher and grander results. It is the constant aim of this book to call attention to these principles, and to the methods of study based upon them. At the same time, a sketch of the entire history of each department of Biblical Study has been given; the stages of its development are traced; the normal is discriminated from the abnormal; and the whole is rooted in the methods of Christ and His Apostles.

A NEW BOOK BY MARION HARLAND.

The Cottage Kitchen.

1 vol., 12mo, $1.

THE COTTAGE KITCHEN is a practical cookery book for people of slender means, especially for young people beginning housekeeping. Its aim is to advise young housekeepers how to serve wholesome and palatable fare tastefully, at the lowest cost compatible with American prices, current and the demands of healthful bodies.

Scattered through the book are a number of most helpful familiar talks, cheerful, chatty, and practical, which furnish much advice and information of a general nature, just such as the young and inexperienced housekeeper needs, and such as Marion Harland's sound common-sense and large experience enable her to give.

The Wisdom of Goethe.

By Professor JOHN STUART BLACKIE. With a list of citations, prepared especially for this edition, with references to the text of the more important works. 1 vol., 12mo, $1.25.

"No fair-minded reader can read the admirable words of Goethe on life, character, morals, religion, politics, philosophy, science, art, education, which Prof. Blackie has set forth without perceiving that these words are not manufactured but have grown out of the life of one whose vision of truth was wide and clear, whose life was strenuous and set on wide ends, and whose heart was kind and sane. A reader who has made this book his own will be disposed to enter on the study of Goethe in that spirit of trust by which alone the secrets of a master mind are shown."—London Academy.

Fred, and Maria, and Me.

By ELIZABETH PRENTISS, author of "Stepping Heavenward." 1 vol., 16mo, illustrated. A new edition. Price reduced to $1.

The numberless admirers of Mrs. Prentiss's books will welcome this new edition of one of her most charming stories, which for some years has been out of print. Though first published anonymously, FRED, AND MARIA, AND ME attained an immediate and well-deserved popularity, and this edition of the book will appeal to a new generation of interested readers.

NOTES IN SEASON.

BOOKSELLERS, prepare for the holidays! Study the Fall Announcement number and the new advertisements of the WEEKLY. Don't delay securing an edition, with your own imprint, of the Illustrated Christmas Catalogue of the WEEKLY, or of the Illustrated Christmas number of the Literary News, or—of both. We are determined to have them ready in good time, and therefore we cannot print beyond a certain number. Last year so many booksellers were too late that we consider it our duty to sound this note of warning.

D. APPLETON & Co. issue this week Rhoda Broughton's new novel, "Belinda."

GEORGE A. LEAVITT & Co. announce that the annual November Trade Sale of books, stationery, stereotype plates, etc., will commence November 20. Consignments should reach the auctioneers by the 20th inst.

ROBERTS BROS. have just ready "Seven Spanish Cities and the Way to Them," by Rev. Edw. E. Hale. It is a narrative of the author's recent trip to some of the most important cities of the kingdom, comprising Madrid, Cadiz, Seville, Cordova, Toledo, Malaga, and Xeres.

SOULE & BUGBEE have just ready "Elements of the Law of Domestic Relations, and of Employer and Employed," by Irving Browne, a timely and valuable work, presenting as it does a brief but very comprehensive summary of the body of the law, as contained in the more voluminous and exhaustive works of Bishop, Schouler, and Wood.

WHITE, STOKES & ALLEN issue to-day a neat little volume for the benefit of gastronomists, entitled "The Oyster Epicure: A Collation of Authorities on the Gastronomy and Dietetics of the Oyster." The volume contains hints as to when oysters are in season, how to serve and eat them, what to drink with them, how many to eat, etc., and concludes with an account of some famous oyster eaters and a chapter on the happiness of the oyster.

JAMES R. OSGOOD & Co. have just published "George Eliot: A Critical Study of her Life, Writings and Philosophy," by George Willis Cooke, who treats a congenial subject in an able and instructive manner; a biography of John Greenleaf Whittier, by Francis H. Underwood, who has written the work with the full sanction of Mr. Whittier, and who has succeeded in obtaining much new matter, poems, etc., and a most valuable Whittier bibliography. They have also just ready, at a reduced price, a new edition of J. G. Palfrey's "History of New England," to which has been added a new and complete index, which greatly adds to the value of this standard work.

WILLIAM T. AMIES, agent, Phila., calls attention to several illustrated works just published by him in sumptuous style. The "Fables" of La Fontaine, translated into English by Walter Thornbury, who has added an essay on La Fontaine's life and works, and also a sketch of Æsop, the great Phrygian, are brought out in a handsome edition, illustrated with one hundred drawings from the pencil of Gustave Doré, printed from entirely new plates, on paper of extra quality, with appropriate, durable, and elegant bindings. More beautiful still is the "Doré Family Bible," in quarto size, with hundreds of added pages of helpful information, copiously illustrated, one of its most important features being the "Doré Bible Gallery," which is also published separately. It contains one hundred of the Bible illustrations with an explanatory page to each, forming a pictorial summary of the Bible narrative from Genesis to Revelation, to which is added a brief sketch of Doré and an excellent portrait of the artist. These three works are brought out at surprisingly low prices. The "Fables" and "Bible Gallery" in three, and the complete "Bible" in six new and rich styles of binding.

Ahn, F. Complete Latin syntax, by P. Henn. N. Y., E. Steiger & Co., 1883. 8+233 p. D. (Steiger's Latin ser.) cl., 90 c.; bds., 80 c.

Designed for advanced pupils; a full course of Latin syntax which may be used as a text-book or as a book of reference in study. The points which have received special attention are the following: to set forth the facts and laws of classical Latin; to describe clearly and accurately the real difficulties of Latin construction; to put the rules in a clear and simple form, and illustrate them by carefully selected examples given without any mutilations.

Ahn, F. Manual of Latin prose composition; with reference to Ahn's Complete Latin syntax, by P. Henn. N. Y., E. Steiger & Co., 1883. 8+116 p. D. (Steiger's Latin ser.) bds., 50 c.

Complete course of exercises illustrative of all the important rules and principles of Latin syntax. The vocabulary contains every word and idiom in the text.

Alden, Mrs. I. M. ["Pansy," pseud.], ed. The Pansy stories of child-life at home and abroad, and of modern and ancient history. Bost., D. Lothrop & Co. [1883]. 2+416 p. il. sq. O. bds., $1.25; cl., $1.75.

The bound volume of "Pansy" for 1883, in a handsome cover by G. F. Barnes.

Babyland, ed. by editors of Wide Awake. Bost., D. Lothrop & Co. [1883]. 6-104 p. il. O. cl., $1; bds., 75 c.

Babyland for 1883 bound in one volume. Full of charming pictures and reading for the little ones. In a very attractive cover, designed by C. F. Barnes.

Benjamin, Judah P. A treatise on the law of sale of personal property; with references to the American decisions and to the French code and civil law. 4th Am. from latest English ed., by Edmund H. Bennett. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1884 [1883]. 89+1153 p. O. shp., $6.50.

Blake, Mary. Twenty-six hours a day. Bost., D. Lothrop & Co. [1883]. 212 p. D. cl., $1.25.

This book is dedicated to busy mothers, hoping to help solve some of the troublesome problems of a woman's life. A wish for twenty-six hours a day, overheard by the author, leads her to show how to get them; how to use them; why we want them. There are added nine letters of advice to young mothers on the physical and moral care of children, a pretty sketch of a mother's dream of heaven, and an amusing description of how a man takes care of a baby on a railroad journey. A thoroughly practical, helpful book, full of good suggestions.

Bo-peep for little folks: prose and poetry for little ones. Bost., D. Lothrop & Co., [1883]. no paging, il. sq. O. bds., 75 c.

Little stories in large type for little children. Fully illustrated with many full-p. pictures.

Brontë, Charlotte. [Mrs. Nichols, pseud. "Currer Bell."]. Poems. N. Y., White, Stokes & Allen, 1882. 135 p. S. limp vellum, $1; cl., $1; limp tree cl., $4.50; embossed leath., $4.50.

A very daintily gotten up little volume; printed from new plates on extra fine laid paper, with wide margins and uncut edges. The cover and title-page are printed in blue. This description will apply to the poems of George Eliot, Lockyer, Thackeray and Gray, to be found in their proper places in the list. They are uniform in appearance, with the exception that some of the title-pages and covers are in blue and some in red.

Brooks, Rev. Phillips. Sermons preached in English churches. N. Y., E. P. Dutton & Co., 1883. 6+311 p. D. cl., $1.75.

Fourteen sermons preached during a recent visit to England in as many different churches. Those most characteristic of the magnetic preacher of Trinity Church, Boston, were delivered at Westminster Abbey on "Man's wonder and God's knowledge," at St. Paul's Cathedral on "The Christian city," preached on Hospital Sunday, and at the Temple, London, on "Gamaliel," but they are all quite up to his well-known standard in point of eloquence, literary style, and happy choice of subjects. The publishers have given these gems an appropriate, substantial setting.

Brown, Susan Anna. Mrs. Gilpin's fragilities: remnants, and 200 ways of using them. N. Y., C. Scribner's Sons, 1883. 16+102 p. obl. T. bds., $1.

The author of "The book of forty puddings," such a pleasant surprise last season in its dainty, æsthetic dress offers another little volume to housekeepers, gotten up in the same refined, artistic style. It aims to show Americans how to practice a new and attractive economy in connection with their tables. Two hundred ways are given for saving over the odds and ends of meats and vegetables which generally go to waste in our extravagant method of living. The book is printed in brown ink, and has a board cover whose prevailing tint is brown. One side represents the frugal-minded Mrs. Gilpin and her lord, the other is a play upon the text, "a snapper-up of unconsidered trifles."

Buffum, J. H., M.D. A practical treatise on the medical and surgical treatment of the diseases and injuries of the eye. Chic., G. S. & Delbridge, 1883. 450 p., il. and 25 col. lithographs, O. cl., $4.50.

Burdett, Ja. S. A new collection of comic recitations and humorous readings; ed. and arranged for public reading and recitation by Ja. S. Burdett. N. Y., Roorbach & Co. [1883]. 121 p. S. pap., 25 c.

Burdett, Ja. S. A new collection of Irish dialect recitations and readings; ed. and arranged for public reading and recitation by Ja. S. Burdett. N. Y., Roorbach & Co. [1883]. 2+121 p. S. pap., 25 c.

Calvert, G. H. Sibyl: a poem. Bost., Lee & Shepard, [1883]. 55 p. sq. S. flex. cl., 50 c.

Champney, Lizzie W. John Angelo at the water-color exhibition; with il. by members of the American Water-Color Society. Bost., D. Lothrop & Co. [1883]. no paging, O. cl., $1.

Quite a good idea of our prominent artists and their schools may be gained from this very amusing and interesting quarto. Its little heroes are two boys living in a studio building, who indulge in art talk, go to the water-color exhibition, and relate many strange experiences which come in their way of an artistic nature. The illustrations, which almost crowd every page are taken from celebrated pictures and have the artists' names attached.

Oobbe, Miss Frances Power. Darwinism: morals and other essays. Bost., G. H. E. & Co., 1883. 422 p. D. cl., $2.

Fourteen essays reprinted from the pages of the Ten Cent Magazine, and Fortnightly Reviews, Fraser's and Macmillan's Magazines, and the Manchester Friend. The subjects treated are: Darwinism in morals; Hereditary passion; religion of childhood; An English broad churchman; French theist; The devil; A prehistoric religion; The religions of the world; The religions of the east; The religion and literature of India; Unconscious cerebration; Dreams; Auricular confession in the Church of England. The evolution of morals and religion.

* In this list, the titles generally are verbatim transcriptions (according to the rule of the American Library Association) from books received. Books not received are indicated by a prefix and this office cannot be held responsible for the correctness of their record. This list will be republished, with all the notices of the books received, in the TRADE LIST ANNUAL.

Colt, David. How the rain sprites were freed.

Bost., D. Lothrop & Co. [1883]. no paging, il. sq. O. bds., $1.

A fairy tale opening in the Black Forest; relates the adventures of Max and Greta, a little boy and girl who in the midst of a long drought, conceive the happy idea of going in search of the place where the rain is stored, and begging a more abundant supply of the keepers of the storehouse. Charmingly told, and il. with colored pictures.

Cooke, J. Esten. Bonnybel Vane; embracing the history of Henry St. John, Gentleman. [New ed. of "Henry St. John."] N. Y., Harper, 1883. D. cl., $1.

Cotton, J. S., and Payne, E. J. Colonies and dependencies. Pt. 1: India, by J. S. Cotton; Pt. 2: The colonies, by E. J. Payne. N. Y., Macmillan, 1883. 5+164 p. D. (English citizen ser.) cl., $1.

Cross, Jos., D. D. Pauline charity: discourses on the 13th chapter of Saint Paul's first epistle to the Corinthians. N. Y., T. Whitaker, 1883. 6+285 p. D. cl., $1.50.

These twenty lectures on charity were preached by the venerable Dr. Cross to his parishioners at St. Matthew's Church, Moravia, N. Y. They contain much historical and ethical truth, handled in the author's eloquent and liberal manner. The volume is a plea against sectional antipathy, party animosity, and religious controversy. The sermons are printed as they were spoken and lovingly dedicated to the author's wife.

Daunt, Achilles. Frank Redcliffe: a story of travel and adventure in the forests of Venezuela; a book for boys. N. Y., T. Nelson & Sons, 1883. 3-426 p. il. D. cl., $1.50.

A story in autobiographical form. The hero, from earliest youth, longed for sport and travel; learned to read under protest, but at ten years of age became interested in the Waverley novels, and finding in the school library some of Gordon Cummings' and Mayne Reid's works, and later Cooper's "Leather Stocking Tales," fixed his mind upon life of travel and adventure. He goes to Venezuela, and he author on a thin thread of narrative, lets him learn and teaches boys through him all about the resources of South America. The scientific terms introduced in brackets will enable a studious boy to learn much while thoroughly enjoying this vividly told story.

Delightful days; illustrated stories of American life and adventure, by American authors and artists. Bost., D. Lothrop & Co. [1883]. no paging, il. O. bds., $1.50.

A thick volume of stories and pictures for the young; made up chiefly from Wide Awake.

Dick, W. B., ed. Dick's games of patience; or, solitaire with cards; containing 44 games. N. Y., Dick & Fitzgerald, [1883]. 143 p., 33 diagrams, sq. D. cl., $1.

To aid in disseminating and popularizing the interesting game of solitaire (which, as its name indicates, requires no partners), this little work has been prepared with the greatest care and with a special view to perspicuity of description and detail; a number of the games have been arranged and adapted from Lady Adelaide Cadogan's English work solitaire, with the addition of numerous games of American origin; and the completeness and accuracy of the work have been greatly enhanced by the co-operation of some of the most expert devotees of solitaire. The progress of each game is illustrated by appropriate diagrams.

Dickinson, Mrs. Ellen E. The Christmas wreath: original and selected Christmas poems arranged by Mrs. Ellen E. Dickinson; covers designed by Walter Satterlee and Susie B. Skelding. N. Y., White, Stokes & Allen, 1883. no paging, wreath shape, ribbon-tied leaflets, 50 c.; fringed, $1.

Christmas token, with covers representing on one side a path of lilies around the face of the Christ-child, and on the other a holly wreath encircling the face of Santa Claus. The coloring is very fine.

Ellis, E. S. Ned in the block-house: a tale of early days in the West. Phil., Porter & Coates, [1883]. 327 p. 1 il. S. (Boy pioneer ser.) cl., $1.25.

Scene laid in Kentucky and Ohio in the year 1788. The story is capitably told, and relates stirring encounters with naturally depicted Indians.

Eutropius; adapted for use of beginners, with notes, exercises and vocabularies, by W. Welch and C. G. Duffield. N. Y., Macmillan, 1883. 14+111 p. map, S. (Elementary classics.) flex. cl., net, 40 c.

Ewing, J. H. Blue and red; or, the discontented lobster; il. by R. Andre. N. Y., E. & J. B. Young, [1883]. no paging, O. bds., $1.50.

Fenn, G. Manville. Middy and ensign; or, the jungle station: a tale of the Malay Peninsula; il. by H. Petherick. N. Y., E. P. Dutton & Co., 1883. 12+371 p. sq. D. cl., $2.

A story of adventure by land and sea, giving really instructive descriptions of life in Malay, and teaching many interesting facts about the animals and vegetables of that country, in a form that must entertain boys of from twelve to sixteen.

Fisher, G. P., D. D. The grounds of theistic and Christian belief. N. Y., C. Scribner's Sons, 1883. 19+488 p. D. cl., $2.50.

"This volume embraces a discussion of the evidences of both natural and revealed religion. Prominence is given to topics having special interest at present from their connection with modern theories and difficulties. The argument of design, and the bearing of evolutionary doctrine on its validity, are fully considered. In dealing with anti-theistic theories, the agnostic philosophy seemed to call for particular attention."—Preface. A portion of this volume has been published, mostly as a connected series of articles, in the Princeton Review. Author is Professor of Ecclesiastical History in Yale College.

Fosdick, C. A. ["Harry Castlemon," pseud.] Don Gordon's shooting-box. Phil., Porter & Coates, [1883]. 352 p. por. S. (Rod and gun ser.) cl., $1.25.

Scene laid in Mississippi after the war. Don Gordon is one of the heroes of the Boy Trapper series. Quite in Harry Castlemon's style. Boys all like his books.

From Do-Nothing Hall to Happy Day House; il. by H. J. A. Miles. N. Y., E. & J. B. Young, [1883]. no paging, obl. Tt. bds., 75 c.

Gilmour, Rev. Ja. Among the Mongols. N. Y., American Tract Soc. [1883]. 15+382 p., map and il., D. cl., $1.50.

"Aims at representing to the Western reader whatever is most noteworthy and interesting in the home life, manners and customs, occupations, modes of thought, superstitions and religious beliefs of the Mongol tribes who inhabit the eastern portion of the plateau of Central Asia lying between Siberia on the north and China on the south."—Preface. The 18th chapter contains a clear, detailed account of Buddhism as it obtains to-day. A copious index adds to the usefulness of this entertaining and highly instructive book.

Gladstone, J. H., and Tribe, Alfred. The chemistry of the secondary batteries of Planté and Faure. N. Y., Macmillan, 1883. 11+59 p. sq. S. (Nature series.) flex. cl., $1.00.

Gray, T. Elegy written in a country churchyard; il. by Harry Fenn. Bost., Roberts Bros., 1884 [1883]. no paging. D. cl., $1.50; with fringed borders, $1.75; flex. mor. and tree cf., $4.—Same, roy. 8", cl., $3; ant. mor. or tree cf., $8.

The specially interesting feature of this edition, aside from its beautiful designs, is the reproduction of three stanzas printed in the earlier editions, but subsequently dropped by the author. These rejected verses are inclosed in a charming design of birds and flowers and serve as a frontispiece. Many of the illustrations are from sketches taken at Stoke Poges, the scene of the poem, by Mr. Fenn. All of them, some thirty in number, were made especially for this edition by Harry Fenn and drawn and engraved under the supervision of George T. Andrew. The cover is a charming design in blue, gray, and silver.

Gray, T. Poems. N. Y., White, Stokes & Allen, 1883. 167 p. S. limp vellum, $1; cl., $1; limp tree cf., $4.50; embossed leath., $4.50.

See note under Brontë.

Griswold, W. H. A synopsis of copyright decisions. Bangor, Me., Q. P. Index, 1883. 8 p. O. pap., $1.

First printed in the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY for Sept., 1883, p. 246.

H., C., and G., W. The alphabet children. N. Y., White, Stokes & Allen, 1884 [1883]. no paging, il. F. bds., $1.

Original illustrations of the alphabet, with new verses. The pictures are quite striking and full of character. Children cannot fail to gain both instruction and amusement from them. The cover in colors, representing the "alphabet children" playing at "open the gates as high as the sky," is quite a work of art.

Hale, P. M. In the coal and iron counties of North Carolina. N. Y., E. J. Hale & Son, 1883. 425 p. map. D. cl., $1.50.

The same general plan is followed in this volume as was pursued in a work on "The woods and timbers of North Carolina," published by this house about a year ago. The descriptions of the coal and iron fields which fill the first part are taken from the geological reports of Drs. Emmons and Kerr; State geologists, and the reports to the War Department of Col. Laidley and Admiral Wilkes. The condensed descriptions of the resources of fifty-six counties which follow are by well-known North Carolinians. These are supplemented by valuable census figures and a map of the State showing facilities for transportation.

Hall, E. H. Ten lectures on orthodoxy and heresy in the Christian Church. Bost., American Unitarian Assoc., 1883. 5+238 p. S. cl., 75 cts.

Ten lectures, prepared by the pastor for his own congregation and afterward privately printed for their use. Some of the themes have been the "vexed questions" of the Unitarian Church, and leading Unitarian ministers have urged the author to consent to their publication. His clear, definite reasoning will be found a great help to teachers and advanced scholars in Unitarian Sunday-schools. Contents: Paul and the apostles; Views of the early Church concerning Christ; Arianism and the Council of Nicæa; Controversy concerning the two natures; The Pelagian controversy; The Catholic Church; The Lutheran heresy; Other Trinitarian heresies; Unitarian heresies; Religion and dogma.

Heron, Rev. J. M. The pocket manual, no. 2; or, a key to a profitable occupation for any person: a universal text-book. Phil., W. H. Thompson, 1883. 224 p. T. cl., 50 c.; mor., $1; leath., pocket-book style, $1; mor., pocket-book style, $1.50; rus., $3.

Contains articles by persons of experience on: How to become a short-hand writer; a proof-reader; a telegraph operator; a type-writer; How to get a farm from U.S.; How to manufacture superphosphate of lime and guano; How to raise poultry or poultry and eggs as a business; How to become a dressmaker; How to draw and paint flowers, etc.

Hopkins, Mark, D.D. The Scriptural idea of man: six lectures given before the theological students at Princeton, on the L. P. Stone foundation. N. Y., C. Scribner's Sons, 1883. 6+145 p. D. cl., $1.

These lectures were first delivered before the Theological Seminary, at New Haven, then repeated at Chicago and Oberlin, thoroughly revised and once more given before the Theological Seminary at Princeton, and are now printed at the special request of the professors of that institution. In early life Dr. Hopkins graduated from Williams College as a physician, and his physiological reasoning is as accurate as his metaphysical, while his well-known proficiency as Professor of Rhetoric enables him to make his weightiest thoughts clear and fascinating. The subjects of the several lectures are: Man created; Man created in the image of God; In knowledge, feeling, freedom, and causative power; The moral nature; Man created with dominion; Male and female; Man in his present state; The man Christ Jesus.

Hopkins, Mary A. M. A great treason: story of the war of independence. N. Y., Macmillan, 1883. 8+595 p. D. cl., $1.

Houghton, Lord. Good-night and good-morning: words by Lord Houghton; with illuminations and etchings by Walter Severn. Bost., Roberts Bros. [1883]. no paging. sq. O. ribbon-tied leaflets, $1.25.

Eight leaflets including the two covers, tied with blue ribbons and fastened with a blue silk cord and tassels. A little poem, each verse filling the centre of a leaf and encircled with a characteristic design, half in bright colors and half in tints. Printed only on one side of fine card-board.

Howe, E. W. The story of a country town: from designs by W. L. Wells. Atchison, Kan., Howe & Co., 1883. 6+226 p. D. cl., $1.25.

A novel of Western life about thirty years ago. The form is autobiographical. The author is the editor of a Kansas evening paper.

Ideal poems from the English poets. Bost., D. Lothrop & Co. [1883]. 3-71 p. il. O. cl., $3.

"The brook," by Tennyson, Kingsley's "Three fishers," "The long white man," by Jean Ingelow, "O may I see the thing invisible," by George Eliot, "How they seek the good news from Ghent to Aix," by Robert Browning and other celebrated poems, illustrated with 12 full-page pictures by Howden, Miss Humphrey, Fredericka Stoll, St. John Harper, and other eminent American artists. Printed on a heavy rich paper. In a rich cloth binding.

Keller, Miss M. C. The fair enchantress: or, how she won men's hearts. Phil., T. B. Peterson & Bros., [1883]. 17-330 p. sq. S. pap., 75 c.

The scene is laid in New Orleans. A good picture of convent life opens the story. The heroine's mother is murdered and she is cast adrift with her baby sister. A wandering physician adopts the children; the younger is murdered at night by a jealous woman. The heroine is finally rescued by her guardian after being courted by many worthless unworthy men. A duel, several murders, and a horse-racing are graphically depicted. The yellow fever epidemic of 1818 is well described, the heroine taking an active part as nurse.

Kieffer, Harry M. The recollections of a drummer-boy. Bost., James R. Osgood & Co., 1883. 2+332 p. il. S. cl., $1.25.

The series of papers published in St. Nicholas several years ago under the above title has now been slightly re-ordered and thoroughly revised and collected in an equally well illustrated book. The author has reflected the spirit of the army to which he belonged, but avoided needless references of a sectional nature, and has given an accurate story of army life which breathes on every page "charity for all." The battles of Chancellorsville, Gettysburg, the Wilderness and Petersburg, are vividly described and in language that must rouse the enthusiasm of every patriotic boy, while many points are made clear by graphic illustrations, which, it is worth noting, are the pencil of a Confederate soldier.

Kimmel, M. G. Long-hand short-hand: a system of brief long-hand for general use, requiring but a few days for its thorough tery. Valparaiso, Ind., M. G. Kimmel, 1883. 49 p. S. cl., $1.

A phonographic system of short-hand, the ordinary script letters being used; it is so simple and practicable, it may be learned in a very short time.

Kingston, W. H. G. Won from the waves: a story of adventure. N. Y., E. P. Dutton & Co., [1883]. 6+377 p. il. sq. D. cl., $2.

Rather a sensational story for boys left among the papers of the late W. H. G. Kingston. It is full of adventure, picturing shipwrecks, sea fights, smugglers, heirs and heiresses rescued from the sea, caves with chests of jewels, etc.; everything full of action, and at the end a pairing off of people introduced that leaves a very pleasant impression.

Kippax, J. R., M.D. Lectures on fevers. Chic., Gross & Delbridge, 1883. 460 p. il. O. cl., $4.50.

Ladd, G. T., D.D. The doctrine of sacred scripture: a critical, historical and dogmatic inquiry into the origin and nature of the Old and New Testaments. N. Y., C. Scribner's Sons, 1883. 2 v., 21+761; 14+765 p. O. cl., $7.

With the strong and growing interest of the day, in all things pertaining to the sacred writings this work is specially timely. It is for all classes of readers, students and others, and for all shades of believers or unbelievers. All will gain fresh thoughts and inspiration from its pages. It is written in a thoroughly impersonal style, and yet is liberal and in harmony with the progressive spirit which now characterizes all religious discussion. Dr. Ladd, who retired from the pulpit to a professorship (Mental and Moral Philosophy) in Yale College, has put into it the labor of years and the crystallization of his many sermons and lectures. Since he was known to be at work upon it, its completion has been anxiously looked forward to, as there is no book in the English language that treats this subject in a thorough and satisfactory manner, and none in existence that approaches these volumes in magnitude and scope. It is divided into four parts, the 1st treating of the nature of Old Testament scripture as determined by the teaching of Christ; the nature of New Testament scripture as determined by the promises of Christ; the claims of the Old Testament in general, and of Judaism in particular; the claims of prophetism and of the Hekmah; the claims for the Old Testament by the writers of the New; the claims for the New Testament by its own writers. Part 2 relates to the doctrine of sacred scripture as related to the scientific, miraculous, historical and predictive contents of the Bible, and as dependent upon the ethical-religious contents of the Bible, and as related to the authorship and composition of the Biblical books, their language and style, text, etc. Part 3 relates to the doctrine of sacred scripture in the period preceding the Christian era, in the ancient church from A.D. 330 to the Protestant Reformation and through other periods to the present time. Part 4 discusses the personality of God; revelation; the spirit of the Bible; the subject of revelation and inspiration; the authority of the Bible; the Bible as translated and interpreted, etc. Index of texts and index of names and subjects.

Lamb, Mrs. Martha J. Snow and sunshine: a story for boys and girls. [New ed.] N. Y., White, Stokes & Allen, 1883. 3-224 p. il. O. bds., $1.25; cl., $1.50.

A new edition of a very popular juvenile of last season, in hard covers.

McKim, Randolph H., D.D. Future punishment: comprising four parochial sermons, with an introduction on the scriptural doctrine of retribution, and an essay on prayers for the dead. N. Y., T. Whittaker, 1883. 114 p. D. cl., 75 c.

These sermons were preached by Dr. McKim, of "Holy Trinity," Harlem, about five years ago, and are here given exactly as they were first spoken, the pastor feeling "the necessity of correcting certain grave misconceptions of my views and of my teachings, which, owing to circumstances over which I had no control, have been given currency." The headings of these sermons are: Future punishment: a doctrine of natural religion; Universalism a vain system; A safe anchorage; The doctrine of the last things. A literary introduction and the essay on prayers for the dead show much research and a fair liberal mind.

Mississippi. A table of all Mississippi cases which have ever been mentioned in the opinions of the High Court of Errors and Appeals, and of the Supreme Court of Mississippi, from the organization of the state to the present time, including all the chancery reports, and all the law reports down to volume 59 of the "Mississippi reports," inclusive [1818-1882], showing in what manner the court mentioned each case, by Marvin E. Sullivan. Chic., Callaghan & Co., 1883. 302 p. O. shp., $6.50.

Mother Goose's Christmas: original and selected holiday entertainment by Kris Kringle; covers designed by Walter Satterlee. N. Y., White, Stokes & Allen, 1883. no paging, il. pap., ribbon-tied leaflets, 50 c; fringed, $1.

A Christmas souvenir containing verses about Christmas. The covers are cut to represent on one side Mother Goose warming her hands at an open fireplace, with her black cat at her side; the back cover shows Santa Claus knocking at an old-fashioned cottage door, his sled and reindeers waiting for him in the snow. Covers are brilliantly colored.

Murdoch, Ja. E. A plea for spoken language: an essay upon comparative elocution. Cin., Van Antwerp, Bragg & Co. [1883]. 320 p. D. cl. 90 c.

Embodies an account of such elocutionary principles or methods as the venerable actor, reader, and elocutionist has found useful in his study and practice of the voice in speech. His special aim is to awaken a deeper interest in the subject of the culture of spoken language. The subject matter in this volume is a condensation of his numerous lectures, notes, etc. Divided into 3 pts.: 1, The past, present and future of the vocal art in speech; 2, The power of sound in language; 3, Elocution as a fine art. An appendix contains the principles of rhythmus, with illustrations, and Hill's essay on the nature of the human passions and their expression in voice and action.

My curiosity shop: pictures and stories for youngest readers. Bost., D. Lothrop & Co., [1883]. no paging, il. sq. O. bds., $1.25.

Little stories and poems for very little children. Full of pictures, full-p. and in the text.

Newman, J. H. Lead, kindly light. Bost., Roberts Bros., 1884 [1883]. no paging, 12 pl. D. cl., $1.50; illuminated cover, fringed, $1.75; tree cl. and flex. mor., $4.—Same, roy. 8° cl., $3; ant. mor. and tree cl., $8.

Illustrated edition of Bishop Newman's popular hymn. Printed only on one side of heavy tinted paper. Six of the illustrations are full-page figures by William St. John Harper, in black ink, and six are full-page symbolical designs by George R. Halm, printed in brown ink. The concluding page contains the whole hymn with the music.

New York. Medical student's guide to the city of New York. N. Y., J. H. Vail & Co., 1883. 32 p. sq. S. map, 30 c.

New York. Reports of cases adjudged and determined in the Supreme Court of judicature and court for the trial of impeachments and correction of errors, of the State of New York, with copious notes and references, tables of citations, etc., by Edwin Burritt Smith and Ernest Hitchcock. Book 3: containing Johnson's reports, v. 1-5 [1806-1810]. Newark, Wayne Co., N. Y., The Lawyers' Co-operative Pub. Co., 1883. 1165 p. O. shp., $4.

Noble, Annette L. How Billy went up in the world: a story for boys. N. Y., National Temp. Soc. and Pub. House, 1883. 396 p. S. cl., $1.25.

Miss Noble understands boys, and can make even stories with morals interesting. The hero rises from a waif to be the wealthiest farmer in the neighborhood. He is faithfully devoted to the cause of temperance, and refuses to cultivate barley or apples in quantities, because they might be sold for the manufacture of beer and cider.

Our little men and women: illustrated stories and poems for youngest readers. Bost., D. Lothrop & Co. [1883.] 295 p. O. cl., $2; bds., $1.50.

Handsome cloth cover stamped in silver, gold and colors.

Smith, Rev. W. A. Who is responsible for the story of American life. Bost., D. Lothrop & Co. [1883]. 270 p. 1 il. D. cl., $1.25.

A novel illustrating the danger of violating the convictions of right and wrong, and also making strong appeal against the interference of outside parties with the affections of lovers. The entertainment given by a country society to raise funds for sending Bibles to the heathen Baya Pauvoo orphans, is amusingly described. John Smith and Aunt Deberah are well-drawn characters.

Spurgeon, C. H. Illustrations and meditations; or, flowers from a Puritan's garden, distilled and dispensed by C. H. Spurgeon. N. Y., Funk & Wagnalls, [1883]. 285 p. D. (Standard lib., no. 98.) pap., 25 c.
Meditations based upon figures and metaphors culled from the works of that staunch Puritan, Thomas Manton. Indexes of texts and subjects.

Stoddard, W. Osborn. Wrecked? a novel. N. Y., White, Stokes & Allen, 1883. 2+395 p. D. cl., $1.25.

The Atlantic steamer "Hermetic" is "wrecked with all on board!" The effect upon the lives of the friends and relatives of the passengers is natural and well told. The hero, Kemp Henderson, is an ideal American gentleman. Roland Morrow, a missionary on the ill-fated steamer, is the best-drawn character among many remarkably good ones. The plot is intricate, interesting and full of incident, including a forgery, runaway horses, a disguised baron, a starving family in good society, an ocean voyage, a burial at sea and the shipwreck. A superior American society novel.

Stowe, Mrs. Harriet Beecher. Betty's bright idea, and other stories. N. Y., National Temp. Soc. and Pub. House, [1883]. 90 p. D. (File and drum ser., no. 10.) pap., 10 c.

Thackeray, W. M. Complete poems. N. Y., White, Stokes & Allen, 1883. 226 p. S. limp vellum, $1; cl., $1; limp tree cfr., $4.50; embossed leather, $4.50.
See note under Brontë.

Thomas, E. A. Comprehensive dictionary of biography; containing succinct accounts of the most eminent persons in all ages, countries, and professions. Phil., Porter & Coates [1883]. 5-590 p. por. D. cl., $2.50; shp., $3; hf. mor., $3.50; hf. rus., $4.50.

"The aim of the present work has been to furnish in a comparatively brief compass and at moderate price, a book of biographical reference, sufficiently full for all ordinary occasions. Particular attention has been given to the notices of those persons who have quite recently risen to distinction, because it is precisely this class of persons about whom it is difficult to obtain the information which one requires."—Preface.

Thomas, W. H. The belle of Australia; or, who am I? Cor. and rev. from Ballou's Monthly Magazine, il. by F. Childre Hassam. Bost., De Wolfe Fiske & Co., 1883. 5+325 p. O. cl., $1.50.

A highly sensational novel, based upon the fabulous resemblance of two men who are alike, not only in appearance, but have the same name and the same handwriting. They do not meet until the last chapter, when an involved explanation proves them to be twin-brothers separated at birth, one brought up a rich English nobleman, the other a Boston gentleman. The belle of Australia becomes the wife of the American, whom she marries thinking she is becoming an English countess. Irishmen, Chinamen, Frenchmen, convicts, etc., are introduced in making up a most confusingly intricate plot.

Tufts, J. W., and Holt, H. E. The normal music course: a series of exercises, studies and songs, defining and illustrating the art of sight-reading; progressively arranged from the first conception and production of tones to the most advanced choral practice. First reader. N. Y., Appleton, 1883. 103 p. il. sq. D. bds., 40 c.

A new series of text-books for teaching music in schools, embodying the plan which has been so successfully pursued in the Boston public schools. The first reader is for the very youngest pupils. It is divided into two parts. Pt. 1 consists of exercises and short songs for practice and study. Pt. 2 contains a collection of songs with words, for little children, to be learned by imitation. The series is very attractively gotten up, with cunning little illustrations throughout, as head and tail pieces.

Tufts, J. W., and Holt, H. E. The normal music course: Second reader. N. Y., Appleton, 1883. 216 p. il. sq. D. bds., 75 c.

For the use of intermediate and grammar schools. Contains exercises and songs for one voice (soprano), duets for two sopranos, trios for two sopranos and alto, and trios for soprano, alto, and bass.

Tufts, J. W., and Holt, H. E. Manual for the use of teachers to accompany the readers and charts of the normal music course. N. Y., Appleton, 1883. 69 p. sq. D. bds., 50 c.

Provided for the guidance of teachers, showing the mode of procedure through the various books of this series. An illustration of every principle will be found, and a clear explanation of each step to be followed as it is presented for study.

Uhlhorn, Gerhard. Christian charity in the ancient church; from the German with the author's sanction. N. Y., C. Scribner's Sons, 1883. 6+424 p. O. cl., $2.50.

A scholarly historical work, showing "how very different from that of the heathen world was the treatment of the poor in the Christian world," defining clearly "the aim and peculiar object of Christian charity," giving as far as possible "a detailed account of charity in the apostolic age," and tracing the history of Christian charity "in connection with the entire development of ecclesiastical and secular history," down to the Reformation. The work is divided into three books, that bear the sub-titles: "The old and the new"; "The age of conflict"; and after the victory, the latter containing very full accounts of the first appearance of hospitals and monasteries and their original plan and mission. Copious notes give new evidence of the crudition and patient industry so fully displayed in "The conflict of Christianity with heathenism" and "The modern representations of the life of Jesus," and a very full index makes this interesting volume a valuable work of reference. The translator's name does not appear, although his work is exceptionally well done, and must in many instances have presented most peculiar difficulties.

United States. Reports of cases argued and adjudged in the Supreme Court of the United States, Jan. term, 1827, by H. Wheaton. V. 12. 4th ed., ed., with notes and references to later decisions, by F. C. Brightly. N. Y. and Albany, Banks & Bros., 1883. 13+418 p. O. shp., $3.50.

United States Supreme Court reporter. V. 2: Cases argued and determined in the United States Supreme Court, October term, 1882. March-May, 1883. Robt. Desty, editor. St. Paul, West Pub. Co., 1883. 27+1014 p. O. shp., $5.

Van Rensselaer, M., D. D. In memoriam. Sister Louise: the story of her life-work. N. Y., E. & J. B. Young & Co., 1883. 3+107 p. por. S. cl., 75 c.

Dr. Van Rensselaer's warmly written sketch gives but a faint idea of the lovely woman so well known to N. Y. church people as "Sister Louise," and so much better known to the little sufferers of every sect whom her untiring efforts, provided with proper food and first-class medical attendance. The profits of the sale of this little book are destined for the pretty "House of the Holy Comforter, or the Home for Incurables," at 54 West 11th St., to which to her last hour this ideal "Sister" devoted her busy, self-denying life.

Vermont. Acts and resolves passed by the General Assembly of the State of Vermont, at the 7th biennial session, 1882; published by authority. Rutland, Tuttle & Co., printers to the State of Vermont, 1883. 374 p. O. bds., hf. cl., $1.50.

Waco, H., D. D. The gospel and its witnesses: some of the chief facts in the life of our Lord, and the authority of the evangelical narratives, considered in lectures chiefly preached at St. James', Westminster. N. Y., E. P. Dutton & Co., 1883. 10+211 p. D. cl., $1.50.

Nine lectures in which "the design of the author was to exhibit the real character and results of modern criticism in respect to the authenticity of the gospels, and, at the same time, to illustrate the credibility and spiritual significance of the main facts in the Evangelical narratives."—Preface.

Weatherly, F. E. Told in the twilight; il. by M. Ellen Edwards and J. C. Staples. N. Y.

E. P. Dutton & Co., [1883]. no paging, O. bds., $2.

The publishers challenge comparison for this lovely volume, claiming that it is "the most beautiful color-book ever issued." While it may not be admitted as the most beautiful, it will certainly be placed high up among the very best books in this style ever issued. Every illustration is a finished picture, most carefully worked out in drawing and coloring. The subjects of the poems and pictures are meant for children, but no one of any age with any artistic leaning but will take pleasure in its pages. Specially manufactured for this house by the Messrs. Hildesheimer & Faulkner.

*Westcott, Brook Foss. Epistles of St. John, the Greek text with notes and essays. N. Y., Macmillan, 1883. 56+360 p. O. cl., $3.50.

Wide awake, [1883, V. "P"]. Bost., D. Lothrop & Co., [1883]. 456 p. il. O. bds., $1.75; cl., $2.25.

Bound volume of 1883; includes Miss Whitney's "Old-time papers," with their seventy authentic il. by Mr. Bodfish; Omaha legends and ten stories by the famous Indian girl, Bright Eyes; Miss Harris' curious botanical papers about "A winter garden;" Miss Harland's "Cookery for beginners," and many other interesting papers and stories.

Williams, S. Wells. The middle kingdom: a survey of the geography, government, literature, social life, arts and history of the Chinese Empire and its inhabitants. Rev. ed., with il. and a new map of the empire. N. Y., C. Scribner's Sons, 1883. 2 v., 24+836; 12+775 p. O. cl., $9.

This work has long been a classic on the subject. The great development politically and intellectually of China during the past thirty-five years (since the first edition was issued) necessitated, however, a complete rewriting of the work. It has not only been enlarged almost one third in bulk by the addition of a vast amount of new material collected by Dr. Williams during the late years of his residence in China, as well as by the most recent information respecting all the departments of the empire, but it has been altered and revised and brought down to date in every particular in so thorough a manner as to make the work virtually a new one. As now presented, no more complete or more valuable publication on China exists. While the best of the old engravings have been retained, many new illustrations have been added. Two of the illustrations are folding plates, one handsomely printed in colors. The map, a special and very important feature of this edition, is from the best modern authorities, and claims to be the most complete and accurate hitherto published of this country. The index is quite full and helpful. The work is well printed on fine paper.

Woolworth, Ja. M. The cathedral in the American church. N. Y., E. P. Dutton & Co., 1883. 8+211 p. S. cl., $1.

Much historical information is given about the "cathedral system" in England and its growth in America, where we already number twenty-four such edifices. "Chancellor Woolworth," says the Boston Advertiser, "is an enthusiast on the value of the cathedral in the American church, but is not so captivated with the idea as to lose his head in showing how it is to be practically applied to the circumstances of our American religious life."

Worcester, Jos. E. A new school dictionary of the English language; prepared upon the basis of the latest edition of the unabridged dictionary of Joseph E. Worcester, LL.D.

Phil., J. B. Lippincott & Co. [1883]. 390 p. il. D. cl., 90 c.

Besides the vocabulary proper, contains an introduction on the principles of pronunciation, a table of words and phrases from foreign languages with translations into English; tables exhibiting the pronunciation of Greek, Latin and Latinized geographical, biographical, and mythological names; a table giving the pronunciation of the same distinguished men of modern times; a table of the pronunciation of modern geographical names, and a table of abbreviations used in writing and printing.

Worthington's annual: a series of interesting stories, biographies, papers on natural history, for the young. N. Y., R. Worthington [1883]. no paging, il. sq. O. bds., $1.50, cl. $2.50.

A series of instructive and amusing reading for the young. Numerous full-p. and text pictures and colored illustrations.

Wright, Julia McNair. Among the Alaskans. Phil., Presb. Bd. of Pub., [1883]. 351 p. map and il., S. cl., $1.25.

An excellent historical and geographical description of Alaska begins this very interesting book, whose chief object is to encourage missionary work in this far and little known field. The Presbyterian church has been active there, and the appendix of this volume gives a chronological statement of its hitherto accomplished work. Twenty-eight illustrations add greatly to the clearness of the descriptive portions of the book.

Wright, Julia McNair. Hannah: one of the strong women. N. Y., National Temp. Soc. and Pub. House, [1883]. 290 p. i il. S. cl., $1.

Hannah's strength is used in weaning her father from the love of drink. Her step-mother is a capital character. The story of their wanderings from place to place is finally satisfactorily but rather unnaturally ended by Hannah's finding an immense nugget of gold and her father being quite cured and won over to a quiet, religious life.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

SHERIFF NICOLSON is preparing a biography unusual interest in the life of Adam Black, founder of the great publishing-house of Messrs. A. & C. Black, of Edinburgh.

As a memorial of the late Prof. Stanley Jevons is proposed that a studentship should be founded, of the annual value of not less than £100, the holder of which shall devote himself to economic or statistical research. A preliminary list of subscriptions already amounts to more than £500. Mr. T. R. Wilkinson, of the Manchester and Salford Bank, is the treasurer.

BUSINESS NOTES.

The Publishers' Weekly.

OCTOBER 13, 1883.

PUBLISHERS are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, to insure correctness in the final entry.

The trade are invited to send "Communications" to the editor on any topic of interest to the trade, and as to which an interchange of opinion is desirable. Also, matter for "Notes and Queries" gratefully received.

In case of business changes, notification or card should be immediately sent to this office for entry under "Business Notes." New catalogues issued will also be mentioned when forwarded.

"Every man is a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help thereunto."—LORD BACON.

[It was owing to the sudden rush of the fall business that the following reminiscences of "A Veteran Publisher," so popular among the trade, were crowded out of the WEEKLY at the right moment; it is owing to the rush of the business to-day, that all of us are too apt to crowd out of our memory the links that connect us with the past. In former days the WEEKLY occasionally could gather some material that might serve the future historian of the American book trade; to-day the opportunities are growing so rare that it gladly makes room for any fragments that are brought to its notice.

In one of its subsequent issues it will give some extracts from a book which should be read by every one who remembers the jolly days of the trade in New York, viz.: "John Keese, Wit and Littérateur," published by the Appletons.]

A VETERAN PUBLISHER.

From the Boston Sunday Herald.

On the 10th of September Mr. J. C. Derby celebrated the 50th anniversary of his connection with the publishing business. Some 20 years ago Mr. Derby's name was one of the best known in publishing circles in this country, for the very simple reason that he was the publisher of the most successful books then before the public. To-day he is connected with the house of Houghton, Mifflin & Co., and it was in the handsome parlors of this firm in New York that I found him. On the desk before him was an old and faded sheet of paper, with the ink, once black, now gray. The way this sheet was folded and addressed on the back showed that the letter was written before the days of envelopes. Mr. Derby, now in his 65th year, with his gray hair and sweeping beard, does not look unlike Michael Angelo's famous Moses. As I sat down in one of the velvet-covered chairs that stood with extended arms by the side of his desk, he handed me this ancient letter, and said: "That was written to my mother when I was 15 years of age. I had been apprenticed to Henry Ivison & Co., at Auburn, 'to learn the bookselling and bookbinding trade.' I couldn't bind 'worth a cent,' as they say nowadays, so I was set at bookselling, and at that I have stuck for 50 years." As the writer of the letter is a successful publisher of school-books, who made his millions in the business, and as Mr. Derby has made a reputation that must be as agreeable to his pride as though it had done equally well by his pocket, I will quote it in full. Mr. Ivison was then 25 years old, Mr. Derby 15.

AUBURN, Jan. 4, 1845.
TO MRS. DERBY: Your son James, living with us, has been a sufficient length of time to determine whether he will be satisfied with the business, and whether he will be sufficiently fond of it to warrant him in pursuing it. We are of opinion that if a boy is attached to his business he will invariably succeed in that business, provided he has health and opportunities; if he is indifferent, he will never succeed. As far as I have conversed with James, he appears to think that he will be satisfied, and I am happy in saying that I have no cause for complaint in relation to him. With exertions which he has it in his power to make, he bids fair to become a useful man. It remains for him to determine whether he will still continue with us. If I think best, we can determine hereafter in relation to the terms.
Respectfully,
H. IVISON & C.

Mr. Derby's connection with Mr. Ivison was a very pleasant one, and, when the latter came to New York in 1845, going into business with Mark H. Newman, he set Mr. Derby up in the bookselling and publishing business in Auburn under the firm-name of J. C. Derby & Co. After the death of Mr. Newman, Mr. Ivison became head of the house of Ivison, Blakeman & Co., now Ivison, Blakeman, Taylor & Co., the wealthiest, and, I believe, the oldest educational publishing-house in America. Mr. Derby removed to New York in 1853, and set up the publishing business under the firm-name of Derby & Jackson, and later of Derby & Miller. One of his first publications was "Fern Leaves from Fanny's Portfolio." These leaves had been first contributed to Boston papers, and Mr. Derby noticed that they were widely copied and much talked about. With true publishers' instinct, he saw a book in them, and went on to Boston to see Fanny Fern, and, if possible, to make an arrangement with her. He found her living in great poverty; for, although she had a husband, she was obliged to support herself and children as best she could. When Mr. Derby told her his mission she was as much surprised as delighted. She was then contributing the "Leaves" to the Olive Branch and True Flag at $3 a "leaf." Mr. Derby told her that he would print them in book-form and pay her $1000 down for all right in the book, or a royalty of 10 per cent. From the necessities of the case she rather favored the sale outright, so he advised her to take the royalty, or, at a rate, consult her friends. She did so, and sustained Mr. Derby's judgment. The book was published, and her share for 12 months amounted to $10,000. Her reputation was thereby made, and she never again had to fight against poverty. Strange to say, her brother, N. Willis, did not see that his sister possessed as much talent for writing, and she showed Mr. Derby a letter all stained with her tears, in which he told her that she was wasting her time fooling with her pen, and that she had better go to making shirts or some other business for which she was better fitted. This only shows how easy it is to be misjudged by one's family. It may be that Willis was out of sorts with her for marrying the second time and making such a mess of it. Her first husband was an excellent man, but her second was a failure, and she was divorced from him. Her third was James Parton, with whom she lived happily to the day of her death.

Mr. Derby's next successful venture was the "Widow Bedott Papers." This amusing series had first appeared in the columns of a Philadelphia paper, and were written by a young woman of the name of Berry, who afterward married a Rev. Mr. Whitcher, then an Episcopal clergyman, later a Roman Catholic priest. The proposal to publish the "Widow Bedott Papers" was brought to Mr. Derby by Alice B. Neal ("Cousin Alice"), who had edited them for the author's family. Mrs. Whitcher was then dead.

Mr. Derby made the same proposal that he had made to Fanny Fern, and in this instance the $1000 was accepted. This was not a bad arrangement for the publisher, as the sale very soon reached over 100,000 copies, and the demand for the book, in a limited degree, continues to this day. It is now published by A. C. Armstrong & Son, who bought the plates from Mr. Derby. Mr. Derby published, in his famous "Library of Wit and Humor," the delightful "Sparrowgrass Papers" of Fred Cozzens. Cozzens was then living at Yonkers, and so was Mr. Derby. It was of this volume that Irving said to the publisher, "There is no American book pertaining to country life that can compare to it in natural humor." Cozzens made a good deal of money off his book, but it didn't go far with him. He lived in an open, free-handed way, and the money was spent as soon as it was earned. He kept a fine-store down town in New York, and has entertained Thackeray, Dickens, Irving, and many other distinguished writers in his little back office. George D. Prentice's "Wit and Humor in Paragraphs" was prepared by the author at the instigation of Mr. Derby and published in his series. A famous book in its day, now out of print, was the Chevalier Wikoff's "My Courtship and Its Consequences," in which he related his strange experiences as the suitor of the famous dress, Jane Gamble. He tells in this book that when the New York papers reached him on board ship as he was returning to the United States his eye caught sight of the advertisements of J. C. Derby's books, which were strung about through the paper in every conceivable place. "J. C. Derby is the man for me," he exclaimed, and to J. C. Derby he went, manuscript in hand, immediately upon touching shore. Irving also noticed Mr. Derby's striking advertisements, and he remarked to Cozzens that he thought they were entirely too sensational. I asked Mr. Derby what was his opinion. He said, "At first the name as Wikoff's, now the one expressed by Irving." At about this time Mr. B. P. Shillaber was writing his Mrs. Partington papers for the Post, and, at the instance of Mr. Derby, gathered them together, and Mr. Derby sold over 50,000 copies within a year. The most popular biographies published by Mr. Derby were Gilmore Simms' "Life of Gen. Marion," John Jewell's "Life of John C. Fremont," and Wirt's Life of Patrick Henry. A book that had a great sale at the time, and which is still selling, is the "American Gentleman's Guide to Politeness and Fashion," by Harry Laurettes, the nom de plume of Margaret C. Conkling, sister of Roscoe Conkling, and the author of the "Life of Mary and Martha Washington," the mother and wife of the father of his country. Rev. W. H. Milburn, "the blind preacher," seems to be the first clergyman on Mr. Derby's list. His "Rifle, Axe, and Saddle-Bags" and "Ten Years of a Preacher's Life" were both published by Mr. Derby. The next clergyman on his list was Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, whose "Star Papers" were first published by him. The "Lectures to Young Men" had been published by a Western publisher, of whom Mr. Derby bought the right. In 1860 this latter book had reached a sale of 31,000 copies, and has been selling ever since. One day Mr. Derby was sitting in his office, when Mrs. Henry Ward Beecher entered with a manuscript under her arm. She looked very mysterious as she laid it upon Mr. Derby's desk, and then she told him that it was the story of her husband's and her life in the West. "I want you to publish it and not to say a word to Henry until it is all ready to put on the market. I want to surprise him." Mr. Derby replied that he would be pleased to publish her work, but that considering its nature, he did not think it would be right to do so without consulting her husband. She seemed disappointed at this, but finally concluded that he was right. So the next time Mr. Beecher called at his office he said: "Mr. Beecher your wife has written a book about your life in the West, and she wants me to publish it. Have I your consent?" "If you're a mind to be such a fool," said Mr. Beecher, with a laugh, "but don't put the responsibility on my shoulders." Mr. Derby, who had faith in Mrs. Beecher's ability, published the book. The success of "From Dawn to Daylight" is well known. It made an instant hit. About this time began Mr. Beecher's acquaintance with Mr. Robert Bonner, which was brought about by Mr. Derby. "I learned through Mrs. Beecher," said Mr. Derby, "that Mr. Beecher was in some financial distress in relation to a mortgage on his house. Incidentally I spoke of this to my friend Robert Bonner, who, though not personally acquainted with Mr. Beecher at that time, knew him by reputation, and was one of his many admirers. Mr. Bonner seemed very much interested and at once said for me go to Mr. Beecher and to tell him that he would gladly pay off the mortgage if he would allow him, as he considered it a disgrace that a man of Mr. Beecher's genius and distinction should suffer from the curse of debt. I bore the message to Mr. Beecher, who was surprised beyond measure, particularly as there was no such thing as security or pledge asked or expected. The amount, $10,000, Mr. Bonner handed me in currency, and it was deposited in the Metropolitan Bank, and no one knew of this transaction at the time except John E. Williams, president of the bank, and the parties directly interested. Mr. Beecher subsequently became a contributor to the Ledger, but without any reference whatever to this generous act on the part of Mr. Bonner, which, when you print it, will be for the first time made public."

Of successful novels, published by Mr. Derby, "The Minister's Wooing," by Harriet Beecher Stowe, was the first. His next success was "Beulah," by Augusta J. Evans. One day Miss Evans called at Mr. Derby's office and left the manuscript, which he took home and read to his family, who all thought it well worth publishing. Mr. George Ripley, who "read" for him on a salary, as well as for other houses, also pronounced favorably on the book, and it was no sooner published than its success was made. Few novels have ever reached a larger sale. To show that what one publisher thinks good is not necessarily thought well of by another, I might mention that "Beulah" was rejected by D. Appleton & Co., their reader, J. W. Palmer, of the Baltimore Exchange, having pronounced against it. The first review of the book that appeared was from his pen, and was condemnatory; the second appeared in the old Courier and Inquirer, of this city, and was written by its editor, Mr. Spaulding, afterward editor of the Times, who praised it in the strongest terms. Soon after this review appeared, Mr. Spaulding wrote to Mr. Derby, and asked him who was the author of the book, and if it would not be possible for him to meet her. He had found a kindred soul, and was impatient to meet it in the flesh. Mr. Derby answered that the lady was a Southerner, but that she was then in New York, and he would convey Mr. Spaulding's wishes to her and give him her answer. Miss Evans, who was staying at the St. Nicholas Hotel, expressed her willingness to meet Mr. Spaulding, and Mr. Derby brought him up and introduced him. The acquaintance ripened into friendship, and the friendship into something more, for it was not long before the Northern editor and the Southern novelist were engaged to be married. In the mean time the civil war broke out. Miss Evans was a secessionist of the strongest type and Mr. Spaulding was as strong for the Union. His political feelings, however, did not interfere with his private friendships, and an opportunity offering, he went South to be married. To his surprise he found that his promised bride no longer felt the same regard for him. The gulf between them was impassable, and so they parted. Each married later on. Miss Evans, now Mrs. Wilson, lives in her beloved Southland. Spaulding is no more. He died soon after his marriage. While the war was raging, Miss Evans wrote another novel called, "Macaria," which was published in Richmond, Va. A copy of this was sent by the author to Mr. Derby, who was then temporarily out of the publishing business. He, however, continued his interest in this author, and he took the book to Mr. J. B. Lippincott to see if he would not publish it. Mr. Lippincott at once agreed to, and promised the author the usual 10 per cent royalty, though by law she was not entitled to anything, her book having been published in the Confederacy. While the plates were being made, Michael Doolady, of this city, a bookseller of practical methods, got hold of a copy of "Macaria," and was getting it set up as fast as the printers could work. Mr. Lippincott, hearing of this, wrote him that he would withdraw from the field if he, Doolady, would sign a contract to pay him, for the author, a royalty on its sales, otherwise he would sell the plates at cost to another publisher. Doolady agreed and the contract was signed. In the mean time the war was over, and one day Mr. Derby received a call at his office in Spruce Street from a lady. She was ushered into his presence, and, just as he was about to ask her business, he recognized Miss Evans. "Why, Augusta," said he, "what does this mean?" for she was very shabbily attired and pale and wan. "I have come North," said she,

"with my brother, who is sitting out on your doorstep now. He was wounded in the war, and I want one of your Northern doctors to look after him." "The first thing for you to do," said Mr. Derby, "is to come right to my house with your brother, the second to get some new clothes; these you have on are very shabby." "I know they are," she replied, "but it can't be helped. We lost everything by the war, and I haven't a penny." "Why, yes you have," said Mr. Derby, "I have $3000 of your money in the bank." "Impossible! Where did it come from?" "From the sales of 'Macaria,' and I have been waiting to know where to send it." Of course this was a precious windfall, and it was not long before Miss Evans was on her feet again. Since that time Mr. Carleton has published Miss Evans's works. Her "St. Elmo" she dedicated to Mr. Derby. Another popular novel by a Southern writer published by Mr. Derby was "Rutledge," which made a stir equalled by few novels to-day. This novel also met with a rebuff when it first came North, and was rejected by Messrs. Harper. The story is a strange one, the name of the heroine never being mentioned in it. An uncle of the author, Mr. Weeks, brought the manuscript to Mr. Derby, and said that the author did not wish to be known. Mr. Derby replied that he never published a book without knowing who wrote it, and that he must decline the manuscript on such terms. Mr. Weeks then offered to publish it at his own expense if Mr. Derby would put his imprint on it. This he declined to do also. So a meeting was arranged, and Mr. Derby met Miss Miriam Coles. The question of the day was: "Who is the author of 'Rutledge'?" and everybody was eager to hear the answer. Mr. Derby, who has a keen appreciation of the humorous, got the editors of Vanity Fair to announce that in a certain number they would publish a portrait of the author of "Rutledge." Expectation was on tip-toe. The number appeared, and there stood the graceful figure of a lady outlined against the page; but, alas! the face was covered with a veil! After Cary's first and only novel, "Married, not Mated," was published by Mr. Derby, who was also the early publisher of Marion Harland, then Miss Mary Virginia Hawes. Mr. Derby ranged with Mr. John R. Thompson, then editor of the Southern Literary Messenger, afterward literary editor of the Evening Post, to publish his letters from Europe in book-form. An edition of 1000 copies was printed and one copy folded, not bound, was sent to Mr. Thompson. The remaining copies were destroyed by a fire at the bindery on the same night. This was indeed a limited edition. Mr. T. B. Aldrich's first book called "The Bells," was published by Mr. Derby; also Miles O'Reilly's first volume, "Lyrics by the Letter H." At this time Mr. Aldrich was a clerk with his uncle, the late C. L. Frost, a merchant in South Street, who told Mr. Derby that his nephew had "more taste for poetry than for molasses." All the books have spoken of so far were published before the war. Mr. Derby's greatest success after the war was with Henry J. Raymond's "Life of Abraham Lincoln," written in three months after the President's assassination, and which sold 65,000 copies in six months. During the war Mr. Derby was appointed by Secretary Seward, his life-long friend, United States Dispatch Agent, the most confidential and honored appointment in the gift of the Secretary of State. Mr. Derby it was who sent the first despatch to Minister Adams at London, announcing the murder of the President. The despatch was transmitted to Portland, Me., as the first steamer out after the President's death sailed from that point. Mr. Derby was also general agent at New York for the Paris Exhibition of 1868, and he was decorated by the emperor for his valuable services. I have not touched in this letter upon Mr. Derby's connection with the house of D. Appleton & Co., where he was for ten years engaged in the subscription department. I hope that at another time he will allow me to interview him upon this very important period; that he will tell me some of the interesting things in connection with the Encyclopædia, the Jeff. Davis book, which he was instrumental in getting, and many other matters.

INVOICES FOR CANADA.

THE Collector of Customs of Canada has issued a notice to the effect that the rule relating to invoices, requiring that they be certified as correct by the person, firm, or corporation from whom the goods mentioned are purchased, will, in so far as the United States invoices are concerned, be enforced after the 1st November, and as to all invoices, on and after the 1st January next.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

The British and Colonial Printer and Stationer, one of the most enterprising trade journals of England, has just added a new department under the heading "Booksellers' Circular." In its issue of Sept. 27, it contains an interesting account of old and new style bookselling which, pace permitting, will be shortly given in the WEEKLY.

HARPER'S MONTHLY for December will contain the first instalment of a new novel by Rev. P. Roe, called "Nature's Serial Story." As the title implies, it is a story of nature, and the illustrations of this phase of it will be made by Mr. W. H. Gibson, whose "Pastoral Days" have won him so much praise. Mr. F. Dielman will illustrate the figure subjects. This number will also contain much matter appropriate to the holiday season. Mr. George William Curtis will furnish an essay on "Christmas," which will be illustrated by Frederic Dielman and Mrs. Jessie Curtis Sheppard. Among the other writers who will contribute to the issue are J. G. Whittier, Austin Dobson, Charles Wade, Mrs. Ritchie (Miss Thackeray), W. D. Howells, E. E. Hale, George H. Boughton, and Mr. William Black.

ARTHUR B. TURNURE, having returned from his investigation tour full of information on the processes used by the famous book-makers of Europe, has, with the October number, resumed his regular issue of the Art Age. This concerns, in faultless typography, an interesting article on the typography of "Book Titles," in which it is said that the late Joel Munsell, of Albany, was one of the best title-makers, and that Houghton, of Boston, has probably arranged more good titles than any living American publisher; but in which is also questioned the modern display line regulation title—"this slanting of long lines with short lines," etc. Before this article are given descriptive notes on "Notable Publications," mostly recent art-books or éditions de luxe; "Notes on [typographical] Practice," etc., etc. Should this publication meet with the encouragement it deserves, it cannot but exercise a refining influence on the art of book-making in this country. For the November number is promised an article on current book-cover designs, a subject that sadly needs elucidation by warning as well as by good example.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

E. & J. B. YOUNG & Co. will have ready next week the long-expected "Life of William Rollinson Whittingham, Fourth Bishop of Maryland," by Rev. W. F. Brand.

ROBERT CARTER & BROS. will issue early in December, by arrangement with the London publishers, "From Year to Year: or, Original Poems and Hymns for all the Sundays and Holidays of the Church," by Edward Henry Bickersteth, author of "Yesterday, To-day, and Forever."

HENRY A. SUMNER & Co., Chicago, will publish, November 1, a novel called "A Dangerous Woman," by Col. Gilbert A. Pierce. About December 15 they will issue a new detective story by L. L. Lynch, the author of "Shadowed by Three," which they claim has had a sale of 30,000 copies. The new edition of Thomes' works in six volumes, with elegant new side and backstamps, is now ready. This edition will be sold only in sets.

JOHN M. LITTLE, the Chairman of the New England Manufacturers' and Mechanics' Institute, has notified Cupples, Upham & Co., the publishers, that on and after November 1, the price of the art catalogue will be $4 instead of $3. The edition made, which cannot be reproduced, is so rapidly diminishing that the copies remaining are of increased value, and will therefore, as the number lessens, be still further raised in price from time to time as the committee may determine.

CUPPLES, UPHAM & Co. have just ready "Spanish Ways and By-Ways, with a Glimpse of the Pyrenees," by Wm. Howe Downes. The volume possesses a wonderful fascination for the intelligent reader, be he versed in art, history, or ethnology, and the author's account of his journey is written in a very spirited and entertaining manner, and shows his keen perception of the wonderful beauties of this romantic country. It is neatly illustrated with 50 engravings by Sandham, Waterman, and Bicknell.

L. PRANG & Co. announce that their New York branch will be continued under the care of Mr. James S. Oakley, of the late firm of Oakley, Mason & Co., it being necessary that Mr. Klemm, temporarily in charge, should return to his Boston duties. Mr. Oakley was for many years a salesman for Pratt, Woodford & Co., and afterward a partner in Pratt, Oakley & Co., which firm comprised Henry Z. Pratt, James H. Pratt, Charles D. Pratt (now of Baker, Pratt & Co.), and James S. Oakley. Mr. Oakley subsequently became a member of the firm of Oakley, Mason & Co. He is greatly liked throughout the trade, and we welcome him most heartily.

C. H. EVANS & Co., St. Louis, announce that for greater convenience in keeping the newest statistics, the "Educational Year-Book" will henceforth be issued in quarterly parts—July, October, January, and April. Each number will contain portraits and biographies of eminent men, beside descriptions of educational institutions, lists of State, city, and county school-officers, latest reports and statistics gathered from the most reliable sources, as to the progress of all kinds of education throughout the United States and the whole world. The four quarterly issues will, it is hoped, constitute a great improvement on the single annual Year-Book.

D. LOTHROP & Co. have recently issued a number of handsome and interesting volumes, among which we notice: "Ideal Poems," an acceptable gift-book, containing choice poems from the English poets, illustrated with designs by Taylor, Hovenden, St. John Harper, and other artists; a new edition of "Poets' Homes," a pretty volume, which had quite a success last year; "Saint Indefatigable," a memorial sketch of the life of Mrs. Amaranthy Paine Sarle, a most remarkable woman—noted for her piety and zeal in religious work, and is the Secretary of the Rhode Island and Providence Anti-Slavery Societies; "Twenty-six Hours a Day," by Mary Blake, a helpful volume for the busy mothers to whom it is dedicated; "The Daisy Green Stories," by Susie A. Bisbee, a bright and enjoyable book for girls; "The Little Folks' Reader," for 1883-4, a most popular annual for young folks from 5 to 10 years of age, is handsomely bound in illuminated board covers; and the "Chautauqua Young Folks' Annual," full of wise counsel, helps, aids, etc., in the various household and other duties.

LITTLE, BROWNE & Co. have just ready the first twenty volumes of their new limited subscription edition of "The Massachusetts Reports," which will be complete in 130 volumes bound in 65, at the extremely low price of $2 per volume, about one third the usual price; the eighth edition of "Story's Conflict of Laws;" "Jurisdiction and Practice of the U. S. Circuit Courts," by Erastus Thatcher; the second edition of "Jurisdiction and Practice of the U. S. Supreme Court," by the same author; and Henry Childs Merwin's work on the "Patentability of Inventions." They will issue at once the fourteenth edition of Greenleaf's standard treatise on "Evidence," edited by Simon Greenleaf Crosswell, which has been carefully revised and augmented with notes and references; "The Addresses and Orations of the late Alexander Hamilton Bullock, Governor of Massachusetts from 1866-69," to which will be added a memoir of the governor by Senator George F. Hoar. Later in the month they will have ready "Shakespeare as a Lawyer," an interesting little volume prepared by Franklin Fiske Heard, showing from the evidence in Shakespeare's writings that he had a most intimate acquaintance with the law. They announce in preparation "Land and its Rent," by Gen. Francis A. Walker, which will no doubt prove a valuable addition to the literature of political economy.

MR. J. W. BOUTON announces several excellent new books and imported editions. Among them are, "Une Journée D'Enfant" ("A Day in the Life of a Child"), by Adrien Marié, with twenty plates in heliogravure, by Dujardin. Brillat-Savarin's "Physiology du Gout," a new and complete translation, with fifty-two original etchings by Lalauze, printed on China paper, a second series of M. Racinet's splendid work, "Polychromatic Ornament;" "Humor, Wit and Satire of the Seventeenth Century," by John Ashton, author of "Social Life in the Reign of Queen Anne;" "Robinson Crusoe," illustrated with numerous engravings from drawings by George Cruikshank, expressly designed for this edition (reprint of Major's rare edition of 1831); "L'Art Japonais," by Louis Goussier, illustrated with a large number of full-page colored illustrations, etchings, and engravings scattered through the text; "Dogma and Ritual of High Magic," translated from the French of Elephaz Levi, under the auspices of the Theosophical Society, and edited with copious original notes by Dr. Alex. Wilder; a magnificent illustrated edition of Sterne's chef d'œuvre, "The Sentimental Journey," with 12 full-page plates in photogravure, a large number of pen-and-ink sketches in the form of head and tail pieces, ornamental letters, etc., together with numerous designs throughout the text from the original drawings by Louis Leloir; also "An English Version of the Eclogues of Virgil," by the late Samuel Palmer, with fourteen illustrations by the author.

ELLIOT STOCK, London, is preparing for immediate publication "Browne's Religio Medici," it is produced by a direct printing process, and will have a bibliographical introduction by E. Greenhill, of Hastings.

A MOST VALUABLE WORK

For Students in Engineering, Instructors in Technical Schools, and Engineers Engaged in the Practice of their Profession.

THE MATERIALS OF ENGINEERING.

A Work Designed for Engineers, Students, and Artisans in Wood, Metal, and Stone. Also, as a Text-Book in Scientific Schools, showing the Properties of the Subjects Treated. Well Illustrated. In Three Parts.

Part I. The Non-Metallic Materials of Engineering and Metallurgy, with Measures in British and Metric Units, and Metric and Reduction Tables. (Now ready.) 8vo, $3.50.

Part II. Iron and Steel. The Ores of Iron; Methods of Reduction; Manufacturing Processes; Chemical and Physical Properties of Iron and Steel; Strength, Ductility, Elasticity, and Resistance; Effects of Time, Temperature, and Repeated Strain; Methods of Test; Specifications. (Now Ready.) 8vo, cloth, $5.

Part III. The Alloys and their Constituents. Copper, Tin, Zinc, Lead, Antimony, Bismuth, Nickel, Aluminum, etc.; The Brasses, Bronzes; Copper-Tin-Zinc Alloys; Other Valuable Alloys; Their Qualities, Peculiar Characteristics; Uses and Special Adaptations; Thurston's "Maximum Alloys;" Strength of the Alloys as Commonly made, and as Affected by Special Conditions; The Mechanical Treatment of Metals. (Shortly.) 8vo, cloth.

NOTICES.

"The qualifications of the author for writing such a work are too well known to leave a doubt of its merits."—American Manufacturer and Iron World.

"The whole book is filled with information which has been carefully collected, and much of which, we have no doubt, from experiments made under the Professor's care."—Cotton, Wool and Iron.

"We regard this as a most useful book for reference in its departments; and as a compendium of ascertained facts, derived from competent authorities, it should be in every engineer's library."—Mechanical Engineer.

"There follows a practical and most valuable treatise on Timber the succeeding chapter on the strength of Timber, its adaptation and preservation, embracing as it does the result of the investigations of so eminent an authority as Prof. Thurston, needs little comment here. We might only add, that it is thoroughly practical in its method of treatment, and the carpenter and builder will find it just as valuable as the engineer."—Engineering News.

"The plan, as far as Part I. reveals it, is simple and will commend itself alike to those mechanical engineers who take up the topics treated for the first time and to those who propose to use it as a book of reference."—Engineering and Mining Journal.

"As intimated above, this work, which is soon to be completed, will form one of the most complete as well as modern treatises upon the materials used in all sorts of building constructions. As a whole it forms a very comprehensive and practical book for engineers, both civil and mechanical."

WATER SUPPLY.

Water Supply: Considered Mainly from a Chemical and Sanitary Standpoint. By Wm. Ripley Nichols, Professor in Massachusetts Institute of Technology. With numerous plates. 8vo, cloth, $2.50.

"With regard to the self-purifying power of streams which have been polluted by sewage, he emphasizes by italics the following opinion, which we believe to be the proper guide for action, viz.:

"The apparent self-purification of running streams is largely due to dilution, and the fact that a river seems to have purified itself at a certain distance below a point where it was certainly polluted is no guaranty that the water is fit for domestic use."

"We can commend the book to all who desire to have a clear, compact, and readable account of the many interesting questions connected with the subject of water supply."—Sanitary Engineer.

Christmas Number

OF THE

LITERARY NEWS.

1883.

NOTICE TO BOOKSELLERS.

THE LITERARY NEWS for Christmas, 1883, will embrace thirty-two pages of reading matter and illustrations, and we intend to make it far superior to any previous year, also hoping to issue it earlier than heretofore.

Its sole aim and object is to increase the sale of books, and every bookseller who distributes it may be sure of being benefited thereby.

The chief attraction of the forthcoming issue will be the numerous specimen illustrations from the most prominent and popular new holiday books.

The most valuable feature, besides the Literary Notes, will be a special price-list of the Books of the Season, in all the departments of Holiday Literature.

To those who desire to reach a wider public than they feel they can afford to seek through the more expensive Christmas Number of the PUBLISHERS WEEKLY, the Christmas Number of the LITERARY NEWS is recommended as the best possible medium to cultivate a holiday trade.

ISSUED BY

[ALL ENTERPRISING BOOKSELLERS.]

The subscription edition of the ILLUSTRATED CHRISTMAS NUMBER of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY will be issued as early in November as possible, to give time for the imprint editions to reach all dealers three weeks before Christmas at the latest.

The Number will as usual present the finest specimen illustrations from the NEW HOLIDAY BOOKS, with special articles on the leading works, a full descriptive summary of books and stationery novelties, reference price-lists covering the ILLUSTRATED WORKS, BOOKS FOR THE YOUNG, and other CHOICE BOOKS published during 1883, etc., etc. Every endeavor will be made to surpass the issues of previous years, pronounced in 1880, by the N. Y. Tribune, one of the most tasteful and attractive catalogues, surpassing even the achievements of the English in the same line; and even at an earlier date, by the German "Book Trade Magazine" "the most attractive publication of the kind issued in the book-producing countries."

The imprint edition (intended for distribution by dealers with their sole imprint) will be printed immediately after the issue of the Trade edition, under the title of "CHRISTMAS CATALOGUE," as given above.

The local bookseller can add half as much again to his holiday trade by properly calling the attention of the public to his goods. For this purpose, the best means is the circulation of this handsome, interesting, and comprehensive CHRISTMAS CATALOGUE, which is received with pleasure by those to whom it is given or sent, as itself a picture-book of no little value; and its descriptions of, and illustrations from books, at once arouse the desire to purchase the books themselves.

No better investment can be made by the bookseller who wants to make the most of his holiday trade.

Orders filled in the order of size of edition, largest first, and then of receipt. As the paper is specially made for this issue, orders should be received at once, as the filling of later demands cannot be guaranteed.

The thick paper edition of the CHRISTMAS CATALOGUE will be supplied as follows:

SINGLE COPIES (postpaid),	35 CTS.		PER 100 COPIES (with imprint),	$20 00
------------------------------------	---------	--	---	---------

The thin paper edition, with dealers' imprints, will be supplied at the following rates:

PER 100 COPIES,	$10 00		PER 500 COPIES,	$38 00
" 250 "	20 00		" 1000 "	75 00

Orders should be sent in at once, and in order to avoid delay, it is absolutely necessary that copy for imprint, together with full directions for forwarding, should accompany the remittance. All packages sent by express unpaid, unless other shipping directions are given.

FOR THE AUTUMN OF 188

MESSRS. LEE AND SHEPARD beg leave to announce the following attractive additions to their

than which nothing more beautiful in conception or more perfect in execution has ever been published for the price:

MY FAITH LOOKS UP TO THEE.

By RAY PALMER. With designs by L. S. COMINS.

IT WAS THE CALM AND SILENT NIGHT.

ALFRED DOMETT's Christmas Hymn. With designs by W. L. TAYLOR.

THE LORD IS MY SHEPHERD.

THE XXIII. PSALM IN SONG AND SONNET. By Prof. W. C. RICHARDS. With designs by Miss HUMPHREY and others.

COME INTO THE GARDEN, MAUD.

By ALFRED TENNYSON. With designs by E. H. GARRETT.

CURFEW MUST NOT RING TO-NIGHT.

By ROSA HARTWICK THORPE. With designs by MERRILL and GARRETT.

THAT GLORIOUS SONG OF OLD.

By EDMUND HAMILTON SEARS. With designs by ALFRED FREDERICKS.

If "A Thing of Beauty is a Joy Forever," then are these matchless volumes a source of perpetual joy. Beauty lingers in every line of the poet's verse and in every stroke of the artist's skill. Surprise and beauty hover over the unique and tasteful covers which embalm them, and upon whose golden and gleaming sheen are reproduced, with a marvelous fidelity to nature, the flowers of friendship, faith, and sentiment—gorgeous in color, resplendent in richness, and lacking only the freshness and sweetness of the morning to make them real. This delightful combination of the superbly illustrated poem with the exquisite and daintily fringed floral card was, last season, unanimously declared by the trade, the press, and the public to be

THE MOST CHARMING OF GIFTS.

Appreciating the favor which was so lavishly bestowed by the public, the publishers have redoubled their efforts of last season, and have even surpassed the results then achieved at so great an outlay of time, labor, and expense. With this reflection, and with the consciousness that they are the pioneers in the line of fringed books, and of which they claim this style as their lawful trade-mark and patent, the publishers venture to hope that the same cordial reception may be accorded to the new

LIVRES DE LUXE.

The above additions to the Golden Floral Series are uniform in style and price with the issues of last year, now offered in new editions, as follows:

RING OUT, WILD BELLS.	PRICE,

WILL PUBLISH SHORTLY:

I.
Arius the Libyan:

AN IDYL OF THE PRIMITIVE CHURCH.

This is a romance of the Church in the latter part of the third and beginning of the fourth century. The first part of the book is an exquisite idyl of rural Christian life on the Libyan shore, but the latter portion describes some of the fierce, dogmatic conflicts of the period, carries the reader to the Council of Nice, and brings on the scene a number of conspicuous persons, including the Emperor Constantine, Athanasius, and Eusebius. The hero of the story is Arius, from whom what is known as the Arian heresy was named.

"Arius" is the author's first book. It is written with great power, and yet with marked simplicity of style, and is certain to rank as one of the most remarkable novels of the period.

1 volume, 12mo, cloth. Price, $1.50.

II.

Cobbett's English Grammar

edited by ALFRED AYRES. 18mo, cloth, gilt, uniform with "The Orthoëpist" and "The Verbalist," by Alfred Ayres. Price, $1.

Cobbett's Grammar is known to be the one book on English grammar that is amusing and readable, while at the same time it is remarkable for the clearness with which it discusses the questions that perplex all students of English composition. The present edition is enriched with valuable notes by Mr. Alfred Ayres, well known as the author of the popular "Verbalist" and "Orthoëpist."

D. APPLETON & CO., Publishers, New York

AN ENTIRELY NEW EDITION OF ALFRED TENNYSON'S

THE PRINCESS.

With 120 new and beautiful illustrations on wood. An elegant octavo volume of nearly 320 pages, beautifully bound, with full gilt edges, in box, cloth, $6; tree calf or antique morocco, $70; calf or morocco, inlaid mosaic patterns, $19.50. A few copies in crushed levant, with silk linings, $25.

The best American artists have drawn these illustrations, producing a great number of choice examples of the high perfection which wood-engraving has reached in the New World. The general supervision of the work has devolved upon Mr. A. V. S. Anthony, who held the same relation to the recent magnificent editions of "Lucile" and "The Lady of the Lake"; thus insuring for these illustrations the utmost accuracy in study, taste and composition, and elegance in finish. The publishers believe that in this form and with this elegance of finish the work will be widely welcomed on its merits as a Fine-Art Edition, and become the leading Holiday Gift-Book of the year.

"As a whole the book is superb. The printing is excellent, while the mechanical making, the finish, etc., are faultless."—Boston Courier.

"The most sumptuously elegant book of illustrated poetry that has yet appeared, perhaps we may say on either side of the Atlantic."—Hartford Times.

"The delightful medley of the English Laureate has found a luxurious and worthy setting. . . . In placing this jewel in so rich a casket, the artists have wrought together with a common inspiration. In all details the work is complete."—Boston Traveller.

"A perfect casket of gems in the way of landscape illustrative hits, and vivid scenes from the poems."—Chicago Tribune.

"The pictures live to the eye; they are real; you feel yourself in the armorial halls of the Middle Ages."—Boston Herald.

EUGENE FROMENTIN:

PAINTER AND WRITER.

From the French of Louis Gonse, by Mrs. Mary C. Robbins, translator of Fromentin's "Old Masters," etc. 1 vol., copiously illustrated $3.

A long-needed translation of the life and letters of the greatest modern French art critic, with the original French illustrations, fac-similes of his drawings.

"Fascinating reading."—Boston Gazette.

"Very attractive and charming."—Philadelphia Times.

"A charming example of intelligent art criticism."—N. Y. Star.

"Written with taste, acuteness, and right feeling, and published in a style of refined elegance."—N. Y. Tribune.

A WOMAN OF HONOR.

By H. C. Bunner. 1 vol., 16mo, $1.25.

"An excellent description of the Union Club parlors."—New York World.

"Exceedingly effective and successful."—Boston Courier.

"Dramatic and intense. The dialogue is crisp and sparkling, as might be expected from the witty editor of Puck. Some of the sketches are evidently portraits."—Phila. Press.

"Mr. Bunner is a true poet, and some of the touches of feeling and pathos in his book are wonderfully artistic."—The American Queen.

"A brightly-written and spiritedly-told story—thoroughly readable."—Boston Gazette.

"Well-drawn types of New York character . . . handled with great skill; and as the plot is unusual as well as intricate, the book will be read through with great interest by whoever begins it."—The Hour (New York).

"Manners, morals, events, and personages bearing the New York stamp. Altogether, the book is clever, healthful in tone, and bright in manner."—Boston Budget.

"A story of artist and literary life in New York, which is not only extremely entertaining, but which has the merit of being true to the reality."—The North American (Phila.).

"The story is interesting, the style is bright and rapid, and certain aspects of contemporary life are sketched with great cleverness."—New York Tribune.

A Charming Romance of the Nineteenth Century.

W. D. HOWELLS'S LATEST AND BEST NOVEL.

A WOMAN'S REASON.

1 vol., 12mo, uniform with his former works, $1.50.

"An exquisite piece of workmanship."—Rochester Union.

"It is a pleasure to praise. It is a great pleasure to praise Mr. Howells for the admirable concluding chapters of 'A Woman's Reason.' He has given us much that is very clever, very much that is interesting; but . . . his latest effort is his best . . . something really fine."—The Critic.

"An exquisite creation. . . . In the best sense of a word the limitations of which Mr. Howells recognizes most clearly his work is artistic."—Detroit Free Press.

"Like all his other publications, this story abounds in sharp observations of men and manners, and with acute though never unkind bits of criticism of American and English peculiarities. Taken as a whole the story is interesting, both as a character-study and as showing certain marked phases of American life."—Christian Register.

"It is the best novel Mr. Howells has yet written. The heroine is decidedly, charmingly, touchingly, provoking, drawn after an entirely original pattern."—Boston Herald.

"The most spontaneous and natural of Mr. Howells's recent novels. . . . It abounds in Mr. Howells's humor."—Phila. Press.

"There is a charming play of fancy; there are what we may call flashes of imagination . . . fascinating from the first paragraph."—N. Y. Tribune.

"As artistic fiction it stands at the fore of all that Mr. Howells has written."—Boston Herald.

"Drawn with the hand of a master . . . full of life and humor."—Boston Advertiser.

"One of the most finished productions in fiction."—The Independent.

A NEW CHRISTMAS STORY BY EDWARD EVERETT HALE,

Our Christmas in a Palace,

WILL APPEAR IN ARTISTIC HOLIDAY BINDING,
November 10th.

In this volume Mr. Hale tells us of a party travelling in the far West. They become snow-bound in the Rocky Mountains and have to spend their Christmas in a Palace Car. Making the best of their situation, each contributes to the enjoyment of the occasion, bringing from his trunk such entertainment as he has, while the strangeness of the situation and the hilarity of the party dispel every thought of loneliness. 12mo, about 300 pages, cloth, $1.

THE BEST POPULAR LIFE OF THE GREAT REFORMER.

The celebration of the Four Hundredth Anniversary of Luther's birth is exciting a world-wide interest. As a historical character alone his life is worthy of study. This volume presents an attractive, scholarly, and reliable record of the man. It retains all that is valuable and interesting in Köstlin's extensive work. It omits abstruse and technical points, yet presents the salient features of its subject in so attractive a manner that the interest never flags. It will prove THE BEST POPULAR LIFE OF THE GREAT REFORMER ever printed in the English language. 12mo, about 288 pages, heavy paper and fine cloth, $1; paper, 25 cents.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS

Will Publish, Tuesday, October 23d, 1883:

A SUPERB HOLIDAY BOOK.

The Merry Adventures of Robin Hood,

OF GREAT RENOWN IN NOTTINGHAMSHIRE. WRITTEN AND ILLUSTRATED BY HOWARD PYLE. 1 vol., 4to. Full embossed leather, antique, from the author's designs. $4.50.

This superb book is unquestionably the most original and elaborate ever produced by any American artist. Mr. Pyle has told with pencil and pen the complete and consecutive story, gathered from the old ballads and legends, of Robin Hood and his merry men in their haunts in Sherwood Forest.

There is something thoroughly English and home-bred in these episodes in the life of the bold outlaw. His sunny, open-air nature, his matchless skill at archery, his generous disposition, his love of fair play, and his ever-present courtesy to women, form a picture that has no counterpart in the folk-lore of any other people. But it has other claims to notice in the admirable illustrations which Mr. Pyle has strewn profusely throughout his book. These pictures set forth most graphically every eventful scene in the narrative, and they are in perfect keeping with the story even to the smallest detail. In them the persons of Robin Hood, Little John, Will Stutely, the Sheriff of Nottingham, Allan-a-Dale, Queen Eleanor, Friar Tuck, and all the rest, become as familiar as their names and characteristics.

The rich leather binding and general make-up of the book deserve more than a passing mention. Every detail has been carefully wrought out by the author, and the exterior of the volume is in perfect keeping with its contents. The elaborate chapter headings, initial letters and vignettes are especially noteworthy specimens of this form of decoration.

"Amid the flood of new books, it is a genuine delight to come across an old friend like 'Ik Marvel.' The public taste cannot be so depraved and dull as some people would have us think, while books so clean, pure, and honest number readers by tens of thousands, and while there is a demand for so choice an edition as this before us of Ik Marvel's complete works." — Philadelphia Times,

NOTES IN SEASON.

BOOKSELLERS, prepare for the holidays! Study the Fall Announcement number and the new advertisements of the WEEKLY. Don't delay securing an edition, with your own imprint, of the Illustrated Christmas Catalogue of the WEEKLY, or of the Illustrated Christmas number of the Literary News, or—of both. We are determined to have them ready in good time, and therefore we cannot print beyond a certain number. Last year so many booksellers were too late that we consider it our duty to sound this note of warning.

THOMAS NELSON & SONS have just ready an edition of Coleridge's "Ancient Mariner," with characteristic illustrations by David Scott, and a life of the artist and descriptive notices of the plates by the Rev. Dr. A. L. Simpson.

WHITE, STOKES & ALLEN announce that they will shortly issue "A Daughter of the Gods; or, How She Came into Her Kingdom," by Charles M. Clay, author of "The Modern Hagar." This is a new issue of Mrs. Clark's "How She Came into Her Kingdom," formerly published by Jansen, McClurg & Co. This house will hereafter also act as the author's publishers for her other works.

WM. R. JENKINS, N. Y., has just issued "La Fée," a pretty, fanciful one-act comedy by Octave Feuillet, which forms the sixth number of Le Théâtre Contemporain. "L'Abbé Constantin," Ludovic Halévy's very charming story, is nearly ready and will be published during the present month. It forms number two of the series, Romans Choisis, of which "Dosia" is the first.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS will publish, on the 23d inst., "The Merry Adventures of Robin Hood," written and illustrated by Howard Pyle. In this book—perhaps the most original and elaborate ever produced by an American artist—Mr. Pyle has told with pencil and pen the complete and consecutive story of Robin Hood and his merry men in their haunts in Sherwood forest, gathered from the old ballads and legends. The simple English ballad has been most successfully preserved in Mr. Pyle's easy prose, and, as regards the text, this edition is in all respects one of the most complete that has ever been issued. The illustrations by Mr. Pyle set forth most graphically every eventful scene in the narrative, and they are in perfect keeping with the story, even to the smallest detail. The leather binding and general make-up of the book deserve more than a passing mention. Every detail has been carefully wrought out by the author, and the exterior of the volume is in perfect keeping with its contents.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. will publish a notable list of books next week. The one likely to make the most immediate impression is Miss Phelps's story, "Beyond the Gates," a story of the same type as "A Little Pilgrim," only considerably longer and fuller. It is said to be absorbingly interesting, and it appeals powerfully to all who have lost dear friends. Mr. Whittier's new book, "The Bay of Seven Islands and Other Poems," will be heartily welcomed by a host of readers; and Mr. Aldrich's "Mercedes and Later Lyrics" will be so handsome a book that it ought to be in great demand even if the drama and poems it contains were far less exquisite in literary art than they are. Herbert Tuttle's "History of Prussia to the Accession of Frederic the Great" promises to be a positive addition to our best historical literature, as it is the fruit of thorough research into a very interesting period and people. "He and She: A Poet's Portfolio," is a dainty little vellum-covered volume by W. W. Story, containing many graceful lyrics connected and introduced by a brilliant dialogue. The last book on this list is "Examples for Elementary Practice in Delineation," a book for schools and home students of drawing, by Charles H. Moore, Instructor in Drawing in Harvard University.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederick; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William. Sizes are designated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); Q. (quarto: under 30 cm.); O. (octavo: 25 cm.); D. (duodecimo: 20 cm.); S. (sextante: 17 1/4 cm.); T. (tenth: 15 cm.); Ts. (tenth: 12 1/4 cm.); P. (piano: 10 cm.). Sq., etc., designated square, oblong, narrow books of these heights. Where figures instead of letter symbols are used, the record is from publisher's designation, and not measurement.

Alger, Horatio, jr. Abraham Lincoln, the backwoods boy; or, how a young rail-splitter became president. N. Y., J. R. Anderson & H. S. Allen, 1883. 307 p. il. S. (Boyhood and manhood series of illustrious Americans.) cl., $1.25.

Relates in the form of a story the real events in the life of Abraham Lincoln. The facts are taken from Dr. Holland's and Mr. Ward A. Lamon's works on Lincoln. Many anecdotes are interspersed, all very well told. This series puts history into excellent shape for boys and is a new proof of Mr. Alger's energy and capacity in his special field of literature.

Alger, Horatio, jr. The young circus rider; or, the mystery of Robert Rudd. Phil. Porter & Coates, [1883]. 274 p. il. S. (Atlantic ser.) cl., $1.25.

The initial volume of the Atlantic series, a companion to the Pacific series. The author, knowing the fascination of the circus for young people, takes his hero from the arena and draws an exciting and in many ways a truthful picture of circus life. While it will interest all boys, its tone is not calculated to make them run away with the circus, as it gives the shadows as well as the bright sides of life in the ring.

One of Hans Christian Andersen's lovely fairy tales charmingly illustrated in colors. The text is printed in brown ink and the designs, mostly figures, are woven in the text.

Ashenhurst, T. R. Design in textile fabrics. N. Y., Cassell & Co., 1883. 6+248 p., 10 col. pl. and 106 diagrams, S. (Manuals of technology, ed. by Prof. Ayerton and R. Wormell.) cl., $2.

"In this manual an attempt has been made to place before the reader, as briefly and completely as possible, the principles of design in textile fabrics in its broadest sense, and to deal with the subject in such a manner as to combine with the question of decoration that of the proper structure of the cloth. . . . An effort has been made to lay down the leading principles clearly and completely, and to guide the student generally, rather than to enter too closely into minor details, which can only be sufficiently mastered by actual practice in the mill or workshop."—Preface.

Billings, J. S., M.D. Medical bibliography. Balt., Press of I. Friedenwald, 103 Fayette St., 1883. 23 p. pap.

Address delivered before the Medical and Chirurgical Faculty of the State of Maryland, 1883, and reprinted from the transactions of that Society. It is a survey, or rather sketch of the field of medical bibliography from the publication of the "Bibliotheca medica," by Paschalis Galus (Pascal Lecoq), in 1590, to the present time. It contains a plea for completing and keeping the medical library in Washington apart from the Congressional library, and gives some curious statistics showing that our Washington library is more complete in many respects than the collections of works on medicine in the British Museum and the Bibliothèque Nationale.

Bishop, Rev. H. H. Pictorial architecture of the British Isles. N. Y., E. & J. B. Young & Co., [1883]. 3+114 p. il. obl. O. cl., net, $1.20.

Illustrations with descriptive text of the most remarkable and picturesque architectural specimens, both ancient and modern, to be found in Great Britain. Designed for a holiday gift-book.

Blackie, J. Stuart. The wisdom of Goethe; with a list of citations prepared especially for this edition, with references to the text of the more important works. N. Y., C. Scribner's Sons, 1883. 83+258 p. S. cl., $1.25.

In his warm dedication to the Rev. Walter Chalmers Smith, D.D., Prof. Blackie calls this book a "manual of wise words for guidance in fruitful action and sound thinking." The preface contains a fair estimate of German and English character. It is followed by a chronological summary of Goethe's life, divided into Birth and boyhood; Studentship; Law and literature; The Weimarian apprenticeship; Italy; Marriage and domestication; Schiller and Goethe; and Political troubles. The author's estimate of Goethe's character evinces the ripe scholarship and discernment that earned him the honorable position he so well fills. There are two hundred and forty-six pages of classified citations, all of them translated from the original text except those taken from "Wilhelm Meister" and the "Conversations of Eckermann," for which the text of Carlyle and Oxenford has been used. Many false impressions current upon Goethe's estimate of religion, love, marriage and women, may be changed by a careful reading of these characteristic quotations.

Briggs, C. A.; D.D. Biblical study; its principles, methods and history; together with a catalogue of books of reference; N. Y., C. Scribner's Sons, 1883. 13+506 p. O. cl., $2.50.

This work is the product of the author's experience as a student of the Bible and a teacher of theological students in Biblical study. He has aimed to present a guide to Biblical study for the intelligent layman, as well as the theological student and minister. He has given a sketch of the entire history of each department of Biblical study. The literature of the subject has been considered in its appropriate places in the system, with the exception of works of Biblical history. These, however, have been included in an invaluable catalogue of books of reference for Biblical study added to the volume, containing about five hundred and fifty classified titles, graded into divisions of works for laymen and those for theologians. The Rev. Chas. R. Gillett, Librarian of the Union Theological Seminary, N. Y., has prepared three elaborate indexes to the work, one to Scripture texts, one to Topics, and one to Books and Authors. The catalogue alone is worth the price of the book.

Brooks, W. K. The law of heredity: a study of the cause of variation and the origin of life.

* In this list, the titles generally are verbatim transcriptions (according to the rule of the American Library Association) from books received. Books not received are indicated by a prefixed asterisk, and this office cannot be held responsible for the correctness of their record. This list will be reprinted verbatim, with all the notices of the books received, in the TRADE LIST ANNUAL.

ing organisms. Balt., J: Murphy & Co., 1883. 12+5-336 p. il. D. cl., $2.

The author has been occupied with his subject for ten years, but has thus far refrained from publishing his views, because he wished first to submit them to the test of experiment. He has thus far lacked the means necessary for such experiments, which require a great deal of time and a permanent country residence. He dedicates his book to Darwin and acknowledges his indebtedness for most of his facts. He expresses but slight hope that his views will be permanently accepted in the form in which they are presented, but hopes "they may serve to bind together and to vitalize the mass of facts we already possess, and that they may thus incite and direct new experiments." Mr. Brooks writes such excellent English, and makes his points so clear that readers cannot fail to gain much new knowledge about heredity, "the most marvellous of all the phenomena of the material universe."

Brown, Marshall. Wit and wisdom of proverbial philosophy; odd comparisons. Phil., J. B. Lippincott & Co., 1884 [1883]. 326 p. D. cl., $1.25.

Amusing comments, paragraphs and anecdotes taken from the newspapers, either illustrating or burlesquing popular proverbs. The collection is very entertaining reading, as it should be emanating from some of the wittiest writers on the press. Grouped under subjects.

Buck, Rev. C. H. Alcohol, what it is, what harm it does, and what to do with it. N. Y., Phillips & Hunt, 1883. 37 p. T. (Chautauqua text-books, no. 45.) pap., 10 c.

Bunyan, J: The Pilgrim's progress; with facsimile reproductions of the title-page and illustrations, as originally published in the first edition. Bost., Roberts Bros., 1883. 3-357 p. S. (The classic ser.) cl., $1.

Bürstebinder, E. ["E. Werner," pseud.] Banned and blessed; after the German by Mrs. A. L. Wister. Phil., J. B. Lippincott & Co., 1884 [1883]. 3-390 p. D. cl., $1.50.

A gloomy story of ignorance and superstition, the scene being laid in an old German village. The hero has been excommunicated for a supposed crime, and the peasants' detestation and superstition are heightened by the harsh bigotry of the village priest. Shut up in his castle and shunning all human eyes, Raimund von Werdenfels becomes a prey to melancholy and despair. A young cousin who visits him is one of the instruments by which his unhappy life is changed. The other is a beautiful woman who has long loved him. Together they draw him from his solitude, help clear his name and restore him again to hope and happiness. By the author of "Bound by his vows."

Butterworth, Hezekiah. Zigzag journeys in northern lands; the Rhine to the Arctic; a summer trip of the Zigzag club, through Holland, Germany, Denmark, Norway, and Sweden. Bost., Estes & Lauriat, 1884 [1883]. 5-320 p. il. O. bds., $1.50; cl., $2.25.

The aim of this volume is the same as that of the first volumes of the series—"Europe" and "Classic lands"—to make history popular through the assistance of stories and pictures of noted places. In this book are many German legends and fairy stories and many illustrations. Uniform with the other volumes of the series.

Campbell, Helen. The American girls' home-book of work and play. N. Y., G. P. Putnam's Sons, 1883. 14+417 p. il. D. cl., $2.

In three parts. Pt. 1 includes directions for all kinds of home-made toys, parlor games, parlor plays, ballads in action, charades, proverbs, etc. Pt. 2 gives information about lawn tennis and its laws; archery and other games; home swimming-school; boating for girls; hints on making small collections; directions for an aquarium; walking clubs and camping out; light gymnastics, etc. Pt. 3 goes into sewing and doll's dressmaking; Christmas gifts; preserving autumn leaves, ferns, etc.; what may be done with ether; wax flowers; wood-carving; strawberry culture; raising of poultry; canned fruit; canary birds; silk culture; drawing and designing, etc.

Cart, Lucien. The mounds of the Mississippi valley, historically considered. Cin., Robt. Clarke & Co., 1883. 107 p. Q. pap., $1.50.

An exhaustive account of the American Indian in theolithic stage of civilization. The author, who is assistant curator of the Peabody Museum of American Archaeology and Ethnology, Cambridge, Mass., has added a most valuable contribution to those sciences in this painstaking research as to whether the Indians were the builders of the mounds in the Mississippi Valley.

Champney, Lizzie W. Three Vassar girls in England: a holiday excursion of three college girls through the mother country; il. by "Champ" and other artists. Bost., Estes & Lauriat, 1884, [1883]. 5-238 p. O. bds., $1.50; cl., $2.

Arranged on the same plan as "Three Vassar girls abroad," the scene being this time in England, where the same characters visit a number of historic scenes and notable places. With the aid of pictures and a great deal of bright conversation, a large amount of information is offered the reader in a very taking style. The pictures are full-page and in the text. The cover linings have maps printed on them of England and Ireland.

Chatterbox, [1883]; ed. by J. Erskine Clarke. Bost., Estes & Lauriat, [1883]. 4+412 p. O. bds., $1.25; cl., $1.75; $2.25.

The authorized reprint, containing a large amount of copyright American matter. With the usual abundance of large and small pictures and pretty stories and poems.

Chronicle (The) of the Cid; ed. with an introduction and appendix by R. Markham, and il. with upward of fifty designs by H. W. McVickar and Alfred Brennan. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1883. 323 p. O. cl., $3.

The Cid, Rodrigo Diaz of Bivar, figures in almost all of the historical and legendary narratives of Spain. So many stories are told of him that his existence outside of the brains of the romancers has often been doubted. There is authentic proof, nevertheless, that he was born of noble lineage at Burgos, somewhere between 1030 and 1040, and that he began his career as a free-lance fighting against Moor and Christian alike. It is from the pages of Southey's translation of the "Chronicles of the Cid"—made up from three originals—that the text of this volume is taken. It gives the most interesting incidents in the Cid's history and is rich in combats, battles, sieges, fights and such romantic and heroic phases of life in the middle ages as the boys love to read about. Several ballads from Lockhart's translations and from the metrical versions of Frere and Ormsby, embellish the text. There is also an appendix with notes. The illustrations are bold and lifelike, and the binding exceedingly rich, being a gold cloth with a dashing design of a knight on horseback.

Church, Rev. Alfred J. Stories of the East from Herodotus; with il. from ancient frescoes and sculptures. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., [1883]. 10+299 p. D. cl., $1.50.

Mr. Church says in his preface, "I have kept as close to my original as I could, but I do not profess to have translated it. Of course nothing like criticism or correction has been attempted." Boys can pick up facts from this handsome volume that will help them in their Latin translations. Fifteen full-page illustrations colored to resemble the ancient frescoes, are the work of Miss Sealey, a relative of the author.

Church, Rev. Alfred J. Stories from Livy; il. from designs by Pinelli. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1883. 7+277 p. D. cl., $1.50.

In antiquity historians were expected to charm and interest the reader more than to give accurate truth based on scientific investigation. Livy fulfilled this demand to perfection, and even in translation after eighteen hundred years his "Annals of Rome" can stir us to enthusiasm by their eloquence and appreciation of the courage and virtues of his idealized countrymen. Boys must be pleased with this excellent translation, which shows in every page the ripe scholarship and knowledge of boyish tastes that distinguish the popular Professor of Latin, of University College, London.

Cohen, M. M. Admiralty jurisdiction, law, and practice. With an appendix, containing rules, statutes, and forms. Bost., Soule & Bugbee, 1883. 38+505 p. O. shp., net, $5.

Colange, Leo de. The heart of Europe, from the Rhine to the Danube: a series of views; with text by Leo de Colange; including poems by foreign and American authors. Bost., Estes & Lauriat, 1883. 7-143 p. F. cl., $3.75.

Both text and views are more than ordinarily interesting; interwoven with the descriptive parts are poems by celebrated authors, relating to the subject treated of. Hand somely printed on tinted paper. Has both full-page and text illustrations.

Coleridge, S. Taylor. The rime of the ancient mariner : in seven parts ; il. by Gustave Doré, Birket Foster, and others. Bost., Estes & Lauriat, 1884 [1883]. no paging, O. cl., $1.50 ; tree cl., $5 ; illuminated and fringed covers, $1.75 ; decorated satin and fringe, $2.50.

The weird ballad of the ancient mariner is perfectly interpreted by the illustrations ; those by Doré are among his highest efforts and very beautifully reproduced. The volume in its entirety is an exceedingly handsome one, in paper, print and binding. There are twenty-seven illustrations, a few of them being only vignette, but the majority almost fill the page.

Coleridge, Rt. Hon. Sir J. Taylor. My recollections of the circuit : an address at Exeter, England. Providence, R. I., S. S. Rider, 1883. 42 p. D. pap., 25 c.

An entertaining account of the experiences of a circuit lawyer in the days before railways. The author (born 1790, died 1869) was nephew of the poet S. T. Coleridge and father of Lord Coleridge, at present visiting in this country. He was a fellow of Exeter, and practised for some years on the Western Circuit. In 1824 he assumed the editorship of the Quarterly Review, resigning it, however, in the following year to publish his excellent edition of Blackstone's Commentaries. In 1835 he was appointed one of the judges of the King's Bench and in 1858 he resigned to become a member of the Privy Council.

Conkling, Howard. Mexico and the Mexicans ; or, notes of travel in the winter and spring of 1883. N. Y., Taintor Bros., Merrill & Co., 1883. 12+298 p. il. D. cl., $1.50.

Record of a recent journey through Mexico ; portrays the condition of the Mexican people under their social, industrial and religious aspects, and presents a brief sketch of their commercial, agricultural, mining and other industrial interests.

Cowdery, Jabez F. The citizen's law-book and officer's guide : being a comprehensive and accurate statement of general legal matters applicable to citizens, professional men and officers of the states of California, Nevada and Oregon, and the territories of Arizona, Idaho, Montana, New Mexico, Utah and Washington, and containing the laws affecting and the general duties of county officers ; together with over 400 forms, rev. and cor. in accordance with the latest decisions. San Francisco, A. L. Bancroft & Co., 1883. 702 p. O. shp., $6.50.

Curzon, Rob. A visit to monasteries in the Levant. [New ed.] N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., [1883]. 20+300 p. D. cl., $1.50. Published originally by A. S. Barnes & Co., 1854.

Defoe, Daniel. The life and adventures of Robinson Crusoe ; with il. by T. Stothard. Bost., Roberts Bros., 1883. 16+555 p. S. (The classic ser.) cl., $1.

Domett, Alfred. It was the calm and silent night : a Christmas hymn. Bost., Lee & Shepard, 1884 [1883]. no paging, il. sq. O. cl., $1.50 ; "golden floral," flex., $1.75.

Fourteen characteristic designs by W. L. Taylor ; drawn and engraved under the supervision of G. T. Andrew. Printed only on one side of heavy tinted paper. Bound tastefully in cloth and also issued in illuminated covers with fringe, the uniform of the "golden floral," so popular last season.

Eaton, S. J. M., D.D. Jerusalem, the holy city. N. Y., Phillips & Hunt, 1883. 88 p. T. (Chautauqua text-books, no. 44.) pap., 10 c.

Edwards, Emory. Modern American locomotive engines ; their design, construction, and management : a practical work for practical men. Phil., H. Carey Baird & Co., 1883. 383 p. 78 il. D. cl., $2.

Eyttinge, Margaret. The ball of the vegetables and other stories in prose and verse. N. Y., Harper, 1883. 246 p. il. O. cl., $2.

These pretty stories originally appeared in Harper's Young People, St. Nicholas, Wide Awake, and other periodicals. They are now collected for the first time in book-form, and make with their charming illustrations one of the most desirable books for young people lately published.

Favorite poems : selected from English and American authors ; il. by Garrett, Gifford, Hayden, Schell, Merrill, Taylor and Woodward. N. Y., T. Y. Crowell & Co., [1883]. 3-456 p. D. cl., $2.50.

Belonging to Crowell's illustrated edition of popular poets. Printed on fine calendered paper and bound in holiday style.

Fellows, Lena Gilbert. The story of young Margaret. N. Y., Phillips & Hunt, 1883. 324 p. D. cl., $1.25.

Feuillet, Octave. La fée : comédie en un acte. Nouvelle édition. N. Y., W. R. Jenkins, 1883. 43 p. D. (Théâtre contemporain, no. 6.) pap., 25 c.

Finley, Martha. Elsie's new relations : what they did, and how they fared at Ion : a sequel to "Grandmother Elsie." N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., [1883]. 324 p. il. S. (Elsie ser.) cl., $1.25.

A new volume in the Elsie books is sure to be a delight to the possessors of the eight already published. Elsie's new relations are a daughter-in-law and a new grandchild. We meet all the well-known faces and see quite at home among the Dinsmores, Travillas and Raymonds. This volume contains a warning against dime novels and vulgar story-papers for boys.

Forrester, Mrs. June. Phil., J. B. Lippincott & Co., 1884 [1883]. 3-303 p. D. cl., $1.25. pap., 25 c.

Every novel-reader knows the material out of which Mrs. Forrester constructs her fascinating books—her blood heroes flitting to the brink of crime, her frivolous and faithless wives, and her saucy coquettish young ladies with their innumerable experiences. "June" differs little from previous books. A dull husband, a bright and witty wife, a scheming woman and a young guardaman with dark blue eyes and an incorrigible propensity to love his neighbor's wife, are the leading characters. The result is better than one could hope for after the many devious and winding ways through which the author leads to the dénouement. The scene, as usual, is English fashionable life.

French, Harry W. Our boys in China : the thrilling story of two young Americans, Scott and Paul Clayton, wrecked in the China Sea on their return from India, with their strange adventures in China. Bost., Lee & Shepard, 1883. 424 p. il. sq. O. cl., $2.50 ; bds., $1.75.

The little heroes of this author's previous work, "Our boys in India," are wrecked in the China Sea on board the ship "Tigress," on their way home ; they find themselves alone in China, and go through many vicissitudes, from absolute hunger, sickness and dangers, to life at last in a palace. The book is more than usually fresh in incident and detail, and is most profusely illustrated. In a characteristic binding.

Fulton, J., D.D. The law of marriage : containing the Hebrew law, the Roman law, the law of the New Testament, and the canon law of the universal church concerning the impediments of marriage and the dissolution of the marriage bond ; digested and arranged with notes and scholia. N. Y., E. & J. S. Young & Co., 1883. 18+270 p. D. cl., $2.

Rev. Dr. Fulton says, "It has long been evident that the church must legislate upon the subject of marriage." In his own pastoral experience he has had sad occasion to see the need of law to guide him in his action as a minister of the church, and the same need he believes has been felt by many men, his "superiors in learning as in office." It is the desire to fill this want and not to advocate any personal views of his own, which has prompted him to collect and condense and arrange the material in this volume, which is given with authorities and explanatory notes and comments.

Gesparin, Valérie Boissier (Comtesse) de. The near and the heavenly horizons. [New issue.] N. Y., Rob. Carter & Bros., [1883]. 4+311 p. S. cl., $1.50.

Gladden, Washington. The Christian league of Connecticut. N. Y., The Century Co., [1883]. 3+192 p. D. cl., 75 c.; pap., 50 c.

A collection of fourteen papers first published in The Century Magazine, in which a Congregational minister calls upon his brethren of all denominations to combine their forces, and with united counsel and labor organize themselves to solve effectually the questions of mission work, relief of the poor, temperance reform, etc., assigning certain parts of the work to certain workers, and all meeting on common ground, to do all they can in a tolerant, Christian spirit. Dr. Gladden speaks after much thinking and a large experience, and as always all his ideas are liberal and all his methods moderate.

Goethe, J. W. von. Songs and scenes from Goethe's Faust; il. from designs by A. Liezen Mayer and Ad. Lalauze. Bost., Estes & Lauriat, 1884 [1883]. no paging, sq. O. (Songs from the great poets.) cl., $1.50; tree cf., $5; illuminated and fringed covers, $1.75; decorated satin and fringe, $2.50.

Bayard Taylor's translation is used in these selections from Faust. The designs, thirteen full page pictures and three or four vignettes, are very beautiful and spirited. The book is a handsome quarto in cloth and decorated bindings.

Goldsmith, Oliver. The vicar of Wakefield; with il. by W. Mulready. Bost., Roberts Bros., 1883. 8+267 p. S. (The classic ser.) cl., $1.

Gray, J. Chipman. Restraints on the alienation of property. Bost., Soule & Bugbee, 1883. 16+217 p. O. cl., net, $2.50; shp., net, $3.

An essay on the history and present condition of the law governing restraints on the transfer of property, both voluntary and involuntary. Authorities are quoted throughout and a table of cases given. Appendix contains decisions under the New York statutes.

Gray, T. An elegy written in a country churchyard. Artists' ed. Phil., J. B. Lippincott & Co., 1883. 47 p. il. O. cl., $3; mor., $3.50; tree cf. and alligator, $7.50. Same, édition de luxe, O. net, $15.

This charming edition of a very charming poem is embellished by 22 illustrations drawn by such artists as Swain Gifford, Gibson, Howenden, Frost, Church, Richards, Murphy, Smadley, Foote, and others. There is a design on each leaf with verses, the leaves being printed only on one side. The designs are unusually fine, and the paper, binding, etc., extremely rich.

Gray, T. Elegy written in a country churchyard; with il. by Birket Foster, W. L. Shepard, W. L. Taylor, Francis Miller and others. Bost., Estes & Lauriat, 1883. no paging, O. cl., $1.50; tree cf., $5; illuminated fringed covers, $1.75; decorated satin and fringe, $2.50.

This edition of Gray's "Elegy" compares very favorably with the other two in the market. It contains Birket Foster's charming landscapes, and a number of very good figure-pieces. It is printed on heavy tinted paper, on one side of the leaf only, and put up in a variety of rich bindings.

Green, S. G., D.D. Scottish pictures drawn with pen and pencil. N. Y., T. Nelson & Sons, [1883]. 12+208 p. il. Q. (Pen and pencil ser.) cl., $3.50.

A rose-colored description of Scottish scenery; includes glimpses of Edinburgh and Glasgow, the central and western Highlands, and the far north. Fully illustrated, many of the pictures occupying a whole page.

Hadley, Caroline. Bible stories for young children. Phil., J. B. Lippincott & Co., [1883]. 6+423 p. il. D. cl., $1.

Fifty stories from the Old and fifty from the New Testament, written in simple language, dwelling on traits of character and special events calculated to appeal to the imagination of young children. Good Bible stories are rare, and these are remarkably well told. The tone is quite undenominational. The book has twelve full-page illustrations.

Hardy, Robina F. Jock Halliday: a Grass-market hero; or, sketches of life and character in an old city parish. N. Y., Rob. Carter & Bros., [1883]. 5-192 p. il. S. cl., $1.

Scene laid in Edinburgh. Dr. Randal's efforts to get the members of his congregation interested in helping the poor, and the description of some visits to tenement-houses are well told. Jock Halliday is a baker's lad who profits by all that is done for him. His bringing little Effie to Dr. Randal's brother, an oculist, to be cured of blindness, after hearing the story of Muriel in "John Halifax" is a pretty episode in a lovely story.

Harland, Marion [pseud. for Mrs. M. V. H. Terhune]. The cottage kitchen: a collection of practical and inexpensive receipts. N.Y., C. Scribner's Sons, 1883. 4+276 p. D. (Common sense in the household ser.) cl., $1.

The genial author's task in this new volume is to "prepare a compendium of receipts that are economical, yet wholesome and palatable." They are intended for incomes of from twelve to fifteen hundred a year. The plainest details on most trivial points are given, as the work is intended especially for girls who marry after working for years in stores and shops, and having no time to learn the best and quickest way of cooking a cheap, tempting meal. It is interpersed with the sensible "familiar talks" that make Marion Harland's cook-books such pleasant reading.

Hawthorne, Nathaniel. Scarlet letter; with il. by F. O. C. Darley. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1883. 54 p. 12 pl. obl. F. $10.

Henty, G. A. The boy knight who won his spurs fighting with King Richard of England: a tale of the Crusades. Bost., Roberts Bros., 1883. 6+324 p. il. D. cl., $1.50.

The ardor, valor and devotion of the boy knight amid the romantic surroundings of feudal England and the Holy Land makes this fascinating story read like a fairy tale. Much historical information is given and many important truths are taught, however, in a manner that will impress them indelibly upon a thinking boyish intellect.

Hoffmann, Franz. The emigrants: a tale of the last century; from the German; tr. and rev. by Mrs. H. D. Conrad. Phil., American S. S. Union, [1883]. 3+156 p., 2 il. D. cl., 75 c.

Gives in a simple, interesting story the causes that led to the emigration of German Protestants to America, and tells the history of one family that settled in the neighborhood of the Lehigh Valley, Pennsylvania. Historical and moral lessons are taught in an attractive manner.

Holmes, Oliver Wendell. Grandmother's story of Bunker Hill battle; il. by H. W. Me-Vickar. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., [1883]. 32 p. sq. O. cl., $2.

Holmes's poem, with finely colored illustrations on every page. The subject and the spirited designs ought to make this a favorite gift-book.

Hosmer, G. W., M.D. The people and politics; or, the structure of the states and the significance and relation of political forms. Bost., James R. Osgood & Co., 1883. 6+339 p. O. cl., $3.

A new and important work on political economy, which discusses, under "Ancient history," primary personal sovereignty, the oligarchy, democracy and tyranny. And under "Modern history," variations due to modern civilization, absolute monarchy, constitutional monarchy, republican government and military despotism.

Houston, Edwin J. The elements of chemistry: for the use of schools, academies and colleges. Phil., Eldredge & Bro., 1883. 444 p. D. cl., $1.50.

Howe, Mrs. Julia Ward. Margaret Fuller (Marchesa Ossoli). Bost., Roberts Bros., 1883. 10+298 p. S. (Famous women ser.) cl., $1.

One of the most notable figures of the literature of the early part of this century is the subject of this sketch. Although her story has often been told by the many literary men of her day who knew her and admired her, there is a place for this little volume. It gives in succinct form the story of her life, her literary triumphs, her sojourn in Italy, her marriage to the young Italian nobleman, Ossoli, and her sad death while still comparatively a young woman, in sight of her native land. The Italian episode and the tragedy with which her life culminated have probably never before been so graphically narrated. Mrs. Howe is a most sympathetic biographer, and though limited by space has succeeded in producing a most readable volume, one that appeals both to the literary and the popular taste. (Margaret Fuller was b. at Cambridgeport near Boston, 1810, d. 1850.)

Hulme, F. E. Flower-painting in water-colors: second series. N. Y., Cassell & Co., [1883]. 19 p., 20 pl., interleaved with drawing-paper, O. cl., $2.50.

A most interesting work for art students. There are twenty plates in lithography of flowers in their natural colors. A sheet of drawing-paper between each design is for the convenience of those who may like to make their copies opposite the originals. The text fully describes the method of treating each design.

Illinois. Laws of Illinois, relating to roads and bridges, in counties under township organization. With notes and forms, being part of division II. of Haines' Township organization laws, new ed., 1883. Chic., The Legal Adviser, 1884. 1+115-224 p. O. pap., $1.

Ingelow, Jean. The high tide on the coast of Lincolnshire, 1571. Bost., Roberts Bros., [1883]. no paging, il. O. cl., $4; ant. mor. and tree cf., $8.

Jean Ingelow's graphic description of the high tide on the Lincolnshire coast, 1571, is finely interpreted through a series of 30 illustrations after designs by F. S. Church, J. D. Woodward, Harry Fenn, W. St. John Harper, J. Appleton Brown and others. The work is printed only on one side of rich, beautifully tinted paper, under the supervision of G. T. Andrew. There is an appendix containing some interesting facts connected with the ballad, and elucidating obscure passages and words, with pictorial representations of Miss Ingelow's home, Skirbeck Church and John Cotton's house.

Jenkins, Rev. E. E. My sources of strength. N. Y., Cassell & Co., 1883. 4+120 p. T. (Heart chords.) cl., 40 c.

Johnston, Alex. The genesis of a New England state (Connecticut). Baltimore, Md., Johns Hopkins Univ., Sep., 1883. 29 p. O. (Johns Hopkins Univ. studies.) pap., 30 c.

Address read before the Historical and Political Science Assoc., April 13, 1883. Describes in outline the growth of the present State of Connecticut from its colonization to the union of the counties in 1666.

Johonnot, Ja., comp. A natural history reader; for school and home. N. Y., Appleton, 1883. 18+414 p. il. D. cl., $1.

Made up from selections from the works of some of the most prominent writers on natural history. "In selecting the articles," says Mr. Johonnot in his preface, "an endeavor has been made to secure the interest which comes from variety. Care has been taken also that the statements shall be scientifically correct, though mere scientific abstracts have been avoided. The poetry and general literature of natural history have also received due consideration."

Another point has been kept in view. "Most of the articles selected are pervaded by a strong humanitarian sentiment." The mechanical excellence of the book and the number and attractiveness of the illustrations, call for special mention.

Jones, C. A. Only a girl: a tale of Brittany; adapted from the French. N. Y., E. & J. B. Young & Co., [1883]. 8+251 p. il. D. cl., $1.25.

Françoise is first seen crying and praying on her mother's grave. She is taken up by the neighbors and becomes everybody's servant. The handsomest lad in the fishing village of Plongastel, near Brest, asks her to marry him; his mother objects. Françoise goes to the city to earn 2000 francs. While in service her lover is lost at sea. She returns to his mother and takes care of her until her death. The lady for whom she worked, afterward buys the mother's house and gives it to Françoise, and she ends her days working for others as she had begun. Gives a true picture of peasant life in Brittany.

Man, Rosalie, ed. Our young folks' Plu-tarch. Phil., J. B. Lippincott & Co., 1883. 460 p. map and il. O. cl., $3.

Plutarch himself says: "My design is not to write histories, but lives." The world-famous "Lives" are here given in a condensed, simple form. The editor warns young readers that "the legends of the heroic age must not be accepted as historical facts," and that their only importance is the picture they present of ancient superstitions and their influence on the lives guided and influenced by them. There is a briskness in the tone of this adaptation that makes it easy, pleasant reading for young and old. Excellent maps make it a useful text-book.

Knox, T. W. The boy travellers in the far East. Pt. 5: Adventures of two youths in a journey through Africa. N. Y., Harper, 1884 [1883]. 3-473 p. il. O. cl., $3.

The wanderings of the boy travellers in the far East are brought to an end with this volume. It is prepared on the same method followed in the preceding volumes, and presents a very thorough description of Africa and its inhabitants, and especially the equatorial regions. In describing the latter, the author has drawn from the latest writers of the subject, and embodied the experiences of some of the most recent explorers. Dr. Bronson, with Frank and Fred, are again the heroes, and, of course, their own personal adventures occupy considerable room, and are as entertaining as formerly. The book is full of pictures, and the cover-linings show maps of Africa and Central Africa drawn from the best authorities. Uniform with the other volumes of the series, and in a handsome cover of green, red and gold.

Ladd, Horatio O. History of the war with Mexico. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., [1883]. 3-328 p. il. and map, D. (Minor wars of the United States.) cl., $1.25.

Short, clear accounts of particular epochs of history are in great demand. Mr. Ladd's "War with Mexico" is written within the comprehension of boys, but gives all the facts that grown readers require to know, and at the same time its style is so earnest that it might be used as a school text-book to great advantage. A good index makes it a work of reference, and an excellent map enables interested readers to trace Gen. Scott through all his arduous marches.

Linton, W. J., and Stoddard, R. H., eds. English verse. In 5 v. V. 1: Chaucer to Burns. V. 2, Lyrics of the nineteenth century. N. Y., C. Scribner's Sons, 1883. 52+331; 44+336 p. D. cl., ea. $1.

Under the general title, "English verse," will be comprised five small volumes of selections. The contents of the first and second volumes are given in the title above; the third will be devoted to "Ballads and romances"; the fourth, "Dramatic selections"; the fifth, "Translations." The publishers claim for this new series "that in completeness, in literary as well as in popular value, and in certain excellences of plan, it distinctly surpasses any attempt yet made in the same direction." The editors have especially aimed at absolute accuracy of text, Mr. Linton having devoted the last year entirely to minute study and verification in the British Museum. The poems of each author are grouped under his name, with which the dates of his birth and death are given. Each volume contains an essay by Mr. Stoddard on the period or class of English poetry which it covers. The introduction to the first volume treats also of English poetry before Chaucer. At the end of each volume are brief biographical and bibliographical notes, glossarial and explanatory notes, and indexes of authors, poems, and first lines. Printed on a fine white paper, with plenty of margin, and neatly bound.

Longley, Elias. Compend of phonography presenting a table of all alphabetic combinations, hooks circles, loops, etc., at one view, also complete list of word-signs and contracted word-forms, with rules for contracting words for the use of writers of all styles of phonography. Cin., Rob. Clarke & Co., 1883. 32 p. pap., 25 c.

Macaulay, T. Babington (Lord). Lays of ancient Rome; with Ivory and the Armar. New ed., with il. by F. R. Weguelin. Bost., Roberts Bros., 1883. 252 p. S. (The classic ser.) cl., $1.

Manson, G. J. Work for women. N. Y., G. P. Putnam's Sons, 1883. 5+139 p. S. (Putnam's handy-book ser.) bds., 60 c. Papers on Industrial designing; Short-hand writing; Telegraphy; Feather-curling; Photography; Professional nursing; Proof-readers, compositors and bookbinders; The drama—lecturers and readers; Book-agents; Dressmaking, millinery; Teaching, etc. Aim to give all such information connected with these employments that a woman would naturally ask seeking a means for earning a living.

Manufacturers, and Mechanics' Institute: The catalogue of the art department of the Manufacturers and Mechanics' Institute, Bost., Mass., 1883. Bost., Cupples, Upham & Co. [printed at the Art Age Press of Arthur B. Turnure], 1883. 300 p. il. Q. cl., $3.

Markham, R: A narrative history of King Philip's war, and the Indian troubles in New England. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., [1883]. 3-336 p. il. map, D. (Minor wars of the United States.) cl., $1.25.

The author tells us he "makes no pretence to original investigation in the field of Colonial history." He has "collected his facts from many sources," and aimed "to give an idea of the manners and social relations of our forefathers." He has quoted often from early chronicles, and preserved their quaint style. The time of King Philip's war is so identified with "Leather Stocking," that boys must be interested to get at the historical facts of the epoch in which their favorite hero flourished.

May, Sophie. Kittyleen. Bost., Lee & Shepard, 1884 [1883]. 207 p. il. S. (Flaxie Frizzle stories.) cl., 75 c.

This story for very little girls—the fifth of the Flaxie Frizzle series—"aims to show the gradual improvement of Flaxie's character under the various disciplines of child-life, and the sweet influence of a good and happy home."

Miles, Helen J. A. Outlines for little painters. N. Y., E. & J. B. Young & Co., [1883]. 2-30 p. il. O. bds., 50 c.

31 pictures in outline, for young people to color; on rough paper, the subjects being such as please children. Has a pretty board cover in bright colors.

Montgomery, Walter, ed. The boys of the Sierras; or, the young gold-hunters: a story of California in '49. Bost., Estes & Lauriat, 1884 [1883]. 3-240 p. il. O. bds., $1.25.

An exciting story of life among the California miners; for boys. A handsome quarto, with full-page pictures.

Moulton, Louise Chandler. Firelight stories. Bost., Roberts Bros., 1883. 232 p. il. S. cl., $1.25.

Eleven stories by this popular and inexhaustible writer—telling of natural child-life and describing people and home scenes as we all meet them and know them. The titles are: Sol Jones's orphans; The little silver locket; The bargee's Johnny; Solomon Girder's customers; Jenny's baby; Roger Faithful's invention; The mortgage on Inglenook; Edith Bowles's new life; How Ruth came home; Sister Lucy; Jenny's valentine.

Mulertt, Hugo. The goldfish, and its systematic culture with a view to profit. Cin., Rob. Clarke & Co., 1883. 108 p. il. O. cl., $1.

Murray, D. Christie. Hearts: a novel. N. Y., Harper, 1883. 70 p. Q. (Harper's Franklin sq. lib., no. 339.) pap., 20 c.

An old-fashioned plot of love, incident and mystery. We recognize old favorite characters in a new combination. Two cousins, one a loyal English gentleman, the other the villain of the piece, by figuring under the same name, lead to various misunderstandings, which are happily cleared at the end. The hero being a writer of opera bouffe, artists and actors are naturally introduced, and the wicked cousin's machinations lead to lawsuits and court examinations which are full of exciting interest.

National Civil Service Reform League. Proceedings at the annual meeting of the National Civil Service Reform League held at Newport, R. I., Aug. 1, 1883, with the address of the President, Hon. G. W. Curtis. N. Y., Nat. Civil Service Reform League, 1883. 39 p. S. pap., 10 c.

Nelson, Julia. Two years at Hillsboro'. Phil., J. B. Lippincott & Co., 1884 [1883]. 287 p. D. cl., $1.25.

"Hillsboro'" is the fictitious name of a town in some eastern state where there is a boarding-school, at which abel Stewart spends two years and makes many friends. The school-life and the happy vacations at home furnish the material for this story, which, Miss Nelson tells us, is her first effort. We leave Mabel at home in St. Louis earning an independent living as a music-teacher, and are half promised that we shall meet her again in the future.

Nordhoff, C: Man-of-war life: a boy's experience in the United States navy during a voyage around the world in a ship of the line. New ed. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., [1883]. 12+335 p. il. O. bds., $1.50.

A new edition of a very popular boys' book, printed first in 1854; from new type and fully illustrated.

Norton, Caroline E. S. Bingen on the Rhine; il. by W. T. Smedley, F. B. Schell, Alfred Fredericks, and others. Phil., Porter & Coates, [1883]. no paging, il. sq. D. bds., $1.50; canvas covers, hand-painted, $3.50; limp cl., hand-painted, $5; plush, $7.

Printed only on one side of heavy plate paper. There are 25 engravings, one on each page, with a verse. This favorite poem, in its new setting and elegant bindings, appeals to a large class of readers.

Ohio. The law of municipal corporations in the State of Ohio, embracing the statutes in force, with forms and notes of the decisions of the Supreme and other courts of the state relating thereto, by Hiram D. Peck. 2d ed., enl. and rewritten. Cin., Rob. Clarke & Co., 1883. 8+708 p. O. shp., net, $5.

Osborn, H. S. Ancient Egypt in the light of modern discoveries. Cin., Rob. Clarke & Co., 1883. 232 p. il. and map, D. cl., $1.25.

Epitome of the whole subject of ancient Egyptian history. Embraces the discoveries of the past ten or twenty years, wherein those discoveries have been verified by the monuments, both in sculpture and in papyrus, and these verified discoveries are used for historic purposes. The recent discoveries of Naville (1883), those of Brugsch-Bey, Maspero and others, and the theories of Piazzi Smith, Proctor (1883), etc., are brought together under the light of comparative opinions, and the reader is placed in possession of the authorities and, in a very small compass, of the entire subject of this wonderful history and people. Contains a very full map of Egypt and an extensive index.

Oyster epicure (The): a collation of authorities on the gastronomy and dietetics of the oyster. N. Y., White, Stokes & Allen. 2+61 p. S. pap., 30 c.

This dainty collation appears in good season. It is the first book published in this country on the subject of oyster-eating. The compiler gives the gist of the best writers in extracts culled with nice taste and with a careful hand. The chief part of this book is given up to the "gastronomy" of the oyster, under the headings, When in season; How to eat it; How to serve it; What to drink with it; How many to eat; How to open it; Roasted in its own shell; Which to choose and where: in the United States, New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Europe, Great Britain, London, France and Paris. The "dietetics" are based on the work of the Rev. Samuel Lockwood, on the "Oyster interests of New Jersey." Some anecdotes of famous oyster-eaters, and an extract from the Westminster Review on the "happiness" of the oyster, conclude this pretty little pamphlet, that thick paper, clear type, and an odd tasteful cover make attractive at first sight.

Perry, B. F. Reminiscences of public men; prefaced by a life of the author, by Hext M. Perry, M.D. Phil., J. D. Avil & Co., 1883. 3-320+4 p. il. and por. D. cl., $2.

See note in "Weekly Record," P. W., Oct. 6, '83 [611].

Pitman, Emma Raymond. Central Africa, Japan and Fiji: a story of missionary enterprise, trials and triumphs. N. Y., American Tract Soc., [1883]. 6+246 p. il. D. cl., $1.50.

Although written from a missionary's standpoint, this volume is full of facts and incidents that cannot fail to interest old and young readers. Dr. Livingstone's work in Africa is dwelt upon; the great advance in Japanese civilization is stated and accounted for, and the chapters devoted to Fiji are especially fascinating. Nothing doctrinal or sectarian is allowed to mar this instructive and entertaining volume.

Poe, Edgar Allen. The raven; il. by Gustave Doré; with comment by Edmund C. Ste-man. N. Y., Harper, 1884 [1883]. 25 p., 26 pl., F. cl., $10.

Aside from the beauty of the designs and the mechanical perfection of this volume, it has a special interest as representing the last completed work from Dore's gifted pencil. He seems to have been in direct sympathy with Poe's weird effusion, so illustrative are his designs of its wild and sombre phaser. He offers, as Mr. Steadman says in his introductory, a series of variations upon the theme as he conceived it, "the enigma of death and the hallucination of an inconceivable soul." The designs, large folio size and 26 in number, are engraved by our most celebrated engravers—Juengling, Claudius, Müller, Tietze, Zimmermann, and others. The title-page is a design by Ellhu Vedder. Take the work altogether, it is a sumptuous one in every detail.

Powell, Harry J. The principles of glass-making; [also] Treatise on crown and sheet glass, by H. Chance; [also] Treatise on plate-glass, by H. G. Harris. Phil., H. Carey Baird & Co., 1883. 186 p. D. cl., $1.50.

Prentiss, Mrs. Elizabeth. Fred and Maria, and me. New ed. N. Y., C. Scribner's Sons, 1883. 4+71 p. il. S. cl., $1.

First published anonymously in Hours at Home, in 1865. In 1868 it was published as a book and circulated widely, attracting attention even in Germany, where a translation was published. "Aunt Avery," who tells the story, is a quaint type of a religious New England woman of fifty years ago. The scene is laid in Maine, and is written in the vernacular of that section, as spoken by the uneducated country people. This new edition is published by special request.

Rand, McNally & Co.'s sectional map of Wisconsin. Chic., Rand, McNally & Co., 1883. 41x58 in. folded pocket-form, cl., $1; mounted on rollers, heavy pap., $1.50, or on cl., $2.50. A companion to the "New sectional map of Minnesota," showing nearly all of the northern peninsula of Michigan, and adjoining portions of Illinois, Iowa and Minnesota, and designating every section surveyed, and every railroad and town built to date in the "Badger State."

Roe, E: P. His sombre rivals. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., [1883]. 487 p. D. cl., $1.50.

Grief, death, and derangement of mind are Colonel Graham's "sombre rivals" after his most intimate friend and successful rival loses his life upon the field of Bull Run. Col. Hasbrouck, of West Point, pronounces the descriptions of battles accurate, and our memories vouch for the truth and moderation of the story of Northern and Southern suffering during the civil war. The strong feature of Mr. Roe's latest novel is delineation of character. The mental derangement of the young wife who has been imbued with materialistic, sceptical views when deprived of her husband, her unconscious marriage with her husband's friend, his unselfish devotion in restoring her to health, the birth of her child, its death within the year, and the unexpected effect upon her reawakened mind, furnish Mr. Roe the material he has worked into a very strong novel.

Sanborn, Kate, comp. A year of sunshine: cheerful extracts for every day in the year; selected and arranged by Kate Sanborn. Bost., James R. Osgood & Co., 1884 [1883]. no paging, S. cl., $1.

Published last year in the shape of a calendar, these selections proved so attractive that a new edition has been issued in book-form. There are more than five hundred extracts from writers of prominence, all breathing a cheerful, hopeful spirit, and making the best of life. A blank space is left on each page for decoration, dates, etc. The page has a red-line border, and the binding is quite attractive.

Soott, Sir Walter. The lady of the lake: a poem in six cantos; with notes and an appendix from the latest Edinburgh ed.; with il. by F. T. Merrill and F. B. Schell. N. Y., T. Y. Crowell & Co., [1883]. 332 p. O. cl., $2.50.

A new edition with new designs, printed on fine calendered paper and bound in holiday style. Belonging to Crowell's illustrated edition of popular poets.

Shakespeare, W. The Riverside Shakespeare. Mr. William Shakespeare's comedies, histories, tragedies and poems; the text newly edited with glossarial, historical and explanatory notes by R. Grant White. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1883. 3 v., 46+ 884; 6+928; 6+1027 p. O. cl., $7.50; hf. cl. $15.

Southey, Rob. The life of Nelson; with biographical notice of the author. [New issue.] Phil., J. B. Lippincott & Co., 1883. 3-318 p. il. and por. D. cl., $1.25.

Southey, Rob. The life of Nelson; with il. by Birket Foster. Bost., Roberts Bros., 1883. 314 p. S. (The classic ser.) cl., $1.

Spencer, Herbert. Readings from Herbert Spencer on education; selected by Rev. Jesse B. Young. N. Y., Phillips & Hunt, 1883. 74 p. T. (Chautauqua text-books, no. 47.) pap. 10 c.

Stephens, C. A. The Knockabout Club in the tropics: the adventures of a party of young men in New Mexico, Mexico and Central America. Bost., Estes & Lauriat, 1884 [1883]. 5-240 p. il. O. bds., $1.50; cl., $2.

An illustrated quarto book of travels for boys, arranged on the well-known plan of the other volumes of the series.

Swan, Annie S. Aldersyde: a border story of seventy years ago. N. Y., Rob. Carter & Bros., [1883]. 6-318 p. il. D. cl., $1.50.

The border lies between Scotland and England, but Scotch characters predominate. A quaint story of quiet lives. The servant girl, Margot, and her devotion to an old family in misfortune, are described with much power. Janet Nebbit, the laird's daughter, is without doubt a portrait. Six original illustrations show pretty Scotch landscapes.

Sylvan city (A); or, quaint corners in Philadelphia. N. Y., Fords, Howard & Hulbert, 1883. 508 p. il. D. (Our continent lib.) cl., $2.

Under this title are comprised a series of papers by Helen Campbell, Louise Stockton, Elizabeth Robbins, Edwin A. Barber, Eliza S. Turner, and others. They describe, as the title says, "quaint corners in Philadelphia," some old and some new, and all interesting. There are 175 designs of the places mentioned, made by Joseph Pennell, Alice Barber, Charles H. Stephens, and others. The matter and design in this volume originally appeared serially in The Centinel.

Tennyson, Alfred. The princess: a medley. Bost., James R. Osgood & Co., 1884 [1883]. 3-223 p. il. sq. O. cl., $6; tree cf. or ant. mor., $10; cf. or mor., inlaid mosaic patterns, $12.50; crushed levant, with silk linings, $25.

An elegantly illustrated and bound edition of Tennyson's most popular poem. Printed from new plates and on fine tinted paper with 120 new illustrations by leading American artists. The names of the artists are: F. S. Church, F. Dielman, Harry Fenn, Mary Hallock Foote, A. Frederick, A. B. Frost, W. St. John J. Harper, and others equally famous. The illustrations are a succession of beautiful landscapes, characteristic figure-pieces, and emblematical and most delicate arabesques. The work will be found fully equal in richness and beauty to the "Lady of the lake" and "Lucile," with which it is uniform.

Thackeray, Miss Annie J. [now Mrs. Richmond Ritchie]. A book of sibyls: Mrs. Barbauld.—Miss Edgeworth.—Mrs. Opie.—Miss Austen. N. Y., Harper, 1883. 30 p. Q. (Harper's Franklin sq. lib., no. 340.) pap. 15 c.

Freshly written essays of the four literary celebrities mentioned in the title.

Uncle Lawrence (pseud.). Young folks' ways and wherefores: a story. Phil., J. B. Lippincott & Co., 1884 [1883]. 245 p. il. O. cl., $2.

A very inquisitive young lady and a preternaturally well-informed old gentleman are the chief persons in this instructive and amusing book for the young. In the form of a story it gives a variety of information about facts in natural science. The text is aided by the numerous illustrations. Partly founded on a French juvenile, which has furnished many of the illustrations.

United States. Bureau of Education. Circulars of information, no. 3, 1883. Proceedings of the Department of Superintendence of the National Education Assoc., at its meeting

- The peculiar wildness of Jules Verne's imagination shows with startling effect when he selects Scotland and its sober-minded people as scene and characters for his latest characteristic extravagance. He describes a mine of fabulous wealth, and places in it a mysterious being who performs wonders by aid of superhuman powers, and then he has a plot that would furnish plots for several exciting novels. The book will be eagerly read, as it is really of absorbing interest.
- Wharton, J. Jane Smith. Wharton's law lexicon: forming an epitome of the law of England, and containing full explanations of the technical terms and phrases thereof, both ancient and modern, including the various legal terms used in commercial business; together with a translation of Latin law maxims and selected titles from the civil, Scotch, and Indian law. 7th ed., by J. M. Lely. Bost., Soule & Bugbee, 1883. 6+882 p. O. shp. or hf. cf., net, $8.

Wilder, Burt G., M.D. Health notes for students. N. Y., G. P. Putnam's Sons, 1883. 8+58 p. T. pap., 20 c.

Notes on food and drink, ventilation and heating, clothing, bathing, methods of study, care of the eyes, etc., briefly stated. Contains also a list of medical publications referred to or recommended by the author.

Willis, N. P., and others. Mountain, lake, and river: a series of twenty-five steel-line engravings from designs by W. H. Bartlett and others, the descriptive text by N. P. Willis and others; including illustrative poems by American and English authors. Bost., Estes & Lauriat, 1884 [1883]. 96 p. F. cl., $3.75.

The title fully covers this work, a handsomely bound and illustrated gift-book for the centre-table.

Woolsey, Miss Sarah C. ["Susan Coolidge," pseud.] A round dozen. Bost., Roberts Bros., 1883. 3-298 p. il. S. cl., $1.50.

Thirteen short stories make the "round dozen." Some are quiet, truthful home stories, and in some the supernatural is introduced by white clouds that speak, elves, gnomes, etc. The scene of these very original stories shifts from Switzerland to New England and from France and Italy to old England two centuries ago. The stories are not meant to convey morals, but virtue triumphs and vice is punished in all. Type, print, and pictures appeal to children's tastes.

REMINISCENCES OF JOHN KEESE.

From "John Keese, Wit and Literature." (Appleton.)

AN OLD-TIME BOOKSELLERS' DINNER.

I HAVE preserved a record of a booksellers' dinner—a "complimentary entertainment by the booksellers of New York to authors and other literary and distinguished men"—given at the City Hotel, March 30, 1837. This was over forty-five years ago, and few, if any, indeed of the company then met are now living. Yet there may be descendants of some of them who will feel an interest in a scene where names familiar and dear to them appear.

David Felt presided on the occasion, assisted by Fletcher Harper and others as vice-presidents; George Dearborn, a well-known publisher, officiated as master-of-ceremonies, and Mr. Keese as toast-master. He had then been of the firm of Collins, Keese & Co. for more than a year, and his genial qualities had gained him many friends among the booksellers and publishers of New York and elsewhere.

Among the entertainers and guests were Albert Gallatin, Chancellor Kent, Colonel Trumbull, Washington Irving, William Cullen Bryant, Fitz-Greene Halleck, Rev. Orville Dewey, James K. Paulding, William L. Stone, Harrison Gray, James Harper, Charles King, Major Noah, Philip Hone, John W. Francis, Lewis Gaylord Clark, George P. Morris, Edgar A. Poe, Richard Adams Locke, George P. Putnam, Henry Inman, J. G. Chapman, and many others.

The opening address, previous to introducing the regular toasts, was delivered by Mr. Keese; and in the course of it, he spoke with much feeling of the occasion which had brought them together, and of the fraternal relation between author and publisher, which it was designed to foster and maintain for mutual benefit. Glancing at the progress of American literature, and viewing the animating prospect of the future, he said:

"When we survey the geographical position of these United States—when we behold our vast region bounded by no diversity of language, and all its borders teeming with a reading community—we discover a wide field for the transmission of the literature of our countrymen. No nation on the face of the earth displays such peculiar advantages for the circulation and consumption of intellectual produce."

The following extract, in which Cooper, Kent, Irving, and Halleck were happily alluded to, was received with enthusiasm: "Sir, it is a well-known fact that the publishers in our principal cities have justly and munificently appreciated the intellect of our land, and her sons have shared largely with the bookseller in the profits derived from their literary labors. The historical and creative genius of one who is not inaptly termed 'our pioneer of mind': the commentaries of our American Blackstone; the splendid sketches of our own particular son (who, greeted with the incense of foreign praise, has brought back to us a heart untrammelled and a love for home), together with the works of gifted minds in every department of science, poesy, and fiction, all attest the liberality and enterprise of American publishers. We desire still further to explore the mind where mental ore lies buried, to awaken slumbering genius, and to call into active exercise the dormant energy and shrinking talent of our young and much-loved land. Why sleeps the Muse of Drake's twin-brother bard? Why comes not he forth with fairy wand to silence the scribblers of the day? Who among us would not esteem it a high honor to be his publisher, and to issue his beautiful creations in a guise as beautiful as the taste of our best artisans can exhibit?*"

The speech of the evening, in weight and importance, was delivered by William L. Stone, then senior of the editorial corps in New York city, in response to the toast of "The periodical press." It was noteworthy for its wealth of statistical information respecting book publication, as well as for its vigorous and felicitous diction. A vein of scholarly erudition ran through it, and occasional touches of sprightly and fanciful humor saved it from any approach to prosiness.

There were speeches by Harrison Gray, James Harper, Charles King, Major Noah, Matthew L. Davis, Chancellor Kent, Philip Hone, John W. Francis, Washington Irving, and James K. Paulding.

It may amuse a later generation of Franklin Square publishers to read the pleasant little speech made by one of their ancestors; and I hope they will enjoy it as much as his listeners did in 1837. In response to the toast, "The booksellers of New York," Mr. James Harper, being long and loudly called for, finally rose and observed: That he was at a loss to know why he should be singled out to respond to the compliment, as there were many of the trade present greatly his seniors. Besides, it was well known to his brethren that he was no orator—that it was entirely out of his line to make speeches—that he was simply a humble maker of books, and that this alone was his profession. Therefore, although the subject and the occasion were of a highly prolific character, still he should not attempt a speech on the occasion—for, if he should, he would assuredly find himself in the dilemma of a certain Massachusetts orator, who while addressing a public assembly, unfortunately lost the thread of his discourse, and hesitating to recover his lost ideas, was addressed from the gallery by a raw country lad, "I say, Mister, I guess you're stuck." "And, Mr. President" (added Mr. Harper, after a pause), "so am I!"

* Three years later, Mr. Keese made good his wish to present the productions of American mind, by the issue of his "Poets of America," "in a guise as beautiful" as the compilation deserved.

Matthew L. Davis, in the course of a few remarks, said that being one of the oldest of those present who had been engaged in the manufacture of books, he recollected some interesting facts in the progress of the art; and mentioned as a remarkable contrast to its extent at that day, that about twenty years back, when an edition of Brown's "Commentary on the Bible" was projected in New York, the Legislature of the State passed, in both branches, a resolution recommending public patronage to the immense undertaking.

The speech of Dr. Francis called forth the warmest plaudits. It was full of humorous suggestion, and eminently characteristic of the man.

Washington Irving, in proposing the health of Samuel Rogers, the banker-poet, referred to a letter he had received the previous day from Mr. Rogers, acknowledging the receipt of a volume of Halleck's poems, and speaking of them in the highest terms. Of "Marco Bozzaris" and "Alnwick Castle," "They are better than anything we can do just now on our side of the Atlantic," said Rogers.

Letters were read from Fenimore Cooper, Nicholas Biddle, Edward Everett, Daniel Webster, Noah Webster, Gulian C. Verplanck, and many others.

Some of the toasts and sentiments were as follow:

From Noah Webster: "May booksellers honorably rival each other in the sale of good books, and may good books find or make good readers and good citizens!"

From N. P. Willis: The republic of letters—in which all who speak the same language are compatriots, and should reciprocate protection and kind feeling.

By Lewis Gaylord Clark: "Protection to home manufactures, whether of the hands or of the intellect."

By Edgar A. Poe: "The monthlies of Gotham—their distinguished editor and their vigorous collaborators."

By Fletcher Harper: "Booksellers—generous individuals, who kindly assist authors to obtain an immortality in which they themselves do not participate."

By George P. Putnam: "The female intellects of our country—brilliant luminaries in its literary horizon."

By John Keese: "The memory of Cadmus, the first postboy. He carried letters from Phœnicia to Greece."

Such was the occasion, interesting and memorable for those who participated in it so long ago, and it seems an old story to revive and print in this present year of grace. Yet there is a charm in any record of the past which bears the names of those who dying left an honored memory, or a rich legacy in their works; and as the gatherings of authors and men of letters have yielded haunting pages of literary history, so may this "Booksellers' Dinner" prove a welcome leaf, though pressed for so many years.

AN EVENING SALE.

The feat of jotting down a report of my father's run of words at an evening sale was once accomplished by a short-hand writer; and I reproduce it here as a fair sample of the auctioneer's spirit when under the inspiration of the hammer.

"N'alf, n'alf, n'alf; three do I have? three, three; quarter, did you say? Never let me hear an Irishman cry quarter. N'alf, n'alf; knocked down to Maguire at three dollars and a half. Now, gentlemen, give me a bid for 'Hallam's Middle Ages,' intended for gentlemen in the prime of life. Two dollars, two, two; an eighth, eighth, eighth; quarter, quarter, quarter—Moffat, at two dollars and a quarter. The next thing, gentlemen, is 'The Four Last Things, by Dr. Bates.' Fifty cents, fifty—'What are they?' Bid away gentlemen, the book'll tell you exactly what they are: five eighths, five eighths; five and six. Chase has it, at five and six. Start, if you please, gentlemen, on 'Protestant Discussions, by Dr. Cummings,' an original D.D.—none of your modern fiddle-dee-dees: three quarters, quarters; seven eighths; do I have seven eighths?—yes, it is all complete; a perfect book, gentlemen; wants nothing but a reader. Dollar; dollar, n'eighth, n'eighth. Black has it, at a dollar and an eighth. Now, gentlemen, I offer you a superb 'Prayer-Book,' Appletons' edition, best morocco, gilt all over like the sinner; three quarters, three quarters, quarters, quarters—look at it gentlemen. Here, sir, let me show it up to this goodly company; you've looked at it many a time with more care than profit: seven eighths; dollar; n'eighth; quarter, quarter—large print, gentlemen; good for those whose eyes are weak and whose faith is strong; remember your grandmothers, gentlemen—three eighths, three eighths. Brown has it at one and three eighths. Now, gentlemen, I come to a line of splendid illustrated English books. Be so kind as to bid for 'Finden's Beauties of Moore,' cloth extra, full of superb illustrations, and I've how much bid for this? Start, if you please; go on. Two dollars; and a half, n'alf, n'alf; three, three; n'alf, n'alf; four, four, four. These are all English books, printed in England, bound in England, and sacrificed in America; and I have only four dollars for this superb book—quarter, quarter, quarter, and this goes to Maguire, at four dollars and a quarter. 'The Gems of Beauty' is the next book, gentlemen. This is a glowing book, beautiful as Venus, and bound by Vulcan in his best days, red morocco, well read outside, gentlemen, and what do I hear for that? Fifty cents—horrible! Two dollars, by some gentlemen whose feelings are outraged; quarter, quarter; half shall I say? Cash has it, at two dollars and a half. Now, gentlemen, for the 'Philosophical Works of John Locke,' best edition, opened by John Keese; start if you please—go on. Dollar; n'alf, n'alf; three quarters. 'Bound in muslin?' Yes, sir; don't you respect the cloth? Seven eighths, seven eighths; two, two, two; quarter, quarter—brought three dollars the other day. 'No, it didn't!' Well one just like it did. Moffat takes it, at two dollars and a quarter. Now for a beautiful annual, gentlemen, 'The Ladies' Diadem,' splendid steel engravings, and no date, may be 1855, 6, 7, or 8. Can't tell; they publish them so much in advance nowadays. What do I hear? seventy-five, seventy-five; new book published in England; dollar, dollar; eighth, do I hear? eighth; quarter; three eighths—down. What's the name? whose bid is that? Well, just as you please; quarter, quarter—that's your bid, sir; gainst you, out there; three eighths—that's yours, sir; what's the name? 'I'll take it; you seem to be very anxious to sell it.' No, sir, I'm not on the anxious-bench; those are the anxious-seats where you are. I take a decided stand on that; I face the whole congregation. Go on, if you please. The next book, 'Kirke White's Remains,' London edition, with splendid portrait, taken from some old daguerreotype; dollar, dollar, dollar, and down it goes. Who'll have it? Well, start it, gentlemen. What do I hear? seventy-five cents; seven eighths, seven eighths; dollar, by all the house; n'eighth, n'eighth. Cash has it, at a dollar and an eighth; horrible! I've been the high-priest of many a sacrifice. Now, gentlemen, who wants 'Ross's Last Expedition'? went to the poles, and, no doubt, voted twice. 'Start, if you please—go on; dollar, did you say? quarter, quarter, quarter; bidder here, half, half'—and so on through the catalogue.

It is no wonder that people flocked to the evening sales; and I have heard many say that to go there was as good as a play, so that the late William E. Burton, to whom in after-years my father became warmly attached, whose theatre was then in Chambers Street, regarded the auction-room of Cooley & Keese as no contemptible rival.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

Deutsch-Amerikanischer Familien Schatz, published by the International News Co., N. Y., has entered upon its 9th volume.

MR. AXON contributes to the October number of the Bibliographer a full account of the once famous bookseller and author, Sir Richard Phillips.

MR. BERNARD QUARITCH will contribute to the October and November numbers of the Antiquarian Magazine "A Chapter on Book-binding."

BRUNOX, Paris, has published the first number of Le Bibliophile, a new bibliographical monthly devoted to the interests of book-lovers and buyers of rare and beautiful books.

CHARLES READE is preparing for Harper's a series of studies of "Bible Characters," believing that a clever novelist has a special capacity for showing the men and women of the Bible in their habits as they lived.

IN the third of his papers in The Critic on the leading London publishers, Mr. Chas. E. Pascoe, expresses the opinion that, so long as there is no international copyright, the American publisher should open an office in London and deal directly with the English author, not for advance sheets, plates, or a small edition, but for his ms. itself.

THE sprightly covers we have been accustomed of late to see on The Continent Weekly Magazine, now appear on the Monthly Part, of which the ninth number is just at hand. The outward guise of this popular and, we are glad to learn, prosperous magazine constantly gains in attractiveness. The monthly part is "a good fat hen," and is made up this time of five of the regular weekly issues.

"THE Twentieth Century, an organ for the development of natural views on the world and life," is the title of a periodical which is to be shortly published in Vienna. The prospectus promises "to make the new paper a supplement and counteractor of the daily press, to establish vegetarianism as the practical religion, and to make it of cosmopolitan importance."

Swinton's Story-Teller, in its first number, just received, fully comes up to our expectations. The editorship is skilful and the taste and judgment displayed in the selections are excellent. In the first issue there are two original stories—"Cromwell's Statue," by Edward Everett Hale, and "Olivia," by Mrs. Harriett Prescott Spofford. The remaining four sketches are by "Mark Twain," Alphonse Daudet, A. A. Hayes, and E. A. Poe. The neat get-up does credit both to publisher and printer.

The Current is the title of a new literary weekly to be issued in Chicago. The first number will be brought out on Christmas day by Mr. Edgar L. Wakeman, the well-known able and energetic representative of The Louisville Courier-Journal in Chicago. We learn from the N. Y. Tribune "that Mr. Wakeman has been preparing for the publication of the periodical for nearly five years. He promises discussions, reviews, and criticisms by the best writers on all current matters of interest in literature, science, art, music, and the drama; brief editorial articles; and a mass of general literature of a 'clean, noble, fascinating, and elevating character.' Among the contributors already secured are said to be Alphonse Daudet, John Ruskin, G. W. Cable, Austin Dobson, Zola, and Paul Lindau.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

SPIELHAGEN's next novel will be entitled "Uhlenhans," and will appear very shortly.

ERNST VON WOLZOGEN will contribute the sixth volume to Auerbach's "Literary Portrait Gallery." It will deal with George Eliot, and will be the first critical estimate of her published in book-form in German.

SENATOR BLAINE, says the Washington special correspondent of the New York World, "has nearly completed his history of 'From Lincoln to Garfield.' He will then begin upon a history of the war of 1812. No satisfactory history confined to this interesting period has ever been written. Mr. Blaine proposes to fill up this gap in our history, and has already gathered a mass of material for it."

BUSINESS NOTES.

CHICAGO, ILL.—I. A. Hopkins, formerly proprietor of the Franklin Book-store at Washington, where he earned an excellent trade-standing, has now established himself in Chicago, and writes very hopefully of the new field he has chosen. We call attention to his advertisement, in which he asks publishers to mail him their catalogues and trade-lists. Mr. Hopkins expects to control the trade within five hundred miles of Western territory.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

J. B. PETERSON & BROS. have in press a new novel by Ashgood Owen, entitled "Her Second Love."

MISS JEAN INGELow, in acknowledging the receipt of copies of her poem, "The High Tide on the Coast of Lincolnshire," illustrated, from her publishers in this country, Roberts Bros., says: "I hope it is a pardonable pride which makes me feel delight in the most beautiful series of illustrations I ever saw bestowed on a single poem."

JOHN B. PIET & Co., Baltimore, announce in preparation "The Choice Works of Rt. Rev. John England, Bishop of Charleston, S. C.," than whom few Catholic writers of America rank higher. The work, which will be sold by subscription, will be in two octavo volumes of about 450 pages each, and will have a portrait and memoir of the bishop.

TOWNSEND McCOUN, N. Y., has just purchased of J. B. Lippincott & Co. all the remaining sheets of the "Complete Works of Thomas Jefferson," in 9 octavo volumes, published by order of Congress from the original manuscripts deposited in the Department of State. As the plates have been destroyed and the number remaining is quite small, this work is destined soon to become quite scarce. It forms a fitting supplement to his "Works of Franklin," issued last fall. He will at once put them on the market in a new and attractive form.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT & Co. have just issued a book that will interest both old and young, in "Grey Hawk; or, Life and Adventures among the Red Indians of North America," being the old story of John Tanner's captivity, retold by Dr. Macaulay, editor of Leisure Hour. They have also just ready "Two Years Aboard the Mast; or, Life as a Sea Apprentice," by F. W. H. Symondson, who sailed in a British ship, and lived in apprentices' quarters aboard the mast, and who tells the story of his trials and privations quite vividly.

P. BLAKISTON, SON & Co. have now ready the new edition of Miller's and Lizar's works on Alcohol and Tobacco, bound both separately and the two volumes in one; a new (the fifth) edition of Tanner on Poisons, which has been for some time out of print; also, Kirby's "Pharmacopœia of Selected Remedies," forming a complete hand-book for all prescribers. It contains therapeutic annotations, notes on alimentation in disease, air, massage, electricity, and other supplementary remedial agents, and a clinical index. The well-known Lindsay & Blakiston Physicians' Visiting List, for 1884, its thirty-third year of publication, is now ready for delivery in all sizes.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS announce as in press a little volume entitled "Golden Thoughts from the Spiritual Guide of Miguel Molinos the Quietist." The revived interest in the sect of the Quietist is doubtless due to Mr. John Bigelow's monograph on "Molinos the Quietist," published a year or so ago. The "Spiritual Guide" was translated and published in England in 1699, and since that time, it is believed, no re-issue in English has been published. For the present book Mr. J. Henry Shorthouse has written a preface, and a life of Molinos by Prof. Lindsay, of the Free Church College, is appended. For a new edition of "The Grandissimes," which Messrs. Scribner are to publish, Mr. George W. Cable has made a thorough revision and has eliminated much of the dialect in the dialogue. It will be issued in a new binding with the author's two volumes of short stories, "Old Creole Days," in a uniform style.

IRA BRADLEY & Co. have just published "The Sequel to Opposite the Jail, or, On Trial for His Life," by M. A. D. (Mrs. Mary A. Denison), an interesting story by this popular author, pure in tone, graceful in style, and full of that true Christian spirit which gave its predecessor such a cordial welcome; "Inglesides; or, Without Christ and with Him," by Mrs. Madeline Leslie, author of that famous Sunday-school story, "Tim the Scissors-Grinder," depicting scenes from real life to prove the misery of those who live out of Christ, and the peace and comfort of those within the fold—a convincing work. They also issue "Across the Water," by Mrs. Payne, author of "The Forest Crossing," a tale of old ocean and the far West, and "The Old Worcester Jug, or, John Griffin's Little Maid," by Eglanton Thorne, two bright and interesting Sunday-school books.

W. WOOD & Co. have just published, for the convenience of the large number of Americans who annually go abroad for the study of medicine, "A Guide to American Medical Students in Europe," by Henry Hun, M.D., containing all the information regarding the different universities and their methods of teaching, so valuable to a prospective student, and which has heretofore been obtained by experience only, and a consequent disadvantage to ultimate results. "The Physiological Factor in Diagnosis," by J. Milner Fothergill, M.D., is a new work in the author's well-known attractive style, and will be found a very useful book for young practitioners of medicine. The first volume of "A Manual of Practical Hygiene," by Edmund A. Parkes, M.D., in two volumes, forming the September issue of Wood's Library of Standard Medical Authors, is a standard work, published now in the attractive form which characterizes that well-known series. A valuable edition to the list of text-books available for the teaching of medical chemistry is a new book by R. A. Witthaus, entitled "The Medical Student's Manual of Chemistry," containing as much as possible of those portions of special chemistry which are of direct interest to the medical practitioner. New editions of Ringier's "Hand-book of Therapeutics" come with remarkable regularity. The tenth, now issued, is revised and enlarged, and fully maintains the position of high excellence and popularity which this work has gained. A second and enlarged edition of Dr. James Ross's two-volume work on "Diseases of the Nervous System," appearing so soon after the issue of the first edition, indicates the success and value of that comprehensive and exhaustive treatise.

D. APPLETON & Co. have nearly ready "The English Grammar of William Cobbett," carefully revised and annotated by Alfred Ayres, author of "The Orthoëpist," etc. The editor is of the opinion that "Cobbett's Grammar" "is probably the most readable grammar ever written," and one that, "for the purposes of self-education, is unrivalled." In preparing this new American edition Mr. Ayres has called attention "(1.) To the points in which Cobbett's teachings differ from what is now considered the best usage

To the few errors of diction found in its pages; and (3.) To a better—because discriminating—use of the relative pronouns than is found either here, or almost anywhere else in modern literature." Mr. Ayres, whose recommendations with regard to the use of the relative pronouns are calculated to attract attention, has added a very full index which greatly facilitates ready reference. The volume will be issued in the same neat style as the "Verbalist," "Orthoëpist," etc. D. Appleton & Co. have also in preparation a holiday volume by O. B. Bunce, entitled "Fair Words about Fair Women, Gathered from the Poets." The volume is divided into eight evenings. The first evening is devoted to poems addressed simply to the sex; the second evening consists of selections from the old English Poets; the third is devoted exclusively to Tennyson; the fourth is a selection from Irish and Scotch poets; the fifth includes excerpts from Greek, Italian, French, German, Spanish, and other foreign poets; the sixth consists of selections from modern and American poets; the seventh is devoted to poems "exalting woman at the fireside as wife and mother," and the eighth and last to the woman as the heroine of romance. The work is to have nine illustrations from designs by Will H. Low. They also announce as in press "Anecdotes of the Civil War," by Major-Gen. A. D. Townsend; an illustrated "Guide to Mexico," by Balfore R. Conkling; and "Arius the Libyan: An Idyl of the Primitive Church."

GRIFFITH & FARRAN will shortly publish "Memories of Seventy Years," by "One of a Literary Family." The writer is a grandniece of Mrs. Barbauld, and granddaughter of Gilbert Wakefield, of whom a short memoir is appended by Mrs. Herbert Martin.

KEGAN PAUL & Co. have in preparation a volume of "Seventeenth-Century Studies," a contribution to the history of English poetry, by Mr. E. W. Gosse; a critical study of Francis Beaumont, by Mr. G. S. Macaulay, who has endeavored to separate the share of Beaumont from that of Fletcher in the dramas which bear their names, and to estimate the character of the former as a dramatist; and a volume on "The Animal Lore of Shakespeare's Time," illustrated by reference to allusions found in his various plays, and by extracts from contemporary literature, by Miss E. Phipson.

THE SOCIETY FOR PROMOTING CHRISTIAN KNOWLEDGE have in preparation a set of books which, under the general title of "The Dawn of European Literature," will aim to present the chief races of Europe as they emerge out of prehistoric darkness into the light furnished by their earliest records. The literature dealt with will cover a period stretching from its beginning until the Middle Ages. The first volume of the series, to be published in October, is "Slavonic Literature," by Mr. W. R. Morfill.

At the final sitting of the International Congress of the "Association Littéraire," just brought to a close at Amsterdam, a resolution was unanimously adopted, expressing the hope that the governments which were in favor of the principles adopted by the association would adhere to the terms of the convention concluded at Berne, and would proceed to the enactment of laws for the equitable protection of literary copyrights. It was decided to hold the next congress at Madrid.

GEORGE BELL & SONS, London, have in press an edition of Coleridge's "Lectures on Shakespeare," to which will be added the lectures delivered in 1811-13 as taken down by the late J. Payne Collier. These will be supplemented by brief reports of five lectures contributed to newspapers of the day by Mr. Crabbe Robinson. The volume will also include reports of some of the lectures delivered by Coleridge at Bristol in 1814, which have only been recovered by the painstaking research of Mr. George, and have not otherwise seen the light.

LONGMANS & Co. will publish this fall "The Life and Times of Jesus the Messiah," on which Dr. Edersheim has been engaged for about seven years. "Besides its primary object, which includes a sketch of society, life, and religious thought in the epoch of Christ," says the Academy, "it is intended to meet recent objections to the gospel narratives and to furnish an informal commentary on the gospels themselves. The text has been written for popular reading, and the special information confined, so far as possible, to Notes and Appendices. The book is to be in two volumes, of six or seven hundred pages each."

WILSON & McCORMICK, Glasgow, announce as in preparation, "The History of Jewād," a Turkish romance, by 'Ali 'Aziz Efendi of Crete, translated into English by E. J. W. Gibb, M.R.A.S., author of "Ottoman Poems," etc. The volume is a romance dealing with the adventures of a young magician named Jewād, who wanders through various countries seeking to do good. The author, 'Ali 'Aziz Efendi of Crete, who died near the close of the last century, was learned in Eastern philosophy, and has put into his work several curious details concerning magic ceremonies and Oriental spiritualism. The edition will be limited to 300 copies.

WILL PUBLISH NEXT WEEK:

THE BAY OF SEVEN ISLANDS AND OTHER POEMS.

By John G. Whittier. With Portrait. 1 vol., 16mo, gilt top, $1.

Mr. Whittier gathers in this volume the poems he has written since the publication of "The King's Missive" in 1881.

BEYOND THE GATES.

By Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, author of "The Gates Ajar," etc. 16mo, $1.25.

Ever since "The Gates Ajar" was published, many of the readers of that remarkable book have hoped Miss Phelps would give them a fuller vision of the future life, of which, in "The Gates Ajar" she only gave a glimpse. This hope is now to be gratified. The subject of "Beyond the Gates" is sufficiently indicated by its title. It is a story of the unseen world, of its possible activities, illumination, and experiences, as a reverent imagination foresees them. Though very different from "A Little Pilgrim," and not suggested by that wonderful sketch, like that it appeals to the hopes and longings of all who have lost dear friends, and who seek to realize the life into which they have entered.

 The first large edition is already exhausted, and a second large edition is now printing.

MERCEDES AND LATER LYRICS.

By Thomas Bailey Aldrich, author of "Marjorie Daw," "Flower and Thorn," etc. Beautifully printed on high quality paper. 1 vol., 16mo, $1.25.

"Mercedes" is a historical drama of admirable spirit and grace, based on a very striking incident of a Spanish campaign while Napoleon was Emperor. The remaining contents of the volume include many of the lyrics written by Mr. Aldrich during the last seven years. Readers of modern poetry do not need to be told that these seven years have produced very few lyrics worthy to be compared with those which are embraced in this book.

THE HISTORY OF PRUSSIA TO THE ACCESSION OF FREDERIC THE GREAT.

By Herbert Tuttle, A.M., Professor in Cornell University, author of "German Political Leaders," etc. 1 vol., crown 8vo, $2.25.

Mr Tuttle spent several years in Berlin, studying with the utmost care the Germany of the past and of the present. In this volume he narrates the history of Prussia from the remotest records until Frederic the Great ascended the throne. It is a very interesting story, and is not merely a history of the sovereigns and of the military operations in which Prussia engaged, but of the people, of the development of its political, social, and religious institutions, and both in its design and in its execution it will take rank with the more important of modern historical works.

HE AND SHE: A POET'S PORTFOLIO.

By William W. Story, author of "Roba di Roma," etc. 1 vol., 16mo, vellum cover, $1.

In this volume Mr. Story has collected many of his lyrical poems, and strung them on the thread of an entertaining dialogue or conversation between a gentleman and a lady. The variety of theme and the grace of treatment render the volume unusually attractive, while the conversation abounds in brilliant and suggestive passages which add to the value and charm of the work.

EXAMPLES FOR ELEMENTARY PRACTICE IN DELINEATION.

By Charles H. Moore, Instructor in Drawing in Harvard College. 4to, $2.

This work is intended for the use of schools and of isolated beginners in drawing, and will consist of twenty examples in outline—ten of them from nature and ten from historic works of art—designed at once to train the eye and hand to accuracy and precision, and to illustrate those characteristics of line upon which all expression of living character and beauty depends. The plates from works of art are selected from some of the finest examples of linear design in the ancient and mediæval schools.

There are several pages of letter-press containing all needed explanations; also illustrated directions for formal practice in drawing geometric figures, such as may usefully be carried on in connection with the more important work from the examples and from nature.

A NEW TEXT-BOOK FOR STUDENTS.

RICHTER'S INORGANIC CHEMISTRY.

Authorized Translation from the Third German Edition,

By EDGAR F. SMITH, M.A., Ph.D.,

Prof. of Chemistry in Wittenberg College, Springfield, Ohio; formerly in the Laboratories of the University of Pennsylvania and Muhlenberg College; Member of the Chemical Societies of Berlin and Paris, of the Academy of Natural Sciences of Philadelphia, etc.

12mo. 89 Woodcuts and Colored Lithographic Plate of Spectra. Price, $2.

In this work of Prof. von Richter, which has been received abroad with such hearty welcome, and for which there has been a great demand, two editions having been rapidly disposed of, theory and fact are brought close together, and their intimate relation clearly shown. From careful observation of experiments and their results, the student is led to a correct understanding of the interesting principles of chemistry. The matter is so arranged as to adapt the work to the use of the beginner as well as for the more advanced student of chemical science. The arrangement of types, size of the book etc., are such as to facilitate its use.

THE WESTMINSTER Sabbath-School Hymnal NOW READY.

IT IS PUBLISHED WITH MUSIC AT
35 Cents for Single Copies, or at rate of $30 per 100.

THE HYMNS ONLY
(without music) are in three styles of binding:
Strong Paper Covers, 10 Cents,

Boards, 15 Cents.

Embossed Flexible Leather, 25 Cents.

The favor with which the Hymnal has been received, the warm commendation of it by competent judges, warrant the statement that the Board of Publication has succeeded in producing a book for Sabbath-school use which, both in the selection of the Hymns and the adaptation of the tunes, is a success, and which will give the Presbyterian Church a long-looked for Sabbath-school as well as Social-school Hymn-Book.

While avoiding too high a style, which renders recent books unfit for general use, it is yet all that can be asked for in that line; and while giving a considerable number of the Standard Hymns of the Church, it also contains both Hymns and Tunes "lively" enough. Taken as a whole, our Church can safely be urged to examine and adopt this effort for the young, as it has the Hymn-Book for Church use. Sample copies sent by mail on receipt of 5 cents by

ILLUSTRATED

Christmas Number

OF THE LITERARY NEWS.
1883.

NOTICE TO BOOKSELLERS.

THE LITERARY NEWS for Christmas, 1883, will embrace thirty-two pages of reading matter and illustrations, and we intend to make it far superior to any previous year, also hoping to issue it earlier than heretofore.

Its sole aim and object is to increase the sale of books, and every bookseller who distributes it may be sure of being benefited thereby.

The chief attraction of the forthcoming issue will be the numerous specimen illustrations from the most prominent and popular new holiday books.

The most valuable feature, besides the Literary Notes, will be a special price-list of the Books of the Season, in all the departments of Holiday Literature.

To those who desire to reach a wider public than they feel they can afford to seek through the more expensive Christmas Number of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, the Christmas Number of the LITERARY NEWS is recommended as the best possible medium to cultivate a holiday trade.

Christmas Catalogue.

ISSUED BY

[ALL ENTERPRISING BOOKSELLERS.]

The subscription edition of the ILLUSTRATED CHRISTMAS NUMBER of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY will be issued as early in November as possible, to give time for the imprint editions to reach all dealers three weeks before Christmas at the latest.

The Number will as usual present the finest specimen illustrations from the NEW HOLIDAY BOOKS, with special articles on the leading works, a full descriptive summary of books and stationery novelties, reference price-lists covering the ILLUSTRATED WORKS, BOOKS FOR THE YOUNG, and other CHOICE BOOKS published during 1883, etc., etc. Every endeavor will be made to surpass the issues of previous years, pronounced in 1880, by the N. Y. Tribune, one of the most tasteful and attractive catalogues, surpassing even the achievements of the English in the same line; and even at an earlier date, by the German "Book Trade Magazine" "the most attractive publication of the kind issued in the book-producing countries."

The imprint edition (intended for distribution by dealers with their sole imprint) will be printed immediately after the issue of the Trade edition, under the title of "CHRISTMAS CATALOGUE," as given above.

The local bookseller can add half as much again to his holiday trade by properly calling the attention of the public to his goods. For this purpose, the best means is the circulation of this handsome, interesting, and comprehensive CHRISTMAS CATALOGUE, which is received with pleasure by those to whom it is given or sent, as itself a picture-book of no little value; and its descriptions of, and illustrations from books, at once arouse the desire to purchase the books themselves.

No better investment can be made by the bookseller who wants to make the most of his holiday trade.

Orders filled in the order of size of edition, largest first, and then of receipt. As the paper is specially made for this issue, orders should be received at once, as the filling of later demands cannot be guaranteed.

The thick paper edition of the CHRISTMAS CATALOGUE will be supplied as follows:

SINGLE COPIES (postpaid),	35 CTS.	PER 100 COPIES (with imprint),	$20 00
---------------------------	---------	--------------------------------	---------

The thin paper edition, with dealers' imprints, will be supplied at the following rates:

PER 100 COPIES,	$10 00	PER 500 COPIES,	$38 00
" 250 "	20 00	" 1000 "	75 00

Orders should be sent in at once, and in order to avoid delay, it is absolutely necessary that copy for imprint, together with full directions for forwarding, should accompany the remittance. All packages sent by express unpaid, unless other shipping directions are given.

Sparkling New Books for Young People.

THE BEAR-WORSHIPPERS

OF YEZO AND THE ISLAND OF KARAFUTO; OR, THE ADVENTURES OF THE JEWETT FAMILY AND THEIR FRIEND OTO NAMBO. By EDWARD GREY. With 180 illustrations by Rinzo and by Ichiske Hamada, and cover designed and drawn by the author. Bound in boards, illuminated in gold and colors, $1.75; cloth, black and gold, $2.50.

. The present volume, the last of the series, is devoted to the manners and customs of the bear-worshippers of Yezo, which was formerly a portion of the Empire of Japan, but now belongs to the Russian Empire. Mr. Grey spent nearly a year cruising in the northern waters, and became well acquainted with the people of Karafuto and Yezo. The information which he gives in this book of the quaint people is almost unknown to Americans. The illustrations of the volume are, with few exceptions, by Japanese artists, and are exceedingly graphic and correct.

OR, THE FURTHER ADVENTURES OF THE JEWETT FAMILY AND THEIR FRIEND OTO NAMBO. By EDWARD GREY. With 169 illustrations.

. The above three volumes constitute the most accurate and complete narrative of scenes, incidents, manners, customs, in fact of the daily life, of the people in the "Land of the Rising Sun" ever offered for the instruction and amusement of young readers.

OUR BOYS IN CHINA.

The thrilling story of two young Americans, Scott and Paul Clayton, who were wrecked in the Chinese Sea on their return from India, with their strange adventures in China. By HARRY W. FRENCH. With 150 illustrations. Bound in emblematical colors of Chinese design, $1.75. Cloth, black and gold, $2.50.

. Those of our young readers who, last year, followed the strange adventures of the Claytons in their wandering through the great Indian Empire, will be delighted with the present volume, which abounds in information relative to the people of China, their peculiar customs and habits, games and sports, ways of doing business, temples, etc. The illustrations are "taking," as well as apropos to the narrative.

By OLIVER OPTIC. Illustrated. $1.25.

. In this new series of fascinating books, the "most popular writer for young folks in the world" aims to present not only a series of lively stories, but to make them of practical value by the introduction of workshop mechanics, so that his readers will be taught how to build a boat, a boat-house, to rig and sail a boat, etc. The first volume of the series has found great favor among young folks, and as the new volume is fully as breezy, it will certainly be in wide demand.

SANTA CLAUS LAND.

By AMANDA M. DOUGLAS, author of "Kathie Stories." Illustrated. $1.

. A beautiful story, that will amply satisfy the children's cry for Christmas reading.

J. T. TROWBRIDGE'S NEW BOOKS.

PHIL AND HIS FRIENDS.

By J. T. TROWBRIDGE. Illustrated. $1.25.

THE TINKHAM BROTHERS TIDE-MILL.

By J. T. TROWBRIDGE. Illustrated. $1.25.

. As a story-teller, Mr. Trowbridge ranks among the foremost of American writers for the young. The readers of ST. NICHOLAS know how easy it is for him to please, how charming are his heroes and heroines, and how "taking" are his incidents; and parents are aware how strong is his conviction that a story is wholesome only when it is on the side of morality. There is not a dull page in the volumes now announced; but no sentiments are expressed that will not tend to purify youth.

SOPHIE MAY'S NEW BOOK,

FLAXIE'S KITTYLEEN.

By SOPHIE MAY. Illustrated. 75 cents.

. "Kittyleen" is the latest volume in the famous "Flaxie Frizzle" series. She was a snip of a girl three years old, whose long name was Katherine Garfield. She who tells all about her is Sophie May, who is never so happy as when she sits down to write a story for little girls.

A Popular Life of Luther,

Based upon Köstlin's Life of Luther.

By Prof. W. Rein, Eisenach, Germany. Translated and Edited by Rev. G. F. Behringer.

THE BEST POPULAR LIFE OF THE GREAT REFORMER.

The celebration of the Four Hundredth Anniversary of Luther's birth is exciting a world-wide interest. As a historical character alone his life is worthy of study. This volume presents an attractive, scholarly, and reliable record of the man. It retains all that is valuable and interesting in Köstlin's extensive work. It omits abstruse and technical points, yet presents the salient features of its subject in so attractive a manner that the interest never flags. It will prove THE BEST POPULAR LIFE OF THE GREAT REFORMER ever printed in the English language. 12mo, about 288 pages, heavy paper and fine cloth, $1.00.

WILL PUBLISH NOVEMBER 3:

The Theory of Morals.

BY PAUL JANET, MEMBER OF THE FRENCH ACADEMY, AUTHOR OF "FINAL CAUSES," ETC. 1 vol., 8vo, $2.50.

Professor Janet in this book gives us not only a clear and concise examination of the whole study of morals, but he has introduced into the discussion many elements which have hitherto been too much neglected; he points out many of the difficulties which beset the student, and suggests important new subjects for investigation. The principles of moral science and the fundamental ideas of morals the author describes with much precision, and presents an interesting and systematic exposition of them. The translation has been made under the supervision of President Porter, who introduces it as a text-book in his classes at Yale College.

The History of the Christian Church.

BY PHILIP SCHAFF, D.D., PROFESSOR IN UNION THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY
EDITOR OF "LANGE'S COMMENTARY," ETC.

VOL. II.—ANTE-NICENE CHRISTIANITY, A.D. 100-325. 8vo, $4.

"In the union of profound and exact learning with the gift of popular representation, Dr. Schaff is almost unrivalled among modern ecclesiastical historians. In his hands the history of the Church is not a barren record of names and obsolete dogmas, but an attractive picture of the intellectual and moral life of successive ages. The abundance in passages of truly picturesque effect, the ruins of antiquity are clothed with fresh beauty and vigour. Centuries of the past are shown in vital connection with modern thought and cultivation."—New York Tribune.

Golden Thoughts from the Spiritual Guide of Miguel

MOLINOS, THE QUIETIST. WITH A PREFACE BY J. HENRY SHORTHILL. 1 vol., 12mo, $1.25.

A renewed interest in the history of Molinos and the remarkable sect of which he was the founder, the Quietists, was aroused a year or two ago by Mr. John Bigelow's monograph entitled Molinos the Quietist. In his little book, largely from the "Spiritual Guide," which was first published by Molinos at Rome in 1675. During the time that followed the book ran through twenty editions in different languages, and an English translation appeared at that time it is believed no reissue of the work has been published in English. For the present volume Mr. Shorthill, the author of "John Inglesant," writes a preface, in which he pays a tribute to "these beautiful words of peace." A short sketch of the life of Molinos, prepared by Prof. Lindsay, of the Free Church College, Glasgow, is given.

NOTES IN SEASON.

BOOKSELLERS, prepare for the holidays! Study the Fall Announcement number and the new advertisements of the WEEKLY. Don't delay securing an edition, with your own imprint, of the Illustrated Christmas Catalogue of the WEEKLY, or of the Illustrated Christmas number of the Literary News, or—of both. We are determined to have them ready in good time, and therefore we cannot print beyond a certain number. Last year so many booksellers were too late that we consider it our duty to sound this note of warning.

FUNK & WAGNALLS will issue next week a popular life of Luther, based on Köstlin's "Life of Luther," by Prof. W. Rein, translated and edited by Rev. G. F. Behringer.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have just ready "Hand and Ring," the new romance by the author of "The Leavenworth Case." The publishers call the attention of the trade to the fact that this novel will be published only in the cloth edition.

P. BLAKISTON, SON & Co. will publish very soon the new edition of "A Guide to the Microscopical Examination of Drinking-Water," by Dr. J. D. MacDonald. It also contains an appendix on "The Microscopical Examination of Air." There are twenty-five lithographic plates descriptive of the text.

J. M. STODDART, 16 E. 14th St., Phila., announces that the initial volume of the "Encyclopædia Americana," noticed in our columns a short time ago, is now ready. It is printed and bound in a style to conform to the large English edition of the "Encyclopædia Britannica," to which work it is especially adapted as a companion.

WHITE, STOKES & ALLEN announce that they have purchased the entire edition of Von Falke's "Greece and Rome," formerly published by Henry Holt & Co., and now offer it in a variety of fine bindings as well as in the regular cloth style. They have also just ready a new edition of Fielding's works printed on laid paper and put up in an entirely new style of cloth binding.

JAMES R. OSGOOD & Co. have just issued an edition de luxe limited to 250 copies of "The Correspondence of Thomas Carlyle and Ralph Waldo Emerson: 1834 to 1872," edited by Chas. Eliot Norton, beautifully printed on fine hand-made paper, with proof impressions of the etchings by Schoff. "Dr. Grimshawe's Secret," by Nathaniel Hawthorne, with preface by Julian Hawthorne, is also ready in an edition de luxe, uniform with the similar edition of "Hawthorne's Works," with etched frontispiece and title-page, printed on hand-made paper. "Building Superintendence," by Thomas M. Clark, just issued, is based on a series of papers contributed to The American Architect, now revised, augmented, and published in a handsome and permanent form. A large number of plans, diagrams, etc., help to solve the many problems in house-building.

ROBERTS BROS. have just published "Indian Idylls," from the Sanskrit of the Mahābhārata, by Edwin Arnold, which contains translations of Sāvitrī, or Love and Death, Nala and Damayanti, The Enchanted Lake, The Saint's Temptation, The Birth of Death, The Night of Slaughter, The Great Journey, and The Entry into Heaven. They have also just ready "The Expansion of England," by Prof. J. R. Seeley, author of "Ecce Homo," etc., a series of lectures upon its growth and extension throughout the world, by conquest, and otherwise; "Christian History in its Three Great Periods: Third Period, Modern Phases," by Joseph Henry Allen, of Harvard University, completing the work; "In Nazareth Town, and other Poems," by Rev. John W. Chadwick, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; a new edition, enlarged, of "Poetry of the Orient," by Rev. Wm. Rounsville Alger; and "Classic Heroic Ballads," containing the most heroic and stirring ballads of our time, selected by the editor of "Quiet Hours."

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.
Slates are designated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); O. (octo: under 30 cm.); D. (duode: 25 cm.); S. (semo: 17½ cm.); T. (tomo: 15 cm.); Ty. (tomo: 12½ cm.); F. (folio: 10 cm.). Sq. nar., designate square, oblong, narrow books of these heights. Where figure instead of letter symbols are used, the record is from publisher's designation, and not measurement.

Andrews, J. W. Church law : suggestions on the law of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America; its sources and scope. N. Y., T: Whittaker, 1883. 5+142 p. D. cl., $1.25.

Not an exhaustive treatise upon the law of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States. Merely discusses the method of ascertaining such law and its important principles. A full appendix contains extracts from the works of leading men and parts of Judge Hoffman's valuable treatise on the "Law of the Church."

Brehat, Alfred de. The black sorceress : a tale of the peasant's war; adapted from the French, by A. D. H. Chic. Rand, McNally & Co., 1883. 303 p. D. cl., $1.

Germany, in the sixteenth century, furnishes the scene of this historical story that gives a good picture of the manners and morals as well as of the chivalry and superstitions of that exciting period immediately preceding and following the Reformation.

Broughton, Rhoda. Belinda : a novel. N. Y., Appleton, 1883. 460 p. D. cl., $1.

"Belinda" is the latest novel by the author of "Red as a rose is she" and other popular works of fiction. It is told in the clever, sprightly style that characterizes all her books. Belinda is an intense young woman who wrecks her happiness from apparently no real motive, and lives to repent it. Her sister Sarah is one of Miss Broughton's favorite creations; an irrepressible girl, full of high spirits and droll, clever sayings. The grandmother, Mrs. Churchill, is a perfect type of the good-natured, selfish, witty woman of the world. The story is quite absorbing as a story, and cannot help pleasing, it is so cleverly presented.

Burr, W. H. The elasticity and resistance of the materials of engineering. N. Y., J: Wiley & Sons, 1883. 15+753 p. O. cl., $5.

This volume is the outgrowth of lectures given by the author to succeeding classes of students in the department of civil engineering at the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute. The lectures have been considerably elaborated and extended, "so as to cover many details of the subject which it would be impossible to include in any ordinary technical course of study, but which at the same time are necessary to a complete and philosophical treatment." It is divided into two parts—"Rational" and "Technical"—the first treating of General theory of elasticity in amorphous solid bodies; Thick, hollow cylinders and spheres, and torsion; The energy of elasticity; Theory of flexure. The second of Tension; Compression; Shearing and torsion; Bending or flexure; Connections; Miscellaneous problems; Working stresses and safety factors; The fatigue of metals; The flow of solids.

Carr, Nathan T. The sun : its constitution, its phenomena, its condition. N. Y., J. Fitzgerald, [1883]. 47 p. O. (Humboldt, lib., no. 49.) pap., 15 c.

Daudet, Ernest, Depasse, Hector [and others]. French celebrities, as seen by their contemporaries : a series of brief biographies of the foremost Frenchmen of our day ; tr. by Francis W. Potter. N. Y., Funk & Wagnalls, [1883]. 139 p. D. (Standard lib., no. 99.) pap., 15 c.

The subjects of these essays are Marshal de MacMahon, by Ernest Daudet; Léon Gambetta, by Hector Depasse; Jules Grévy, by Lucien Delabrosse; Louis Blanc, by Charles Edmond; Charles de Freycinet, by Hector Depasse; Victor Hugo, by Jules Claretie; Ferdinand de Lesseps, by Albert Pinard.

Emerson, Ralph Waldo. English traits. New rev. ed. [Riverside ed.] Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1883. 296 p. D. cl., $1.75.

Emerson, Ralph Waldo. Letters and social aims. New rev. ed. [Riverside ed.] Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1883. 6+333 p. D. cl., $1.75.

Emerson, Ralph Waldo. Society and solitude, twelve chapters. New rev. ed. [Riverside ed.] Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1883. 316 p. D. cl., $1.75.

Fothergill, J. Milner, M.D. The physiological factor in diagnosis. N. Y., W: Wood & Co., 1883. 256 p. O. cl., $2.25.

Hale, E. E. Seven Spanish cities and the way to them. Bost., Roberts Bros., 1883. 4+232 p. S. cl., $1.25.

The author studied Spanish, hoping to aid Mr. Prescott in his great work, was disappointed in that, but put his knowledge to use as South American editor of the Boston Courier. Last summer for the first time travelled in Spain and wrote these sketches for a friend. A cursory glance of the index shows a great variety of subjects, all treated in Mr. Hale's bright and fascinating manner.

Hudson, W. H. Sea-sickness : its cause, cure and prevention, without medicine : change in diet ; a scientific and practical solution of the problem. Bost., S. E. Cass & Co., 1883. 147 p. S. cl., $1.25.

The author claims to have discovered a certain means of preventing sea-sickness without the aid of medicine, change in diet, or change in diet. It is merely the observance of certain rules and principles easy enough to be followed. Hudson, who has been quite a traveller and a sufferer from sea-sickness, made his discoveries through experience upon himself.

Hun, H., M.D. A guide to American medicine for students in Europe. N. Y., W: Wood & Co., 1883. 151 p. D. cl., $1.25.

King's hand-book of Boston. [5th ed.] Cambridge, Mass., Moses King, [1883]. 128 p. O. cl., $1.

It has been necessary to reset so many of the pages on account of the many alterations, and so many pages have been added, that the result is practically a new book with the old title and the old general appearance has undergone a thorough revision, both at the hands of Mr. Edwin M. Bacon and Mr. M. F. Sweetser, and we found much improved. New illustrations have been inserted, and the book is better printed and on finer paper. Since its first issue, it has been accepted as one of the best guide-books of Boston.

Livermore, Rev. Abiel Abbot. Anti-tobacco. [also] A lecture on tobacco, by Rev. Roswell Lant Carpenter; [also] On the use of tobacco, by G. F. Witter, M.D. Bost., Roberts Bros., 1883. 117 p. S. cl., 50 c.

These three lectures all argue strongly and effectively against the use of tobacco in any form. An appendix contains some facts about tobacco in the public schools, and the opinions of physicians, scientists and others, relative to its effects.

MacCord, C. W. Kinematics : a treatise on the modification of motion, as affected by the forms and modes of connection of the moving parts of machines ; il. by diagrams of mechanical movements as practicable.

* In this list, the titles generally are verbatim transcriptions (according to the rule of the American Library Association) from books received. Books not received are indicated by a prefixed "N." and this office cannot be held responsible for the correctness of their record. This list will be repeated verbatim, with all the notices of the books received, in the TRADE LIST ANNUAL.

structed; for the use of draughtsmen, machinists and students of mechanical engineering. N. Y., J: Wiley & Sons, 1883. 9+335 p. O. cl., $5.

The title fully covers the subject. Of the author's method he says himself, "The endeavor has been made to treat the story of the subject in a practical manner for the benefit of a practical man—that is to say, the demonstrations are made far as possible directly dependent upon the diagrams, and, later, in most cases, reduced from work actually executed upon a large scale, are accompanied by explanations which, it is hoped, will enable any ordinarily expert draughtsman to 'lay out' the movements with ease and accuracy." In order to avoid interrupting the argument by subordinate discussions as well as for more ready reference, an appendix is added, containing the methods of construction and the graphic processes, relating to various curves alluded from time to time in the body of the book.

Layer, L: Ground-rents in Maryland; with an introduction concerning the tenure of land under the Proprietary. Balt., Cushings & Bailey, 1883. 160 p. O. cl., $1.50.

Mr. Mayer, believing that "a treatise on ground-rents in Maryland, a form of investment peculiar to that state, and which is now attracting a good deal of attention, might be acceptable to lawyers, students of law, investigators of local institutions," and others interested in the matter, has written this book, in the hope that it may serve its purpose of furnishing definite information on the subject in question. An article by John Johnson, Jr., on "Manors in Maryland, and the record of the Court-Baron and Court of St. Clement's Manor," reprinted from the publication of the Johns Hopkins University, throw much light on the history of manors in the times of the Province.

Milton, J: Sonnets; ed. by Mark Pattison. N. Y., Appleton, 1883. 227 p. por. S. (Parchment lib.) parchment, $1.25.

One of the dainty additions to the charming "Parchment lib.," with a portrait after Vertue. Mr. Pattison contributes an introductory note on the sonnet and Milton's treatment of it. The sonnets are carefully and copiously annotated.

Philobiblos (pseud. for Alex. Ireland), comp. The book-lover's enchriridion: thoughts on the solace and companionship of books; selected and chronologically arranged by Philobiblos. American ed., rev. and enl. Phil., B. Lippincott & Co., 1883. 312 p. S. parchment bds., $2.

The object of the compiler has been to present, in chronological order, the testimonies of all the best book-lovers on the subject of books, and the habit and love of reading. The authors represented range from Solomon and Cicero to Carlyle and Ruskin. The quotations from modern English and American writers are very copious. The compiler has gone in all cases possible to the original sources for matter, selecting direct from the works of the writers, so that the correctness of the text may be relied on. This little work has gone through two editions in England, where it was an immediate success. This present one is printed from the 3d English enlarged ed., with alterations and a few additions made by the American editors. It is a most charmingly gotten up little book, dainty white cover, and is printed on tinted paper with margins. It cannot fail to delight every true book-lover, both in its appearance and contents.

Some masterpieces from modern essayists. N. Y., G: P. Putnam's Sons, [1883]. 3 v. 8 325; 3+268; 2+326 p. por. S. cl., $3.75; $2.50.

These three volumes embrace some of the finest specimens of an essay in the English language. Grouped either under kindred subjects or by authors of intellectual kinship, single essays by Lamb, Irving, De Quincey, Leigh t., Sidney Smith, Emerson, Thackeray, Kingsley, Ruskin, Carlyle, Froude, Gladstone, and others. "It has been the intention of the editor," in preparing this series, "to bring together such productions of the great modern writers of English prose as should not only present good specimens of English style, but should also be fairly characteristic of the methods of thought and manner of expression of the several writers." He has succeeded in gathering a most charmingly readable and thoroughly representative collection. The manner in which the volumes are issued calls for special mention. The typography, paper, binding, etc., are most excellent and extremely attractive. Each volume contains a portrait. The three books are put up in cloth or Russia boxes of novel design.

Stevens, J: Austin. Albert Gallatin. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1884 [1883]. 5+419 p. D. (American statesmen.) cl., $1.25.

The subject of this biography, and the extremely interesting way in which it is presented, make it so far one of the most notable volumes of the series. Mr. Gallatin's place in the history of our national finances can scarcely be over-rated, while the study of his character, both as a private individual and as a statesman, is full of interest to every reader and student. Mr. Gallatin, it will be remembered, was born at Geneva, in 1761. Coming to this country in 1780 he soon adopted it as his own, and in a very brief space of time became identified with the government, filling successively the positions of member of the Pennsylvania Legislature, the U. S. Senate and the House of Representatives, and finally Secretary of the Treasury under Jefferson. He was also Minister to England and afterward to France, and one of the negotiators of the Treaty of Ghent. Mr. Stevens tells the story of his life and his long political career in such a forcible, graphic style and with such a wonderful wealth of detail, that every one must be fascinated with his work. The information he has gathered together in the limited space at his disposal, is as remarkable as it is valuable. The fulness and convenient arrangement of the index calls for special notice.

Weissbach, Julius. Mechanics of engineering and of machinery. V. 3, pt. 1, section 1: The mechanics of the machinery of transmission. 2d ed., rev. and enl., by Gustav Herrmann; designed as a text-book for technical schools and colleges, and for the use of engineers, draughtsmen, etc., tr. by J. Mr. Klein, the translator, says in his preface: "The volume now offered to the engineering public is the first instalment of the second edition of what was formerly known as v. 3 of 'Weissbach's Mechanics of engineering.' In the hands of the editor, Prof. Gustav Herrmann, the material of the first edition has been so thoroughly re-classified and revised, the methods of discussion so much improved, and so much new material added, as to practically constitute this second edition a new work, of three volumes, each as large as the original work." Wright, E. Perceval, M.D. Animal life: being the natural history of animals. N. Y., Cassell & Co., [1883]. 8+618 p. il. O. cl., $2.50.

A profusely illustrated work for popular reading; offers an interesting account, interspersed with many stories, and free from technical details, of the various forms of animal life, about two thirds of the contents of the volume being devoted to the mammals and birds. The author acknowledges his indebtedness to distinguished writers on the subject, from whom he has culled many facts. The book is based on the notes of several series of lectures on zoology, delivered some years ago to the natural history classes in the University of Dublin.

The Publishers' Weekly.

OCTOBER 27, 1883.

PUBLISHERS are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, to insure correctness in the final entry.

The trade are invited to send "Communications" to the editor on any topic of interest to the trade, and as to which an interchange of opinion is desirable. Also, matter for "Notes and Queries" gratefully received.

In case of business changes, notification or card should be immediately sent to this office for entry under "Business Notes." New catalogues issued will also be mentioned when forwarded.

"TRADE NOTES."

THE OLD AND NEW STYLE BOOKSELLER.

From the British and Colonial Printer and Stationer, Sept. 27 and Oct. 4.

FROM all parts of the country we receive complaints concerning the usurpation of the bookellers' proper business by drapers, job brokers, and other persons. The old style bookseller is becoming extinct; and his modern successors are to eke out a trade by engaging in various 'lines' quite beyond their proper province.

What is the cause of this? It would perhaps be hard to assign the exact reason. We interviewed a thoroughly qualified and experienced man the other day, and his views seem to be well worth recording.

In the first place, he said, the bookseller of the olden time had been duly apprenticed in his youth to his trade; had faithfully served his full term of seven years; and was then made an assistant. Now there is seldom anything of the kind observed. A boy who can carry out papers is retained till he is too old for the post, and then he is made a shopman. He possesses the knowledge of books, and less affection for them—regarding them as simple mercantile commodities invented for the sole purpose of returning by their sale a certain percentage of profit to the seller.

In the old time, too, the bookseller actually read. He reads now, it is true—but chiefly advertisements, price-lists, and auction catalogues. Ask him the nature of a book, or the title of a work on any subject, or the best edition of any author, and he is altogether at sea. The old style bookseller could give all this information at a moment it was sought. He was the mentor as well as the servant of the bookbuyer; and many famous libraries have been organized, not through their owners, but by their owners' bookseller. We think that this degeneracy is capable of explanation. In former days the only customers the publishers were legitimate booksellers, and things have so changed that drapers and auctioneers of different kinds have now entered the business, and are to a large extent pushing the bookseller out of his proper sphere of action. The way in which a book was published was this. A copy was prepared and bound up, the publisher's traveller then took it round to a certain number of booksellers in town, explained its end, and stated what was to be the published price, and then received an order, or, as it was called, a subscription, from the bookseller. It was usual to commence with Messrs. Longman in Paternoster Row, and that firm gave the "cue" to the rest of the trade, the booksellers generally regulating their first order according to the number of copies that were bespoke by Messrs. Longman. A list of the trade was in existence, and it was very seldom added to. When some recognized bookseller's assistant started in business for himself, he made form of application to be placed on this list. Outsiders were not supplied, and the trade was thus confined within certain definite and recognized limits.

Of course this is entirely a thing of the past. The publishers supply whoever resorts to them, and what is even more inconvenient, their prices are not fixed as they formerly were. Perhaps half a dozen of the oldest publishers maintain their terms, but the others have a very elastic tariff, so that the man who orders five hundred copies is supplied at a much lower price than he who only takes five copies. This will explain the reason why certain firms actually sell to the public at a lower price than the publishers nominally sell to the trade.

The system of "job lots" has introduced into the business an element of uncertainty and of dissatisfaction, which has done more harm than anything else within the present century. The co-operative stores have also acted banefully upon the bookselling trade. We heard of an instance of this kind in a northern town quite recently. A well-known and old-established bookseller had been in the habit of supplying the Medical School for many years.

Recently an enterprising firm of drapers opened what they called a "Bon Marché," and the students no doubt thought that they might as well apply the "Bon Marché" principle to the purchase of books. Inquiries were instituted, and it was found that this draper's store was supplying nearly the whole of the books, and they had applied themselves so actively to this business as actually to obtain telephonic communication between their "Bon Marché" and the Medical School. Of course here was an important branch of business completely lost to the legitimate bookseller.

It would seem, too, that in the bookselling business we shall soon have the same anomalies as in the music-selling trade. The marked price of a sheet of music, it is well known, gives no indication whatever of its actual price, which may be one third, or even one fourth. If the music-seller does not know the current value of the particular sheet he may suffer very serious loss both in money and reputation. If books are to be sold at threepence, fourpence, and even fivepence in the shilling off their published price, according to the facilities which the seller has for buying cheaply, it is obvious that a bookseller has no security against his stock being seriously depreciated from causes over which he has no control. The twopence in the shilling is now universal, even when credit is given. Formerly the concession was only made when cash was paid, but now the competition in the trade has become so keen, that booksellers are forced to give three or six months' credit and at the end to allow this discount.

The result of this is that very few booksellers at the present day confine themselves to a legitimate trade in books. They sell stationery, pictures, and fancy articles, very often relying on these for their profit. This being the case, a bookseller cannot be expected to devote the same time as formerly to studying his business and acquiring that information which the book-buyer formerly expected of him.

Old booksellers even have degenerated. They are now frequently mere dealers in remainders, or brokers who attend sales and buy books as furniture brokers buy articles of furniture. It is noticeable that in nearly all the large towns the number of bookstalls is decreasing, and the number of catalogues issued by the body becomes less and less.

In these days of unrestricted trade it is, of course, quite useless to propose that the publishers should be compelled to sell only to recognized dealers. A proposition was made lately to the effect that publishers who sold to drapers should be boycotted, but this would be manifestly impracticable, for those who wished to obtain books in quantities could always get them by indirect methods. It is well known that the large buyers who sell at such a great reduction from the published price almost invariably pay cash, while the ordinary bookseller expects to have three or six months' credit. Herein, we think, lies an opportunity for improving the condition of the trade.

If booksellers proper would pay cash, they could obtain the same favorable terms as their non-legitimate competitors. And if they again were to sell for cash no embarrassment would follow from the practice.

Long credits, indeed, are the bane of the book-selling business. Until the bookbuyers are accustomed to pay for their books as regularly as they settle their butcher's bills, the bookseller is placed at a disadvantage, and we think is unfairly treated. The first step, therefore, toward improving the standing of the trade, would be to introduce cash payments all round, and if this could be generally followed, it would initiate a reform of the most valuable character.

We think that booksellers, as a rule, are not as "pushing" as they might be. The journals contain very few advertisements from booksellers, compared with those of the rest of the trading community.

Yet the bookselling business is one that can be developed to an almost unlimited extent if actively and energetically followed. Of course, the difficulty consists in the fact that a bookseller has to advertise another tradesman's commodity, and he may not receive any reward for his enterprise.

If, for instance, a bookseller in any town were to spend twenty pounds in acquainting the public with the fact that a new book by Mr. Tennyson were on sale at his establishment, he has no guarantee that the public will not buy the book from some other shop.

A grocer who advertises tea of course never thinks of stating the name of the wholesale firm from which he obtained it, but the bookseller is in a different position. Even allowing the existence of this difficulty we think that it would be advisable for the trade to adopt more of the ordinary expedients for increasing business.

Another evil that afflicts the bookselling business arises from the multiplicity of publishers. Formerly publishers were themselves a recognized class, and it was seldom that new accessions were made to their ranks. At the present time printers are invading the business to an extent that threatens to break down the old and generally beneficial limits. If a large firm of printers find that trade is slack, it is quite a common thing to employ some of their hands on bringing out new books or reprints of old ones. These are put into the hands of travellers, who act perhaps for a dozen firms, selling their books on commission, and they are thus sold to the country trade. Not unfrequently there is no published price recognized, and the bookseller is left free to sell such books at any price that he thinks will pay him. Other printers purchase the stereoplates of books that have a regular sale, and put them on the machine whenever it is idle, thus multiplying copies entirely for speculative purposes. The trade, therefore, have no guarantee that a book published at half-a-crown one season may not be reduced to a shilling the next season. This is one of the most serious causes of discontent among booksellers at the present time.

We shall be glad to find room for the views of any of our readers which may tend toward improvement in the present condition of affairs in the bookselling trade. It is no use ignoring the difficulties with which the ordinary retail bookseller now has to contend, and it is equally futile to make suggestions which are not practicable, at a time like the present, when a man can engage in any trade that he fancies, but much might be done by curtailing credit, by firmness in maintaining prices, by refusing to countenance the doubtful expedients resorted to by the smaller publishers, and generally by cultivating a feeling of good fellowship among the different members of the trade. It is quite derogatory, we think, to any one engaged in a business of some respectability to adopt the under-cutting practices indulged in by drapers and grocers, and we believe that if these practices are persevered in, the trade will become so demoralized as to exert a very small influence upon literature.

THE CHRISTIAN UNION.

From the Critic.

UNDER the heading, "A New Outlook in Journalism," The Christian Union publishes this week a card signed by many of the best-known ministers and some of the more conspicuous laymen of New England. "There has been for some time felt, especially in New England," these gentlemen declare, "a desire for a broad, catholic, Christian newspaper; one that should be intellectually and practically progressive, religiously and spiritually conservative; which holding fast the great truths of historical and experimental Christianity, would give scope for a free discussion of all debatable problems of religious thought; which would present the various truth in its practical, spiritual, and helpful aspects, rather than in its critical, ecclesiastical and controversial forms; and which—above all—in defending the tenets of Christian faith would never forget to preserve and maintain a thoroughly Christian spirit." The project of starting such a paper in Boston has been considered, and wisely abandoned, its projectors have ing come to the conclusion that an alliance with The Christian Union would be a better step. Such an alliance has been made; and while that excellent religious journal will continue to be edited by the Rev. Lyman Abbott, "there will be associated with him several other gentlemen to whom the paper will rely in applying to the various questions of to-day the principles of a vital Christianity." The Boston clergymen whose names are appended to this card are Alexander McKenzie, Joseph T. Duryea, Samuel E. Herrick, William Burnet Dwight, R. L. Meredith, and A. S. Twombly. Among the names of the New England ministers, not of Boston, which follow this half-dozen, we find the familiar ones of T. T. Munger, of North Adams, Mass., Newman Smyth, of New Haven, Conn., and Washington Gladden, at present of Columbus, O. "It seems proper," says the editor of the paper in question, "to accompany this official announcement with a restatement of the purpose and spirit of The Christian Union, which remains unchanged, while its power has been greatly increased by this welcome addition to its editorial forces." The restatement that follows breathes a spirit of liberality which might well be emulated by certain others of the professedly religious journals of this country. It augurs well for the continued usefulness and prosperity of an already popular paper.

OBITUARY.

CAPTAIN MAYNE REID.

CAPTAIN MAYNE REID, whose stories of adventure have for so many years been the delight of the youth of nearly every civilized nation, died on Sunday night, October 21, at his residence in London, after a brief illness. Capt. Reid was born in 1818, in the north of Ireland. From his youth he was fond of books. The stories which he read of America and its resources caused a desire to visit this country. When only twenty years of age he sailed for New Orleans, where he began life as a trader. His business interests were of such a nature that he was obliged to make long journeys into the interior of the country. He made friends with the Indians of the Red River territory, and spent many months in learning their customs and enjoying the scenery of their picturesque camping-grounds. Night after night he sat with the braves about their blazing campfires, and listened to the legends and tales of the medicine-men. It was from these Indians that he obtained the materials for those well-known stories, "The Scalp Hunters" and "The White Chief." He was a rapid writer, and one after another in quick succession he produced the series of novels and juvenile works which have made him such a favorite. In the "Rifle Rangers," published in 1849, and the "Scalp Hunters," published the following year, he detailed many of his adventures on the prairies and in the wilds of the West. His works attracted such widespread interest that publishers found it to their profit to print them in nearly every language that was spoken in Europe. In England alone his "Scalp Hunters" is said to have had a circulation of a million copies. Other stories which were exceedingly popular were "The Bay Hunters," "The Plant Hunters, or the Himalayan Mountains," "The Young Yagers," "The Quadroon," and "The Young Voyageurs."

F. O. J. S. BAZIN.

F. O. J. S. BAZIN died at his residence, No. 19 Union Park, Boston, on the 21st inst., after a long and painful illness. Mr. Bazin was born in Boston, December, 1830, and was the son of Mr. George W. Bazin, for many years a well-known printer on Cornhill. At an early age he entered the book publishing house of B. B. Muzzey & Co., of which firm his brother, Thomas H., was the junior partner. He was afterward of the firm of Brown, Bazin & Co., and later had charge of the publishing department of the well-known house of Phillips, Sampson & Co., the first publishers of the Atlantic Monthly. He passed a few years in the same business in Philadelphia, and on returning here became connected with the firm of Ticknor & Fields. For nearly 14 years past he had been connected with the firm of E. Fleming & Co., bookbinders, on Franklin Street, and by his energy, promptness, and fair dealing contributed largely to that firm's successful business. For nearly 40 years, as boy and man, he had been actively engaged in the book and publishing business, and few men in the country were better known or more respected in it. He leaves a widow.

THE death is announced of Mr. James M'Intosh, bookseller of the old town, Edinburgh. He was eighty-four years of age, being the oldest member of the trade in Edinburgh.

NELSON S. QUINCY, the immediate successor to Smith, English & Co., died at Colorado Springs on the 3d inst., whither he had just repaired for the winter in hopes of renewing his health.

W. W. SWAYNE, the oldest bookseller and newsdealer in Brooklyn, died on the 25th inst., at his residence at Bath, L. I. He began business at the old Fulton Market in New York City over 20 years ago.

SAMUEL F. APPLETON, formerly of the firm of D. Appleton & Co., and a brother of William F. Appleton, the head of the firm, died suddenly on Wednesday evening, October 24, at Dr. George C. S. Choate's asylum, at Pleasantville, West-Chester County, where he had been for the last two years and a half. He was 57 years of age, and a widower, but he had no children.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

MR. DAVID BOGUE will issue shortly an illustrated magazine, to be called the Science Monthly.

S. CALVARY & Co., of Berlin, announce the commencement of a series of studies in classical philology and archaeology, under the title of "Berliner Studien." To judge from the prospectus the periodical will be of the same character as the well-known "Leipziger Studien."

THE American, on entering upon its fourth year, makes a definite claim as a "journal of literature, science, the arts, and public affairs—a claim which it has already made good, during the past year; witness, for quantity and variety, the well-arranged contents" mailed with its issue of October 20; for quality we vouch for the excellence of that department in which we are most concerned.

The Youth's Companion will publish during the next year a new poem by Tennyson; some entirely new reminiscences of Charles Dickens by his daughter, Mamie Dickens; six poems by Lord Lytton (Owen Meredith); and serial stories by Thomas Hardy, Mrs. Oliphant, and Alphonse Daudet. Mrs. Oliphant's novel is entitled "The Covenanters' Daughter," the heroine being an historical character; and Miss Dickens's paper bears the engaging name of "The Child-Friendships of Charles Dickens."

THE Christmas (December) Harper's Magazine, which is planned to be the most notable issue of a magazine ever published, is, nevertheless, intended to be but the forerunner of a remarkable series throughout 1884. The new and novel serial, "Nature's Serial Story," by E. P. Roe, with illustrations by Gibson and Dielman, and William Black's "Judith Shakespeare," with illustrations by Abbey, are only examples, in the one field of serial fiction, of the scale on which the coming volumes are planned. It is intended during the coming year to make a specialty of stirring short stories.

THE new monthly, Shakespeareana (New York: Leonard Scott & Co.), will have its first issue under date of November 1. The cover bears the design of the window devised by Frederick Crowninshield, and placed in Harvard Memorial Hall by the Class of '54. The contents of the number include an article on the proposed examination of the tomb at Stratford, by William Leighton, Jr.; a very brief one, by Professor R. E. Thompson, on "King Lear's Arrangement with his Daughters;" one by J. Parker Norris, on "Portraits of Shakespeare;" and others by Charlotte Porter, A. A. Ade, Professor W. T. Thorn, Professor Charles P. G. Scott, and Joseph Crosby.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

WHITE, STOKES & ALLEN state that the "Oyster Epicure" promises to have a very large sale.

GEO. H. ELLIS, Boston, has published the new work by Bahu P. C. Mozoomdar, entitled "The Oriental Christ," a devout, earnest, spiritual, and remarkable conception of Christ by a member of the Brahmo Somaj.

NEGOTIATIONS regarding the literary treaty between Germany and Belgium are still going on between the governments. The date or place for the conference of delegates is not yet fixed, but it is hoped that it will meet in Berlin. The literary treaty between Germany and France will probably serve as the basis.

WILLIAM S. GOTTSBERGER publishes to-day "Felicitas," by Felix Dahn, translated by Mary J. Safford. This is a romance which carries us back to the decay of the Western Empire, when the outlying provinces were being torn from the hold of the feeble representative of the Cæsars, who kept his shadowy court in Ravenna.

ALLEN, LANE & SCOTT have published a new almanac, entitled "The Nineteenth Century Almanac," giving the calendar for each year from 1800 to 1900 inclusive, together with a number of the principal events in each expired year. The book is printed on fine tinted writing-paper, and opposite each year is left a blank page for memoranda.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS will shortly publish for the Society of Political Education a volume on "Taxation," by Prof. J. H. Canfield; also a volume entitled "Of Work and Wealth: A Summary of Economics," by R. R. Bowker. They have in press for the Free Trade Club a work entitled "The Destructive Influence of the Tariff on Commerce and Manufacture," by J. Schoenhof.

THE "Paper-Mill Directory" is the name of a volume of one hundred and ninety pages issued by the Paper World, containing a list of all the paper-mills in the world, or at least of four thousand four hundred and sixty-three. Of these, one thousand and ninety-nine are in the United States, one thousand one hundred and eighty in Germany. England has but two hundred and eighty-nine, Australia four, and New Zealand two. The capacity of each mill is also given.

JAMES H. EARLE, Boston, has just published "Capital for Working Boys," by J. E. McConaughy, a book of most practical helpfulness, which every parent, anxious to see his son rise to manliness, honor, and usefulness, should place in his hands. The volume forms the third of the famous Log Cabin Series. He will also shortly issue a new edition of "What to Get for Breakfast," in handsome paper covers; and of "Knights of the Cross," memoirs of Revs. Mcville and Gershon Cox, by a daughter.

D. VAN NOSTRAND announces several new works of applied science: "The Machinist's and Steam-Engineer's Practical Calculator," by D. F. Dixon; "Chemical Problems, with Brief Statements of the Principles Involved;" "Steam Heating, an Exposition of the American Practice of Warming Buildings by Steam," by Robert Briggs; "Electricity in Theory and Practice," by B. A. Fiske; and "Electricity, Magnetism and Electro-Telegraphy," a practical guide for students, operators, and inspectors, by Thos. B. Lockwood, with one hundred and fifty-eight illustrations.

SCRIBNER & WELFORD have just sent out a timely and very useful catalogue of musical literature, comprising a list of standard and miscellaneous works on music and musical literature including biographies of the great artists or composers, histories of music, its literature and techniques, critical essays, works on acoustics, harmony, the voice, the organ, musical instruments, etc. The catalogue gives evidence of careful discrimination in the selection and classification, and does credit to the compiler. It is an edition which deserves encouragement, and we hope to see more of it. The catalogue is sent free on application.

HARPER & BROS. issue this week, in the Franklin Square Library, Anthony Trollope's "Autobiography," described by the London Albion as "a very frank record of his literary work and of his opinions." They have nearly reached the long-expected life of Gen. Beauregard. Its title is "The Military Operations of Gen. Beauregard," and it will make two large octavo volumes. Judge Alfred Roman, who has prepared the work, formerly a colonel on Beauregard's staff, has had access to a vast quantity of original and authenticated material. After giving a graphical sketch he goes into an elaborate account of all the military operations of Beauregard in the civil war, and gives some account of his career in the Mexican war.

IRA BRADLEY & Co., Boston, have just received "The Lesson Commentary on the International Lessons for 1884," by Rev. J. H. Vincent, D.D., a non-sectarian work, and one which has been prepared with great care and labor, and conover 100 illustrations, maps, tables, etc.; also "The International Lesson Books for 1884," by Rev. Dr. J. H. Vincent and Rev. J. L. Hurlbut, graded for "Senior," "Intermediate," and "Beginner's" classes, which can also be had interleaved. They have recently published "Noble, but not the Noblest," a Russian story by Marie Hall, describing the life and trials of a pilgrim; and "Nelly Channell," a beautiful picture of Christian home life by Sarah Doudney.

PICKWICK & CO., Philadelphia, will issue shortly a "Critical Bibliography of the Greek New Testament as published in America," by Prof. Isaac H. Hall. This work the publishers believe to be the only complete treatise on the subject in existence. It includes more than 250 editions of the Greek New Testament, and parts thereof, published in America. The subject is treated according to the text exhibited in the various American editions of the Greek New Testament, critically as well as bibliographically, and with due regard to chronological arrangement. It is arranged in twelve chapters, closing with a chronological list and an index. The work abounds in historical and biographical information, and will prove invaluable to the scholar, no less than to the librarian and the general bibliographer. It is the result of many years' labor and investigation. It will make a handsome volume, the retail price of which is fixed at $1.50.

SCRIBNER & WELFORD will issue shortly a new and elegant library edition of "The Historical and Posthumous Memoirs of My Own Time," by Sir N. W. Wraxall, who shares with Horace Walpole the credit of affording our chief sources of information for the social and political history of the 18th century—the days of Pitt, Fox, Burke, Sheridan, Johnson, etc. His works have been of late years very scarce, and bear a high price. The present edition is enriched with annotations by Dr. Doran, Mme Piozzi (from her autograph MS.), the editor, H. B. Wheatly, etc. They also announce a new edition of the "Memoirs of Marie Antoinette," by Mme. Campan; and a new volume of Mr. Colquhoun's travels, a continuation of his "Across Chryse," describing his varied adventures among the "Shans" in the untravelled border region lying between China and Burmah. Scribner & Welford also expect to receive shortly a shipment of the library edition of "Don John of Austria, or, Passages from the History of the 16th Century, 1547–1578," by the late Sir William Stirling-Maxwell. The volume will be handsomely illustrated with numerous wood-engravings, consisting of portraits, pieces of armor, costumes, medals, etc.

It is stated that Mr. Tennyson's arrangement with Messrs. Kegan Paul, Trench & Co. for the publication of his works comes to an end with the present year and will not be renewed. It is, we believe, says the Academy, "arranged that the Macmillans will for the future be the publishers. According to current rumors, Mr. Tennyson received under his arrangement with his former publishers £4000 a year. The terms of the new arrangement have not yet been mentioned."

[ALL ENTERPRISING BOOKSELLERS.]

The subscription edition of the ILLUSTRATED CHRISTMAS NUMBER of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY will be issued as early in November as possible, to give time for the imprint editions to reach all dealers three weeks before Christmas at the latest.

The Number will as usual present the finest specimen illustrations from the NEW HOLIDAY BOOKS, with special articles on the leading works, a full descriptive summary of books and stationery novelties, reference price-lists covering the ILLUSTRATED WORKS, BOOKS FOR THE YOUNG, and other CHOICE BOOKS published during 1883, etc., etc. Every endeavor will be made to surpass the issues of previous years, pronounced in 1880, by the N. Y. Tribune, one of the most tasteful and attractive catalogues, surpassing even the achievements of the English in the same line; and even at an earlier date, by the German "Book Trade Magazine" "the most attractive publication of the kind issued in the book-producing countries."

The imprint edition (intended for distribution by dealers with their sole imprint) will be printed immediately after the issue of the Trade edition, under the title of "CHRISTMAS CATALOGUE," as given above.

The local bookseller can add half as much again to his holiday trade by properly calling the attention of the public to his goods. For this purpose, the best means is the circulation of his handsome, interesting, and comprehensive CHRISTMAS CATALOGUE, which is received with pleasure by those to whom it is given or sent, as itself a picture-book of no little value; and its descriptions of, and illustrations from books, at once arouse the desire to purchase the books themselves.

No better investment can be made by the bookseller who wants to make the most of his holiday trade.

Orders filled in the order of size of edition, largest first, and then of receipt. As the paper is specially made for this issue, orders should be received at once, as the filling of later demands cannot be guaranteed.

The thick paper edition of the CHRISTMAS CATALOGUE will be supplied as follows:

SINGLE COPIES (postpaid),	35 CTS.		PER 100 COPIES (with imprint),	$20 00
------------------------------------	---------	--	---	---------

The thin paper edition, with dealers' imprints, will be supplied at the following rates:

PER 100 COPIES,	$10 00		PER 500 COPIES,	$38 00
" 250 "	20 00		" 1000 "	75 00

Orders should be sent in at once, and in order to avoid delay, it is absolutely necessary that copy for imprint, together with full directions for forwarding, should accompany the remittance. packages sent by express unpaid, unless other shipping directions are given.

ARE YOU GOING TO BE LEFT?

The season is yet barely open, still the demand for the

GOLDEN FLORAL SERIES

than which nothing more beautiful in conception or more perfect in execution has ever been published for the price, IS ALREADY PHENOMENAL.

The following for 1888 are the new additions:

My Faith Looks up to Thee.

By RAY PALMER. With designs L. S. COMINS.

It was the Calm and Silent Night.

ALFRED DOMETT'S Christmas Hymn. With designs by W. L. TAYLOR.

The Lord is My Shepherd.

THE XXIII. PSALM IN SONG AND SONNET. By Prof. W. C. RICHARDS. With designs: Miss HUMPHREY and others.

Come into the Garden, Maud.

By ALFRED TENNYSON. With designs by E. H. GARRETT.

Curfew Must not Ring To-Night.

By ROSA HARTWICK THORPE. With designs by MERRILL and GARRETT.

That Glorious Song of Old.

By EDMUND HAMILTON SEARS. With designs by ALFRED FREDERICKS.

Hymns and Songs which have become a part of a nation, and which are lodged deeply in every human heart, no eulogy. It would be unseemly to even speak of the beauty which lingers in every line of these household poems in every stroke of the artist's skill which adorns them. But of the volumes of the GOLDEN FLORAL no one could say much. A mere glance at the unique and tasteful covers, upon whose golden and gleaming sheen are reproduced, with marvellous fidelity to nature, the flowers of friendship, faith, and sentiment, will convince all lovers of the beautiful these volumes are indeed which, however, are offered at a price which places them within the reach of all bookbuyers.

Appreciating the favor which was so lavishly bestowed by the public, the publishers have redoubled their effort last season, and have even surpassed the results then achieved at so great an outlay of time, labor, and expense. In this reflection, and with the consciousness that they are the pioneers in the line of fringed books, and of which they do this style as their lawful trade-mark and patent, the publishers venture to hope that the same cordial reception may be accorded to the new examples of

The Art which Shines over all.

The above additions to the GOLDEN FLORAL SERIES are uniform in style and price with the issue of last year now offered in new editions, as follows:

RING OUT, WILD BELLS.

OH, WHY SHOULD THE SPIRIT OF MORTAL BE PROUD?

NEARER, MY GOD, TO THEE.

ABIDE WITH ME.

ROCK OF AGES.

HOME, SWEET HOME.

THE BREAKING WAVES DASH

HIGH.

HE GIVETH HIS BELOVED SLEEP.

FIFTY THOUSAND PEOPLE

wanted GOLDEN FLORALS last year, and could not purchase them at any price. This season the edition is larger and demand is greater. We trust that no bookseller will disappoint his patrons. Buy only the genuine, for only the genuine is the GOLDEN FLORAL. Remember that Michel Angelo once said: "He who imitates must always."

LIKE THE DOG'S TAIL, BE BEHIND!"

WHEELER PHILLIPS says: "Its variety and fulness and the completeness of its index give it rare value to the scholar."

A MAGNIFICENT VOLUME OF TRAVELS.

RED-LETTER DAYS ABROAD.

By JOHN L. STODDARD,

Author of "The Stoddard Lectures," etc. One fine octavo volume, with one hundred and thirty beautiful illustrations. Magnificently bound, with full gilt edges and bevelled boards. In box. Cloth, $5; tree calf or antique morocco, $10.

The engravings have been made with the utmost care in the best style of art, and will accurately and artistically reproduce the scenes that Mr. Stoddard describes. They represent with great vividness and beauty many of the most picturesque and remarkable localities in Spain, the Tyrol, and the imperial cities of Russia; and form a fitting complement to the descriptive matter, which is in Mr. Stoddard's happiest manner. The thousands of people who have seen this famous lecturer will be delighted to get his beautiful book.

NIGHTS WITH UNCLE REMUS:

Myths and Legends of the Old Plantation.

By JOEL CHANDLER HARRIS,

Author of "Uncle Remus: His Songs and Sayings," "At Teague Pottee's," etc. One volume, 16mo, illustrated, $2.

"Brer. Rabbit" becomes the hero of a new set of adventures, more exciting than his others; and Church and Harris have illustrated them with a series of full page-pictures, rich in piquancy and quaintness. This is the latest of the inimitable books of Southern life, legends, and dialect, which have met with such extraordinarily large sales.

"An attractive illustrated edition, peculiarly rich in the irresistible drollery of the previous Southern papers," says Harris, and introducing our old friends, Brer. Rabbit, Mister Lion, Jedge Bear, and the other familiar figures of plantation myths. In the entire field of literature there are few passages more original and in their way delightful than 'The Pimmerly Plum,' 'The Cunning Snake,' and 'Aunt Tempy's Story.' There a great number of the legends and folk-tales, full of the tender pathos and weird fancy of the long-past patriarchal days of slavery, when the people of the servile race wove endless singular imaginations by their lowly cabin hearths. There is no figure in American literature more interesting and affecting than dear old Uncle Remus, sitting at evening by the crackling fire in the weather-beaten cabin, and telling to his master's little boy stories of the old times in Georgia. The new book is enriched with a series of full-page pictures by Church and Beard, the skilful delineators of animal life and expression, and reproduces with marvellous ability the crisis-moments in Brer. Rabbit's strange adventures, and the misadventures of his brethren of the wide Southern forests."

VAGABONDIA.

By Mrs. FRANCES HODGSON BURNETT.

One volume, 12mo, $1.50.

A very charming novel by the author of "Esmeralda" and "Through One Administration," and certain of a ready sale.

WILL PUBLISH, NOVEMBER 7:

Illustrated New Testament.

The New Testament of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. With Engravings on wood designs of Fra Angelico, Pietro Perugino, Francesco Francia, Lorenzo di Credi, Fra Tolommeo, Titian, Raphael, Gaudenzio, Ferrari, Daniel di Volterra, and others. In one royal 4to, cloth, gilt, 540 pages. $10; full morocco, special, $20.

This sumptuous edition of the New Testament is embellished on every page with ornamental borders and very exquisitely drawn and engraved, some of them being copied from illuminated manuscripts in the British Museum. The full-page illustrations are copies of the works of the world-famous masters named above. This superb representation represents the labors of many years of the best English designers, engravers, and printers.

Poems for Children.

By Celia Thaxter, author of "Among the Isles of Shoals," "Driftweed," etc. With illustrations by Miss A. G. Plympton. Small 4to, $1.50.

Mrs. Thaxter has gathered from her two volumes of verse, and from periodicals to which she has contributed, a book of poems relating to childhood. These poems are charming in their simplicity and appreciation of the life and feelings and moods of children. The book is printed in a brown tint, and is one of the most attractive as one of the most wholesome and interesting of children's books.

American Commonwealths.

Edited by HORACE E. SCUDDER.

Vol. II. OREGON. The Struggle for Possession.

By William Barrows. With a Map. 16mo, gilt top, $1.25.

The history of Oregon, though very recent in comparison with that of Virginia, embraces so many points of interest that it fitly belongs in the series which Mr. Cook's story of Virginia so well began. Just now the completion of the Northern Pacific Railroad brings Oregon so near the rest of the country that the desire to know its history is greatly increased.

Hawthorne's Juvenile Books.

THE WONDER-BOOK.

TANGLEWOOD TALES.

TRUE STORIES FROM HISTORY AND BIOGRAPHY.

A new edition of these delightful books which tell in a very fresh and charming way the famous stories of ancient mythology, and narrate the most interesting incidents in English history. In an attractive binding. 12mo, $1.50 each.

Examples for Elementary Practice Delineation.

By Charles H. Moore, Instructor in Drawing in Harvard College. 4to, $2.

This work is intended for the use of schools and of isolated beginners in drawing, and will consist of examples in outline—ten of them from nature and ten from historic works of art, and several pages of lettering containing all needed explanations.

Aldrich's Poetical Works.

Illustrated edition, new style. Cloth, $5; morocco or tree calf, $9.

The beautiful Holiday Edition of Mr. Aldrich's Poems which won so high praise last year for its illustrations is now put in a popular style of binding.

NOTES IN SEASON.

BOOKSELLERS, prepare for the holidays! Study the Fall Announcement number and the new advertisements of the WEEKLY. Don't delay securing an edition, with your own imprint, of the Illustrated Christmas Catalogue of the WEEK-LY, or of the Illustrated Christmas number of the Literary News, or—of both. We are determined to have them ready in good time, and therefore we cannot print beyond a certain number. Last year so many booksellers were too late that we consider it our duty to sound this note of warning.

WILLIAM R. JENKINS, N. Y., has just issued a new revised and enlarged edition of Clarke's work on "Horses' Teeth." As the work has been augmented also by illustrations, the price has been raised to $2.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT & Co. announce for immediate publication Mary Agnes Tinker's new novel, "The Jewel in the Lotos," with five handsome full-page illustrations by Hovenden. This story is considered by critics the most powerful the author has yet written.

CUPPLES, UPHAM & Co. have just ready "Poems in Prose," by Ivan Tourgueneff, with fine portrait frontispiece and an introduction.
The "Poems" are the mature products of the author's genius, and are admirably adapted to indicate the scope and tendency of the great novelist's wonderful powers of description and analysis.

A. D. F. RANDOLPH & Co. will issue immediately "Sources of History in the Pentateuch," six lectures delivered in Princeton Theological Seminary, on the Stone Foundation, 1882, by Dr.
Samuel C. Bartlett, President of Dartmouth College. They have also made arrangements with the author to publish at once "The yoke of Christ, in the Duties and Circumstances of Life," by Rev. Dr. Anthony W. Thorold. The author discusses in this volume the questions of friendship, money, marriage, illness, loss of friends, and letter-writing.

J. R. OSGOOD & Co. have ready this week,
"Red-Letter Days Abroad," by John L. Stoddard, a handsomely illustrated volume of travel, dealing chiefly with the most picturesque and remarkable localities in Spain, the Tyrol, and the imperial cities of Russia; "Nights with Uncle Remus: Myths and Legends of the Old Plantation," by Joel Chandler Harris, another of those charming books of Southern legends and dialect, in which "Brer. Rabbit" becomes the hero of new adventures even more exciting than the others. The quaint and piquant illustrations by Church and Beard add greatly to the reader's interest; "Vagabondia," formerly published under the title of "Dolly," by Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett, is also ready.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. will publish next week, in the series of American Commonwealths, a volume on Oregon, by Rev. William Barrows, who is entirely familiar with the story of the struggle for the possession of Oregon, and who has made a book so interesting that it may well be placed in the same series with Mr. Cooke's Virginia, which has been received with great favor. At the same time will appear a volume of "Poems for Children," by Celia Thaxter, who has gathered a charming volume of verses for and about children, and these have been printed in a brown tint, making an exceedingly attractive volume, aside from the illustrations by Miss Plympton; a sumptuous edition of the New Testament, with full-page illustrations and borders and emblematic vignettes, many of them from designs by the most famous old masters and the most skilful English designers and engravers; new editions of Hawthorne's juvenile books and of the holiday edition of Aldrich's Poetical Works in new and popular binding; and a book that ought to attract the attention of students of art, "Examples for Elementary Practice in Delineation," by Charles H. Moore, Instructor of Drawing in Harvard College.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

Stems are designated as follows: P. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); Q. (4to: under 30 cm.); O. (8vo: 9 cm.); D. (16mo: 10 cm.); S. (16mo: 17 1/2 cm.); T. (24mo: 25 cm.); TL. (same: 24 1/2 cm.); Ps. (same: 20 cm.); 32mo. narrow, designate square, oblong, narrow books of these heights. Where figure instead of letter symbols are used, the record is from publisher's designation, and not measurement.

Arnold, Edwin. Indian Idylls: from the Sanskrit of the Mahābhārata. Bost., Roberts Bros., 1883. 318 p. D. cl., $1.

The Mahābhārata and the Rāmāyana, from which Mr. Arnold makes these translations, are characterized by him as "two colossal, two unparalleled epic poems in the sacred language of India," containing "almost all the history of ancient India, so far as it can be recovered, together with such inexhaustible details of its political, social and religious life, that the antique Hindu world really stands epitomized in them." The New York Tribune in an appreciative review of this volume says, "Mr. Arnold has clothed these charming and tender episodes in a verse whose smooth and graceful flow accords most happily with his subject, and whose Oriental imagery is so skillfully handled as to bring the Western comprehension en rapport with the Asiatic thought. . . . There are poems in this volume which will appeal to the popular imagination as strongly as did the 'Light of Asia.'"

Bainbridge, W. F. Self-giving: a story of Christian missions. Bost., D. Lothrop & Co., [1883]. 3-521 p. il. D. cl., $1.50.

Under the veil of fiction the author gives many valuable facts about foreign missions which he thinks helpful to the cause, and of interest and profit to the public. The story in itself is substantially a true one, and he was only prevented from incorporating its incidents in his two former works, "Around the world tour of missions" and "Along the lines at the front," because many of them were given to him in confidence, and could not be presented with the real names of the actors or narrators. So the reader is offered a most graphic tale of the East.

Baker, G. M., ed. Ballads of beauty. Bost., Lee & Shepard, 1883. 6-166 p. il. O. bds., $2.

Baker, G. M., ed. Ballads of bravery. Bost., Lee & Shepard, [1883]. 6-174 p. il. O. bds., $2.

Baker, G. M., ed. Ballads of home. Bost., Lee & Shepard, [1883]. 6-166 p. il. O. bds., $2.

The above three books are new issues of old favorite gift-books in new board covers of a rich design.

Besant, Walter. All in a garden fair: the simple story of three boys and a girl. N. Y., Harper, 1883. 73 p. Q. (Harper's Franklin sq. lib., no. 342.) pap., 20 c.

An English story of country life in the outskirts of London at the beginning of the present century. Contains some fine character-drawing and shows Walter Besant at his best.

Boner, J. H. Whispering pines: poems. N. Y., Brentano Bros., 1883. 167 p. D. pap., $1.

The Boston Gazette estimates this volume of poems as above the average of the verse that is poured forth. "It is true," it says, "that it says nothing new, and is not marked by any originality of style or of thought, but what it does say it says with grace, strength and delicacy. The description is easy, the diction fluent and the sentiment refined, and the work reflects great credit upon the skill and poetic taste of the author."

Browne, Irving. Elements of the law of domestic relations, and of employer and employed. Bost., Soule & Bugbee, 1883. 21+162 p. O. leatherette, net, $2; shp., 2.50.

"A sort of primer of the legal principles relating to the law of domestic relations," so we gather from Mr. Browne's preface. "An attempt to present a brief but comprehensive summary of the body of this law, as it is furnished in the great works of Mr. Bishop and Mr. Schouler, bearing the same title, and in Mr. Wood's excellent treatise on 'Master and servant.'"

Buswell, H. F., and Walcott, C. H. Practice and pleading in personal actions in the courts of Massachusetts. 2d ed., rev. and enl. Bost., G. B. Reed, 1883. 34+564 p. O. shp., net, $4.

Cobbett, W. The English grammar of W. Cobbett; carefully revised and annotated by Alfred Ayres. N. Y., Appleton, 1884. [1855] 254 p. S. cl., $1.

Cobbett's "Grammar," first published in London in 1802, "is probably the most readable grammar ever written," says Mr. Ayres, and further, that "for the purposes of education it is unrivalled." In preparing this edition the well-known author of those two popular little books, "The orthoepist" and "The verbalist," with which this book is issued uniform, calls attention—"1. To the points in which Cobbett's teachings differ from what is now considered the best usage; 2. To the few errors of diction found in the pages; and 3. To a better—because discriminating—use of the relative pronouns than we find either here, or anywhere else in modern literature—better than I met until very recently, have observed."

De Mille, Ja. A castle in Spain: a novel by E. A. Abbey. N. Y., Harper, 1883. 183 p. O. (Library of select novels, no. 103.) pap., 50 c.

During the time of the Carlist and Republican warfare in Spain, some years back, is the period chosen as the background of this story. Though an extraordinary and extremely improbable, it is full of fun, and with so much genuine spirit as to be quite entertaining. It deals with the adventures of five couples, mostly English, four being lovers, who are taken prisoners by the Carlists and kept in an old "castle in Spain." Their loves and the facile way in which they all transfer their affections and "change partners," are very well done. The publishers go back to the favorite old brown covers of the library of select novels," with this book.

French, Harry W. Gems of genius: famous painters and their pictures. Bost., Lee & Shepard, [1883]. 203 p. il. O. bds., $2.

New issue of an old favorite gift-book in new board cover of a rich design.

Georgia. Supreme Court reports, Sept. to Feb. term, '82. V. 68 [Ga. rep.], J. H. Ligon, rep. Atlanta, J. P. Harrison & Co., 1883. 911 p. O. shp., $5.

Gilman, Arthur. A history of the American people. Bost., D. Lothrop & Co., [1883] 19+668 p. map and il., O. cl., $2.50.

Mr. Gilman says in his preface he desires "to give a brief, how the country was first settled, what motives attracted the adventurers who left European civilization to plant colonies on our shores; how those colonies gradually learned that there was strength in union, and that it was their credit before the world, to be one nation; how they early fear that a republican form of government was adapted to a large country was dissipated; and how the whole land was gradually developed until its present position among the nations was reached." Printed in a clear type and with plenty of illustrations of noted buildings and the natural scenery of the different parts of the country.

Hayward, E. F. Patrice; her love and her life: a poem in four parts. Bost., Cupples, Ham & Co., 1883. 140 p. O. cl., $1.50.

By the author of "Ecce spiritus." "Tells a pretty story of humble life in Tennysonian blank verse. There is pleasing naturalness in the style and a marked freedom of affection in the sentiment. . . . Taken altogether, 'Patrice' may be pronounced a poem of far more than average merit, and worthy of cordial praise and esteem for the best in it."—Boston Gazette.

* In this list, the titles generally are verbatim transcriptions (according to the rule of the American Library Association) from books received. Books not received are indicated by a prefixed asterisk, and this office cannot be held responsible for the correctness of their record. This list will be repeated verbatim, with all the notices of the books received, in the TRADE LIST ANNUAL.

Johnson, S. Lives of the most eminent English poets, with critical observations on their works; [also] Notes corrective and explanatory, by Peter Cunningham, and a life of the author by T. Babington Macaulay. [New ed.] Bost., S. E. Cassino & Co., [1883]. 2 v. 22 +635; 648 p. D. cl., $3.

Jones, L. A. Treatise on the law of pledges, including collateral securities. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1883. 34+601 p. O. shp., $6.50.

Lorimer, G. C. Jesus, the world's Saviour; who he is, why he came, and what he did. Chic., S. C. Griggs & Co., 1883. 2+351 p. D. cl., $1.50.

The author evades the questions raised by Strauss and Renan, and does not write a biography after the manner of Neander, Geikie or Farrar, but treats the earthly ministry of Jesus as he thinks is required by the religious needs of his generation. He claims that too much is written to convince infidels, silence skeptics and satisfy the curious, and that he moral and spiritual lessons of Christ's life are too often set aside. From the standpoint he takes he writes an interesting book.

Michigan. Supreme Court reports, Oct. 7. '73-Jan. 27, '74, Hoyt Post, rep. 2d ed., annotated by J. L. Stoddard. V. 6 [Mich. rep., 23]. Chic., Callaghan & Co., 1883. 23+713 p. O. shp., $3.50.

Motley, J. Lothrop. Motley: prose passages from the works of John Lothrop Motley; for homes, libraries and schools; comp. by Josephine E. Hodgdon. N. Y., Harper, 1883. 11+179 p. il. and por., D. (Leaflets from standard authors.) pap., 60 c.

Taken from "The rise of the Dutch republic," "History of the United Netherlands," and "John of Barneveldt," the selections are well made, the subjects being of general interest. Opens with an interesting sketch of Motley's life.

Ozomdar, P. C. The Oriental Christ. Bost., G. H. Ellis, 1883. 193 p. O. cl., $1.25.

Thirteen studies of Christ, by an Oriental. Although they run counter to the orthodox conceptions of Christ and Christianity, they are in no sense antagonistic, being sympathetic and deeply devout. The author, Protap Chunder Ozomdar, a converted Hindu, is now visiting this country as a representative of the Brahma Somaj the new Church India. On the cover of the book is a design of the flag "The new dispensation." It displays a cross upon a hindu symbol and a crescent and star beneath it.

Outlines of sermons to children; with numerous anecdotes. N. Y., A. C. Armstrong & Son, 1884 [1883]. 2+300 p. O. (The clerical lib.) cl., $1.50.

These outlines of sermons are furnished by twenty-nine of the most prominent religious writers of the day. They are full of suggestions, and are intended for the clergy and students of all denominations. This volume contains 97 outlines of sermons for children.

Palmer, Ray. My faith looks up to thee; with designs by Lisbeth B. Comins. Bost., Lee & Shepard, 1884 [1883]. no paging, il. O. (Golden floral.) fringed, $1.75; cl., $1.50.

Now first issued in illustrated shape. Appears both in cloth and in the "Golden floral" binding. The design—a h. purple and white cluster of violets, heliotropes and morning glories, on a golden ground—is extremely pretty.

Patman, Emma Raymond. Central Africa, Japan and Fiji: a story of missionary enterprise, trials and triumphs. N. Y., American Tract Soc., [1883]. 6+296 p. il. D. cl. (corr. price), $1.25.

Pearce, Edmund Hamilton. That glorious song of old; il. by Alfred Fredericks. Bost., Lee & Shepard, [1883]. no paging, O. (Golden floral.) fringed, $1.75; cl., $1.50.

Added this year to the "Golden floral." The cover design is a vignette representing the Mother and Child in the city of Bethlehem. The floral decorations are pink and blue.

Taylor, W. M., D.D. Contrary winds, and other sermons. N. Y., A. C. Armstrong & Son, 1883. 372 p. O. cl., $1.75.

The twenty-four discourses presented in this volume were delivered in the ordinary course of Dr. Taylor's ministry at the Broadway Tabernacle. They have been chosen for perpetuation in book-form, Dr. Taylor remarks, "simply because of their bearing on topics of great present importance, and because of the testimonies to their helpfulness which I have received from many who heard them."

Thorpe, Rosa Hartwick. Curfew must not ring to-night. Bost., Lee & Shepard, [1883]. no paging, il. O. (Golden floral.) fringed, $1.75; cl., $1.50.

Added this season to the "Golden floral" series. Has a delicate design of morning-glories, apple-blossoms, etc.

Trollope, Anthony. An autobiography. N. Y., Harper, 1883. 9+329 p., por., D. cl., $1.25. Same, Q. (Harper's Franklin sq. lib., no. 341.) pap., 20 c.

The expressions of personal animosity which marred some of the recent memoirs of our great writers are not to be found in Mr. Trollope's genial and candid autobiography. He speaks most kindly and justly of his literary contemporaries, giving many pleasant reminiscences of them. His life is carried down to the year 1876, the events of the few years till his death, in 1882, being supplemented by his son. The minute account he gives of his methods of work, the time it took him to write his various novels, with the profits of each, is most interesting. His estimate of his own literary abilities is quite frank and also very fair. He does not hesitate to say which he thinks are his best books, and which of the characters he has created are the most to be admired.

Walker, J. The handy-book of object-lessons: from a teacher's note-book; and first and second series complete. Phil., J. B. Lippincott & Co., 1884 [1883]. 129 p. D. cl., $1.25.

The object of the compiler is to help teachers in finding suitable material for their lesson notes. The lessons are divided under the headings of matter and method, and a classification has been made that facilitates reference and enables the teacher to vary his subjects. It seems a thoroughly practical and much-needed manual.

Warner, Miss Susan. Stephen, M.D. N. Y., Rob. Carter & Bro., 1883. 3-644 p. D. cl., $1.75.

Miss Warner always writes a readable story. We are introduced to Stephen, M.D., at the age of ten, lying on the floor reading "Robinson Crusoe." His mother, a poor widow, worries herself into the grave and dies owing thirty dollars at the village store. Stephen hears the grocer speak of this when sent upon an errand and walks off from the village determined to earn his fortune and pay his mother's debt. He falls in with Mr. Hardenbrouck, the owner of a large furniture factory, and in time becomes business manager there, is disappointed in the love of Mr. Hardenbrouck's daughter, and goes to Yale College to study, where he determines to become a physician. He is last seen in a large hospital for poor people built by his own exertions. Stephen is a hero after Miss Warner's heart, strong and manly, and yet living out a Christian life to the very letter.

Wheeler, D. Hilton. By-ways of literature; or, essays on old things and new, in the customs, education, character, literature, and language of the English-speaking people. N. Y., Funk & Wagnalls, [1883]. 247 p. D. (Standard lib., no. 100.) pap., 25 c.

Author lately editor of the New York Methodist, and now President of the Allegheny College. The special subjects are A fourteenth century book for women; English girls and boys in the old times; Old education and modern; The Robin Hood ballads; The legends of King Arthur; Englishmen—their language and customs, etc.

Wilkinson, Sir J. Gardner. The manners and customs of the ancient Egyptians. New ed., rev. and corr. by S. Birch. In 3 v. V. 1 and 2. Bost., S. E. Cassino & Co., 1883. 28+510; 11+515 p. il. col. pl., O. cl., ea. $6; hf. cl., $10.

A new edition in three volumes from new plates of a celebrated work. The paper is fine, the type clear and bold, and the page altogether a very attractive one. Fully illustrated and with a number of colored plates. The handsome, substantial binding and the general excellence of the edition, make it a very desirable one for libraries.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

THE Bibliotheca Sacra is to follow the injunction, "Go West," and will henceforth be edited and published in Oberlin.

MRS. JESSIE BENTON FRÉMONT has a very entertaining paper in the November Wide Awake, entitled "My Arizona Class," in which she gives an account of her work in the Prescott School, at the time when General Frémont was Governor of Arizona. "A Brave Girl" is the title of the serial story which Miss Elizabeth Stuart Phelps is preparing for Wide Awake. The scene opens at Smith College.

The Magazine of Art begins a new volume with the December issue. In entering upon its seventh year of publication, the publishers state that no effort or expense will be spared on their part to make the magazine in the future, what it has been in the past, "the most widely esteemed magazine of its kind in existence." Its aim, as heretofore, will be the popularization of art and the gratification of the growing interest of all classes in whatever is beautiful and refined. It is not only for the artist and student, but for every cultivated reader who desires to keep informed on art and its progress in all branches and in all countries. Its scope embraces not only the pure ideal in painting and sculpture, but the practical—large space being devoted to decorative and industrial art, and the many forms in which art enters, or should enter, into our daily life.

BUSINESS NOTES.

CHICAGO, ILL.—Considerable surprise is felt at the closing up of Culver, Page, Hoynes & Co., one of the oldest and largest stationery houses West. It is impossible, at the present moment, to give authentic information concerning this action, but it is generally asserted that the sale to Mr. John Morris amounts to an assignment.

NEW YORK CITY.—George J. Coombes, after a number of years with Scribner & Wells, has opened a book-store at No. 5 East 17th St. He will supply current American literature and make a specialty of rare and curious second-hand books. His catalogue will be ready shortly.

NEW YORK CITY.—Marcus Ward & Co. will hereafter carry on business as a limited company under the firm-name of Marcus Ward & Co. Limited.

TORONTO.—N. Ure & Co. have disposed of their magazine and periodical business to H. & Co., 31 and 33 King St., West.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

MISS ANNA L. WARD has been named by several journals as the compiler of the new American adaptation of Bohn's "Dictionary of Quotations," just issued by T. Y. Crowell & Co. Miss Ward, it will be remembered, was one of the authors of the "Hoyt-Ward Cyclopædia of Quotations."

The Publishers' Weekly.

NOVEMBER 3, 1883.

PUBLISHERS are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, to insure correctness in the final entry.

The trade are invited to send "Communications" to the editor on any topic of interest to the trade, and as to which an interchange of opinion is desirable. Also, matter for "Notes and Queries" gratefully received.

In case of business changes, notification or card should be immediately sent to this office for entry under "Business Notes." New catalogues issued will also be mentioned when forwarded.

The publication of this number has been delayed in order to give the latest news, the extensive preparations for the "Christmas Number" making it impossible to issue the regular number of the 10th inst.

THE LUTHER BIOGRAPHIES.

Excerpt in the Boston Herald, Oct. 28.

MARTIN LUTHER seems to be the chief feature of the literature of the day. Publishers are training the capacities of their presses to get their lives and what not ready for the anniversary on the 10th of November. Some of them have gone so far as to bring out very slovenly publications, which have little more than the name of Luther on their title-page to recommend them. The strange part of this is that the five books pronounced or already published are all by the same man, Prof. Julius Köstlin, and founded on one book. At least two years ago Prof. Köstlin wrote a life of Luther that was at once accepted by the authority on matters of Lutheran history. A short time ago he prepared a popular edition of this somewhat voluminous work, to which much important matter was added in the way of illustration. A number of portraits that had never been touched by an engraver's tool were found and reproduced and a fac-simile of the famous bull that excommunicated Luther, a copy of one of the "indulgences" against which he waged war, a page from his Bible interlined with his own autograph, a copy of his will, and no end to interesting bits. A translation of this work has been made under the supervision of the author, and it is this edition that will be published here, with all its illustrations, fac-similes, and portraits, by Messrs. Charles Scribner's Sons simultaneously with its appearance in London. It will be issued as near the 10th of November as possible. The Lutheran Society of Philadelphia, impatient of delay, and appreciative of the value of timeliness, has brought out a cheap-up edition of this book, edited by John D. Morris, of Philadelphia, and translated by various hands so as to save time. The variety of hands not added to the literary value of the work, having no arrangement with the German publisher, it was impossible to get the illustrations, which are an important feature of the final, without going to great expense. So they have thrown in all the cuts they could find bearing any relation to Luther or his time, and they are in the market before the authorized edition. When Prof. Köstlin made the edition of which I speak, it took so well that he was at once solicited to bring out an abridged edition of his book, but having, perhaps, got a little tired of writing lives of Luther by this time, he engaged some one else to make the abridgment under his supervision, and it is this that Messrs. Cassell & Co. announce. Messrs. Funk & Wagnalls have also another from the same source, so it will be seen that but for Prof. Julius Köstlin we would be in a bad way for Luther material. There are other books on this subject, however. I have before me a new edition of the "Homes and Haunts of Luther," by Dr. John Stoughton, which may be read to advantage in connection with Köstlin's life. Dr. Stoughton has travelled carefully over Luther's footsteps and gathered illustrations of all the places that may now be seen. And here is another Luther book of a different sort, "Luther and the Cardinals," a historic biographical tale, by Julie Sutter. Still another Luther work is being prepared by Dr. Leonard Bacon for the Messrs. Scribner. It is the "Luther Hymn-Book," and gives the words and music of Luther's hymns, some 36 in all, taken from original sources. The words are given in German as well as English.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

ROBERTS BROS. have in preparation the life of "Samuel Sharpe," the famous Egyptologist and translator of the Bible, by P. W. Clayden.

DODD, MEAD & Co. will publish shortly a paper-covered edition of "The Schönberg-Cotta Family," similar to E. P. Roe's "Barriers Burned Away."

WILLIAM WOOD & Co. will send, on receipt of a two-cent stamp, to the purchasers of the U. S. Pharmacopoeia of 1880, a list of the corrections since made therein.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS call attention to the fact that the price of their Geoffrey Crayon edition of Irving's works, per volume, is $3., not $2.50, as it was erroneously printed in their advertisement in the last issue of the WEEKLY.

"IT IS NOT OFTEN," says the Christian Union, "that an American book about England gets such hearty commendation and appreciation from English critics as Mr. Carnegie's 'American Four-in-Hand in Britain' has received."

T. Y. CROWELL & Co. report that the sale of Abbott's juvenile series is meeting with remarkable success. The firm has all it can do in filling orders for the same. The present edition is very attractively gotten up and deserves the success it enjoys.

A. D. T. WORTHINGTON & Co., Hartford, have published, by subscription, a most interesting book entitled "Our Famous Women," comprising biographies of the most prominent women of America. The work is fully illustrated with portraits.

W. J. BARTLETT & Co., Boston, have just published a new edition of "A Practical Commentary on the Gospel according to St. Matthew," by James Morison, D.D. The work, which has been out of print for some time, has been carefully revised.

CUMMING & BRINKERHOFF, 219 E. 15th Street, N. Y., have accepted the general agency for H.

R. Meyer's (of Liverpool) celebrated telegraphic cipher codes, comprising Anglo-American Cotton Code, with and without supplement, Commercial Telegraph Code, International Telegraph Code, Liverpool Cotton Code, edition "A," and edition "B."

LITTLE, BROWN & Co., Boston, publish this week "The Addresses and Orations of the late Alexander Hamilton Bullock, Governor of Massachusetts from 1866-69," to which has been added a valuable memoir by Senator George F. Hoar. They have nearly ready "Greenleaf's Evidence" (14th edition), which has been carefully revised by Simon Greenleaf Crosswell.

"THE War of the Bachelors," the New Orleans novel by "Orleanian," which has been very favorably received by the press, was printed in New Orleans for the author, and nearly all the copies were taken by subscription. The author is here, seeking a publisher to place his work before the general reading public, in proper form. His address is "Orleanian, care of C. W. Clifton, No. 200 West 56th Street, City."

P. BLAKISTON, SON & Co. will soon publish the second volume of their series of Technological Hand-books, edited by J. Gardner. The title will be "The Dyer and Bleacher." This will be closely followed by a work entitled "Syphilis and Pseudo-Syphilis," by Alfred Cooper; also by George Armatage's "Veterinarian's Pocket Remembrancer," which will contain concise directions for the treatment of urgent or rare cases, embracing semiology, diagnosis, prognosis, surgery, therapeutics, detection of poisons, hygiene, etc.

HENRY HOLT & Co. are about to start an American Novel series. The first book is entitled "A Latter Day Saint," and will appear very soon. They have in press "Captain Phil," a new book for boys by M. M. Thomas, which relates a boy's experience in the Western Army during the Civil War, illustrated with eleven full-page pictures. A somewhat similar book, to be published by the same house, is "The Drummer-Boy"—the story of a boy of the French auxiliary army in the American Revolution, by Louis Rousselet, translated by W. J. Gordon, with twelve full-page and many minor illustrations.

D. LOTHROP & Co. have just issued "A Family Flight through Spain," by Rev. E. E. Hale and Miss Susan Hale, in a handsome quarto volume, fully illustrated; "Through Spain on Donkey-back," a volume of one hundred excellent drawings of Spanish life of to-day, with explanatory notes by W. Parker Bodfish; "Decorative Plaques," with exquisite designs by G. F. Barnes, and verses by Mary E. Wilkins; "A History of the American People," by Arthur Gilman, A. M.; and "The Young Folks' Life of Washington," by E. E. Brown, an attractive volume containing many new facts hitherto unpublished.

ROBERTS BROS. have just ready "The Story of My Heart: My Autobiography," by Richard Jefferies, author of "The Gamekeeper at Home," a speculative work regarding the future state, admirably written, and partaking somewhat of the character of "A Little Pilgrim"; "A Round Dozen of Stories," by Susan Coolidge, a charming collection of children's stories; and "Firelight Stories," by Louisa Chandler Moulton, author of the famous "Bedtime Stories." They have also ready three new volumes in their new Classic series—"Vicar of Wakefield," Voltaire's "Life of Charles XII," "Paul and Virginia"—each volume illustrated and neatly and uniformly bound.

THE INTERNATIONAL NEWS CO. call the attention of the trade to their handsome juveniles entitled The Showman's Series. This is somewhat of a novelty in picture-books, the illustrations being cut out and mounted so as to form living pictures and scenes in perspective. The four volumes, which may be had separately, are entitled "Living Pictures," "The Mammal Menagerie," "The Theatre Picture-Book," and "The Children's Year: Songs for all the Seasons," by B. B. Valentine. They have also recently received an interesting book for children, in W. Hageberg's "Manual of Zoology," embracing illustrations of the animal world in its most prominent types, elegantly bound in five volumes, with illuminated covers, and a handsome box of colored pictures with each volume. The special feature of this Zoology is that children have to paste each picture into the space left open for that purpose in the book. All the pictures are numbered corresponding with the numbers of spaces left open for them in the book. By pasting each picture into the space bearing the number of the picture, the children practically make up their own Zoology, which is both amusing and instructive. The pictures are of the same kind and quality as those in general use for scrap-books, and are nicely colored. The volumes, each treating a different species, may be had separately.

MR. J. C. DERBY, whose interview with the Boston Herald's correspondent we reprinted in the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY under the heading "A Veteran Publisher" (October 13), has been induced to write his autobiography. G. W. Carleton & Co. will publish it, under the title, "Fifty Years a Publisher." Among the well-known persons with whom Mr. Derby has been in friendly terms, and of whom he tells numerous anecdotes, are Nathaniel Hawthorne, N. P. Willis, W. H. Seward, Thurlow Weed, Horace Greeley, Jefferson Davis, William Cullen Bryant, Washington Irving, W. M. Thackeray, Fred S. Collins, George Bancroft, Bayard Taylor, Henry Ward Beecher, Harriet Beecher Stowe, Alice and Phoebe Cary, Augusta J. Evans Watson, Gail Hamilton, Rev. W. H. Milner, James Parton, Chevalier Wikoff, Miles O'Reilly, and Artemus Ward. Incidents and anecdotes connected with his intercourse with the following well-known publishers will make the volume of especial interest to the trade: Harper & Bros.; D. Appleton & Co.; Wiley & Putnam; Ticknor & Fields; H. O. Houghton & Co.; A. D. F. Randolph; Scribner, Armstrong & Co.; Geo. W. Carleton; Robert Carter; Ivison, Phinney & Co.; J. B. Lippincott; S. S. Tousey; C. S. Francis & Co.; J. S. Redwood; Collins, Keese & Co.; McElrath & Bangs; A. J. Barnes & Co.; Phillips, Sampson & Co.; Carey & Hart. Among the members of the press with whom Mr. Derby had read many anecdotes and items of interest will be given the following: Henry J. Raymond, George Jones, Robert Bonner, John Bigelow, F. S. Godwin, James G. Bennett, Sr., George R. Ledy, George W. Childs, and others. There is no doubt that with Mr. Derby's experience and his felicitous pen a most interesting volume may be expected.

EDMUND GOLDSMID, 12 Castle Street, Edinburgh, invites subscription to his "Bibliotheca Curiosa," "a collection of curious and out-of-the-way books, intended for the historian, antiquarian, and litterateur."

MR. QUARITCH'S dinner-sale on October 5 at the Freemasons' Tavern, says the London Acad- emy, "deserves mention if only for the curious fact that one of the prominent buyers was Gen. McClurg, formerly a soldier of distinction in Sherman's army (to the history of whose famous march he has recently made an important contribution), now a bookseller in Chicago."

ISSUED BY

[ALL ENTERPRISING BOOKSELLERS.]

The subscription edition of the ILLUSTRATED CHRISTMAS NUMBER of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY will be issued as early in November as possible, to give time for the imprint editions to reach all dealers three weeks before Christmas at the latest.

The Number will as usual present the finest specimen illustrations from the NEW HOLI-DAY BOOKS, with special articles on the leading works, a full descriptive summary of books and stationery novelties, reference price-lists covering the ILLUSTRATED WORKS, BOOKS FOR THE YOUNG, and other CHOICE BOOKS published during 1883, etc., etc. Every endeavor will be made to surpass the issues of previous years, pronounced in 1880, by the N. Y. Tribune, one of the most tasteful and attractive catalogues, surpassing even the achievements of the English 'in the same line'; and even at an earlier date, by the German "Book Trade Magazine" "the most attractive publication of the kind issued in the book-producing countries."

The imprint edition (intended for distribution by dealers with their sole imprint) will be issued immediately after the issue of the Trade edition, under the title of "CHRISTMAS CATALOGUE," as given above.

The local bookseller can add half as much again to his holiday trade by properly calling attention of the public to his goods. For this purpose, the best means is the circulation of a handsome, interesting, and comprehensive CHRISTMAS CATALOGUE, which is received with assurance by those to whom it is given or sent, as itself a picture-book of no little value; and descriptions of, and illustrations from books, at once arouse the desire to purchase the books themselves.

No better investment can be made by the bookseller who wants to make the most of his holiday trade.

Orders filled in the order of size of edition, largest first, and then of receipt. As the order is specially made for this issue, orders should be received at once, as the filling of later orders cannot be guaranteed.

The thick paper edition of the CHRISTMAS CATALOGUE will be supplied as follows:

SINGLE COPIES (postpaid),	35 CTS.	PER 100 COPIES (with imprint),	$20 00
------------------------------------	---------	---	---------

The thin paper edition, with dealers' imprints, will be supplied at the following rates:

PER 100 COPIES,	$10 00	PER 500 COPIES,	$38 00

LIVE BOOKS FOR YOUNG PEOPLE

BY THE BEST WRITERS.

A NEW STORY BY OLIVER OPTIC.
Who is "The Universal Favorite among the Boys."

Snug Harbor;

or, The Champlain Mechanics. Illustrated, $1.25.

"This is the second volume of the Boat-Builders' Series, and the author keeps the promise he made in the first, and places "Dory," the hero of ALL ADRIFT, in the way of obtaining a great deal of useful information regarding the building of boats and the young mechanics' common operations, amid an ever-varying series of adventures, which makes the story as attractive as anything written by OLIVER OPTIC, who is just as popular with the boys of to-day as he was with their fathers a quarter of a century ago."—Commercial.

TWO NEW STORIES BY J. T. TROWBRIDGE.
Who "stands in the front rank of writers for the young."

Phil and His Friends.

Illustrated, $1.25.

"To open the pages of PHIL AND HIS FRIENDS is to be sure of two or three hours' pleasant and profitable reading. It reads like a story of real life, such as might happen any day in the country, where boys are boys and girls are girls. It is, on the whole, THE ~~ONE~~ SINGLE STORY THAT MR. TROWBRIDGE HAS WRITTEN."—Mail and Express, N. Y.

"Very interesting, abounding in adventure and delightful to all boys."—Sunday Budget.

The Tinkham Brothers' Tide-Mill.

Illustrated, $1.25. Nearly Ready.

"That Mr. Trowbridge understood the boy-nature, everybody knew years ago when he was writing his Father Brighthope Stories; but he understands it better now than he did then, or rather in a larger and more graphic way. THE TINKHAM BROTHERS' TIDE-MILL is one of the strongest stories ever written, and has a plot which will hold every reader interested from beginning to end.

By SOPHIE MAY,
Author of "Little Prudy" Stories, already read by millions!

Flaxie's Kittyleen.

By Sophie May. Illustrated, 75 cents.

This is the latest volume of the famous Flaxie Fizzle Stories. The mere mention of SOPHIE MAY'S name is all that is necessary to convince the little folks that a rich treat awaits them in this last work. She has found more readers among girls than any other female writer living in this country.

By MISS A. M. DOUGLAS,
The author of the famous "Kathie Stories," etc.

Santa Claus Land.

By Amanda M. Douglas. Illustrated, $1.

The warp and woof of this fantastical story are peculiarly such as delight younger readers, who have not yet outgrown the fable of Old Kriss Kringle. The book is as charming in its way as "Alice's Adventures in Wonderland," and a deal more realistic in its incidents and scenes. The demand for Christmas reading will be amply satisfied by SANTA CLAUS LAND.

THE EVENING STAR.	THE LIGHTHOUSE.	FALLS.
CADENABBIA.	THE BELLS OF LYNN.	MAD RIVER.

Possesses a peculiar interest from the association of father and son and of two kindred arts. . . The cuts are admirably engraved, and the book throughout is of fine workmanship. — New York Evening Post.

This is a beautiful book. Every one of the illustrations is good, there is no monotony in them and they add to the value and significance of the text. — Boston Advertiser.

The Bay of Seven Islands, AND OTHER POEMS.

By JOHN GREENLEAF WHITTIER. With Portrait. 16mo, gilt top, $1.00.

Mr. Whittier gathers in this volume the poems he has written since the publication of "The King's Missive" in 1851. Many of these have appeared in the "Atlantic Monthly" and elsewhere, but they will be greeted no less heartily on this account in a new book from a poet whose volumes are far too few, and whose words are cherished with peculiar reverence and affection.

The Hawthorne Portfolio A COLLECTION OF ETCHINGS.

Printed on Japanese paper. Edition limited to 125 copies. Price, $15.00.

This collection of etchings, which first appeared in the Edition de Luxe of Hawthorne's Works, is a unique tribute to the genius of Hawthorne, as well as an interesting example of the various styles of the best American etchers.

MICHAEL ANGELO.

A DRAMATIC POEM.

By HENRY WADSWORTH LONGFELLOW.

The central idea of this poem is the love of Michael Angelo for Vittoria Colonna, and, upon the publication of the work some months after Longfellow's death, it was at once recognized as one of the noblest of his longer pieces. Throughout the poem there is a tender and pathetic charm, which is a peculiar characteristic of Longfellow's work.

The illustrations are from designs by the following eminent American artists, reproduced by the equally skillful engravers named below:—

ARTISTS:

SHIRLAW.

DE THULSTRUP

RITTER.

WENDELL.

ROSS TURNER.

MILLET

S. L. SMITH.

HOVENDEN.

ENGRAVERS:

KRUELL.

CLOSSON.

JOHNSON.

FRENCH.

ANDREW.

KRAUSE.

SYLVESTER.

BERNSTROM.

From "Michael Angelo."

Great care has been taken in the archæological correctness of the illustrations, and several famous portraits of Michael Angelo and Vittoria Colonna have been admirably reproduced. The illustrations are numerous, many of them being full-page, and the volume forms one of the most superb gift-books ever published. The book is bound in a new and unique style, and is of quarto size. Price, in cloth, $7.50; in full morocco, $10.00.

THE NEW TESTAMENT

OF OUR LORD AND SAVIOUR JESUS CHRIST. With engravings on wood, from designs of Fra Angelico, Pietro Perugino, Francesco Francia, Lorenzo di Credi, Fra Bartolommeo, Titian, Raphael, Gaudenzio Ferrari, Daniel di Volterra, and others. In one volume, royal quarto, cloth gilt, 540 pages. Price, $10.00.

In this edition of the New Testament—the King James version—all the incidents in the four Gospels are illustrated from designs after the old masters. Not only is it an exquisite form for the proper presentation of the books of the New Testament, but as a work of art it is especially valuable and instructive, as the greatest masterpieces of art have been devoted to the representation of religious subjects.

Each page is ornamented with borders and vignettes, many of which have been copied from illuminated manuscripts in the British Museum.

AN EDITION DE LUXE.

THE WORKS OF JONATHAN SWIFT.

With Notes and a Life of the Author, by SIR WALTER SCOTT. In nineteen volumes. 8vo, $4.00 each.

This is a careful reprint, without change, of the standard edition of Swift, which for many years has been both scarce and expensive. The edition is limited to 250 copies for America, and the type is distributed after the printing of each sheet. It is printed from a new font of type, on paper of the finest quality.

Subscriptions will be received through Booksellers, or direct by the Publishers. Each copy is numbered, and delivered to Subscribers in the order in which their subscriptions are received.

In the Carquinez Woods.

A NEW CALIFORNIAN STORY.

By BRET HARTE. "Little Classic" style. 18mo, $1.00.

All of Bret Harte's old charm is found again in the story, whose title is in itself auspicious. It is up to the level of his very best, and will bear re-reading. . . . It is well to remember the greatness of Mr. Harte's gift, and the scarcity of writers who can construct such fresh and absorbing scenes of Western life. We all owe him a great debt. — New York Times.

A Roundabout Journey.

By CHARLES DUDLEY WARNER, author of "In the Levant," etc. 16mo, $1.50.

Travel sketches, gathered during Mr. Warner's last tour in Europe, and written in his inimitable manner.

Poems for Children.

By CELIA THAXTER, author of "Among the Isles of Shoals," etc. Illustrated, small 4to.

These poems, comprising all that Mrs. Thaxter has written relating to childhood, are most engaging, and the book is rendered additionally attractive by Miss Plympton's graceful illustrations.

STERLING HOLIDAY BOOKS. 1883-84.

JUST PUBLISHED BY

A. C. ARMSTRONG & SON.

History of Art in Chaldæa, Assyria, and Phœnicia.

By GEORGES PERROT and CHAS. CHIZEZ. Translated and Edited by Walter Armstrong, B.A., with more than 500 illustrations (many full-page and some double-page, colored). 2 vols., imperial 8vo, uniform with "HISTORY OF ART IN ANCIENT EGYPT." Handsomely bound in cloth, gilt top, $15.50; half levant, $22.50. The work of these distinguished writers on Egyptian Art, issued in sumptuous style last year, achieved a remarkable success and has been accepted by the highest authorities as the standard work on the subject. The new work from the same hands, on "Chaldæa, Assyria, and Phœnicia," is even more important and interesting, covering as it does the ORIGINS of ALL MODERN ART and ARCHITECTURE, and disclosing to modern eyes the VERY FOUNDATIONS of CIVILIZATION.

The whole subject has been approached in the same vital spirit and is presented with the same breadth of treatment which gave the work on Egypt not only Scientific Value, but remarkable popular interest. Like Egyptian Art, the new work is profusely illustrated with many engravings, steel-plates, etc., many of them full-page illustrations and some of them beautifully colored.

It is safe to say that no work of this season will surpass it in value and general interest!

CHRISTMAS HYMN.

"It was the calm and silent night," Alfred Domett's favorite Christmas hymn, has been selected by the Messrs. Lee & Shepard as one of their leading holiday gift-books. It is not only admirably adapted to the purposes of illustration, but is fortunate in having a theme specially appropriate for the holiday season. Christ's birth in the lowly stable of Bethlehem is the climax to which the poet leads after a graphic picture of Rome abandoned to pleasure and luxury, and haughtily indifferent to the rest of the world—

"What wrecked the Roman what befell
A paltry province far away,
In the solemn midnight,
Centuries ago?"

The designs, made by Mr. W. S. Taylor, cover, with the verses, fourteen pages, and present with much grace and vigor the opposite scenes described in the poem. The specimen page which we offer at the right hand is of a more purely decorative order than the majority of the illustrations. The beauty of the composition, however, will make it very generally acceptable. The little landscape which serves as a vignette on this page, with its guiding-star pointing to "that province far away," is a good example of the artist's clever, compact sketching. We regret we cannot give any of the figure-pieces illustrating Roman life, or the Christmas picture of the Mother and Child in the stable's lowly manger,

"For in that stable lay new-born
The peaceful Prince of Earth and Heaven."

The volume is handsomely printed on one side only of rich heavy paper, and is uniformly bound. Lee & Shepard's well-known and popular "Series of Illustrated Hymns and Poems." It is illustrated both in cloth and in the dress of the favorite "Golden Floral." The illuminated fringed cover of the latter is brilliant with a characteristic Christmas design. For a moderate price we do not know any book of the season so desirable and appropriate as this very attractive little volume.

The following verse inspired the emblematical page reproduced on the right hand:

"It was the calm and silent night:
Seven hundred years and fifty-three
Had Rome been growing up to might,
And now was queen of land and sea.
No sound was heard of clashing wars;
Peace brooded o'er the hushed domain;
Apollo, Pallas, Jove, and Mars
Unmolested their ancient reign,
In the solemn midnight,
Centuries ago!"

O NO SOVND WAS HEARD
- OF CLASHING WARS;
PEACE BROODED O'ER -
- THE -
- MUSHED DOMAIN;

JEAN INGELOW'S "HIGH TIDE."

THE beautiful lyrical ballad of "The High Tide on the Coast of Lincolnshire, 1571," is off by the Messrs. Roberts Brothers in a newly illustrated edition, as one of their most important holiday books. The designs have been made by Church, Harry Fenn, St. John Harper, Se Rogers, and other artists of equal note. The thrilling and touching verses in which Jean Ingel pictures the cruel tide which overflowed the quaint old town of Boston, in England, in the sixteenth century, lend themselves especially to illustration. The ballad is both the story of a tragedy and a narrative of a disastrous event which still lives in the legends of Lincolnshire.

Jean Ingelow was born in the old city of Boston, under the very shadow of the "belfry tower of St. Botolph, "where Lindis winds away." Her childhood was spent near the sea, whose songs and ships and sailors' songs were a daily delight to her. It is not strange she writes with such realism, or has caught so happily the Lincolnshire dialect. It is the pen of genius though that glorified simple, homely events. Mrs. Harriet Prescott Spofford says truly, "I can now recall lovelier or more touching verses than those of 'The High Tide,' which thrill with pathos and melody."

That the artists have been impressed with the real spirit of the ballad may be seen from the illustrations which we have reproduced. The opposite picture, "My sonne's faire wife, Elizabeth," is a realization of the heroine.

"I shall never hear her more
By the reedy Lindis shore,
'Cusha!' 'cusha!' 'cusha!' calling
Ere the early dews be falling."

The little vignette at the top of this page illustrates the line, "That flow strewed wrecks a the grass."

Some of the other subjects which find very happy interpretation are, "St. Botolph's Church," "The Belfry Towers," "I sat and spun within the doore," "Then some looked uppe into sky," "Then beaten foam flew round about," and "Upon the roof we sate that night." There are altogether thirty-four illustrations, many of them full-page pictures; others are designs woven with the verses. All are graceful and beautiful and add greatly to the interest of the book. Some facts descriptive of the ballad, and elucidating obscure passages and words, with pictorial representations of Miss Ingelow's home, Shirbeck Church, and John Cotton's house, are given in an appendix. The extreme beauty of the mechanical execution, and the happy combination of popular text and characteristic illustration, cannot fail to secure for this volume a wide appreciation at the hands of holiday bookbuyers.

"'CUSHA!' 'CUSHA!' 'CUSHA!' CALLING."

TENNYSON'S "PRINCESS."

"THE PRINCESS" is one of the most delightful and melodious poems that "the representative poet of the recent era," as Mr. Stedman characterizes the English Laureate, has written. The exquisite beauty of the narrative, the fantastic mingling of the real and unreal as seen in the wedding of the theories and arguments of to-day with mediæval scenes and characters, its noble ladies and gallant knights, and contrasting pictures of modern garden-parties and tournaments and combats of the middle ages, produce an effect as illusive and entrancing as any poetical writer has ever achieved. Taine has called "The Princess" "a fairy tale as sentimental as those of Shakespeare." It is in truth a pretty masquerade, as dainty, airy, graceful, and arcadian as "As You Like it." "Sentimental," English hearts would scarcely acknowledge it, for though passion has no place in its pure story, the emotion is neither forced nor artificial, while a strong undercurrent of satire counteracts any tendency to excessive poetical sweetness. The Princess Ida is a figure full of strength and fire, a beautiful intellectual woman who struggles for her sex's supremacy, and is overcome by love. The classic halls and wooded groves wherein she presides, the imaginary landscapes which smile or frown upon her, the knights who do battle for her, and the lovely students who surround her, offer a succession of pictures which needed only a graphic and appreciative pencil to reproduce.

The Messrs. James R. Osgood & Co., who have made "The Princess" their leading holiday book, have overlooked no advantage in their embellishments of this attractive and popular work. The most noted American artists have made designs for it, and the best engravers have aided in reproducing the illustrations, under the immediate supervision of Mr. A. V. S. Anthony. Among the artists are the names of Church, Dielman, Harry Fenn, Mary Hallock Foote, Fredericks, Frost, St. John Harper, and L. S. Ipsen; and among the engravers, John Andrew & Son, Anthony, Atwood, Closson, Dana, Russell & Richardson, and many others. Our illustrations offer but an imperfect idea of the fine work in this beautiful volume. The picture on the right-hand page, "Sweet Girl-Graduates," is a charming example of the many graceful figure-pieces. It is one of Mr. St. John Harper's designs. We regret space will not allow us also to show one of the poetically treated landscapes in which the volume abounds, and which carry out so perfectly the poet's graceful text. Mr. L. S. Ipsen, famous as a designer of arabesques, contributes a number of head and tail pieces, which are striking combinations of strength and delicacy. All are familiar with the lovely little songs that mark the divisions of this poem. A special treatment has been accorded them. "As thro' the land at eve we went," "Sweet and low, "The splendor falls on castle walls," "Ask me no more," and others equally well known, have each a separate page given it, being surrounded by an emblematical design of flowers, figures, and decorative lines. These pages are among the most artistic in the book.

And one said smiling, "Pretty were the sight
If our old halls could change their sex, and flaunt
With prudes for proctors, dowagers for deans,
And sweet girl-graduates in their golden hair.
I think they should not wear our rusty gowns,
But move as rich as Emperor-moths, or Ralph
Who shines so in the corner; yet I fear,
If there were many Lilies in the brood,
However deep you might embower the nest,
Some boy would spy it."

"THE MERRY ADVENTURES OF ROBIN HOOD."

THE doings of Robin Hood and his merry men permeate all the ballad literature of England. No character in history or fiction has had more romantic adventures and dashing episodes attributed to him than the bold Earl of Huntingdon, prince of robbers and outlaws. Most of these daring deeds are no doubt legendary, but all have such a joyful, merry ring, such a freedom from care and restraint, such a flavor of woods and blue sky, that old and young are equally fascinated with them.

Mr. Howard Pyle has made for the Christmas holiday season a work, both written and illustrated by him, in which he has gathered from these old ballads and legends a consecutive story of Robin Hood's career from his first misstep with the king's foresters, making him an outlaw, to his death at Kirklees Nunnery, in fair Yorkshire, in 1247, at the good old age of 87. It is right merry reading, preserving as far as possible the quaint phraseology without the form of the ballad. Robin Hood not only figures in it, but his right-hand man, Little John, the good Friar Tuck, gay Will Scarlet, Allan-a-dale, the Sheriff of Nottingham, and other characters as familiar to the very youngest readers as household words.

Mr. Pyle has not only reproduced these merry outlaws in their haunts in Sherwood Forest with his pen, but with his pencil likewise, creating a series of some of the boldest and most characteristic figure drawings made by an American artist for many years. Every eventful scene in the narrative is commemorated in full-page pictures of unusual force, spirit, and originality. Indeed every artistic detail of the work must be credited to Mr. Pyle—the elaborate chapter-headings and tail-pieces, the initials, the ornamental titles, being all noteworthy examples of the form of decoration he has adopted throughout. The graceful vignette above tells its own story. The illustration on the opposite page represents Little John, in the disguise of a friar's robe, out in search of adventures. He falls in with three pretty lasses going to Tuxford market to sell eggs. He carries their eggs for them to Tuxford, and takes a kiss from each maiden as his reward. His subsequent adventures are equally laughable, and as deliciously improbable.

The Messrs. Charles Scribner's Sons, who offer this fine work as their leading gift-book, have spared neither expense nor trouble to make it one of the greatest successes of the season. It is beautifully and carefully printed on rich heavy paper, with ample margin, and put up in a unique binding from the author's designs.

CASSELL'S "MAGAZINE OF ART, 1883."

ART has taken such rapid strides with us during the last decade, that it has become an absolute necessity, if one would retain one's place in cultured society, to keep pace with its progress. Next to the study of original work—the privilege only of those of wealth and leisure—the best method of learning what painters, sculptors, decorative and other art workers are doing the world over, is a trustworthy medium which places before us correct representation with critical description of their important works. Such a medium is Cassell's "Magazine of Art." The elegant bound volume for 1883, which is designed by the Messrs. Cassell & Co. for a holiday gift-book, has prompted our remarks. For five succeeding years we have been impressed with the richness and artistic value of the contents of the magazine, but the volume for this year seems even fuller and stronger in interest than the preceding ones. Every one desiring a résumé of art matters in all branches during the current year should possess this work and follow up its possession by a subscription to the incoming year.

Some of the leading papers are, "Artists' Homes," describing and illustrating Hubert Herkomer's place at Bushey, Herts; "Millet as an Art-Critic;" "The Graphic Arts;" "Byways of Book Illustration;" "Art in the Nursery;" "An American Palace," presenting views of the inside and exterior of Mr. W. H. Vanderbilt's house; "Rossetti as a Painter;" "A Dreamer of Dreams—Gustave Doré;" "Bastien-Lepage—Painter and Psychologist;" and "American Pictures in the Salon." Under "Current Art" are given the various successes of the Paris and London Salons of this year, and under "Elton Ware," "Vallauris and its Allies," information regarding two rare kinds of pottery. Our decorative head-piece is a specimen of the beautiful Vallauris faience with landscape decorations manufactured by M. Clement Massier, one of the most successful of modern keramists. The engraving on the opposite page, "At the Golden Gate," is from a picture by Val-Prinsep, A.R.A.* It is a charming study of a sultana, standing rebuked before the golden portals of some tyrant's sanctum. Her drapery falls in most graceful folds, and in true Oriental richness. The languid beauty of the figure recalls the Rossetti school, of which Mr. Prinsep was an acolyte in his youthful days—one of England's famous painters, whose name has appeared in the Royal Academy exhibitions since 1876.

Beside the profuse text illustrations which accompany every paper, there are over fifty full-page engravings, with a very fine etching, "Maiden Dreams," etched by Lalauze after a picture by George L. Seymour. The titles of a few of the engravings are, "Sheer Hulks," from a picture by Elchanon Vorveer; "My Model," by Madrazo; "Il Ramoscello" and "Rose Triplex," by Dante Gabriel Rossetti; "Pauvre Fauvette," by Bastien-Lepage; "Henry Irving as Hamlet," from the statue by E. Onslow Ford; and "The Ferry on the Fiord," by A. Askevold. The beautiful execution of the engraving and printing in this work, with its storehouse of artistic treasures, make it one that may safely be recommend to all holiday bookbuyers.

* Both engravings (which are cut down to come within this page) show to better advantage in the book.

AT THE GOLDEN GATE.

"HISTORY OF SCULPTURE."

A VERY important work that has been made ready for the holidays is Lucy M. Mitchell's "History of Sculpture," published in sumptuous style by Dodd, Mead & Co. At first sight the work bears the impress of hard and patient study, and as page after page is read with the attention and delight that are inspired and held by the grand subject and its artistic treatment, we feel more and more conscious of the strength employed in the prosecution of this effort to describe, classify, and group the sculptural monuments of the different nations of antiquity.

The historical method pursued enables the author to give a fair comparison between cruder and riper works, to appreciate excellences wherever found, and to grasp the power and significance of the highest achievements of the great artistic past.

The geographical element and its influence is also wisely used, each country being first treated by itself, and its artistic works afterward compared with the contemporary art of other regions. Upon this historico-geographical plan the general index has been prepared, the order of references following the course of history.

The sources used in preparing this work have been literary and monumental. The literature comprises the Greek and Roman records and the works of modern scholars, from Winckelmann down to the leading archaeologists of the day. The monuments have been studied directly from originals as far as possible, and when impracticable, the best casts and photographic productions have been used. Knowing how inadequately description can take the place of representation, great efforts have been made to secure suitable illustrations for this valuable book. Six phototype plates are inserted, and twenty plates entitled "Selections from Ancient Sculpture," prepared by Albert Frisch, of Berlin, are included in a complementary portfolio. Besides this there are upward of two hundred and fifty wood-engravings, a large number of which have been prepared under the author's guidance by the skilled artists of the Century Magazine, and also some excellent outline engravings done by Peter Meurer, of Berlin.

All the world-renowned libraries and museums have been studied, many of them under the direction of their distinguished librarians and archaeologists; and the author makes very graceful acknowledgment of all the kindness and assistance rendered her.

The publishers, aided by their experience in the line of art publication, have fallen in no way behind the author in patience and industry in their share of the great undertaking of bringing to the mechanical excellences, without which a work of this kind, no matter how full of intrinsic value, might fail of a successful interpretation of its subject. They have shown generosity as well as judgment in their efforts to procure the best workmanship in the many difficult details of construction, and the result is a royal octavo volume of literary and artistic treasures that can deservedly take its place among the most valuable of the Christmas publications.

FIGHTING PERSIAN

“RED-LETTER DAYS ABROAD.”

SUNNY Spain, the land of the orange palm, Ober Ammergau, the scene of the Passion Play, and the two great Russian cities, Moscow and St. Petersburg, are the subjects Mr. J. L. Stoddard has chosen to discourse upon in "Red-Letter Days Abroad." Mr. Stoddard, the author of "Stoddard Lectures," is a popular lecturer, who charms both by the freshness and originality of his matter and by the literary quality so apparent in his writing. In this volume, which the Messrs. James Osgood & Co. offer in illustrated holiday shape as a very seasonable gift-book, Mr. Stoddard gives, somewhat in the familiar form of lectures, three most entertaining papers of descriptions, reminiscences, and anecdote. He is one of those who have eyes and see not. Unlike many travellers who have gone abroad and have afterward bored their patient countrymen with their commonplace, he seems to have penetrated beneath the surface of things and have touched the romances of history and civilization, evident to all eyes gifted with scientific insight to behold them.

He writes charmingly of beautiful and romantic Spain, the land of Columbus and Queen Isabella, of its many fine galleries of art-work, its ancient ruins and modern palaces, and the proud races that have in turns been its conquerors. Toledo, Cordova, gay Seville,—the home of bull-fights and matadors, "Figaro" and "Carmen," the Moorish city of Granada, immortalized by Irving in his "Tales of the Alhambra," with its comparable architecture and Oriental beauty, are all graphically portrayed. The Passion Play witnessed by Mr. Stoddard at its last representation in 1880, and Russia was visited by him before the late Czar's assassination. The Passion Play is described in detail, and many interesting facts related about the actors, while "the cities of the Czar," with their many historical associations, are placed before the reader in picturesque guise.

Our object in going into the minutiae of the text has been not only to point out its claim to special attention, but also to show the varied character of the pictures, which have been made to interpret and illustrate every phase of it. In the Passion Play almost every scene is reproduced by the artist with correct portraits, in costume, of the actors. The Russian scenes embrace interior views of celebrated palaces, landscapes, famous buildings, churches, and groups of story. "Travels in sunny Spain" is rich in gypsies, bulls and bull-fights, toreadors and picadors.

The Messrs. Osgood & Co. are fortunate in having a volume like this to offer to the holiday trade. The artistic character of the illustrations, specimens of which we reproduce—the vignette being the Church of the Nativity, Moscow—the fascination of the text, the elegance of the paper and typography, and the richness of the binding, make it altogether an exceptional one.

" FAVORITE POEMS."

AMONG the most acceptable Christmas gifts, and one that seems to gratify the tastes of all, whether young or old, is a volume of poetry. To the many good collections already published Messrs. Thomas Y. Crowell & Co. add a new volume, being choice selections from English and American authors, under the title "Favorite Poems." It is brought out uniform with their excellent series of "Popular Poets," is printed on fine calendered paper, and contains a number of full-page designs by Taylor, Merrill, Woodward, Schell, Gifford, Haydon, and other artists. A large proportion of the illustrations were engraved by George T. Andrew, whose work on "The Cambridge Book of Poetry," an important and very successful publication issued by this house last season, added very much to its value. The rich binding, stamped in gold and colors, and the rich gold edges make a very beautiful appearance—such a volume as every one would be glad to have for the centre-table.

The compiler states that his or her object in issuing this volume has been "to unite a collection that will afford a well-selected variety for the lovers of poetry, and form an appropriate present for all seasons and occasions." Some of the brightest gems in English poetical literature are comprised within its pages, while almost all the familiar and much-loved poems one delights to read and reread in one's hours of joy or sadness are to be found in the contents. Goldsmith's "Deserted Village," Gray's "Elegy," Thomson's "Seasons," Hood's "Bridge of Sighs," Whittier's "Maud Muller," Tennyson's "May Queen," Browning's "Evelyn Hope," Leigh Hunt's "Abou Ben Adhem," Aldrich's "Baby Bell," Longfellow's "Hiawatha's Wooing," Bryant's "Forest Hymn," Wolfe's "Burial of Sir John Moore," Hood's "The Death-Bed," Holmes's "Lending a Punch-Bowl," Campbell's "Hope of an Hereafter," and Alice Cary's "My Creed" are only a few of the two hundred and seventy-five notable poems which fill this thick volume of over four hundred and fifty pages.

Crowell's illustrated edition of "Popular Poets" is altogether a very desirable series from which to select, at a very reasonable price, a volume for presentation. The works of the Brownings, Schiller, Tennyson, with Goethe's "Faust," "The Lady of the Lake," "Lucile," and "Aurora Leigh" belong to this series. Each one is in a rich holiday dress, and is a remarkable good edition for the price.

The picture on the opposite page is an illustration of an anonymous little poem, "The Country Lassie," and is a good specimen of the art-work in "Favorite Poems."

"She blossomed in the country,
Where sunny summers fling
Their rosy arms about the earth,
And brightest blessings bring;
Hea'th was her sole inheritance,
And grace her only dower;
I never dreamed the wildwood Contained so sweet a flower."

THE COUNTRY LASSIE.

GRAY'S "ELEGY."

THOMAS GRAY's reputation rests upon a single poem written almost one hundred years ago. His entire poetical works would scarcely fill a volume, and yet out of so much number little is remembered aside from the "Elegy." This is in itself a gem which deserves to have won immortality. No anthology is without it, and no reader of even moderate culture likes to profess ignorance of it. It is not only the smoothness and elegance of its perfect versification which have given it an exceptional place in literature, but the tenderness and choly of its sentiment and its closeness to every-day life and philosophy. The melancholy which marks it for her own would seem to be a reflection of the author's own sad, retrospective life, the result of an unhappy early life, which neither collegiate nor worldly honors seemed to

Of late years, Stoke Pogis, England, has been identified as the scene of the poem. Near it may be found the "country churchyard" in which the elegy was written, now possessing the poet's poetical association of being the poet's last resting-place. Before issuing a new illustration of this classic for the holiday season, the Messrs. Roberts Brothers had Mr. Harry Fenn go to Stoke Pogis, England and make at Stoke Pogis itself the majority of the sketches from which his design has been reproduced. In this way not only an exceedingly strong interest has been gained in the new edition, but an originality and fidelity in its illustrations far surpassing those of all previous editions. It very fittingly bears the distinction of being the "Harry Fenn Edition," in which it will always in the future be known.

Another interest almost as strong as the one just mentioned is the reprint in this edition of the "Elegy" of several very beautiful verses that appeared in the early editions of the book but were subsequently omitted by the author. The verses are not only a literary curiosity but have sufficient merit to make them well worth preserving. An interesting appendix contains Gray's motives in casting these lines aside. One of the so-called rejected verses has been made the subject of one of the most delicate and beautiful illustrations in the book, where it is placed as a frontispiece. We have reproduced it on the opposite page, believing it offers a fine example of the very careful work which is so noticeable in this little volume.

Although this is in size not one of the greatest of the holiday books, it is certainly the most important artistically. The pictures throughout are little gems, occupying every space and interpreting in an exquisite fashion the various moods of the author. The vignette which will be found on the same page with the following lines :

" Their name, their years, spelt by the unlettered Muse,
The place of fame and elegy supply ;
And many a holy text around she strews,
That teach the rustic moralist to die.

" For who, to dumb Forgetfulness a prey,
This pleasing, anxious being e'er resigned ;
Left the warm precincts of the cheerful day,
Nor cast one longing, lingering look behind ?"

There scatterd oft the earliest of the year,

By hands unseen,
are showers of violets found

The redbreast loves to build and warble there,
And little footsteps lightly print the ground

A REJECTED VERSE.

"SUNLIGHT AND SHADE."

"SUNLIGHT and shade; rich gold that dalls to gay; The fairest summer morn, radiant with light, Succeeded by the gleamiest winter night— So runs the tale of life from day to day. And no man knows when, ranked in close array, The thick black clouds will hide the sun from sight, And darken all that has been glad and bright, And make life for a while a shadowed way. 'Mid sun and shadow, happiness and woe, The years roll on, each bringing its due share Of pure, untroubled joy and stormy care; And yet, if men will only have it so, The dark days will be short, and every one Will have his long fair summer day of sun."

CASSELL & CO. have in "Sunlight and Shade" a deservedly popular gift-book. The number and richness of its pictures, the interesting and varied character of its reading matter, with its attractive binding make it an appropriate present for old or young, or for any class of readers. It offers a succession of "poems and pictures of life and nature," the poems being mostly by English writers, although our own Longfellow's name appears several times in the table of contents. The illustrations are by well-known English artists, Fred. Barnard, Robert Barnes, George Clausen, Frank Dicksee, A.R.A., M. Ellen Edwards, Mary L. Gow, R. W. Macbeth, A.R.A., Sutton Palmer, William Small, W. L. Wyllie, are a few of the names which appear among a host of designers who have contributed to make this volume "a thing of beauty." The general arrangement of the pages is especially graceful—the poems and designs, the latter embracing figures, landscapes, and flowers—being entwined in many original and striking forms. Among the pages that the eye dwells on with particular pleasure, are two devoted to George R. Taylor's "Life Picture." The five figures, representing as many stages of a woman's life, are from the pencil of Mary L. Gow. "Early Flowers," a poem by James Dimes, and "Thanksgiving," by J. R. Eastwood, have received very fine treatment at the artists' hands. Longfellow's "Sunrise on the Hills" and "Flowers" are the inspiration of several beautifully illustrative designs. "When," by Isabella Banks, and "The Hour of Rest," by F. E. Wenbury, are wedded to two poetical landscapes. A number of full-page figure-pieces such as we reproduce on the right-hand page, add to the richness of this book. "A Letter" illustrates George Wenbury's poem of that name. Special mention should be made of the graceful beauty of the symbolical frames of flowers and birds which encircle the table of contents. They are among the most artistic designs in the book.

The head-piece which appears on this page is taken from a poem, "The Forging of the Anchor," by Sir Samuel Ferguson, another very attractive gift-book of the Messrs. Cassell & Co., which, had space permitted, should have taken its place among these front pages. This is the first time this poem has been illustrated and published separately from the author's other works. The illustrators' names are, A. Barrand, H. G. Glindoni, G. W. Harvey, Seymour Lucas, Hal Ludlow, J. Nash, W. H. Overend, C. J. Staniland, and W. L. Wyllie. It is noticed under the section of "Holiday Books."

PLUTARCH FOR BOYS AND GIRLS.

THE world-renowned biographies of the heroes of Ancient Greece and Rome that have been handed down to us under the familiar name of "Plutarch's Lives," have been brought out by Messrs. Putnam's Sons in an edition prepared for boys and girls, by Prof. John S. White. For more than eighteen centuries Plutarch has been read with wondering delight, and has been the most popular of the ancient writers with the readers of every epoch. Born about 50 A.D. and in one sense thoroughly imbued with the spirit of his time, Plutarch's wonderful writings are so full of life, so dramatic and true to nature, that they read even to-day as if they were written in our own century. Born in Greece and educated at Delphi, afterward for many years established in Rome, Plutarch thoroughly understood both Grecian and Roman character, and has shown us his knowledge of the subtle differences produced by nationality, in the peculiar form of his biographies, which he wrote in parallels, first treating a Greek and then a Roman hero, and then contrasting the two.

Although not always historically correct as to facts, owing to his ideal love for the heroes he portrays, his poetic genius and his stirring imagination, Plutarch has given so many details of the home-life as well as of the heroic achievements of Cæsar, Alexander, the two Gracchi, Demosthenes, Cato, Cicero, and others, that a careful reading of his biographies gives one of the clearest pictures of the manners and customs of Greece and Rome at the various periods in which his heroes lived, and no young person can read his works without being stirred to emulate the deeds and thoughts he has here brought before him in such fascinating and inspiring manner. Napoleon is said to have ranked Plutarch beyond all authors, and to have loved his stories from his earliest boyhood.

Prof. White has confined himself closely to the translation known as the Dryden translation, merely eliminating such passages as render it unsuitable for young people. His selection of the heroes treated is a happy one, including almost all the best-known parallels. He has increased the interest of his work by adding a chronological table of the accurate dates of the events described, and by a table of weights and measures mentioned, prepared by Dr. Arbuthnot. The publishers have done their share to make the book popular with boys and girls. It is printed in pica type on thick paper, contains about fifty illustrations and four colored maps, and in its handsome binding makes a very imposing quarto of four hundred and eighty-six pages. Boys and girls will thank Prof. White for the chance he has given them to become acquainted with these famous "Lives," which, says Prof. C. K. Adams, "are among the most delightful sketches ever written;" which "are able to inspire, to charm, to instruct;" which "raise the Greek and Roman heroes from the dead and clothe them again with flesh and blood."

TENNYSON'S "COME INTO THE GARDEN, MAUD."

THE Messrs. Lee & Shepard have added Tennyson's famous and popular ballad favorite Golden Floral fringed series of illustrated hymns and poems. It appears in cover with a golden ground, having a vignette on the front cover representing a garden ; covers, as if carelessly thrown there, are rich sprays of pink and crimson roses. The elegantly fringed and tied with silken cords. So much for the outside, which it must be is of no small importance, when we remember how quickly the pretty, novel binding of it seized upon the popular fancy last season. The new volumes added to the Golden which "Come into the garden, Maud," is one of the most attractive, promise to keep up popularity with persons desiring appropriate holiday gifts at a moderate price. The inside is arrangement to the other books of the series, the illustrations being by Edmund H. Garrett they are very clever and graceful may be seen from the examples on this and on the next page. The opposite page illustrates the following lines :

“ Queen rose of the rosebud, garden of girls,
 Come hither, the dances are done,
 In gloss of satin and glimmer of pearls,
 Queen lily and rose in one.
 Shine out, little head sunning over with curls,
 I'o the flowers and be their sun.”

The Holiday Gift-Books.

WHILST the preceding pages describe and illustrate, individually and in detail, several of the more notable of the holiday books, under this heading is given, in the alphabetical order of the publishers, a general descriptive summary of all the new books offered as specially suitable for holiday gifts. (Books for the young are given under a special heading, p. 64.) The illustrations which adorn these pages are all taken from books of the season. The decorative pieces and vignettes which have been used without credit of source, are from the following works: The vignette on the front cover is from the illustrated edition of "The Princess" (Osgood); and the half-title "Introduction," which precedes the "Prominent Gift-Books of the Season," is from Keble's "Erebus Hymn" (Dutton). For prices, see the Index-Reference List, p.

THE AMERICAN SUNDAY-SCHOOL UNION issues a school edition of the "Dictionary of the Bible," edited by the Rev. Philip Schaff, D.D., LL.D., printed from the same plates as the second and revised edition of the same work; also, from the pen of the Rev. John Hall, D.D., of New York, a book on the topic of the age, "A Christian Home," in which he traces the early history of the family, its development, home government and training, in the happy, cheerful, interesting manner peculiar to this popular clergyman.

THE AMERICAN TRACT SOCIETY has nothing among its publications of a holiday character, though it offers in its late issues several works that admirably serve the purpose of presents for readers of substantial literature. "Among the Mongols," by Rev. James Gilmour, is an interesting account of the manners, customs, and beliefs of a strange people and a strange country. "Central Africa, Japan, and Fiji" offers three sketches of the mission work done in these countries; and "Wayside Springs," by T. L. Cuyler, D.D., is a pretty volume of refreshing devotional reading. Mrs. G. S. Reaney has written three little books of advice and moral reflections, which we recommend to parents for their children. They are called "Our Brothers and Sons," "Our Daughters," and "Morning Thoughts for our Daughters."

D. APPLETON & Co. have issued a volume of dainty elegance that will be a most suitable offering from a gentleman to a lady of culture as a pretty addition to the attractions upon her boudoir table. It bears the charming title, "Fair Words About Fair Women," and is a selection of poems written in praise of women and womanhood. This compilation has been made by Mr. O. B. Bunce, from the vast amount of material his knowledge of literature and personal facilities for obtaining any desired volume has placed at his command. He has divided the theme according to the method prevailing in the romantic ages of chivalry, into eight evenings. The first evening gives poems addressed to womanhood, devoted chiefly to generalization on the charms and virtues of women; the second has mixed selections from the old English poets; the third is given up to Tennyson's thoughts and flowing rhythm; the fourth introduces the Scotch and Irish poets; the fifth translated extracts from the Greek, Latin, French, German, Spanish, and other poets; the sixth has verses from the modern English and American poets; the seventh is devoted to poems that praise woman at the same side as wife and mother, and the eighth to poems that sing of her as a heroine of romance. The publishers have put these charming poems in a fitting dress and bring it out as a square cloth extra, gilt. The text is enriched with illustrations from designs by Will H. Low, in which the spirit of the poems and the spirit of the time they were written is carefully preserved. This house also calls attention to other books of standard value and most suitable as holiday gifts, such as: "Fifty Perfect Poems," "Hours with Art and Artists," "Sir Roger De Coverley," Dana's "Household Book of Poetry," Bryant's "Poetical Works," "The Bryant Birthday-Book," "Landscape in American Poetry," and their popular juvenile, "Boys in the Mountains and on the Plains."

A. C. ARMSTRONG & SON have a work of general interest and sterling value in the "History of Art in Chaldea, Assyria, and Phœnicia," by the distinguished writers, Georges Perrot, and Charles Chipiez, whose work on "Art in Ancient Egypt," issued in sumptuous style last season, is now in its second edition, and has been accepted by the leading authorities as a standard work on the subject. The new work also is translated by W. Armstrong, M.A., and is even more interesting, as it discusses the origins of all modern art and architecture, discloses the first foundations of civilization, and is treated with the breadth and spirit that give the writings of these authors their scientific value and their remarkable popularity. It is published uniform with the former work in two volumes, imperial 8°, handsomely bound in cloth or half levant morocco, with upward of 500 illustrations, many full-page and some double-page, of which a number are printed in colors with truthful accuracy to the subject portrayed. This house has also ready the valuable work on "Japan," translated from the German of J. J. Rein, Professor of Geography at Marburg, based on the travels and researches undertaken in that country by the Prussian Government, in which work Prof. Rein took a very important part. This is the most complete descriptive work about this interesting and rapidly progressive kingdom and is acknowledged to be authoritative and of standard value. No trouble and expense have been spared to make it a representative publication, and the publishers may well be proud of its accurate and beautifully finished photographs, woodcuts, lithographs and colored maps, and of its beautiful type, fine paper and handsome binding. This house also calls attention to the reissue of their improved editions of standard works, of which more than one hundred thousand volumes have been sold, in entirely new bindings of cloth with black and gold side and back stamps. The series includes the works of Hallam, Macaulay, Charles Lamb, Disraeli, Simms, Michaud, Dean Milman, Napier, and Edgar Allan Poe.

J. W. BOUTON has in "Une Journée d'Enfant" (A Day in the Life of a Child), by Adrien Marié, one of the handsomest art-books of the season. The work has had a brilliant success in France, and will no doubt win for itself many admirers among American child-lovers. For, as is truly stated in the preface to this American edition, "family joys and cares are alike the world over, and the hundred inimitable touches which reveal the instincts and caprices of childhood will make these pictures as obvious to a transatlantic public as to a French one." The volume contains twenty plates in heliogravure by Deujardin, in different tints, describing the life of a little girl from her awakening, until night again calls her to bed. Her occupations, cares, joys, and mischievous pranks are portrayed in every attitude with photographic minuteness by a master-hand and an artist who has a heart brimful of sympathy for his subject. This edition contains an introduction by Henry Strahan, and is bound in French style beautifully ornamented. Mr. Bouton has also handsome gift-books in "L'Art Japonais," by M. Louise Gonse, illustrated with sixty-four full-page engravings, some of them in colors, thirteen etchings, twenty-one heliogravures, and over seven hundred engravings; a limited edition of Sterne's "Sentimental Journey," with twelve full-page plates in photogravure, head and tail pieces, together with numerous designs from the original drawings by Louis Leloir; an English version of the Eclogues of Virgil, by the late Samuel Palmer, with fourteen illustrations by the author; and limited editions of Brillat-Savarin's "Physiologie du Gout," with fifty original etchings by Lalauze; and of "Robinson Crusoe," illustrated with numerous engravings from drawings by George Cruikshank, expressly designed for this edition.

ROBERT CARTER & BROS. have no distinct holiday publications, but have some works that will prove acceptable Christmas gifts to lovers of religious reading. They have an edition of Spurgeon's sermons in ten volumes, with complete indexes of texts and subjects, which they sell separately and in sets; they have also ten volumes of the other works of this remarkable preacher under the titles, "Morning by Morning;" "Evening by Evening;" "Types and Emblems;" "Saint and Saviour;" "Feathers for Arrows;" "Lectures to Students;" "Commenting and Commentaries;" "John Ploughman's Talk;" "Gleanings among the Sheaves," and "Spurgeon Gems;" and beside these many works of religious tendency by well-known writers.

CASSELL & Co.'s leading holiday work, "Original Etchings by American Artists," is a volume of great merit and artistic excellence. It is an entirely new work, the etchings having been made especially for it. They were selected by a committee of artists appointed by the publishers and artists, both desiring that nothing but the best work should be admitted. The etchings are twenty in number, each being the work of a different American artist. They represent both figures and landscapes, and are signed by such names as Henry Farrar, T. W. Wood, Thomas Moran, F. S. Church, George H. Smillie, Van Elten, Peter Moran, Colman, Dielman, Swain Gifford, J. D. Smillie, and others equally famous. The well-known art-critic, Mr. S. R. Koehler, furnishes the text and introduction. As a representative work of American art in a new field and one that is rapidly growing popular, this volume should receive generous appreciation at the hands of bookbuyers. The publishers issue it in three editions. Besides the regular edition, in which the etchings are reproduced on first-grade etching-paper made expressly for the work, they offer an édition de luxe and a Parchment edition. The édition de luxe, limited to 200 copies, comprises two sets of plates, the one being proof impressions on India paper bound with the text, the other Japan proofs signed by the artists, and mounted with mats and done up in a neat portfolio. This edition with the two sets of etchings sells at $125. But three copies will be published of the Parchment edition, as it is held by the Messrs. Cassell & Co. at the high price of $300 per copy. This also includes two sets of plates, one proofs printed on parchment and signed by the artists, mounted with mats, and inclosed in an elegant portfolio; the other set of etchings, which will be bound with the text, are proof impressions on Japan paper. The text is printed on a special paper and the volume bound in flexible parchment wrappers. Not inferior in importance with this elegant work is Cassell's "Magazine of Art for 1883," whose many attractive features are described at length in the first section. They justly consider it one of their leading holiday books. "Sunlight and Shade" an illustrated work prepared for this season, is also fully described in the front reading pages, and one of its large engravings reproduced. "The Forging of the Anchor," by Sir Samuel Ferguson, is an illustrated poem in small quarto shape, at a very reasonable price. It is very elegantly printed on one side only of rich laid paper. The poet's graphic text has received able treatment at the artist's hands. A specimen cut will be found one of the pages in the first section devoted to "Sunlight and Shade." An elegant quarto volume printed on heavy paper has been made up from papers and illustrations in the early volumes of the "Magazine of Art," now almost out of print. It is entitled "Some Modern Artists and their Work," and consists of portraits and wood-engravings of some of the best work of Sir Frederick Leighton, Sir John Gilbert, Boughton, Meissonier, Rosa Bonheur, Alma-Tadema, Munkacsy, and other artists of European fame. In text and illustrations this is a book of sterling merit, presenting art information of unusual value and interest. "Compositions from Shakespeare's 'Tempest'" includes fifteen engravings in outline by Sir J. Noel Paton, of the chief scenes in the "Tempest"; selections of a page in length accompany each plate; it is a work to be recommended to Shakespearian devotees; bound with this volume are 12 outlines of Shelley's "Prometheus" by the same artist. "Familiar Wild Birds," by W. Swainsland, contains papers on forty varieties of English wild birds, illustrated by forty beautifully colored plates and ornamental initials and tail-pieces. It offers information in a charming shape both through the medium of well-considered reading matter and truthfully drawn and colored plates. The cloth binding is noticeably pretty, having hand-painted birds upon it, and stamping in colored inks. Scientists and students generally will find in "European Butterflies and Moths," a valuable work on an extremely fascinating subject. It is designed to provide entomologists and tourists with a comprehensive illustrated guide to the study of European Macro-Lepidoptera. Mr. W. F. Kirby, assistant in the Zoological Department, British Museum, prepared the work on the basis of Berge's "Schmetterlingsbuch," which has gone through five editions in Germany. Though not exactly a Christmas gift-book, even the non-scientific reader would take pleasure in the sixty-one plates of brilliantly colored butterflies which adorn and illustrate the reading matter. A profusely and finely illustrated edition of Farrar's widely known "Life of Christ," printed on tinted paper and richly bound, appeals to all readers of standard religious literature, while the second division of "The Holy Land"—namely, "The Jordan and Bethlehem"—just issued, claims the attention of the same class. The illustrations of the latter are lithographs by Louis Haghe, after original drawings by David Roberts. The historical descriptions are written by the Rev. George Croly. A new edition of Doré's "Dante," his chef-d'œuvre, with Cary's translation, carries with it fresh associations since the recent death of the world-renowned artist.

S. E. CASSINO & Co. have prepared, in the style of Longfellow's "Flower de Luce," and even in a more exquisite dress, two other literary art souvenirs, viz., Bryant's "Fringed Gentian," illustrated in color by L. Hollis, and Elaine Goodale's "The Coming of the Birds," in the handwriting of this talented young authoress. Both are issued in the same dainty fringed covers, beautiful paper and type and neat box that met with such great favor last Christmas. Not quite so festive in appearance, but not less satisfactory as a work of printer's art is the volume called "Flowers of the Sea," in picture a verse, which contains illustrations of the many varieties of sea-plants and sea-weeds found along our native shores, each illustration printed the natural colors of the plant pictured and accompanied with an appropriate verse from popular authors. Although not strictly a holiday publication, a substantial gift is the handsome and comparatively cheap edition in three volumes Sir J. Gardner Wilkinson's standard work on "Manners and Customs of the Ancient Egyptians," an exact reproduction, with nearly a thousand engravings and plates, of the very expensive English edition. For the first time in America, Goethe's and Schiller's works (now he had in uniform library editions, printed from new type, in the best available translation illustrated with many excellent engravings) Schiller's works can be bought bound in four or eight volumes, and Goethe's in five or ten. The price is moderate, and either set would make a splendid addition to the library of an enthusiastic lover of Goethe and Schiller.

THE CENTURY COMPANY have a work, Ogilvie's Dictionary that, although no holiday publication, would make for many a student friend a most desirable present, and a subscription to the beautiful Century Magazine has been found a very popular gift, and one highly appreciated by the fortunate recipient.

JOHN CHURCH & Co. have issued this year a revised and enlarged edition of the cantata entitled "Catching Kriss Kringle," by Root and Butterworth. This is said to have proved a favorite last year, owing to its bright and merry music, and for the reason that it takes but little time and trouble to prepare. Besides this they have a new series of "Christmas Carols," containing a beautiful responsive service; "Un-oration" and "China Painting;" "Modelling in Clay," by A. L. Vago; and Carl Robert's book on "Charcoal Drawing."

E. CLAXTON & Co. have for the lovers of Lord Byron a new and handsome edition of his works, in one imperial 8vo volume, which contains his complete dramatic and poetical works. The text is taken from the latest and most approved English editions, with many highly interesting notes thoroughly explanatory of the text, while especially valuable to American readers. Several poems believed to be written by Lord Byron, and popularly attributed to him, der the Palms," an oratorio cantata by Root and Butterworth, introducing floral effects, and a number of other musical pieces adapted to holiday services.

ROBERT CLARKE & Co., Cincinnati, have on their list a number of valuable books which make acceptable gift-books. For the student of history they have a handsome work in "The St. Clair Papers," arranged and annotated by Hon. Wm. Henry Smith; and "Ancient Egypt in the Light of Modern Discoveries," by Dr. H. S. Osborn. In light literature they have the "Poems of George D. Prentice;" the "Poems of W. D. Gallagher;" "Jacob Brown, and Other Poems," by Henry T. Stanton; and a volume of essays by John James Piatt, entitled "Pencilled Fly-leaves." For art students they have Miss M. Louisa McLaughlin's books on "Pottery Dec-have been included in this edition under the head of "Attributed Poems." The type, which has been expressly cast for this edition, is strikingly large and clear. The numerous illustrations are an attractive feature of the volume, including portraits of Byron and his relatives and companions, life-miniature portraits of Hobhouse, Shelley, Moore, and many others, together with full-page illustrations of the text of the poems. The index is full and comprehensive, and the work contains, in addition to these many advantages, an illustrated life of the poet, by Professor John Nichols and J. C. Jeaffreson. It is bound in six different styles of binding.

T. Y. CROWELL & Co. have added the "Lady of the Lake," "Virgil," "Aurora Leigh," "Robert Browning," and "George Eliot" to their list of Red-Line poets. This line of po now numbers fifty volumes, all illustrated, with gilt edges, red-line borders and handsome bindings, of which the American tree calf continues very popular. "Crowell's Favorite Illustrated Edition of Popular Poets" is described and illustrated on the front pages. They have also just published "A Dictionary of Quotations from the Poets," based upon Bohn's edition, with many additions from American authors. Great care has been taken to insure accuracy, the revisions and corrections having been verified not only by the competent compiler Mr. R. H. Stoddard, but by an expert employed for the purpose. An index of authors and a concordance index to every citation, chronological data, and an introductory preface bear evidence of the compiler's care and hard work. Although not published as a Christmas offering, Miss Ward's compilation of poems of "Surf and Wave" is sure to meet with favor in its pretty, appropriate dress. Many of these poems were written expressly for the volume by well-known writers, and sixteen full-page cuts and numerous vignettes make the pages of this little book very attractive.

CUPPLES, UPHAM & Co. have ready a volume of "Poems in Prose," by Ivan Tourgueneff, that will be a most appropriate gift for the many admirers of the great author so recently "gone from the ranks." He himself said: "The reader must not skim over these poems in prose one after the other, but let him read each one separately, one to-day, another to-morrow, and then perhaps one or more of them may sink into his soul and bear fruit." The volume is prettily gotten up in gray cloth with red edges, and contains a fine portrait frontispiece. Another volume of fascinating interest is William Howe Downes's "Spanish Ways and Byways," illustrated with upward of fifty engravings, drawn by Henry Sandham, Marcus Waterman, A. H. Bicknell, and W. P. Bodfish. A work that must be seen to be appreciated is the beautifully finished "Art Catalogue" of the Boston Exhibition, illustrated with etchings, albertypes, wood-engravings, etc., the most considerable contribution yet made to the art literature of America. The text, describing almost every phase of art and treating many interesting art questions, is a dainty present for many. "Patrice: I and Work," by the author of "Ecce S" has been highly spoken of; and Jul Howe's talented daughter has a pretty of poems called "Stray Chords."

DICK & FITZGERALD have ready a b will be welcome to all lovers of th nating pastime, playing solitaire wit under the name of "Dick's Games of or, Solitaire with Cards," illustrated wi three full-page tableaux, explaining f distinct games of cards.

written by the most distinguished living specialists in the theory and practice of art; but the great importance of the volume is in the beauty of its mechanical execution, on which the publishers have spent much time, pains, and money, and which leaves nothing to be desired by the most exacting taste. Uniform with "The Raven" are Faber's "Pilgrims of the Night," Keble's "Evening Hymn," and Miss Haver-gal's ever-beautiful and touching "Bells Across the Snow."

ESTES & LAURIAT offer three very handsomely illustrated gift-books, at moderate prices, in Gray's "Elegy in a Country Churchyard," with designs by Birket Foster, W. L. Sheppard, Taylor, and Miller; Coleridge's "Rime of the Ancient Mariner," with the Doré illustrations;

Reviews, of her poems and miscellaneous works, printed from new type on vellum paper; a handy large-type edition of Dickens's complete works, and a new copyright library edition of Lingard's "History of England," in ten volumes, containing the latest notes and emendations of the author and a memoir with ten portraits, etched by B. Dammon, of Paris, and only 300 copies will be sold in the American market.

FORDS, HOWARD & HULBERT have several books that are sure of welcome if bought with judgment and given to the fitting recipient. All who are acquainted with Philadelphia will enjoy a book just issued in the popular Our Continent

"Songs and Scenes from Faust," a selection from Goethe's masterpiece, in Bayard Taylor's translation, illustrated by Mayer and Lalauze. Each of the above is brought out in four different styles—in cloth, tree calf, illuminated and fringed covers, and decorated satin and fringe. Two large quarto volumes, issued in sumptuous bindings, are: "The Heart of Europe from the Rhine to the Danube," a work of great interest, comprising a series of the most celebrated views of landscapes and historic buildings in this romantic region, with text by the Rev. Leo de Colange, interspersed with citations from English and American poets; and the companion volume, "Mountain, Lake, and River," containing 25 steel-line engravings from designs by W. H. Bartlett and others, with descriptive text by N. P. Willis and others, and narrative English and American poems on mountains, lakes and rivers. "Rock Me to Sleep, Mother," by Elizabeth Akers Allen; Tennyson's "Song of the Brook;" Schiller's "Lay of the Bell," all handsomely illustrated by noted artists, are also published in the fringed cover now so popular. Kate Sanborn has prepared a "Leap Year Calendar," an elegant heart-shaped holiday souvenir, printed in colors with or without fringe. Uniform in style is "The Garden of the Heart," with appropriate selections of religious poetry, a suitable present for Sunday-school teachers to their more advanced scholars. This house also has limited éditions de luxe of Thackeray, Carlyle, and George Eliot; a complete edition of George Eliot's Essays and Library under the name of "A Sylvan City," consisting of about a dozen papers on Philadelphia that first appeared in Our Continent and are now gathered into a profusely illustrated book; and even those who are unacquainted with this historic city will be delighted with these descriptions of its quaint and picturesque corners. Beecher's "Life Thoughts" has been issued in a new and pretty edition, and will always find welcome among the admirers of Brooklyn's great preacher; American history cannot be more compactly and pleasantly read than in the new edition of Paton's "Concise History of the United States," complete in two volumes. The publishers call special attention to Bryant's "Library of Poetry and Song," published some years ago, but still one of the most valuable books brought out by this house.

FOWLER & WELLS call attention to their line of useful books, many of which will no doubt prove available as presents for the practically inclined. Among their new books are Dr. Susan W. Dodd's work on "Health in the Household, or, Hygienic Cookery," which is described as "the best book on the healthful preparation of food ever published;" "A Bachelor's Talk about Married Life and Things Adjacent," by Rev. Dr. William Aikman, a chatty book, with many hints and suggestions that will be enjoyed, and a new edition of "Traits of Representative Men," with portraits, by George W. Bungay.

HARPER & WAGNALLS have a new Christmas book by the indefatigable and ever-popular Edward Everett Hale, entitled "Our Christmas in lace Car." It tells in Mr. Hale's brightest ner how a party of travellers in a snow-ed train among the Rocky Mountains spent ry pleasant Christmas day. Mr. Hale has publishers have spared no pains to make the book pretty, and its nine full-page illustrations their forces upon one holiday book this season, the result being all that could be anticipated from the well-known character of this house as publishers of some of the finest illustrated works ever made in this country. "The Raven," by Edgar Allan Poe, with illustrations by Gustave Doré, has been in course of preparation for some time. It fully comes up to the expectations entertained for it. As the last complete work from the lamented Doré's pencil it has a special interest, aside from the artistic merit of its execution.

The illustrations, twenty-six in number, interpret all the various moods of Poe's fantastic and sombre poem, as Doré read it. Mr. Stedman tells us he conceived it to be "the enigma of death and the hallucination of an inconsolable soul." As such we find his pencil has described it in the series of graceful but somewhat weird pictures which are contained in this handsome folio. Mr. Edmund Clarence Stedman's comments upon the poem are rich in suggestions. The engraving in this work is of the finest order, it being the work of Juengling, Müller, Zimmermann, Claudius, Tietze, and other celebrated engravers. The volume as a whole is a sum-mes under the headings, "The Age of Despots," "The Revival of Learning," "The Fine Arts," and "Italian Literature"—a very acceptable and generous present for a friend interested in this great subject; and also to their editions of the works of John Stuart Mill, Sir Henry Sumner Maine, and Henri Taine.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. for their leading holiday volume have chosen Longfellow's dramatic work, "Michael Angelo," which Mr. Long-tuous one, and ranks among the most notable works of the holiday season. A volume of travels published recently by this house must not be overlooked by bookbuyers. "Spanish Vistas," illustrated by C. S. Reinhart and written by George Parsons Lathrop, is a charming book in its pictures and reading matter. Both author and artist aim to give a correct idea of the Spain of to-day, with its many romantic and humorous aspects, and succeed capitably. Attention is called to the holiday publications of previous seasons of the Messrs. Harper & Bros. as works whose artistic merits, joined to the literary character of their texts, have made them standards, acceptable always to persons of culture and refinement. The principal ones are Herrick's "Poems" with Abbey's illustrations; Gibson's "Highways and Byways," and "Pastoral Days;" and Drake's "Heart of the White Mountains."

HENRY HOLT & Co. have no holiday book this year, but call attention to their beautiful edition of the "Renaissance in Italy," by John Addington Symonds, now complete in five vol-lumes always desired and purposed to have published in an illustrated volume. The illustrations include views of Ischia, where Vittoria Colonna lived; of Rome and Florence; also several portraits of Michael Angelo and Vittoria Colonna, and other views and illustrations wholly germane to the character of the poem. Hardly any illustrations have been introduced merely for the sake of embellishment, but there is an unusual and noteworthy fitness in the choice of subjects to emphasize and illuminate this poem, and both the designers, who include some of the most famous American artists, and their fellow-workmen the engravers, have achieved in this book some of the most triumphant successes in American wood-engraving. The paper and the printing are of the best. The binding is unlike that of any other holiday book ever produced, being somewhat Japanese, with gilt edges and gilt back. Considered altogether, it is one of choicest, richest, most artistic holiday books that Houghton, Mifflin & Co. have ever produced. Their second holiday volume is also devoted to Mr. Longfellow, including twenty short poems, among which is his favorite poem,

"Chrysaor." Many of these poems have a peculiarly local character, associated with Mr. Longfellow's historic residence in Cambridge, and also his summer home at Nahant. All the illustrations, including the fine portrait, are from the hand of his son, Ernest W. Longfellow, and embrace some of the most beautiful and poetic landscape and marine views ever produced by an American artist. This book will be in all its appointments so satisfactory to the lover of books, and especially so attractive to all the Museum, and there are also many full-page illustrations copied from the works of the most famous Italian artists. Of books not specially prepared for holiday purposes this list comprises not a few which may properly be mentioned in this place. For example, Mr. Aldrich's "Mercedes and Later Lyrics," of which the exquisite typography and the high-quality paper and the tasteful binding embody fitly the graceful and delicate work which here represents Mr. Aldrich at his best; "The Voyage of the Jeannette," vers of Longfellow, that it promises to have an exceptional popularity. "The Hawthorne Portfolio" contains copies of the etchings made for the large-paper edition of Hawthorne's works, including the portrait. Printed on Japanese paper with the greatest care, they form a very attractive collection of pictures, and for admirers of Hawthorne will possess a peculiar value. Darley's outline illustrations of Hawthorne's "Scarlet Letter" have been reproduced in a new edition, and bound in the same style as Darley's "Evangeline," which was so popular a gift-book last year. The twelve cartoons included in this volume are at once remarkably powerful and graceful, and represent with graphic force the most picturesque incidents in Hawthorne's marvellous story. One of the most sumptuous gift-books of the year is the illustrated New Testament, which is embellished on every page with ornamental borders and vignettes, many of which have been copied from rare manuscripts in the British taken from the ship and ice journals of Commander De Long, a most thrilling tale of adventure and human endurance, illustrated profusely with pictures which are not merely attractive, but which give a vivid idea of the scenes and the incidents of this memorable expedition; the new Riverside edition of Mr. Emerson's works, including in eleven volumes all that he has hitherto published in book-form, with two new volumes of essays, addresses, and lectures, all in a style of typography and binding which has won the heartiest favor of the critics and of the class of readers to whom Mr. Emerson's writings appeal; the Riverside Shakespeare, edited by Richard Grant White, in three volumes; also a six-volume edition from the same plates, on larger paper, and bound in a style which renders it a most desirable edition for the library, and which cannot fail to be a most acceptable gift; "He and She: A Poet's Portfolio," by William W. Story, the artist—a book of poems connected by a brilliant conversation between a gentleman and lady; Mr. Warner's new book of travel, "A Roundabout Journey," describing experiences and observations in Southern Spain and Italy and Northern Africa; Mr. Whittier's new volume, "The Bay of Seven Islands, and Other Poems," including the poetry written by Mr. Whittier during the past two years; "The Complete Works of Virgil translated into English with selections from his writings for each day of the year; and new issues of the Longfellow Emerson Calendars for 1884, with new and carefully arranged selections from the writings of Emerson and Longfellow.

"My Faith Looks up to Thee," that hymn which has been translated into many languages and added to the hymns used in the ship of almost every religious denomination which Lisbeth B. Comins has furnished appropriate illustrations; also Alfred Doolittle's Christmas hymn, "It Was the Calm and Night," and Tennyson's "Come into the Garden with Me," both of which have been fully described in our front pages. "The Lord is my Shepherd," "Curfew Must not Ring To-night," "That Glorious Song of Old," are also included in this series, and appear for the first time in the pretty fringed dress introduced in this house. All these volumes, however

B. LIPPINCOTT & Co. have chosen for their ing holiday book this season a superb edition ray's "Elegy." This is one of the finest ons that has yet been published of this us poem, and will be known as the Artists'
on. It will have 22 elegant illustrations, n by Gibson, Richards, Hovenden, Frost, will be doubly welcome, for in the translation

the works have lost nothing of their piquancy, and they contain all the celebrated French plates. The French volumes, of which a few were imported into this country, sold at a very high price. "The Fan" has 50 elegant photo-gravure illustrations in colors by Paul Avril, and "The Sunshade, Muff, and Glove" has 60 illustrations by the same artist. The retail price will be $10 each. "The Book-Lover's Enchiridion" is a dainty little volume, the compilation of which has evidently been a labor of love, and the result is a choice storehouse of admirable quotations for the purpose of supplying thoughts on the solace and companionship of books. These have been selected and chronologically arranged by "Philobiblos." The preent edition is reprinted from the English edition, with revision and addition by the American editor. This limited edition will be from type, and will be printed on laid paper and neatly bound in vellum and half roxburgh. John Foster Kirk, the well-known author of Kirk's "Charles the Bold," and editor of the revised edition of Prescott's works, has prepared an edition of Palgrave's "Golden Treasury of the Best Songs and Lyrical Poems in the English Language," and has added selections from the works of recent and living English poets. It will be an octavo, red line, and will have many illustrations. Edward Whymper's charming book, "Scrambles Amongst the Alps," published a few years ago, now appears quality, in the handsome style for which the press of this house is noted. It will contain thirty portraits printed on India paper, and having been carefully retouched for this purpose. It will correspond in size and style with the édition de luxe of Hawthorne and Emerson, so that lovers of standard books may have the great American authors in uniform style. This edition will be limited to 250 copies, numbered and registered, a portion of which have been sold in England. The new edition of the complete works of Wm. Thackeray published by this house is the best and most complete edition yet published, and will contain some of Thackeray's writings which have

In a handsome holiday edition, revised and enlarged, and illustrated with numerous engravings. No preceding publication on the same subject surpasses it in general attractiveness and vivid descriptions of mountain adventure. Bound with it is Lady Blanche Murphy's "Down the Rhine," also profusely illustrated, thus making a large octavo volume, bound in extra cloth, gilt edges. "Famous Poems of Standard Authors" makes an attractive holiday book, as does also "Gems from T. Buchanan Read," in one volume, small quarto, handsomely illustrated, containing the well-known poems, "Drifting," illustrated by Mrs. L. B. Humphrey, and "Brushwood" and "Christine," illustrated by F. Dielman. The "Life of Sir William Rowan Hamilton," including selections from his poems, correspondence, and miscellaneous writings, by Robert P. Graves, M.A., will be a welcome addition to biographical literature. It will be complete in two volumes, of which the first is now ready. Admirers of Prescott will be pleased to learn that this house is now publishing an édition de luxe of his works. It will be from the new revised edition, edited by John Foster Kirk, printed on laid paper of the best quality, in the handsome style for which the press of this house is noted. It will contain thirty portraits printed on India paper, and having been carefully retouched for this purpose. It will correspond in size and style with the édition de luxe of Hawthorne and Emerson, so that lovers of standard books may have the great American authors in uniform style. This edition will be limited to 250 copies, numbered and registered, a portion of which have been sold in England. The new edition of the complete works of Wm. Thackeray published by this house is the best and most complete edition yet published, and will contain some of Thackeray's writings which have before been collected, with many additional illustrations. "Vanity Fair" is now ready. A new volume will be published each month until the conclusion of the series. LITTLE, BROWN & Co. have a delightful holiday volume, which will prove just the thing for Christmas present to a member of the literary fraternity, in "Shakespeare as a Law," by Franklin Fiske Heard. The volume is fully printed on laid paper, and bound in blue covers, ornamented with blue.

D. LOTHROP & Co.'s choicest gift is "Ideal Poems," an elegant octavo, in various forms, the most taking perhaps the "floral." Twelve of the most choice poems in the English language, each illustrated by famous artists with full-page engravings, represent its contents. "Through Saddle and Donkey-Back" is a series of bright and lively sketches of the Spanish life of to-day by Mr. Bodfish in a recent trip through Spain. The text is also by him, and is very thoroughly descriptive of the picture. The little volume is quite an artistic one. "Time Days and Ways" is another ex-

Bodfish's realistic sketching. It details in a pleasant manner the modes and methods of living in our grandfather's days. The sixty-two drawings which accompany the text are careful studies of the costumes and household adornings of the time. Arthur Gilman's "History of the American People," commends itself to readers of all ages, both on account of its subject and the admirable manner in which it is treated. It is terse yet comprehensive, and brings the record down to the very latest date. The illustrations number nearly two hundred. George MacDonald's new book, "Donal Grant," is a desirable gift for any member of the family. It is a strong story full of moral purpose. No reader need be told that Mr. MacDonald is one of the most interesting writers of the day. This house also issues new editions of "The Kingdom of Home," a collection of choice poems edited by Arthur Gilman, and of "Poet Homes," a pleasing introduction to the poets of America and their homes, written by R. H. Stoddard, Arthur Gilman, and others. Both these volumes are handsomely illustrated and are works of permanent merit, which it is safe to purchase at any time, or for any occasion. A little book for busy mothers is Mrs. Blake's "Twenty-six Hours a Day." It is full of hints and suggestions which will enable many a tired housewife to more easily perform her household duties.

The small quartos for which this house is famous, and which have been so popular as gift-books, are not to be forgotten—"Jesus, Lover of my Soul," "The Ninety and Nine," and "The Old Oaken Bucket," all possess a charm which never dies or goes out of fashion.

MACMILLAN & Co. very appropriately offer to purchasers of holiday books a handsome edition of Matthew Arnold's "Prose Works," which will no doubt be welcome news to the many admirers of the charming writer who is now on a visit among us. The edition is in seven vol-ten by W. J. Gordon, and illustrated in colors by Viola Broughton; and a very welcome one is Jules Michelet's beautifully illustrated book about "The Sea," which is now issued in a new and cheap, but very excellent edition. Messrs Nelson have as usual a full line of new bindings in their various editions of Bibles, Testaments, and Prayers and Hymnals. Among these especial attention is called to their fine quarto family Bibles, which, bound in fine Persian and Turkey morocco and levant, make a most acceptable gift to the heads of families or to Sunday-school teachers and pastors. In prayers and hymnals their line of 48mo minion books has been put in seal grain antique, black German calf, and genuine alligator bindings, which makes them attractive and unique presents for lady churchgoers. They have also added new and fashionable bindings to the rest of their lines, which are familiar enough not to need recommendation here.

JAMES R. OSGOOD & Co.'s leading holiday books—their magnificent edition of Tennyson's "Princess," and their equally beautiful "Red-Letter Days Abroad," by the popular lecturer, John L. Stoddard—take a prominent place in our front pages. But this house offers other valuable books to select from for the Christmas table of the cultured. A book pronounced by so critical an authority as the New York Tribune, to be written with taste, acuteness, and right feeling, and published in a style of artistic elegance, is "Eugene Fromentin," from the French of Louis Gonse, by Miss Mary C. Robbins, who has rendered a great service to art and literature by her excellent translation of the life and letters of one who has distinguished himself not less as writer and critic than as painter. It has the original French illustrations, which are facsimiles of Fromentin's sketches and drawings, and the handsome octavo forms a delightful companion to Fromentin's "Old Masters of Belgium and Holland." A work that also is calculated to please the student and lover of art is Mrs. Julia A. Shedd's "Raphael's Madonnas and Holy Families," being the eighth volume of the much-appreciated Heliotrope Galleries. The interesting text is illustrated with twenty full-page heliotypes of Raphael's most famous and popular paintings, and the volume is bound elegantly. A chaste and beautiful édition de luxe has been made of the "Imitation of Christ." It is printed faultlessly with red rules of new and graceful design, has three hundred illustrations on wood, including emblematic head and tail-pieces, vignettes, and initial letters of a quaint archaic character, and the binding is in harmony with the interior. Thomas à Kempis, after four hundred years, has received new and worthy homage in this exquisite edition of the most widely read book in Christendom. Lucius L. Hubbard has written a book on the "Woods and Lakes of Maine," telling of a trip from Moosehead Lake to New Brunswick in a birch-bark canoe. He has added some Indian place-names with their origin and meanings, and produced a work of standard value, his "Hubbard's Guide to Moosehead Lake" having led him to make studies and researches that now add to the picturesqueness and popularity of this later work, which has also new and original illustrations by W. L. Taylor. Our old friend, "Brer Rabbit," encounters a new set of adventures in the "Nights with Uncle Remus," a selection of umes, uniform with the Eversley edition of Kingsley's novels, so successful a year or two ago. They have also published, uniform with the prose works, two volumes of Matthew Arnold's poems. In addition to this they have a large list of valuable new works in all departments of literature which make handsome presents to the student and general reader.

G. & C. MERRIAM & Co. offer their usual line of Webster's Dictionary, abridged and unabridged, and in all varieties of substantial binding. Comment on the appropriateness of this noble volume as a Christmas gift is unnecessary, as it is already classed as one of the perennial standards in the line of holiday presents.

THOMAS NELSON & SONS have ready for the holidays a new volume in the famous Pen and Pencil series called "Scottish Pictures," by the Rev. S. G. Green, D.D., author of "English Pictures," "French Pictures," etc. It is profusely illustrated by Percival Skelton, MacWhirter, Boot, Whympier, and other eminent artists, and gotten up in cloth, full gilt, imperial octavo size, in very attractive style. They also issue the perennial "Ancient Mariner," illustrated by David Scott, R.S.A., with a sketch of the life of the artist, and descriptive notes about the plates by the Rev. A. L. Simpson, D.D., of Derby, handsomely bound in cloth, with gold and ink design. A very pretty book is "Birth-day Flowers," their language and legends, writ-myths and legends of the old plantation. Joel Chandler Harris's style is well known and it's quaint peculiarities are well set off by the illustrations from the skilled pencils of Church and Beard. This house also provides new novels by favorite authors that some may use as most acceptable presents. Mr. Howells's "A Woman's Reason," Miss Blanche Howard's "Guenn: A Wave on the Breton Coast," Mrs. Burnett's "Vagabondia," and Julian Hawthorne's "Fortune's Fool," are sure of a hearty reception. The biography of John Greenleaf Whittier, by Francis T. Underwood, has just been published with the author's sanction, and contains many hitherto unpublished poems and a valuable bibliography; and George Willis Cooke's critical study of the life and writings of "George Eliot," shows the popular author of "Emerson," in the same entertaining and instructive vein we so enjoyed in the former biographical sketch. The Osgoods also call attention to the new sumptuous editions of "The Lady of the Lake" and "Lucile," and also to the Student's edition of the former, edited by Rolfe, and to the Tremont and pocket editions invaluable epitome of the battles, sieges, and strategic movements of 1861-65, based on the best authorities on both sides and also on the works of foreign writers. The Boston Advertiser pronounces it a model of good taste and intelligence. Last but not least are two very pretty gift-books that, although not illustrated, are as handsome as their richer companions: Mamie Thompson's "Songs of Fair Weather" is a bright, sunny, welcome little volume, says the Hartford Times, and Kate Sanborn's "A Year of Sunshine," is a healthy little year-book of five hundred quotations on making the best of things. The pages are red-lined and there is a margin for amateur decoration.

PHILLIPS & HUNT call attention to their long list of religious publications suitable as gifts and prizes in Sunday-school and churches. Among the notable and familiar names we notice the "Autobiography of Erastus O. Haven," late bishop in the M. E. Church, edited by C. C. Stratton, D.D.; "Life of Bishop Gilbert Haven," by the Rev. Dr. George Prentice; "Prayers of the Bible," compiled by Philip of the latter, all in very tasteful, rich, and most appropriate bindings. There is also a new edition of Dr. Palfrey's classic, "History of New England," thoroughly revised, with the addition of a very full index, published in four 12mo volumes in a neat box. "Our Civil War," by Colonel Theodore Ayrault Dodge, presents an

Watters; "Heroic Methodists of the Olden Time," by the Rev. Dr. Daniel Wise; "Life of Captain John Smith," first planter of Virginia, by the Rev. Dr. Charles K. True; "Guides and Guards in Character-Building," by the Rev. C. H. Payne, D.D.; and the Rev. Milton S. Terry's "Biblical Hermeneutics," a treatise on the interpretation of the Old and New Testaments.

PORTER & COATES have for the holiday season a very pretty and attractive line of illustrated poems. The greatest care has been given to their production, and the results are eminently satisfactory. "Bingen on the Rhine," Caroline E. Norton's celebrated poem, will be a small quarto, elegantly illustrated with many engravings, from original drawings by W. T. Smedley, F. B. Schell, Fredericks, Perkins, Garrett, and holiday souvenir, as Mr. Hunt has devoted a great deal of care and time to the completion of the work, and has shown excellent judgment in his selections. The magnitude of the task can be imagined when it is known to be a collection of translations into English of the poetry of other languages, ancient and modern, including translations from the Latin, Persian, Arabian, Japanese, Turkish, Servian, Russian, and many others. They will also have ready a line of octavo poems uniform in size, style, and price : "Ten others. In similar style is the popular poem, "The Night Before Christmas," by Clement C. Moore, whose Christmas song, an acknowledged favorite with old and young, is presented for the first time in such handsome dress. It is elegantly illustrated by such artists as Schell, Smedley, Fredericks, and Poore, and is printed on the finest plate paper. This house calls attention to the special and exceedingly handsome bindings in which the above works are published — canvas covers, hand-painted with special designs, limp calf, hand-painted, morocco antique, and plush, padded side with nickel lettering. These styles were very successful last year, and as but a limited number are made up, those who procure them in time will be fortunate. "The Poetry of Other Lands," by N. Clemmons Hunt, will be a valuable hand-book, as well as a suitable

While not strictly gifts, yet the Comte de Paris's "History of the War in America," with maps faithfully copied from the original, and printed in three colors, of which volume three was recently published by Thomas's "Comprehensive Biographical Dictionary," in many styles of binding, will be very handsome and useful presents.

JAMES POTT offers a work that every student of the Bible will find of great interest, and all teachers of Sunday-schools of great practical utility, in Dr. Geikie's "Hours with the Bible," in which the Bible is treated in the full light of modern discovery and research. Each volume of this extensive undertaking is complete in itself, and contains numerous illustrations and an exhaustive index. It is published in handy 12mo and retails at a remarkably low figure. "The Treasury of the Psalter" is another useful help for Bible students and sufficiently exhaustive to Johannot; and a new edition of "Robinson Crusoe," reprinted on fine paper in good type, from the original edition, with an introduction giving a new history of Defoe's masterpiece and with original illustrations by Ernest Griset.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have prepared a very rich edition of the "Essays of Elia," which will be a valuable addition to a clergyman's library. It is compiled by the Rev. George P. Putnam, of Malden, Mass., and the Rev. H. Metcalf, M.A., of Auburndale Mass., and the Bishop of Central New York has furnished a terse explanatory preface, which is written in the learning and happy knack of expression which distinguish the Rt. Rev. F. D. Huntington. Mr. Pott also calls attention to many new editions of the well-known publications of his house, and especially to the full set of Cambridge Bibles in all styles and bindings, and to the large assortment of prayer-books and hymnals that are sold at his establishment at very moderate prices.

JOHN E. POTTER & Co. have among their miscellaneous books suitable for holiday gifts a be limited to two hundred and fifty numbered copies, and be known as the Islington edition. It is printed on pure linen paper in clear, beautiful type, with wide margins, the etchings by Smillie, Gifford, Church, and Platt, printed on satin and put up separately in a thick pasteboard envelope that goes with the book. The world-renowned essays of the genial Charles Lamb have never as yet had so handsome a setting. The publishers have printed from the same plates another square octavo edition, which they call the Temple edition, that resembles the Artists' edition of the Irving Sketch-book and contains all the etchings of the richer edition. A handsome illustrated volume of less outward pretension, but of much literary and artistic merit, and most suitable as a holiday offering, is the volume called "Pen Pictures of Modern Authors," edited by William Shephard, of which this house has ready a new and revised edition. It has portraits on wood and steel of Carlyle, Tennyson, Bryant, Hawthorne, Dickens, Bayard Taylor, Newman, Emerson, Thackeray and others, and is beautifully printed on laid paper, bound in extra cloth, gilt top and uncut edges. A work that would delight the heart of a literary friend is ready under the title of "Prose Masterpieces from Modern Essayists," comprising single specimen essays from the most noted English and American writers of that form of literature. These essays have been selected with two objects: first to present specimens of the methods of thought and individual peculiarities of style of their several writers, and also to put into convenient shape for comparison the different kinds of treatment given by these writers to the same or similar subjects. The publishers have done their share to make the book appeal outwardly to the cultivated taste. They issue it in three volumes, bevelled boards, gilt top; in extra cloth with cloth box and in Russia leather binding and case, round corners, red edges; also in a large-paper edition, with portraits in extra cloth, gilt top, and rough edges.

A. D. F. RANDOLPH & Co. have a unique and handsome holiday gift-book, entitled, "The World's Christmas Hymn." William and Susan Hayes Ward have selected from the writings of the best-known authors verses that tell the "old, old story" of the world's need of a Saviour and the birth of Jesus Christ. These separate verses are arranged to tell the story consecutively, and the effect of the mixture of style and method caused by the epoch of writing as well as by the individuality of the author is quaint, strange, and really fascinating, and show much literary study, a nice discrimination, and excellent taste in the compilers. The names of the authors cited are given at the foot of each page, with the dates of the birth and also of the death of those who are gone, and we see the influence exercised by the beautiful thought of a world's Saviour on such minds as Milton's, Shakespeare's, Spenser's, Jeremy Taylor's, Montgomery's, Thackeray's, Mrs. Browning's, Charles Kingsley's, Tennyson's, Longfellow's, Whittier's, and many others. The idea is original and pretty and the execution a success. The publishers have done all their part to put these gems of many centuries into a fitting and durable setting. Paper, type, print, and illustrations are excellent. The latter are reproductions of the old masters. We see the noted works of Fra Angelico, Raphael, Rubens, etc. The covering of this handsome volume is a striking and original example of embossed decoration and color printing. The centre picture represents Fra Angelico's painting of the angel Gabriel blowing the trumpet. The familiar church window in which he stands is decorated with Christmas greens and holly, and surmounted with several bells in the various positions for Christmas chiming. Eighteen colors have been used for the printing of this cover, and the effect is gorgeous and unique. This house has a new book by the Rev. Benjamin Waugh, "to help Christian parents in the discharge of what the author believes to be their easiest and holiest duty," entitled "Sunday Evenings with My Children." It is a selection of hymns, portions of Scripture, and a short prayer and a sermon for every Sunday in the year, and the text is enlivened by many pretty illustrations. It is handsomely bound in cloth, and makes a good-sized quarto of nearly four hundred pages. "The Apocryphal Gospels, or, The Appearances of Christ to His Disciples after His Resurrection," edited by M. Baker. This firm also has ready to hand "Sources of History in the Bible," edited by Sophie Winthrop Weitzel's "Renée," edited by Rose Porter's "Story of a Flower," and a little volume of religious poetry—"Prayers for the Church on Earth," selected and edited by the Rev. J. C. Ryle, D.D.; a dainty little book of poems selected by a well-known taste and true feeling of the subject, entitled "The Changed Cross," entitled "The Land of God." They also call attention to "Miniature Poets" and the other pretensions of their list that lack of space prevents mentioning individually.

ROBERTS BROTHERS again present a remarkably handsome holiday gift-book, leading books, Jean Ingelow's "Hymns from the Coast of Lincolnshire" and Gray's "Elegy in a Country Church," have been fully described in our front page. A man's beautiful hymn, "Lead, Kind and Loving, Amid the Encircling Gloom," is issued in three editions similar to the "Elegy," twelve full-page illustrations by John Harper and George R. Haynes, printed in brown and black ink on pages. The post octavo edition is bound in cloth, morocco, and tree calf; the quarto in leather; and the Christmas souvenir in brilliant chromo-lithograph covers with fringed borders. Lord Houghton's "Good-Night and Good-Morning," "A fair little girl sat under a tree long as her eyes could see," has twelve illuminations by Walter Severn, forming six designs in illuminated cover ribbons and cord, and securely bound in "New England Legends and Folklore," edited by Samuel Adams Drake, for the first time in the old legendary stories of New England in permanent shape. It is illustrated with a hundred character designs by Merrill and forms a book of lasting value and interest. "La Fontaine's Fables" are in Robert Thompson's English translation, twenty-five full-page etchings by Dore, a portrait of the great poet, in an de luxe limited to two hundred and in parchment back, cloth sides, and make one of the handsomest gift-books of the season. Besides these new additions to the list of books, of which any house might be proud, Roberts Bros. have various new editions of favorites to which they call attention, which are Jean Ingelow's "Songs," edited by W. J. Linton; Miss Alcott's world-famous "Woman's World."

GEORGE ROUTLEDGE & SONS present a new work that must gladden the hearts of book-lovers. First on their list is the "Handy Volume" edition of Shakespeare, in thirteen volumes, with a gloss printed on extra fine paper specially prepared for this purpose, and is put in colored cloths and boxes—in paper top, and leatherette case; in imitation of the original, in gold-tooled, round corners, gilt edges—in in-case—and in every style makes a beautiful present. A new edition in five volumes of Jane Austen's classic novels is printed from new plates in large type with new illustrations, and is sold separately or in sets as may be desired. A roll by a new edition of the Shakespeare edited by Knight, with the world-renowned Gilbert illustrations, in three volumes in all kinds of bindings; and for the art and humor-loving readers of our day a splendid edition of the old-new edition of "The Spectator," in three volumes, is also printed from entirely new electrotype plates in large type, and reproduces the original text, both as first issued and as corrected by the authors; it has introduction, notes, and index by Henry Morley. They have ready for the many admirers it has gained as the years time "Robin Hood Ballads," collected by Joseph Ritson, with fifty original illustrations by Gordon Browne; also "A Sketch-book of Randolph Caldecott's," containing forty-eight pages of pictures, colored and plain, done in this celebrated artist's very cheeriest vein. A book of timely interest, considering the arrival o'

Henry Irving just at the opening of the holiday season, is the "Henry Irving Birthday-book," composed of quotations from the many parts in which Mr. Irving has acted so successfully, compiled by Viola Stirling, and containing six full-page portraits of the famous actor in different characters. It is tastefully mounted in cloth, red lines and gilt edges, and makes a very pretty attention for a drama-loving or Irving-admiring lady friend.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS' chief work, "Merry Adventures of Robin Hood," written and illustrated by Howard Pyle, is described in detail in the first section among prominent holiday books. The illustrations which we give there show the

R. H. Stoddard, which when completed include five handy volumes of English poetry grouped in periods and under subjects. Two volumes already issued, "Chaucer Burns" and "Lyrics of the Nineteenth Century," are remarkably fine specimens of book-making and delightful collections. As they have aimed to make this collection one of the most comprehensive and accurate ever published, no one should be without it for reference or occasional reading. "Mrs. Gilpin's Galities," by Susan Anna Brown, the author of that dainty volume of last season, "The Book of Forty Puddings," is another of those aesthetically lovely little cookery books which are a delight of woman when domestically inclined.

very great artistic merit of this beautiful book. We recommend it to the attention of all holiday bookbuyers as one of the most important American art-works published in recent years. This is the only really holiday work for grown people this house publishes, though it has on its list a number of the most interesting and valuable works in current literature in the market. Foremost is a new, revised, and enlarged edition of Williams's "Middle Kingdom," a classic on the subject of the Chinese Empire. The two handsome volumes which comprise the work virtually represent a new work in their revised condition, so many changes have occurred in Chinese life and government since the first edition of this book was issued thirty-five years ago. With its numerous illustrations and maps, and in the handsome shape in which it appears, it makes a most desirable gift-book for cultivated readers. For the same class is their new poetical anthology, "English Verse," edited by W. J. Linton and

It aims to teach economy, and comes in such an attractive form that every housekeeper covets it. "The Cottage Kitchen," by M. Harland, is a practical little cook-book whose key-note is also economy. It is for people of very moderate incomes, and is made very attractive by Marion Harland's "familiar" touch. Attention is also called to the new edition of Donald Grant Mitchell's works. Marvel's contributions to American literature should not be absent from any library that cares to embrace the best writings of our best authors. The Messrs. Scribners are issuing the volume in most excellent shape.

SCRIBNER & WELFORD present this year their leading gift-book "The Renaissance Art in Italy," by Leader Scott, author of "Bartolommeo," etc. The volume comprises a brief history of the rise of Italian art in Venice, Lucca, Pisa, and Ravenna, its development in Bologna, Siena, Orvieto and Padua, and its nation in Florence, Rome, and Venice. The work is lavishly illustrated with important examples of architecture, sculpture, painting, engraving, embroidery, metal-work, mosaics, and wood-carving. Next in importance to this may be considered Charles Yriarte's superb work on "Florence," which was issued too late last year to come in for a share in the holiday sales. It is, like all of this famous author's works, brimful of information, presented in the most fascinating manner, and illustrated without stint. Among

For art students they have two handsome volumes in "Ancient Greek Female Costume," a series of illustrative passages from the ancient writers, selected and arranged by J. Moyr Smith, illustrated by 112 full-page plates and 30 smaller engravings; and "The History of Fashion in France, or, The Dress of Women from the Gallo-Roman Period to the Present other handsome books ready this year we notice a unique volume, entitled "Monthly Maxims: Rhymes and Reasons to Suit the Seasons," with Pictures new to Suit them too," by Robert Dudley, with numerous full-page illustrations by the author, printed in chromo-lithography; "Wild Flowers of Switzerland, or, A Year amongst the Flowers of the Alps," by H. C. W., superb folio with 16 fine colored plates (accompanied with sectional designs and detailed depictions), painted the natural size from living plants; a "Matthew Arnold Birthday-Book," with appropriate selections from the various writings of this eminent author, whose visit to MARCUS WARD & Co. have two very pretty presents in "Bible Heartsease" and "Golden Grain," Scripture text-books for morning and evening, by the author of "Morning and Night Watches." The former is daintily illustrated with pansies, and the latter with ears of grain, oats and rye.

WHITE, STOKES & ALLEN have prepared for the holidays three exquisite fringed books, edited and designed by Susie B. Skelding, forming a Flower Song series, of which the delicacy and loveliness can only be appreciated by those who see them as well as read them. The first in the series is "Songs of Flowers," containing poems by standard writers upon pansies, wood-fringe, columbine, daisies, and ferns, accompanied by perfectly executed colored plates of each flower described in the verse; the second is "Maple Leaves and Golden-Rod," containing poems about maple leaves, golden-rod, harebells, and sweet-pease—the verses of T. B. Aldrich and J. G. Whittier being in fac-simile; the third, "A Handful of Blossoms," has poems of violets, white clover, apple-blossoms, morning-glories, and poppies, by celebrated authors—the one by Mary Mapes Dodge in fac-simile. The plates in all of these books represent the flowers they illustrate in their natural colors, and really are some of the prettiest pieces of flower-painting it has been our good fortune to see. For those not satisfied with one or the other of these artistic little gems, the publishers have gotten out a volume, called "Flowers from Hill and Dale," a quarto, printed on fine paper, with a highly ornate cover, in cloth, stamped in silver, gold, and color, containing all the poems, of the preceding three volumes, with fac-similes, and all the colored flower-plates as well, forming a superb and inexpensive Christmas offering. They have also added to their dainty series of Vellum Poets, printed on fine paper with wide margins, Charlotte Brontë, George Eliot, Thomas Gray, Frederick Locker, and Thackeray. Beside the well-known cloth and vellum bindings, they have this year given a fantastic Japanese dress to some of their treasures, which is fashionable and æsthetic, and of its kind very excellent in design and execution. This busy house has brought out an entirely new edition of their Fielding's works, and issued it on fine paper in clear type, making one of the handsomest editions of this famous author that can be had at so moderate a price.

THOMAS WHITTAKER has just brought out a new edition of "Salad for the Solitary and Social," by Frederick Saunders. It is issued in a cheaper form than the original, but with all the illustrations, and makes an appropriate present for a literary friend, as it contains some of the tid-bits of modern criticism and pointed sayings of known men. "English Cathedrals: Their Architecture, Symbolism and History," is an interesting work compiled by E. W. Boyd. They have besides, "a Thomas à Kempis Daily Text-Book," edited by W. E. Winks, and "Five Minutes," daily readings in poetry selected by H. L. Sidney-Lear.

R. WORTHINGTON calls attention to a very artistic holiday work, "Types of Spanish Story," an elegant édition de luxe of which he has added to his list. It deals with the manners and customs of old Castile, and is illustrated by thirty-six proof etchings on Japanese paper by R. De Los Rios. "A Book of Memories of Great Men and Women of the Age," by S. C. Hall, is a charming literary work, acceptable to all cultivated readers. New editions are also offered of two standard art-works—a cheaper one of Jewitt's "Ceramic Art of Great Britain" and one in an imperial octavo of "Ceramic Art in Japan." Uniform with the latter work, Mr. Worthington offers "Japanese Marks and Seals," exquisitely illustrated in gold and colors. This work treats of pottery, illuminated MSS. and printed books, lacquer, enamels, metals, wood, ivory, and other subjects of interest to collectors. It is the work of James Lord Bowes, and comprises thirteen hundred marks and seals copied in fac-simile, with examples in colors and gold, executed by the Messrs Firmin-Dietel of Paris. Mr. Worthington also calls attention to "something new" in presentation-books, the Japanese edition of the poets, comprising Shakespeare, Tennyson, Byron, Scott, Burns, Moore, Milton, Wordsworth, Shelley, Pope, Hemans, and "Gems of Late Poetry," bound in unique Japanese fashion, with colored edges of a peculiar shade, and a portrait and monogram in permanent photography of each poet on the cover. His new edition of McCalman's "Compact History of England" must not be overlooked among desirable library works. He has likewise a beautiful edition in six volumes of Felicia Hemans's poems, a choice gift for the admirers of this graceful poet.

E. & J. B. YOUNG & Co. offer suitable and welcome gifts in their full line of Eyre & Spangwode's Bibles, prayer-books, hymnals, and Testaments in all sizes and in every style of binding. The combination sets of prayer-books and hymnals, in slip cases with or without handles, are in five sizes, in two hundred and fifty different styles of type and binding. They also call attention to an assortment of devotional books in fine bindings of French morocco, calf, Russia, and seal; to the Bradbury Agnew edition of the "Handy-Volume Shakespeare" in thirteen volumes, put up in silk-lined lock case to match the books, which are handsomely bound in Persian crocodile, German turkey, English Russia cloth, and to their attractive line of English "Landscape Poets," printed with colored illustrated page borders and bound in many handsome varieties. They have a full line of the publications of the London Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge, including the "Picture Architecture of the British Isles," by Rev H. H. Bishop, an oblong folio with one hundred and seventy illustrations, neatly bound, one of the cheapest books out in this line; Balguy's "Italy," Scarth's "Roman Britain," etc., etc.; they also have the "Life of William Rolland Whittingham, fourth Bishop of Maryland," by Wm. F. Brand; a little volume entitled "Memorial: Sister Louise," in which Dr. Van Rensselaer tells the story of the life and work of this devoted woman, and a second edition of the "Life of the Rev. J. Lloyd Breck."

Books for the Young.

UNDER this heading is given, in the alphabetical order of their publishers, a descriptive list of all the new books offered as specially suitable for the young.

THE AMERICAN SUNDAY-SCHOOL UNION have an attractive list of profusely illustrated and appropriately gotten up books in the prevailing styles of binding. Among others the What to Do series in three volumes—"What to do," "How not to do it," and "How to do it"—by Mrs. A. K. Dunning; "Gwendoline, or, The Halcots and Halcombs," by Miss Agnes Giberne, an English tale; "St. Ulrich," by E. A. W., a tale of Switzerland; "The Emigrants," a translation from the German of Franz Hoffman by Mrs. Conrad, a tale of the last century and of the Fatherland and the Lehigh Valley; "Will and Will not," by Catharine M. Trowbridge, a specially good story for boys; "Dr. Martindale's Ward" and "Every Cross Hath its Inscription," published separately and also in one volume; "Sidney the Knight," by E. T. Disosway, a historic tale of England during the reign of the "Good Queen Bess;" "Downward, or The New Distillery," and "Struggling Upward," two temperance stories, both by Sarah J. Jones; and "Larry Gilbert," by Mrs. S. K. Reeves, a wide-awake boy's book. To meet the demand for square 12mo illustrated picture-books this house has prepared in handsome style the "Child among Children" and "Hours with my Picture-Book." In text-books it has ready fresh editions of "Guide for Little Footsteps" and "A Lamp for the Feet," each containing selections of texts and verses for every day in the year. These two books are very chastely bound. The illustrations in "Will and Will not" and in "Dr. Martindale's Ward" are from woodcuts very carefully engraved by Miss R. G. Jacobs.

THE AMERICAN TRACT SOCIETY offers to the young people two excellent volumes of fiction by Mrs. A. E. Barr—"Scottish Sketches," tales of Scotch scenes and character, and "Cluny MacPherson," a story of Scotland. A good story on temperance for young ladies is "Daisy Snowflake's Secret," and a pretty little book for little readers is "Little Glory's Mission." They have also ready their "Apples of Gold, Jr.," for this year, a nice quarto, with "100 short stories and pictures." Their series embraces some good reading matter in the way of standard juvenile books at a very low price.

J. R. ANDERSON & H. S. ALLEN are publishing two series of books, one for girls and one for boys. Grace Greenwood provides the fiction in the Girlhood and Womanhood series, which treats in a fascinating manner of the life of Queen Victoria, judging her more from the standpoint of wife and mother than in the romantic character of sovereign. The attractive style, and from its pretty exterior, the intrinsic merit is sure to be very popular. Eliza Follen enriches the Boyhood and Manhood series with the "Backwoods Boy," relating the fortunes of Abraham Lincoln in a truthful, interesting way. The first volume in the series, dealing with the life of George Washington, is as much in demand as ever, and the next issue, "The Surveyor Boy, or, The Boy of the George Washington," will be sure of ever-ready readers, and is written in the delightful style of Mr. William M. Thayer.

A. C. ARMSTRONG & SON have several attractive new volumes for young people. "The Cruise of the Snow-Bird" is, according to the London Academy, "a well and briskly told story" of Arctic adventure, by Dr. Gordon R. N., who so well knows how to write stories that boys delight in of moving action and hair-breadth escapes; it has nine full-page illustrations and is bound in extra cloth, full gilt side. To their ever-popular Academy Library has been added the posthumous is much-appreciated writer, which forms the volume of the series, under the taking title, "Powder-Monkey to Admiral." It is a story of stirring naval adventure, has eight illustrations, and is bound in bright-colored cloth, gilt side and back. Alice Cary's "Clover-leaf Children" and "Snow-Berries," that have been out of print more than twenty years, will re-circulate as the old friend of our youth; Madeline Leslie adds "Ingleside" to her long list of delightful books for girls; "Across the Water" is Mrs. Payne's new book; and Eglanton Thorne has a pretty story called "The Worcester Jug, or, John Griffin's Little Maid." All these form specially suitable presents to Sunday-school scholars.

be issued in handsomely bound volumes, to delight our children as they did us. John G. Whittier has said that "Clovernook Children" has the stamp of true genius, and William Cullen Bryant thought "Snow-Berries" "one of the most fascinating books of its kind."

BRADLEY & CO., Boston, have some new titles of merit and decided interest. Miss M. Benson's sequel to "Opposite the Jail," "A Trial for His Life," is said to be as fas-

ROBERT CARTER & BROS., among many other attractive juveniles, call special attention to the new volume of Miss Warner's, entitled "Stephen, M.D.," said to be as interesting as the first efforts of this inexhaustible writer. There is a special charm about the books of the author of "The Wide, Wide World" that cannot be put in words, but many feel it and can read her books again and again. Her sister, Miss Annie B. Warner, has generously furnished "A Bag of Stories" that are ready in very attractive dress; "Miss Prudence" is the new story by Jennie M. Drinkwater Conklin; "Jock Halliday," by Miss Robina F. Hardy, is a pretty story of life among the poor of Edinburgh; and "Aldersyde" is a Scottish border story by Annie S. Swan, which so good an authority as Mr. Gladstone has pronounced "beautiful as a work of art." This house has also issued a new and beautiful edition of the stories of A. L. O. E. filling fifty volumes, 16mo, bound in crimson cloth and put up in a wooden case.

CASELL & Co.'s juvenile publications are as numerous and brilliant this season as in former years. With so many pretty volumes to claim the attention it is difficult to particularize. However, one of the leading books in beauty of illustrations and interest of text is certainly "Jingles and Joys," little poems "for wee girls and boys" by Mary D. Brine, the popular author of "Papa's Little Daughters" and other stories. The gay cover, the musical jingle of the verses, and the profusion of pictures are calculated to delight every little one to whom it is Both pictures and reading matter will children. In "Bible Scenes and Sto Young Folks," the text by Mrs. F. M. Harris ("Hope Ledyard") and the illustrations from the original designs by Gustave they have a most artistic work, that will not only the young people, but also their. presented. "Four Little Friends" is another book by Mary D. Brine, but for older children, being a consecutive story of the doings of "Papa's Little Daughters" in town. Of a similar character is "Harry Bradford's Crusade," by Joanna H. Mathews, the famous author of the "Bessie Books." It is a story for reading children, and contains the chronicles of the Bradford family. Both of the last-mentioned books are handsome quartos with plenty of bold page pic-

Here is a new book, "A Parcel of Children," which relates to childhood's happy romps, illustrated by an abundance of cuts. "Odd Folks at Home" comprises illustrated pages of natural history written down to a child's comprehension. It is by C. L. Matéaux. A new volume of "Bo-peep," with its delightful stories in large, clear type and its bold cuts, is also ready for the very smallest. "Little People's Album," with illustrations on nearly every page by Lizzie Lawson, E. Edwards, and other artists, will prove a most satisfactory present for little boys or girls. Our charming books in uniform lithographic covers of blue and yellow are: "On a Coral Reef," the story of a runaway trip to sea, by Arthur Locker; "Queen of the Tournament and Butterfly Ball at Maperley Hall," by Robert St. John Corbet; "Mince-Pie Island," a Christmas story for mince-pie eaters, also by Robert St. John Corbet; and "King Gab's Story Bag" and the wonderful stories it contained, by Heraclitus Grey. Among the many series which this house publishes is The Old Arm-Chair Series, five juveniles in large type and brilliant dress, severally entitled "Stories Told in the Old Arm-Chair," "Among the Snowflakes," "Wee Baby Stories," "Christmas Bells," "Daisy Bright Eyes," and "The Cat's Nursery." The books are quartos, full of pictures and sell at a very low price. Other series are Our Boys' Holiday Library and Our Girls' Holiday Library, each containing five story-books. The Wonderland Library and School Life and Boyhood Library, each comprising six books, are both instructive and amusing, the first relating entirely to travel, in different parts of the world, and the latter being a mixture of biography, travel, and romance. We would in conclusion say a word for the exceedingly pretty and substantial board binding of the Messrs. Cassell & Co.'s juveniles, and the general excellence and attractiveness of the text and illustrations.

S. E. CASSINO & Co. have brought out new and handsome editions of the ever-popular "Rollo Books," by Jacob Abbott, 14 vols.; and of "The Cottage Library," by S. C. Goodrich, 12 vols., put up in sets in neat boxes.

ROBERT CLARKE & Co., Cincinnati, issue this year a new edition of Louise W. Tilden's ever-popular children's poem, "Karl and Gretchen's Christmas," illustrated, which Dr. S. I. Prime considers a gem sure to gladden the heart of all the children who will have the fortune to read it or hear it read. They also issue a new edition of what may be considered a companion to the above, "Grandma's Christmas Day," a Christmas poem for children by Virginia Goodwin Ellard, illustrated by Caroline A. Lord. For inquisitive youngsters "Insect to the "Town Heroes," published some time back; "The Academy Boys in Camp," by Mrs. S. F. Spear; "Ned Harold's Delight, or, The Homes of the Giants," by Mrs. Susan G. Knight; and "The Forged Letter," by Sarah P. Brigham.

T. Y. CROWELL & Co. have some good books for the younger people of the household, in the new edition of the Rev. D. C. Eddy's "Walter's Tour in the East," in six 12mo volumes, rendered attractive by good illustrations, clear type, and bright covers. They have also several new editions of other old favorites, among which Jacob Abbott's works take the most prominent place. These combine Abbott's American histories in eight volumes; the "Jonas Books" in six volumes; the "Lucy Books" in six volumes; and the "Rollo Books," those standard classics in children's literature, in fourteen volumes. All these are profusely illustrated and well printed, and are much finer volumes than those in which we first learned to know and love Rollo.

CUPPLES, UPHAM & Co. have ready the first volume in a new series of biographical stories for the young, to be known as "Lives of the Great and Good." Grace Oliver is the editor and has added a most interesting introduction to this volume, in which Francis E. Cooke tells the "Lives, or, Born in Prison," by Mrs. Julia P. Ballard, will prove a welcome gift. It gives hints as to how to capture, prepare, and preserve butterflies and moths, also how to rear caterpillars, pleasantly written and very fully illustrated.

THE CONGREGATIONAL PUBLISHING SOCIETY have the following in the line of gift-books for Sunday-school scholars and others: "The Boy Lollards," by the Rev. Frederick A. Reed, a capital boy's book, sure of the welcome accorded "Story of Theodore Parker." This series is sure to be a most successful one, and its first volume gives promise of much pleasant reading.

DODD, MEAD & Co. have, as usual, some interesting juveniles for the holidays. Perhaps the most striking in appearance, and one that may attract both young and old readers, is a large quarto edition of the "Chronicle of the Cid," with introduction and appendix by Richard Markham, and upward of 50 designs by J. H. " "

McVickar and Alfred Brennan, very handsomely bound. Encouraged by the success of Prof. Alfred J. Church's Homer and Virgil, they offer two new volumes, one containing "Stories from Herodotus," and the other "Stories from Livy," each illustrated in colors from designs by Flaxman and others. They also have two new volumes in the Minor Wars of the United States series, "King Philip's War," treated by Richard Markham, and "War with Mexico," by Horatio O. Ladd. "Grandmother's Story of Bunker Hill Battle" is a ballad by Oliver Wendell Holmes, illustrated in color by H. W.

series; the Laddies' Library and the Girls' Gem Library, each containing six 12mo volumes with covers stamped in flowers, gold, and colors. "Sunday for 1883" in very handsome dress, two new volumes by Kingston—"Paddy Finn, or, The Adventures of a Midshipman Aboard Ashore," and "Won from the Waves"—both in quarto; and several other stories for boy readers uniform with this series.

JAMES H. EARLE offers a wholesome book: "Capital for Working Boys," by J. E. McConaughy, calculated to encourage and inspire

From "Three Vassar Girls in England." (Estes & Lauriat.)

McVickar; Martha Finley contributes a new Elsie book, entitled "Elsie's New Relations;" Chas. Nordhoff's "Man-of-War Life" has a new preface written by the author for a new edition from new plates; Abbott's "American Pioneers and Patriots" has a new edition in twelve volumes with very ornamental bindings; and there are numerous new editions of the long line of Sunday-school and story books published by this house in sets containing four, five, eight, or ten volumes, almost every set receiving a new volume, and one entirely new series being started under the name of Childhood Days, which is issued with gorgeously illuminated covers, appealing to the taste of very youthful readers.

E. P. DUTTON & Co. have a real work of art in their color-book, "Told in the Twilight," a book of poems by F. E. Weatherby, with designs by M. E. Edwards and J. C. Staples, manufactured in Germany by Messrs. Hildeheimer & Faulkner and printed in the finished style of the Christmas cards of this well-known firm. Although ostensibly for children, this handsome book will make a charming present for a lady's centre-table. This house has its usual well-stocked line of Christmas juveniles, among which are a great variety of "New Board Juveniles," ranging from 25 cts. to $1.75 per volume; the Boys' and Girls' Own Favorite series, a new line of forty-five 12mo volumes equally divided between boys and girls and with three exceptions issued for the first time in this a boy to aspire to manly ways and generous actions. The volume is handsomely bound to match "From Log-Cabin to White House."

ESTES & LAURIAT follow up their successful line of juveniles with several new volumes that fully come up to their usual standard. Herbert Butterworth's "Zigzag Journeys" takes the club this time from the Rhine to the Arc Circle, by way of Holland, Belgium, Germany, Denmark, Norway and Sweden, etc. "The Boy of the Sierras, or, The Young Gold Hunter," relates the exciting adventures of miners' lives during 1849 in the far regions of California. "The Knockabout Club in the Tropics," by Mr. C. Stephens, carries boys through the land of the Aztecs, the ruins of Central America, and the Queen of the Antilles. While these books are specially adapted for boys, the older girls will read with delight and perhaps also with profit the sunny memories of "Three Vassar Girls in England" upon a summer excursion to historic scenes and noted places, which is Lizzie Cheney's addition to what we already have from her of Vassar girls; and the young of both sexes will be pleased with their old friend "Chatterbox" in 1883 livery; also with "Chatterbox Annual;" "The Rose and the Ring, or, The History of Prince Gylfaginn Prince Bulbo;" "The Prize 1883," a companion to Chatterbox; and "My First Book," containing interesting and pleasant pictures for little people. A young student of history will find one of the interesting volumes of the admirable Young Folks' History series in Mrs. C. Emma Cheney's "History of the Civil War."

HARPER BROS. offer in "Adventures of Two Youths in a Journey through Africa" the fifth and concluding part of Col. Knox's famous "Boy Travellers in the Far East." This series has always been among the best of this style of books—books combining instruction and amusement—not only in its entertaining letterpress, but in its illustrations. This volume fully sustains the reputation gained for the four preceding ones, and will be eagerly read, we are sure, by the fortunate boys to whom it is presented. The binding is rich and showy, the paper fine and tinted, and the pictures abundant. Margaret Eyttinge, a popular writer for the young, has collected into one volume a number of stories she has at different times contributed to Harper's Young People, St. Nicholas, Wide Awake, and other periodicals for the young, under the title, "The Ball of the Vegetables." It is full of characteristic and exceedingly clever designs, which will, with the pretty stories, delight the hearts of the little ones. Harper's Young People is so well known, with its bewildering array of pictures and its variety of reading matter, that attention need merely be called to the fact that the bound volume for 1883 is now ready in elegant binding. Nothing could be better or more calculated to give lasting pleasure to the young folks in the long winter evenings than this storehouse of juvenile literature. We trust no good little girl or boy will fail to receive it from Santa Claus. The Harpers also under the title, "Stories from American History," four of Charles Carleton Coffin's books for boys, namely, "The Story of L. Old Times in the Colonies," "The 176," and "Building the Nation."

HENRY HOLT & Co. have a series of books for boys in their Great America told for young people. Champlin's "Folks' History of the War for the Union" has been followed by "Captain Phil," in which M. Thomas gives a boy's experience in the Western army during the war of the rebellion, and "The Drummer-Boy," translated from French of Louis Rousselet by W. J. C. telling the story of the French auxiliary in the American Revolution. All these are 12mos, have numerous illustrations of them occupying full pages, and are well bound and attractively bound. They are his correct and furnish much information in suitable for young, active minds. The "Young Folks' Cyclopædias" are always ble presents.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. have but a few juvenile books this year, "Poems for Children" by Mrs. Celia Thaxter, embracing the poems which she has written relating to childhood, beautifully printed with ink, in a small quarto volume, illustrated attractively by Miss A. G. Plimpton; "English Bodley Family," a continuation of Mr. Scudder's remarkably attractive and ful Bodley books, the scene this time being in England, and incidents and characters of English history forming the groundwork of the stories, travels, and adventures of the American and English Bodley cousins, who have a most form living pictures and scenes in perspective. They have also an interesting book for children in W. Hagelberg's "Manual of Zoology," in five volumes, with illuminated covers, and a box of colored pictures with each volume. The charming time. The book is fully illustrated, and will continue if not increase the interest with which the various experiences of the Bodley family have hitherto been followed.

THE INTERNATIONAL NEWS CO. call attention to their handsome juveniles entitled "The Showman's Series" (in four volumes), which is somewhat of a novelty in picture-books, the illustrations being cut out and mounted so as to

LEE & SHEPARD have as usual spread a feast for the young folks. Boys will be pleased to meet again the heroes of "Our Boys in India" in Harry W. French's new volume, "Our Boys in China," in which these boys, after starting on their homeward trip, are wrecked in the China Sea, saved, and landed in China, where the author takes occasion to teach them and those interested in them many interesting things about that but slightly known country; and which is made very attractive by 188 illustrations. Those who followed the adventures of "Young Americans in Japan" will also gladly greet them in the "Bear Worshippers of Yezo, and the Island of Karafuto," in which Edward Greey lets the Jewett family and their friend Oto Nambu meet the peculiar bearded people who inhabit the north of Japan. The illustrations in this volume number 180, all by native Japanese artists, who have also provided the design for the ornamental colored board and cloth covers. The ever-popular Oliver Optic has written still another book, under the title, "Snug Harbor," which is the second volume in the Boat-Builder series, and tells of Champlain mechanics, introducing his readers into the workshop, where they are taught to build a boat or a boat-house and given an opportunity to enjoy an old sailor's "yarns." Dr. Robert M. Dixon has in "Fore and Aft" a personal narrative of sea experiences, including fire, mutiny, and all the perils and marvels, that is said to rank with Dana's "Two Years Before the Mast," and that friends young and old of nautical stories delight in. J. T. Trowbridge provides two new stories, "Phil and his Friends" and "Tinkham Brothers' Tide-Mill," first published as a serial in St. Nicholas, where it met with the favor always accorded by the young people to this gifted writer. Sophia May has a new story in the Flaxie Frizzle series, called "Flaxie's Kittyleen;" Miss M. A. Douglas will delight little girls with "Santa Claus Land," telling them a bewitching story of a dream visit to Santa Claus and the adventures encountered among the Elfin, Toy, and Doll nations; and maidens of more advanced years will rejoice in the new story from her pen, entitled "Floyd Grandon's Honor," and boys and girls alike will eagerly read "The Age of Chivalry and Romance of English History," in which the well-known work of Bulfinch has been carefully edited and supplemented by the never-tiring Rev. Edward E. Hale. "Which, Right or Wrong?" is a story of life at Lakeview, introducing a camp-meeting and recording the amusements in the grove and on the lake, written by M. L. Moreland in a way that proves the experienced hand of a successful author for the young. "The Riverdale Stories," those pet stories for "Oliver Optic's little folks," have been issued in a new edition, with new colored covers of original designs and new illustrations added, 12 volumes put up in boxes or sold separately; and last, but not least, "Our Little Ones," edited by Oliver Optic, with over 350 original designs, bound in illuminated covers with a handsome original design, is one of the most beautiful books with which to tempt the very little ones.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT & Co. present a tempting line of juvenile books. In addition to the favorites of former years, which are still as popular as ever, they publish this year "Our Young Folks' Plutarch," consisting of the "Lives" adapted for boys and girls, told in a simple, easy, and pleasant style, by Rosalie Kaufman, omitting all the features in the original which are in any way out of keeping with a juvenile book. It is published in 8vo with illustrations and maps. "Young Folks' Whys and Wherefores," by Uncle Lawrence, is a profusely illustrated work, containing a great deal of information upon every-day questions in natural science, conveyed in a simple style that renders them not only intelligible but interesting and stimulating to the youthful mind. "Grey Hawk" recounts life and adventures among the red Indians of North America; the old story of the "Narrative of John Tanner's Captivity" is retold by Dr. Macaulay, and makes a book of interest to both old and young. "Two Years Afloat the Mast" tells the life of F. W. H. Symondson, the author, who gives a vivid description of his experiences in apprentices' quarters afloat the mast on board a British ship; "Bible Stories for Young Children," by Caroline Hadley, are told in language adapted to the comprehension of the young. Southey's "Life of Lord Nelson" will contain many illustrations; and George Macdonald's Library in four volumes, 12mo, comprising "Ronald Bannerman's Boyhood," "The Princess and the Goblin," "The Princess and the Curdie," and "At the Back of the North Wind," will be a welcome present to the young folks, for whom George Macdonald writes with love and originality. All of the above are prettily bound in stamped cloth with new and handsome designs.

D. LOTHROP & Co. have as in former years a rich and extensive collection of works for the young. Their books range from mere picture-books for the little bits of children to artistically illustrated stories for the grown-up children by our most famous writers for the young. "A Family Flight through Spain," by the Rev. E. E. Hale and Miss Susan Hale, is uniform in appearance and arrangement with the "flights" of former years into France and Egypt. It combines amusing adventures with graphic pen-and-pencil pictures of the most prominent features of the country. The illustrations are profuse and authenticated. Mr. Rand's new book, "All Aboard for the Lakes and Mountains," beautifully illustrated and bound, forms a delightful companion for "Sunrise, Lands," published last year. Miss Brown's "Life of Washington," although an old subject, is freshly treated, and contains much interesting matter which has never before found place in any popular biography of the father of his country. It is uniform with Lothrop's "Series of Young Folks' Biographies." A bright and helpful book is "Keenie's To-morrow," from the pen of Jennie M. Drinkwater, and the same may be said of Mrs. Moulton's "Hill Rest." David Ker's "From the Hudson to the Neva" is a fascinating book of travel, and John Preston True's "Their Club and Ours" will find a multitude of delighted readers. A new edition enlarged is also brought out of "The Poet and Children," a book which was last season in extraordinary demand. Its clear, handsome type, heavy paper, and profuse illustrations make it a genuine "thing of beauty." "Parlor Comedies," by C. R. Talbot, is for the older young people, and furnishes the means for a high class of parlor amusements. "My Curiosity-Shop" is a quarto volume, crammed with capital stories and fully illustrated. Every boy and girl of artistic tastes will revel in Mrs. Champney's "John Angelo at the Water-Color Exhibition," which is illustrated with a large number of sketches drawn by many eminent artists. There is a bewildering number of small books for the smallest readers, all illustrated and many in colors, which it would be impossible to specify. There is "The Story of Puff," "Bo Peep for Little Folks," "How the Rain Sprites Were Freed," and "Pansy's Home Story-Book," with others to which we must refer the reader to the catalogue. Something must also be said about the bound annuals which this house issues each year, and which this present season far exceed in beauty and literary quality those of any past year. Wide Awake takes the lead in merit and fame. The bound numbers for 1883 make an elegant and artistic volume. Our Little Men and Women is another of the periodical issues of this house which has achieved a great popularity. It is brimful of good things every month. The bound volume of "Pansy" appeals strongly to young readers, and little "Babyland" is a treasure-house of pictures and stories for the very little ones. The first number of the "Chautauqua Young Folks' Annual" makes its appearance this year, and nothing is better adapted to the needs of the boys and girls of a household. Its contents are made up of short articles by various authors, and nearly every branch of practical science is touched upon. Besides these books of the year there are many issued in past seasons whose attractiveness and value make them always seasonable. There are the editions in boxes of the works of Pansy, Ella Farman, and Julia H. Eastman; the two series of "Young Folks' Histories," the "Rollo Books," the Thousand Dollar Prize series, 16 volumes, containing some of the best Sunday-school books ever written; the five volumes of Lothrop's Library of Entertaining History; the twelve volumes of the Famous American series; the William Henry Books, the issues of the V. I. F. series and scores of others for whose names we have not room.

MACMILLAN & Co. have this season a new book, "Rhyme and Reason," by Lewis Carroll, the author of the ever-popular "Alice's Adventures in Wonderland," being a reprint with a few additions of the comic portion of "Phantasmagoria and Other Poems," and of the "Hunting of the Snark," with illustrations by Arthur B. Frost and Henry Holiday; "True Tales for my Grandsons," by Sir Samuel White Baker, with numerous illustrations; "Two Little Waifs," by Mrs. Molesworth, with illustrations by Walter Crane; and "Hannah Tarne," a story for children, with illustrations by W. J. Hennesy. They also call attention to the various standard books for the young by Charlotte M. Yonge and Mrs. Molesworth, put up in boxes, the former comprising eight volumes, the latter seven volumes in neat bindings.

THE NATIONAL TEMPERANCE SOCIETY have a new book by that excellent writer, Annette L. Noble, entitled "How Billy Went up in the World," "Hannah: One of the Strong Women," by J. McNair Wright; and "Save the Boys," by M. E. Winslow.

THOS. NELSON & SONS have stocked their juvenile department with many new and handsome treasures for the young folks. They have "Stories from Virgil" simply told by Charles Henry Hanson and illustrated with designs from Flaxman and other artists; "Shakespeare Stories" simply told by Mary Seamer, with 130 engravings by the late Frank Howard; "Shakespeare's Tragedies and Histories" simply told by the same author in the hope of familiarizing children with the works of this great dramatist; "Old Greek Stories" simply told by the author of "Stories from Virgil," dealing with the siege of Troy and the wanderings of Ulysses; this author's simple story of the "Days of King Arthur;" "Dusty Diamonds," a tale of city Arab life and adventure, by R. M. Ballantyne, with many full-page illustrations; a new book of travel and adventure under the name of "Frank Redcliffe," written by Achilles Daunt, to describe life in the forests of Venezuela, "The Czar," a tale of the time of Napoleon I.; "The World by the Fireside, or, Pictures and Scenes from Far-off Lands," profusely illustrated; and Dean Swift's immortal "Gulliver's Travels," with introduction and explanatory notes by the late Robert MacKenzie, author of "America and the Nineteenth Century," containing for the first time the original maps of the first edition of this book. The Edinburgh Scotsman says "This book is printed with all the care and beauty that mark the productions of Messrs. Nelsons' press." A new book by a popular author is "The Children of Abbotsmuir Manse," by the writer of "Nellie's Teachers;" "Fighting the Good Fight" shows the successful influence of well-doing; "Heroism in Humble Life" is a temperance tale; and good, interesting stories without any special tendency will be found in "Little Bricks;" "A London Baby;" "Alas! Leap;" "The Babe in the Mill;" and a new series of colored picture-books under the heading of Sparkling Eye series. Some very delightful books, each containing about 100 of G. Comelli's graceful illustrations, are: "Songs of Animal Life," with Mary Howitt's poems; "With the Birds" and "With the Flowers," both with words by the same author; and Mrs. Barbauld's "Hymns in Prose for Children," all bound in extra bevelled cloth. Two very fine art picture-books for the young are: "At the Mother's Knee," domestic scenes beautifully illustrated in colors from designs by Mrs. Tinsley, with pretty descriptive verses, and "The Landseer Picture-Book," containing sixteen colored illustrations after Sir Edwin Landseer. The Messrs. Nelson also have many new "Toy-Books," each containing ten pages of colored illustrations in letterpress in pictorial covers, which they sell by the dozen in assorted sets. These include the New Picture Series of Favorite Tales; The Scripture Picture-Books; The Landseer Series of Picture-Books, etc.

JAMES R. OSGOOD & Co. have a unique treat with fifty illustrations which they call "A Little Girl among the Old Masters," consisting of her own compositions and inventions in sacred and legendary art, with delightful and valuable descriptions by Mr. Howells of the little woman's curious and entertaining sketches. They also furnish a splendid gift for patriotic boys in "The Recollections of a Drummer-Boy," as told to the Rev. Harry M. Kieffer, chaplain of the 15th Pennsylvania Volunteers, who describes the scenes of the rebellion with the skilled hand of an experienced writer for young folks and with the vividness and accuracy of an eye-witness. Such books are worth more than a bewildering host of inferior books.

PHILLIPS & HUNT have ready a very pretty book under the self-explanatory title of "Pictures from English History." Mr. Coleman Bishop has selected the material and edited the work carefully, and the illustrations are the work of the great historical artists. Every boy must delight in such a book, and it is at so reasonable a sum that any generous teacher can gladden a favorite scholar's heart by presenting so pretty and valuable a reward of merit. Mrs. Winslow has written "His Keeper," and this house has brought it out in attractive shape; Reese Rockwell tells a story of "Small Things;" Sena G. Tell relates the "Story of Young Margaret;" and the Rev. Dr. Wise has prepared for boys and girls some very interesting and well-told sketches and anecdotes of American Methodists who made their mark in the days that are no more.

PORTER & COATES have done handsomely by the boys in their selection of juvenile holiday books. Jules Verne's "Underground City," side of the home, than against drunkenness in its grosser forms, is told with effective quietness. "First the Blade," by Hannah Moore Johnson, is the history of a family of young people, bringing out the lesson of Christian growth, "First the blade, then the ear," etc.; "Conrad and the House Wolf," by Joy Allison, one of the best kind of temperance stories, both for boys and girls, showing the influence of faithful Christian character; "Birds and Their Days," "Michael Ellis's Texts," "Six Years on the Border," and "Little Hans," make a choice series of prettily illustrated 16mos. "Among the Alaskans," by Julia McNair Wright, is full of interesting descriptions of the country, its

From "The Young Circus Rider." (Porter & Coates.)

"The Child of the Cavern," is translated by H. Kingston and illustrated with 43 characteristic pictures, and is of course just the thing boys. Horatio Alger, Jr., always popular in "Young America," starts a new series with the Atlantic with a volume bearing the riveting title, "The Young Circus Rider;" no less popular Harry Castlemon also begins a new series under the name of Rod and, with "Don Gordon's Shooting-Box;" and Ward S. Ellis adds "Ned in the Block-se" to the Pioneer series. Margaret Van-ift provides for girls "The Queen's Body-d," published uniform with "Dr. Gilbert's ghters," and likely to be as great a success as popular predecessor. Moore's ever new 1. "Night Before Christmas," suitable for and young, is described among the "Holiday is."

THE PRESBYTERIAN BOARD OF PUBLICATION a choice list of juvenile books. "The s," by Abbey Eldredge, a temperance tale ed rather against those insidious effects of rate drinking which often escape notice out-people, their customs, habits, and religions, and contains 28 excellent illustrations.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have remembered the boys and girls handsomely this season, in bringing out for their especial benefit the "Plutarch for Boys and Girls," which is described at length in our front pages. Mrs. Herrick has prepared a volume on "The Wonders of Plant-Life," graphically illustrated, giving a clear and simple account of the various stages of plant-life, in a manner suited to the tastes and comprehensions of all who have a taste for the delightful study of botany. Lewis Carroll, made famous by that classic, "Alice in Wonderland," has again brought this original little girl to our notice in "Alice through the Looking-Glass," and this his latest effort has now been dramatized for children by Kate F. Crocker and is published with several other fairy plays in a pretty illustrated volume. This house also sends us an ingeniously arranged year-book, "The Calendar of American History for 1884," containing a large amount of information upon events in United States history. It is arranged by date, and if young o-old would learn the facts set down for each day of the year, they would find themselves well posted in the history of their land before Christmas, 1884. There is an excellent index and the fat little volume is appropriately held within limits by card covers, of which the front one represents the American shield in red white and blue.

ROBERTS BROTHERS have been fortunate enough to secure a new book by Mary Mapes Dodge, the beloved editor of St. Nicholas, and author of that most charming story, "Hans Brinker." It is nothing less than "Donald and Dorothy," the story which already, in the pages of St. Nicholas, has captured the young, and which has now been revised and enlarged by the author, and is most eagerly expected by all who have heard of it. It has been illustrated throughout with perfectly executed wood-engravings, and is handsomely bound in cloth, gilt and black lettered, making a most attractive Christmas book. Two other books by favorite authors are "A Round Dozen of Stories," by Susan B. Coolidge, the author of "What Katy Did," etc., all new and all interesting and fascinatingly told, as is synonymous with the name of the writer; and, by Louise Chandler Moulton, the author of the excellent "Bedtime Stories," a new volume of "Firelight Stories." There is a volume of "Classic Tales," a collection of Miss Edgeworth's best stories, with a biographical sketch by Grace A. Oliver; a tale of the Crusades, by G. A. Henty, entitled "The Boy Knight who Won his Spurs Fighting with King Richard of England," and a selection of "Classic Heroic

GEORGE ROUTLEDGE & SONS have ready in the irresistible costume of Kate Greenaway her new gift-book, "Little Ann, and other Poems," which they put forth as their leading Christmas juvenile. It has sixty-four illustrations from entirely new and original designs by this inexhaustible artist. They are printed in colors, and the becoming caps, puffed sleeves, long tight aprons, and oddly slipped feet are made bewitchingly attractive by that graceful execution which brings out so clearly the delicate coloring of the little dots and spots that have made the style originated by this author so popular and so widely known. "Pantomime: A Picture Show for Young People," is a companion to the "Circus Book" of last season, and shows many illustrations in colors and tints, drawn specially for this work, put up in colored boards in imperial quarto shape. "The Minstrels" is also a companion volume done up in the same brilliant covers. The "Pantomime and Minstrel Scenes" can also be had bound in one volume, with cover elaborately printed in colors. In strong contrast as regards matter, but quite as attractive in execution, is the "Colored Bible for the Young," the text written in simple language and illustrated by one hundred and twenty-five illustrations, all printed in colors. There is a "History of the United States in Words of One Syllable," by Mrs. Helen M. Pierson, with forty-seven colored illustrations; a new edition of the "Pilgrim's Progress," with memoir and notes by George Offer, and one hundred and ten designs by J. D. Watson; two new volumes in the inimitable Randolph Caldecott Toy-Books, called "The Fox Jumped Over the Parson's Gate," and "The Frog Who Would a Wooing Go;" Kate Greenaway's dainty little "Almanack for 1884," and her "Four Calendars for 1884," printed on cards, each calendar complete, sold only in sets—No. 1 having pictures of spring, summer, autumn, and winter; No. 2, pictures of summer and winter; No. 3, "The Four Seasons," and No. 4, "The Twelve Months."

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS' books for young people include some of the most desirable published. "The Story of Roland," by James Baldwin, is offered as a companion to "The Story of Siegfried," a favorite volume of last season. This is a similar adaptation to the wants and understanding of young readers of the Mid-

Reserve in the early pioneer days. Verne's new story, "Godfrey Morgan," is a wildly extravagant burlesque of the story of "Robinson Crusoe," and is, as usual with all that comes from his pen, intensely absorbing in spite of its absurdities. "Among the Lakes," by William O. Stoddard, is a bright, sympathetic story for boys, full of fun and adventure. They call attention also to Sidney Lanier's successes of former seasons, "The Boy's Froissart," "The Boy's King Arthur," "The Boy's Mabinogion," and "The Boy's Percy." Frank R. Stockton's popular stories and fairy tales should not be forgotten. They are so jolly, and also so graceful, that every little reader must be charmed with them. New editions at reduced prices are offered of "Roundabout Rambles," and "Tales out of School."

SCRIBNER & WELFORD have added to their list of fine-art juveniles Fouqué's "Sintram and his Companions," fully illustrated by H. Sum-dle Age romances relating to Charlemagne and his paladins. It is admirably adapted to create in youth a love for the legends upon which early history is based, and to give him real information upon the manners and customs of the time. The series of illustrations by R. B. Birch are exceedingly graphic. Mr. Edward Eggleston, well known as a writer of novels depicting Western life, has entered the field of juvenile literature. His first effort in this line is "The Hoosier Schoolboy," with characteristic pictures by Mr. Brush. The hero is a manly little fellow, the story of his experience in gaining an education furnishing a medium for many telling sketches of schoolboy life on the Western ner: "The Fairies," a delightful volume by William Aillingham, illustrated in colors and tints by E. J. Thomson; and as usual the Boys' and Girls' Own Annuals, two books which always find a welcome. The new standard edition of Hans Andersen's "Fairy Tales," with its new and original colored plates and numerous woodcuts; "The Flowers of Shakespeare," with 31 chromo-lithographs by Viola; and André's quaint story, "Up Stream," a journey from the present to the past, make capital presents to children who can appreciate fine books.

MARCUS WARD & Co. follow up their delightful juveniles, "At Home" and "Abroad," with one on "London Town," gotten up in the same general style and design as their earlier books. In this volume the children are taken through London and shown all the most popular sights, from the "Tower" to the "Lowther Arcade," including sights of prominent street characters, as the "penny-ice man," the "muffin man," shoeblacks, and others, drawn in colors by Thomas Crane and described by Ellen Houghton. New editions are also issued of "At Home" and "Abroad," which are capital books both for children who have been abroad and for such as have read of the sights described.

WARD & DRUMMOND have for the young people the old favorite, "Rosa von Tannenburg," translated by Lucie Agnes Archer; "Her Benny," "Ivy," "His Father," and "Sea Waif," by Silas K. Hocking.

WHITE, STOKES & ALLEN make a splendid show of juveniles calculated to please both little children and those of larger growth. Very young babies who have just learned to notice will stretch out their hands for "The Alphabet Children," a large square, highly colored book, bound in boards, containing verses and illustrations for every letter of the alphabet, by C. H. and W. G. A little older children will appreciate Miss Henrietta O. Wright's Golden Fairy series, a set of new and entertaining fairy tales, each in a separate volume, with illustrations in gorgeous colors, and with a separate brightly illuminated cover for each. The different stories are "Peterkin's Twin Brothers," "How Greta Went to the Party," "The Old-Fashioned Doll,"

"The Story of Fairy Bell," and "The Golden Island." The children able to read will pore with delight over Martha J. Lamb's "Snow and Sunshine," which has just been published in a new and corrected edition, and contains the history of a family of live, lovable, and by no means perfect children. Young folks with a taste for art can be made happy with Clara Erskine Clement's "Outline History of Painting," which gives a clear idea of the great painters and their world-renowned works, and is handsomely illustrated with pictures set in the text and many full-page pictures as well. It is rendered valuable as a text and reference book by complete indexes by L. E. Jones. It is tastefully bound with an artistic design, stamped in gold on cloth cover, and also issued in half calf binding in the new and fashionable colors.

C. H. WHITING has a book naturally written for real children. It is called "Three Dreadful Mouse Boys," and recounts the deeds and misdeeds of a family of boys in a brisk, entertaining manner. So good an authority as Samuel Adams Drake says "the story shows marked originality in conception and treatment." Although written strictly within the comprehension of the young folk, its amusing natural descriptions, brightened by rare insight into character, and keen satire, make it good reading even for their elders.

THOMAS WHITTAKER has added several new juveniles to his already extensive list. Among the new volumes are: "A Loving Sister: A Story for Big Girls," by Mrs. W. T. Hays; "Not My Way, or, Good Out of Evil," by J.

M. Brown; "Grace Darling, the Heroine of Farne Isles," by Eva Hope; "David Easterbrook," an Oxford story, by T. Polkinghorne; "The Pioneer of a Family, or, The Adventures of a Young Governess;" and "Friar Hildebrand's Cross, or, The Monk of Tavystoke Abbey," by M. A. Paull.

WINKLEY, THORP & DRESSER have a volume of "Nursery Stories in Prose and Rhyme," beautifully illustrated, and bound in very brilliant board covers in a style that makes it an attractive present to the youngest readers.

R. WORTHINGTON'S most important juvenile publication is "Worthington's Annual," a large quarto crowded with pictures both full-page and in the text, and having a number of plates printed in colors. The stories, sketches, and instructive reading with which it is so generously filled promise many months' entertainment to the happy little ones whose hearts will be gladdened by this book. Grimm's "Fairy Tales," translated by Lucy Crane and illustrated by Walter Crane and Wehnert, is an exquisite edition of a juvenile classic. The illustrations are most characteristic and graceful, and will please even the papas and mammas. The book includes Grimm's "Goblins," with the inimitable illustrations by George Cruikshank printed in colors. The cover is in colors, with a spirited original design. The little verse about the "little girl who had a little curl" that went the rounds of the press and then found its creator in Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, is issued in very pretty shape under the title, "There was a Little Girl." It is inclosed in an illuminated fringed cover, and is daintily tied with ribbons. The illustrations are by Bertha M. Schaeffer, and consist of rich illuminated initials, silhouettes, and other designs in chromo-lithography. "Walk into my Parlor," by Mrs. S. Hall, is a charming gift of love to baby life. It is printed throughout in chromo-lithography, the verses being in dark brown ink on a lighter brown ground. The illustrations of child-life by J. Brown are exceedingly rich in colors and very taking. It is printed on separate sheets of bristol board, the leaves being held together by a ribbon bow, and being finished with silk fringe. "A Week Spent in a Glass Pond" relates a water-beetle's experience in an aquarium. To a very readable and instructive text by Juliana Horatio Ewing are joined a number of very original designs printed in colors and drawn by R. André. The little volume may be placed among the most beautiful color-books issued this season. "Chatterbox Junior," "Baby Chatterbox," and "Babyland," come to us again in new form, with the profusion of reading matter and illustration that distinguished them during the current year. "Pussy's Panorama," "Happy Hours," "Wonder Days," and "Wonder Kittens," are all for the very smallest children. The first one enumerated is nothing but pictures, and is a big imperial quarto. All the others have pictures on every page, with large-type reading matter, and are inclosed in brilliant covers.

E. & J. B. YOUNG & Co. have several new juveniles, including some of the finest color-books of the season. Mrs. Juliana H. Ewing has written the charming text of six little books entitled "Three Little Nest Birds," "Soldiers' Children," "A Sweet Little Dear," "Master Fritz," "The Doll's Walls," and "Our Garden," and André has furnished the illustrations, printed in brilliant colors. They are published in small quarto with illustrated board covers, and are cheap and really pretty. Mrs. Ewing has also written the text of "Red and Blue, or, The Story of a Discontented Lobster," also with illustrations by André, a satire on the discontent of modern society rather than a mere juvenile, which, however, with its appropriate pictures, makes an entertaining and handsome volume for old and young. "From Do-Nothing Hall to Happy-Day House" is an allegorical representation of the feelings of a little girl who from pleasing only herself learned to do her duty and enjoy it. The illustrations are by H. J. A. Miles, and subject and treatment have been combined in the happiest manner. Hans Christian Andersen's lovely story of "The Snow Queen" is illustrated by T. Pym. Besides these colored books this house has ready for buyers the unabridged English edition of Cobb's "Martin the Skipper;" "Only a Girl," adapted from the French, a pretty tale of an orphan in Brittany, giving an excellent idea of a well-known fishing village, described under a fictitious name; "Peasblossom," illustrated by H. J. A. Miles; "Outline Pictures for Little Folks," containing thirty pictures drawn by Miss Miles, intended for children to color; "The Child's Own Story-Book," with colored illustrations by T. Pym; "Out of the Way," text by Helen L. Taylor, illustrations by A. H. Colles; "One of a Covey," by the author of "Heart Bright," illustrated by Miss Miles; and "Dora's Own Story," told in her own words, by Miss Skey. They have also a line of the leading juvenile publications of the London Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge, among which we notice "Miss July;" "The Pirates of the Creek;" "Two Old Maids;" "Ira;" "We Little Ones;" and "Home and School," all illustrated and handsomely bound.

Specialties.

For several years in succession we have, under this heading, made due acknowledgment to the Burr Printing House for its excellent work on the Christmas Number. At no time was there more cause for our special expression of satisfaction than this year. And not alone for what can be seen by every one competent to judge—thorough workmanship; but also for what is not seen—the difficulties overcome. These can be estimated only by publishers who themselves have struggled with the printing of cuts from material representing the most different treatments of art and all sorts of process reproduction; and who also have attempted to do, in weeks, the work of months.

What can be better judged from the surface than the printing, is the paper, once tested by the print. The Jessup & Moore Paper Co. has never failed us in this test, and, in this instance, is also entitled to our special gratitude.

TUTTLE & Co. have a new edition of their last year's novelty, "Santa Claus Souvenir," silk-tied and elegantly fringed. The plain edition is issued at a reduced price.

JOHN E. POTTER & Co. call attention to their handsome line of Bibles in every variety of bindings, from their large Pulpit edition to the smallest Teachers' edition; also to their new line of photograph albums, elegantly bound in French morocco, russia leather, sealskin, and silk plush.

THE AMERICAN TRACT SOC. again issue several lines of new Sunday-school cards which for attractiveness and reasonable price have held their own ever since they were placed upon the market. The texts are carefully selected, and the designs, all of them floral, are bright and well printed.

AIKIN, LAMBERT & Co. as usual have a large and attractive line of ornamental solid and plated goods in the line of pens, pencils, charms, and other articles of jewelry. Their new styles of pencil in solid silver and heavy gold plate, hammered, are especially rich, and have proven a great success.

THOMAS NELSON & SONS offer this year a line of reward cards which can be commended for attractiveness and reasonable price. The cards have chiefly floral designs—some of them exquisitely drawn—and all have Scripture text. The packets of six cards retail at 20 cents, those of 12 cards at 25 cents.

THE NATIONAL PUBLISHING COMPANY, Philadelphia, has issued many new designs for its quarto Bibles. One of them, an elegant cushion bevelled board, embossed with an imitation of a hinge, is both novel and striking. In the line of albums they also have a large variety, in new and attractive bindings.

THE Patent Pencil Loop Memorandum, chiefly for the vest pocket, manufactured by Higgins & Tooker Co., is a very useful invention. It supplies the place of a pencil-holder as well as a memorandum-book. They are made in various styles of ruling and binding. This house also manufactures the Excelsior Diary, which holds a high place in this line of goods.

A. J. HOLMAN & Co. have a large supply of Bibles and photograph albums in a variety of styles. Their Family, Pulpit, Reference, and Pictorial Bibles, which are considered fully equal to the London and Oxford editions, and photograph albums in endless variety of bindings—plush, morocco, calf, russia, and sealskin—have been made more attractive this season than any other, by the new styles and designs which they have added to their already long list.

BAKER, PRATT & Co., as usual, have a large stock of rich and salable novelties in the line of fancy and ornamental goods. To describe minutely all the prominent articles in their extensive stock would be impossible, and we therefore restrict ourselves simply to calling attention to the latest of their new importations. Among these will be found a new line of dressing, cases in alligator and russia; vases, paper weights, inkstands, candelabra, card and ash receivers, and other desk ornaments in antique, bronze, hammered iron, and silver. The line of hammered and oxidized silver goods from Paris and Vienna is especially rich and attractive, and will in themselves repay a visit to this house for inspection.

WHITE, STOKES & ALLEN issue this season a line of note-paper and billets with exquisite flower designs—autumn leaf, four-leaved clover, pansy, daisy, etc.—by Miss Skelding, painted by hand in water-colors. The outlines are in bronze, giving a rich as well as unique appearance to the designs. In addition to these and their other lines of papeterie they have "Mother Goose's Christmas," a souvenir cut in the shape of a chimney, with a cheerful design in colors by Walter Satterlee, and selections of Christmas poems for old and young; "The Christmas Wreath," a token with covers representing on one side a wreath of lilies about the face of the Christ-child, and on the other a wreath of holly about the face of Santa Claus, beautifully printed in colors after designs by Walter Satterlee, with text by Mrs. Ellen E. Dickinson; and two styles of Christmas cards with designs by Satterlee and Susie B. Skelding.

MILTON BRADLEY & Co. have issued for the holidays a number of new toys and games for young and old. One of the most "taking" novelties is the "Bicycle Race and Skating-Rink," comprising five new games—the bicycle race, the skating-rink, the cat's promenade, hopscotch, and a game of carom—in one elephant folding-box board. The games referred to allow of the participation of from two to four players, and give room to some skill as well as excitement, and the variety of the games adapts this game board to all members of a large and varied social circle. In cards they have a series called "I Don't Know," being a new game of the "Old Maid" family, on the general principle of matching, but embodying questions and answers relating to the common sciences of life. For the younger ones they have a new sectional picture of the American Fire Department, comprising steamer, hose-carriage, chemical engine, insurance patrol team, and hook and ladder truck on the run to a fire. When constructed in one continuous line it measures 84 inches long by 7 inches high, and certainly is the finest sectional picture published by this house. "The Self-Counter and Alphabet Blocks" is a new toy combining a set of 30 alphabet and numeral blocks, which are also building blocks, an automatic mechanical counter, a multiplication table, and a color chart. Although the instruction embraced in this toy seems ponderous, yet the mechanical arrangement and pleasing combinations are such as to overbalance the element of instruction in the mind of the child. And this same statement holds good with all the games published by this house. In addition to the foregoing they have a new box of gifts for kindergarten scholars, including rings, sticks, patterns for stitching, papers for plaiting, etc.; a box of educational toy-money; and "Queer Heads and Odd Bodies," a set of comical designs on sectional cards which permits of some very ludicrous combinations. All these games are made of good material and put up in attractive manner at very reasonable prices.

L. PRANG & Co. have in "Aladdin's Lamp" one of the most elaborate and elegant Christmas gift cards ever offered by them to the public. It is a large folding card, heavily fringed, and provided with a leatherette protector. The front outside is a design of peacock feathers on satin; the left inside page contains a poem specially written for this gift by Joaquin Miller, also on satin, and surrounded by a delicate border of Oriental design; the right inside page presents Aladdin bearing his lamp, after a painting by Elihu Vedder; and to complete the whole the back is embellished with a most unique artistic design. Prominent among their new cards are "Christmas Angels," by Dora Wheeler; a beautiful floral card by Jean Robie; a Longfellow card, representing the venerable poet seated near the fireside, surrounded by a group of sunny children, designed by Miss L. B. Humphrey; "Christmas Dreams," foreshadowing the pleasures of yule tide, by Miss Rosina Emmet, a collection of bright roses and peleronioms, etc.; "Home at Christmas-Time," a cheerful family group gathered around a Christmas-tree, by Mrs. C. H. Shepard; "The Light of the World" and the "Light of our Home," a fine double card, by F. W. Dewing and R. Rumpf; a jolly group of children, by D. E. Wayland and Walter Satterlee; "Birds," by H. Giacomelli, and a large number of others more or less attractive. All these cards may be had single and double, with or without fringe, and all are put up with protectors and in envelopes. Notwithstanding the absence of prize cards, we believe that this year this house offers the handsomest lines they have ever before published. To conclude, we call attention to their "Christmas Sheaf," a folding card with inside pages in colors, stamped out in the shape of a sheaf of wheat; "The Christmas Book," a surprisingly natural representation of an open book, with floral designs by Mrs. Fisher, and original poems by Joaquin Miller; also to their Christmas art prints on satin, being some of their most popular new designs made up in an elegant and superior manner printed on a fine quality satin, with heavy double fringe, cords and tassels.

THE NEW CALENDARS FOR 1884 compare favorably with those of former years as regards artistic finish and literary merit. Prominent among the new ones are the Floral Calendar, comprising a series of twelve plates with fine designs of flowers in colors appropriate to the seasons, issued by White, Stokes & Allen. The "Calendar of American History," published by G. P. Putnam's Sons, gives from day to day, in condensed form, a large amount of information upon the history of the United States, mounted on a card beautifully decorated, and with a full index. L. Prang & Co. have for admirers of Ruskin an artistic mount with a block calendar having suitable selections from John Ruskin's works for each day of the year. George Routledge & Sons have again issued the charming calendars of Kate Greenaway, but in little larger size. Houghton, Mifflin & Co. add to their Longfellow and Emerson calendars, so popular last year, a Whittier calendar, which I doubt will receive a hearty welcome from many admirers of that favorite poet. Marci Ward & Co. (limited) have as usual their trio of block calendars respectively called "The Shakespearian," "The Every Day," and "The Day unto Day." The daily selections of the calendars are most judiciously varied each year and the handsome mount, which is the chief attraction to the eye, becomes more artistic with each succeeding issue. The "Shakespearian" design for next year has for its central subject an illustration from the play of "Henry IV.;" the "Every Day" design represents a cabinet of light-colored wood, decorated with blue and white Wedgwood plaques; the sacred calendar has a much more pretentious mount, which seems to represent the "Angel of Day" and the "Angel of Night." The former looks up toward the sun, shading her eyes with her hair while the while. The other angel is occupied trimming the lamp of night, which burns between the two. D. Appleton & Co. will have for the many admirers of William Cullen Bryant a "Bryant Calendar for 1884," an exquisite design, giving a portrait of Bryant, and representing the seasons, with a selection from Bryant's poems for each day in the year.

THE MOST SUPERB BOOK OF SONGS EVER ISSUED.

OUR FAMILIAR SONGS, AND THOSE WHO MADE THEM.

Three hundred standard songs of the English-speaking race, arranged with piano accompaniment, and preceded by sketches of the writers and histories of the songs. By HELEN KENDRICK JOHNSON. 8vo, $6.

"In all respects of size, elegance, copiousness, and curious detail, presents almost as much of a contrast to an ordinary song-book, however good, as a centennial exhibition to an old-fashioned country fair. . . . We have turned the pages of a unique and beautiful volume with delight. . . . Here is a library of the best music for the household."—Literary World.

"It will be a pleasure to all lovers of home music to have so rich a store of the songs we have all sung or wish we could sing; the songs our mothers crooned over our cradles, and our fathers hummed at their daily toil; the songs our elders sang when they were the prima donnas of our juvenile world; the songs of our sweethearts and home companions; songs that have swayed popular opinion, inspired armies, sustained revolutions, honored kings, made presidents, and marked historical epochs."—New York Tribune.

UNE JOURNÉE D'ENFANT.

(A Day in the Life of a Child.) Compositions inédites par Adrien Marié. 30 Plates in Heliogravure by Dujardin printed in different tints, with an Introduction by Henry Strahan. Folio, beautiful ornamental French binding. The bright and charming work of ADRIEN MARIÉ, "Une Journée d'Enfant," having had a magnificent success in France, is now presented, with the gloss of novelty still upon it, to American child-lovers. What parent, what artist could indeed resist an appeal so delicately true to the life, so adapted to the warmest recognition of every family joy and care as alike the world over, and the hundred inimitable touches which reveal the instincts and caprices of childhood will make these pictures as obvious to a transatlantic public as to a French one. There never was a series of child sketches which went more straight to the heart.

AN ENGLISH VERSION OF THE ECLOGUES OF VIRGIL

By the late SAMUEL PALMER. With 14 illustrations by the author. Columnar 8vo, and also on large paper.

THE Merry Adventures of Robin Hood.

OF GREAT RENOWN IN NOTTINGHAMSHIRE.

WRITTEN AND ILLUSTRATED BY HOWARD PYLE.

The volume 4to, full embossed leather, antique, from the author's designs, $4.50.

IN THIS book, undoubtedly the most original and elaborate ever produced by an American artist, Mr. Pyle has gathered from the old ballads and legends, and told with pencil and pen the complete and consecutive story of Robin Hood and his merry men in their haunts in Sherwood forest. There is something thoroughly English and home-bred in these episodes in the life of the bold outlaw. His sunny, open-air nature, his skill at archery, his generous disposition, his love of fair play, and his ever courteous to women, form a picture that has no counterpart in the folk-lore of any other people.

But it has other claims to notice, in the admirable illustrations which Mr. Pyle has given profusely throughout his book. These pictures set forth most graphically every beautiful scene in the narrative, and they are in perfect keeping with the story, even to the least detail; as specimens of figure-drawing, they form the most admirable and artistic that an American artist has created for many years.

The superb leather binding and general make-up of the book deserve more than a passing mention. Every detail has been carefully wrought out by the author, and the color of the volume is in perfect keeping with its contents. The elaborate chapter-headings, initial letters, and vignettes are especially noteworthy specimens of this form of decoration.

A NEW COLLECTION OF ENGLISH POETRY.

ENGLISH VERSE,

EDITED BY W. J. LINTON AND R. H. STODDARD.

A series of five volumes (12mo, about 350 pages each; price, per volume, $1.00).
The volumes will be sold separately, or in sets.

- | | |
|---------------------------------------|--------------------------|
| I. Chaucer to Burns. | III. Dramatic Scenes and |
| II. Lyrics of the Nineteenth Century. | Characters. |
| IV. Ballads and Romances. | V. Translations. |

This collection is the largest yet undertaken, and covers more fully than any other the whole field of English poetical literature. At the same time, its form is the most convenient possible, the five volumes of handy size greatly surpassing in this respect a single heavy book.

As the work was directly suggested by the defects of the existing anthologies, it has especially sought to repair these in two respects:

COMPREHENSIVENESS.—Notable omissions of other collections have been supplied, and a portion of the field of English Poetry has been neglected, while at the same time all the unquestioned and familiar masterpieces common to the older collections are retained.

ACCURACY OF TEXT.—No poem has been admitted without the most careful search through the various editions of the author, and the most thorough comparison of critical comments. Upon this point special stress is laid, it being the aim of the editors to produce a cyclopædia of English verse, the text of which shall be an authority. Besides the fact that the work is the result of many years' general collection, comparison, and criticism, Mr. Linton has devoted the last year entirely to minute search and verification in the British Museum.

Each volume will contain as an introduction, an essay by Mr. Stoddard on the period or class of English Poetry which it covers. The introduction to the first volume also treats of English Poetry before Chaucer.

The poems of each author are grouped under his name, and at the end of each volume are very brief biographical and bibliographical notes by the editors upon the poets represented in it. Brief glosses and explanatory notes are also appended, with others noticing current differences of text, etc.

A NEW AND UNIFORM EDITION OF THE WRITINGS OF

DONALD G. MITCHELL (18 MARVEL)

Including three or four new volumes.

In 12mo volumes, in original cloth bindings. Price, per vol., $1.25.

Apart from the literary grounds on which it became important to establish a standard and uniform edition for Mr. Mitchell's works, with that final revision which an author always desires to give to the permanent form of his writings, there were strong practical reasons, in the wearing out of plates, the cost of a lower price conforming to present conditions, etc., etc., which led his publishers to ask of his coöperation necessary to such a reissue of the volumes.

The publication will be made additionally important by the appearance in it of new volumes, consisting in part of papers hitherto uncollected, and in part of a series of essays embodying results of studies in English history and literature and observations of travel.

The Middle Kingdom.

A Survey of the Geography, Government, Literature, Social Life, Arts, and History of the Chinese Empire and its Inhabitants.

With Illustrations and a new Map of the Empire.

By S. WELLS WILLIAMS, LL.D.,

Professor of the Chinese Language and Literature at Yale College; author of Tonic and Syllabic Dictionaries of the Chinese Language.

2 Volumes 8vo, cloth, $9.00.

There is no other single work in existence describing the character, resources, and history of this country and its inhabitants, which, for completeness and trustworthiness, can be compared with this account of the Chinese and their Empire. The circumstances under which the book was written fully justify this claim. Dr. Williams resided for forty-three years in China, and occupied the whole of this period with the study of the land and its inhabitants. During this time, the changes occurred which have raised the Chinese Empire from a position of semi-barbarism almost to the rank of a modern European state, and have placed her in relations of interdependence and comity with other powers.

This wonderful advance in the arts of civilization and intellectual development made by China, and especially the new basis upon which its foreign relations have been established and the events that are even now occurring in this connection, together with the recent immigration of Chinese to this country, render the publication of this work unusually important.

ELEVENTH THOUSAND OF DR. EGGLESTON'S NEW STORY.

The Hoosier School-Boy. By EDWARD EGGLESTON, author of "The Hoosier School Master," etc. With full-page illustrations. 1 vol. 12mo, $1.00.

"Nobody has depicted boy-life with greater power or more fidelity than Mr. Eggleston. This story is one of his best. It should be in the hands of every boy for its good influence morally and in all ways, if for no other reason."—HARTFORD TIMES.

The Story of Roland. By JAMES BALDWIN. With a series of illustrations by R. B. Birch. 1 vol. square 12mo, $2.00.

"We congratulate the boys of the land upon the appearance of this book, and we commend the work to parents who are selecting literature for their children, assured as we are that it will convince them that books may be found which will engage the imagination of the young without dissipating the mind or blunting the moral senses."—PHILA. MESSENGER.

The Story of Siegfried. By JAMES BALDWIN. With a series of superb illustrations by Howard Pyle. 1 vol. square 12mo, $2.00.

"To wise parents who strive, as all parents should do, to regulate and supervise their children's reading, this book is most earnestly commended. Would there were more of its type and excellence. It has our most hearty approval and recommendation in every way, not only for beauty of illustration, which is of the highest order, but for the fascinating manner in which the old Norse legend is told."—THE CHURCHMAN.

The American Boy's Handy Book; or, What to Do and How to Do It By DANIEL C. BEARD. Fully illustrated by the author. 1 vol. 8vo, $3.00.

Mr. Beard's book is the first to tell the active, inventive, and practical American boy the things he really wants to know, the thousand things he wants to do, and the ten thousand ways in which he can do them, with the help and ingenious contrivances which every boy can either procure or make. The author divides the book among the sports of the four seasons; and he has made an almost exhaustive collection of the cleverest modern devices,—besides himself inventing an immense number of capital and practical ideas,—in Kite-making, Fishing, Aquarium-making, Boat-building, etc., Camping-out, Trapping, Taxidermy, Puppet-Shows, etc., etc.

SIDNEY LANIER'S BOOKS FOR BOYS.

BEAUTIFULLY ILLUSTRATED BY FAMOUS ARTISTS.

"Unconsciously as he reads of the brave deeds wrought by the gallant soldiers told of by Froissart or fancied by Malory, the boy's heart is thrilled and his nature throbs with knightly longings. He learns that he should protect those who are less strong than he is himself; that a man should never be rude to a woman; that truth must never be sacrificed, and that the most cowardly thing that a man can do is to flinch from his duty."—PHILADELPHIA TIMES.

The Boy's Froissart. Being Sir John Froissart's Chronicles of Adventure, Battle, and Custom in England, France, Spain, etc. With 12 full-page illustrations. 1 vol. crown 8vo, extra cloth, $3.00.

The Boy's King Arthur. Being Sir Thomas Mallory's History of King Arthur and his Knights of the Round Table. With 12 full-page illustrations by Alfred Kappes. 1 vol. crown 8vo, extra cloth, $3.00.

The Boy's Mabinogion. Being the Earliest Welsh Tales of King Arthur in the famous Red Book of Hergest. With 12 full-page illustrations by Alfred Fredericks. 1 vol. crown 8vo, extra cloth, $3.00.

The Boy's Percy. With 50 text and full-page illustrations by E. B. Bensell. 1 vol. 12mo, $2.50.

FRANK R. STOCKTON'S POPULAR STORIES.

"Stockton has the knack, perhaps genius would be a better word, of writing in the easiest of colloquial English without descending to the plane of the vulgar or commonplace. The very perfection of his work hinders the reader from perceiving at once how good of its kind it is."—PHILADELPHIA TIMES.

The Floating Prince, and other Fairy Tales. With illustrations by Bensell and others. 1 vol. 4to, extra cloth, $2.50.

The Ting-A-Ling Tales. 1 vol. 12mo, $1.00.

A Jolly Fellowship. By the author of "Rudder Grange." Illustrated. 1 vol. 12mo, extra cloth, $1.50.

Roundabout Rambles. A new edition. Price reduced from $3.00 to $1.50.

Tales Out of School. A new edition. Price reduced from $3.00 to $1.50.

Among the Lakes. By WILLIAM O. STODDARD. 1 vol. 12mo, $1.00.

Mr. Stoddard's bright, sympathetic story, is a fitting companion to his other books. It has the same flavor of happy, boyish country life, brimful of humor and abounding with incident and the various adventures of healthy, well-conditioned boys.

"* * * This book, together with Mr. Stoddard's former stories, "Dab Kinser," "The Quartet," and "Saltito Boys," are furnished in sets, in uniform binding, in a box. Price, $4.00. They are manly and spirited stories, especially recommended for Sunday-school libraries."

THE author of "Common-Sense in the Household" has prepared this new book in consequence of numerous requests for a practical cookery book for people of slender means, young people beginning life, etc. Its object is to lead the way to elegant and tasteful economy and to advise young housekeepers how to serve wholesome and palatable fare tastefully, at the lowest cost compatible with American prices current and the demands of healthful bodies. While there is not an expensive receipt in the collection, there is not one the product of which would not grace the table of any American family. There are also a number of Marion Harland's familiar and helpful talks, cheerful, chatty, and always practical, as stations along the way.

Remnants and 200 Ways of Using Them. By Susan Anna Brown, Author of "The Book of Forty Puddings."

1 vol., illuminated. $1.00.

This little volume, which in the range of cook-book literature occupies a new and unoccupied field, aims to combat the spirit of wastefulness that is the besetting sin of American housekeeping.

Miss Brown provides a multitude of receipts for transforming remnants into savory and nutritious plats, side dishes, entrees, etc. Some of these receipts are from the French, but most of them are from the author's own experiments.

SPANISH WAYS AND BY-WAYS.

By William Howe Downes. Illustrated with upwards of fifty engravings, drawn by Henry Landham, Marcus Waterman, A. H. Bicknell, and W. P. Bodfish. 1 vol., 8vo, 182 pages, $1.50.

Not every traveller has the gift of authorship. Mr. Downes, however, is an exceptional instance of one who has great powers of observation and highly-cultured tastes, and who can at the same time describe to others what he has seen with precision, and by his brilliant writing transport his readers to the very scenes of which he tells, kindling in their minds emotions akin to those that the history, art, and cities of Spain have awakened in his own.

FROM MADGE TO MARGARET.

By Carroll Winchester. 12mo, cloth, $1.25.

A handsome new edition of an old favorite, uniform with "The Love of a Lifetime."

THE LOVE OF A LIFETIME.

By the author of "From Madge to Margaret." 12mo, cloth, $1.25.

A companion volume to the celebrated novel, "Madge to Margaret," in which the author sustains the reputation she has acquired by her high gifts in the delineation of character and fiction-writing. One of the most striking and refined of modern novels.

THE BUSINESS MAN'S ASSISTANT.

By I. R. Butts. 1 vol., 12mo, 130 pages, leatherette, $1; paper, 50 cents.

This book will be found of great value and convenience in commercial and trade circles. It gives the business man just that information on the Laws, Contracts, and the many problems of Trade, that he may require at any moment, and without a book of this kind at hand may be put to much trouble and expense.

HINTS TO YOUNG MEN ON THE TRUE RELATION OF THE SEXES.

By John Ware, M.D. 1 vol., 16mo, 75 cents.

A real guide to young men in conduct and character. The author, a distinguished medical man, has devoted his knowledge and given deep attention to subjects that concern alike young men and general society, and the work must have great influence on social life and morals.

PRIEST AND MAN; or, ABELARD AND HELOISA.

By William Wilberforce Newton. An Historical Romance. Illustrated. 507 pages, 12mo, $1.50 Third edition, bound in a new and attractive style, now ready.

A pathetic and accurate presentation of the facts that encircle in sadness and tragedy the lives of two beings whose history has ever been a fascinating study to the thoughtful student.

STORY OF THEODORE PARKER.

By Frances E. Cooke. With an introduction by Grace A. Oliver. (Lives of the Great and Good, edited by Grace A. Oliver.) Cloth, $1.

A charming account for young people of the events of Theodore Parker's life. Supplemented by an introduction of more than fifty pages by Grace A. Oliver, giving a résumé of the various "lives" that have been written of this great leader and preacher, with many appreciative extracts.

THE STORY OF IDA.

By Frances Alexander, with frontispiece. Introduction by John Ruskin. Fifth American edition. 16mo, cloth, 75 cents; or in full smooth Russian calf, gilt edges, in box, $3.

A pathetic and thrilling story of a sweet girl's life and death, in which according to Ruskin, we may find more of the essence and spirit of Christianity than in a hundred creeds and controversies. The story of such a life, once told as this is, can never be forgotten; it raises Ida into the sphere of the Immortals, who, though unseen, still live in our hearts and homes.

LOVE POEMS AND SONNETS.

By Owen Innelly. 16mo, cloth, artistically and elegantly bound. $1; smooth Russian calf, in box, $3. Third edition.

Copies in parchment covers can no longer be supplied. A rare book, full of exalted ideas, profound feeling, and deep sentiment. The writer deserves a place on all shelves amongst the lyric poets of this and other ages.

LEGENDS, LYRICS, AND SONNETS.

By Frances L. Mace. 16mo, cloth, $1.25.

There are so-called poets arising by the thousand in this age whose verbosity only hides commonplaces. The author of this volume, many of whose productions have appeared in the Atlantic Monthly and other periodicals, however, cannot be classed with these; she has genius, if not of the highest order, still genius rich in thought and the power of expression.

STRAY CHORDS.

By Julia R. Anagnos. With frontispiece. 16mo, cloth, $1.25.

These poems are expressive of various subjects, moods, and sentiments, and so in form have no unity, yet every lover of poetry will discover a unity deeper than any similarity of form could make it—a unity of thought, idea, and poetic insight. The writer, who is the daughter of Julia Ward Howe, a famous songstress, sings because she must, and after one glance at the book, the reader reads because he must.

PATRICE: HER LOVE AND WORK.

A poem in four parts. 12mo, cloth, $1.50. By Edward F. Hayward, author of "Willoughby," "Ecce Spiritus," etc.

Quoting on the title page Emerson's saying: "Sooner or later, that which is now life shall be poetry," the author gives us the key-note of his work. It is no mere creation of the poet's imagination that we are introduced to, but to a woman's life, rendered sacred by devotion to duty and ennobled by strong affection.

MEMOIR OF CHARLES LOWE.

By his wife, Martha Perry Lowe. 1 vol., with portrait, 480 pages, 12mo, $1.75.

A memoir of great interest to all Liberal Churchmen. Mr. Lowe was a well-known and highly esteemed leader in the Unitarian Church, and his influence was felt far and wide.

WHENCE? WHAT? WHERE?

Mr. R. Mackenzie says: "Few authors have ever spoken to an audience so diverse. The book was read by kings and statesmen and ladies of fashion, by tradesmen and by laboring men; it took and has kept a place in every well-equipped nursery. Voltaire, who was then living in England, made it known on the Continent, and had it translated into French. Pope, Gray, and all the men of letters hailed it with admiration and delight. Arbuthnot predicted for it a run as great as that of John Bunyan."

The Scotman (Edin.) says: "The book is printed with all the care and beauty that mark the productions of Messrs. Nelson's press. The illustrations are excellent, and Mr. Mackenzie's introduction is very well worth reading. Indeed, there are few modern editions of Swift's great work that may be more generally desired than this."

THE BOUND VOLUME OF HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE. VOLUME IV., FOR 1883.

840 PAGES. SEVERAL HUNDRED ILLUSTRATIONS.

Large 8vo, Ornamental Cloth, $3 00.

The perfection of a children's magazine.—Toronto Mail.

The villainous trash—the penny-dreadful “boys’ and girls’ papers”—at one time so popular and so numerous, have nearly all, thank fortune, been driven from the field by the introduction of publications for the young which are just as cheap and perfectly healthful and wholesome. This good work of reform was led by the Harpers of New York with their handsome YOUNG PEOPLE.—Pittsburgh Commercial.

HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE is the best weekly for children in America.—Southwestern Christian Advocate.

No more attractive Christmas gift could be made to a child than a copy of this bound volume.—Cincinnati Commercial.

The grand success of this beautiful and instructive illustrated weekly for young readers is the best proof that it fills a needed place. No magazine of its kind has ever come into such boundless popularity in so short a time.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

The regular visits of this beautiful weekly come like rays of golden sunshine into the family circle.—Zion's Herald, Boston.

An inexhaustible reservoir of humor, instruction, and entertainment for the young people of the family. Its tone is unexceptional, and it will be found an admirable present for the juvenile.—Indianapolis Journal.

An uncatalogueable variety of entertaining and instructive material suited to young folks' reading, sown thickly with a multitude of capital illustrations—this is what we find as we turn these well-freighted pages.—Boston Journal.

We know of no book better calculated to interest and instruct the young than the fifty-two numbers of this popular illustrated weekly. It contains a vast amount of good reading of the most varied character. * * * All that the artist's skill can accomplish in the way of illustration has been done, and the best talent of the country has contributed to its text.—New England Journal of Education, Boston.

For children the volume is simply a treasure-house of delightful things.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Its wealth of stories, sketches, poetry, pictures, puzzles, and correspondence, form a collection of intellectual treasures the possession of which will make any boy or girl in the land “as happy as a king,” and which, by reason of its moderate price, is within the reach of all who wish to have it at their command.—Baltimore Gazette.

The illustrations form a whole art gallery in themselves, and a gallery that contains some gems worthy of preservation by the people of the most cultivated taste in pictures.—Brooklyn Times.

One of the most conspicuous successes in the publishing way.—Philadelphia Press.

THIRTY THOUSAND DOLLARS. FOR ILLUSTRATIONS THIS SEASON.

As the result of an enterprise UNPARALLELED within a like period,

D. LOTHROP & CO.,

30 and 32 FRANKLIN STREET, BOSTON,

Are enabled to offer to the trade a collection of Holiday Books for old and young

ABSOLUTELY UNEQUALLED.

Attention is called to the following selections from their large list.

* * Donal Grant.

GEORGE MACDONALD's last and best story. One of the most fascinating, wholesome, and powerful of recent works of fiction, by one of the most masterly of writers. Published by D. Lothrop & Co. from the ms., and republished in England. 12mo, cloth, $1.50

* * Thucydides.

This splendid translation, by PROF. JOWETT, of the University of Oxford, places this marvellous classic before all readers of English, in a form which has won the warmest approval of scholars, students, and all lovers of Greek literature. It is the standard translation. 8vo, $3.50.

* * A History of the American People.

Unquestionably the best complete one-volume history of the United States and its people ever published. It represents the best work of a most competent and conservative writer—ARTHUR GILMAN, M.A. It has a profusion of choice illustrations, and much valuable material not elsewhere found. Crown 8vo, cloth, gilt top, $2.50; 12mo, $1.50.

* * Paul Hamilton Haynes's Complete Poems.

In many of the fine expressions of this favorite poet of the Southland, the reader will be reminded of the best that appears in favorite stanzas of the most popular authors. This is not the result of borrowing, but of an inspiration drawn from the same deep fountains at which they drank, and which have been opened to this rarely gifted writer in the rural solitude and simple life of his Southern home. With steel portrait, cloth, $4; cloth, gilt edges, $5; half calf, $7; full turkey morocco, $10.

* * Ideal Poems.

This superb gift-book presents a selection of twelve from among the poems universally acknowledged to be the best in the English language, with appropriate full-page illustrations, contributed by twelve of the most celebrated American artists. The result is an ideal gift-book. 8vo, cloth, or elegant floral binding, $3; turkey morocco, $6.

* * Through Spain on Donkey-Back. Sketches by Bodfish.

Incomparable studies of the Spanish life of to-day, fresh and original, and accompanied by the choicest work of the engraver. As the result of exquisite printing in black, on a delicate undertint, the pleasing effect is produced of proof impressions on Japanese paper. 4to, unique binding, $1.50.

* * The Kingdom of Home.

The great popularity of this beautiful gift-book has led to its presentation in a new edition. It furnishes a collection of the choicest poems from all sources and all times, relating to the subject of home, and selected by Arthur Gilman, M.A. Fully illustrated with albertypes, gravotypes, and wood engravings. 4to, gilt edges, bevelled, $6; turkey morocco, antique, $9.

* * A Family Flight through Spain.

A Family Flight through France, Germany, Norway, and Switzerland. A Family Flight Over Egypt and Syria. By REV. E. E. HALE and MISS SUSAN HALE. Three handsome volumes, presenting most enjoyable records of real journeyings. Their graphic descriptions and numerous and authentic illustrations make them doubly attractive. 4to, extra cloth, gilt, each, $2.50.

* * Twenty-six Hours a Day.

A book for heads of households, and all interested in home matters. By MARY BLAKE. Curiosity is piqued by the title, and will be best satisfied by reading the book. 12mo, extra cloth, $1.25.

* * Cambridge Sermons.

By ALEXANDER MCKENZIE, D.D. 12mo, extra cloth, $1.50.

"The choicest of the pulpit utterances of a truly catholic, able, and helpful minister."

* * Hamilton's Mexican Hand-Book.

"A very valuable and very attractive volume."—Literary World.
 "Full and accurate indexes make this a complete as well as beautiful volume."—New York Observer.

"Especially valuable for its liberal selection from the minor poets who do not figure in previous anthologies."—E. C. Stedman.

"Miss Bates is known as the best compiler in the country. I shall give the volume an honorable place in my library."—John G. Whittier.

"We have looked through the volume pretty carefully, and believe that it is one of the best collections of English poems to be found in the language."—Chicago N. W. Christian Advocate.

POPULAR POETS.

Crowell's Favorite Illustrated Edition.

With Designs by TAYLOR, MERRILL, WOODWARD, SCHELL, GIFFORD, GARRETT, HAYDEN, and other eminent artists. Printed on fine Calendered Paper, bound in attractive style for Holiday Gifts. Square 8vo, gilt edge, each in a box, $2.50 per volume.

AURORA LEIGH,
 MRS. BROWNING,
 ROBERT BROWNING (Selections),
 FAVORITE POEMS,

GOETHE'S FAUST,
 LADY OF THE LAKE (with Notes),
 LUCILE, SCHILLER,
 TENNYSON.

The illustrations for these volumes are deserving of especial mention, having been prepared at great expense, a large proportion of them engraved by GEO. T. ANDREW, whose work on "The Cambridge Book of Poetry" adds so much to its value.

The paper, printing, and binding are also first-class in all respects, and no effort has been spared to make this series attractive and popular.

The only Complete Line of Poets published in this country.

CROWELL'S RED LINE POETS.

50 Vols. 12mo, Cloth, Gilt Edges, per Vol., $1.25; American Tree Calf, $4.

GILT EDGES, RED LINE BORDERS, ILLUSTRATED, AND ELEGANTLY BOUND in new and beautiful designs. We add this year to the series the following volumes, viz.:

AURORA LEIGH,
 LADY OF THE LAKE,
 ROBERT BROWNING,

GEORGE ELIOT,
 VIRGIL'S ÆNEID,

OTHER VOLUMES IN PREPARATION.

The New Designs for the covers are especially attractive, and in keeping with the superior quality of paper, presswork, and binding, which combine to make this series so justly popular with the trade and the general public, whose demands during the past year have severely taxed our ability to supply promptly.

We would call special attention to our new AMERICAN TREE CALF BINDINGS, which will prove an attractive feature, and are offered at very low rates.

"The Sea as sung by the Poets."

SURF AND WAVE. A Collection of Poems and Ballads of the Sea. Compiled by ANNA L. WARD. Fully illustrated, with 16 full-page cuts, and numerous vignettes made from original drawings. 625 pp., 12mo, $2.

"The illustrations form an agreeable feature, and are chiefly original in design. The typography and binding are notably praiseworthy."—School Journal.

"A very judicious and tasteful compilation."—American Bookseller.

"Deserves a permanent place on the shelves of every library."—Good Literature.

"Miss Ward has shown excellent judgment and sound literary taste."—Boston Transcript.

A most Reliable and Valuable Book of Reference.

A DICTIONARY OF QUOTATIONS FROM THE POETS. Based upon Bohn's Edition, with numerous additions from American authors. Carefully Revised and Corrected, with Index of Authors and Chronological Data, and a Concordance Index to every Passage in the Volume. Introductory Preface by R. H. STODDARD. Crown 8vo, 768 pp., $2.50; Interleaved Edition, $3.50.

"The more competent the critic who examines it the heartier will be his favorable verdict."—Congregationalist.

"For a dictionary of poetic quotations, Bohn's is the standard. Our examination and comparison of Crowell's American edition shows that it is all that can be desired."—Independent.

"Those who have need of poetical quotations will find nothing more completely adapted to their desires than this book. We know of none as good. Bohn's edition has no index."—Christian Intelligencer.

"It is a vast improvement upon Bohn's original compendium."—E. C. Stedman.

"Highly creditable to the compiler's taste, industry, and accuracy."—John G. Whittier.

"I tested it in various critical passages and found it always correct."—Prof. W. Hand Browne, Johns Hopkins Univ.

CLASSIC JUVENILES.

"Remember Jacob Abbott's sensible rule to give children something that they are growing up to, not away from, and keep down their stock of children's books to the very best."

AMERICAN HISTORIES FOR YOUTH. Eight Volumes, 12mo, $10 00

THE ROLLO BOOKS. Fourteen Volumes, 16mo, - - - - - 14 00

THE JONAS BOOKS. Six Volumes, 16mo, - - - - - 6 00

THE LUCY BOOKS. Six Volumes, 16mo, - - - - - 6 00

By JACOB ABBOTT,

"The Prince of Writers for the Young."

"We welcome, and we think the present juvenile generation will welcome, T. Y. Crowell & Co.'s republication of this series of juvenile classics. The 'Rollo' and the 'Jonas' and the 'Lucy' Books are written with only the children within the writer's horizon, the children were first in the writer's heart. Some years ago the New York Nation called for a reprint of the 'Rollo Books,' and placed them among the best, if it did not declare them to be absolutely the best, of all modern juveniles."—Christian Union.

NEW AND HOLIDAY PUBLICATIONS:

A SCORE OF ETCHINGS.

Twenty plates by the most celebrated English etchers. With critical and descriptive text by Roger Riordan. The collection includes such names as Seymour Haden, Herkimer, Hamerton, Colin Hunter, Waltner, David Law, Brunet-Debaines, etc etc. Folio, cloth, elegant. $15.

A HISTORY OF ANCIENT SCULPTURE.

By LUCY M. MITCHELL.

Serial 8vo, with upward of 250 illustrations in the text and six full-page heliotypes. Elegantly printed, bound in cloth, gilt tops, $12 50; half morocco, $18; full morocco, $25.

The illustrations comprise wood-engravings by some of the most skilled artists of this country and Europe, and age photo-gravures prepared by Frisch, of Berlin. No expense has been spared in perfecting the book mechanically. Important work has been long in preparation and embodies the results of all the researches and discoveries which recently thrown much light on the history of a great artistic past. The author has enjoyed the aid and co-operation of the foremost scholars and archaeologists of the day in the prosecution of her work, which now in point of its comprehensiveness of treatment, and accuracy of detail, will take a first place in the literature of this subject.

SELECTIONS FROM ANCIENT SCULPTURE.

D. APPLETON & CO.'S BOOKS FOR THE HOLIDAY SEASON

IN EXALTATION OF WOMAN

Fair Words about Fair Woman,

GATHERED FROM THE POETS BY O. B. BUNCE. 11
Nine Illustrations from Designs by Will H. Low. Large, square 12 cloth, extra gilt. Price, $3.00

This truly elegant volume is a collection of poems in exaltation of woman. It is divided into Eight Evenings. The First Evening is devoted principally to poems addressed simply to the splendid generalizations of the virtues and charms of women; the Second Evening consists of selections from the old English poets; the Third is devoted exclusively to Tennyson; the Fourth is a selection from Irish and Scotch poets; the Fifth includes excerpts (translations) from Greek, Italian, French, German, Spanish, and other foreign poets; the Sixth consists of selections from modern English American poets; the Seventh is devoted to poems exalting woman at the fireside, as wife and mother and the Eighth and last to woman as the heroine of romance.

Fifty Perfect Poems.

A Collection of Fifty Acknowledged Masterpieces, by English and American Poets, selected and edited by CHARLES A. DANA and ROSSITER JOHN. With Seventy-two Original Illustrations from Drawings by Alfred Fricks, Frank Millet, Will Low, T. W. Dewing, W. T. Smedley, F. O. Darley, Swain Gifford, Harry Fenn, Appleton Brown, William Sar, Arthur Quartley, J. D. Woodward, Walter Satterlee, S. G. McCutcheon

The engravings in this work, which are very fine and artistic, are printed on Japanese silk paper and mounted on the page, producing a unique and beautiful effect. Large 8vo, cloth, extra Price, $9.00. Also bound in silk, price, $10.00.

New York: D. APPLETON & CO., Publishers, 1, 3, & 5, Bond Street

New and Beautifully Bound Books.

A CHRISTIAN HOME. By Rev. JOHN HALL, D.D., New York. 12mo, cloth, pp. 250, $1.

On the topic of this age; showing how to make and how to maintain a Christian home. It treats of the early history of the family; New Testament light in the home; ethics of the home; wise choice in marriage; mutual help and care; lights and shadows of home life; development of family life; home government and training; worship in the home; secondary elements in a true home life; enemies of the home; the heavenly home.

SYDNEY THE KNIGHT. By E. T. DISOSWAY. 16mo, cloth, illustrated, pp. 190, $1.

A historic tale of rustic and religious life in England in the sixteenth century, centering about the historic soldier of Zutphen, Sir Philip Sydney. It illustrates the fearful struggle between Papist and Protestant in those days, teaching us to value our religious liberty.

STRUGGLING UPWARD. By SARAH J. JONES, author of "Downward." 12mo, cloth, illustrated, pp. 224, $1.10.

A thrilling narrative of the struggles and adventures of young Fred Rader to conquer his passion for drink and to lead a pure life. A powerful plea for temperance.

WILL AND WILL NOT. By CATHARINE M. TROWBRIDGE. 12mo, cloth, illustrated, 75 cents.

A natural and effective sketch of two boys of quite opposite dispositions; the one ready to do any reasonable thing, the other ever declining or refusing, largely because he wants his own way. The story shows how fidelity and a desire to minister to the comforts of others bring their own reward, while the churlish and the obstinate usually fail to get what they aim at through their obstinacy.

DR. MARTINDALE'S WARD; or, Every Cross Hath its Inscription. 12mo, cloth, illustrated, 75 cents.

In this story the aim is to awaken sympathy for orphans, and to remind those in charge of these lonely and unfortunate ones that they must be trained with patience and with love. Incidentally it teaches how good it is to forgive our enemies. Zaidie is the quaint, impulsive, and affectionate little being whose counterpart can often be found in real life.

WILL AND WILL NOT and DR. MARTINDALE'S WARD bound in one volume. Cloth, $1.25.

WHAT TO DO. By Mrs. A. K. DUNNING. Cloth, illustrated, 12mo, pp. 218, $1.10.

A bright narrative by a popular writer, and the first of three volumes called the "What to Do Series." The object of the series is to impress upon the young the chief purpose of life, how to miss it and how to do it. It is a book particularly fitted for young persons not manifesting any special interest in religion, or in whose minds it seems opportune to awaken such interest. The truth is deftly interwoven with the attractive narrative.

HOW NOT TO DO IT. By Mrs. A. K. DUNNING. Cloth, illustrated, 12mo, $1.10.

This is the second of the "What to Do Series" and a sequel to the above.

HOW TO DO IT. By Mrs. A. K. DUNNING. Cloth, illustrated, 12mo, pp. 218, $1.10.

This is the third of the "What to Do Series" and a sequel to the two preceding books.

THE WHAT TO DO SERIES. By Mrs. A. K. DUNNING. Consisting of the three preceding books. $3.

DOWNWARD; or, The New Distillery. By SARAH J. JONES. Cloth, illustrated, pp. 226, $1.10.

A masterly-written book on temperance. It most vividly portrays the downward career of those who give themselves to the manufacture, sale, or use of intoxicating drink. This is just the book to distribute freely in states and communities agitating the questions of prohibition and protection of American homes against the terrible curse of intemperance.

ST. ULRICH; or, Resting on the King's Word. By E. A. W. Cloth, illustrated, 12mo, pp. 91, 75 cents.

A touching, pleasing narrative of the sorrows and trials of an humble Swiss family by the mysterious disappearance of a loved and only son, who was restored to his home, and led to "rest on the finished work of Christ" through the influence of an American family. Graphic pen-pictures of the Swiss scenery in the Tyrolean Alps add much to the interest of the story, and the artistic illustrations give increased attractiveness to the book.

THE EMIGRANTS. A tale of the last century, from the GERMAN OF FRANZ HOFFMAN, translated by Mrs. H. D. CONRAD. 12mo, cloth, illustrated, 75 cents.

A story detailing how a Protestant family having the alternative of a change of faith or of country, chose exile for conscience' sake. The decision, journey, selection of land, and establishment of a new home on the banks of the Lehigh in Pennsylvania are graphically described. Simple customs and delightful neighborly traits are exhibited. Indian adventures add variety and interest.

ST. ULRICH and THE EMIGRANTS bound in one volume. Cloth, $1.25.

GWENDOLINE; or, Halcyons and Halcyons. By AGNES GIBERNE. Cloth, illustrated, 12mo, pp. 279, $1.10.

One of the brightest and most earnest of the works of this noted English writer. It is a narrative of the struggles of a modest but gifted daughter of an Englishman with a large family in straitened circumstances. She brings relief to the family in their misfortunes by conscientiously sacrificing her own wishes and plans. The book forcibly teaches submission to God's guiding hand and many impressive lessons of faith and trust.

LARRY GILBERT. By Mrs. S. K. REEVES. Cloth, illustrated 12mo, pp. 164, 90 cents.

A wide-awake boys' book by the author of "Young Eagle," "Amy Russell," and "Ben Ross." It is graphic narrative of the experiences of a country lad in humble school life upward to manhood and into a prosperous mercantile business. It teaches the value of truthfulness and honesty in the "most trifling affairs," and that any young lad ought to be guided by the noblest Christian principle at school and as a clerk if he would be successful in managing important trusts or a large business for himself. Incidentally the book tells the story of the great "Whiskey Insurrection" in Pennsylvania, upward of three quarters of a century ago.

THE "NEWSTEAD" BYRON.

THE COMPLETE DRAMATIC AND POETICAL WORKS OF LORD BYRON.

The "Newstead" Byron contains many valuable features that cannot be found in any other edition, and is printed from Entirely New Electrotypes and from type cast for this work.

The Text is taken from the latest and most approved English editions, with many highly interesting notes thoroughly explanatory of the text, while especially valuable to American readers. Several poems believed to have been written by Lord Byron, and popularly attributed to him, have been included in this edition under the head of "Attributed Poems."

The Type is exceeding large and clear, and set in a manner affording the finest possible display. Each page heading is an index in itself, so that the reader or student can readily turn to the canto or stanza which he desires to find. This is a particularly useful feature in the dramas. An illustrated life of the poet, by Prof. John Nichols and J. C. Jeaffreson, gives a graphic picture of Byron's career. The work contains fourteen full-page illustrations, together with a number of smaller engravings; and scattered throughout, portraits of Byron and his relatives and companions are given, from family miniatures and paintings. Six likenesses are given of the poet, from that painted by Kay in 1793 to the picture by Harlowe in 1817. The reader of Byron's life has before him, as he reads, the representative men and women of the great poet's literary and social circle. The picture by Fellows of Newstead Abbey, the Franciscan Convent, as sketched by Stanfield, where Byron lived while in Athens, and the Villa Diodati from a drawing by Purser, may be mentioned among the pictures shown.

One volume, imperial 8vo, 725 double-column pages.

BRIDAL DAYS.

By D. HENRY MILLER, D.D., and W. D. HEDDEN, D.D. It is appropriate as a gift-book for the bridal day, and for all the wedding anniversaries to follow. It beautifully illustrates the gifts of the iron, wood, tin, crystal, linen, silver, golden, and diamond wedding days. The book contains eight elegant embellishments. 1 vol., 4to, 170 pp., heavy toned paper, bound in cloth, with a neat stamp on side and back in silver and gold. Put up in a neat box. $2.50.

"Bridal Days" is a quarto volume tasteful in all its appointments, and up to the high standard of the day for ornamental book-making. The contents, original and selected, in prose and verse, are such as befit the subject and the purpose of a wedding present, appropriate either for the entrance upon the estate of matrimony, or for the 'wooden,' 'tin,' 'linen,' 'crystal,' and other anniversary occasions. The volume is embellished with several engraved illustrations that add to its attractiveness."—Watchman.

BOOKS FOR THE YOUNG.

A Guide for Parents and Children, compiled by C. M. HEWINS, Librarian of Hartford Library Association. Price in paper, 25 cents.

"Meets most admirably the demand for carefully selected lists, and contains valuable and interesting counsel."—W. E. FOSTER.

"Contains an admirable selection of books for children, and by far the best catalogue of books of this kind that has ever appeared."—S. S. GREEN.

"Miss C. M. Hewins, of Hartford, has long been known to all who are interested in making the public library the ally of the public schools, as one of the most successful of modern librarians of the American school. . . . A book which it is difficult to praise too highly."—Critic.

"Deserves more extended praise than we have space for. It will bring joy to the hearts of hundreds of parents, whose confidence in the compiler's judgment will be secured by her prefatory remarks and directions, and her choice extracts from divers authorities on the true aim and criterion of juvenile literature."—Nation.

"When Mr. Charles Dudley Warner says that 'the young who read at all read nothing but trash,' he does not exaggerate so very much. For them [the parents], as well as for librarians and teachers, the book will serve an excellent purpose, for it is far the best guide that has been printed, and there is nothing in it that is not of excellent and interesting in quality."—Boston Transcript.

"A little manual long needed, and one that will be heartily welcomed by parents who recognize the importance of carefully supervising their children's reading, but are often confused and at a loss on account of the multitude of works for the young now published, of every conceivable degree of merit and demerit. A classified list of good books is given, with indications as to the age and sex to which they are best suited. The list is prefaced by hints as to how children should be taught the right use of books, a note on good reading in English and American history for children, and a 'symposium' on children's books, containing interesting extracts from many sources. Miss Hewins has charge of the department 'Literature for the Young' in the Library Journal, is librarian of the Hartford Library, and may safely be accepted as an authority and guide by parents and buyers of children's books."—Good Literature.

THE NEW VOLUMES OF THE YEAR COMPRISE

ALFRED TENNYSON'S

COME INTO THE GARDEN, MAUD.

WITH

Chaste and Appropriate Designs

BY

EDMUND H. GARRETT.

Golden Floral, Flexible, Fringed,
Gilt Edges, $1.75; Cloth, Full
Gilt, $1.50.

"Come into the garden, Maud,
For the black bat night has flown;
Come into the garden, Maud,
I am here at the gate alone."

Tennyson's famous love-song is charmingly interpreted by the twenty-two illustrations, in which there is as much genius as in the poem itself. The artist has roamed over the whole domain of "moonlight, music, love, and flowers" which lovers favor, and produced pictures in every phase, beautiful in design and remarkably appropriate.

MY FAITH LOOKS UP TO THEE.

By RAY PALMER.

With Appropriate Illustrations Designed by Elisabeth B. Comins.

Cloth, Full Gilt, $1.50; Golden Floral, Flexible, Gilt Edges,
$1.75.

"My faith looks up to Thee,
Thou Lamb of Calvary,
Saviour Divine!
Now hear me while I pray,
Take all my guilt away;
Oh, let me from this day
Be wholly Thine."

One of the most precious hymns of the Christian faith. Translated into a score or more of languages, it is found in the collections of Hymns for Worship of nearly all denominations, and is literally sung around the world. Through the kindness of the author the publishers are enabled to produce in this edition a facsimile of the original, as written in 1830.

ALFRED DOMETT'S CHRISTMAS HYMN,

IT WAS THE CALM AND SILENT NIGHT.

WITH DESIGNS BY W. L. TAYLOR.

Cloth, Full Gilt, $1.50; Golden Floral, Flexible, Gilt Edges, $1.75.

"It was the calm and silent night;
Seven hundred years and fifty-three
Had Rome been growing up to might,
And now was queen of land and sea."

Domett's Hymn is one of the grandest of the Christmas Carols. The illustrations in this edition are strikingly original in conception and executed in a masterly manner. From the surroundings of "the senator of haughty Rome" to those of "the weary boor" who "went plodding home," all is appropriate and characteristic.

THE LORD IS MY SHEPHERD."

THE Third Psalm
IN A SONNET.

C. RICHARDS.

Illustrations.
Cloth, full gilt, $1.50;
Golden floral, flexible, fringed,
$1.75.

Illustrations from designs by various artists—

HUMPHREY, SIE CURTIS SHEPHERD,
JESSIE McDERMOTT,
J. C. A. NORTHAM,
MISS ELLEN OAKFORD,
MISS E. S. TUCKER—

pages, diversified in treatment, the artist being left to her own choice. Of the original poems in company with the sounding sentiment of the immortal psalm, the author of our National Hymn, "My God is of Thee" says, "The sweet and beautiful, and fifty thousand readers will discern any more defect than in a rainbow, made by the Hand, and set in its place on the brow of Heaven."

CURFEW MUST NOT RING TO-NIGHT."

BY ROSA HARTWICK THORPE.

With illustrations by F. T. MERRILL and E. H. GARRETT. Cloth, full gilt, $1.50; golden floral, flexible, $1.75.

"England's sun was slowly setting o'er the hills so far away, Filling all the land with beauty, at the close of one long day,
And its last rays kissed the forehead of a man and maiden fair:
He with steps so slow and weary;
she with sunny flowing hair;
He with bowed head sad and thoughtful; she with lips so cold and white, Struggling to keep back the murmur, 'Curfew must not ring tonight.'"

In Golden Floral for the first time.

"THAT GLORIOUS SONG OF OLD."

BY EDMUND HAMILTON SEARS.

WITH FULL-PAGE ILLUSTRATIONS

By ALFRED FREDERICKS.

4to. Cloth, full gilt, $1.50; golden floral, flexible, gilt edges, $1 75.

"It came upon the midnight clear,
That glorious song of old,
From angels bending near the earth
To touch their harps of gold."

IN GOLDEN FLORAL FOR THE FIRST TIME.

"LEE AND SHEPARD, of Boston, have done a favor to all lovers of the beautiful in sacred song, by bringing out in exquisite-illustrated form that charming and celebrated hymn of Edmund Hamilton Sears, which has been known and loved under the above title. It is uniform with their series of remarkable hymns and songs, which have won such wide popularity; but the pictures for this special volume have been drawn by ALFRED FREDERICKS, and are characterized by a union of strength with delicacy of imagination, with technical accuracy, that inspires the words with new meaning to the ordinary reader, as the words themselves may have inspired the mind and hand of the artist. It is altogether a lovely form in which to preserve the beautiful thoughts which found such rapt expression in this Glorious Song of Old."

Uniform with the above, published in the Cloth, full Gilt Edition only,

HANNAH JANE.

BY DAVID ROSS LOCKE (NASBY).

4to. Cloth. $1.50.

ILLUSTRATED.

"The whole book is delightfully in keeping with the glad, unselfish Christmas-tide, softening, as it will, the hard, unthinking heart, and making the forgetful considerate, and the careless careful in their handling of precious flowers, which, once faded, will never resume their beauty."—Literary World.

THE VAGABONDS.

By J. T. TROWBRIDGE.

4to. Cloth. Illustrated. $1.50.

J. T. TROWBRIDGE, known to all readers of the magazines, possesses quick, keen sympathy and great poetic talent. His volume, "The Vagabonds," illustrated by Darley, is a fine piece of artistic character-sketching.

ILLUSTRATED BALLAD SERIES.

BALLADS OF BEAUTY.

SPECIMEN OF ILLUSTRATIONS, REDUCED TO ONE QUARTER OF THE SIZE OF THE ORIGINAL.

Edited by GEORGE M. BAKER.

Bound in a new style of rich gold and colors, gilt edges.
Price, $2.00, in a neat box.

"The volume contains forty full-page illustrations, nearly all of which are surpassingly charming. The poems have been selected chiefly with reference to their grace and beauty, and are as finished a collection as one seldom meets with." — Hartford Post.

The accompanying cut is a miniature representation of the front cover, which includes a beautiful picture in colors, set in panel; matched on the back cover by an equally appropriate design representing a rustic beauty arranging a bouquet in a flower-garden.

BALLADS OF HOME.

Edited by GEORGE M. BAKER.

Forty full-page illustrations. Bound in rich gold and colors, in novel and elegant style. In neat box, $2.00.

"Household poetry is always acceptable, and Mr. Baker has gathered into one of the most attractive gift-books of the season some of the choicest poems adapted for the fireside. The paper upon which the volume is printed is fine, the press-work clear, and the forty full-page illustrations that embellish it are beautifully executed. The binding is elegant, and the publishers may well find that the issuing of the book is creditable to their enterprise and should be found as profitable as it deserves." — New York Sunday Times

The panel-picture on cover, here represented in miniature, is "Fate in Apple-Parings." The girl is in the act of whirling the fateful paring around her head, while her lover anxiously waits the formation of a letter when it falls to the floor. It is matched on the back by a beautiful "Home, Sweet Home" scene, in which the old New England Homestead, the farmer returning, and the wife in the open door are conspicuous features.

SPECIMEN OF ILLUSTRATIONS, REDUCED TO ONE QUARTER OF THE SIZE OF THE ORIGINAL.

ILLUSTRATED BALLAD SERIES.

BALLADS OF BRAVERY.

SPECIMEN OF ILLUSTRATIONS, REDUCED TO ONE QUARTER SIZE OF THE ORIGINAL.

Edited by GEORGE M. BAKER.

Bound in new style, rich gold and colors, with chaste and beautiful designs, $2.00.

Containing a fine selection of heroic verse, with full-page illustrations.

"An elegant book, filled with valuable contents, among which are 'Curfew must not ring to-night,' 'The Glove and the Lions,' 'The Beggar Maid,' 'Hervé Riel,' 'Othello's Story,' 'Marmion and Douglas,' 'Sir Galahad,' 'Excelsior,' 'John Maynard,' &c. One every way more desirable in literary and mechanical beauty it would be difficult to find."

— New Covenant.

The design for this cover includes on the front a scene from Tennyson's "Idyls of the King," from Archer's celebrated picture, "King Arthur and the Mystic Island." The back cover has in panel a fine picture of that early battle of the American Revolution, the fight at Lexington.

GEMS OF GENIUS.

FAMOUS PAINTERS AND THEIR PICTURES.

By HARRY W. FRENCH.

Illustrated with numerous full-page illustrations.

Bound in new style, rich gold and colors, gilt edges. In a neat box.

A beautiful book for the centre-table, giving fine illustrations of some of the most celebrated pictures, sketches of the lives of the painters, and the full stories of the pictures.

The design represents Art pointing Genius to the achievements of the Masters. The back cover has a scene in the Highlands of Scotland, with figures in appropriate costume. The sizes of this volume and the Ballads are uniform, 7 x 8 1/4 inches.

SPECIMEN OF ILLUSTRATIONS, REDUCED TO ONE QUARTER SIZE OF THE ORIGINAL.

Trophies of Travel For Young Folks.

OUR BOYS IN CHINA;

The Adventures of Two Young Americans, wrecked in the China Sea on their return from India, with their strange wanderings through the Chinese Empire.

MINIATURE REPRODUCTION OF THE RIVERDALE COVERS.

THE GOLDEN TRUTH SERIES.

A uniform edition of unequalled selections from the best Religious Authors, edited by Mrs. C. F. MEANS. Dainty Volumes. Printed on tinted paper, bound in gold and colors, with new designs. Price $1.25. Comprising:—

GOLDEN TRUTHS.

The selections, which are made with excellent judgment and taste, are from divines, poets, and Christian writers of all creeds, and are precious thoughts for hours of private meditations and reading.

WORDS OF HOPE.

A volume of religious selections designed for the cheer and consolation of sorrowing friends. Sympathy for a friend in sorrow can be expressed in no more delicate and acceptable manner than the presentation of these "Words of Hope."

LIVING THOUGHTS.

This volume, like the others of the series, is entirely unsectarian in its scope. The whole rises from the character of the writings and the care in selection, are peculiarly acceptable to any believer in Christianity, no matter to what particular name or creed he may attach himself.

UNIFORM WITH THE ABOVE.

THE MODEL PRAYER.

A Course of Lectures on the Lord's Prayer, by Rev. Geo. C. Baldwin. D.D. $1.25.

An interesting series of studies, the result of a rich pastoral experience and a thorough love of the subject, by an eloquent writer and powerful thinker.

OTHER NEW BOOKS.

THE GATES WIDE OPEN. OF SCENES IN ANOTHER WORLD. By George Wood. A New Edition, $1.50.

"This is an intensely interesting work of a decidedly novel character. The Gates Ajar has its plot on earth; The Gates Wide Open attempts to portray scenes in heaven. The latter work is free from many of the objectionable features of the former. A careful perusal will give the reader a more favorable impression than the hasty glance too often given to books of this character." — Congregationalist Quarterly.

WHAT SHALL WE DO WITH OUR DAUGHTERS? SUPERFLUOUS WOMEN, and other PAPERS. By MARY A. LIVERMORE. 16mo. Cloth. About $1.25.

"This long-promised work, from the pen of the leading advocate for woman's advancement, is like her platform utterances,—eloquent and thoughtful."

A COLLEGE FETTER. By Hon. Charles Francis Adams, Jr., Phi Beta Kappa Oration at Harvard College, 1883. Now ready. Price, 25 cents.

"The indignation of ancient graduates, who were shocked at the irreverence of the speaker, and the jubilation of young men who are now wrestling with Greek declensions with a college course in view, have crowded the newspaper with denunciations and indorsements, and there really seems to be a chance of an organized anti-Greek movement on the part of a large number of students and teachers." — Albany Sunday Express.

FLOYD GRANDON'S HONOR. A New Novel. By Miss A. M. Douglas. 12mo. Cloth. $1.50.

Uniform with

LOST IN A GREAT CITY.	STEPHEN DANE.
HOPE MILLS; or, Between Friend and Sweetheart.	CLAUDIA.
HOME NOOK; or The Crown of Duty.	SYDNEY ADRIANCE; or, Trying the World.
IN TRUST; or, Dr. Bertrand's Household.	SEVEN DAUGHTERS.
NELLY KINNARD'S KINGDOM.	THE OLD WOMAN THAT LIVED IN A SHOE; or, There's No Place Like Home.
FROM HAND TO MOUTH.	WHOM KATHIE MARRIED.

The most popular series of Novels published. Every new novel from this author's pen is received by the press and public with increased enthusiasm.

HIS TRIUMPH. By Mrs. Mary A. Denison. Author of "That Husband of Mine," "Like a Gentleman," etc. 16mo. Cloth. $1.00.

"This brightly told domestic idyl deals with actors and theatrical affairs, in the midst of which personages and scenes the heroine, a charming young wife, acts out a little comedy of her own. This sprightly account of how a modern Eve circumvented a nineteenth-century serpent is sure to find favor with novel-readers." — The Art Interchange.

Uniform with Lee and Shepard's Novels,
 LIKE A GENTLEMAN. 15mo. 16mo. PAPER.
 NUMA ROUMESTAN. THE FORTUNATE ISLAND.
 KINGS IN EXILE. THE TIGHT SQUEEZE.

THE AGE OF CHIVALRY, and ROMANCE OF ENGLISH HISTORY, including Tales of King Arthur and the Mabinogean. By Thomas Bulfinch. Edited by E. E. Hale. Uniform with his edition of "Age of Fable." Price, $2.50.

FORE AND AFT. A PERSONAL NARRATIVE OF SEA EXPERIENCES. By Robert B. Dixon. 16mo. Cloth. 320 Pages. Price, $1.25.

This is a book which, like the famous "Two Years Before the Mast," interests young and old alike, and is decidedly pleasant reading to a sea-lover. It has the air of vraisemblance, and holds one with the fascination or real struggles with storms and fire and mutiny, and all the perils and marvels of the ever-changing sea. The style is bluff and simple, and although not specially designed for young people, the book will find a place in every boy's heart.

LEE AND SHEPARD'S HANDBOOKS.

HANDBOOK OF THE EARTH. NATURAL METHODS IN GEOGRAPHY. By Louisa Parsons Hopkins, Teacher of Normal Methods in the Swain Free School, New Bedford. Price, 50 cents.

One of the Malthus in Parvo books, small enough to slip into a lady's pocket or to get itself lost behind larger volumes, but very rich in condensed information; designed for the use of Teachers and Normal School Classes, as a review and generalization of geographical facts, a guide to right methods of study, and an application of the principles of psychology to the art of teaching, which shall educate as well as improve the pupil.

UNIVERSAL PHONOGRAPHY; OR, SHORTHAND BY THE ALLEN METHOD. A Self-Instructor, by G. G. Allen, Principal of the Allen Stenographic Institute, Boston. Price, 50 cents.

This little volume is a boiling down of all the valuable treatises in this magic art into a clear and comprehensive system, which does away with much of the tedious practice of a beginner, and launches him at once into the practice of the art itself, in a way that is as simple as the object-lesson to the child, and very much on the same plan.

Uniform with

PRONOUNCING HANDBOOK of 3,000 Words often Mispronounced, and of Words to which a Choice of Pronunciation is allowed. By R. Soule and L. J. Campbell. 50 cents.

HANDBOOK OF ENGLISH SYNONYMS, with an Appendix, showing a correct use of prepositions. By Lonnie J. Campbell. 50 cents.

HANDBOOK OF CONVERSATION. Its Funks and its Graces. Compiled by Andrew P. Peabody, D.D., LL.D. Comprising: I. Dr. Peabody's Lecture. II. Mr. Trench's Lecture. III. Mr. Parry Gwynne's "A Word to the Wise; or, Hints on the Current Improperities of Expression in Writing and Speaking." IV. Mistakes and Improperities in Speaking and Writing Corrected. 90 cents.

CHRONICLES OF THE SCHONBERG-COTTA FAMILY

Over 100,000 copies have been sold in this country alone.

A Cheap Edition Now Ready. 150 Pages 4to. 25 Cents

The author has reproduced the times of the Reformation with such remarkable success that it is difficult that we are not actually hearing Luther and those around him speak. We seem to be personal actors in the scenes of that eventful period. One branch of the Cotta family were Luther's earliest and most intimate friends. Members of this family record in those pages their daily experiences as connected with the Reformation era, and is brought face to face with the great ideas and facts associated with Luther and the men of his time.

1 vol., 12mo, cloth, 550 pages, $1; or 4to, paper covers, 25 cents.

A NATIONAL NOVEL.

HIS SOMBRE RIVALS,

By E. P. ROE,

"Is really entitled to be considered a national novel. It deals with the stirring events of the civil war. The story of the battle of Bull Run is the finest piece of descriptive writing we have read for a long time."—Boston Commonwealth

FIRST EDITION, 25,000 COPIES. SECOND EDITION ON THE PRESS.

"E. P. Roe is master of a thrilling style. His books take hold of one. 'His Sombre Rivals' is, in some respects, the best. The characters are real flesh and blood, and they stand out very distinctly before us."—Golden Rule.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS

HAVE NOW READY:

THE CHEAPEST AND BEST.

This is the only Authorized American Edition, and contains all Original Illustrations and fac-similes.

The Life of Luther.

BY JULIUS KÖSTLIN, PROFESSOR IN THE UNIVERSITY OF HALLE
MORE THAN 60 ILLUSTRATIONS FROM ORIGINAL PORTRAITS AND DOCUMENTS. 1 vol., 8vo, $2.50.

Professor Köstlin is the acknowledged authority upon everything relating to the times of Luther. His great work, published several years ago, has taken its place as the history of Lutheran history, and every book relating to Luther or the Reformation published since its appearance has been largely indebted to its pages. The volume announced above has been prepared with a view to the present renewed interest in the great Reformer. This biography, in addition to its being the most accurate and readable history of Luther and the Reformation published, has special claims to notice in the beautiful and unique portraits of Luther and most of the prominent characters associated in any way with the Reformation.

A special feature is the reproduction in fac-simile of various documents of the highest importance, such as one of Pope Leo's indulgences, a page of Luther's Latin Psalter, with his marginal interlinear notes, a letter of Luther to his wife, the first page of the first edition of his translation of the New Testament, the concluding part of his will, with the signatures of Melancthon and others, etc. In addition, there are numerous engravings of places and objects connected with Luther's memory that give this book greater interest and completeness than any other book of Luther could ever lay claim to.

This American edition is published with the special sanction of the author.

Music in England.

BY DR. FREDERIC LOUIS RITTER, PROFESSOR OF MUSIC AND DIRECTOR OF THE SCHOOL OF MUSIC AT VASSAR COLLEGE. 1 vol., 12mo, $1.50.

Music in America.

BY DR. FREDERIC LOUIS RITTER, PROFESSOR OF MUSIC, ETC., AT VASSAR COLLEGE. 1 vol., 12mo, $2.

Professor Ritter's position and authority, both among musicians and in musical literature, which he has already contributed a series of historical lectures widely known and read in this country, eminently fitted him for what he has accomplished in these volumes. The writing of the history of music among the English-speaking race. Especially in the volume on America, there is the interest and value of a story told for the first time and from the most accurate and thoroughly sifted material. The history of church music, of musical societies, of the progress of every department of musical growth in this country is given. The companion book fills a want in the literature of the subject which music students have long felt to see supplied.

A NEW COLLECTION OF ENGLISH POETRY.

English Verse.

EDITED BY W. J. LINTON AND R. H. STODDARD. A series of five small volumes, 12mo, about 350 pages. $1 each.

III. BALLADS AND ROMANCES. IV. DRAMATIC SCENES AND CHARACTERS.
V. TRANSLATIONS.

Already Published: I. CHAUCER TO BURNS. II. LYRICS OF THE NINETEENTH CENTURY.

The volumes are sold separately, or in sets. Five volumes in a box, $5.

"W. J. Linton and R. H. Stoddard are making the most notable encyclopædia of poetry in the language since the beginning of their series. Mr. Linton is the most accurate of editors, and it is cause for rejoicing that literature has led him into work which will exercise so good an influence in important literary field. The volume, moreover, contains an essay by Mr. Stoddard on the character and growth of English poetry during the last century. The selections, too, are made with remarkable success. The volumes are prettily bound and the letter-press is clear, while the price is marvellously low."—Boston Courier.

NOTES IN SEASON.

& SHEPARD have just ready "What we Do with our Daughters?" by Mary A. more, a very readable and enjoyable volume, iding in hints and suggestions of practical also "The Tinkham Brothers' Tide Mill," T. Trowbridge, an intensely interesting for boys.

E. CASSINO & Co. have ready this week a edition of Sir J. Gardner Wilkinson's nners and Customs of the Ancient Egypt-tians," revised and corrected by Dr. Samuel Birch. The work is published in three hand- some octavo volumes, with over 1000 illustra- tions, including 9 colored and 78 full-page plates, and is an exact reproduction of the English edi- tion, which commands double the price of this beautiful American edition.

ROBERTS BROTHERS have just published "Donald and Dorothy," by Mary Mapes Dodge, written in this charming author's brightest style, and full of fine illustrations; "Maria Edgeworth," by Helen Zimmern (in the Famous Women series), which promises to be interesting from the fact that the author has had access to a large number of private letters, and to an unpub- lished memoir written by Miss Edgeworth's step- mother; also, "Samuel Sharpe," a biography of the celebrated Egyptologist and translator of the Bible, by P. W. Clayden. In their pretty Classic series they have just issued Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress" and "Robinson Crusoe."

JAMES R. OSGOOD & Co. issue this week "Guenn: a Wave on the Breton Coast," by Blanche Willis Howard, a tale of love and art, in which are interwoven some vivid and graphic descriptions of the picturesque scenery and quaint people of that land of romance— Brittany; and "Woods and Lakes of Maine, a Trip from Moosehead Lake to New Brunswick in a Birchbark Canoe," by L. L. Hubbard, with original illustrations by Will L. Taylor, and an appendix of some Indian place-names, which makes a practical and standard work for those who are or wish to become interested in the great northern park-region of New England. They have also ready William Winter's latest volume, entitled "English Rambles and other Fugitive Pieces in Prose and Verse," a collec- tion of Mr. Winter's later writings including his very choice English letters, his essays on Longfellow and several notable poems.

CHARLES SCRIBNER & SONS publish this week "The Life of Luther," by Prof. Julius Köstlin, which is claimed to be the most accu- rate and readable history of the Reformer and the Reformation ever published. This edition is handsomely gotten up, and contains all the original illustrations and fac similes. A special feature is the reproduction in fac-simile of vari- ous documents of the highest interest, such as one of Pope Leo's indulgences, a page of Luther's Latin Psalter, with his marginal and interlinear notes, a letter of Luther to his wife, the first page of the first edition of his translation of the New Testament, the concluding part of his will with the signatures of Melancthon and others, etc. In addition, there are numerous engravings of places and objects connected with Luther's memory. They have also ready "Music in Eng- land," and "Music in America," by Prof. Frederic Louis Ritter, of Vassar. Professor Ritter's position and authority, both among musicians and in musical literature, eminently fitted him for the writing of the history of music among the English-speaking race. Especially in the volume upon America, there is the inter- est and value of a story told for the first time and from the most ample and thoroughly sifted ma- terial. The history of church music, of musical societies, of the opera, and of the progress of every department of musical growth in this country is given. The companion book fills a want in the literature of the subject which music students have long desired to see supplied.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

Aldrich, T. Bailey. Mercedes, and later lyrics. Host., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1884 [1883]. 111 p. O. cl., $1.25.

"Mercedes, and later lyrics" is the title of one of the prettiest of volumes. It consists of a play and a number of poems by Mr. T. B. Aldrich. The former is founded upon an incident related in the memoirs of the Duchess d'Abrantes. Out of this Mr. Aldrich has made an admirable little two-act drama, of which the language is crisp and pointed, and the interest cumulative and well sustained. . . . The lyrics that make the rest of the volume are distinguished by the refined taste, the polish and the dainty delicacy of fancy and imagination that are the characteristics of all of Mr. Aldrich's verse. The book is beautifully printed, and is almost as pleasant to look at and to handle as it is to read."—Boston Advertiser.

Gray, E. The bear-worshippers of Yezo, and the island of Karafuto (Saghalin); or, the adventures of the Jewett family and their friend Oio Nambo; il. by Rinzo and Ichiske Hamada: cover designed by the author. Bost., Lee & Shepard, 1884 [1883]. 10+304 p. O. bds., $1.75; cl., $2.50.

The same characters that the young people made acquaintance with in "The wonderful city of Tokio," and "Young Americans in Japan" will be found in this narrative of that remarkable species of men known as "Bear-worshippers" and dwelling principally in Yezo, an island formerly belonging to Japan, and ceded to Russia in 1875. Mr. Greey visited these people first in 1853 and again last year, so his facts have all been obtained at first hand.

Green, Anna Katherine. Hand and ring. N. Y., G. P. Putnam's Sons, 1883. 5+608 p. il. D. cl., $1.50.

The author of "The Leavenworth case" offers in "Hand and ring" a new novel of the detective class which fully sustains the reputation gained in her first books. A murder committed in broad daylight in a little house on a thoroughfare in a country town is the motive; suspicion seems to be fastened in the most conclusive manner upon three people in succession, a fourth being most unexpectedly brought forward as the criminal. Miss Green works up her plots in the most ingenious and plausible manner; they have a thrilling interest worthy of Gaboriau.

Contains 36 full-page illustrations from Doré's original designs for the Bible. These with Hope Ledyard's attractive text make the book a more than ordinarily attractive one for young people.

Hawthorne, Julian. Fortune's fool. Bost., Ja. R. Osgood & Co., 1883. 12+470 p. D. cl., $1.50.

The fool of fortune, Jack Vivian, is first introduced to the reader as a nameless, neglected boy, living in a half-savage state of isolation in a New England village of half a century ago; he is supposed to be the illegitimate child of a beautiful French girl, who died in giving birth to him. It turns out that he is the heir to an English estate and title, which he only gains possession of after many struggles and adventures. While a mere self-taught Bohemian, wandering the world at his own sweet will, the young hero does not know a care, but once he becomes Baron Castlemere and the central figure of London drawing-rooms his happiness deserts him; he is thus "fortune's fool." We have given but a mere outline of the story. It is a strange medley of characters and adventures; among the many incidents are some four or five murders or violent deaths. Has been running in Macmillan's Magazine.

Phelps, Elizabeth Stuart. Beyond the gates. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1883. 16+196 p. D. cl., $1.25.

While in a trance, the heroine of this story is represented as passing into the unknown world; she minutely describes the occupations, experiences, hopes and joys of the dwellers in heaven; old friends are met and couples reunited, and famous men and women use their gifts for the pleasure of all. It will be seen it is a material heaven, in which we pursue, in an idealized shape, our former pursuits. The little book will no doubt afford much consolation to bereaved ones and to the many seeking to penetrate the mystery of the hereafter.

This novel has been one of the features of Lippincott's Magazine during the present year. It is by the author of "Signor Monaldini's niece." Like that story it is a romance of Italy—the Italy of to-day—in which Miss Tucker has lived for several years, and whose picturesque characters and salient social and political features she so graphically describes. The story is a love tale of many incidents, in which the good are rewarded and the wicked punished in orthodox style. Novel-readers will be charmed with its varied and romantic interests.

MISS SYDNEY LEVER, a daughter of the Charles Lever, proposes to publish a volume of poems to be entitled "Fireflies."

ROSSITER JOHNSON has assumed the editorship of "Appletons' Annual Encyclopedia," succeeding in this position the late Judge Tenney.

MR. W. CLARK RUSSELL has nearly ready for publication a collection of sea-terms and their definitions, entitled "Sailors' Language."

AUSTIN DOBSON is not only to make a selection of selected poems from his "Cambridge Proverbs in Porcelain," which are both in print, but he is about to publish a new volume which he has written since the publication of those volumes, and which is to have as its title, "At the Sign of the Lyre."

The Publishers' Weekly.

NOVEMBER 24, 1883.

PUBLISHERS are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, to insure correctness in the final entry.

The trade are invited to send "Communications" to the editor on any topic of interest to the trade, and as to which interchange of opinion is desirable. Also, matter for Notes and Queries" gratefully received.

In case of business changes, notification or card should be immediately sent to this office for entry under "Business Notes." New catalogues issued will also be mentioned when forwarded.

INTERNATIONAL COPYRIGHT.

THE ANTHONY TROLLOPE CHARGE.

Elsevir in the Boston Herald, Oct. 8.

IN his very entertaining autobiography Mr. Anthony Trollope has a good deal to say on the vexed question of international copyright, as most English authors have. "I cannot say," writes, "that I have never had a shilling of American money on behalf of reprints of my work—but I have been conscious of no such payment. Having found many years ago—in 1841, when I made a struggle on the subject, not then in the States, the details of which are sufficiently amusing—that I could not myself succeed in dealing with American bookellers, I have sold all foreign right to the English publishers; and, though I do not know that I have raised my price against them on that score, I may in this way have had some indirect advantage from the American market. But I know that what the publishers have received from me is very trifling. I doubt whether Messrs. Chapman & Hall, my present publishers, get forty sheets sent to the States as much as five per cent on the price they pay me for my manuscript."

I have taken the trouble to inquire into this statement of Mr. Trollope's, and I find it about wide of the mark as are most statements on the subject. Being in the neighborhood of the Messrs. Appletons' establishment and remembering that Trollope's "Ralph the Heir" ran through the pages of the regretted Journal, I went in and asked Mr. Bunce, who was editor of the Journal, whether he had paid Mr. Trollope for his story. "We didn't pay Trollope himself," said Mr. Bunce, "but we paid his publisher, Virtue, to whom he had sold all interest, $1500 for the right of publication, which ran as a serial through the Journal and afterward sold to Harper & Bros., who published it in book-form." This does not seem to me to be very far from the truth. My next step was to Franklin Square to what the Messrs. Harper had to say. Being publishers of Mr. Trollope's autobiography, they had of course seen the paragraph to which I alluded, and this was their answer: "We have paid over £3000 to Mr. Anthony Trollope or to his publishers for his books republished by us, including £750 for one book." If Mr. Trollope received no money for the American publication of his books it was not because no such money was paid. His publishers got it, and if they bought all rights from him it seems to me that they were the people to be paid. In all they received $16,500 from two American publishers, which I should think was more than five per cent on the price they paid for the manuscripts. English authors are very pig-headed on this question of payment. They sell all rights to their English publishers, and he then, being absolute owner of their manuscript, negotiates with an American publisher who pays him what is a fair sum considering the circumstances. But this does not satisfy the irate author, who wants another sum paid to him. He must have a very strange idea of the way business is conducted. English publishers may pay two persons for one book, but it is a trick that has never been told of them.

"LEYPOLDT'S LITTLE HOLIDAY BOOK."

From the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

MR. LEYPOLDT'S little holiday book of some thousands of pages and weighing some pounds—The Publishers' Trade List Annual of 1883—has appeared and looms, not lies, before us. It must be a treasure to every one connected with the book-trade, and though we cannot recommend it as a handy volume for the vest-pocket, we can assert that, so far as we have been able to discover from a somewhat cursory perusal, its moral tone is pure. Still it cannot be safely put into the hands of children. Only persons who are physically strong can venture to grasp it and to grapple for the grand things hidden in its mysterious profundities.

From the Hartford Post.

MR. LEYPOLDT'S publication is indispensable to booksellers, librarians and owners of private libraries. A publishers' trade list has a dreary mechanical side in its appearance, but there is more of life and significance behind its types than in any other one book, save, perhaps, an unabridged dictionary, and it might well dispute the palm with that. Mr. Leypoldt's annual shows his most excellent judgment in arrangement and worthily maintains the precession.

From the Brooklyn Times.

FOR eleven years Mr. Leypoldt has issued from the office of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, a bulky annual volume embracing between its covers all available information respecting the constantly-increasing list of American publications. As a "trade-help" it is of course indispensable to booksellers, but it is of practical value as well to the larger class of bookbuyers, both as a reference volume and a finding list. The volume for 1883, just issued, is a large octavo of over 2500 pages and contains, besides the catalogues of American publishers, alphabetically arranged, a complete record, with full title, of all books published from July, 1882, to July, 1883. An index accompanies this list, by which every book on record can be found whether looked for under author, title, or subject. Any one who is a purchaser of books, whether for private use, for school or Sunday-school libraries or whatever purpose will find this volume th best possible means of keeping up with the publications of each year. Booksellers and book-buyers as well, are under constant obligation to the indefatigable editor of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY for valuable aids toward a better understanding of the book-trade and for better methods of reference and selection, and this annual volume should be more widely known and used outside the trade limits to which it has been heretofore confined.

OBITUARY.

EDMUND HARRISON.

EDMUND HARRISON, salesman and traveller for J. B. Lippincott & Co., died suddenly on the morning of the 15th inst., at his home in Philadelphia. He was born near Petersburg, Va., October, 1844. While completing his education at the University of Virginia, he, with all the members of his class, entered the army at the breaking out of the Civil War. He served in Pickett's Division during the whole war, and was among those who surrendered with Lee at Appomattox Court House. After the war he entered the book-store of Wilkins & Barbour, of Petersburg, and remained with them until the early part of the year 1868, when he went to Philadelphia and accepted the position which he filled at the time of his death.

Mr. Harrison was well known and highly respected by the trade in the South and West, where he was accustomed to travel, and his genial and gentlemanly manner brought him a host of friends at home and among the trade wherever he went. He leaves a wife and one child.

DR. ROBERT D. JOYCE, for many years a resident of Boston, died in Dublin, Ireland, on October 23, of lung disease. Dr. Joyce was best known to the literary world through his poems "Blanid" and "Deirdre," published in the No Name series. He was a graduate of Dublin University.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

The Continent will be published hereafter in New York.

W. M. GRISWOLD is engaged on a thorough index to The Monograph, Nos. 1 to 50.

AN excellent portrait of Mr. Whittier will accompany Mr. Spofford's picturesque article on the poet in the January Harper.

The Wheelman has combined with Outing, and Outing and The Wheelman, the name of the new magazine, will cover the entire field of out-door recreations and travel.

MADAME VON GLUMER—formerly Sefiora Oviedo and the heroine of Mr. Stedman's poem, "The Diamond Wedding"—has written for The Manhattan a sketch of experiences in Mexico.

The United States Stationer, Printer, and Fancy Goods Reporter, we take pleasure in noting, has come down to reasonable proportions, and with its issue for November 15, makes its appearance as a small quarto instead of a folio. The topography throughout is neat and the information full and to the point.

Building, the architectural monthly published by W. T. Comstock, N. Y., began its second volume with the October number. That issue made its appearance with a large number of fine-page plates and other improvements. It is not often that so much and such valuable material is found at one time in a trade journal.

A PORTRAIT of Peter Cooper is the front-piece of the December Century. Mrs. Sarah N. Carter, the head of the Woman's Art School of the Cooper Institute, who knows fully Mr. Cooper's ideas and aims in assisting young women to earn their living by skilled occupations, has written an anecdotal paper which accompanies the portrait.

THE current issue of Swinton's Saturday Review contains features that make it specially attractive as a Thanksgiving number. It presents a full-page frontispiece by Alfred Fredericks illustrative of Hawthorne's beautiful tale "John Inglesfield's Thanksgiving," a characteristic original story by Harriet Prescott Spofford, entitled "Something to be Thankful for," and an original tale by Ella Wheeler, called "John Smith, or, Two Thanksgivings."

Scandinavia is the title of a new monthly journal the first number of which is due November. It will aim to be an organ for the men of North-European birth; will deal with their mythology, history, literature, religion, science, art, etc.; will deal especially with that element of our national history, and endeavor to make itself, in every legitimate way, useful and indispensable to them. It is printed in English in fine form, and issued from 1 North Clark Street, Chicago, at $2 a year, in cents a number.

IN The Independent of November 18 is begun a series of articles by the eminent Home-reformer, Keshub Chunder, Sen., upon "The Devotional Life." The same issue contains a poem by Joaquin Miller on "Marie Lather," an article by Dr. William M. Taylor on "Giving," and a war story by Dr. Hepburn. In its current issue November 22 it presents under the title "Coppet and Madame de Staël" the first of a series of articles about European people and topics by Mary Clemmer (Mrs. H. H. Son), who has returned to Washington after a European trip.

BUSINESS NOTES.

BOSTON, MASS.—The agency of D. Appleton & Co. has removed from 5 Arch and 6 Hibernia Streets to new and commodious quarters, 92 Franklin Street.

CINCINNATI, O.—Tucker, Ziegler & Co. announce that they have opened a finely appointed book and stationery business at 501 Central Avenue.

CLINTON, MASS.—Robert Orr, newsdealer, stationer, etc., has sold out to Geo. S. Glaze.

KINGSTON, N. Y.—Forsyth & Wilson have moved about January 15, 1884, to the commodious and beautiful store in the Ulster County Savings Bank building (directly opposite Court-House), which is now being fitted especially for them.

NEW YORK CITY.—Mr. Charles P. Scribner desires his friends to note his change of address, which is now 33 Clinton Place. Mr. Scribner has taken charge of The Truthseeker Publications Co., but will also continue to supply his publications.

SAN FRANCISCO CAL.—A. Waldeufel announces that in connection with his San José store he will open a book and music store at 737 Market Street, on or about December 1.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Decker & Co., book-ellers and stationers, have dissolved partnership. Jacob J. Decker continues the business under the old style.

PERSONAL NOTES.

MR. HENRY MACCOURT, for ten years past with E. P. Dutton & Co., has made an engagement with the New York branch of John E. Potter & Co.

MR. HENRY T. CLAUDER desires to inform his friends that he has since his retirement from business in Bethlehem, Pa., become associated with and will shortly assume an interest in the business of the Anderson School-Book Co., 66 and 68 Reade St., N. Y., which will in the future be his business address. Mr. Clauder commenced business in Bethlehem in 1868 in connection with his brother, the late A. C. Clauder, under the firm-name of A. C. & H. T. Clauder, as agents of the Moravian publication office. After the death of the senior member of the firm Mr. Clauder continued the business in his own name until August of this year, when his resignation took effect. Mr. Clauder's experience of fifteen years in business in Bethlehem, notably a school-book centre, has been such as to enable him to become a valuable assistant in the wider field he now enters upon. We understand that Mr. Clauder will continue to be a resident of Bethlehem for the present.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

G. W. CARLETON & Co. have published Never, a burlesque on "Don't."

"DIANE CORYAL" the next No Name novel promised to be "a bright and fascinating picture of French life and scenery."

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have in press "The Franco-American Cookery Book," by Felix Ellice, caterer of the New York Club.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS will reprint in a small volume J. A. Froude's articles on Luther which appeared in the Contemporary Review.

"THE PAGANS" will be the second volume of the new American Novel series published by Henry Holt & Co. It will be issued anonymously.

W. R. JENKINS will publish at once "L'Abbé Constantin." This is the second number of his French series, Romans Choisis, which has been so well received that he has already to print a second edition of "Dosia."

IG. KOHLER, Philadelphia, has just published an American edition of Johannes Scherr's important work entitled "Germania: Zwei Jahrtausende Deutschen Lebens." The work is a most interesting survey of two thousand years of German life, and is very fully and handsomely illustrated.

L. PRANG & Co. have in press an illustrated work on the mushrooms of America, by Mr. Elias A. Palmer, Jr. It is the first of a series of charts intended to introduce the edible varieties of mushrooms, and to teach how to avoid those that are poisonous. The work will also contain directions for cooking all kinds of mushrooms.

CUPPLES, UPHAM & Co. announce in press a new novel by Sally McLean Pratt, author of "Cape Cod Folks," entitled "Some Other Folks;" also, "The Memoirs of the Rev. Charles Lowe," by his wife, Mrs. Martha Perry Lowe. The latter book will be ready during the present month.

THE Massachusetts New Church Union, Boston, will shortly issue an interesting volume of travel, by Rev. John Worcester, which will present to the reader pictures of the Holy Land in connection with scenes and incidents mentioned in the Bible. The title of the volume will be "A Journey in Palestine."

D. APPLETON & Co. have in press a second edition of the life of John Keese, that prince of book-auctioneers, and companion of men of letters. The reminiscences of this inimitable man have been widely read, and deserve a still more extended circulation. A new preface adds interest and piquancy to the volume.

SCRIBNER & WELFORD will issue an American edition of a "Hand-Book of Musical Biography," by Mr. David Baptie, which gives special attention to English composers who have in books professing the same aim been too much neglected. The volume is the result, the compiler says, of thirty or more years of study. Three thousand names are included, and among them are many American music-writers.

WILLARD SMALL, Boston, has just published a work of value to superintendents and teachers in public schools, entitled "School Management," by Joseph Langdon, of the training college, Saltley, England. It comprises a general view of the work of education, with some account of the intellectual faculties, from the teacher's point of view. It also contains hints upon organization, discipline, and moral training.

A. C. ARMSTRONG & SON call the attention of the trade to the fact that they have put their standard editions of Hallam, Lamb, Disraeli, Milman, Napier, Hallam, Simms, Michaud, and Poe into entirely new and attractive bindings with black and gold side and back stamps. The sale of these books, we understand, keeps up without interruption—100,000 volumes having been printed and sold since they were first issued at the reduced price.

G. W. SMALLEY, in a despatch to the Tribune, says that "The Academy, reversing the verdict of The Athenaeum and The Saturday Review, declares Mr. Howells's 'A Woman's Reason' to be the only work where that author has done justice to his singular powers. Mr. Howells, it says, as an observer of his fellow-creatures stands very high, and as a student of woman is quite unrivalled. This book is an excellent and real novel, thoroughly worth reading once, twice, thrice."

D. APPLETON & Co. announce that the second volume of Professor McMaster's "History of the People of the United States" will not be published before next spring. It seems that a large part of the author's manuscript was stolen last summer while he was at work upon a final revise before sending it to the publishers. When the author discovered his loss he set resolutely to work to rewrite the missing chapters, and would probably have had the book ready but for a serious delay in again collecting his data.

S. E. CASSINO & Co. have published "Botanical Micro-Chemistry," an introduction to the study of vegetable histology, prepared for the use of students by V. A. Poulsen, translated with the assistance of the author, and considerably enlarged by Wm. Trelease, professor in the University of Wisconsin. They have also ready the sixth part of "Standard Natural History," by Elliott Coues and J. S. Kingsley.

GINN, HEATH & Co. have ready this week "Modern French Readings," by Prof. Wm. J. Knapp; "Five-Place Logarithmic and Trigonometric Tables," by G. A. Wentworth and G. A. Hill; and "The Independent Music Reader and Hymn and Tune Book," bound together in one volume, forming an admirable collection of exercises, songs and hymns for grammar schools. They will publish shortly "A Sanscrit Reader," with vocabulary and notes, by Charles Rockwell Lanman, Professor of Sanscrit in Harvard University.

CUMMING & BRINKERHOFF, N. Y., announce "The Cumming Code," compiled on a new plan by a practical telegrapher to meet the wants of business men, who may desire a short, safe, and convenient, telegraph cipher code. It contains only words of ten letters or under (the cable limit), and of one to three syllables: all being familiar colloquial English expressions, and selected carefully in regard to their telegraphic, phonographic and chiographic relations to one another, so as to prevent blunders through the peculiarities of the "Morse" and English alphabets.

T. Y. CROWELL & Co. announce "Bryce's Pearl English Dictionary," containing about 15,000 words in 384 pages of clear pearl type, comprising besides the ordinary and newest words in the language, short explanations of a large number of scientific, philosophical, literary, and technical terms. The work is in small space, but sufficiently comprehensive for practical purposes. It is printed with red-line borders neatly bound in cloth and retails at 50 cents. They also announce two volumes entitled "Chips from Dickens" and "Chips from Thackeray," by Thomas Mason, which form part of a series called Chips from Standard Authors.

DODD, MEAD & Co. will issue next month a three-volume edition of the "Letters and Poems of John Keats;" the poems occupying two volumes. The editor is a grandnephew of the poet, John Gilmer Speed, who is able to furnish hitherto unpublished letters to Keats's brother George, a resident of the United States. Mr. Speed contributes also an introduction. The text of the poems is Lord Houghton's, and his notes have been retained. A novelty will be the reproduction by Bien, in color, of oil portraits by Severn of the three brothers Keats; and there will be several other illustrations. The edition will be printed from type, and limited.

ESTES & LAURIAT have just published "Young Folks' History of the Civil War," by Mrs. C. Emma Cheney, a concise account of the late war, from the best authorities, fully illustrated with engravings, maps, and plans; also the third and concluding volume of "Young Folks' History of the Queens of England, from the Norman Conquest," founded on "Strickland's Queens of England," by Rosalie Kaufman. They announce that they have concluded to change the title of "The Young Folks' History of the Netherlands," to "History of the Netherlands," a step made necessary by the accumulation of abundant material for the production of a popular standard history of the country, which will supply a long felt need. It is written by Alexander Young, and will contain abundant illustrations.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT & Co. have nearly ready "The Warden's Tale," and other poems, by Mrs. Bloomfield Moore, the well-known author of "Sensible Etiquette;" "Rosehurst," a novel by Mrs. Annie L. Gilchrist; "Marah," a novel; "Hope's Heart Bells," a novel, by Mrs. S. Oberholtzer, author of "Violet Lee," and a novel entitled "The Lost Histories of America," of the Zodiac shown to be an old terrestrial map, which the Atlantic Isle is delineated so that light can be thrown upon the obscure histories of the earthworks and ruined cities of America, by W. S. Blacket. They also announce a new revised and enlarged edition of "Studies in Mediæval History." The new text by the "Duchess" will be known by the name of "Rossmoyne," and will be equally as true and clever as any of this author's works.

P. BLAKISTON, SON & Co. have now ready work on "Sepulture: its History, Methods, and Sanitary Requisites," by Dr. Stephen Wickes, which, while giving a very interesting and accurate account of the subject in all its bearings, and any special reference to cremation; Wason's "Manual of Chemistry, Physical and Organic" (London edition), with colored plate spectra, and 150 wood-engravings; also the new (fifth) edition of Wilson's "Hand-Book of Hygiene and Sanitary Science," fully revised and considerably enlarged. On the first of December they will publish Merrill's "Digest of Materia Medica and Pharmacy," of importance and great interest to both druggists and physicians. Before January 1, 1888, will be ready a new "Directory of Physicians, Dentists, and Pharmacists of Philadelphia," which will contain also much information upon collateral matters that will prove of use to these professions. The form and size will be suitable for the pocket.

THE UNIVERSALIST PUB. HOUSE has published new editions of the works of Rev. J. D. Williamson, D.D., which have been out of print many years, at reduced prices. They comprise "Argument for Christianity," a series of discourses; "Williamson's Exposition and Defence of Universalism;" "Endless Mercy Examined and Refuted;" "Sermons for Times and Places;" and "Rudiments of Theological and Moral Scenes." There are also ready new editions of "The Ely and Thomas Discussion," a series of letters between Ezra Styles Ely, D.D., and Rev. Abel C. Thomas; "The Open War," by George S. Weaver, D.D.; "Footprints Hereward, or, Universalism the More Excellent Way," by Rev. M. J. Steere; "Universalism in its History and Doctrine, and its Superiority as a Practical Power," by E. G. Brooks, D.D.; also "Living Words," by E. H. Chapin, D.D., with an introductory letter by Rev. T. Starr King, a volume containing some of the choicest sayings of the eminent divine.

THE CENTURY COMPANY has published a new volume edited by Alfred M. Mayer, "Sport with Gun and Rod in American Woods and Waters." The nucleus of the book is a striking and popular series of sporting papers, experts which has been running for the past 25 ears in Scribner's Monthly and the Century Magazine. The series has been very largely supplemented by additional matter, both in text and illustrations, of the same high class and authoritative nature, and no game of any importance in America is left undescribed. The ground covered extends from the Gulf of Mexico to the Arctic Circle, and from the Atlantic coast to the mountains of the Sierra Nevada. There is even little archæology in the volume, as far as relates to the hunting and fishing of primitive man, which gives a philosophical savor to the book. As to illustrations the work is handsomely and visibly furnished. Some of the cuts are printed on Japan paper and have all the delicacy and accuracy of proofs. The binding is unique and artistic.

JAMES R. OSGOOD & Co. have published "The Course of Empire, being Outlines of the Chief Political Changes in the History of the World," by Charles Gardner Wheeler, arranged by centuries, with variorum illustrations, forming a valuable work of reference; "A Little Girl among the Old Masters," with an introduction and comment by W. D. Howells, a curious and entertaining series of sketches, with fifty illustrations; Abelard and Heloise, "a Mediæval romance," by Mrs. Abby Sage Richardson, in a handsome volume; and the Édition de Luxe of the "Works of James Abram Garfield," edited by Burke A. Hinsdale, President of Hiram College, in two handsome volumes, with new portraits. The edition is limited to 250 copies, each copy numbered, and registered. Messrs. Osgood announce that "the price of 'Nights with Uncle Remus' is $2 (not $1.50). The book greatly outgrew its original plan and contains double the amount of letterpress that is printed in Uncle Remus's' previous book."

D. APPLETON & Co. will publish at once The Organs of Speech and their Application to the Formation of Articulate Sounds, "by Georg Hermann von Meyer; and "Fallacies: View of Logic from the Practical Side," by Mr. Alfred Sidgwick. Both volumes are additions to the International Scientific series. Mr. Sidgwick's book is an account of the methods of proof and disproof with special reference to their liability to error; dealing also with the dangers of misinterpretation and the difficulties involved in placing the burden of proof correctly. They have also nearly ready "An Illustrated Guide to Mexico for Tourists, Settlers, and Indians," by Alfred R. Conkling; "Anecdotes of the Civil War," by Major-General E. D. Townsend; "Body and Will," an essay concerning will in its metaphysical, physiological, and pathological aspects, by Dr. Henry Maudsley; a new volume of Mr. Henry Abbey's poems entitled "The City of Success and Other Poems;" "English as She is Wrote," a companion volume to "English as She is Spoke;" a new edition of the little manual "Don't," in which is given a new chapter devoted particularly to women, which is now, by the way, selling into the thirty thousands, and Messrs. Dana and Johnson's selection of "Fifty Perfect Poems," issued in a new binding and containing some new illustrations. To the Parchment series will be added "The Book of Psalms" literally translated by the Rev. T. K. Cheyne; "The Icar of Wakefield," with introduction and notes by Austin Dobson; "Selections from English Comic Dramatists," with critical notes and precis by Mr. Oswald Crawford, and the two final volumes of the parchment Shakespeare.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. have published their illustrated holiday edition of Longfellow's dramatic poem, "Michael Angelo." It forms a quarto volume, and contains several portraits of Michael Angelo and Vittoria Colonna, and other illustrations which serve rather to depict scenes and incidents in the lives of Michael Angelo and Vittoria Colonna, than to make a merely pretty book. Therefore the volume has a decided value, besides being, as it is, a beautiful and artistic volume. All the details of manufacture, and a unique binding which is very attractive, can hardly fail to make this one of the most acceptable gift-books of the season. At the same time will appear Miss Jewett's new volume of stories, entitled "The Mate of the Daylight and Friends Ashore." Some of these stories are new, though most of them have appeared in magazines, where they have been received with great favor, as all Miss Jewett's delightful stories deserve; Oscar Fay Adams's "Hand-Book of English Authors," which is full of information concerning the English writers of any fame, giving just those prominent facts which all readers desire to learn quickly and easily; a new edition of the complete works of William H. Seward in five volumes, edited by Geo. E. Baker, containing a memoir and several portraits, and comprising Mr. Seward's speeches, addresses, messages, state papers, and discussing with remarkable wisdom and force the numerous important questions which arose during his public life; a "History of Georgia" from the earliest periods of its records until its organization as a State, by Col. Chas. C. Jones, of Augusta, Ga., a 2 vol. work with 19 full-page illustrations, and embracing in compact form the results of very careful and exhaustive research in the annals of that State; also, "The Book-Lover's Enchiridion," by Alexander Ireland, editor of the Manchester-Examiner, who has here gathered from the most famous authors of all time sentences which express the satisfaction and inspiration which books afford to genuine book-lovers. A large-paper edition of this latter work has been issued, of which a limited number of copies are for sale.

PROF. A. P. DE CANDOLLE offers a prize of 500 francs for the best monograph on a genus or family of plants. It will be open for competition until October 1, 1884. Papers, in Latin, French, German, English, or Italian should be sent to Prof. Alph. de Candolle, Geneva.

A CHANGE has been made in the publishing business of the late Mr. W. P. Nimmo, of Edinburgh, Mr. N. R. Mitchell, wholesale bookseller there, having joined the firm, which will be known in future under the designation of Nimmo, Hay & Mitchell, Mr. Hay having been for some time a partner in the business.

CHAPMAN & HALL will publish early in December a book on Egypt by Mr. A. M. Broadley, who was senior counsel for Arabi Pasha at his trial in Cairo. It will be entitled "How We Defended Arabi: A Story of Egypt and the Egyptians," and will contain, in addition to a full account of the proceedings which led to Arabi's exile, much new, interesting, and unpublished matter likely to throw important light

...military Italy, by "An English Officer;" "Electricity and Magnetism, a popular treatise," by Amédée Quillemin; "A New Zoölogy," by Prof. T. J. Parker; and the "Bible Word Book," by Mr. W. Aldis Wright, a glossary of words

WILL PUBLISH NEXT WEEK:

THE HISTORY OF PRUSSIA TO THE ACCESSION OF FREDERIC THE GREAT.

By HERBERT TUTTLE, A.M., Professor in Cornell University, author of "German Political Leaders," etc. 1 vol., crown 8vo, $2.25.

In this volume Mr. Tuttle traces the career of Prussia from the remotest records until Frederic the Great ascended the throne. It is not merely a history of the sovereigns and of the military operations in which Prussia was engaged, but of the people, of the development of its political, social, and religious institutions; and both in its design and in its execution it will take rank with the more important of modern historical works.

CHARACTERISTICS.

By A. P. RUSSELL, author of "Library Notes." 1 vol., 12mo, $2.

This book embodies, in essays grouped under various titles, the rich and diversified harvest gathered from many fields of literature. The illustrative extracts are well chosen from authors to whom the world is always glad to listen.

THE COMPLETE WORKS OF WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE.

Riverside Edition. Edited by RICHARD GRANT WHITE. With Glossarial, Historical, and Explanatory Notes. In 6 vols., 8vo. Printed from the same plates as the three-volume edition, but on larger and heavier paper, and tastefully bound. Price, cloth, $15 a set, in half calf, $30.

An exceedingly handsome and every way desirable edition of Shakespeare.

EXCURSIONS OF AN EVOLUTIONIST.

By JOHN FISKE, author of "Cosmic Philosophy," "Myths and Myth-Makers," etc. 1 vol., 12mo, $2.

CONTENTS: Europe before the Arrival of Man; The Arrival of Man in Europe; Our Aryan Forefathers: What we Learn from Old Aryan Words; Was there a Primitive Mother Tongue? Sociology and Hero-Worship; Heresies in Industry; The Causes of Persecution; The Origins of Protestantism; The True Lesson of Protestantism; Evolution of Religion; The Meaning of Infancy; A Universe of Mind-Stuff; In Memoriam: Charles Darwin.

The variety, importance, and masterly treatment of these subjects make this a book of no ordinary value and interest.

AN AMBITIOUS WOMAN. A Novel.

By EDGAR FAWCETT, author of "A Hopeless Case," "A Gentleman of Leisure," etc. 1 vol., 12mo., $1.50.

The scene of this novel, as of Mr. Fawcett's previous stories, is New York City. The story has many fresh, original character, and, with Mr. Fawcett's familiar knowledge of New York society and his well-known literary skill, it cannot fail to be one of the most notable novels of the year. While appearing in the New York Sunday Tribune it attracted great interest and caused no little discussion.

JUST PUBLISHED:

LANCHE W. HOWARD'S NEW NOVEL,
Guenn:

A WAVE ON THE BRETON COAST.

1 vol., 12mo, illustrated, $1.75

The latest production of the popular and talented author of "Aunt Serena," and "One Summer." It is a tale of love and art, the scene being laid in Brittany, and the picturesque scenes and no less picturesque people of this land of romance are vividly and graphically described. The many thousands of Miss Howard's admirers will be pleased to find, in this new volume, much of her choicest and most entertaining work, with an entire freshness of character and treatment, taking them, as she does, into scenes and combinations that are as novel and original in fiction as they are agreeable and fascinating.

The book is illustrated throughout with some forty vignettes, initials, etc., drawn expressly for it by a brilliant and skilful American artist.

Woods and Lakes of Maine:

TRIP FROM MOOSEHEAD LAKE TO NEW BRUNSWICK IN A BIRCH-BARK CANOE.

which are added some Indian place-names and their meanings, now first published. By LUCIUS L. HUBBARD, compiler of "Hubbard's Guide to Moosehead Lake and Northern Maine." New and original illustrations by Will L. Taylor, $3; half calf, $5.50; tree calf or antique morocco, $8.

A work of standard value as well as of picturesque and popular treatment. There are many nice full-page cuts made expressly for this book, and also a large number of smaller illustrations in the text. This is the first book in which the great northern park-region of New England has been treated in this manner, and the rare beauty of the illustrations will highly commend it to all lovers of nature.

English Rambles.

AND OTHER FUGITIVE PIECES IN PROSE AND VERSE.

WILLIAM WINTER, author of "The Trip to England," etc. 1 vol., 12mo, $1.50.

A charming collection of the later writings of Mr. Winter, including his very choice English poems, his essays on Longfellow, and several notable poems.

ELEGANT GIFT-BOOKS

TREASURES NEW AND OLD.

By ALICE L. WILLIAMS. 54 full-page illustrations by Irene Jerome. Large 4to, 800 pages, cloth, gold and black, $6; full morocco, $10.

This volume is, as its title denotes, a treasury of the best thoughts of the noblest minds. It is the result of many years of extensive and careful reading of the best authors of ancient and modern times. Mrs. Williams has manifested most exquisite taste in her selections. She has been fortunate in securing many original gems of literary beauty that have never before been published, from such leaders of modern thought as Horatio Nelson Powers and Robert Collyer, and such poets as Lucy Larcom and C. E. Stedman. This volume is a golden granary of the finest wheat without any admixture of chaff. A thoughtful man possessing this book will not willingly part with it, for it not only possesses the choicest thoughts, but is provocative of thought of the highest order. All students, teachers, ministers, authors, and public speakers will find this "treasury" of invaluable worth. The fifty-four illustrations are worthy of the text, and higher praise could not be awarded the artist and engraver.

THE WESTMINSTER Sabbath-School Hymnal NOW READY.

IT IS PUBLISHED WITH MUSIC AT

35 Cents for Single Copies, or at rate of $30 per 100.

THE HYMNS ONLY

(without music) are in three styles of binding:

Strong Paper Covers, 10 Cents,

Boards, 15 Cents,

Embossed Flexible Leather, 25 Cents.

The favor with which the Hymnal has been received, and the warm commendation of it by competent judges, warrant the statement that the Board of Publication has succeeded in producing a book for Sabbath-school use which, both in the selection of the Hymns and the adaptation of the tunes, is a success, and which will give the Presbyterian Church its long-looked for Sabbath-school as well as Social-meeting Hymn-Book.

While avoiding too high a style, which renders some recent books unfit for general use, it is yet all that can be asked for in that line; and while giving a considerable number of the Standard Hymns of the Church, it also contains both Hymns and Tunes "lively" enough. Taken as a whole, our Church can safely be urged to examine and adopt this effort for the young, as it has the Hymnal for Church use. Sample copies sent by mail on receipt of 35 cents by

ILLUSTRATED

Christmas Number

OF THE LITERARY NEWS.
1883.

NOTICE TO BOOKSELLERS.

THE LITERARY NEWS for Christmas, 1883, will embrace thirty-two pages of reading matter and illustrations, and we intend to make it far superior to any previous year, also hoping to issue it earlier than heretofore.

Its sole aim and object is to increase the sale of books, and every bookseller who distributes it may be sure of being benefited thereby.

The chief attraction of the forthcoming issue will be the numerous specimen illustrations from the most prominent and popular new holiday books.

The most valuable feature, besides the Literary Notes, will be a special price-list of the Books of the Season, in all the departments of Holiday Literature.

To those who desire to reach a wider public than they feel they can afford to seek through the more expensive Christmas Number of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, the Christmas Number of the LITERARY NEWS is recommended as the best possible medium to cultivate a holiday trade.

NOTES IN SEASON.

RAND, McNALLY & Co. issue to-day "Won West Point, a Romance on the Hudson," described as a "clever tale, cleverly told—quite out the hackneyed style of American novels."

T. B. PETERSON & BROS. will issue in a few days a cheap edition of Mrs. Southworth's Ishmael; or, In the Depths," being "Self-ade; or, Out of the Depths," in one large todecimo volume of 718 pages, paper cover, with a portrait of the author, at the remarkably low price of seventy-five cents a copy.

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. have ready "Shakespeare as a Lawyer," by Franklin Fiske Heard; also "Land and its Rent," by Francis A. Walker, a volume embodying the substance of four lectures delivered in Harvard University in May, 1883. They have in preparation "Precedents of Equity Pleading," by Franklin Fiske Heard.

ROBERTS BROS. publish this week an interesting and fascinating volume entitled "Autobiography and Letters of Orville Dewey, D.D.," edited by his daughter, Mary E. Dewey; also, an édition de luxe of "The Fables of La Fontaine," translated from the French by Robert Thompson, containing portrait and twenty-five original full-page etchings by A. Dellerre. The edition is limited to 250 copies, each being numbered. They have nearly ready, "Mrs. Lincoln's Boston Cook-Book: What to do and What not to do in Cooking," by Mrs. D. A. Lincoln, of the Boston Cooking School.

JANSEN, McCLURG & Co. have published a volume by the Hon. George W. Julian, called "Political Recollections, 1840 to 1872." The author is widely known throughout this country, he having been during most of this period named a conspicuous figure in American politics. One of the earliest and most uncompromising of the anti-slavery leaders, the candidate for Vice-President upon the Free-soil ticket in 1852, one of the founders of the Republican party in 1856, and afterward one of its most prominent and trusted leaders, a member of Congress during the exciting period preceding and including the war, and during that great struggle one of President Lincoln's intimate advisers and a member of the famous Congressional Committee on the Conduct of the War—he is well able, from such a career, to make of his recollections a most interesting and thrilling narrative.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. will publish, on the 5th inst., an armful of interesting and valuable books, nearly or quite concluding their publications before Christmas. Mr. Fawcett's story, "An Ambitious Woman," which appeared in the New York Sunday Tribune and excited no little interest and discussion there, is one of these books. With this will appear Mr. Warner's new volume of travels, "A Roundabout Journey," devoted to southern Spain and France, and a short excursion into Africa; "Excursions of an Evolutionist," a new book of Essays gathered from the Atlantic and other magazines, by John Fiske, and possessing the value which thoroughness, scientific treatment, and a remarkably clear style lend to a book; a "Study of Tennyson's In Memoriam," careful, not superficial, and really of value, by Prof. John F. Genung, of Amherst College; the six-volume edition of the Riverside Shakespeare, edited by Richard Grant White, a very attractive edition of Shakespeare's complete works; "Characteristics," a volume of essays, on which are strung many admirable sentences quoted from an army of the best writers, by A. P. Russell, author of "Library Notes;" and Prof. Tuttle's "History of Prussia to the Accession of Frederic the Great," a crown octavo relating with ample knowledge, in excellent order, and with good narrative style, the salient facts in the history of Prussia from the earliest records.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

[3] NOTICE.—For fuller descriptions of those Illustrated Books and Books for the Young which are only briefly noted in this list, consult the Christmas Number of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY (Nov. 17).

Adams, W. T. ["Oliver Optic," pseud.] Snug harbor; or, the Champlain mechanics. Bost., Lee & Shepard, 1884 [1883]. 3-334 p. il. D. (The boat-builder ser.) cl., $1.25.

"Dory Dornwood," who was the hero of the initial volume of this series, is again presented with many new characters. Like the former volume, the scene is laid on Lake Champlain and its shores. The Beech Hill Industrial School makes a beginning in this book, and its pupils are gathered together in the school room and the workshop. The author goes into details as far as possible of the work done by the Champlain mechanics; he aims to create an interest in carpentry and machinists' work.

Alger, Horatio, jr. Dan, the detective: story for young people. N. Y., G. W. Carleton & Co., 1883. il. D. cl., $1.25.

Alger, W. Rounseville. The poetry of the Orient. [New issue.] Bost., Roberts Bros., 1883. 16+392 p. D. cl., $1.50.

Arnot, Rev. W. The parables of our Lord. [New issue.] N. Y., Robt. Carter & Bros., [1883]. 7-532 p. O. cl., $1.75.

Bélot, Adolph. Fedora; or, the tragedy in the Rue de la Paix; from the French by A. D. H. Chic, Rand, McNally & Co., 1883. 299 p. il. D. cl., $1.

Few authors know the art of working up the interest and sympathy of their readers as Bélot does. This volume is a highly spiced detective story dealing with a murder case. Although there is nothing remarkably new in its pages, the characters are so well drawn and the incidents so ably managed that the attention is held from first to last. The translation is a very good one.

Berthelot, M. P. E. Explosive materials: a series of lectures delivered before the College de France at Paris; tr. by Marcus Benjamin; [also] A short historical sketch of gunpowder; from the German of Karl Braun, by Lieut. J. P. Wisser, U.S.A.; and a bibliography of works on explosives. Reprinted from Van Nostrand's Magazine. N. Y., D. Van Nostrand, 1883. 4-180p. Tt. (Van Nostrand's sci. ser., no. 70) bds., 50 c.

In the appendix will be found a valuable bibliography, prepared by Mr. W. H. Farrington, relating to the constitution and preparation of explosive substances. This is only a part of a more extensive list, which includes applications, prepared by Mr. Farrington for Van Nostrand's "Monthly record of scientific literature."

Bible emblem anniversary-book; by the compilers of the "Floral birthday-book," il. by W. Foster; engraved and printed by Edmund Evans. N. Y., G. Routledge & Sons, [1883]. 6-136 p. T. cl., $1.25.

In the form of a birthday-book with blank spaces corresponding to each date. The spaces devoted to the dates contain a text, some verses, and emblematical Bible illustrations printed in colors. Emblematical title-page in colors.

Bible. New Testament; popular commentary by English and American scholars of various evangelical denominations, ed. by Philip Schaff, D.D. In 4 v. V. 4: The Catholic epistles and Revelation. N. Y., C. Scribner's Sons, 1883. 507 p. O. cl., $5.

The concluding volume of a valuable work that has been for some years in course of publication. The editor, the well-known Dr. Schaff of the Union Theological Seminary of N. Y., and the authors are all accepted authorities in Biblical matters. The work embodies the results of the most recent investigations in theology. Contains Hebrew, by Prof. Jos. Angus; James, by Rev. Paton J. Glog; I and II. Peter, by Prof. S. D. F. Salmond; L. II. and III. John, by Prof. W. B. Pope and Prof. W. F. Moulton; I. D. Jude, by Prof. Jos. Angus, D.D.; and Revelation, by Prof. W. Mulligan, D.D.

Braddon, Ma. Eliza [Mrs. J. Maxwell]. Under the red flag: a novel. N. Y., Harper [1883]. 30 p. Q. (Harper's Franklin sq. lib., no. 344.) pap., 10 c.

Bruce, Alex. Balmain, D.D. The parabolic teaching of Christ: a systematic and critical study of the parables of our Lord. N. Y., A. C. Armstrong & Son, [1883]. 10+515 p. O. cl., $2.50.

The author groups the parables as "theoretic," "evangelic," and "prophetic." His work is "a fresh attempt to unfold in a scholarly yet genial manner, the didactic significance of these beautiful sayings of our Lord." He has sought help from the moderns more than from the ancients, and "has kept recent commentators steadily in view, while avoiding the dryness of the commentators, and shunning, from a parade of authorities." The work though scholarly is also popularly written, and is from the standpoint of a believer.

Bunce, O. B., comp. Fair words about fair woman; gathered from the poets by O. B. Bunce. N. Y., Appleton, 1884 [1883]. 2-38 p. il. O. cl., $3.

Mr. Bunce's wide reading and cultured taste have been utilized in the production of a unique volume of poetical selections all having for their theme the exaltation of woman. As no anthology of a like nature exists, this attractive work should meet with a very generous appreciation from lovers of choice poems and of "fair woman." No more beautiful compliment could be paid to the latter than the presence of this glowing testimony of man's admiration expressed in the famous writings of world renowned poets. The poems are divided into eight evenings, the first consisting of poems devoted to general praise of woman's virtues and charms. Then there is a Teanyon evening, and selections from the old English poets, a fourth of selections from Irish and Scotch poets; the fifth embraces translations from the sixteenth century, the sixth is from modern English and American poets; the seventh consists of poems singing of woman as a mother, and the eighth and last of excerpts from Shakespeare, Spenser, Byron, describing favorite heroines. There are some graceful illustrations by Mr. Will H. Low, and the mechanical parts—the typography, paper, binding—are such as to please the most fastidious.

Burnett, Frances Hodgson. Vagabondia: a love story. Bost., Ja. R. Osgood & Co., 1884 [1883]. 2-392 p. D. cl., $1.50.

First published in Petersen's Magazine (1873) under the title of "Dorothea," and afterward in book form by F. O. Coates (International ser.), as "Dolly" in 1877. Since then, under the name of "Dolly" in P. W. of Nov. 3, 1882, "Vagabondia," the title it now bears was the suggestion intended for it by Mrs. Burnett. She applies the name to a portion of London life, whose members are important authors, artists, and professional people generally. For this class she takes her heroine "Dolly," a very charming creation.

Coan, Titus Munson, ed. Art and literature. N. Y., G. P. Putnam's Sons, 1883. 3-104 p. S. (Topics of the time, no. 6.) pap., 25 c.

Contents: The philosophy of the beautiful, by J. Blackie, from the Contemporary Review; Heloise at South Kensington: a dialogue, Plato and Lucian, by D. Traill, Fortnightly Review; The beginning of the world, Stanley Lane Poole, Fortnightly Review; The medieval and modern stage, Edinburgh Review; Impressionists, by F. Wedmore, Fortnightly Review; Wagner and Wagnerism, by Edmund Gurney, The Nineteenth Century.

* In this list, the titles generally are verbatim transcriptions (according to the rule of the American Library Association) from books received. Books not received are indicated by a prefix crossed out—this office cannot be held responsible for the correctness of their record. This list will be repeated, with all the notices of the books received, in the TRADE LIST ANNUAL.

oleridge, S. T. The ancient mariner, illustrated by D. Scott; with life of the artist and descriptive notices of the plates by Rev. A. L. Simpson, D.D. N. Y., T. Nelson & Sons, 1883. 4-160 p. D. cl., $1.50.

The illustrations which are comprised in this volume are among the most original and characteristic work of the English artist, David Scott, who died 1849. The designs are made when he was twenty-two and received the warm commendation of the author of the poem. As now presented they are necessarily reduced.

onklin, Mrs. Nathaniel [formerly Miss Jennie M. Drinkwater]. Miss Prudence. N. Y., Rob. Carter & Bros., 1883. 3-463 p. D. cl., $1.50.

"Through actions pure and good grew to perfect lady-ship," the motto on the title-page, gives the drift of this neat story of the lives of women. Miss Prudence is disappointed in her youth and devotes her life to making girls old and happy. The author's name lends a treat to girls to have read "Bek's first comer" and "Rue's help." The religious tones of the book is healthy and unsectarian, and the incidents are actual and well told.

ahn, Felix. Felicitas; a romance from the German, by Mary J. Safford. N. Y., W. S. Gottsberger, 1883. 13+208 p. S. pap., 50 c. A romance of the 5th century; scene is laid in the Salzurg valley, then occupied by the Romans; an incursion the Alemanni under Liutbert makes of the ancient Juva-ma a German province. A pretty little domestic story is shrouded in this historical setting. The romance was suggested to the author through the finding of a stone apparently forming at one time the threshold of a villa or garden, inscribed in Latin, "Here dwells happiness, let no evil enter," while he was employed in the Museum of Roman antiquities at Salzburg.

lectic (The) complete geography. N. Y., Van Antwerp, Bragg & Co., [1883]. 114 p. il. maps, F. (New two-book ser.) bds., $1.40. Revised edition of the "Eclectic series of geographies." The new series consists of an "Elementary" and "Complete" geography. The present work has been completely written to meet all recent scientific investigations. The maps have all been re-drawn and re-engraved. Many appendices have been enlarged and some new ones added. The illustrations are profuse and by the best artists.

lectic (The) elementary geography. N. Y., Van Antwerp, Bragg & Co., [1883]. 82 p. il. maps, O. (New two-book ser.) bds., 65 c. Designed as an introduction to the study of geography. It is first book of the revised "Eclectic series." The maps are new and much new matter has been inserted, while the text is brought up to date.

vans, Elizabeth E. Laura: an American girl. Phil., J. B. Lippincott & Co., 1884 [1883]. 2-374 p. D. cl., $1.50.

Laura and her cousin Lillian spend a summer at a water-cure place on the coast of Maine, and this is the "oft-told tale" of flirtations at picnics, dances, church-fairs, excursions, etc. Lillian poses as philosopher and very freely expresses some rather ungracious opinions on dress, dancing, love, and marriage. The author criticizes the peculiar tenets of pietism in the many American sects with some justice. Laura a pleasant girl, but not distinctively American, and one would scarcely be claimed as a national type by any patriotic reader.

Wlette. Reminiscences of the life and labors of A. D. Gillette, D.D., by his friends and associates, Horatio Gates Jones, R. S. MacArthur, D.D., [and others]. N. Y., Ward & Drummond 1883. 174 p. por. D. cl., 75 c. Dr. Gillette (b. 1807, d. 1882) was for nearly twelve years pastor of the Calvary Church, New York. The papers preserved in this volume give a consecutive story of his upers' young people, 1883. N. Y., Harper, [1883]. 6+835 p. il. Q. cl., $3.

ocking, Silas K. Her Benny. New ed. N. Y., Ward & Drummond, 1884 [1883]. 6+172 p. il. D. cl., $1.

A pretty little girl with a brave little brother are the one and only of this little book for young readers. Benny and Nelly are poor children earning a living by ring matches. Being beaten one day by a cruel father they run away from home. They are often near starvation and Benny is once tempted to steal to get bread for his sister. Though Benny's heart is most broken by poor Nelly's death, he lives to be a good and successful man, helped to better days by a charming, sympathetic girl, whom he finally marries.

Hooking, Silas K. His father; or, a mother's legacy. New ed. N. Y., Ward & Drummond, 1884 [1883]. 9+346 p. il. D. cl., $1.

A boy's devotion to a drunken father is the leading motive. The story is a touching one, and is said to be founded on fact. The author says "My aim has been to do good; to point out dangers and incite to goodness; to write a story that could be safely placed in the hands of any boy or girl, or in the library of any Sunday-school."

Hooking, Silas K. Ivy: a tale of cottage life. N. Y., Ward & Drummond, 1884 [1883]. 3+282 p. il. D. cl., $1.

The story of a brave, strong, patient, true-hearted girl. Her care of her little brother when her father's death leaves her alone in the world, and her heroic struggle with adversity are well portrayed.

Hooking, Silas K. Sea-waif. N. Y., Ward & Drummond, 1884 [1883]. 4+274 p. il. D. cl., $1.

A story of the Cornish coast; opens with a shipwreck in which only one life, a little child, is saved. He falls to the tender care of a good woman whose husband is a smuggler and wrecker. He has many adventures and finally discovers he is the nephew of a rich gentleman living in Melbourne. A little love tale brightens up some sombre episodes.

Howell, Mrs. Florence E. The coral bracelet, and other sketches: a book for girls. Nashville, Tenn., Southern Methodist Pub. House, 1883. 4-215 p. S. cl., 40 c.

Hoyt, Wayland, D.D. Gleams from Paul's prison; or, studies for the daily life in the Epistle to the Philippians. N. Y., Ward & Drummond, [1883]. 527 p. S. cl., $1.

"This book," Dr. Hoyt, the author of "Hints and helps for the Christian life," says, "is an attempt to read one of the sweetest and most stimulating of the epistles of the great apostle through, and to disclose its multifarious relation with the daily life."

J., E. A., comp. Sure guide for little footsteps. [New ed.] Phil., American S. S. Union, [1883]. 71 p. Fe. cl., 15 c.; gilt, 20 c. Bible texts.

Janet, Paul. The theory of morals; from the latest French ed. N. Y., C. Scribner's Sons, 1883. 9+400 p. O. cl., $2.50.

Translated by Miss Mary Chapman, under the supervision of President Noah Porter, of Yale College, from the latest edition of Prof. Janet's La Morale (Paris, 1874), and published by arrangement with and under the authority of the author. In this work which has only a few pages in common with "Elements of morals," published 1869, Prof. Janet has "endeavored to go back to first principles and to define, with some precision, the fundamental ideas of morals," and "to present a systematic and well-connected exposition of them." While he has not neglected to consult his predecessors and to draw inspiration from their researches, he has done everything in his power to add something to them.

Jeffries, R. The story of my heart: my autobiography. Bost., Roberts Bros., 1883. 3+144 p. S. cl., 75 c.

Love and passion hold no place in this story of a heart, which is a speculation of a deeply philosophical kind upon the great questions of the need and object of existence. The author sums up his argument by asserting that "nothing is of any use unless it gives me a stronger body and mind, a more beautiful body, a happy existence, and a soul-life now."

Keble, Rev. J. Evening. N. Y., E. P. Dutton & Co., 1884 [1883]. no paging, il. O. cl., $1.50.

Keble's "Evening," a well-known and favorite hymn is here selected for illustration; the designs, which are extremely graceful and characteristic, are by Frank T. Merrill, F. D. Woodward, and F. Child Hassam. Printed only on one side of heavy plate paper.

Keddle, Miss Henrietta. ["Sarah Tyler." pseud.] Marie Antoinette. N. Y., G. P.

Putnam's Sons, 1883. 6-234 p. D. (New Plutarch ser.) cl., $1.

The author of this charmingly written biography acknowledges herself indebted to a long list of works by prominent writers on the subject. She has succeeded, however, in producing a work that is noticeably fresh in style and specially interesting in the manner in which its incidents are presented. Every one knows the story of this ill-fated queen, and yet every one will be glad to read the tragical story once more in its present attractive shape.

Kirkland, Miss E. S. Speech and manners for home and school. Chic., Jansen, McClurg & Co., 1884 [1883]. 3-263 p. sq. S. cl., $1.

In the form of a story children are taught how to correct errors of speech and of conduct. The dialogue is bright and natural and between young boys and girls. The mother is the one who calls them to account for their mistakes. It is done in a way that cannot fail to gain young people's attention. By the author of "Six little cooks."

Kitchen, J. M. W., M.D. Student's manual of diseases of the nose and throat: a digest, descriptive of the more commonly seen diseases of the upper air-tract, with the methods of their treatment. N. Y., G. P. Putnam's Sons, 1883. 6+127 p. il. S. flex. cl., $1.

Both student and practitioner will find this a valuable little manual for study and reference. It contains a résumé of throat and nasal diseases, omitting the very rare diseases of the upper air-tract. Dr. Kitchen, who is assistant surgeon to the Metropolitan Throat Hospital, wrote the little book with the primary intention of confirming and condensing his own knowledge. He now offers it with some additions and changes to the hard worked student who is always glad to have his facts ready digested.

Lee, Margaret. The story of a story. N. Y., Ward & Drummond, 1884 [1883]. 2-319 p. D. cl., $1.25.

The "story" is written by a young girl to help her family after her father has lost his fortune, and in pressing need of support for a wife and seven children. The same daughter also becomes a governess, and many needed reforms in American home-life are taught by the description of the family in which she teaches. Young girls can learn several ways of earning their own support in this interesting and natural book.

Luther, Martin. The hymns of Martin Luther, set to their original melodies; with an English version ed. by Leonard Woolsey Bacon, assisted by Nathan H. Allen. N. Y., C. Scribner's Sons, 1883. 26+71 p. O. cl., $2.

Issued in commemoration of the 400th anniversary of Luther's birthday, Nov. 10, 1883. In a very interesting preface, in which Dr. Bacon quotes the words of many celebrated writers regarding Luther's hymns, he says himself: "Luther's Bible and Luther's hymns gave life not only to the churches of the Reformation, but to German nationality and the German language." The hymns will all be found here in the original and in a very excellent translation adapted to the melodies. The melodies are those printed in Luther's lifetime. The prefaces written by Luther to the various hymn-books published under his direction are full of interest. The volume is handsomely printed with red edges and in black cloth, with white paper label lettered in red.

Macaulay, Ja., M.D., ed. Grey Hawk: life and adventures among the red Indians. Phil., J. B. Lippincott & Co., 1883. 12+341 p. D. cl., $1.50.

A condensation, for youthful readers, of a book published in 1830 under the title of "Narrative of John Tanner's thirty years' captivity among the Indians in the interior of North America." The narrative is a true one, John Tanner having been carried off when a boy from his father's home in Kentucky by a band of Shawnees, from whom he was transferred to the Ojibbeways. Among these Indians he lived for many years, sharing their adventures and hardships. The book is a thrilling one, offering authentic information of the Indians.

Maitland, Christal V. A woman's web: a novel. N. Y., G. W. Carleton & Co., 1883. D. cl., $1.50.

Mauzy, M. F. Physical geography, rev. by Mytton Mauzy, M.D. Rev. ed. N. Y., University Pub. Co., 1883. 128 p., il. and maps, Q. cl., $1.20.

The progress of science has rendered necessary a revised edition of this popular text-book. The review has received in the prosecution of his work, the counsel of many recent scientists and experienced educators. He has sought to meet the demands of the schools for brief books by abridging somewhat the earlier edition, without, however, impairing its completeness. It thus forms a shorter course for such as desire it. The aim has been throughout to preserve, as far as possible, the charm of the author's style. Topical analyses and test questions have been added.

Nepos. Cornelius Nepos [Latin]: for sight-reading in schools and colleges; with exercises for translation into Latin, index of proper names, and a preface containing suggestions for students reading at sight, by T. B. Lindsay. N. Y., Appleton, 1884 [1883]. 10+283 p. map, S. (Appleton's classical ser.) cl., $1.50.

Nohl, L. Life of Wagner; from the German by G. P. Upton. Chic., Jansen, McClurg & Co., 1884 [1883]. 204 p. D. (Biographies of musicians.) cl., $1.25.

That Dr. Nohl is an ardent admirer of Wagner's genius is evident throughout his appreciative work. He is a enthusiast for his music and his poems. It is of the nature, however, that he tells us the most. While he goes on into the plots and motives of Wagner's operas, he has little to say of a critical nature about his music. The book as a biography is quite satisfactory, giving full details of Wagner's early struggles, the composition and production of "Kienzi" and "The Flying Dutchman," his first opera, his subsequent works, his world-wide fame, and his lamented death in February of this year at Venice.

Nordhoff, C. God and the future life; the reasonableness of Christianity. N. Y., Harper, 1883. 228 p. S. cl., $1.

The author's aim is to answer the questions and to meet the objections raised by the average youthful sceptic in the Christian religion. His special gifts as a writer for thinking young men are brought to bear in this new field with good effect. He is simple, clear, quiet and sensible. He does not "bag questions," and he furnishes many excellent arguments for teachers and parents laboring to convince the young generation of the importance of the Christian faith in its immortality. The vexed questions of "faith and science," "miracles," "prayer," "the Bible," "the mystery of pain," "the limits of speculation," etc., are handled both reasonably, and the literary style makes the book interesting even to those who cannot agree with the statements of the writer.

Page, C. E., M.D. Horses: their feed and their feet; a manual of horse hygiene, showing out the true source of "malaria," "disease waves," influenza, glanders, "pink-eye," etc., and how to prevent and counteract them; [also] Treatise and notes on shoeing by Sir G. Cox and Col. M. C. Wells. N. Y., Fowler & Wells [1883]. 1+149 p. il. D. cl., 75 c.; pap., 50 c.

Gives in a condensed form much that is valuable in the care of horses, that has not before been published. The subject is considered from a new and original standpoint, and stated in a plain, practical, common-sense manner, showing how by proper care many valuable years are added of life and usefulness to our horses. It discloses fully the best means of putting horses in "condition," keeping them so, the relation of feed to work, the best use of feed, and when and how to feed for the best results, including the care of work-horses and of road-horses.

Peck, G. W. The groceryman and Peck's tall boy: being a continuation of "Peck's tall boy and his pa." Chic., Belford, Clarke & Co., 1883. 5-240 p. il. D. (Peck's tall boy no. 2.) cl., $1; pap., 50 c.

Second series of papers from Peck's Son, Milwaukee, telling the further adventures of Peck's tall boy. The paper has a laugh in it, the practical jokes and the pranks of the hero being extremely ludicrous. The widespread notoriety of this original humorist has made known the quality of the book to every reader.

Pinkerton, Allan. The burglar's fate: a story. N. Y., G. W. Carleton & Co., 1883. D. cl., $1.50.

Plutarch. The boys' and girls' Plutarch: parts of the "Lives of Plutarch," edited for boys and girls, with an introduction.

Chronological table of dates or events described and a table of heights and measures prepared by Dr. Arbuthnot. It is printed on thick paper in large type. Contains fifty illustrations and four colored maps, and makes a handsome and handy volume. For full description see Christmas number.

ed, S. B. Cottage houses for village and country homes; with complete plans and specifications. N. Y., The Orange Judd Co., 1883. 3-136 p. il. D. cl., $1.25.

General descriptions and detailed estimates of materials, construction and cost are given with each plan, by which intelligent person may readily comprehend the character of the buildings, and which will enable any builder of many experience to prepare his estimates, corrected by varying circumstances of locality and prices, and apply to their erection. Nearly all these plans have been tested from their practicability proven. They embrace great variety of arrangement, and are adapted to meet the practical want for convenient, comfortable and economic residences.

Under, J. A noble wife: a novel. N. Y., Harper, [1883]. 62 p. Q. (Harper's Frank- in sq. lib., no. 343.) pap., 20 c.

He early days of the Reformation in England with a woman rising to distinction, is the period dealt with. The "noble wife" is the Archbishop's second spouse. This romance, desired by Cranmer for many political and religious motives to be kept secret, involved consequences of an extraordinary nature.

Van (pseud.) Marplot Cupid. Bost., V. B. Clarke & Carruth, 1883. 1+276 p. T. l., $1.25.

It tells the story of a summer passed by relations and friends at a watering-place on the coast of Maine. The story is easily discovered and not specially new, but there are many natural situations and some bright conversations.

Waff, Philip. History of the Christian Church. New ed., rev. and enl. V. 2: Ante-Nicene Christianity, 100-325. N. Y., C. Scribner's Sons, 1883. 12+877 p. O. cl., $4.

It contains the history of Christianity from the end of the stolic age to the beginning of the Nicene. An entire reconstruction, enlarged to double the size, of the corresponding part of the first edition, which appeared twenty-years ago. Some chapters and several sections are new, the rest has been improved and enlarged, especially the chapter on the literature of the Church. "My aim has been," says the talented author, "to bring the book up to present advanced state of knowledge, to record every important work (German, French, English and American) which has come under my notice, and to make the results the best scholarship of the age available and useful to the generation."

Wid, Christoph v. Rosa von Tannenburg: a tale; from the German by Lucie Agnes Archer. N. Y., Ward & Drummond, 1884 [1883]. -172 p. D. cl., 75 c.

A graceful translation of a story that has long been a standard work for the young in Germany. It inculcates the idea that careful religious training in youth best secures happiness and usefulness in after-life.

Witt, Sir Walter. Count Robert, of Paris. Phil., T. B. Peterson & Bros., [1883]. 4-119 p. O. (Peterson's cheap edition for the million.) pap., 15 c.

Worcester, Rev. H. D. M., and Exell, Rev. Jos. S., eds. The pulpit commentary: I. Samuel; exposition by Very Rev. R. Payne Smith, D.D.; homiletics by Rev. Prof. C. Chapman; homilies by various authors, Rev. D. Fraser, D.D., and Rev. B. Dale, D.D. 5th ed. N. Y., A. D. Randolph & Co., [1883]. 16+573 p. O. cl., 2.

Note, "Weekly Record," P. W., April 28, '83 [588].

Wurgeon, C. H. The present truth: collection of sermons preached at the Metropolitan Tabernacle. N. Y., Rob. Carter & Bros., 1883. 3-378 p. D. cl., $1.

Quoted to "Types and emblems," being collated from the people; Cin., Walden & Stowe, 1883. 325 p. il. S. cl., $1.

Contains: Maroussa, a Russian legend, by P. J. Stahl; The Valley of Yseult, how it was transformed, by Fanny Lablache; The shepherdess of the Alps; The young lady's house, by M. G. De Putliz.

Swing, D. Sermons. Chic., Jansen, McClurg & Co., 1884 [1883]. 3-307 p. D. cl., $1.50.

These twenty sermons, by one of the most liberal divines in the Chicago pulpit, relate to moral esthetics; Civilization; A symmetrical life; A great brotherhood; The better choice; The preacher and his enemy; Reason and imagination; The objections to evolution; The beautiful is the useful; The higher life, etc.

Thackeray, W. M. The rose and the ring; or, the history of Prince Giglio and Prince Bulbo: a fireside pantomime for great and small children. Bost., Estes & Lauriat, 1883. 3-148 p. il. sq. S. cl., $1.

A new issue, with Thackeray's original illustrations, of a well-known story by the great English writer. Extremely amusing, both in text and ill.

Underwood, Francis H. John Greenleaf Whittier: a biography. Bost., James R. Osgood & Co., 1883. 16+413 p. il. and por., D. cl., $1.50.

The plan of the work is to show the character and work of Whittier as man and poet by means of authentic personal narrations, and by references to the poems that depict his inner life and so beautifully describe the New England scenery that is such a favorite theme with the poet. The field of the anti-slavery labors has been clearly defined, and this portion of the biography is of telling and enduring interest. The work has been written with full sanction of Mr. Whittier and his friends, and consequently under peculiar advantages for procuring facts and minute details, and does full justice to its subject, while it is also a new testimony to Mr. Underwood's skill and fidelity as a biographer. The volume is warmly dedicated to John Bright, whose acknowledgment of the courtesy is also printed. A chronological list of Whittier's writings and a very full index to the volume add greatly to its literary and practical value.

United States. Bureau of Education: Report of the Commissioner of Education for the year 1881. Wash., D. C. Government Printing Office, 1883. 3-277+840 p. O. cl. Contains the report and statistics of education for the year 1881.

White, E. E. A new complete arithmetic; uniting oral and written exercises. N. Y., Van Antwerp, Bragg & Co., [1883]. 360 p. D. (White's two-book ser.) bds., 76 c.

A revised edition of the author's "Complete arithmetic," published thirteen years ago. The book has been enlarged, obsolete terms and measures eliminated and current values, forms and usages of business presented. Special attention is called to the new treatment of the metric system.

White, E. E. A new elementary arithmetic; uniting oral and written exercises. N. Y., Van Antwerp, Bragg & Co., [1883]. 268 p. D. (White's two-book ser.) bds., 59 c.

Prepared to meet an increasing demand for a two-book series of arithmetics. Covers the ground of the first two books of the author's three-book series, but does not present the first lessons so fully. The first lesson devoted to numbers and the four elementary rules embody the more important principles of what is known as the "Grube method." The balance of the book carries pupils through fractions, mensuration, and percentage and simple interest.

Winalow, Margaret E. Save the boys; or, A. B. C. and S. T. B. N. Y., National Temp. Soc. and Pub. House, 1883. 379 p. 1 il. S. cl., $1.25.

Meant to give parents some insight into the temptations that beset their boys, and into which they very readily fall, if allowed to go about a great city without any restrictions. A strong tract, in the form of a story, against the use of liquor and tobacco.

The Publishers' Weekly.

DECEMBER 1, 1883.

PUBLISHERS are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, to insure correctness in the final entry.

The trade are invited to send "Communications" to the editor on any topic of interest to the trade, and as to which an interchange of opinion is desirable. Also, matter for "Notes and Queries" gratefully received.

In case of business changes, notification or card should be immediately sent to this office for entry under "Business Notes." New catalogues issued will also be mentioned when forwarded.

INTERNATIONAL COPYRIGHT.

THE INTERNATIONAL LITERARY ASSOCIATION.

From the London Literary World, Oct. 12.

MR. BLANCHARD JERROLD writes: "The recent Swiss Legislative decree, which gives to foreign authors the same privileges respecting copyright and right of dramatic performance as writers who are citizens of the Confederation, is due, like the Franco-German and the Franco-Spanish Literary Conventions, to the initiative of the International Literary Association. In his address of last June to the Chamber of Deputies, M. Challemeil-Lacour declared on the part of the French Government that these Conventions were the direct result of the activity and the conferences of this association. At the Berne Conference of this month, we framed a plan for an International Copyright Union, with the direct help and sanction of the Federal Council; and, may add, before we closed our labors the Government of the Confederation accepted our 'projet' as the basis on which they were prepared to invite the European Powers to hold an official conference forthwith. This 'projet,' together with the text of the Copyright conventions already carried by the association, will be submitted at length to the public as soon as possible after the close of the Congress now sitting at Amsterdam; meantime I crave in your paper to establish the fact that the International Literary Association—which includes in the ranks some of the most distinguished men of letters now living, as for England, Mr. Gladstone, Mr. Trevelyan, and Mr. Froude; for France, M. Jules Lévy, Victor Hugo, and Emile Augier; for Germany, M. Freytag; for Austria, Count Beust and M. Nordmann; for Spain, Emile Castelar; or Russia, Count Leon Tolstoi, etc.—has not been unmindful of the mission, in the interests of which it was formed in 1868, under the presidency of Victor Hugo. We claim to have done some useful work already; enough to deserve the support of all lovers of literature, in the endeavor we are now making to bring about one uniform copyright, or copyright union, for all nations that have a literature or a school of art."

LITERARY PIRACIES.

From the N. Y. Observer, Oct. 18.

THAT there are pirates on the land as well as on the sea, is a fact well known and greatly to be deplored. The Rev. Dr. Blaikie, of Edinburgh, convicts one of our New York religious journals of the sin and shame of piracy. And what is worse, he says that the offending journal not only took one of the papers out of a foreign magazine but it took "Three liberties with the paper: (1) The article is clipped and curtailed; (2) No reference is made to its source; and (3) No reference is made to its occasion. Consequently the name of one of the previous writers is seen flying about in it, without the slightest indication where the writing of that gentleman is to be found. Another paper in the journal is the substance of a New Year's address that appeared in the Free Church Monthly, but it is abridged and otherwise "improved" in a way somewhat trying to any author who has some regard to style and to a natural method."

These are cruelties inflicted on the victims of the piratical cruiser, and we lift up our hands against such practices.

We are annoyed by them as we take up certain British religious magazines, and especially periodicals for the young. We would gladly copy some of the papers, but we know not to whom we should give credit for them. Largely (shall we say for the most part) they are stolen from American sources, and were we to quote one of them crediting it to the foreign thief, we should do injustice to the owner on this side the broad Atlantic.

There is no international copyright law to prevent these abuses. Legally it is free plunder; morally it is very wrong.

The American National Temperance Society publishes a list of British books which it reprints and pays full copyright for every copy of those books sold. And the society says: "More of our copyright books have been republished in Great Britain than we have republished of theirs, but we have never received one penny for the same."

Individual authors can tell the same story of wrong, and we publish the fact to show that the charge so constantly brought by the British press against us, is abundantly true as applied to themselves.

Two wrongs make neither right, and we will lend every possible support to the establishment of a treaty between the United States and Great Britain, to secure to British and American authors their right to their own terms in the publication of their works in the two countries.

A PRACTICAL IDEA.

From the British Colonial Printer and Stationer.

MACMILLAN & Co. announce that several new shilling Primers, in the science, history and literature series, are in preparation. These books are always good stock for the trade to invest in—especially as they are not in their contents subject to much alteration. Nothing leads so much to an accumulation of dead stock as the practice of some publishers of continually bringing out new editions, each superseding the previous ones.

This reminds us that Macmillan & Co. in their dealings with the trade generally, set an example to most other publishers, both for liberality and straightforwardness. They now adopt an excellent plan for encouraging the trade to push their books. A neat counter case has been made, with shelves of stained wood and of an ornamental form. This contains a selection of the best of Macmillan's standard works. The whole is supplied to any bookseller of respectability on peculiarly favorable terms, and enables him to show the books with the greatest readiness to his customers. The shelves, books and all, go into a packing case specially contrived, giving no trouble to open and return.

HEALTHY COMPETITION.

From the London Bookseller, Nov. 3.

WHATEVER the United States may say in favor of a protective tariff, the enterprising citizens of the great republic have no objection to profit by our free trade. They send us illustrated magazines and books in increasing numbers, and we must say that if the reception these have met with has been cordial, it has been fully deserved. Harper's Magazine and The Century have already had an invigorating effect upon our own publishers, and the end of the competition has not yet been reached. Whatever lessons the Americans have to teach us we shall learn, slowly perhaps, but very thoroughly. It might be supposed that sanitary science was about the last thing we should be indebted to America for. In spite of their youth, New York and most other American cities are incomparably behind London in their sanitary arrangements, or more correctly, perhaps, in their sanitary administration. However this may be, the Americans are determined that we shall share all they know on the subject, and the New York Sanitary Engineer, whose mission is to "raise the standard of sanitary engineering, to check the adulteration of food and drugs, and secure the promotion of efficient sanitary work," will be published regularly every week in London. If it has anything to say which is worth attention, it will assuredly find its circle of readers.

SALE OF MAYNE REID'S BOOKS.

THE following details, which the Pall Mall Gazette believes to be correct, concerning the sale of Captain Mayne Reid's novels may be interesting: In 1860 nine books of the novelist came into the hands of Messrs. G. Routledge & Sons, namely, "The Desert Home" (of which 8748 were printed), "The Boy Hunters" (8455), "The Young Voyageurs" (6954), "The Forest Exiles" (8315), "The Bush Boy" (6710), "The Young Yagers" (5796), "The Boy Tar" (6878), "The Plant Hunters" (5000), and "Ran Away to Sea" (6000). In November, 1860, Captain Mayne Reid wrote for the same firm two original books, called "Bruin, or, The Great Bear Hunt," and "Odd People," of the former 9000 were printed, of the latter 8000. In July, 1879, "Gaspar, the Gaucho" was published, of which 3000 copies were printed. In February, 1860, two of his novels, "The War Trail" and "The Quadroon," came into their possession, of the former 14,500 and of the latter 11,400 copies being printed. In January, 1878, twenty more of his novels came into their hands. Of "The Headless Horseman" 4000 copies were printed, of "The Rifle Rangers" and "The White Chief" 3000 copies, and of the remaining seventeen 2000 copies each.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

JULIAN HAWTHORNE is busily at work upon a new novel to be published in the Boston Sunday Globe.

THE Legion Monthly is to be the title of a new magazine to be edited and published by T. Weber Benton, of St. Louis, Mo. The magazine is to be popular and literary, with a variety of subjects, and is to be illustrated. The first number will be issued on the 15th inst.

Les Deux Mondes is the title of a new weekly French journal recently started in Buffalo. It is a news journal after the manner of the Courrier des Etats-Unis, of New York, but is, on the other hand, much more literary in its character. It runs two feuilletons at once—one, Ludovic Halévy's "L'Abbé Constantin," and the other George Sand's "Le Marquis de Villemer."

THE Magazine of Art for December has especially noticeable illustrated articles of "Venetian Glass," by Madeline A. W. Dunbar; "Sketches in Egypt," by W. J. Loftie; and "Madrász, the Spanish Painter," by David Hannay. "Some Portraits of Martin Luther," by Richard Heath, is a seasonable paper, and the pictures accompanying it are very striking. An original etching, "Lady Bountiful," by E. W. Macbeth, is a beautiful piece of work. The literary features of the number are excellent and the art chronicles full and accurate.

THE London Bookseller has arranged to get a list of all books and musical compositions entered at Stationers' Hall during the month, also a list of foreign works entered in conformity with the provisions of the various International Copyright Treaties. Each list is arranged in a general alphabet of titles, occasionally transposed in order that the subject may become the catchword. For most purposes these lists will be found to answer all requirements. They will furnish a complete and handy Reference Index to all copyright entries on the Register at Stationers' Hall, excepting only the entries of works of art, and of trade labels of the like, which are outside the commonly accepted bounds of literary composition.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

MRS. OLIPHANT has just completed a novel, entitled "Hester," which will be published by the Macmillans.

DEAN CHURCH has nearly completed a monograph on Bacon, which will be published in the English Men of Letters series.

DR. MOMMSEN has in press a new number of the Ephemeris Epigraphica, which will throw considerable light on the military system of Ancient Egypt.

"COBWEBS OF CRITICISM" is the title of a new volume by Mr. Hall Caine on the contemporary criticism of Byron, Wordsworth, Southey, Keats, Shelley, Coleridge, and Leigh Hunt.

D. C. THOMPSON, author of "The Last Works of Thomas Bewick," has in preparation a similar work relating to Hablot K. Browne (Phiz), which will be illustrated with numerous engravings from original plates and wood blocks.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

A HISTORY of the anti-slavery movement in Maine is to be published in Portland next year.

THOS. Y. CROWELL & Co. announce for immediate publication new issues of the series of Little Arthur's Histories respectively of England, France, and Rome.

JAMES H. EARLE, Boston, has published Knights of the Cross, memoir of Revs. Melville and Gershom Cox, by Mrs. Carlos amon. The volume contains a number of portraits.

"THE Letters and Times of the Tylers, Father and Son," will be published immediately in two octavo volumes by the author, Lyon G. Tyler, of Richmond. Much valuable original matter is said to be included in the work.

N. J. BARTLETT & Co., Boston, have in press, Lamps and Paths, by Rev. Theodore T. Munger, author of "On the Threshold," a very interesting and instructive volume, containing the sermons preached to the children of his congregation.

THE London publishing season this year, according to the reports of the London literary journals, has been unusually prolific in the department of fiction. During the month of October 29 new novels were put forth by the London publishers, a number which is believed to be without precedent.

HARPER & BROS. have in press a volume on The Difference Between Physical and Moral Law, by Dr. William Arthur, author of "A Tongue of Fire," "Folk Lore of Shakespeare," by Rev. T. F. Thisleton Dyer; and "Troja," by Dr. Schliemann's new book. In the English Men of Letters series they will shortly publish a monograph on "Addison" by W. J. Courthope.

FORDS, HOWARD & HULBERT are to publish Dr. John Lord's historical lectures, which have been listened to with pleasure and profit by large audiences for many years. Having made them as perfect as he can, he will now publish them in five volumes, bearing the respective titles of "Antiquity," "Renaissance and Reformation," "The Middle Ages," "War and Statesmanship," and "Great Women."

F. MARION CRAWFORD's novel, "A Romaninger," now being published in the Atlantic, will be issued says the New York Times, in book form by Houghton, Mifflin & Co., and by Macmillan & Co. in England. Mr. Crawford's newest novel, entitled "Our Favorite Sham," the manuscript of which is just completed, having been written at Sorrento during the summer, will be published by Chapman & Hall toward the end of the year.

"It is strange indeed," says the N. Y. Tribune, to read in The London Times a four-column article on the 'Autobiography of Thurlow Weed.' Its candid and respectful tone is as notable as its length; and its conclusions are not unamiable. The reader, it declares, 'commences with something of prejudice against one of the greatest experts in the art of political management after the American fashion. The system is distasteful to the English judgment. He ends with a sentiment of interest and almost of affection for the man.'

W. H. HALLIDAY, well known in the Boston trade, and at present with Cupples Upham & Co., proposes to open early in December, in a central location, a new circulating library to be called, from the plan of its operation, "The Mudie Library of Boston." The object is to deliver to subscribers the new books and periodicals of lighter character immediately after they are published, and in an unsoiled and enjoyable condition. Subscribers will be divided into several classes, whose privileges will vary, in regard to wear of book, and price of subscription. It is intended to fill orders throughout New England.

THE BOOK FELLOWS CLUB, of New York, has published through Mr. George J. Coombes a very beautiful edition of Frederick Locker's charming "London Lyrics." The volume makes a small duodecimo of about 100 pages, and a dainty ornament is given on almost every one of them. They are after the designs of Mr. George Howland, Kate Greenaway, and Randolph Caldecott, and an etched portrait of the author is given as a frontispiece. Mr. Caldecott's and Miss Greenaway's drawings were made under the supervision of the author, who himself sent them to the Book Fellows Club for the volume. A clever verse, never before printed, is given as a sort of introduction to the edition. But two hundred copies of this delightful book have been printed and the plates and cuts have been destroyed.

D. LOTHROP & Co. have just ready "Who Told it to Me," a charming new story by Margaret Sydney, fully illustrated; "Ester Ried, yet speaking," by Pansy, an interesting book in which some old-time acquaintances are renewed; "Not of Man but of God," by the late Rev. Jacob M. Manning D.D., of the Old South Church, Boston, a volume of timely sermons; "All Aboard for the Lakes and Mountains," by Edward A. Rand, illustrated by 200 pictures of realistic mountain scenery; "The Silver City," by Fred A. Ober, a romance of Central American travel, with 100 characteristic illustrations. The same publishers have in press a "Scripture Birthday Book," a new edition of "Truths and Half Truths" by Rev. Jacob M. Manning; and a popular 12mo edition of "A History of the American People," by Arthur Gilman.

SCHAEFER, of Leipzig, is bringing out a parallel edition of Shakespeare. On the right-hand page is the English text, edited by Prof. Karl Sachs; on the left-hand the classical German translation of Schlegel and Tieck.

DURING the last two months Mr. Wyllie has been cruising about the mouth of the Thames in a yacht, preparing illustrations for a book to be written by Mr. Grant Allen, published by the Fine-Art Society, and entitled "The Tidal Thames."

T. W. RHYS DAVIDS's manual on "Buddhism" in the series of Non-Christian Religious Systems has just been issued in a new edition, revised throughout. In the same series are promised "Chinese Buddhism," by Prof. Beal, and "Judaism," by Dr. Edersheim.

WILSON & McCORMICK, publishers to the Ruskin Society of Glasgow, will issue "A Disciple of Plato: a Critical Study of John Ruskin," by William Smart, M.A., to which is added "A Note by Mr. Ruskin." The same publishers have in press a new volume of travel by Miss Leck to be called "Iberian Sketches, or, Travels in Portugal and the North-west of Spain." The book will contain original illustrations by Robert Gray.

CLOWES & SONS, London, have in press "Pompeii, Past and Present," a work illustrated by photographs of the ruins as they now are, compared with photographs of drawings representing their original elevations. The drawings are by Signor Luigi Fischetti. The thirty-nine photographs have been taken expressly for the work by a Neapolitan firm.

"GEMS OF CHINESE LITERATURE" is the title of a new work by Herbert A. Giles, British vice-consul at Shanghai, announced to appear immediately. It will contain over a hundred extracts from some sixty of the most famous Chinese authors of all ages, thus forming an introduction to the general literature of China. It is to be published by Mr. Bernard Quaritch.

A SELECTION from Coleridge's prose writings is being prepared by Mr. Hall Caine for the Parchment Library. He has succeeded in identifying, says the Athenæum, certain of the articles "contributed to the Morning Post, which are said to have doubled the circulation of that paper in six months. The Courier is also being looked through. This may result in a considerable addition to Coleridge's authenticated writings. Having spent most of his youth in the neighborhood of Keswick, Mr. Caine has a fund of anecdote touching the Coleridge family, which may give freshness to his book."

THE LONGMANS announce a new book by the Rev. J. G. Wood, the naturalist, entitled "Pet Land Revisited," also a new volume of Mr. John Collett's verses, "The Story of St. Stephen and Other Poems," "The Bone Caves of Ojcow Poland," by Prof. Römer, translated by John E. Lee, and illustrated by thirteen plates; and "The Irish Massacres of 1641, their Causes and Results," a selection of the unpublished "sworn depositions concerning the massacres of the Irish and English Protestants in the revolution of 1641." The description is printed verbatim as it stands in the original manuscripts preserved in the Trinity College Library, Dublin. A preface to the work has been written by Mr. J. A. Froude, and an introduction by Mary Hickson.

THE Librairie des Bibliophiles, to which, says the Nation, "we owe so many series of choice books, beautiful in the careful perfection of the type, and presswork, and paper, is now about to start a series of dainty octavos, to include modern masterpieces, and to be called the 'Bibliothèque Artistique Moderne' (New York: F. B. Christern). The first volumes will be the 'King of the Mountains,' by M. Edmond About, with seven etchings by M. Mougin after M. Dever, and a selection of M. Daudet's 'Contes' with six etchings by M. Eugène Bertrand. These will be followed by the 'Théâtre d'Alfred Musset,' with drawings by M. Louis Lekain, and by Stendhal's 'Chartreuse de Parme,' illustrated by M. Jean Paul Laurens."

G. L. GOMME, London, has classified the entire contents of the Gentleman's Magazine, from the first volume issued in 1731 to the year 1891, with a view of reprinting all that is of permanent value. Each volume of the series that he is making will contain the entire articles, letters, and contributions on a given subject, the whole being arranged under various heads, and indexed. There will probably be about fifteen of these volumes, the first of which will be devoted to Manner and Customs. It will be followed by others on Dialect, Popular Superstition, Archaeology, Numismatics, Topography, Natural History, etc. The series will be entitled Gentleman's Magazine Library, and will be published by Elliot Stock, London.

TRUBNER & CO., says the Athenæum, "will begin early next year the publication of a series of volumes for the general reader illustrating the literatures of the principal nations of the East. The volumes will appear under the general title of 'Eastern Classics for Western Readers,' and it is intended to issue them at short intervals in three series. The first series, which will be devoted to Indian literature, will be edited by the well-known Sanscrit scholar, Prof. P. P. Parsonson, of Elphinstone College, Bombay, and will consist of manuals of (1) the Vedas, (2) the Drama, (3) the Fable Literature, (4) Poetry, (5) Lyrics, and (6) Epics. Should this first series of 'Eastern Classics' meet with approval, it will be followed by a second series, treating of Asiatic and Persian, and a third, devoted to Chinese and Japanese literature. Each volume of the price of which will not exceed five shillings, will be complete in itself, and may be purchased separately."

DULCE DOMUM. The Burden of the Song. By BENJ. F. TAYLOR, LL.D., author of "Songs of Yesterday," "Old-Time Pictures," etc. Superbly illustrated by leading American artists. Silk cloth, gilt edges, $4; morocco, gilt edges, $6.

"Mr. Taylor's poems are jewelled with beauties."—The Interior, Chicago.

"Few writers of verse have Mr. Taylor's power to melt the heart with tender sentiment and entertain the intellect with wit and vigorous thought."—New York Home Journal.

"These poems deserve to take rank with those of Whittier in magic of description and Holmes in their rhythmic melody."—Boston Commercial Bulletin.

"Set off with the most exquisite illustrations these songs and lyrics will catch the fancy and linger in the memory like the sweet tones of far-off bells."—N. W. C. Advocate, Chicago.

"Sunny and cheerful in tone; has the genuine poetical flavor, and pleases while it instructs."—San Francisco Post.

"It is beautiful in every feature as a book, and as a collection of original poems is rich in reminiscence, in picture, in suggestion, we may even say in history—for it is the life, the home, the 'domus' of the old time in our own land that is here reproduced. . . . The illustrations in this book are something more than mere pictures—they are landscapes, and persons and home-scenes which are, for many of the eyes that will look upon them, not fancies, but realities."—Chicago Standard.

BY THE SAME AUTHOR:

SONGS OF YESTERDAY. By B. F. TAYLOR. Elegantly illustrated. 8vo, cloth, full gilt, $3.

"Here are lyrics of tender pathos, worthy of rank with the daintiest things of the kind in American verse."—Buffalo Courier.

"OLD TIME PICTURES and SHEAVES OF RHYME." Illustrated, 16mo, cloth, $1.50; gilt edges, $1.75.

This volume contains Mr. Taylor's celebrated poem, the "Isle of the Long Ago," which alone is worth the price of the book.

LYRICS OF HOME-LAND. By EUGENE J. HALL. Profusely illustrated from designs by Moran, Gibson, Dayley, Reinhart, Homer, McEntee and others. 8vo, silk cloth, full gilt edges, $2.

"It combines elegance with rare excellence to a very high degree."—Boston Home Journal.

HOLCOMB'S TRANSLATION OF

TEGNER'S FRIDTHJOF'S SAGA. 12mo, cloth, $1.50; gilt edges, $1.75.

"No one can peruse this noble poem without arising therefrom with a loftier idea of human bravery and a better conception of human love."—The Inter-Ocean.

THE GRAMMAR OF PAINTING AND ENGRAVING. From the French of CHARLES BLANC, with nearly fifty illustrative engravings of famous artworks. One beautiful 8vo volume, $3.

"It furnishes precisely what all lovers of art who are not themselves either artists or trained critics need. It teaches the reader what to admire and what to condemn by teaching him why some things in art are admirable, and others are not. It educates the art instinct."—New York Evening Post.

THE MYTH OF STONE IDOL. A Love Legend of Dakota. By WM. P. JONES, A.M. Small 4to, handsomely bound, $1.

"We read it through, beguiled by its melodious lines and the pathos of its simple tale. Its descriptions are fine pictures."—Zion's Herald, Boston.

HATHAWAY—ART LIFE, and other Poems. By BENJ. HATHAWAY. Second edition. $1.

Houghton, Mifflin & Company

WILL PUBLISH NEXT WEEK:

THE HISTORY OF PRUSSIA TO THE ACCESSION OF FREDERIC THE GREAT.

By HERBERT TUTTLE, A.M., Professor in Cornell University, author of "German Political Leaders, etc." 1 vol., crown 8vo, $2.25.

In this volume Mr. Tuttle traces the career of Prussia from the remotest records until Frederic the Great ascended the throne. It is not merely a history of the sovereigns and of the military operations in which Prussia was engaged, but the people, of the development of its political, social, and religious institutions, and both in its design and in its execution it will take rank with the more important of modern historical works.

CHARACTERISTICS.

By A. P. RUSSELL, author of "Library Notes." 1 vol. 12mo, $2.

This book is quite similar in general character to Mr. Russell's previous volume, "Library Notes." It embodies, in a series grouped under various titles, the rich and diversified harvest gathered from many fields of literature.

THE COMPLETE WORKS OF WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE.

Variorum Edition. Edited by RICHARD GRANT WHITE. With Glossarial, Historical, and Explanatory Notes. In 6 vols. 8vo. Printed from the same plates as the three-volume edition, but on larger and heavier paper, and tastefully bound. Price, cloth, $15 a set, in box; half calf, $30.

This is an exceedingly handsome and every way desirable edition of Shakespeare.

EXCURSIONS OF AN EVOLUTIONIST.

By JOHN FISKE, author of "Myths and Myth-Makers," etc. 12mo, $2.

CONTENTS.—Europe before the Arrival of Man; The Arrival of Man in Europe; Our Aryan Forefathers; What we learn from Old Aryan Words; Was there a Primeval Mother-Tongue? Sociology and Hero-Worship; Heroes of Industry; The Causes of Persecution; The Origins of Protestantism; The True Lesson of Protestantism; Evolution and Religion; The Meaning of Infancy; A Universe of Mind-Stuff; In Memoriam: Charles Darwin.

The variety, importance, and masterly treatment of these subjects make this a book of no ordinary value and interest.

A ROUNDABOUT JOURNEY.

By CHARLES DUDLEY WARNER, author of "My Winter on the Nile," "In the Levant," etc. 1 vol., 12mo, $1.50.

During the past year Mr. Warner spent many months in Europe, principally in the countries bordering on the Mediterranean, and made an excursion into Africa. The experiences and observations of these months are depicted in this book, and those who have read his previous volumes of travel need no assurance that this book is altogether enlightening.

AN AMBITIOUS WOMAN. A Novel.

By EDGAR FAWCETT, author of "A Hopeless Case," "A Gentleman of Leisure," etc. 1 vol. 12mo, $1.50.

The scene of this novel, as of Mr. Fawcett's previous stories, is New York city. It is a story of current life, dealing with the striking social fact of the tendency among American women to be discontented with their surroundings, and depicting their efforts to achieve higher positions. The story has many fresh types of character, and, while appearing in the New York Sunday Tribune, it attracted great interest and caused no little discussion.

TENNYSON'S IN MEMORIAM. A Study.

By JOHN F. GENUNG. 1 vol. 12mo, $1.25.

This is a scholarly, thoroughly excellent essay on Tennyson's most famous poem, and one of the most famous poems of modern literature. It is an analytical study of the poem in its origin, significance, and method, and a luminous and useful comment on a poem that challenges the study and stimulates the imagination of the noblest minds.

4 Park Street, Boston, Mass.

WORTHINGTON'S ANNUAL.

A Series of Interesting Stories, Papers on Natural History, and Biographical Sketches. Contributed by well-known Authors. Illustrated with upward of 300 beautiful engravings designed by eminent artists, and colored plates. Bound in a rich chromo cover. 4to, $1.50.

☞ This new candidate for public favor enters on its career full of hope, having, we believe, been supplied with everything that can insure success.

The text has been contributed by several eminent American and foreign authors, who in their contributions had in view the combination of instruction and amusement; in which plan they have happily succeeded. The numerous engravings have been prepared with great care, and were drawn by the most prominent artists of the day.

Special care has been given to the printing and paper, and the rich cover that has been furnished will, we think, help to make this book the success we have labored to make it.

☞ The BOSTON GLOBE says this is the best juvenile book published this year, and asks parents to inquire for it.

LONGFELLOW'S RHYME FOR CHILDREN.

"THERE WAS A LITTLE GIRL."

By HENRY WADSWORTH LONGFELLOW. Illustrated by Bertha M. Shaeffer, and adorned with rich illuminated Initials and other designs in Chromo-Lithography, and Silhouettes. Oblong 12mo, with an exquisite and original cover printed in the highest style of Lithographic Art. With fine silk fringe and inclosed in box, $1.50.

CHATTERBOX JUNIOR.

An entirely new volume for this year. Profusely illustrated with choice and original engravings, beautifully printed on fine paper, with appropriate descriptions in poetry and prose by various well-known authors, inclosed in a magnificent double cover of original and unique design, and printed in rich colors. 4to, boards, $1.25.

A WEEK SPENT IN A CLASS POND

By the Great Water Beetle. Depicted by R. André, and beautifully printed in colors. Written by Juliana Horatio Ewing, author of "Six to Sixteen," etc. 1 vol., 4to. With choice chromo-lithograph cover, $1.25.

UNIQUE EDITION.

BANCROFT'S HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES.

Unique Edition. With the Steel Portraits of the 10 vol. Library Edition. In 6 vols., cloth, gilt top, white paper (only 219 copies so made), $13.50.

THE

Publishers' Trade-List Annual

For 1883 (Eleventh Year),

A Large 8vo, of over 2500 pages, is now ready.

The improvements in the Trade-List Annual last year have given such general satisfaction that there has been no change in the present issue (eleventh year) as to the essential features, which are :

1. The latest Catalogues of American Publishers, contributed by themselves and arranged alphabetically by the names of the publishers.
2. A complete reprint of the "Publishers' Weekly" full title Records of Books published (inclusive of all the descriptive notes) from July 8, 1882, to June 30, 1883. In order to facilitate reference, it will be accompanied by a full index, by which every book on record can be found, whether it is looked for under author, title, or subject.
3. The "Educational Catalogue" for 1883, which is used by the entire trade and educational interests as the most representative reference-list of School-books.

The above Lists, all bound in one volume, present in their combination so convenient and time-saving a working-tool as to make it indispensable to every one who has any interest in the purchase and sale of books.

The price is One Dollar and a half per copy net, bound in cloth, or can be sent post-paid for Two Dollars net, payable in advance.

Remittances should be made by check, money-order on New York, or registered letter, as we cannot be responsible for any losses. Receipt for remittance will be sent by return mail.

Unless special shipping directions are received, copies ready for delivery will be dispatched by express unpaid.

Parties so desiring can have their volumes supplied with the "SILVERA DUPLEX INDEX," at the slight extra charge of 50 cents per copy. The Silvera Index is somewhat on the plan of Denison's, with the practical improvement, however, of having the alphabet printed on the concave surface (instead of on the margin of the page), which enables instantaneous reference, whether the book is open or shut.

THE ILLUSTRATED

Christmas Number

OF THE LITERARY NEWS.
1883.

NOTICE TO BOOKSELLERS.

THE LITERARY NEWS for Christmas, 1883, will embrace thirty-two pages reading matter and illustrations, and we intend to make it far superior to previous year, also hoping to issue it earlier than heretofore.

Its sole aim and object is to increase the sale of books, and every bookseller who distributes it may be sure of being benefited thereby.

The chief attraction of the forthcoming issue will be the numerous special illustrations from the most prominent and popular new holiday books.

The most valuable feature, besides the Literary Notes, will be a special catalogue-list of the Books of the Season, in all the departments of Holiday Literature.

To those who desire to reach a wider public than they feel they can afford to seek through the more expensive Christmas Number of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, the Christmas Number of the LITERARY NEWS is recommended as the best possible medium to cultivate a holiday trade.

A NOTABLE BOOK.WHAT SHALL WE DO WITH OUR DAUGHTERS?SUPERFLUOUS WOMEN AND OTHER LECTURES.By MRS. MARY A. LIVERMORE.

Handsomely bound, $1.25.

The subjects discussed in these forceful pages are of vast importance, and concern directly one-half the human family. No person can read Mrs. Livermore's terse, incisive and telling treatment of them without realizing the truth that "who educates a woman educates a race."

Mrs. Livermore's life-long interest in all that relates to women, and her honest desire to aid in the great movement that seek their advancement, will alone commend the volume to thousands of readers everywhere.

The increased demand for copies of CASSELL'S FAMILY MAGAZINE during the induced the publishers to issue a special American Edition, at a price so low as to insure its success from the start.

While PURE AND WELL-SELECTED FICTION is always plentifully range of CASSELL'S FAMILY MAGAZINE is by no means confined to that department to the two serial stories and the short complete stories always to be found of every monthly issue, the Magazine comprises a large and varied scheme of interesting and useful information.

No topic in the interest of the Home Circle is ever lost sight of, and such subjects as HOUSEHOLD MANAGEMENT, DOMESTIC COOKERY, GARDENING, EDUCATION and RECREATION are respectively treated by acknowledged experts.

The FAMILY DOCTOR'S papers have long been an invaluable feature of the Magazine and the editor is thankful to say that an incalculable amount of good has been done by this most useful agency.

Increasing interest has been developed in the proceedings of the FAMILIAR CONFERENCES, which has been opened for the discussion of questions of social interest every day.

A more recent department, but one which in its way has attracted no little attention, that of REMUNERATIVE EMPLOYMENT FOR WOMEN, in which a person of large practical experience furnishes information and hints to those from choice or necessity, are impelled to seek suitable occupation for their selves.

THE GATHERER is the distinctive title of a department which has long been a high reputation as a prompt and trustworthy record of the great discoveries and discoveries of modern times, as they are developed day by day scarcely a country in the world in which this important section of CASSELL'S

WORTHINGTON'S ANNUAL.

eries of Interesting Stories, Papers on Natural History, and Biographical Sketches. Contributed by well-known Authors. Illustrated with upward of 300 beautiful engravings designed by eminent artists, and colored plates. Bound in a rich chromo cover. 4to, $1.50.

✂ This new candidate for public favor enters on its career full of hope, having, we believe, been supplied with something that can insure success.

The text has been contributed by several eminent American and foreign authors, who in their contributions had in the combination of instruction and amusement; in which plan they have happily succeeded. The numerous engravings have been prepared with great care, and were drawn by the most prominent artists of the day.

Special care has been given to the printing and paper, and the rich cover that has been furnished will, we think, to make this book the success we have labored to make it.

✂ The BOSTON GLOBE says this is the best juvenile book published this year, and asks parents to inquire for it.

BOOKS TO BE PUBLISHED

Saturday, December 15, 1883,

BY

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS, NEW YORK.

EARLY ORDERS SOLICITED.

Among the Holy Hills.

BY HENRY M. FIELD, D.D., AUTHOR OF "FROM THE LAKES OF KIL-LARNEY TO THE GOLDEN HORN," "FROM EGYPT TO JAPAN," AND "ON THE DESERT." 1 vol., crown 8vo. With a Map. $1.50.

This new description of the sacred localities of Palestine by a veteran traveller and the author of the most valuable and popular narratives of travel that have appeared in recent years, is the fitting crown and conclusion of them all. The interest of the Holy Land above all others is that here was spent the most wonderful life that ever was lived on the earth, and the purpose of the journey, to which this book is indebted, is to trace that life from its beginning among its native hills, and to follow closely in the foot steps of our Lord, not merely in the streets of Jerusalem, but through Samaria and Galilee, along the lake shore and on the mountain side.

Without enumerating each locality described in Dr. Field's book, it is enough to say that every place mentioned in the Gospels as the scene of our Lord's life and ministry is accurately, vividly, and picturesquely described in the light of all preceding authorities, biblical, archæological, and geographical, and that the qualities which have gained for the author acknowledged pre-eminence as a writer in this line of literature are conspicuous in this volume, the most interesting in its scene and associations of all his works.

Kadesh-Barnea.

ITS IMPORTANCE AND PROBABLE SITE, WITH A STORY OF A HUNT FOR IT, INCLUDING STUDIES OF THE ROUTE OF THE EXODUS AND THE SOUTHERN BOUNDARY OF THE HOLY LAND. BY H. CLAY TRUMBULL, D.D., EDITOR OF THE "SUNDAY-SCHOOL TIMES." 1 vol., 8vo. With two maps and four full-page illustrations. $5.

Kadesh-Barnea has long been recognized as the key to the history of the Israelites' wanderings in the Wilderness, and its site has been in dispute for twenty centuries or more. Two years ago, Dr. Trumbull made important discoveries in the East, as bearing on this question; and of these, he now, for the first time, gives a full account, together with the result of his studies in the light of those discoveries. Dr. Trumbull claims as the result of the work, a practical determination of the Route of the Exodus, of the main outlines of the Wanderings and of the Southern boundary of the Holy Land. Its bearing on current questions of the "higher criticism" and on the latest discoveries among the ruins of Lower Egypt, will command first the attention of Biblical Scholars generally. The story of the desert hunt for the lost site of Kadesh-Barnea is an attractive story of adventure quite out of the usual experiences of travellers, even in the desert of the Wandering. It would be difficult to speak too highly of the value of this book for Biblical students and of its fascination for the unlearned Bible-reader.

A Day in Athens with Socrates.

BY THE AUTHOR OF "SOCRATES." 1 vol., 12mo, paper, 50 cents. Cloth, $1.

These dialogues have been brought together in order that the reader may gain from them, not so much an adequate conception of Plato's philosophy, but a picture of the age in which he lived and taught. Such is the inimitable art displayed in them that we find ourselves unconsciously transported to the scenes of Athenian daily life, the street, the market-place, the dwelling-houses of the citizens, and seem to breathe the very air, to penetrate into the very heart of the Athens of old.

There is the impression of absolute fidelity to truth in the Socrates of these dialogues, and the questions old and yet ever new, which engross the mind and heart of Socrates and his friends, are those which can never cease to engross the earnest-minded in every age.

A LARGE PAPER EDITION OF

Reveries of a Bachelor, and Dream Life.

BY DONALD G. MITCHELL (IK MARVEL).

These volumes are, according at least to the popular verdict, masterpieces of their author, and they have now taken their place as American Classics. To supply the demand for a superior edition for select libraries, two hundred and fifty copies have been printed on large (Holland) paper by Theodore L. DeVinne & Co., and the publishers have added to the Reveries a new portrait of the author, etched by Ritchie, and to Dream Life a new etching by Smillie—both prepared especially for this edition.

The books are suitably bound in tasteful covers, are all numbered, and are sold together for $10.

NOTES IN SEASON.

R. WORTHINGTON will issue next week a all of the twelvemo edition of Bancroft's History of the United States" (published by title, Brown & Co.), with all the steel portraits the 10-volume Library edition, handsomely und in new cloth binding, with white title bels, and gilt top. This issue will be called e Unique edition. Mr. Worthington will shortissue a book on China by the famous Chinese Gordon."

DODD, MEAD & Co. have now ready the handsome "History of Ancient Sculpture," by Lucy M. Mitchell, of which we gave a full description in our Christmas number; also, "The Wild Tribes of the Soudan: An Account of Travel and Sport chiefly in the Basé Country," being personal experiences and adventures during three winters spent in the Soudan by F. L.
 James. This latter work is fully illustrated and contains several maps in colors.

JAMES R. OSGOOD & Co. have published "Raphael's Madonnas and Holy Families," by Mrs. Julia A. Shedd, illustrated with twenty full-page heliotypes of Raphael's most famous and popular paintings; also the first volume of "The World as Will and Idea," by Arthur Schopenhauer, translated from the German by R. B. Haldane and John Kemp. This very important and able philosophical exposition will be completed in three handsome 8vo volumes.

ROBERTS BROS. have ready "New England
 Legends and Folk-Lore," by Samuel Adams Drake, a volume which brings together for the first time the legendary stories of New England. The author has searched out the origin of the tales that compose the volume, and has rewritten them in an entertaining manner.
 Those who are familiar with the "Scarlet Letter," "The Buccaneer," "The Skeleton in Armor," "Moll Pitcher," and the stories of witchcraft, may here have as ready access to the truth as heretofore they have had to the romance of history. The work is enriched by over one hundred characteristic illustrations, drawn by the best artists. It is sold only by subscription.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS will publish, on the 15th inst., an important work by Dr. Henry Clay Trumbull, of the Sunday-School Times, on "Kadesh-Barnea: its Importance and Probable Site, with the Story of a Hunt for it, including Studies of the Route of the Exodus and the Southern Boundary of the Holy Land." Kadesh-Barnea has long been recognized as the key to the history of the Israelites' wanderings in the wilderness, and its site has been in dispute for twenty centuries or more. Two years ago Dr. Trumbull made important discoveries in the East as bearing on the question; and of this he now for the first time gives a full account, together with the result of his studies in the light of these discoveries. The result of the work is a practical determination of the route of the Exodus, of the main outlines of the wanderings, and of the southern boundary of the Holy Land. The description of the desert hunt for the lost site of Kadesh-Barnea is an attractive story of adventure; and the incidental information which it gives concerning the characteristics and customs of the different tribes of desert Arabs enhances its value in the line of Bible illustration. The work will have two maps and four full-page illustrations. On the same day they will issue Dr. H. M. Fields's new book, "Among the Holy Hills," a record in Dr.
 Fields's graphic style of travels through Palestine in the tracks of Jesus Christ; also, "A Day in Athens with Socrates," by the author of "Socrates," which has previously been announced as "A Morning and Evening with Socrates." Messrs Scribner also announce that they will publish large-paper editions of Ik Marvel's
 "Reveries of a Bachelor" and "Dream Life."
 These editions will be printed in the very best style on Holland paper and will contain portraits of Donald G. Mitchell by Smillie and Ritchie.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

NOTICE.—For fuller descriptions of those Illustrated Books and Books for the Year which are only briefly noted in this list, consult the Christmas Number of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY (Nov. 17).

Allen Jos. H. Christian history in its three great periods: Third period, Modern phases. Bost., Roberts Bros., 1883. 8+319 p. D. cl., $1.25.

Essay treating of the following topics: The Protestant Reformation; The Catholic reaction; Calvinism; The Puritan commonwealth; Port Royal; Passage from dogma to pure reason; English rationalism; Infidelity in France; The German critics; Speculative theology; The reign of law. Contains a chronological outline of the subject and an index.

American decisions (The); comp. and annotated by A. C. Freeman. V. 48 [1847-1849]. San Francisco, A. L. Bancroft & Co., 1883. 4+9-843 p. O. shp., $6.

Apples of Sodom: a story of Mormon lie. Cleveland, O., W. W. Williams, 1883. 4-322 p. D. cl., $1.50.

The author hopes "this book may serve as a drop to overflow the bucket of popular prejudice against Mormonism." The appendix gives the articles of Mormon faith as published by Joseph Smith in 1842, and also the revelation on the patriarchal order of matrimony given that "Saint" in 1843.

Argles, Mrs. M. ["The Duchess," pseud.] Rossmoyne. Phil., J. B. Lippincott & Co., 1884 [1883]. 3-363 p. D. cl., $1.

Rossmoyne is the scene of the story, a charming Irish country place, peopled by clever, handsome, rich and exceedingly witty men and women. The love affairs of these attractive characters make up a very pretty plot. The novel's chief characteristic is its bright, spirited dialogue, interspersed with many telling quotations. Readers of the "Duchess" need not be told of her charms. They will find them all here, as fresh and delightful as ever.

Arius, the Libyan: an idyl of the primitive church. N. Y., Appleton, 1884 [1883]. 4+398 p. D. cl., $1.50.

A new writer, who withholds his name, has written a very powerful romance of the early Christians. In the first part of the book we get a very graphic picture of their pastoral life, and of the birth and surroundings of Arius, the hero. Theckla, a young Egyptian girl, loved by Arius, who is finally won to Christianity and suffers martyrdom at the stake, is a very beautiful character. The second part of the work deals almost exclusively with Arius's so-called heresy, his opposition to the Emperor Constantine and his summons before the Council of Nice, where his fearless avowal of his opinions seals his fate. The author describes Arius as "one of the grandest, purest, least understood and most systematically misrepresented characters in human history," and avows that his sole design is "to deal justly with his grand and beautiful memory, seeking to nothing extenuate nor set down aught in malice."

Barrows, W. Oregon: the struggle for possession. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1884 [1883]. 9+363 p. maps, S. (American commonwealths), cl., $1.25.

The Spanish, French, Russian and English occupation of Oregon, one of the youngest states in the Union, and the struggle of each nation in succession for possession, is a narrative rich in a special interest. Mr. Barrows omits no detail in his strikingly graphic presentation of the story. The early settlement, especially the founding of Astoria, and the trading of John Jacob Astor are described in full. The monopoly held by England through the Hudson Bay Company, for so many years, of our Western frontier, the transactions of this company, and the final vindication of the claims of the United States to Oregon, are in themselves subjects of vast proportions to which many chapters are devoted. The growth of the Oregon of today, with statistics of its resources and a description of its present physical condition, are the topics of the concluding chapters. A list of authorities on the struggle of five nations for Oregon is prefixed to the work.

Carpenter, Frank D. Y. Round about Chic., Jansen, McClurg & Co., 1884 [1883]. 415 p. D. cl., $2.

The author, a graduate of Cornell University, and for several years the position of geographer of the Geological Survey of Brazil, and under these peculiar conditions acquired the material upon which this book is based. It is not a stereotyped book of travel, but a thread of a story running through it, and the story is a group of clever people add to its attraction. A very résumé is given of Brazilian life and manners, and of its floral flora and fauna.

Chadwick, J. W. In Nazareth town: a Christmas fantasy, and other poems. Bost., Roberts Bros., 1883. 111 p. S. cl., $1.75.

"The title-poem of Mr. Chadwick's volume, 'In Nazareth town,' is built upon the modern myth with which Christianity would supplant the record of the gospel, which represents the birthplace of Jesus as in Galilee instead of in Bethlehem. Mr. Chadwick's muse is at her happiest when she sings of home and home scenes, relationship and loves. 'A wedding song' is rarely light and gay, and worthy of trouvères and troubadours. 'The first and 'In an unknown tongue' are full of delicate and sweet appreciation for childhood. But the high mark of the whole collection is reached in these last titled 'A dedication.'" Literary World.

Christmas selections, 1883; containing songs and responsive services for Christmas celebrations. Cin., J. Church & Co., 1883. 15 p. ob. T. pap., 5 c.

Clement, Clara Erskine. An outline history of painting for young people and students with complete indexes. N. Y., W. Stokes & Allen, 1883. 7+320 p. il. O. $2.50.

To art students of any age this book may be recommended as a very complete outline of the history of painting, from the earliest times to the present day; ancient painting, the Christian era, painting in Egypt, Assyria, and ancient Greece and Italy, mosaics, painting on vase-painting are reviewed in the first chapter. The second is devoted to mediæval painting, the early period, central, and the final or Gothic period. The third dealing in Italy, from the beginning of the renaissance to the present century. Chapters follow on painting in Holland, Germany, Spain, France and England. The style is plain and simple, it is not too much calculated for the work popularity as a work of reference. It combines in a very attractive manner biographical and prominent painters, with an account of their work. Jones's very full indexes add to the book's usefulness. Illustrations are abundant—many being full-page—good, being representations of classical or famous works.

Cooke, G. Willis. George Eliot: a critical study of her life, writings, and philosophy. Bost., Ja. R. Osgood & Co., 1883. 5+240 p. D. cl. $2.

The same plan pursued in the admirable study of Emerson by Mr. Cooke is followed in this exhaustive study of George Eliot's ethical teachings as evinced in her work. The author also gives quite a full sketch of her literary methods, but these are secondary to the purpose. In the endeavor to interpret thoroughly Eliot's religious and philosophical opinions, the author brings successively before the reader all her most important works—analyzing them keenly and quoting largely. He obtrudes his own opinions scarcely allowing the great author to speak for herself in her books. Like all that we get relating to George Eliot, this book is full of an intense interest. It is well worth reading and study. A most valuable bibliography is included. It includes a list of George Eliot's writings from her works, a list of such as have been translated into other languages and a list of portraits; also hurwen, Maskell E. A Manual upon the searching of records and the preparation of abstracts of title to real property; rev. ed., 2nd ed. with forms and ref. to decisions by W. H. Whittaker. Cin., R. Clarke & Co., 1883. 10+264 p. T. cl., $1.50; shp., $1.75.

akota. The annotated revised codes, 1883. V. 1. With a new index, ed. by A. B. Levissee and L. Levissee. St. Paul, West Pub. Co., 1883. 7+315+68 p. O. shp., $6.

ick, W: B., ed. Dick's book of toasts, speeches, and responses; with a dissertation on the art of making after-dinner speeches, and rules for presiding at table; also a choice collection of anecdotes. N. Y., Dick & Fitzgerald, [1883]. 3-172 p. S. bds., 50 c.; pap., 30 c.

ownes, W: Howe. Spanish ways and byways; with a glimpse of the Pyrenees. Bost., Cupples, Upham & Co., 1883. 5-182 p. il. O. cl., $1.50.

Description of a brief tour through Spain. The writer includes Madrid, Seville, Granada, Cordova, and some of the byways of the romantic country. He has much to say of the pleasant fashion of the odd sports and customs, the useful architecture, picture galleries and historical associations. Illustrated with many designs by Henry Sandham, arcus Waterman, A. H. Bicknell, W. P. Bodfish and George R. Halm.

autleroy, H: Who's to blame? Nashville, Tenn., Southern Methodist Pub. House, 1883. 2-355 p. D. cl., $1.

A story; scenes laid chiefly among the Chicago business houses; the hero is a young man who comes to that city to find a young wife seeking employment; the author aims to show that the rage for money-getting has in a large measure corrupted mercantile principles; sub-tituting dishonest practices for former upright ways; he also specially pleads for moral reform, urging that arbitration may take the place of the litigations now so prevalent, and which seem only to defeat right and justice.

ilbert, Luther M., M.D. The home physician: a summary of practical medicine and surgery; for the use of travellers, and of families at a distance from physicians. N. Y., G. P. Putnam's Sons, 1883. 6+131 p. S. cl., $1.

An epitome of useful and available information regarding diseases and medicines. The leading medical and surgical works of the day, such as those of Flint, Bartholow, Da Costa, Hamilton, Altikin and others, have been freely consulted and used. The methods of treatment suggested are such as are largely used by physicians.

Greenleaf, Simon. A treatise on the law of evidence. 14th ed., rev., with large additions, by Simon Greenleaf Croswell. Bost., Little, Brown & Co., 1883. V. 1-2. 8+84+753; 89+683 p. O. shp., ea. $6.

Greenleaf, Simon. A Treatise on the law of evidence. V. 3. 14th ed., rev., with add., by Simon Greenleaf Croswell. Bost., Little, Brown & Co., 1883. 4-39+577 p. O. shp., $6.

Gross, S: W., M.D. A practical treatise on impotence, sterility and allied disorders of the male sexual organs. 2d ed., rev. Phil., H: C. Lea's Son & Co., 1883. 8+17-176 p. il. O. cl., $1.50.

Half hours with the lessons of 1884: chapters on the Bible texts chosen for Sabbath-school study during 1884 in connection with the international lesson series; by twenty-four Presbyterian clergymen. Phil., Presb. Bd. of Pub., [1883]. 2-480 p. D. cl., $1.50.

The initial volume of "Half hours" with the lessons of 1883 was received so heartily, that the publishers have been induced to issue a similar volume for the lessons of 1884. The discourses, 48 in number, though brief, are very suggestive and helpful, and are written by some of the most eminent Presbyterian clergymen.

Harland, Marion [pseud. for Mrs. M. V. H. Terhune.] Judith: a chronicle of Old Virginia. N. Y., Fords, Howard & Hulbert, 1883. 4-391 p. il. D. (Our continent lib., no. 5.) cl., $1.50.

The second title of this volume seems to describe it exactly. It can scarcely be called a full-fledged novel, though it has a most interesting plot involving several love affairs, and is replete with incidents and exciting episodes. As a history of life in old Virginia in the plantation days of ante-bellum times, it has a permanent value. The author, a Virginian herself, writes with real love and enthusiasm of the generous hospitality and the patriarchal relations of master and slave of those days now gone forever. The story opens with a narrative of the uprising of the slaves in 1800 under the negro Gabriel. Other equally graphic pictures of domestic insurrections, the terrible fear of which seemed to continually haunt this apparently peaceful life, are given.

Harrison, W. P., D.D. The living Christ: the life and the light of men. Nashville, Tenn., Southern Methodist Pub. House, 1883. 3-297 p. D. cl., $1.

Studies upon the life of Christ; the object of the author has been simply "to contribute something toward the realization of a present Saviour, always accessible to every sincere heart that is seeking him."

Hatton, Jos. and Harvey, Rev. M. Newfoundland; its history, its present condition and its prospects in the future. Reprinted from the English edition; rev., cor., and enl. Bost., Doyle & Whittle, 1883. 18+431 p. il. and maps, O. cl., $2.50.

The English ed. was published in January of this year. Rev. M. Harvey, a well known local authority on all matters pertaining to the history of Newfoundland, contributed the larger share of the work. Mr. Joseph Hatton brought into the collaboration a careful revision of facts and opinions, some special investigations of historical data, and such editorial skill as is necessary for the transformation of unsystematized ms. into the form and shape of a comprehensive and methodical record. The work is a most thorough one of a country about which very little has been written, but which is one of the most interesting of the British colonies. It is divided into six parts, embracing a historical record, a sketch of the physical geography and topography of the island, its fisheries, agricultural resources, mineral resources and population, government, etc. The present (American ed.) has been carefully revised by Rev. M. Harvey in its descriptive and statistical portions and also in the historical section.

Hermann, L., M.D. Experimental pharmacology: a hand-book of methods for studying the physiological actions of drugs; tr., with the author's permission, with notes and additions, by Rob. Meade Smith, M.D. Phil., H: C. Lea's Son & Co., 1883. 201 p. il. D. cl., $1.50.

Howard, Blanche Willis. Guenn: a wave on the Breton coast. Bost., J. R. Osgood & Co., 1884 [1883]. 2+439 p. il. O. cl., $1.75.

Every one must admit an accession of finish and power in Miss Howard's new novel. In its character-sketching it is quite remarkable, while its pictures of Breton scenery and Breton peasant life are photographic in fidelity. The little village of Plouvenec, on the Brittany coast, is the background of a moving dramatic episode. To Plouvenec comes Everett Hamor, a painter from New England. He is made up of many contradictory qualities. Charming Bohemian traits struggle with inherited Puritanism. A cold heart, which expands to nothing but art, is disguised by a seductive manner which wins every one. With him these conquests are all utilized on canvas. He only sees in a beautiful woman the model. A wild, passionate, but exquisitely lovely peasant girl, Guenn Rodellec, falls into the toils. Hamor admires her ardently, and paints a picture of her which makes him famous. She loves the painter with all the warmth of a first love. He is selfishly blind to her passion, returns to Paris, is successful, courted, happy, and the little one, broken-hearted when she realizes his indifference and the fact that she will never see him again, recklessly casts away her life. Illustrated with some forty characteristic vignettes, initials, etc., drawn expressly for it by an American artist.

Illinois. Digest of reports, 1879 to 1883, by E. J. Hill. V. 5. Chic., Callaghan & Co., 1883. 92+722 p. O. shp., $6.50.

Indiana. Treatise on the law relating to the powers and duties of justices of the peace, mayors and marshals of cities, and constables in the State of Indiana, with notes and references to decisions, etc., by D. McDonald: rev., enl., and conformed to the revised statutes of 1881, and subsequent legislation, by Louis O. Schroeder. Cin., R. Clarke & Co., 1883. 21+1017 p. O. shp., net, $6.

Iowa. Supreme Court reports, by E. C. Ebersole. V. 59 [1882]. N. Y. and Albany, Banks & Bros., 1883. 843 p. O., shp., $5.

Jevons, W. Stanley. Money and the mechanism of exchange. In 2 pts., pt. 1. N. Y., J. Fitzgerald, [1883]. 46 p. O. (Humboldt lib., no. 50.) pap., 15 c.

Kansas. Supreme Court reports. V. 29: July, 1882 to Jan., 1883, by A. M. F. Randolph. Topeka, Kansas Pub. House, 1883. 18+873 p. O. shp., $3.50.

Knapp, W. I., ed. Modern French readings. Bost., Ginn, Heath & Co., 1883. 6+457 p. D. cl., $1.65.

"The leading object of this volume is to furnish the student with progressive materials for becoming acquainted with the current language of France, under the influences that are giving it a new phase of development. To that end the selections have been made with reference to style and vocabulary, rather than to the history of the literature, so as to enable the reader to acquire experience in the popular, social, every-day terms and idioms that characterize the writings of the French of to-day."—Preface.

Köstlin, Julius. Life of Luther: from the German. N. Y., C. Scribner's Sons, 1883. por. and il. O. cl., $2.50.

Prof. Köstlin's larger work, in a v., "Martin Luther, his life and writings," published in 1875, has long been accepted as the most exhaustive work on the subject. It is the basis of almost all the lives of Luther published. The renewed interest in the great Reformer created by the recent celebration of the 400th anniversary of his birth has called forth the present work, a sketch of Luther's life written for general readers. It is popular in style, and omits a great deal of material included in the first work, such as explanations and illustrations of his writings and many historical documents, etc. It claims to be "the most accurate and readable history of Luther and the Reformation ever published." It is adorned with several portraits of Luther and other prominent actors in the Reformation, and a number of documents of importance reproduced in fac-simile. The translation is published with the special sanction of the author.

Langdell, Christopher Columbus. Summary of equity pleading. 2d ed. Cambridge, C: W. Sever, 1883. 14+282 p. + 1 slip errata, D. cl., $3.

Lawson, J. D. Law of expert and opinion evidence reduced to rules; with illustrations from adjudged cases. St. Louis, F. H. Thomas & Co., 1883. 72+595 p. O., shp., $5.50.

Leathes, Mrs. Stanley. The caged linnet; or, love's labor not lost. N. Y., Rob. Carter & Bros., [1883]. 5-224 p. 1 il. D. cl., $1.25.

"Linnet" is the name of a little girl. Her mother, pretty Belle Bailey, makes an imprudent runaway match with a young officer to escape the tyranny of an elder sister who has brought her up. When the officer and his wife are forced to leave England on account of the disgrace of the former, little "Linnet" is secretly brought to the "cage," as the house of the stern Miss Britannia Bailey is called, and left to her tender mercies. The little one softens the elderly woman's heart, and sings blithely, though she is caged. A happy reunion of all parties completes a very nice story.

Linton, Mrs. E. Lynn. Ione Stewart: a novel. N. Y., Harper, 1883. 72 p. Q. (Harper's Franklin sq. lib., no. 346.) pap., 20 c.
The heroine of this novel, an Italian by birth, is of a wild, jealous, undisciplined nature. A young English doctor, who goes to Palermo to spend the winter that his wife may be helped, is drawn into a marriage with her while he is helplessly loves another. The account of their stormy married life in a little English town and its culminating tragedy is very strongly depicted. The story, however, is a rather one, like others of this talented author's writings.

Linton, W. J., and Stoddard, R. H., eds. English verse. In 5 v., v. 3: Ballads and romances. V. 4: Dramatic scenes and characters. V. 5: Translations. N. Y., Scribner's Sons, 1883. 22+351; 25+325; 48+336 p. D. cl., ea. $1.
See notice "Weekly Record," P. W., Oct. 20, '83.

Longfellow, H. Wadsworth. Michael Angelo: a dramatic poem. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1884 [1883]. 3+184 p. il. Q. $7.50; mor., $10.

One of the most notable holiday books of the year. The poem, which originally appeared in the Atlantic Monthly after Mr. Longfellow's death, was very enthusiastically admired for its many vigorous and beautiful passages. It is remarkable, also, for its portrayal of the character Michael Angelo and Vittoria Colonna and reproduces the spirit of the period of Italian history in which Mr. Longfellow was at work on this poem some ten years before his death, and it was his expressed wish that it should be published with illustrations. The publishers have set to make the designs descriptive of the historical and topographical features of the poem. The illustrations are by W. F. Shirlaw, T. De Thulstrup, L. Ritter, F. D. Miller, Andrew, W. B. Closson and others of equal fame. The binding is new and something unique.

McCarthy, Justin. Maid of Athens: a novel. N. Y., Harper, 1883. 76 p. Q. (Harper's Franklin sq. lib., no. 345.) pap., 20 c.

Around a lovely English girl, born in Greece, around whom her many male admirers have given the name "Maid of Athens," from her active participation in the politics, are grouped the events of this remarkable written novel. These events are mostly plot and conspiracy against the Turkish government designed to free the cause of Greece. The time is to-day, the scene is wholly Athens. The "Maid of Athens" is the magnet that draws to the cause a heterogeneous collection of Greek, wealthy but wily Greek, a New England Unitarian, an Irish M.P., an English lord, a special war correspondent of a London daily, and others. The successful hero is a bright, manly fellow and the narrator of the story. He is told in a frank, free way that is very telling. Presents a graphic picture of the social and political life of modern Athens. Author of "My enemy's daughter," "The Quixote," etc.

Manning, J. M., D.D. Not of man, but of God. Bost., D. Lothrop & Co., [1883]. 10+112 p. D. cl., $1.25.

Argument in favor of the divine origin of the Bible divided into chapters: Anything may be doubted; God is invited to reveal himself; God can reveal himself; Inspiration; The witness of uninspired men; Testimony of prophecies; What the Bible has done; What the Bible says of man; What the Bible says of God; What the Bible says of moral order; What the Bible says of redemption. Why some men doubt the Bible.

Massachusetts. General Court, acts and resolves passed 1883, together with the Constitution, etc. Bost., Wright & Potter Printing Co., state printers, 1883. 66+333+322 p. O. hf. cf., $2.50.

Mathews, W. S. B. How to understand music: a concise course of musical culture by lessons and essays; [also] Pronouncing dictionary and condensed encyclopædia of musical terms, etc. 4th ed. N. Y., Tower & MacCoun, 1883. 216+87 p. D. cl., $2.

A new ground is covered in the way of text-book work. It leads the student "to a consciousness of music and not merely as playing, singing, or listening begins at the foundation of the matter, with the study of musical phraseology. This occupies the first part. Following are preliminary studies in the construction of art, in classical music, in the romantic style. One section is devoted wholly to biographical and miscellaneous sketches of composers and musical events. All the lessons are illustrated by selections from the works, which are supposed to be played or sung by pupils. The criticisms and questions which these selections inspire serve as a most attractive medium for instruction. The work, taken altogether, is a most valuable and useful one to every one interested in music. The dictionary is very full and comprehensive. We know of no other work presenting a similar feature.

New England Manufacturers' and Mechanics' Institute. Catalogue of the art department of the Manufacturers' and Mechanics' Institute, Bost., Mass., 1883. Bost., Cupples Upham & Co., 1883. 300 p. il. O. cl., $3. This exquisitely printed catalogue of the art exhibit of the New England exposition is from the Art Age Press of Thur B. Turnure, N. Y. It is a marvel of book-making, its choice in typography, paper, style, and in its many careful initial letters, and head and tail-pieces. It is deemed to place before the public "in a single, compact volume, the results that to this date have been reached in American art." The 63 full-page illustrations which embellish it, reproduce by etchings, albertype, engraving, and other processes, some of the best works exhibited by the American artists. In addition to the catalogue are a number of articles on photography, American art furniture, realism and art, American flower painters, etchings, the tariff, women as art critics, and other allied subjects, by specialists whose well-known names, we regret, we cannot imitate. The cover is a delicate arabesque design cold in most refined taste.

Box, F. A. The silver city: a story of adventure in Mexico. Bost., D. Lothrop & Co., [1883]. no paging, il. O. cl., $1.50.

John North, a New England boy nineteen years of age, filled with a desire to go to Mexico, from reading an old fable on the "True history of the conquest of Mexico." Ten years previous his father had been wrecked, it was supposed, on the coast of Yucatan. The desire to ascertain actively his father's fate impels him as strongly as the longing to see "The silver city," to make a sea voyage. He is wrecked on the coast of Yucatan. Here he has many exciting adventures, and finally makes his way into Mexico, where among the Indians he discovers his father.

Ohio. General and local laws and joint resolutions, passed by the 65th Gen. Assembly. 1883. Columbus, G. J. Brand & Co., 1883. 443 p. O. hf. shp., $2.50.

Wen, Ashford [pseud. for Annie Ogle]. Her second love. Phil., T. B. Peterson & Bros., [1883]. 17-231 p. sq. S. cl., $1; pap., 50 c. An old book with a new name. First published in London 1838, under the title "A lost love," afterward in Boston 1855, as "George Sandon; or, a lost love." Marked "Copyright, 1883," although an English book.

Panchoast, S., M.D. The Kabbala; or, the true science of light: an introduction to the philosophy and theosophy of the ancient sages; [also] A chapter on light in the vegetable kingdom. N. Y., R. Worthington, [1883]. 2-312 p. il. O. cl., $2.

The special purpose of this volume is "to promote the well-being of mankind in this probationary world, by advocating light and its rays as the best remedial means for the human organism." Dr. Panchoast has devoted more than thirty years' patient, conscientious study to this subject, chiefly as found in the Kabbala, an ancient Jewish system of philosophy or theosophy. He proposes in a few months to publish a volume devoted to a discussion of the Kabbala and Kabbalistic literature, hence does not go into any detail here as to what the Kabbala is, what it has done, etc., though its teachings are the foundation of the greater part of his work. The book must not be taken as a merely theoretic one—the tests of science have been applied to all its facts. The chapters discuss ancient ideas of light and heat; the true science of light; light manifested in atmospheric electricity and in terrestrial magnetism; material forms and vital dynamics; the human organism and its vital dynamics; how to assist nature in banishing disease from the human organism, etc., etc. Printed in blue ink, with red lines. Embellished with a number of symbolical pictures in colors.

Pennsylvania. Laws of the Gen. Assembly passed 1883. Harrisburg, L. S. Hart, state printer, 1883. 376 p. O. shp., $1.50.

Perkins, C. C. Historical hand-book of Italian sculpture. N. Y., C. Scribner's Sons, 1883. 654+432 p. il. O. cl., $4.

Mr. Perkins is a well-known art critic, and his two works, "Tuscan sculptors" and "Italian sculptors," published some fifteen years ago, were at once given a place among standard works on the subject. The material used in this volume appeared in the larger works. But here it is much condensed and added to, and given in a more convenient form for reference. The introduction covers sculpture in Northern, Southern, and Central Italy, before the revival. Book 1. The revival and the Gothic period, 1240 to 1400; 2. The early renaissance; 3. The later renaissance, 1500 to 1600; 4. Non-Tuscan sculptors and their works from 1500 to 1600. Index to towns. Index to artists' names. Contains an etching and many illustrative woodcuts in the text.

Ranking, I. S. Marjorie's probation: chapters from a life story. N. Y., Rob. Carter & Bros., [1883]. 3-224 p. 1 il. D. cl., $1.25.

A little sermon is here preached to young girls in a graceful, sympathetic way on the text, "Keep yourselves from idols." Marjorie's lover, an officer in the British navy, is reported as lost, his ship having been wrecked in a storm on his way home from Bombay. The "probation" Marjorie goes through while believing there is no hope, is tenderly told and not without its lesson. Young readers will be glad to know the pretty story has a cheerful ending.

Reynolds, W. Theory of the law of evidence as established in the United States, and of the conduct of the examination of witnesses. Chic., Callaghan & Co., 1883. 16+180 p. T. shp., $2.

Richardson, Abby Sage. Abelard and Heloise: a mediæval romance; with the letters of Heloise; ed. by Abby Sage Richardson. Bost., Ja. R. Osgood & Co., 1884 [1883]. 144 p. S. cl., $1.

The immortal story of these twelfth century lovers is retold in a graphic, succinct way by Mrs. Richardson. Man's selfishness and woman's devotion are strongly illustrated in this romantic history. Heloise's letters are among the most pathetic and touching of love letters, and Abelard's among the most cold and unfeeling. The little book is a most charming one in its contents and appearance. To many unfamiliar with the exact details of this romance, Mrs. Richardson's introduction will have all the freshness of a newly-told tale. To those even well versed in this sad history, it will have a special charm, the style is so sympathetic and womanly.

Seeley, J. R. The expansion of England: two courses of lectures. Bost., Roberts Bros., 1883. 8+208 p. D. cl., $1.75.

In these two courses of lectures, Prof. Seeley, Regius Professor of Modern History in the University of Cambridge, examines historically the tendency to expansion which England has so long displayed. The first eight lectures have for their subjects, Tendency in English history; England in the eighteenth century; The empire; The old colonial system; Effect of the new world on the old; Commerce and war; Phases of expansion; Schism in greater Britain. The second course is devoted entirely to India—its history and politics, conquest, government, etc.

Shakespeare, W. Merchant of Venice; with introduction and notes explanatory and critical; for use in schools and classes, by the Rev. H. N. Hudson. Boston, Ginn, Heath & Co., 1883. 28+86-195 p. S. (Classics for children) bds., 20 c.

It is proposed to publish, under the general title "Classics for children," a number of works from standard authors nearly complete as possible, adapting them to children between the ages of nine and fifteen in our grammar schools. They will be printed in large type, on good paper, and substantially bound, and sold at a very low price. This is the initial volume, to be followed by "Robinson Crusoe." It contains Hudson's Life of Shakespeare, and about two thirds of the text and notes of his School edition. The story of the play is taken directly from Charles and Mary Lamb's "Tales from Shakespeare."

Sherley, Douglass, ed. The valley of unrest: a book without a woman: an old oddity paper. Louisville, Ky., J. P. Morton & Co., 1883. no paging, Q. pap., $2.

Whether the strange facts detailed in this odd paper are authentic or not, they afford most fascinating reading for a good half hour. The writer claims to have been an old college mate of Edgar Allan Poe's at the University of Virginia. The story he tells is as strange and weird as any of that lamented author's prose compositions. It is well worth reading, not only for its freshness and pleasing style, but as a new leaf to the memory of the poet. Takes its name from Poe's poem, "The valley of unrest," which the writer believes owes its conception to the occurrences which he relates. The book is unique in get-up. It is printed only on one side of quarto sheets of thick red paper, with most generous margins. The sheets are held together with blue silk cords.

Sidney, Margaret. Who told it to me. Bost., D. Lothrop & Co., [1883]. 4-245 p. il. O. bds., $1.25.

By the author of "Five little peppers and how they grew," and other interesting juvenile books. A continuous story, the scene laid in the village of "Penggannoss." There is a brave, noble little hero, and a number of bright boys and pretty girls. A profusely illustrated account of the fun and pastimes of all the little actors makes up a very delightful book for young readers.

Story, W. W. He and she; or, a poet's portfolio. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1884 [1883]. 109 p. S. por., $1.

In this volume Mr. Story has collected many of his lyrical poems, and strung them on the silver thread of an entertaining dialogue or conversation between a gentleman and a lady—the book taking its name from these two persons. The variety of theme and the grace of treatment render the volume unusually attractive, while the conversation abounds in brilliant and suggestive passages. Mr. Story is not only famous as an artist, but as the author of "Roba di Roma" and other works.

ELEGANT GIFT-BOOK

TREASURES NEW AND OLD.

By ALICE L. WILLIAMS. 54 full-page illustrations by Irene Jerome. Large, 4to, 800 pages, gold and black, $6; full morocco, $10.

This volume is, as its title denotes, a treasury of the best thoughts of the noblest minds. It is the result of six years of extensive and careful reading of the best authors of ancient and modern times. Mrs. Williams has manifested most exquisite taste in her selections. She has been fortunate in securing many original gems of literary beauty that have never before been published, from such leaders of modern thought as Horatio Nelson Powers and Robert Collyer, and such poets as Lucy Larcom and C. E. Stedman. This volume is a golden granary of the finest wheat and admixture of chaff. A thoughtful man possessing this book will not willingly part with it, for it not only possesses the choicest thoughts, but is provocative of thought of the highest order. All students, teachers, ministers, authors, and public speakers will find this "treasury" of invaluable worth. The fifty-four illustrations are worthy of the text, and higher praise could not be awarded the artist and engraver.

OUR VILLAGE.

examination of all the works on the subject accessible to him, as deserving of being better known to English-speaking people than they would ever become hid in obscure corners and amid much rubbish. The book will be an admirable companion volume to any of the collections of English poetry that are now published." Arranged under subject-headings. The alphabetical index of authors gives dates of birth and death and the names of translators.

James, F. L. The wild tribes of the Soudan : account of travel and sport, chiefly in the Basé country, being personal experiences and adventures during three winters spent in the Soudan. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., [1883]. 12+272 p., il. and maps, O. cl., $5.

The Basé country, a portion of the Egyptian Soudan explored by Mr. James, is a small tract of country lying between Takar (an Egyptian province, of which Cassala is the principal town) and Abyssinia. It is almost entirely unknown to Europeans and abounds in many kinds of large game such as lions, hyenas, etc. The natives are more uncivilized than any other people who dwell in that part of Africa, and have the name of being treacherous and unfriendly. The chief object of Mr. James's party was sport, though the desire to penetrate into the heart of this country had long been with him a cherished object. They were a large party and prepared for hostilities, but succeeded in getting on the best of terms with the Basé tribe, and in seeing a great deal of the country. This and the customs of the people are graphically described. The hunting adventures are numerous and very thrilling. The book is a very handsome one, printed on fine paper with plenty of margin, top gilt, and inclosed in a cover, richly stamped and gilded. The illustrations (woodcuts) are all full-page and taken from photographs. The maps which accompany the texts are new and were made by Mr. James's brother and Mr. Aylmer, to whom the reader is also indebted for the photographs. The work is a valuable addition to African exploration. Index.

Jewett, Sarah Orne. The mate of the Daylight and friends ashore. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1884 [1883]. 4+254 p. S. cl., $1.25.

Eight of Miss Jewett's graceful tales and sketches are collected in this dainty little volume. The mate of the Daylight is a nautical romance told in a quaint, old-fashioned style, that will please every admirer of this versatile author's writings. The other papers are entitled, "A landless farmer," "A new parishioner," "An only son," "Miss Derby's neighbors," "Tom's husband," "The confession of a house-breaker," "A little traveller."

Longfellow, H. Wadsworth. Twenty poems from H. W. Longfellow, il. from paintings by his son Ernest W. Longfellow. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1884 [1883]. 61 p. O. cl., $4 ; mor. or tree cf., $9.

The twenty poems which Mr. Ernest Longfellow has interpreted with rare grace and beauty are : "It is not always May," "Daybreak," "The village blacksmith," "The day is done," "Seaweed," "The evening star," "Cadenab-bia," "Amalfi," "Snowflakes," "Songo River," "Chrysaor," "Moonlight," "The lighthouse," "The bells of Lyran," "Three friends of mine," "The tides," "Elegiac," "The tide rises, the tide falls," "Mad river in the White Mountains," "Becalmed." The designs, some fifty in number, including a new portrait of the poet, are all gems, and exquisitely finished. The careful manner in which they have been engraved by the best engravers, the rich paper and handsome type, all combine to make this volume one of the most attractive of the season.

McConah, J., D. D. Certitude, providence and prayer. N. Y., C. Scribner's Sons, 1883. 3+46 p. D. (Philosophic ser., no. 4.) pap., 50 c.

"There is a widespread impression that the advance of thought, and especially of natural science, has undermined old and fundamental truths, both in philosophy and religion. I am endeavoring to show in this series of papers that it is not so. Some of the truths may have to be put in a new and more correct form ; the defence of them has to proceed in a wiser way ; but the radical principle remains as deeply and firmly established as ever."—Introduction.

This work takes its place unchallenged as the most valuable contribution to art ever contributed by an American. Seven years of hard, unremitting toil have been spent in its production after all the linguistic studies necessary for the undertaking had been completed. The author's plan is historical and geographical. Each country and each epoch is exhaustively treated, even to the details of manners, customs, festivals, etc., instead of the more usual plan being followed of grouping the productions of any one style of art. It is said that Mr. George P. Marsh first urged the writing of this great work, and gave much help in the preliminary studies necessary. The publishers have brought out the book in sumptuous and imposing shape, with all the finish of detail that is now identified with the art-works of the house. It is one of the handsomest books of the season. See note in Christmas P. W.

metals by means of the battery and the dynamo-electric machine, as well as the most approved processes of deposition by simple immersion, with descriptions of apparatus, chemical products employed in the art, etc.; based largely on the "Manipulations Hydroplastiques" of Alfred Roseleur, by W. Russell, A. P. Characteristics: sketches and essays. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1884 [1883]. 3+362 p. D. cl., $2.

The titles of these essays and sketches are: The conversation of Coleridge; Sarah Siddons; Dr. Johnson; Lord Macaulay; Lamb; Burns; The Christianity of Woolman; John Randolph and John Brown; The audacity of Foote; Habit; The habit of detraction; The art of living. Like "Library notes," by the same author, these charming sketches evince the widest reading, being in a large measure compilations of anecdote and reminiscences from celebrated writers. They are put together in such an attractive manner, and are so gossipy and lively, that no one can help delighting in them.

Contains sketches, anecdotes and personal reminiscences of Bulwer, Disraeli, Macaulay, Charlotte Brontë, Irving, Poe, Harriet Martineau, etc. Mr. Shepard quotes largely from N. P. Willis's "Pencilings by the way" in his picture of "Literary London in 1835," describing Lady Blesington, Bulwer, Disraeli, and other famous men and women of the day. An interesting reminiscence of Macaulay is taken from a paper by Thackeray, "Nil nisi bonum." The chapter on Charlotte Brontë is compiled from "The reminiscences of an old schoolfellow," published in Scribner's Monthly, "A gossip with Martha Brown," Miss Martineau's "Reminiscences," etc. The account of Poe is taken from sketches by T. W. Gibson and Miss Susan A. T. Weiss.

Storrs, R. S., D.D. Manliness in the scholar. N. Y., A. D. F. Randolph & Co., [1883]. 36 p. S. vellum, 35 c.

Chancellor's oration, delivered at the 86th commencement of Union College, 1883. The doctor's argument is that an "imperative manliness—fine in fibre, but unyielding in force, which makes one sympathetic with others, yet independent of them, superior to vicissitudes, self-poised and temperate amid all oppositions, with every purpose undisturbed, and every power in easy play, though passions assail him, and the times repulse and reject his impression—is really the prime requisite for every scholar who would use his opportunity to the noblest advantage," and that a conscientious yet a thoroughly impassioned moral energy, must supplement this.

Thomas, Annie [Mrs. Pender Cudlip]. Jenifer: a novel. N. Y., Harper, 1883. 52 p. O. (Harper's Franklin sq. lib., no. 349) pap., 20 c.

The odd title which this novel bears is the heroine's first name. She is a noble girl, who tries to carry on her shoulders the cares of her whole family. Her father's will leaves her and her mother almost penniless, giving to her eldest brother the whole estate. A sealed letter, to be opened three years afterward, changes the whole aspect of things, rewarding the apparently neglected ones and punishing the selfish and ungrateful very much as in a fairy tale. The author will be remembered through "Denis Donne" and other bright novels of English fashionable life.

Tourgueneff, Ivan. Poems in prose. Bost., Cupples, Upham & Co., 1883. 3-120 p. por. S. cl., $1.25.

A variety of simple subjects are treated in a highly imaginative manner. The author is by turns witty, cynical and pathetic, sometimes pointing an epigram, and again reading a lesson. These little allegories are among the last things written by the great Russian genius. Although prose in form, they have all the charm and quality of poetry in their treatment and setting.

The moral of this story for boys is that under the most adverse circumstances a boy may succeed in the world and make money if he is honest and industrious. Phil is left by an unprincipled father in pledge for a board-bill that he cannot pay. The boy goes to work and pays off the bill and by the assistance of kind friends gets into quite a little business.

Harper's Magazine. It was founded and for thirty years it was maintained as an American magazine, drawing its material from all lands and all writers, but still holding its essentially American eminence and drawing its support entirely from the American people, until finally it went over the water to extract, within a brief time, from the insular and stolid Britisher a sale of 50,000 copies and several not yet successful attempts to rival it with new magazines of the Britishers' own making.

PROGRESS OF "THE CENTURY."

From the N. Y. Times, Dec. 1.

A NEW prospectus of the Century Magazine sets forth the varied and important features which readers of that periodical will enjoy during the coming year. It is a long and noteworthy list, and well sustains the repute so worthily acquired and carefully maintained by the management. The few years that have witnessed the founding and growth of the Century to its present eminence have been memorable years for wood-engraving, and the pioneer honor that belongs to the Century as it now is and as it was under its old name could not be snatched away or ignored by any one pretending to be well informed or fair-minded. From the very start this magazine boldly took up a forward position, and it has holdily and splendidly maintained its place. With each number has been clearly manifested its aggressive and intelligent enterprise and far-reaching have been the results. They are not alone to be seen in the periodical literature of this country; they are apparent in the Old World as well. What hereafter is to become of the magazines that still live on in their former ways of stupidity and dulness—that more than lag superfluous on the stage—we cannot see. Their day of wrath is surely near at hand. During the past year the Century has outdone its former work in almost every one of its departments. Some of its engravings have been amazingly fine; several of those in the December number are particularly so, the portrait of Peter Cooper especially. And its reputation has been, to our mind, as much widened by its improved excellence on the literary side as on the artistic. The time was when the illustrations were first and the letter-press second, if not third, in importance. But that time for a year or more has been passing surely away. America sends many products to England of which she is deservedly proud, but the general public—the average man, we may put it—is probably less proud of the Century when he knows it goes there than he ought to be. Each month, with unmistakable force, it reminds British readers that a large proportion of English-reading men and women now read American publications, and that a considerable number of thousands of them live in Sidney Smith's own native land.

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION.

From the Springfield Republican, Nov. 19.

THE circulation of the Youth's Companion has increased this year from 305,000 to nearly 350,000 copies. Its prospectus for next year, the 57th of this admirable paper for youths, is so rich in the variety and worth of the articles promised and in the names of the contributors that this year's prosperity can hardly be other than repeated. Original poems are to be given by Alfred Tennyson, Victor Hugo, John G. Whittier, T. B. Aldrich and others, including six by Owen Meredith, the first contributions he has ever made to an American periodical. Alphonse Daudet will furnish an illustrated serial story, written expressly for the Companion, called "The Foundling of Paris." Mrs. G. G.phant a historical story called "The Cornucopia's Daughter," and other serial stories will come from Frank R. Stockton, Thomas Hardy, J. T. Trowbridge, C. A. Stephens, James Payn, William Black, Katherine S. Macquarrie, Marie B. Williams and George Manville Fenn. Popular articles on medicine, physiology, and natural history are promised by Dr. William Hammond, Dr. Austin Flint, Jr., Prof. Ogden Doremus, Prof. A. S. Packard, Jr., and Dr. C. Draper. Charles Dickens's daughter Miss Dickens will give some new reminiscences of her father and other reminiscences in special lines are promised by Rose Terry Cooke, James Parton, Murat Halstead, Dr. Charles Mackay, and Nugent Robinson among others. Calvert Van Ness will furnish papers on country architecture. Thomas A. Edison on electrical engineering as a profession for young men, Samuel Smiles on various papers in the direction of "Self-Help," Helen S. Conant on household economies, and E. P. Whipple on the achievements and purposes of great men when they had just reached their majority. The promise is equally full in the line of travel and adventure, and a few of the best known of the contributors in this department will be Joel Chandler Harris, on the South; Phil. Robinson, on India; W. G. Gilder, on the Arctic regions; Minister S. G. W. Benjamin, on Persia; and Wong Chin Foo, on China.

CHANGE IN POSTAGE RATES.

THE Post-Office is informed from Washington that hereafter the following described articles, when sent as merchandise or as samples, are to be treated as fourth-class matter, and charged at the rate of one cent for each ounce or fraction thereof:

Labels, patterns, playing-cards, tickets, photographs, lithographs, engravings, samples of printing, valentines, fancy lithographed and engraved cards (including Christmas, New Year and Easter cards), address tags, scrap pictures and in general all articles which are exhibited as merchandise or samples, although they are for printing. Blank-books, desk blotters, and without printing thereon, and also maps, prints, show-cards, etc., printed on or attached to other material than paper (which includes cardboard), or mounted on rollers or with wire bindings, or in frames, are also rated as fourth class; but copy-books and drawing-books, containing printing, remain in the third class.

CAUTION.

MR. KNIGHT, of Messrs. H. B. Nims & Co. of Troy, N. Y., informs us that forged orders purporting to be signed by him, have been addressed to jobbers and publishers, requesting immediate delivery of goods at given prices and to charge to account of H. B. Nims & Co. As the same game may be tried on others, perhaps under various signatures, he considers his duty to caution the trade.

BUSINESS NOTES.

BISMARCK, DAK.—J. W. Clarke, of the firm of gham, Clarke & Co., of Cleveland, O., will open a fine book, stationery, wall-paper, and picture-frame store in the First National Bank block as soon as it is ready. In the meantime he has his quarters temporarily in the building next to Thurston & Wheeler's, on the west side 4th St., three doors from Main St. Mr. Clarke still remains a member of the old firm.

LITTLE ROCK, ARK.—The O'Neale & Stevens company, of which A. N. Johnson is President, Albert L. O'Neale Manager, and Wm. C. Stevens Secretary and Treasurer, has purchased the book and stationery stock of Smith & Co., stationers, booksellers, and dealers in musical instruments, and will continue the business at the old stand, 304 Main Street. Mr. O'Neale, who has been buyer for Smith & Co. for some time past, will continue to act in that capacity for the new company.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

E. DARROW & Co., Rochester, have in press two county directories compiled by J. H. Lant, one of Ontario, the other of Monroe County.

HARPER & BROTHERS announce "The Enchanted Hat, or, Patty Cannon's Times," a romance by George Alfred Townsend; and a revised edition of Green's "Conquest of England."

THE PRESBYTERIAN BOARD OF PUBLICATION have just issued a bright little volume, entitled "Birds and Their Ways," by Ella Rodman Church. It is a natural history of birds written for children, and profusely illustrated.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. have in press a new novel by F. Marion Crawford, author of "Mr. Isaacs" and "Dr. Claudius." It is entitled "To Leeward," and is described as a story of great power and dramatic interest, and will be published on or before the middle of this month.

The next issue of the Library of Aboriginal American Literature, published by Dr. D. G.rinton, Philadelphia, will be "The Comedy of Sequence," a play written and acted by the natives of Nicaragua. It dates from the 17th century, and is written in a curious dialect, half Aztec and half Spanish. It will be ready shortly.

R. WORTHINGTON announces that he controls the American market of new and handsome editions of Lever's novels in 16 volumes; of Jane Austen's novels in 5 volumes; and of Victor Hugo's "Misérables" and "By the King's Command," in 4 volumes. These sets are printed in large type on good paper, are neatly bound and put up in boxes.

MR. G. E. WOODBERRY being engaged on a set of Edgar A. Poe for the American Men of Letters series, requests the loan of copies of any autograph letters by Poe (however unimportant they may seem), many of which are believed to exist in private collections. None will be published without the explicit consent of the owner. Mr. Woodberry's address is Beverly, Mass.

JOHN WILEY & SONS will publish shortly Ruskin's new letter in his For's Clavigera, entitled "Dust of Gold." It is devoted to a reply to letters from young correspondents complaining that the author attaches too much importance to beauty in women, and propounding the query, "What are plain girls to do?" Miss Kate Greenaway furnishes a pretty little chapter head for the pamphlet.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. have just published a new edition of the Portrait Catalogue of their publications. It embraces a list of the books they publish, under the names of the authors arranged alphabetically, and in many instances describes the books or gives their contents. It contains portraits of a number of their distinguished authors. The catalogue will be sent free to any one requesting it.

SCRIBNER & WELFORD have published a new and somewhat extended biography of Henry Irving, prepared by Austin Brereton, one of the editors of London Theatre. The story of Irving's life is told from the days of his boyhood spent in Cornwall. The volume will contain some notable and interesting portraits. The frontispiece is a photograph from Mr. Edwin Long's painting of Irving as Hamlet. Other portraits are by Mr. Whistler, Mrs. Allingham, Frederick Barnard, Valentine Bromley, and A. P. Tilt. All more or less cleverly sketch Irving in his best-known characters.

THE AMERICAN UNITARIAN ASSOCIATION have issued "Dr. Orville Dewey's Complete Works," in one large 8vo volume, containing 800 pages, uniform in style and price with their complete edition of "Dr. Channing's Works." The prominent position occupied by Dr. Dewey in the early annals of American Unitarianism have made it desirable that his great power as a preacher of practical truth should be more generally understood and recognized, and coming, as they will now, to the reader at a moderate cost, the society feels confident that they will command a wide circulation.

THE INTERNATIONAL NEWS Co. are general agents for the United States and Canada for a magnificent work entitled "Allegories and Emblems." The work comprises original designs by the most distinguished modern artists, also reproductions of the arms of old trade guilds and emblematic devices, with designs for modern ones in the Renaissance style. The explanatory text is by Dr. Albert Ilg, Custodian of the Historical Art Collections of the Imperial Family of Austria, and the whole is edited by Martin Gerlach. There are three editions—English, French, and German. The first two series are now ready; the third, completing the work, will follow in a few months.

JOHN E. POTTER & Co., Philadelphia, have nearly ready "The Elements of Botany," a new text-book prepared by Prof. W. A. Kellerman, of the Kansas State Agricultural College. It is designed for either school use or for independent study, and is especially adapted to those students who are unable to give several years to this subject. An important feature is the department called "Economic Botany," in which the principles of botany are applied to practical uses. Prof. Kellerman abolishes the old heresy that botany is a dainty accomplishment for ladies and makes it a valuable practical study.

J. W. BOUTON'S Catalogue No. 69 deserves especial mention in that it contains an assem-

FLOYD GRANDON'S HONOR

A Novel. By AMANDA M. DOUGLAS. $1.50.

. A story by Miss Douglas is always a pleasant book for her large circle of readers, and the sen

Miss Douglas gives us what is undoubtedly her most powerful piece of fiction. Floyd Grandon, the life no end of suspicion clusters, and whose ways are always fraught with mystery, is a creation whic

Member of the New York Academy of Sciences, and formerly United States Geologist.

LETTER FROM GENERAL GRANT.

NEW YORK CITY, December 3, 1883.

DEAR SIR: I have read over the advance sheets of your excellent "Guide-Book to Mexico" with great pleasure. It supplies a want now for the first time being felt. Mexico, with all her resources of soil, climate, and mines, has not attracted much of the attention of people of other lands until within the last three or four years. Now, with the rapid strides she is making—and destined to make—toward a commercial prosperity, rarely equalled by any nation in the past, travel to that country will increase many fold, and your book will give the traveller the information he wants. Information is wonderfully condensed in it, and I wonder at its completeness in little space.

Very truly yours,

ALFRED R. CONKLING, Esq.

U. S. GRANT.

THE LITERARY NEWS.

A thirty-two page Monthly Journal, with the Bookseller's own firm-name prominently printed on the front page.]

THE literary paper is one of the features of the day, and while directly benefiting the cause of good literature, as directly benefits the book trade by creating a demand for the books it notices. Every bookseller should, through such mediums, endeavor to keep his customers thoroughly posted on the literature of the day. But without taking into account the time and labor expended, and the painstaking discrimination necessary for the compilation of a reliable literary journal, the cost entailed by such a publication necessarily deters booksellers from, themselves editing and issuing such a medium.

THE LITERARY NEWS, however, based on an experience of over thirteen years' continuous issue is an acknowledged authority on current books and reading, and the plan upon which it is issued enabling booksellers to circulate it among their customers under their own imprint, virtually makes it the recognized organ of each bookseller distributing it, and turns a direct trade in books into his own hands.

No better time than the present can be found for the adoption of the LITERARY NEWS by the booksellers as a personal medium. Especial attention is therefore invited to it, in the hope that booksellers who are not now using it will test its efficiency by ordering an imprint edition for the fall and winter months.

The book-notices of the LITERARY NEWS are always selected from leading papers, and such as have weight with readers, while the other features of the paper make it a welcome monthly visitor in every home, and establish pleasant and direct relations between booksellers and bookbuyers.

NOTES IN SEASON.

UNK & WAGNALLS have published "A Life wingli," in season for the fourth centennial re birth of that great reformer.

ARKER & BROS. have published in their nklin Square Library the "Life, Letters and rary Remains of Edward Bulwer, Lord on." A cloth edition with portraits, illusons, and fac-similes will be issued at once.

. C. ARMSTRONG & SON have published the expected translation of Georges Perrot and Charles Chipiez's "History of Art in Chaldea, Assyria, and Phoenicia." The work has had an unexpectedly favorable reception, and by the time this issue leaves the press the first edition will very likely have been exhausted.

D. APPLETON & Co. have published "Apples-tons' Illustrated Guide to Mexico, including a chapter on Guatemala, and a complete English-Spanish Vocabulary," by Alfred R. Conkling.
The work is highly commended by General Grant and others. It is handsomely gotten up, and contains a railway map and numerous illustrations.

JAMES R. OSGOOD & Co. have issued "A Plea for the Cure of Rupture," by Joseph H. Warren, M.D., author of "A Practical Treatise on Hernia," a new and excellent treatise, giving all the essentials of the operations in its treatment;
also an edition de luxe of Thomas à Kempis's
"Imitation of Christ," a magnificent octavo volume, with three hundred illustrations on wood and numerous full-page etchings from new designs. The edition of the latter is limited.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS have published a translation of the witty and incisive French satire on England, entitled "John Bull and his Island," which is the sensation of the moment both in Paris and in London. The volume has reached its twentieth large edition in Paris.
The present authorized translation—now published simultaneously in England and America—has been preparing under the supervision of the author. The London publishers write that the advance orders have already taken up the large first edition proposed by them.

WM. WOOD & Co. have ready the fourth volume of "The International Encyclopædia of Surgery," edited by Dr. John Ashhurst, Jr.; a new and enlarged edition of Dr. S. Ringer's important "Hand-book of Therapeutics;" the first American from the latest English edition of Dr. William Williams's "Principles and Practice of Veterinary Medicine," revised and enlarged; "A Treatise on Bright's Disease of the Kidneys: its pathology, diagnosis and treatment, with chapters on the anatomy of the kidney," by Dr. Henry B. Millard, who gives here the result of the experience of nearly twenty-six years of hospital and and private practice; and a "Manual of General Medicinal Technology, including Prescription Writing," by Dr. E. Curtis, a new volume in Wood's Pocket Manuals.
"The Medical Record Visiting List for 1884" is also ready.

R. WORTHINGTON has in press "The Story of Chinese Gordon," by A. Egmont Hake. The subject of the narrative is the English General Charles G. Gordon, who participated in the Crimean War as Lieutenant of Engineers, took part in the investment of Peking in 1860, and in 1863 having been made a Mandarin, he took command of the Chinese forces and quelled the rebellion, which was headed by the religious fanatic Hung. In this work Gordon achieved lasting fame and it was at this time that he first received the name of Chinese Gordon. It was in this war that the Americans of unenviable notoriety, Ward and Burgevine took part, Burgevine at first having an Imperial command and afterward joining the rebels. The story of the war as told in this volume is exceedingly interesting to the general reader and valuable to the historical student.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

NOTICE.—For fuller descriptions of those Illustrated Books and Books for the Library which are only briefly noted in this list, consult the Christmas Number of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY (Nov. 17).

Abbey, H. The city of success, and other poems. N. Y., Appleton, 1883. D. cl., $1.50.

Aitken, W. M.D. A complete hand-book of treatment: arranged as an alphabetical index of diseases to facilitate reference, and containing nearly 1000 formulæ. N. Y., Birmingham & Co., 1882. 444 p. D. cl., $2.

Aldrich, T. Bailey. Works; il. by the Paint and Clay Club. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1883. 2+249 p. por. O. cl., $5; mor. or tree cl., $9.

Appletons' illustrated hand-book of American winter resorts: for tourists and invalids; with maps and table of railway fares. Rev. for season of 1883-84. N. Y., Appleton, 1883. 6+154 p. O. pap., 50 c.

Arnold, Matthew. Prose works. New uniform ed. N. Y., Macmillan, 1883. 7 v., D. cl., ea. $1.50.

Baker, Rev. W. M. The ten theophanies; or, the appearances of our Lord to men before his birth in Bethlehem. N. Y., A. D. F. Randolph & Co., [1883]. 8+247 p. D. cl., $1.50.

The lamented author of "The new Timothy" and "His majesty, Myself," wrote this book during his last illness. It treats of the ten manifestations of the Lord as described in the Old Testament. Dr. F. N. Zabrickie finished and revised the work after Dr. Baker's death and wrote the introduction, which gives a short, correct sketch of the author's checkered career. The style of this biblical study is quite up to the best efforts of this popular preacher and writer.

Baker, Sir S. White. True tales for my grandsons; il. by W. J. Hennessy. N. Y., Macmillan, 1883. 7+435 p. D. cl., $1.50.

"Bummer and his poor acquaintance," the first story in this collection, is a narrative of the friendship of two dogs. "Everard Harcourt" is a tale of the Sikh war of 1845-46; "Hassan Ali and the golden basin" is a sort of "Arabian Nights" story of the present day; "The cruise of the whaler Sophia" offers information about the whaling industry. The fifth and sixth sketches tell something about dogs, elephants, etc. All the stories are based on facts.

Bartholow, Roberts, M.D. A practical treatise on materia medica and therapeutics. 5th ed. N. Y., Appleton, 1883. 739 p. O. cl., $5; shp., $6.

Beard, G. M., M.D., and Rockwell, A. D., M.D. A practical treatise on the medical and surgical uses of electricity. 4th ed. rev. by A. D. Rockwell, M.D. N. Y., W. Wood & Co., 1883. 758 p. il. O. cl., $5.50; leath., $6.50.

Bible. New Testament; with engravings on wood from designs of Fra Angelico, Pietro Perugino, Fra Bartolommeo, Titian, Raphael, and others. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1884 [1883]. 16+540 p. Q. cl., $10; full mor., $20.

Bits of precious ore, 4 v.: George Herbert, 1593-1633; Frederick W. Faber, 1814-1863; Jeremy Taylor, 1611-1667; Frederick W. Robertson, 1816-1853. N. Y., A. D. F. Randolph & Co., [1883]. 2+122; 2+120; 2+121; 2+121 p. Fe. cl., $1.40.

4 tiny books of selections from the four writers mentioned in the title. In a box.

Bloxam, C. Loudon. Chemistry, inorganic and organic. New American ed., 10th ed. 5th London ed. Phil., H. C. Lea's Sons & Co., 1883. 700 p. O. cl., $3.75; leath., $5.

Bradburn, Mrs. Frances H. A memorial of George Bradburn, by his wife. Bost., Cushing Upham & Co., 1883. 6+250 p. por. D. cl., $1.50.

George Bradburn began life as a practical machinist, then went to Exeter Academy, then to the Cambridge City School and became a Unitarian minister. His great success as a public speaker led to his being sent to the Legislature of Mass., and there began his life-work as organizer of the great anti-slavery movement of that day. In 1840 he went to England as delegate to the World's Convention, and there met all the celebrated men of his time. Born in 1812, he died in 1880, and constantly in public life, Mr. Bradburn came into contact with all his great contemporaries, and the written account of his hard and unremitting work as legislator, editor, speaker and reformer, gives an excellent picture of the stirring incidents connected with the anti-slavery and woman's rights movements of his day.

Britts, Mattie Dyer. Honest and earnest: or, Fred Norman's trials. Phil., American Baptist Pub. Soc., [1883]. 1+256 p. il. S. cl.

A strong temperance story, relating the successful life of a manly boy to support his mother. There is a description of the Baptist form of baptism.

Brodie, Emily. Nora Clinton; or, did I do right? N. Y., Rob. Carter & Bros., [1883]. 5-224 p. D. cl., $1.25.

Scene laid in England, France, and Cape Town. It aims to show that duty must never be set aside for pleasure and pleasures. A London hospital and a theatre are graphically described.

Brown, E. E. Young folks' life of Washington Bost., D. Lothrop & Co., [1883]. 2-377 and por., D. cl., $1.50.

To those who have read the "Life of Carter," the author's brisk and interesting way of putting facts into the well-known events of the Revolution are given with charm in this profuse-y illustrated recital. The pictures have made a very pretty book of it.

Browne, T. M. Not my way; or, good and evil. N. Y., T. Whittaker, 1884 [1883]. 1-377 p. il. D. cl., $1.

Scene laid in an English country parish. Set after the death of a dearly loved rector, and dealt with the work of his successor, who is proved even more successful. The author has a great influence for good among his parishioners, the immediate family of the late clergyman. A well-told tale of every-day events, true and suitable for older girls.

Bryant, W. Cullen. To the fringed garret. il. by Lambert Hollis. Bost., S. E. Cass & Co., 1883. no paging, O. flex. fringed, $1.

The charming poem of Bryant's, "To the fringed garret," has several designs in colors characteristic of the verses. Cover richly fringed and adorned by a picture of Bryant in a medallion surrounded by fringed garrets, their natural colors and an autumn scene.

Bryce's pearl English dictionary, complete, besides the ordinary and newest words in the language, short explanations of a large number of scientific, philosophical, literary and technical terms. N. Y., T. Y. Crowe & Co., [1883]. 384 p. Fe. cl., 27 c.

ture," dedicates his latest work to Miss Leigh of the English Mission, Paris. It is the life-history of Marjorie, waif left by the banks of Annan Water, and gives a list sketch of the social problems of modern society. A scene shifts from Scotland to Paris and the author gives vivid descriptions of Scottish scenery, character and religion, and of French secret societies just before the Franco-Prussian war. The question of "Scotch Marriage" is again introduced. There is sufficient plot to hold the interest of the novel-reader, but the merit of this "romance" lies in its faithful picture of the phases of life that the minds and hearts of reformers and humanitarians.

umstead, Freeman J., M.D., and Taylor, Rob. W., M.D. The pathology and treatment of venereal diseases. 5th ed. Phil., H. C. Lea's Son & Co., 1883. 906 p. O. cl., $4.75; shp., $5.75.

roll, Lewis. Rhyme? and reason? with 75 l. by A. B. Frost and 9 by H. Holiday. N. Y., Macmillan, 1884 [1883]. 5+214 p. D. cl., $1.50.

his book is a reprint with a few additions, of the comic poem of "Phantasia-magoria, and other poems" and of the untiring of the snark. "Echoes," "A game of five," "last three of the Four riddles," and "Fame's penny nipet," are here published for the first time. The drift of the writings of the author of "Alice in wonderland" is not given in few words. He is at his best in many of these verses, and the artists, Frost and Holiday, have made successful illumination of his crowding, heterogeneous pieces. As always, much keen satire and sharp criticism is den under the author's good-natured and inexhaustible irony. "The barrister's dream" and "Poeta Fit, non cititur," are happy specimens of his inimitable gift of droll persiflage. The paper, print, binding, lettering and general finish of these whimsical rhymes, place it easily among the most attractive books of this specially favored one.

ntury (The): illustrated monthly magazine. v. 24, new ser., v. 4: May, 1883, to October, 1883. N. Y., The Century Co., [1883]. 8+100 p. O. cl., $3 and $3.50; hf. rus., $4.50.

contains 21 full-page illustrations, including portraits of dual Manning, Henry W. Longfellow, Alfred Tennyson, a bust by Thos. Woolner, Robert Burns, William Kepace Thackeray, Anthony Trollope, Salvini as Lear, Du Maurier, Alphonse Daudet, and John Wain; also The rock in the sea and The tragedies of the two original engravings by Elbridge Kingsley, with other engravings. The contributions include chapters 8 of W. D. Howells's novel, "A woman's reason," the nine chapters of "The bread-winners," papers on New York by Richard Grant White and W. C. Conant; papers on London society by W. J. Stillman and Henry Jones; two valuable papers on "Life in the thirteen colonies" by Edward Eggleston; H. H.'s interesting articles on California; the completion of the Uncle Remus series; the Christian League of Connecticut, by Washington Allen; a number of illustrated papers on art and sports; and many short stories and poems by prominent writers, essays on topics of general interest. The wealth of illustrations and the remarkably artistic make-up of this magazine, added to its literary merit, make The Century one of the most attractive and desirable gifts for lovers of good art and literature.

oney, Mrs. C. Emma. Young folks' history of the civil war. Bost., Estes & Lauriat, 1884 [1883]. 9+544 p. il. D. (Young folks' history.) cl., $1.50.

reaching the Civil War to its first cause, slavery, the author begins with an account of the introduction of slaves in country, and the influence of the system in the different states. The story of the war is told dispassionately, and with a happy intermixture of anecdote that always sets children. Over one hundred illustrations serve to rest the scenes described.

mstock, Anthony. Traps for the young. N. Y., Funk & Wagnalls, [1883] 3+253 p. D. cl., $1.

This book is designed to awaken thought upon the subject of Evil Reading and to expose to the minds of parents, teachers, guardians and pastors, some of the mighty evils for evil that are to-day exerting a controlling influence over the young.—Preface. "The reader will find work does not claim high literary merit. Its style is of a man in earnest, who talks straight on, who tries to be understood and to move the reader."—Introduction. This grave matter the handsome juvenile cover forms a light and misleading contrast.

Crawford, F. Marion. To leeward. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1884 [1883]. 411 p. D. cl., $1.25.

Not a nautical novel as one might ignorantly suppose from the figurative title. A study of character or characters rather with a Roman background. We know of no country in which Mr. Crawford is more at home and which he describes more perfectly than Italy. He catches the very atmosphere of the place, and penetrates into the very hearts of the handsome modern Romans he so delights in dissecting. This novel is far superior in construction and style and power to "Mr. Isaacs," "Dr. Claudius," or even "A Roman Singer." It is also more analytical, more a study and less a novel of incident than either of these three. More probable too, with more of the life and thought of today. The hero, an Italian marquis, marries a beautiful English girl who reads Spencer and Hegel. In a little while she tires of her husband and his homely virtues, and loves another man. Naturally there is a tragical ending. The interest is all in the author's style and manner of delineating his characters.

Dewey, Orville, D.D. Autobiography and letters of Orville Dewey, D.D.; ed. by his daughter, Mary E. Dewey. Bost., Roberts Bros., 1883. 3-366 p. por. D. cl., $1.75.

This autobiography will interest all who sympathize with humanity, patriotism and personal devotion to conviction. Dr. Dewey was born in 1791 and died in 1882, and in his long life was interested in every question that has occupied and inspired our great thinkers. He was born and educated a strict Unitarian, but in his early youth became a Unitarian, and for thirteen years occupied the pulpit of the Church of the Messiah, now filled by Dr. Robert Collyer. More than thirty years ago, ill-health and overwork caused Dr. Dewey to retire to his family residence in Sheffield, but until the day of his death his interest in public affairs and religious questions was unflagging. His great affection for Dr. Bellows and his many letters to him make an interesting feature of his biography. He knew all the distinguished men of his day, and this warm, kindly autobiography brings before us many of the names we have learned to love since childhood. The book is carefully edited.

In this recent journey through Palestine, Dr. Field follows closely in the footsteps of our Lord, not merely in the streets of Jerusalem, but through Samaria and Galilee, along the lake shore and on the mountain side. All the various scenes mentioned in the gospels in Jesus Christ's life and ministry are accurately and vividly described in the light of all preceding authorities—biblical, archaeological, and geographical. Dr. Field is the author of "From Egypt to Japan," "On the desert," and other popular works of travel.

Gilchrist, Annie Somers. Rosebush; or, the stepdaughter: a novel. Phil., J. B. Lippincott & Co., 1884 [1883]. 3-292 p. D. cl., $1.50.

The first half of this highly sensational novel is devoted to the sufferings of Marian Lawrence through her mother's cruelty. The second half again treats of her miseries as a married woman with a noble husband, and led to doubt her by his cousin, and lets her leave him for years, people supposing her to be in an insane asylum. A reconciliation between husband and wife brings the sorrowing story to a melodramatic ending.

Just three years ago Mr. Harris's "Uncle Remus Songs and Sayings," was published in book-form. It contained thirty-four of the myths and legends of the race told in the dialect of the plantation. Mr. Harris immediately besieged by letters offering him money and calling upon him to verify many of his stories. The present volume is the outcome of his studies. It is a valuable addition to the new field he has introduced. The same little boy appears slightly older, and listens with the same interest to seventy-one folk-tales, told by "Uncle Remus Jack," an old negro from the Rice plantation.

use-servants. This work contains nothing as striking as Tar-Baby, but displays remarkable literary skill in the manner of presenting so large a number of stories. Those ignorant of negro dialect will be glad to find a vocabulary of the most peculiar words. Beard and Church furnish the twenty-two illustrations of the text.

Horn, F. Winkel. History of the literature of the Scandinavian North, from the most ancient times to the present; rev. by the author, and tr. by Rasmus B. Anderson; [also] a bibliography of the important books in the English language relating to the Scandinavian countries; prepared for the translator by Thorvald Solberg. Chic., S. C. Griggs & Co., 1884 [1883]. 7+507 p. O. cl., $3.50.

This work is translated from the German in which the author wrote it in 1880, although he is a Dane. It was designed for foreign rather than native students of Scandinavian literature, making it therefore more suitable for translation into English. The information is very full, is tersely expressed, and exceedingly readable. The translator has made an improvement in Dr. Horn's work by printing his bibliographical notes at the foot of the page instead of as an appendix. The subject is divided into three parts, "The Old Norse and Icelandic literature," "Denmark and Norway," and "Sweden." Together they present a complete survey of the literature of Scandinavian countries from the earliest period to the present time. Mr. Solberg's bibliography covers eighty-three pages and is an invaluable addition to the work both for students and readers. Mr. Anderson is well known as the author of "Norse mythology," and other works related to this subject.

The "little girl" is the ten-year old daughter of Mr. Howells. While abroad and visiting the famous Italian galleries, she began sketching the pictures she saw, from memory. Mr. Howells has endeavored to give many of her "ingenious explanations of intention" in various sketches and has made a fascinating comment on these very original "copies" of the great masters. The publishers have done their part toward making this book as tempting in outside appearance as it is naive in its conception and execution.

Jeffrey, Rosa Vertner. Marah: a novel. Phil., J. B. Lippincott & Co., 1884 [1883]. 241 p. D. cl., $1.25.

Marah, the stepdaughter of the beautiful woman to whose wicked plotting the pages of this highly sensational novel are devoted, is finally happily married to her stepmother's first lover. The scene of the story shifts from the shores of Narraganset Bay to Southern Mississippi. Villains and witches do their part, and the author does not stop at murder, suicide, confinement in insane asylums, etc. This unhealthy reading makes a pretty show in its light cover with blue trimmings.

Julian, G. W. Political recollections, 1840 to 1872. Chic., Jansen, McClurg & Co., 1884 [1883]. 384 p. D. cl., $1.50.

Mainly devoted to facts and incidents connected with the anti-slavery politics from the year 1840 to the close of the work of reconstruction which followed the late Civil War. The author was one of the earliest and most uncompromising of the anti-slavery leaders, the candidate for Vice-President upon the Free-Soil ticket in 1852, one of the founders of the Republican party in 1856, and afterward one of its most prominent and trusted leaders, and a member of Congress during the exciting period preceding and including the War.

The young hero's career depicted in this story of the sea, is full of excitement and adventure. The boy enters the English navy at the very foot of the ladder, and ends in his old age in the important and honorable position of admiral. To answer readers who may question the probability of the story, the author in an introduction, cites the careers of several notable English naval officers.

Lippincott, Mrs. Sarah J. "Grace Greenwood," pseud. Queen Victoria: her girlhood and womanhood. N. Y., J. R. Anderson & H. S. Allen, 1883. 1+401 p. il. D. (Exemplary women ser.) cl., $1.50; $2. A new series—"The girlhood and womanhood of explary women"—is begun most auspiciously with this volume. The series is designed for young people, but if all the volumes are as fascinating as this one, it is not only young readers that will desire to peruse them. England's queen has always been invested with a halo of romance from the early days when as a mere girl she ascended the throne until now, when mourning a husband she can never forget, she has received the sympathy of the world. Exemplary in all her various relations of daughter, wife and mother, she presents a living example of pure and noble womanhood, it is good for all to study. Grace Greenwood in writing her life, had access in London to a great deal of material never before published. The result is a biography rich in new details, often pointing a moral in the most incisive way, or charming by its truthfulness and naturalness. Grace Greenwood's attractive method of writing is fully exemplified in this book, the first we have had from her graceful pen in some years.

In Mr. Lovajoy's review of Bacon's life and character there is no hero-worship; he presents the man with all his strange inconsistencies and startling contrasts of vices and virtues. "climbing to the wolf's back and descending to the prison-cell through the channels of unsoftened ambition and greed for wealth, while giving to the world principles of philosophy and morality, which conferred immortality alike upon his fame and infamy." Following the life are numerous extracts from his writings.

Maudsley, H., M.D. Body and will: being an essay concerning will in its metaphysical, physiological and pathological aspects. N. Y., Appleton, 1884 [1883]. 6+333 p. O. cl., $2.50.

"This essay has had its beginnings in lectures and addresses which I have given on different occasions during the last ten years; the themes of which were conscience and organization, the physical basis of will, lessons of materialism, and the like. The design, entertained vaguely for some time, of collecting them into a book was abandoned, because it was evident that the treatment of the subject in that loose way would not be sufficiently concise and methodical, or indeed adequate, thereupon this essay on will in its metaphysical, physiological, and pathological relations was undertaken, in order to have unity of subject and to treat it systematically and with more pretense to completeness. The freedom of a spiritual will being the stronghold of a metaphysical psychology, there can be no accusation of evading difficulties when that is selected as text-subject of the value of the doctrines arrived at by the positive method of observation and induction."—Preface.

The structure and functions of the organs of speech are discussed with special reference to the requirements of philologists and musicians. The author gives a sketch of all possible articulate sounds, based upon the physical formation of the organs producing them. The work is exhaustive and introduces many original thoughts and theories. It is full of excellent diagrams, and the style is so clear and fascinating that it can be read consecutively with interest, while the work is at the same time technical and fitted for a scientific text-book. A full table of contents and an alphabetical index, make it a useful work of reference.

The reviewer is reminded of the incisive style of Taine's "Notes on England," in reading the sharp, satirical observations of an anonymous author who hides his identity under the name of "Max O'Rell," upon the life, manners, customs, history and peculiarities of the natives of Great Britain. The author's style is specially French in its brevity and neat paragraphs, and in its blindness to obvious facts. Still it is always extremely amusing, even when one questions if this blindness is assumed or real. There are, however, when the author drops satire and does frank justice to English qualities, both political and personal, which he finds worthy of warm admiration. The clever e-book should be read not only because it is full of entertainment, but as one of the sensations of the moment of London and Paris.

V. 1, 15+368 p. (Wood's lib. of standard medical authors.) subs., $1.25.

Peck, W. G. Text-book of popular astronomy: for the use of colleges, academies, and high-schools. N. Y., A. S. Barnes & Co., 1883. 330 p. il. D. cl., net, $1.20.

Prepared originally to meet the wants of the author with his class at Columbia College. Intended to present in a compact and popular form, all the facts and principles of the science that are needed in a general course of collegiate education. Mathematical formulas and demonstrations have been avoided as far as possible. The order of arrangement is somewhat different from that which is met with in most text-books. The stars being treated of in a general way before any detailed consideration is given to the solar system, and no instrument described until its use is indicated in the general development of the course.

*Pilcher, L. S., M.D. The treatment of wounds: its principles and practice, general and special. N. Y., W. Wood & Co. 12+391 p. il. D. (Wood's lib. of standard medical authors.) subs., $1.25.

Plato. A day in Athens with Socrates: translations from the Protagoras and the Republic of Plato. N. Y., C. Scribner's Sons, 1883. 20+145 p. S. pap., 50 c.

Plato's dialogues are almost perfect illustrations of the distinctive characteristics of the age in which he lived. The selections brought together here from the "Protagoras" and the "Republic," depict in a specially graphic style, the Athens of old, in the street and in the dwelling houses of the citizens. To illustrate these scenes has been the aim of the compiler.

Porter, Rose, comp. The gift of gifts; loving kindness in the morning, faithfulness every night: a text-book. N. Y., A. D. F. Randolph & Co., [1883]. no paging, il. Fe. cl., 40 c.

Bible texts beautifully illustrated with violets in colors. One of the Randolph's little gems.

Prentiss, Mrs. E. The flower of the family: a book for girls. New stereotype ed., with an introductory note. N. Y., A. D. F. Randolph & Co., [1883]. 2-370 p. D. cl., $1.50.

Pyle, Howard. The merry adventures of Robin Hood of great renown in Nottinghamshire; written and illustrated by Howard Pyle. N. Y., C. Scribner's Sons, 1883. 17+296 p. il. O. embossed leather., $4.50.

Even the cover of this handsome holiday volume is a design of Mr. Pyle's. The coloring and stamping all aim to reproduce the old mediæval style of books, and are in harmony with the contents. The text, a consecutive narrative in prose of Robin Hood's life and adventures, is embellished throughout with charming full-page pictures in bold outlines, and numerous head and tail pieces, vignettes, etc. The volume is one of the most original and most noticeable of this season's books. For further particulars see Christmas number.

Rame, Louise de la ["Ouida," pseud.] Frescoes, etc.: dramatic sketches. Phil., J. B. Lippincott & Co., 1883. 2+310 p. D. cl., $1.25.

The first sketch "Frescoes," is told through the medium of telegrams, postal cards, and letters. It is bright and piquant, dealing with the loves of a great English lady and a poor Italian artist. Louis Renzo comes to England to fresco Lady Charteris's ball-room, and a romance is the result. The other sketches all dealing with Italian scenes.

and characters are entitled "At Camaldoli," "Afternoon," and "In Pitti." "Romance and realism," is a paper sent by the author to an English review in which she defends her plots from the charges of improbability, sometimes made against them.

Contents:—(1) "A diary of the war; or, what I saw of it," by W. S. White; (2) "Rolls of the third company Richmond Howitzers as mustered in and as surrendered."

Riddell, Mrs. J. H. A struggle for fame: a novel. N. Y., Harper 1883. 93 p. Q. (Harper's Franklin sq. lib., no 337) pap., 20 c.

An inside view of several of the notable publishing firms of the London of thirty years ago, with pictures of the many conflicts which arise between authors and publishers are given in the course of this novel. The coming to London of a young man and a young girl, both of Irish birth and with different degrees of literary talent, having the ambition to make a name as authors, permits Mrs. Riddell in depicting their careers to show how severe the "struggle for fame" is, even when the contestant enters the race equipped with genius.

Rockwood, Harry. Dyke and Burr, the rival detectives. N. Y., J. S. Ogilvie & Co., [1883]. 6-136 p. D. pap., 25 c.

The same story as published in the "People's library" and "Popular library" under the name of "The rival detectives."

St. Nicholas: an illustrated magazine for young folks; conducted by Mary Mapes Dodge. V. 10: pt. 1, Nov., 1882, to May, 1883; pt. 2, May, 1883, to Oct., 1883. N. Y., The Century Co., [1883]. 2 v., 8+480; 8+483-960 p. sq. O. cl., ea., $2.50.

Contains an unusually large number of excellent short contributions by the most popular writers for young people. Among the serial contributions are "Stories of art and artists," by Clara Erskine Clement, and the conclusion of "The recollections of a drummer boy," by Henry M. Kieffer. The wealth of illustrations and the literary merit, to which may be added its handsome get-up, make St. Nicholas one of the most attractive books for children, not only for one season, but all the year round.

Townsend, E. D. Anecdotes of the civil war in the United States. N. Y., Appleton, 1884 [1883]. 12+287 p. il. D. cl., $1.25.

These anecdotes have a wide range of subjects, taking in almost all the prominent actors in the late war; they are serious and pathetic, amusing and often very funny, historical, political, etc. The author, late Adjutant-General, U. S. A., long held government positions at Washington, and was breveted major-general at the end of the war.

Trowbridge, J. T. The Tinkham brother's tide-mill. Bost., Lee & Shepard, 1884 [1883]. 5-326 p. il. S. cl., $1.25.

All boys agree that Trowbridge writes splendid stories.

readers of St. Nicholas agree that the troubles of akham Bros. with fish commissioners and boat-clubs, they had been cheated into buying a mill in which to picture dolls' furniture and wooden parts of fireworks, told in the author's best manner. The object is to show a disposition to be fair and conciliatory, making it of things, can smooth over the greatest differences of opinion and method.

bull, H. Clay, D.D. Kadesh-Barnea; its importance and probable site, with the story of a hunt for it; including studies of the route of the exodus and the southern boundary of the Holy Land. N. Y., C: Scribner's, 1884 [1883]. 478 p., il. and maps, O. $5.

The real site of Kadesh-Barnea has for almost twenty years been a matter of discussion among Jewish and Christian scholars. Going into the desert of Arabia on an expedition, the author was enabled most effectively to re-discover a long-lost site, which had an important part in the discussions over Kadesh-Barnea. The story of his discovery is told in graphic style. The author considers it practically establishes the southern boundary line of the Holy Land, the point of the Israel wanderings, and the route of the exodus. There are chapters on the Biblical indications of the site of Kadesh-Barnea; ancient references to it outside of the text; later attempts at its identifying; the sites connected with it. There are a number of illustrations and a large pocket map, showing the southern boundary of the Holy Land, and the field of the exodus and wanderings. Indexes are of authorities cited, persons named, foreign Bible texts, etc. Author is editor of the Sunday Times.

e, Herbert. History of Prussia, to the accession of Frederick the Great, 1134-1740. N. Y., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1884 [1883]. 498 p. map, D. cl., $2.25.

Tuttle, professor of history in Cornell University and author of "German political leaders," spent several years in Prussia, studying with the utmost care the history of the country and its present. The purpose of his work is "to describe the political development of Prussia from the earliest dawn to the death of the second king." The nature of the plan has led him to make "somewhat minute references into the early institutions of Brandenburg; and about the work the development of the constitution received more attention, and is elucidated by more references, than wars or treaties, than dynastic or territorial conquests. These have not been neglected, but they have been made of secondary importance."

United States. Department of the Interior. United States Geological Survey. Mineral resources of the United States, Albert Wilson, Sr., Chief of Division of Mining Statistics and Technology. Wash., D.C., Government Printing Office, 1883. 15+813 p. cl.

Statistical report upon the present condition of the industries of the United States.

Wendell, Margaret. The queen's body-guard: a story of American life for girls. N. Y., Porter & Coates, [1883]. 5-455 p. D. $1.50.

The queen is the mother, the body-guard are her seven daughters, ranging in age from twenty-one to eight years. The father died five years before the story opens, a lawyer having wasted the property, the family find themselves with only the title-deeds of an old farm in Delaware. They decide to go and live on it, and an interesting story tells of their trials and successes as farmers, engineers, mill-owners, housekeepers, the characters of the children are excellently drawn, the events described are natural and entertaining. The progress of the family after ten years, many of them settled in their own homes, is an unusually pleasant ending. Margaret Vandegrift's wit and happy putting things are here at their best. Several excellently executed illustrations brighten this history of a happy life. The attractive cover has an original design in gilt lettering.

L. The greater poems of Virgil. V. 2: containing the last six books of the Æneid and the Georgics; ed. by J. B. Greenough. N. Y., Ginn, Heath & Co., 1884 [1883]. 2+105 p. D. cl., $1.25.

Text; 105 pages are devoted to very copious notes.

Ward, W: Hayes, and Ward, Susan Hayes, comp. The world's Christmas hymn: a song of songs. N. Y., A. D. F. Randolph & Co., [1883]. 53 p. il. O. cl., bas-relief cover, $5; leatherette, $4; cl., $4.50.

Gems of poetry from the English poets referring to the birth of Christ, are here gathered together. They range from Chaucer to Jean Ingelow, and are so dove-tailed together as to make a consecutive hymn. The idea is a novel one, and is carried out in altogether a novel manner. The illustrations, artotypes of celebrated pictures, are rarely found out of expensive and generally unattainable works. They supplement the text and are: "The adoration of the shepherds," Adrian Van Der Werff; "Angel sounding trumpet," Fra Angelico; "The birth of Christ," Rubens; "Christ appearing to the three kings," Roger Van Der Weyden; "The adoration of the Magi," Domenico Ghirlandajo; "From The holy night," Correggio; "The Madonna of the fish," Raphael; "Worshipping angels," "Angel choir," "The Madonna of the star," and "Angel with the tambourine," by Fra Angelico; "Cecilia," Domenichino. The binding is unique, being a bas-relief, having the tinting and appearance of old English tiles. It is the first application of a new process which will no doubt become very popular for holiday books. The design, printed in various shades of brown, is an angel blowing a trumpet.

Barnes & Co., 1883. 2-96 p. il. D. (Worman's Chautauqua language ser.) bds., 40 c. Arranged so that it can be used also independently of the first book, and with or without any other text-book of French. The principles underlying the natural method are continuously adhered to. Marked, however, by the same peculiar characteristics that distinguish the "First book."

Yonge, Charlotte M., and Weld, H. Hastings, D.D. Aunt Charlotte's stories of American history. N. Y., Appleton, [1883]. 442 p. il. sq. S. cl., $1.50.

A charming epitome of American history is given in this handsomely gotten up volume, which is rendered striking by bright cloth binding, gilt ornamentation, large type, and sixty illustrations. The book divides its information almost equally between North and South America, beginning with the discoveries of the first Indian mounds in Peru, and bringing the story chronologically down to the assassination of President Garfield. An excellent book for boys.

Zimmern, Helen. Maria Edgeworth. Bost., Roberts Bros., 1883. 305 p. S. (Famous Women ser.) cl. $1.

It does not seem as if very much that is new could be said of the author of "Popular Tales," the "Absentee" and other dear and much read volumes of our youth. Miss Edgeworth was no unsolved mystery even to her own generation, and a subsequent one has in its profound love for the woman and author apparently exhausted all facts from all obtainable sources relative to her simple and beautiful life. Yet Miss Zimmern has had access to a memoir written by the stepmother of Miss Edgeworth and never published, as well as many private letters not before given to the public. With this material and the wealth already at hand, she has had no trouble in making a perfectly authentic biography—the first one of any length. It is claimed, published in this country. She gives all the facts of the life of her subject in a pleasing, congenial manner, and goes quite into detail over the merits of her writings. She gives also quite a résumé of the subjects of her different stories.

The Publishers' Weekly.

DECEMBER 22, 1883.

PUBLISHERS are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, to insure correctness in the final entry.

The trade are invited to send "Communications" to the editor on any topic of interest to the trade, and as to which an interchange of opinion is desirable. Also, matter for "Notes and Queries" gratefully received.

In case of business changes, notification or card should be immediately sent to this office for entry under "Business Notes." New catalogues issued will also be mentioned when forwarded.

"Every man is a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help thereunto."—LORD BACON.

PUBLISHERS will please take notice that the "Supplement to the American Catalogue" will include all books issued before January 1, 1884. As the compilation must be entirely based on the record of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, books that have not been brought to our notice, should be sent or reported to this office before January 5, else we cannot be responsible for their insertion. The list in the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY January 12, must close the record for the Supplement to the American Catalogue. Although we cannot make any further search for books that, either from oversight or lack of information, have not been recorded in the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, or in the first volume of the American Catalogue, we shall be glad to include in the Supplement any such books provided we receive immediate information, giving full title and particularly the date.

As there will be scarcely any news of practical importance next week, it has been decided to devote the remaining days of the year to the completion of the book record of 1883. No PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY will therefore be issued under date of December 29.

So many more books have been received this season than at any previous one, and so many were received at the eleventh hour, that, as all, without exception, must be recorded, it was impossible to notice them in good season. All those books, however, which have not as yet appeared in the "Weekly Record," with a few exceptions, have already been brought to the notice of the trade elsewhere in these columns.

THE Art Age for November has an interesting article on "Current Book-Cover Designs," in which, we are glad to see, the use of the "natural plant form" is advocated in preference to eccentric, grotesque and meaningless monstrosities. While we commend this number as a model of printing as far as presswork is concerned, we take exception to the indiscriminate or awkward use of red in subordinate and incidental lines, and particularly in solid small-type paragraphs. The use of red for column and head-rules is questionable on the ground of its disturbing optical effect, detrimental to the best printed black. Red, in typography, is the more effective, the less used; and when used, should be restricted to single and striking lines, words, or letters. As a specimen of a display advertisement, for practical purposes, that of Gilliss Brothers is the most telling. Cassell's, on the same ground, may serve as a sample of display that defeats its own purpose.

IMPORTANT LOCAL HISTORIES.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK.

JAMES R. OSGOOD & Co. are to be the publishers of a magnificent work devoted to "The Public Service of the State of New York." The edition is limited to five hundred copies, and the price, per set of three royal quarto volumes, illustrated with 487 large plates of views and portraits, bound in full levant morocco, satin lining, gilt edges, is $400.

The plan of the work is to give a complete history of the State of New York, tracing the growth and development of the commonwealth from the beginning of the colonial government to the present; to give a perfect representation of the State of New York, its institutions and great business interests, as they exist to-day. To this end the most competent writers in the State were secured, nearly three years ago, and their contributions have been carefully supervised and prepared for the press. The history of each department of the government is fully recited, together with that of the business interest committed to its charge. In this way, the history of canals and railroads; of trade and commerce; of banking and insurance; of the control of criminals and the gifts of charity; of agriculture, education, and medicine; of the surveys of the State—of the rocks by geologists, and of the surface of the soil by engineers, and of other leading subjects in which the organized energies of the people of the State have been employed—is fully set forth. The executive, legislative, and judicial departments of the government have passed through important changes; and these changes are here recorded with the insight of the true historian dealing rather with the life of the State than with the lives of individuals. The work is unique in this, that it is not a bundle of gossip concerning statesmen, nor a series of dramatic incidents in public life, but a record of the deeds of parties and of men in moulding the State. It is at once historical, descriptive, statistical, and biographical, and is printed in the most sumptuous manner, with exquisite type, on a generous page of heavy and tinted paper, and with liberal margins.

The work is illustrated with 143 full-page views, among which are interior and exterior views of the old and new capitol; of all State buildings; and of all college buildings in the State of New York, as well as famous views of natural scenery, especially of the Adirondacks and Niagara Falls; also a geological map of New York, prepared under the personal supervision of Prof. James Hall, State geologist, and a double-page railroad map of the State of New York prepared expressly for this work. The work is also illustrated with 1029 portraits, printed with autographs, among which are portraits of all the governors of New York, important State officers and legislators, presidents of colleges and notable professors and educational benefactors, and presidents of railroads, insurance companies and banks; also double-page views of the old and new Senate and Assembly chambers, with Senate and Assembly in session; of the Court of Appeals chamber, with bench and bar; of the New York State Medical Society, and the State Dental Society.

ARCHIVES OF MARYLAND.

From the Baltimore Day.

THE publication of "Maryland Archives" under the authority of the State, but under the direction of the Maryland Historical Society, marks an epoch in the printing of State records, because the business has been removed from all suspicion of political jobbery and has been placed in the hands of an honorable record commission, with no interests to subserve save those of science and of the honor of the State. The enterprise has not been the outgrowth of party interest or of printers' clamor for more copy, but of a united demand of all good men and of all parties who really cared for the history of this State. It was not an individual or selfish scheme; it was a public-spirited movement, supported by the members of the Historical Society, by friends of the Johns Hopkins University, and by the Baltimore press. All individual efforts to move the Legislature toward any adequate provision for the State archives had ignominiously failed. Corporate effort succeeded. The plan originated just two years ago while Mr. Edward A. Freeman and James Bryce, M.P., were lecturing at the Johns Hopkins University. These gentlemen, who are both of an historical as well as a political turn of mind, were introduced to members of the Maryland Historical Society; they were invited to examine certain State archives there preserved; they wrote opinions touching the value of these archives. These opinions of renowned specialists, these responsa prudentum, were brought before the Maryland Historical Society by the Hon. George William Brown, together with a memorial to the General Assembly, drawn up by Dr. Wm. Hand Browne, afterward chosen as editor of the series. The society took up the matter, a committee pressed it forward, the city press supported it, the memorial evolved into a bill for the transfer of the colonial and revolutionary archives of Maryland from Annapolis to Baltimore with an appropriation of $2000 to be expended toward their publication by the Maryland Historical Society, into whose charge the records (still the property of the State) were intrusted for safe-keeping. This bill was passed and was finally approved March 30, 1882. Since then the society has built by subscription a fire-proof vault costing about $2000, and under the efficient direction of the librarian, Mr. J. W. M. Lee, the records have been carefully arranged and catalogued. One of the most noticeable features of the published volume now before us is an elaborate calendar of the State archives of Maryland, giving in detail the contents of the various volumes of manuscript records received from Annapolis, together with the chronological limits of each group of materials, their defects, missing pages, etc. This calendar covers the entire documented history of Maryland down to the year 1789, when the constitution of the United States went into operation. The volume now published contains an almost perfect exhibition of the legislation of Maryland from 1637 down to 1664. Through correspondence with Mr. W. S. Sainsbury, of the public record office in London, many missing laws have been recovered. Acts mentioned only by title in Bacon's "Laws of Maryland" are here given in full, and which will greatly rejoice many students of Maryland history who have long been deplored the gaps and omissions in the legal history of this State. The editorial skill of Dr. Browne, aided by Mr. Lee, has been directed toward the chronological arrangement of legislative documents hitherto widely scattered, and toward the exact reproduction of the phraseology and spelling of the original laws.

Dr. Browne and Mr. Lee have done their work well. After skillful copyists had transcribed the original manuscript (a most difficult undertaking) these gentlemen compared every word of the copy with its original. They have devoted months of minutely painstaking labor to the preparation of the first volume of our "Maryland Archives" for the printer and to seeing the work through the press. The paper and printing are of a superior character. In form the book is a large quarto of over 600 pages, and, in general form, it reminds one of the "Calendar of Virginia State Papers," which were published some years ago by Dr. William Palmer, of Richmond. We regret that the Maryland work has not followed the usual custom in publishing records of indicating in marginal notes the point of printed documents, which are often so verbose for the hurried student reader, who is hunting down a particular line of fact. There are four superior indexes to this published volume—one of bills read, another of bills passed, a third of names of places and persons, and a fourth of miscellaneous business. For the general student, the lawyer, the general local historian, these four indexes will probably be quite sufficient, but the special student of Maryland history will yet demand a special topical index, whereby all materials relating to particular subject, such as "Indians," "Tobacco," "Servants," "Liquor Laws," "Land Tenure," etc., shall be grouped together. For this purpose the mere titles of bills are not sufficient. But there is a limit to the search and economic resources of every editor. The State of Maryland ought to place a few records at the disposal of Dr. Browne, who in a recent discussion in the Nation jocosely advocated the method of "convict indexing," originally proposed by Scaliger.

BUSINESS NOTES.

BEATRICE, NEB.—The partnership under the firm of Price & Fryett was dissolved by mutual consent, Nov. 30. The business at Beatrice passes into the hands of Mr. S. J. Fryett. Price, a brother of Jay F. Price, succeeds Fryett to the partnership at Beatrice.

important change in their business, having found necessary, owing to the large increase in their sale, to follow the example of other great houses in this country and England, and give their entire attention to publishing. The sale of miscellaneous books and the entire retail department will, therefore, be abandoned by the firm as soon as the stock now on hand at No. 32 Franklin Street is disposed of, and the firm will move to the large and imposing building, Nos. 120, 122 and 124 Purchase Street, which will be ready for occupancy early in January. The first floor of the building will be used for selling and storing the immense stock of the firm's publications, which will be kept on hand. On the second story will be the offices of the Wide Awake, Pansy, Little Men and Women, and Baby Land. The engravers' and artists' departments and the composition rooms will occupy the third and a part of the second floors, and binderies and press-rooms will be on the fourth and fifth. Mr. Lothrop started in business in Dover, N. H., years ago with one idea, and that was the publishing of books only of the best class. The success which he has won by adhering to that idea is a matter worthy of note in connection with this move soon to be made, and which is indicative of the growing prosperity of his house.

OBITUARY.

WILLIAM PATTON.

IT is with regret that we note the death of William Patton, which occurred on the 2d inst. at Waterbury, Conn. In William Patton the entire trade loses an old friend. Impulsive, impetuous at times, he was ever a sturdy defender of right and principle whatever the cost to himself. Of a clear and discriminating mind, and with the ability to discover the vulnerable part in a ham, he bore a free lance for what he thought right, and against what he thought false. He took pride in his business and gave it his most unremitting attention.

William Patton was of Scotch-Irish descent. His father, a cotton manufacturer from near Belfast, came to this country and settled in Brooklyn, N. Y. Becoming a skilled button chaser in New York Mr. Patton went to Waterbury to pursue the industry and was one of the first skilled chasers in Waterbury. But soon, however, his fondness for reading turned his attention to the book business, in which he was Waterbury's pioneer, and with which he has been identified now for about forty years. As his health began to fail a few months ago, he sold out his business in Patton's block to George N. Ellis. His decline since then has been gradual but sure. His old complaint, that of rheumatism, was the immediate cause of his demise. Had he lived, he would have been seventy-four years old the 17th of this month.

FRANK W. THOMPSON.

FRANK W. THOMPSON, for many years with Robert Clarke & Co., died on the 10th inst. at his residence in Cincinnati, at the age of thirty. Mr. Thompson, we learn from the Cincinnati Daily Times-Star, "was born and raised in Cincinnati about to make an acquisition to the retail department, forming many acquaintances with the public and endearing himself to his associates in the store. His face was one of the familiar ones at Robert Clarke & Co.'s, and his loss will be greatly regretted by those who were accustomed to deal with him. In the store among his fellow-clerks his death seems hard to be realized. He was with them but last week, bright, courageous, generous, helpful, self-sacrificing. The loss which his mother and father sustain in this bereavement is irreparable. He was their only son, and a better one never lived. He was a young man of exemplary private character, and a consistent member of the Mt. Auburn Presbyterian Church."

JOHN WILLYOUNG.

JOHN WILLYOUNG, proprietor of the Detroit Book Depository, died at Detroit, December 2, aged forty years. Mr. Willyoung was born in Lancaster, N. Y., September 20, 1843. At the age of twenty he left home and engaged in farming in Niagara County. He remained upon the farm about two years, when he removed to Buffalo, and entered the Methodist Book Depository, in charge of H. H. Otis, where he continued for about twelve years. In January, 1878, after thorough deliberation, he purchased a half interest in the Methodist Book Depository in Detroit, then owned by J. M. Arnold & Co., and entered into partnership with Mr. Arnold. In March, 1879, he purchased the entire interest and good-will of Mr. Arnold, and assumed the control of the Depository.

PIERRE RICHARD LAPRADE, the distinguished French poet and Academician, born 1812, died at Paris, Dec. 13, 1883.

HENRI MARTIN, the celebrated French historian, born 1812, died Dec. 13, 1883. He was received into the French Academy as successor to Thiers in 1878. He is best known by his great work, "Histoire de France," a portion of which was translated into English by Mary L. Booth and published under the title "History of France: Age of Louis XIV." Estes & Lauriat have published as a continuation of Guizot's "Popular History of France" a translation of Martin's "Histoire de France," embracing the period between 1789 to the fall of the Empire under Napoleon III., entitled Martin's "Popular History of France." The Century Magazine for January contains an excellent portrait of Martin in the article in the French Academy entitled "The Forty Immortals."

PROF. E. A. SOPHOCLES, of Harvard University, born in Thessaly, 1807, died on Dec. 17, 1883. He was Professor of Ancient, Modern and Byzantine Greek. He is best known as the author of the following valuable text-books, of which a number have passed through several editions: "A Greek Grammar" (1838), "First Lessons in Greek" (1839), "Greek Exercises" (1841), "A Romanic Grammar" (1842), "Greek Lessons for Beginners" (1843), "Catalogue of Greek Verbs" (1844), "History of the Greek Alphabet" (1848), "A Glossary of Latin and Byzantine Greek" (1860), and a "Greek Lexicon of the Roman and Byzantine Periods" (1870).

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

MR. MATTHEW ARNOLD is the subject of the article which Mr. Henry James will contribute to the January number of the English Illustrated Magazine. The paper will be accompanied by a portrait of Mr. Arnold, engraved from a drawing by Mr. F. Sandys.

J. G. COTTA, Stuttgart, proposes to publish a magazine to be devoted exclusively to the scientific treatment of financial questions. The new periodical is to be called Das Finanzarchiv. The editor-in-chief is Professor Schanz, of the University of Würzburg, and among his assistant editors we notice the name of Dr. E. J. James, Professor of Finance and Administration in the University of Pennsylvania.

THE ENGLISH PUBLISHING CO. have completed arrangements with the English publishers of the Fortnightly, Nineteenth Century and Contemporary Reviews, and will, on January 1, 1884, commence the re-issuing of these popular publications in America. In form, they will be directly modelled after the original editions, the size of page being slightly reduced, but containing the English text line for line. The three reviews will be sold at $12; single copies at 40 cents.

J. W. BOUTON announces the following changes for the foreign periodicals of which he is the American agent. L'Art will be a fortnightly instead of a weekly, though its general features will remain unchanged, and a reduction of more than one half will be made in the price. Mr. Hamerton's Portfolio will remain about what it has always been, but a reduction of one fourth will be made in the price of it. Owing to the removal of taxes on imported magazines, corresponding reductions are to be effected in the Gazette des Beaux Arts, the Bibliographer, and the Antiquarian.

The Continent has signalized its coming to New York by doing some very excellent work in illustration. Recent numbers have contained handsomely illustrated articles on "The Mission of Art Schools," with reproductions from paintings done abroad by young Americans, etc. Announcement is made of a serial to be shortly forthcoming by the author of "Arius the Libyan." It is a story of the early Christian martyrs, said to be singularly sweet and beautiful, and written with the same fulness of knowledge and clear attractive style that have drawn so much attention to "Arius." It will be illustrated by Will H. Low. The Continent makes with the opening year a new departure in offering its monthly parts for sale on the news stands. The favorable comparison in size, quality of matter and illustration which The Continent's monthly part makes with the monthly magazines, has resulted in popularity during its tentative sale on the railways, and a demand for it in the trade. This demand has been resisted hitherto, to the end that The Continent's character as a weekly should be first firmly established. The original plan is now carried out of finishing both the weekly and the monthly to trade, and the weekly only to subscribers.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

JAMES H. EARLE, Boston, has recently published "Rhymes and Jingles for Little Folks," by Aunt Daisy (Mrs. Lombard) handsomely printed in large bold type.

REV. HENRY MORGAN, Boston, has issued a new book entitled "The Fallen Priest," a sequel to his "Boston Inside Out," which latter, he states, has run through twenty-five editions.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT & CO. expect to issue at once a new book by Ouida entitled "A Series of Dramatic Stories;" also a second and revised edition of Marks's work "On the Steam-Engine."

JANSEN, MCCLURG & CO. will publish at once "Times of Charles XII," the third volume of The Surgeon's Stories; also, Prof. R. L. Cum-nock's "School Speaker: Rhetorical Recitations for Boys and Girls."

"THE ORTHOEPIST" and "The Verbalist," both by Alfred Ayres, and published by D. Appleton & Co., have been introduced as textbooks in the Department of English Studies at the U. S. Naval Academy, Annapolis.

H. A. SUMNER & CO. will publish early in January, 1884, a new detective story by Lawrence L. Lynch, author of "Shadowed by Three," entitled "Madeline Payne, the Expert's Daughter." The volume will be illustrated with 44 original woodcuts.

PORTER & COATES, announce a new book by Joseph A. Seiss, D.D., on "The Life and Times of Luther." Dr. Seiss is well known as the pastor of the Church of the Holy Communion, Philadelphia, and as the author of "A Miracle in Stone" and "Voices from Babylon."

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS will publish early next year "Airs from Arcady and Elsewhere," a volume of verses by H. C. Bunner. It will contain Mr. Bunner's recent poetical contributions to the Atlantic and to the Century, and a selection from the humorous verse he has written in Puck, of which he is the editor.

FOR the first time since the invention of printing, a German book has reached its one thousandth edition, each of them numbering three thousand copies, thus making in all three million copies. It is a primer by Haester, published by G. D. Baedeker, of Essen, which first appeared in 1853, and reached its one hundredth edition in 1863.

"THE riches of the Boston Public Library," says the N.Y. Tribune, "are daily increased, not by purchase but by gifts of valuable books and prints. The Bulletin of the library is a model in its way. It is full of notes about books and helps to readers. It is humiliating to New York that, with all her resources and pretensions, she has no library comparable to this in almost unlimited usefulness.

MURPHY & CO., Varnish Makers of Cleveland and New York, issue in handsome shape a volume entitled "The Delights of Coaching," by an Old Whip. The sketch is delightfully written, and printed in quaint old style on laid paper and illustrated with five etchings from original designs by Stephen James Ferris, and four initials by Francis Lathrop, who also made the design for the cover. The book is printed for free distribution.

GEO. A. LEAVITT & Co. will sell next March the library of the late Henry C. Murphy, said to be the most important collection of rare books ever brought under the hammer in this country. In the department of Americana the collection outtops all others in rarity and value yet sold either in this country or Europe. The catalogues are now preparing, and will soon be issued to collectors and librarians.

S. W. TILTON has published "Good Night and Good Morning," a poem by Lord Houghton, and "Jack in the Pulpit," in their series of "Outline Design Books" which are intended as a first step in a self-instructing system. Accompanying the series is "Tilton's Decorative Art Color Box" which has all of the colors needed, with directions for mixing, so as to produce any shade desired. The books will afford excellent and inexpensive practice for beginners.

THE DENNISON MANUFACTURING CO., 198 Broadway, N. Y., have put in the market an attractive novelty in the shape of a plush opera-class bag. This bag is made in two sizes, of the best quality plush, and may be had both plain and stamped. The shades include all the fashionable colors—old gold, olive, crushed straw-berry, light blue, etc. A line is also made up in imitation sealskin. They have also suitable holiday gifts in Morocco, plush, and velvet cases for jewelry and jewel cabinets. Their "Jewelry Cleaning Casket," containing every requisite for cleaning jewelry will prove a ready-selling novelty.

PETER PAUL & BRO., Buffalo, have ready this week "The Poems and Swedish Translations of Dr. Frederick Peterson." Translations from Scandinavian literature have been attracting so much attention of late that a book containing so many charming lyrics from distinguished Swedish poets, cannot fail to be well received. While there have been translations of prose works and one or two epic poems from the Swedish, the shorter poems of Northern skalds have been neglected. The volume has been prepared by the author in leisure hours during the past five years and he has chosen some of Sweden's most beautiful and popular lyrics.

The Publishers' Weekly.

THE AMERICAN BOOK-TRADE JOURNAL.

F. LEYPOLDT, Editor.

THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, established in 1872, with which was incorporated the American Literary Gazette and Publishers' Circular (established in 1852), by purchase from Mr. George W. Childs, is recognized as the independent representative of the publishing and bookselling interests in the United States.

The central feature of the paper, that makes it an indispensable aid to the trade, to libraries, and to literary people, is its Bibliographical Department. Every possible facility of reference is afforded by a combination of methods which records the books, by the week, the month, the season, and the year, under the author, the publisher, the title, the subject, and the class. It is acknowledged that no other journal, at home or abroad, supplies as practical and satisfactory a record of the publications of its country.

The bibliographical department includes :

1. A "Weekly Record" of all new American publications and reprints, giving their full titles (according to the rules of the American Library Association), with place and date of publication, publisher's name, size, number of pages, and price; and also descriptive notes of books received. This first and practically the official record is arranged alphabetically by the authors or titles, and for ready reference is placed in the same accessible position in each number.
2. A weekly "Order List," being brief-title entries, with prices, of the "Weekly Record," arranged alphabetically by the publishers. The object of this list is to present at a glance the simultaneous issues of certain publishers, and to save time in the making up of orders.
3. A monthly "Index to the Weekly Record," being short-title entries, with the publisher's name and the size and price, arranged alphabetically by the authors, with references from the titles or catchwords, and from the subjects. With each entry is given also the number of the "Weekly Record" containing the full-title entry and note.
4. A monthly "Class Synopsis," grouping the works of the month under such heads as Biography, Description, Education, Fiction, Fine Arts, History, Law, Literature, Medical Science, Physical and Mathematical Sciences, Poetry and the Drama, Political and Social Science, Theology and Religion, etc.
5. A semi-annual classified list of Forthcoming Publications, given in the Spring and Fall Announcement numbers, in which also the announced books are more fully described under the name of the publishers, arranged alphabetically.
6. An annual Index to the books of the year, advertised by the more prominent publishers in the so-called Annual Summary Number, which generally is published in the last week of January. In this number is also given a classified summary of the more prominent publications of the year.
7. Regular Lists of the Season, published as follows: A complete priced catalogue of Educational Books, in July; a priced list of the Holiday Books and prominent Juvenile Books of the year, in November; a supplementary list of new Educational Books, in February; a list of Guide and Summer Books, in May.
8. Quarterly lists of the Publications of the U. S. Government.
9. Semi-monthly lists of the more prominent New English Books.
10. Special Bibliographies. The timely bibliography, now in course of publication, is "Literary Property;" a catalogue of books and authors relating to literary property (copyright, international copyright, and kindred subjects), by Thorvald Solberg.

The Literary Department includes comprehensive intelligence as to books forthcoming and publishing movements, at home and abroad, gathered with the aid of representatives in other cities; editorial discussions on book and trade subjects, as copyright, postal questions, book production and manufacture, etc.; original contributions and representative extracts on like topics; topical "cues" or references to bibliographical sources or courses of reading and study; journalistic notes; business notes; literary and trade notes, etc.

The Advertising Department is by no means a subordinate feature in a journal chiefly devoted to books. In the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, indeed, it is so representative of the publishing enterprises of the day that it becomes an essential supplement to the other departments.

A minor but practical and convenient feature is the "Books Wanted" column, giving subscribers the privilege of a free insertion of five lines in each issue.

Terms, $3.20 per year, 10 cents per number. Sample copies furnished on application.

"The two volumes, 1881-82, of the Providence Library's Monthly Reference Lists . . . are a welcome addition to the endless variety of indexes. They can be used in connection with any good public or private library."—The Nation, January 18, 1883.

"Most thoroughly and carefully selected, embracing a wide range from the best German authorities to the latest articles in current literature."—New England Journal of Education, April 21, 1881.

"Any teacher with advanced pupils, desirous of training students in habits of investigation, could scarcely do better than supply these lists as texts for composition."—Springfield Daily Republican, April 22, 1881.

" . . . The most noticeable and perhaps the most valuable feature of Mr. Foster's reference lists is the topical subdivision of the main subject. For a student or teacher, the 'structural bibliography' is much more valuable and suggestive than a long list of authorities, which, in some cases, would be hardly better than a catalogue."—HERBERT B. ADAMS, Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, in the N. E. Hist. and General Register, Jan., 1883.

BOOKS FOR THE YOUNG.

A Guide for Parents and Children, compiled by C. M. HEWINS, Librarian of Hartford Library Association. Price in paper, 25 cents.

"Meets most admirably the demand for carefully selected lists, and contains valuable and interesting counsel."—W. E. FOSTER.

"Contains an admirable selection of books for children, and by far the best catalogue of books of this kind that has ever appeared."—S. S. GREEN.

"Miss C. M. Hewins, of Hartford, has long been known to all who are interested in making the public library the ally of the public schools, as one of the most successful of modern librarians of the American school. . . . A book which it is difficult to praise too highly."—Critic.

"Deserves more extended praise than we have space for. It will bring joy to the hearts of hundreds of parents, whose confidence in the compiler's judgment will be assured by her prefatory remarks and directions, and her choice extracts from divers authorities on the true aim and criterion of juvenile literature."—Nation.

"When Mr. Charles Dudley Warner says that 'the young who read at all read nothing but trash,' he does not exaggerate so very much. For them [the parents], as well as for librarians and teachers, the book will serve an excellent purpose, for it is far the best guide that has been printed, and there is nothing in it that is not of excellent and interesting in quality."—Boston Transcript.

"A little manual long needed, and one that will be heartily welcomed by parents who recognize the importance of carefully supervising their children's reading, but are often confused and at a loss on account of the multitude of works for the young now published, of every conceivable degree of merit and demerit." A classified list of good books is given, with indications as to the age and sex to which they are best suited. The list is prefaced by hints as to how children should be taught the right use of books, a note on good reading in English and American history for children, and a 'symposium' on children's books, containing interesting extracts from many sources. Miss Hewins has charge of the department 'Literature for the Young' in the Library Journal, is librarian of the Hartford Library, and may safely be accepted as an authority and guide by parents and buyers of children's books."—Good Literature.

THE

Publishers' Trade-List Annual

For 1883 (Eleventh Year),

A Large 8vo, of over 2500 pages, is now ready.

The improvements in the Trade-List Annual last year have given such general satisfaction that there has been no change in the present issue (eleventh year) as to the essential features, which are:

1. The latest Catalogues of American Publishers, contributed by themselves and arranged alphabetically by the names of the publishers.
2. A complete reprint of the "Publishers' Weekly" full title Records of Books published (inclusive of all the descriptive notes) from July 8, 1882, to June 30, 1883. In order to facilitate reference, it will be accompanied by a full index, by which every book on record can be found, whether it is looked for under author, title, or subject.
3. The "Educational Catalogue" for 1883, which is used by the entire trade and educational interests as the most representative reference-list of School-books.

The above Lists, all bound in one volume, present in their combination so convenient and time-saving a working-tool as to make it indispensable to every one who has any interest in the purchase and sale of books.

The price is One Dollar and a half per copy net, bound in cloth, or can be sent post-paid for Two Dollars net, payable in advance.

Remittances should be made by check, money-order on New York, or registered letter, as we cannot be responsible for any losses. Receipt for remittance will be sent by return mail.

Unless special shipping directions are received, copies ready for delivery will be dispatched by express unpaid.

Parties so desiring can have their volumes supplied with the "SILVERA DU-PLEX INDEX," at the slight extra charge of 50 cents per copy. The Silvera Index is somewhat on the plan of Denison's, with the practical improvement, however, of having the alphabet printed on the concave surface (instead of on the margin of the page), which enables instantaneous reference, whether the book is open or shut.

Order through your local bookseller.—"There is no worthier or surer pledge of the intelligence and the purity of any community than their general purchase of books; nor is there any one who does more to further the attainment and possession of these qualities than a good bookseller."—PROF. DUNN.

The above motto heads the monthly "Survey of Current Literature" in every copy of the regular subscription edition of

The Literary News.

It clearly indicates this spirit of the wide-awake little journal. If the main object of the LITERARY NEWS is to make known and recommend for purchase all the good books as soon as they make their appearance, its next object is to send the purchasers of good books to the legitimate book-stores. The LITERARY NEWS is an auxiliary to the Publishers' Weekly. Both are friends and aids to the bookseller. The former is to guide him in his purchases, the latter to aid him in his sales. The LITERARY NEWS is pre-eminently a bookselling paper, and therefore booksellers, in availing themselves of its services, not only further the interests of good literature, but at the same time their own.

There are three ways of using the LITERARY NEWS for bookselling purposes, and he who perseveringly tries one or all of them will be sure to profit by one of the cheapest advertising investments any bookseller can possibly make.

1. Use its imprint editions, for the purpose of seeking customers at their homes, and to post them on the new books while they still have the attraction of novelty. Many sales are lost by waiting for chance calls of customers, when books are on your counter, that he might buy on the spur of the right moment. It is, moreover, an attention that, even as such only, will finally be repaid by any one that cares for books.

Send for circular stating terms.

2. If you cannot afford to use an imprint edition of at least 50 copies, do the next best to it, by securing subscribers to the handsome subscription edition. No effort will better repay you. A subscription placed is more profitable than the sale of any one book, as it will render you the services of a home agent.

The price of subscription is $1 per annum, with a discount to booksellers only.

3. At least keep one copy on file, and so place it on your front counter or in any conspicuous place, convenient for reference, where it will tempt callers to consult it. You can have no better store "Bulletin;" none that gives a fuller "Survey of Literature" in a more compact manner. Under the new system, just adopted, not only the bare titles of books of a given class are grouped together, but also their descriptive or commendatory notices or references, so that a bookbuyer, almost at a glance, can get more information on his line of books than could be given by the most eloquent salesman.

In order to encourage the use of the LITERARY NEWS at the book-stores, subscribers to the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY (only) will be supplied with any number of copies at half price, provided we are assured that copies so supplied are used only for purposes indicated under paragraph No. 3. Every salesman should have his own copy of the LITERARY NEWS, read it from cover to cover, and always keep it within his reach.

NOTICE.—The department of "Literature for the Young," edited by Miss C. M. Hewins, Librarian of the Hartford Library Association, and author of "Books for the Young," has been transferred from the Library Journal to the Literary News, and appears in an enlarged form as a Supplement to the subscription edition, intended to serve as a special Guide, in the choice of books, for Librarians, Book Committees, Sunday-school Superintendents, Clergymen, Teachers, and Parents. This Supplement is not supplied with the imprint editions.

Sample copies mailed free to any address.
